

Thankful to be home for holiday

A Wakefield woman who was shot twice in the head and left in a ditch to die was released from the hospital Wednesday in time to be home for a Thanksgiving holiday with extra meaning.

Laura Kucera, 19, of Wakefield, also shot once in the back of the right shoulder, went home Wednesday from the Marian Health Center in Sioux City.

She will continue with rehabilitation on an outpatient basis, hospital spokesman Dave Smetter said but her recovery from the shooting and being left outside for four days was termed miraculous.

The shooting has left Kucera paralyzed on the left side and she can't use her right arm. But with the help of physical therapy she now is able to walk with assistance and her movement has returned except for the fingers of her left hand.

Kucera's mother, Mary, has said her daughter will need physical therapy for the next year or two and won't be able to work immediately.

The Kucera family issued a statement through the hospital thanking people for their thoughts and prayers.

"She has a long road ahead of her but we're glad she's able to come home. We have much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving," the statement said.

Miss Kucera's ex-boyfriend, Brian Anderson, 22, of Concord faces charges in two counties stemming

Many voters have shot at Wayne issue

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Voters in nearly every precinct in Wayne County will have a chance to vote on the $7.9 million bond issue to fund a new middle school and addition to the high school on Dec. 13.

School District 17 residents (Wayne and Carroll) will be joined by voters from affiliated school districts in deciding the issue. During the affiliation process several years ago, the property owners in school districts without high schools were given the choice of high school districts they would associate with.

This means voters on the bond issue are far flung throughout Wayne County and even into Dixon County school officials said.

Since the middle school building plan includes high school additions, the passage of the bond issue will require a majority vote the total voters both in the district and outside. All voters, affiliated and in-district, will vote on the same ballot, said County Clerk Deb Finn.

If the bond issue passes, property owners in affiliated districts will be assessed less because they will be paying only for the high school portion of the building. The anticipated tax increase for affiliated residents will be 12.3 cents per hundred while in-district property owners will see a 39.9 cent increase on their tax bill.

The bond issue will finance a 65,000 square foot addition to the high school with the bulk of the space planned for middle school use. Addition of science labs and classrooms plus added music space and shared facilities for dining and

Time will be allowed for public questions and comments about the regulations.

In Wayne it's ready, set, shop!

The first day of the unofficial holiday shopping season in Wayne was typically busy Friday as retailers reported a good beginning to the season which many rely on for crucial business to survive through the leaner months.

"Wayne has many advantages to offer holiday shoppers," said John Farnan, Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce executive director as he drew the first names of winners in the community's "Holiday Magic" promotion Friday morning.

Wayne shoppers may register their names with their purchases at Chamber businesses during the holiday season and have a chance to get the value of their purchase back (up to $50) in the weekly "Holiday Magic" drawings.

Each week the Chamber will refund $400 worth of purchases to Wayne shoppers who register.

This week's winners and the stores where they registered are: Jeanne Lindsay, $13, Sav Mor; John Bean, $50, Medicap; Lloyd Rahler, $23, Carhart Lumber; Tena Paige, $50, Kid's Closet; Elaine Francis, $37, Pac N Save; Alice Dirksneider, $10, Pamida; Charles Geger, $5, Carhart Lumber; Staci Pinderman, $50, Pac N Save; Karen Westerhoff, $50, Carhart Lumber; Olga Nissen, $50, Sav Mor; Kathleen Conway, $11, Pamida, and Sharon McQuistan, $50, Surber's.

"Everyone is a winner when they shop in Wayne," Farnan added. He said shoppers have shown strong interest in the Santa Cash promotion offered through the Wayne Banks and some 40 Chamber businesses.

The banks are offering interest-free loans of up to $1,500 for holiday shopping at approximately 40 Wayne businesses. The loans are issued in Santa Cash which can be redeemed for full face value at the participating businesses.

Shoppers can save the interest

Fantasy Forest scheduled

Wayne State College's Interior Design Club and the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the 10th annual Fantasy Forest on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 1 and 2, at the National Guard Armory in Wayne. The public is invited to all activities. Over 30 Christmas trees from area businesses and organizations will be on display.

A Christmas parade will also be held in conjunction with Fantasy Forest for the first time. Other activities throughout Fantasy Forest will include a soup supper, a bake sale, the tree lighting ceremony, pictures with Santa Claus, the Chamber of Commerce coffee on Friday and music from various ensembles.

Planetarium show slated

Wayne State College will present its Christmas planetarium show "The Star of Christmas" on Sundays, Dec. 4 and 11. The public is invited.

The shows will be held at 3:30 p.m. in the Fred G. Dale Planetarium, located at the south entrance of the Carhart Science Building on the Wayne State campus.

This holiday show begins with a view of the evening skies of December, containing some of the brightest stars of any season. After looking at the modern skies, the show takes the audience back 2,000 years to explore the astronomical and historical events surrounding the "Star of Christmas."

Special showings may be arranged for school groups and other organizations by contact Carl Rump, director of the planetarium, Wayne State College, 402-375-7343.

'Cats get major bowl invites

Wayne State College standout wide receivers Byron Chamberlain and Jerry Garrett, have been chosen to participate in several postseason all-star games.

Chamberlain, the school's all-time leader in career receptions (161) has been selected to play in the Hula Bowl on January 22, 1995 in Honolulu, Hawaii. He is the first player below the Division I-A level ever to be invited to the game.

Receivers joining Chamberlain on the West squad include J.J. Stokes (UCLA), Michael Westbrook (Colorado) and Henry Bailey (Nevada-Las Vegas.)

Chamberlain's statistics for the 1994 season include 83 receptions for 926 yards and seven TD's. This season, he was named among the 23 candidates for the Harlon Hill Trophy, which is given each year to the NCAA Division II Player of the Year. For his 19-game Wildcat career, he finished with 161 receptions and 1941 yards with 14 TD's, along with his career receptions record, he also holds the school record for catches (16) and receiving yards (231) in a single-game (vs. Bemidji State this season.)

Chamberlain's 83 catches this year is a single-season school record which he shares with Garrett. Byron finished his two-year career ranked third in receiving yards (1941.)

The Hula Bowl will mark a homecoming for Chamberlain, who was born in Honolulu in 1971.

