

Carroll residents want assurance school will stay

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Many residents and parents from the Carroll community are seeking assurances that the Carroll Elementary School will be kept open if they support the bond issue to build a new middle school and make additions to the high school in Wayne.

That was the message delivered to school administrators Monday night when they attended a public meeting at the Carroll School. The meeting was called to discuss the bond issue and construction plans.

Nearly 40 attended the meeting and discussed the plans proposed for the district.

Repeatedly the question was asked about what the district's plans were for the Carroll School and the residents were told firm plans about the Carroll building would be made after the school board meets with residents in Carroll in March.

Sue Gilmore, chairman of the Village board in Carroll said residents want to be assured that the building in Carroll will be upgraded or replaced and the Carroll School kept functioning before many of them decide what position to take on the bond issue.

Residents said they didn't want their K-4 students on buses any longer than they already are and that closing the Carroll School would mean they would be bused even farther. Busing means they are mixed with all other age students in an unsupervised situation while the district is working in the new building plan to keep middle school and high school students separated as much as possible, one mother said.

School Superintendent Dr. Dennis Jensen said he personally supports keeping the Carroll School open. He said the decision would be made by the board, after the meeting in March, however.

He said plans to address the building needs of the Carroll Elementary and Wayne Elementary Schools were not included in the bond issue plans sent to voters because the school board and its citizen study committee decided the highest priority of the limited funds was to address the needs of the greatest number of students first.

He said the Carroll students would be in the middle school and high Portable generators and battery power will light the decorated farm equipment and vehicles that will be in the Parade of Lights in Wayne, Thursday. The Wayne community will be hosting the holiday parade similar to the example above taken at last year's parade of lighted equipment in Sunnyside, Wash.

Parade of Lights coming

Over 20 entries are preparing to vie for the cash and merchandise prizes offered in the first Parade of Lights holiday parade in Wayne Thursday, Dec. 1. More entries will be accepted by 5:30 p.m. parade line-up time.

The parade of holiday decorated and lighted farm implements and other vehicles will be traveling north at 6 p.m. on Main from First Street to Seventh and West on Seventh to the National Guard Armory.

The parade will precede the lighting of the trees at Fantasy Forest in the National Guard Armory.

Cash prizes of $50 will be given to each of three categories--old or antique decorated equipment, new decorated equipment and overall entry.

The prize money is being donated by Midland Equipment, Logan Valley Implement and the Wayne Herald. Many other merchandise prizes will be given to the three top winners and they also will receive $10 in Chamber Bucks.

The parade will be led by Grand Marshall Ken Berglund in a 1993

Mustang convertible and end up with an appearance by Santa Claus.

Santa will be riding in a pickup provided by Arnie's Ford Mercury. In between will be everything from a dog display to farm equipment and special surprises from Jim Markham, Peoples Natural Gas and Mick Topp with the Wayne County Agricultural Society. Walter Fleer will also have a team of Belgium draft horses in the parade.

If you have any questions about the parade or would like to have a vehicle in the parade, call the Chamber office, 375-2240 or The Wayne Herald at 375-2600 and ask for Tom Mullen.

The annual lighting of the Christmas Trees at the Fantasy Forest will be at 6:30 p.m. and the ceremony will feature the Wayne High School Jazz Choir and an appearance of Santa.

The Wayne Rotary Club will offer its Soup and Pie Supper at the Armory from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday and Rotarians have said they will make more soup and pies this year so they won't run out like they did last year.

Winter leaves a wake-up

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The first snow storm of the season hit the Wayne area in full force, early Sunday morning and when it ended, five inches of the white stuff had blanketed the city.

Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild said motorist reaction to the storm wasn't bad. "We only had two fender-benders," Fairchild said. "Usually the first snow storms of the season aren't too bad for motorists because they are usually extra cautious. It's the middle of winter snow storms that draw more accidents because motorists are thinking they know how to drive on the snow and ice and they aren't as cautious."

THE SNOW removal road crews were out in force late Saturday night and all day Sunday and some Monday according to Department of Roads spokesman Harold Murray.

"We were out on the roads as soon as the snow started," Murray said. "We started making preparations on Saturday night but you can't do anything until the snow starts."