Garrett has been selected to play in a pair of all-star games. The first will be the Blue-Gray All-Star Classic, which is played on Christmas Day in Alabama.

Garrett has also been chosen to play in the Snow Bowl in the Fargodome in Fargo, N.D. The game, for players from NCAA-II Schools, will be played on January, 7.

4-H News

DOG CREEK 4-H CLUB

On Oct. 30, Dog Creek 4-H Club had their first meeting of the year. There were 13 members present. New members were Carol Longe, Matt Jensen, Megan Jensen and Jeanne Allemann. Two guests were present, Emily and Adam Lutt.

At our first meeting, we got right to business. Because Halloween was the next day, it was a Halloween theme. First we elected officers. Jason Rethwisch is president. Jesse Rethwisch is vice president. Jeanne Allemann is secretary. Ashley Williams is treasurer. Brandon Williams is news reporter. Matt Jensen is flag keeper.

Roll call was answered by what you wanted for Thanksgiving dinner. Most answered with the normal stuffing, but others wanted more unusual dishes. Announcements were as follows. There was a big thanks to those people who had made posters. Everyone was to sign up for books and projects, as well as fill out enrollment forms.

The club decided to carry trays for the care center on Nov. 16. It was decided to rake leaves for the elderly on Nov. 6. On Dec. 1, the group will meet at Grace Lutheran Church with edible ornaments to decorate a tree for the birds. Fantasy Forest committee will meet Dec. 1. Details will be worked out later. It was decided to do Toys for Tots again this year.

After the meeting, the group went to the party at the Middle Center. Food was served and pumpkins were decorated for the hospital.

The next meeting will be Jan. 6 at the Rethwisch home at 7 p.m. Members should come with ideas for the club party, tour and goals.

HELPING HANDS 4-H CLUB

An organizational meeting of the Helping Hands 4-H Club was held Sunday, Nov. 13 at the Rod Brogren home. Three leaders, six members and one guest were present.

Election of officers was held. They are Jenny Fleeer, president; Mark Bloomfield, vice president; Becky Fleeer, secretary; Lindy Fleeer, treasurer; Kyle Cherry, historian; Nick Brogren, news reporter; and Steven Fleeer, flag and song leader.

Club goals were set. The next meeting will be Sunday, Dec. 11 for a Christmas party in the social room of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 6:30 p.m. They will go caroling and play games.

Nick Brogren, news reporter.

BLUE RIBBON WINNERS 4-H CLUB

Families of the Blue Ribbon Winners 4-H Club met Sunday, Oct. 16 for a potluck supper in the Carroll auditorium. Twenty-four were present. There will be five new members next year. They will be Bryce Roberts, Lynsey Harmer, Chris Schultheis, Ashley Jaeger and Jessica Geier.

Election of officers was held. Adult leaders will be Ken Hall, leader, with Shelly Owens and Sue Topp as helpers; Paul Roberts, beef; Dave Jaeger, dairy; Rick Davis, bucket calf; Rod Deck, swine; Randy Miller, sheep; Gordon Mohr, horse; Dave Owens, small animals; Sherry Schmale, cooking; and Deb Harmer, sewing.

Youth leaders are Joshua Jaeger, president; Melinda Mohr, vice president; Brandon Hall, treasurer; Jodi Miller, secretary; and Jon Jaeger, news reporter.

Premium checks were handed out and Oct. 23 achievement night was discussed. Project enrollment forms were handed out and are due in the extension office by Jan. 1.

The next meeting will be Jan. 16 in the Carroll school at 7:30 p.m.

Jon Jaeger, news reporter.

SPRINGBRANCH 4-H CLUB

On Oct. 30 at 1:30 p.m., the Springbranch 4-H Club met at Trinity Lutheran fellowship hall. The meeting was held to elect new officers for the upcoming year and to distribute 4-H record books and checks.

Record books had been turned in and premium checks were handed out. The 4-H Achievement Program held in October was discussed, award winners announced and leaders recognized. A thank you was sent to the family of Jason Williams for their donation of a new PA system in the Wayne County 4-H swine building.

Springbranch members discussed sponsoring another roller skating party this year. 4-H leaders were reminded of the organizational meeting on Nov. 7 at 7 p.m. at the courthouse. New members will be initiated at the January meeting. New officers elected were Emily Deck, president; Jamie Behmer, vice president; Andrea Deck, secretary; Rachel Cromwell, treasurer; and Rachel Deck, news reporter.

The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 8 at 1:30 p.m. in the Trinity Lutheran fellowship hall. The servers will be announced. Demonstrations will be given by Kelly Nathan, Amanda Deck and Andrea Deck.

Rachel Deck, news reporter.

Administrators favor increase in school days

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) -- A survey of more than 600 Nebraska school administrators indicated that they largely favored increasing the number of days elementary and secondary school students spend in school.

"There are a number of Nebraska administrators -- superintendents and principals at all levels -- who see a need for an extended period of time in schools," said Larry Dlugosh, associate professor of educational administration at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Teachers College.

"But when they're asked whether it will become a reality soon, they say they don't believe it will," Dlugosh said.

The survey was conducted last spring by Dlugosh and Ron Joekel of the educational administration department at the Teachers College.

Questionnaires were sent to 1,000 superintendents and principals. The questionnaires were returned by 633, or 63 percent.

Survey results were presented last week at a convention in Omaha of the Nebraska Association of School Boards and Nebraska Association of School Administrators.

State law that went into effect in July 1993 allows school districts to convert to year-round school after a public hearing and approval of at least three-fourths of the school board.

The law had required a public vote before a district could hold school year round.

Many who responded to the survey included written comments, Dlugosh said.

Even if the structure of the school year doesn't change, many administrators feel that teaching techniques have to change, Dlugosh said.

"Lecture is out, more active learning is in," Dlugosh said.

One concern opponents have to lengthening the school year is cost, Dlugosh said. An expanded school year would cost more money for teachers' salaries and perhaps the need to install air conditioning for hot summer months, he said.

There are good arguments for extending the school year, Dlugosh said.

A more continuous learning pattern, better use of school facilities, alleviation of overcrowding in certain districts and extending learning experiences are among the advantages, he said.

Poultry industry is growing in Nebraska

This Thanksgiving, many producers across Nebraska will be giving thanks for a growing turkey industry.

Poultry is one of the strongest, and one of the most invisible, industries in the state.

Dr. Eva Pendleton, poultry veterinarian at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, said that chicken and turkey production have been growing in Nebraska since the 1980's.

"The poultry industry has been around for a long time," Pendleton said. "It's always had a fairly good size. It started to decline when many of the small independent growers went out of business, but in the last 10 years our area has become more competitive."

Pendleton cites the abundance of quality feed in Nebraska as a prime factor in the poultry industry's success.

"Fifty to 70 percent of the cost of raising birds is the feed," said Pendleton. "Southern states that are strong in poultry have to ship in feed. Since most poultry diets are based on corn and soy, we don't have to ship our feed in, and we do better."

Existing corporations within the state have responded by expanding in the past 10 years, causing a resurgence in the industry. Campbell's Soup Co. owns a plant in Tecumseh, while Norbest processes turkeys in Gibbon.

Demand for poultry also has increased due to heightened awareness over fat and cholesterol in the diet, Pendleton added.

"People eat turkey and chicken year-round," said Pendleton. "We have 8 million laying hens for egg production in Nebraska, and our plant in Gibbon processes 50 million pounds of turkey annually. While our biggest demand is the Thanksgiving and Christmas market, people still demand turkey products such as whole birds, filets and cold cuts all year long."

Pendleton noted that Nebraskans aren't aware of the state's vital role in poultry production, since it has traditionally been viewed as a beef, swine and grain state.

"By comparison, poultry is not as large," Pendleton noted. Poultry operations are found in specific regions throughout the state, while feed lots are located all over.

While poultry is less visible than beef and swine production in Nebraska, Pendleton sees it playing an increasingly prominent role.

"It's advantageous for both processors and producers," Pendleton explained. "The poultry industry uses quite a bit of grain, and the processing plants are important economically to the local communities."

"People also like to diversify by producing several commodities," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist added. "There is less risk by producing several different products. Expanding into poultry is another way for producers to add on a safety net."

Pendleton added that she sees poultry production continuing to expand throughout Nebraska in 1995.

The Wayne State College Concert Choir will perform in Wayne Dec. 3 and 4 which will be the last holiday concert for the choir locally before the retirement of popular WSC vocal music director Dr. Cornell Runestad.

Holiday concerts offered

The Wayne State College Concert Choir, under the direction of Dr. Cornell Runestad, will present its annual Christmas concerts on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 3 and 4 on campus. The public is invited.

Performance times are Saturday at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday at 3 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre, located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building on campus.

The Norfolk Children's Choir, under the direction of Terri Hankins, is this year's guest choir. It is composed of children from grades four through eight. Also performing will be A Touch of Brass, the Wayne State Women's Chorus and the Wayne State Madrigal Singers. Sioux City's Arne Sorensen will be the guest organist.

One of the Midwest's most widely-traveled groups, the Wayne State Concert Choir has toured Europe extensively since 1980. Wayne State choral groups have performed in the Netherlands, Austria, Germany, France, Switzerland, Hungary, England and Wales.

Dr. Runestad, who is retiring after 25 years as the choir's director, will conduct his final concert in Carnegie Hall when the choir travels to New York in May.

Here's the scoop; winter's coming

Fall is here and winter is not far behind. As is the case every winter, Department of Roads' crews will be out in full force when the severe weather arrives. There are several things that the individual motorists can do to make winter travel safer.

Motorists may use studded snow tires in Nebraska from Nov. 1 to April 1. School busses, emergency vehicles and mail carrier vehicles may use them any time during the year.

When traveling outside of a business or residential district, it is unlawful to follow a highway maintenance vehicle more closely than 100 feet when it is plowing snow, spreading salt or sand, or displaying a flashing amber or white light. If conditions permit, however, you may pass a maintenance vehicle.

When following a maintenance vehicle: 1) Maintain a safe distance to avoid collisions and damage from flying sand and salt. 2) Move your vehicle to the left of your lane so that the vehicle operators can see you in the mirror. 3) Snow plows cause soft snow to swirl making it difficult to see the plow and for the operator to see you. 4) Snow plows usually leave a ridge of snow, making passing hazardous. 5) Turn on your headlights and windshield wipers for additional visibility. 6) Snow removal equipment may have to slow down, stop or back up. 7) Do not pass until the snow plow reaches a clear area.

Plan trips well. Use good, well-traveled routes and allow plenty of time to arrive. Let someone know where you are going, when you will be leaving and when you are expected to return. Check current weather reports often through the various media sources. Be sure your vehicle is in good working order and filled with fuel.

Icy surfaces make it difficult to steer. Slow down gradually when you approach curves and stops. Watch for icy spots in shaded areas and on bridges.

kitchen are part of the improvement plans for the high school.

While the average home-owner in Wayne with an approximately $50,000 home valuation will see an increase of approximately $200 per year on his tax bill, rural residents, often with large property holdings, will see much greater tax jumps.

A farmer in the city school district with 500 acres of land with an assessed value of $750 an acre would see a tax increase of $1,496 bringing his school tax total to nearly $6,500 if the bond issue passes. The same farm in an affiliated district would see an increase of $461.

A presentation on the school bond issue will be made at Carroll Elementary School on Monday, Nov. 28 at 7:30 p.m. A video tape will be shown and handouts will be available. Dick Metteer, middle school principal; Dave Lutt, elementary school principal, and program committee members will be available to help answer questions about the bond issue.

A public hearing has been set by the Nebraska Department of Roads to discuss plans for the improvement of Highway 35 (Seventh Street) through Wayne.

Plans call for widening of the roadway to three lanes with a middle lane as a common turning lane. Leveling of the route, some realignment, a new drainage system, retaining walls and new sidewalks are also in the plan.

The public hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Wayne High School lecture hall. Department of Roads personnel will be on hand for informal discussions and question answering from 3 to 5 p.m. at the lecture hall that day.

amounts usually spent on credit cards and businesses have the opportunity to attract more sales, said Farnan.

"You will be hard pressed to find this kind of interest-free offer at any of the malls," he added.

Another way that Wayne shoppers are winners he said is that they are dealing with friendly home-town merchants who traditionally provide excellent service after the sale.