Murray said the snow fell very hard at times and combined with the wind, it made for hazardous driving conditions. "At one time when the snow started falling early, the flakes were as big as golf balls," Murray said. "Especially up in the Newcastle area which ended up seeing about seven inches of snow."

ROAD CREWS again were using a mixture of salt, crushed rock and calcium chloride but Murray said at times it was snowing so hard that it was nearly impossible to keep the snow off the roads.

"What made it tough was traffic driving over the top of snow and packing it down," Murray said. "Then, the snow removal crews would drive over the roads and they had a tough time getting the snow

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Prices paid to Midwest hog farmers are the lowest in 20 years and the problem has farmers complaining that retailers and meatpackers are padding their profits.

A group of U.S. senators -- Bob Kerrey of Nebraska, Tom Daschle of South Dakota and Charles Grassley and Tom Harkin of Iowa -- have outlined the complaints in a letter to Keith Collins, the U.S. Agriculture Department's chief economist.

"The farmer's share of the consumer's pork dollar has dropped to an all-time low of 28 percent, a decrease of 20 percent, while packers' and retailers' percentages have increased," the letter states.

Wayne thespians defending state title

Wayne High School actors won the district one-act play contest held in O'Neill Monday.

Wayne's production of "A Company of Wayward Saints" by George Herman, received a perfect score of 120 points. O'Neill took second place with 112 points.

Wayne students also won the conference competition, also at O'Neill, the week before. At that contest Matt Chapman and Liz Lindau of Wayne were selected as best actor and actress. Piyali Dalal was given honorable mention.

The Wayne troupe also performed at the Norfolk one-act play festival last week and was given a superior rating--with Robb Heier being selected as outstanding actor.

From here the Wayne team will compete at the state one-act play contest at the Johnny Carson Theatre in Norfolk next Thursday, Dec. 8. They will be defending the state title they won at the same competition a year ago. The Wayne team takes the stage at 4:15 p.m.

Members of the cast include Robb Heier, Matt Chapman, Sarah Blaser,

Tim Heinemann, Chris Headley, Jimi Okubanjo, Liz Lindau, Piyali Dalal, Tony Polt, Katie McCue, Peter Tabor, Roger Faxton and Rachel Blaser. Technical crew includes Mickey Rutenbeck and Kelly Soderman. The team is advised by Ted Blendenman.

Members of the Wayne High One-Act Play Team will be defending the state title they won last year. They enter state competition next week after already winning conference and district contests.

Wayne 'pilgrims' return from Croatia

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Since 1981, hundreds of thousands of people have flocked to the Croatia village of Medugorje to visit with the six young people who have been visited by the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Three Wayne residents have recently returned from such a pilgrimage. Flavia Sherry, her daughter Patricia and Allen O'Donnell were among 12 people who were accompanied by Father Rod Kneiff of St. Mary's Church in Laurel.

The group left Nov. 7 and met another group of pilgrims in Omaha and spent eight days visiting the area in and around Medugorje. "Medugorje means 'between two mountains' and the mountains there were very beautiful," said Flavia.

"Even though there were military troops in the mountains less than 45 miles away, we did not feel threatened at any time during the trip. In fact, the only time we had our passports checked was when we took a trip to a town along the Adriatic Sea," said Patricia.

"As many as 70,000 people a day would visit this area when the apparitions first began. Now that number is down to approximately 500 people a day. These people come from all over the world and are from all different religious backgrounds," said Flavia.

When people first began coming to this area, the people in the village opened their homes to the pilgrims. Since that time, places have been built within the village for travelers to stay. "We were served breakfast and supper where we were staying. The family that was in charge of our building was very friendly and did a lot to make us comfortable.

"The people there are very nice. They are all very happy. Our guide gave us a lot of background information on the culture of the area and on the reasons for the fighting," said Patricia.

"The people in this area have been oppressed for many years by the Communists. In fact, the Communists would not let them worship openly. The children were taught to call the priests 'uncle' so that if they were questioned by the authorities, they would say an uncle had visited them and they would not be jailed.

The first day of the trip the pilgrims climbed the Hill of Apparitions to the spot where Mary first appeared to the six young people. The second day the group listened to a talk by Viska, one of the young women who has been visited by Mary. "Viska told us what Mary wanted from the pilgrims. Another of the young people told what Mary looked like when she appeared to them. She prays for the unbelievers," said Patricia.