Next weekend will be another busy shopping weekend in Wayne, Farnan predicted. Thursday and Friday is the annual Fantasy Forest event. This year the kick-off for the Fantasy Forest on Thursday night will be preceded by a parade of lights down Main Street. The parade will feature holiday-lighted vehicles and will end at the National Guard Armory, where the Fantasy Forest is held.

The parade will begin at 6 p.m. with vehicle line-up beginning at 5:30 in the area of First and Pearl

Services change names

Some familiar U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) agencies have new names under the Department's reorganization, but the same work continues according to Stan Foster.

Foster has been serving as the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) State Director for Nebraska, but is now Acting State Director for Rural Economic and Community Development (RECD).

Congress passed a bill authorizing the reorganization late in September, and effective Oct. 20, Secretary of Agriculture, Mike Espy, issued orders making the changes.

"The entire USDA was reorganized in an effort to provide better service to the public while reducing the number of agencies required to do this," Foster said. "Over the next five years, savings to the taxpayers will total $3.6 billion through the elimination of 14 separate USDA agencies and staff reductions of up to 11,000 nationwide."

Foster said the FmHA and the Rural Development Administration (RDA) are being abolished and most of their loan and grant programs are being taken over under the RECD title.

The farm lending, rural housing, water and waste disposal, community facility and business and industry programs formerly administered by FmHA or RDA will still be available.

More than 350 First Congressional District high school students and teachers were on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus in Lincoln on Nov. 21 for the 14th

Distress loans now available

Distress loans have now been made available to Wayne County producers who wish to loan on commodities stored on the ground or in temporary facilities if there is a shortage of storage at harvest.

These loans must be requested either 30 days after announcement of the program or harvest of the commodity, whichever is later. The storage location must be protected from animals and located so that water drainage will not seriously affect the quality or quantity of the commodity.

The maximum quantity eligible for certified or measured farmstored distress loans shall not exceed 75 percent of the eligible quantity certified by the producer.

Distress loans mature on demand, but no later than 90 calendar days after the date the loan is dispersed. Please call the Wayne County Farm Service Agency for further details, 375-2453.

annual Youth Institute on government affairs sponsored by Rep. Doug Bereuter.

Juniors and seniors from over 60 high schools attended the one-day seminar where they discussed a variety of current national issues. Three students from Allen and their teacher T.J. Fraser attended. The students are Holly Blair, Brian Webb and Thomas Wilbur.

Each high school was invited to send outstanding junior and senior students to the Youth Institute. These students and the teachers who accompanied them attended three sessions on topics taken from today's headlines. Expert panelists lead the sessions and provided the students with alternative viewpoints on each topic.

The day began with an opening from Congressman Doug Bereuter.

Anderson is charged in Thurston County with attempted first-degree murder, kidnapping and use of a firearm to commit a felony. In Dixon County, he faces charges including kidnapping and false imprisonment.

Stephen Janger, President and CEO from the Close-Up Foundation in Virginia, was the keynote speaker.

At the Youth Institute, guest speakers and students participated in discussion on the following topics: "Death Penalty: Cruel and Unusual or Necessary and Underused?", "Population Control vs. Starvation: Can the World Provide Enough Food?", "Lady Liberty: Can She Still Welcome All Who Come To Her Shores?", "Women in Combat: Can Women have a Combat Role in Our Armed Services?", "Cruising on the Information Highway," "Education Reform/Goals 2000: Re-engineering the Public and Private School Systems," "Risky Business: What Levels of Risk Do We Accept in Protecting Our Environment?"

Anderson initially told police that he picked up Miss Kucera on Oct. 1 and then dropped her off at a restaurant. But four days later he told them where she could be found, lying in a ditch in a remote wooded area about three miles north of Macy in Thurston County.

Legislation will be introduced to end colleges' reliance on property taxes

CHADRON, Neb. (AP) -- Two Panhandle lawmakers say they will introduce legislation next year to end the reliance of Nebraska's six community colleges on property taxes.

Sen. Bob Wickersham of Harrison and Sen. Joyce Hillman of Gering met in Lincoln on Wednesday to discuss with education officials a plan that would strip the two-year colleges of their authority to levy property taxes.

"Some of this has been floated before, but it was good to talk about it," Wickersham told Chadron radio station KQSK.

The plan would ease property taxes and improve the state's higher education structure. College officials at the meeting argued against changes to the existing regional board system.

A Nebraska Tax Review Committee appointed by Gov. Ben Nelson last month recommended funding the colleges with state money instead of property tax revenue.

The Northeast Community College Board of Supervisors objected to the review committee's recommendation. Members objected to total state funding because they said it would lead to state authority over the school.

The state pays about $36 million to finance the colleges, with property taxes accounting for about $50 million and tuition adding another $21 million. The property tax amount represents about 3 percent of all property taxes collected statewide.

Hillman told the Omaha World-Herald she had some reservations about changing the funding structure.

"If we get into a win-lose situation here, I don't want to get into one where community colleges lose," she said.

Dennis Baack, executive director of the Nebraska Community College Association, said the colleges need property-tax revenue and local control to provide job training and services at short notice.

"That's why we are community colleges, and that's why we need to stay that way," he told the World-Herald.

Wickersham said any legislation, if approved, would probably not go into effect until 1997.

First Fridays program to be on Dec. 2

Dr. Paul Campbell, associate professor of criminal justice at Wayne State College, will present "Frauds and Con Games: The Friendly Rip-Off" during the First Fridays program series for area senior citizens on Dec. 2 at Wayne State.

The program, sponsored by Wayne State's Center for Cultural Outreach, will begin at 9 a.m. in the North Dining Room of Wayne State's Student Center. A complimentary continental breakfast will also be served, according to Dr. Beverly Soll, director of the Center.

This presentation covers the various kinds of frauds frequently perpetrated on unsuspecting consumers. Among the most common cons and frauds are home repair cons, home repair frauds and investment cons. Also being examined are telemarketing frauds which are of particular interest to elderly who are favorite targets of the con artists.

Tours of campus galleries and museums may also be offered after the program.

First Fridays will be co-hosted by DeVon Coble, director of alumni relations at Wayne State.

During each program, a special senior-citizen guest of honor will be recognized.

Jennifer Puls initiated into Alpha Zeta fraternity

Jennifer Puls has been initiated into Alpha Zeta, a professional service and honorary fraternity of agriculture.

Puls was initiated into the Wilson Chapter of Alpha Zeta at Iowa State University on Nov. 1. She is a junior dairy science/pre-veterinary major. She is the daughter of Dallas Puls and Ruth Puls.

Alpha Zeta selection is limited to agriculture students who rank in the top 40 percent of their classes academically after completing at least one academic year of school work. Service, leadership and character are also considered for membership.

Alpha Zeta is a professional fraternity of agriculture that provides lifetime associations for men and women in all areas of agriculture. The organization develops leadership skills, recognizes academic excellence, serves the college community, facilities networking and promotes the agriculture profession. It was founded in 1897 at Ohio State University and now has over 100,000 members. Currently, there are 66 active chapters in the United States, with a growing number of alumni organizations.

Flu season November - April Not too late for shot

It's not too late to get a flu shot, a state health official said last week.

No cases of influenza have been reported to the Nebraska Department of Health yet this season but people over age 65 and anyone with certain health problems should be immunized soon, said Dr. Tom Safranek, state epidemiologist.

"It takes a couple weeks to build up protection against the viruses," Dr. Safranek said. "So it's a good idea to get the shots now."

The flu season usually lasts from November through April, with the peak months between December and March.

According to the U.S. Public Health Service, the best time to be immunized for influenza is between mid-October and mid-November.

The strains of influenza expected by the federal Centers for Disease Control this season are A/Texas, A/Shangdong and B/Panama. This year's flu vaccine is composed of killed viruses from these strains.

Killed viruses cannot cause influenza, Safranek said. They promote the production of antibodies which provide protection.

Influenza, or the flu, is a viral infection of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs. It is usually accompanied by fever, chills, cough and aching in the back, arms and legs.

Influenza is usually mild and most people recover fully, Safranek said. Health officials recommend the use of vaccine for the elderly and people with health problems because they are the most likely to be seriously ill or to die from influenza or its complications. Pneumonia is one of the most common complications.

According to the U.S. Public Health Service, anyone who belongs to one of the following groups is at risk for serious illness from the flu and should be immunized:

- Everybody over 65 years of age;
- Adults and children with long-term heart or lung problems;
- Residents of nursing homes and other institutions housing patients of any age who have serious long-term health problems.

Other groups who are at moderately increased risk for serious illness with the flu and who public health authorities feel should be vaccinated if possible are:

- People of any age who during the past year have regularly seen a doctor or have been admitted to a hospital for treatment of kidney disease, cystic fibrosis, diabetes, anemia or severe asthma;
- People who have a type of cancer or immunological disorder or use certain types of medicines that lower the body's normal resistance to infections;
- Children, and teenagers (6 months through 18 years of age) on long-term treatment with aspirin who, if they catch the flu, may be at risk of getting Reye syndrome, a childhood disease that causes coma, severe liver damage and death.

People in the high-risk groups should be vaccinated every year. Family members or others who provide care to high-risk persons at home should also be vaccinated, Safranek said.

For more information on flu shots, contact your local health department, your physician or the Nebraska Department of Health, 402-471-2937.

Brent Fitzke

Fitzke wins trip to 4-H Congress

Brent Fitzke, grandson of Merrill and Loretta Baier of rural Carroll, has won a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Orlando, Fla. Dec. 2 to 8.

While in Florida, he will be staying at the Buena Vista Palace, a Walt Disney property. Brent was selected for this "once in a lifetime experience" based on his 4-H records in the agriculture area and associated achievements. His 4-H records were selected as the top ones in this area of the state, earning him the right to represent 90,000 Nebraska 4-H'ers.

Fitzke has been in 4-H for nine years and has completed a total of 76 projects. Earlier this fall, he was named "Outstanding 4-H'er" of Clay County. He is from Glenvil.

The theme of National 4-H Congress this year will be "Preparing for the Workforce." Workshops and presentations on topics such as interviewing, resume preparation, working as a team, communication and marketing will be included. Brent will also tour the NASA facilities, have a job shadowing experience with staff at EP-COT and tour other career related businesses.

Each delegate has been assigned to one of the EP-COT country pavilions to explore the people, culture, history and economics of that country.

Army reservist from Wayne included in honorees group

Ak-Sar-Ben president Timothy D. Schmad announced that 58 outstanding military reservists from the Army National Guard, Air National Guard, Army, Navy and Air Force units in Nebraska have been selected for Ak-Sar-Ben's 36th annual Citizen Soldier Awards.

Included in the honorees is Sgt. Carl M. Rager Jr., an Army reservist from Wayne.

Schmad explained that recipients are selected for qualities of leadership and citizenship best exemplified by the men and women of our nation's reserve forces who serve both their country and community.

The honorees will be guests of Ak-Sar-Ben at a military awards luncheon on Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Officers Club at Offutt Air Force Base. The reservists will receive the engraved Ak-Sar-Ben Gold Medallion and Certificate during ceremonies at that time.

The featured speaker will be Admiral Henry G. Chiles Jr., Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Strategic Command.

GARDEN CLUB

All members were present when the Hoskins Garden Club met at the home of Hildegarde Fenske for a dessert luncheon on Nov. 18.

Christine Lueker, president, opened the meeting and read an article, "Do Manners, Matter?" The hostess chose the song, "We Plough the Fields and Scatter" for group singing. Frieda Meierhenry had the poem for the month entitled, "Thanksgiving at Grandma's." Roll call was "The Food I Remember Best, My Mother Made for Thanksgiving."

Secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved.

Officers will meet at the home of Elsie Hinzman on Dec. 5 to plan next year's club program.

For entertainment and the comprehensive study, the hostess showed a video, "In His Presence."

Nona Wuttler gave the lesson, "The Care of House Plants." She also gave a reading, entitled "Family Stew." The birthday song was sung for LaVern Walker and Hildegarde Fenske.

The meeting closed with the Watchword for the day, "Two Hints for Making a Day More Pleasant — Think and Thank."

WELC MEETS

Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Concord, met Nov. 17. Betty Anderson opened the business meeting with a poem, "Unexpected Blessings." Secretary and treasurer reports were read and accepted. Yearly reports for 1994 were also read. A thank you was read from Helen Rice and Betty thanked all the committees and leaders and also for cleaning the church.

It was decided to send a money gift to fall retreat held in Fremont. Donations will be given to the church and the Food Pantry in Laurel.

Rachel Circle had the program. Avis Pearson was leader, reading scripture from Psalm 34. A Thank Offering devotional was given by Fern Erickson and Doris Nelson, with the group taking part. November offering and Thank Offering boxes were received with prayer by all. A short film was shown introducing the 1995 program, "The Hidden Promise," the commandments and a short review of the first commandment, with Rev. James Nestlinger speaking.

Avis read "When You Pray." The group closed with the Lord's Prayer and table grace. Suzie Johnson, Norma Erlandson and Doris Fredrickson served refreshments.

An Advent luncheon will be held at the church on Dec. 1 at 6:30 p.m.

BON TEMPO BRIDGE
Bon Tempo Bridge Club met Nov. 15 with Delores Koch as hostess. Mae Rueter and Patty Mattes won high. Next club meeting is Dec. 6 with Mae Rueter as hostess.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS
The Friendly Neighbors Extension Club met Nov. 17 at the Senior Center in Concord with nine members answering roll call. Cindy Taylor gave a craft lesson. Lunch was served by Mary Garvi.

The Christmas party will be Dec. 15 at 6:30 p.m. at the Senior Center.

The "Word" for the Week

Beautiful forgiveness

The Bible is a colorful book about real people in the midst of struggles, suffering and temptations. For example, King David took another man's wife and had her husband murdered. As a result, David lost his kingdom. His son, Absalom, forced him out of the capital city, Jerusalem, in humiliation. As David and a small band of followers left the city, another man came out throwing dirt and rocks and cursing David. "Get out, get out, you man of bloodshed, and worthless fellow," he cried (2 Samuel 16:7). You might feel like one of David's companions who responded, "Let me go over now, and cut off his head" (2 Samuel 16:9). But David kept his head. "Let him alone and let him curse, for the Lord has told him" (2 Samuel 16:11). David felt the sting of that verbal abuse, but David knew he deserved much worse. David knew the penalty for his actions. "Cursed is everyone who does not abide by all things written in the book of the Law, to perform them" (Galatians 3:11). And so David placed faith in the promised Savior. David therefore knew God's forgiveness. The Savior is Jesus Christ. Christ takes the curse. Through faith we receive forgiveness. The Bible declares Jesus Christ saves "us from the curse of the Law, having become a curse for us" (Galatians 3:13).

Catholics hold services in Wakefield once a month

A little over a year ago, Catholics in Wakefield began holding Mass in Wakefield once a month. At first, it was held at various locations, but in recent months, on the third Saturday, the group is meeting at Salem Lutheran Church for evening Mass.

Those attending brought bars and sandwiches. They had an anniversary cake and coffee.

A spokesman for the Catholics said the success of Wakefield Masses is largely due to the generosity of the Salem congregation in allowing them to use their facility each month and the Catholics expressed appreciation for the opportunity.

The monthly Masses are open to everyone and all Catholics and others in the area are welcome to attend.

Mass was held at Salem at 8 p.m. on Nov. 19. Following the service, everyone in attendance stayed for a social time and lunch to celebrate the first anniversary of Mass being offered in Wakefield.

Immanuel Ladies Aid holds officer election

Eleven members of the Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church of Wakefield elected their 1995 officers at the Nov. 17 meeting.

Lutheran Old People's Home, Bethesda Lutheran Home, Dakota Boys Ranch, Lutheran School for the Deaf and Camp Luther will each receive a Christmas donation.

Pastor Carner led the Quarterly topic, In the Palm of His Hand, and Mrs. Lloyd Roeber conducted the business meeting. Betty Lessman and Erna Botger were guests.

We honored the birthdays of Berniece Rewinkel and Alta Meyer and signed a card for Hilda Ruwe's 96th birthday and a get well card for Ione Roeber.

The 1995 officers are Mrs. Lloyd Roeber, president; Eleanor Rauss, vice president; Beverly Ruwe, secretary; and Bonnie Schrieber, treasurer.

December committees are Friendship and Christmas baskets, Eleanor Rauss and Hazel Hank; cleaning and communion ware, Jeannette Gemeike, Bonnie Schrieber, Karen Camer and Mrs. Merle Roeber.

The Wayne Care Centre and the Wakefield Care Centre, each sent a thank you for our visits.

Hostesses were Bonnie Schrieber and Eleanor Rauss.

Bonnie Schrieber and Neva Echtenkamp reported as the visiting committee and Hazel Hank and Berniece Rewinkel told about their afternoon at Martinsburg's guest day.

The next meeting will be the Christmas luncheon scheduled for Dec. 15 at noon.

Wayne State men improve to 2-0 with overtime victory

GREG RYAN hooks up with a Dana player while the Viking was attempting a shot.

The Wayne State men's basketball team improved to 2-0 for first-year coach Greg McDermott but the route to the second victory was far different than Saturday's opening season 99-point win over York College.

The 'Cats came from behind to defeat Dana College in overtime, 78-73, thanks to the long range shooting of Mike Fitzner and the defensive spark of Billy Patterson.

Dana came out gunning in the opening minutes and took an 8-0 lead before WSC got on the board. The visiting Vikings trailed just one time the entire game until the overtime period and that was when Fitzner drained a long 3-pointer to give WSC a brief 30-29 lead.

Dana led the 'Cats by a 40-34 margin at the intermission. The Vikings led 64-58 with just under four minutes to go two minutes later Fitzner drained another 3-pointer, (one of seven) to tie the game at 67. Dana took a 69-67 lead with 1:20 left in regulation but Patterson sank a pair of free throws to tie the game at 69 with 1:09 remaining. No one scored again in regulation even though Dana took the final shot at the buzzer drawing only iron.

WSC dominated the overtime period jumping out to a seven point lead, 77-70. Patterson hit four free throws in the five-minute bonus period while Curt Woodin connected on two free throws. The only basket of the overtime came on yet another 3-pointer by Fitzner.

"I think the biggest disappointment as a coaching staff on this game was we weren't prepared to play," McDermott said. "We need to do a better job of preparing to play."

McDermott said on the positive side he was pleased with his squad's stick-to-it-ness. "We could have packed it in a couple of times but we didn't. Once we got the game into overtime we felt we were going to win."

The WSC coach credited Patterson as being the spark plug that got the 'Cats going. "Billy was very instrumental in getting us untracked by creating some turnovers with his defense," McDermott said. "He did a nice job of sparking the team."

The 'Cats perimeter defense drew praise from McDermott. "We held Dana's top two scorers well below their averages," McDermott said. "We beat a pretty good basketball team who I feel will win an awful lot of games this year."

McDermott also said the come-from-behind win was good for the psyche of the team. "Actually, this was our first real game of the season," McDermott said. "We really didn't gain a lot by beating York by 99 points."

WSC was led in scoring by Fitzner with 27 points while Patterson poured in 21. Woodin finished with eight while Omar Clark and Dan Anderson had six each. Craig Philipp netted four points while Kyle White, Terry Mailoux and Greg Ryan finished with two each.

WSC was out-rebounded by a 43-38 margin with Mailoux leading the 'Cats with 10 caroms while Anderson notched eight boards. Woodin dished out a team high six assists while Patterson had five. WSC suffered 19 turnovers in the contest while Dana had just 15.

The 'Cats will have another tough game on Saturday night as they travel to play the UNO Mavericks.

BILLY PATTERSON was the spark plug that helped bring WSC from behind to defeat Dana College, Tuesday night.

DEEDRA HASKINS blocks a USD shot during first half action of the 'Cats win over the Coyotes.

AMY BRODERSEN goes hard to the basket while a USD player tries to strip her of the ball. Brodersen sealed the victory for WSC with a steal in the final seconds.

Wayne State guard steals victory from USD in final ticks

The Wayne State women's basketball team notched a monumental victory perhaps from the jaws of defeat, Tuesday night against a solid South Dakota University team, 66-65.

The winner was not decided until Amy Brodersen stole a pass with less than three seconds remaining in regulation as USD was going for the final shot attempt and the win.

At the 13-second mark, Brodersen connected with Mindi Jensen who put up a short jumper off the glass to give WSC a 66-65 lead. USD did not call timeout and took the ball down court where they were looking for an underneath shot from one of their leading scorers but Brodersen stole a bounce pass to seal the win for the 'Cats.

The win improved WSC's record to 2-0 but more importantly, it notched a major win for head coach Mike Barry's squad. "It was a close, game throughout the entire second half," Barry said. "Many times in a win like this the immediate thought is, it's a great win for the program but this win I really believe was more important to this team more than the program because of the confidence factor. We came off a game with York in the season-opener that simply wasn't a good outing despite the win."

Barry said his team did a nice job of controlling the tempo of the game because USD loves to get the ball up and down the court very fast and to score a lot of points. "They scored 99 in their win over Buena Vista," Barry said. "Our full court pressure really slowed that pace down."

The 'Cats forced the visiting Lady Coyotes into 19 turnovers in the first half and a dozen more in the second stanza. "I'd say the difference in our team play from Saturday's opener with York and Tuesday's game with USD was night and day," Barry said. "We executed our offense better, showed more discipline and displayed much better team work."

Mindi Jensen led the Wildcats with 16 points on eight of 11 shooting from the field while Deedra Haskins tallied a dozen points. "Our centers did a nice job of catching the job pass from the guards and scoring," Barry said. "USD did a lot of fronting of our post players in the second half and our guards did a nice job of lobbing the ball over the heads of the USD post players."

The WSC mentor said his guards showed good patience in reading USD's defense. Deb Kostreba finished with eight points and Kristy Twait netted seven while Susie Osborn and Lori Zeimetz finished with six each. Amy Brodersen and Liz Reeg each scored four and Danyel Grammer knocked down a 3-pointer.

WSC was out-rebounded by a 39-33 margin with Jensen leading the 'Cats with six caroms. Jensen also led the team in assists with five while Osborn, Twait, Brodersen and Kostreba dished out four apiece. The 'Cats had 19 turnovers while forcing 31.

Winter sports contests to begin

WAYNE-Area basketball and wrestling teams are busy preparing for the start of winter contests next week. The first action will take place Thursday night as the Allen girls and boys teams play in Winside.

The Wakefield girls and boys will be at Pender on Thursday while the Laurel girls play host to Coleridge. The Wayne boys and girls don't start their seasons until Friday with the boys playing at Battle Creek while the girls host Sioux City West.

Laurel's boys will see their first action on Friday when they play at Crofton in a girl-boy doubleheader. Wayne's wrestling team will begin their season on Thursday at home with a dual against Schuyler while Winside's wrestling team begins the season on December 3 at the Creighton Invitational.

WSC signs recruit

WAYNE-Wayne State College head women's basketball coach Mike Barry has announced that Megan Pilakowski of Genoa, Nebraska has signed a national letter of intent to attend Wayne State and play basketball for the Wildcats beginning with the 1995-96 season.

Pilakowski, a 6-1 forward attends Genoa High School where she averaged 14 points, 10.5 rebounds and six steals per game last season as a junior. She was honorable mention all-state, first-team all-area, second-team all-conference and academic all-state.

Pilakowski, the daughter of Kenny and Cyndy Pilakowski, also runs track and plays volleyball. In track, she placed sixth in the 400 meter dash at the state track meet and was a first team all-conference player in volleyball the past three seasons. She is also a member of the National Honor Society.

"Megan is a very good athlete," Barry said. "Even though she's 6-1, she runs the floor like a guard and can still score inside. She will fit into our run and press style of play by giving us speed at either the forward or center positions."

Pilakowski becomes the third student-athlete to sign with the Wildcats this season. Jenny Thompson and Stephanie Sjuts officially signed national letters of intent earlier this month.

Bowls

Garrett tallied 83 receptions for 879 yards with nine TD's this season. His 83 catches tied a single season reception mark with his teammate Chamberlain.

For his 20-game WSC career, he finished with 145 receptions for 1692 yards and 16 TD's. His total yardage through the air ranks him fifth on the all-time record chart at Wayne State.

For the last two seasons, Garrett has been one of the top punt returners in the NCAA Division II ranks. In 1993, he led the country in punt returns with a 19.2 per return average.

FIRST EVER WSC women's basketball coach G.I. Willoughby was the honorary guest at the first alumni gathering held last Saturday in Wayne.

Last season, former Wildcat players Brad Ottis and Damon Thomas participated in all-star games. Ottis played in the Blue-Gray All-Star Classic and the Shrine Bowl while Thomas saw action in the Snow Bowl. Ottis, a defensive lineman, was a 1994 second-round draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams while Thomas, a wide receiver, signed a free agent contract with the Buffalo Bills.

Chamberlain and Garrett's selection into their respective bowl games pleased WSC football coach Dennis Wagner. "This is a great honor for these two young men and it's an honor for our program," Wagner said. "We told both players at the end of our final game that they had better continue working out because there was a good chance they would be playing some post-season ball."

Wagner said the all-star game honorees will help his coaching staff in the recruiting wars. "There's no doubt this will help recruiting," Wagner said. "Both these guys have already had articles published about them in California papers which puts our name on the West coast."

Wagner said throughout the season the coaching staff along with the sports information department sent weekly updates to the selection committees on both Byron and Jerry's performance.

Sports information director Jerry Rashid said officials remember Byron Chamberlain from his days at Missouri University in Columbia. "Byron put up some pretty impressive numbers as a freshman for the Missouri Tigers," Rashid said. "Then, of course he came to Wayne State and put up impressive numbers for the 'Cats.'"

Rashid said he expects both receivers to be drafted in next April's NFL Football draft.

C-2 Football runners-up

THE LAUREL FOOTBALL team took pride in their successful 12-1 season by holding up the C-2 State Championship runner-up trophy following their disappointing 73-28 loss to Cambridge. The Bears broke a school record for most wins in a season with a dozen and they captured their first conference championship in 24 years.

Junior Cats Basketball Program is successful once again

The Junior Cats basketball Program recently completed another successful season with over 100 children in grades 1-6 participating.

Wayne State men's assistant basketball coach Rico Burkett said the Junior Cats Program is a great way for the kids in the community to interact with some of the players they will see and hear a lot about during the coming months as basketball season for the 'Cats gets into full swing.

"This program gives the players from the men's and women's teams a chance to work with youth," Burkett said. "On the other hand, it gives the kids an excellent opportunity to learn some basketball drills such as passing, shooting and ball handling."

The Junior Cats Program ran for three successive Saturdays beginning Nov. 5 and continuing through Nov. 19. Those participating received a T-Shirt and a Junior Cats basketball," Burkett said. "They also put on a skit at halftime of Tuesday's men's game with Dana College."

Due to the large number of kids taking part, the practice sessions were divided in two groups with first through third graders going from 9-10 a.m. while fourth through sixth graders practiced from 10:15-11:15 a.m.

"We think the numbers were pretty good considering the town size," Burkett said. "We're looking to add more numbers next year."

THESE WAYNE area first through third graders took part in the Junior Cats basketball program at Wayne State which concluded last Saturday.

THESE WAYNE area fourth through sixth graders were active in the Junior Cats basketball program at Wayne State. The students spent three weeks interacting with players and coaches off the WSC men's and women's basketball teams.

OVER 100 STUDENTS in grades 1-6 took part in this year's Junior Cats Basketball Program at Wayne State College. During the three week stint, participants learned ball handling skills, shooting skills and passing skills from the Wayne State men's and women's coaching staffs along with players on both teams.

First ever women's alumni basketball contest played

The first ever women's alumni basketball game was held last Saturday in Rice Auditorium. Current WSC coach Mike Barry said he felt it was time something like this was done.

"I felt it was time for an alumni gathering," Barry said. "We ended up having 19 come back to play in the game and at the same time we gave a special award to G.I. Willoughby, WSC's first women's basketball coach from 1970-77."

Barry said Willoughby was the logical choice as the first special recognition award winner. "She holds the all-time record for most wins as a coach in women's basketball at this school," Barry said. "Her record was 119-46 during her tenure." Willoughby is currently a teacher at Wright Business College in Gladstone, Missouri. Many former alumni attended a special dinner in recognition of Willoughby at the Black Knight prior to the game.

The game, incidentally, ended in a 40-40 tie with Linda Heller hitting the tying bucket with just seconds remaining.

NINETEEN FORMER Wayne State women basketball players were on hand for the first ever alumni game, last Saturday in Rice Auditorium. ## Winside News

LEGION AUXILIARY

The Roy Reed Unit 252, American Legion Auxiliary, Winside, met on Nov. 14. There were one junior and 10 senior members present. They recited the "Pledge of Allegiance," sang the first verse of the "Star Spangled Banner" and recited the Preamble to the Auxiliary's Constitution.

Reports were not available from the unit secretary or treasurer. Several communications from the Department of Nebraska were read and discussed.

American Education Week was Nov. 13-19. A questionnaire received from the Department Americanism Chairman was discussed among the members and deemed inappropriate to complete as the aims and purposes of the American Legion Auxiliary did not appear to be a desired result of the questionnaire. The questionnaire was to be completed by the local school system administration as it dealt with the teaching and demonstration of Americanism and Patriotism within the local school system. This portion of the questionnaire was acceptable to the membership, however, the remainder was related to drugs, penalties, guilt, etc. as it pertains to school policy. The membership deemed this portion to be intrusive and beyond the realm of the American Legion Auxiliary's aims and purposes. The questionnaire will be returned to the Department without completion.

The Unit hosted the 1994 children's Halloween costume party. Games and prizes were awarded for participating. The judges of the costume contest were Wayne State College football students Brian Thompson, a graduate of Winside High School, Jeff Lutt, Mark Christiansen, Terry Sherman and Jerry Garrett. The players provided autographs to any child wishing them. There were only 11 entries in the carved or painted pumpkin category and each received a candy bar. Treats were handed out to all children as they left the party.

The Unit had 10 members attend the Wayne County Legion Convention at the Wayne Vet's Club on Oct. 28. There were also three Legionnaires attending. Unit member Lorraine Denklow was elected county president for the 1994-95 term. Members attending were Esther Carlson, Charlotte Wylie, Audrey Quinn, Mary Weible, Lorraine Denklow, Laura Neel, Janice Mundil, Beverly Neel, Vera Mann and Yleen Cowan, and Legionnaires Wayne Denklow, Joe Mundil and Al Carlson.

Bernice Witt and Dorothy Wert were November hostesses. Due to the busy holiday season there will be no December meeting. The next meeting will be Monday, Jan. 9 at 7:30 p.m. Hostesses will be members whose last names begin with the letter A.