The group attended Mass every day at St. James Church and were part of a healing service with a priest who had been imprisoned by the Communists. Each day Mass is conducted in several languages as well as in Croatian, the official language of the area.

The pilgrims also climbed Cross Mountain, also known as Krizevac, which is approximately 1,700 feet. "The climb up takes two or three hours and is very difficult. Along the way, there are statues depicting the Stations of the Cross and by the time we got to the sixth or seventh Station, we had to stop to rest. The climb is also more difficult because of all the rocks that are everywhere," said Patricia.

"Even though this was a tremendously hard trip, it was worth it. The people there are very happy and very spiritual. The scenery there, the mountains and the valleys are just beautiful and the weather was good also," said Flavia.

"By the time the trip was over, the people in our group had developed a bond with each other that is hard to describe. This was a very spiritual trip and very worthwhile," said Patricia.

Thomas M. Euter of Wayne, a second trimester student at Palmer College of Chiropractic in Davenport, Iowa, has been named to the College's Dean's list. To be eligible, a student must achieve a 3.5 grade point average in all studies. The highest possible grade is a 4.0.

Euter is enrolled in a five-academic-year course of study leading to the Doctor of Chiropractic (D.C.) degree.

Farm assessment figures not so grim says assessor

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Farms with an assessed property value of $375,000 are not typical in Wayne County, said Assessor Joyce Reeg, who said a story in the Wayne Herald last week about the school bond issue has worried many rural land owners because it used that high value figure when estimating what the impact of the bond issue would be.

Mrs. Reeg, who said several farmers have been into her office worrying about the impact on their taxes if the bond issue passes, indicated that the more typical farm would be assessed at $550 an acre or less with a total valuation of $88,000.

For those farms located within the Wayne School District, the impact of the 39.9 cent tax increase would be $351 a year.

Only a handful of farmers in the entire county can boast of total valuations in the $375,000 range according to the assessor's office.

Farmland is constitutionally assessed at 80 percent of market value while residential and commercial property is assessed at 100 percent, Mrs. Reeg explained.

She also said the average residential value figure of $50,000 used in publicity about the school bond issue is inaccurate. The average assessed valuation of residential property in Wayne, as determined for the homestead exemption calculations, is $36,000. Mrs. Reeg said many elderly residents qualify for homestead exemptions which would reduce the tax impact on some with fixed incomes.

The total property valuation (both real and personal) of Wayne School District #17 is $209 million. That is the valuation on which the estimate of 39.9 cents of additional levy would be needed to raise the funds to retire bonds on the $7.9 million school construction project.

That means the tax increase would apply to both real estate and personal property such as vehicles and business equipment.

The estimated tax increase on the affiliated districts to pay the high school portion of the bond issue would be 12.3 cents per $100 of valuation.

school buildings more years than they would be in the Carroll Elementary School. He added that the capital needs of both the Carroll and Wayne Elementary buildings could be addressed using the district sinking fund.

Besides Jensen, other administrators who attended the meeting were Dick Meuter, middle school principal, and Dave Lutt, elementary principal.

Lori Owens, a member of the building citizen committee told the Carroll residents that two of the board members recently elected were vocal supporters of keeping the Carroll School open. Two new board members will be coming on in January.

"We might get farther by waiting until March rather than pressuring them into voting on the matter now," Mrs. Owens said.

Mrs. Gilmore predicted if the school board were to vote today on the Carroll School situation "it would be a 4-2 vote against Carroll."

Mrs. Gilmore asked if the bond issue tax assessments would apply to personal property as well as real estate. She said it would make a big difference to many farmers with high personal property tax bills.

The 39.9 cent tax increase per $100 of valuation would apply to all property both real and personal County Assessor Joyce Reeg confirmed today.

Murray offered some words of wisdom for winter driving which included, "be careful of the wet snow because that's the type of snow that can suck your car right off the road and into a ditch a lot quicker than a dry snow," he said. "I saw numerous cars in the ditch during and after this storm because it was a very heavy, wet snow."

More than one million Americans turn 70 each year.

They face another milestone at 70-1/2 — an

IRS requirement that they start making withdrawals from tax-deferred retirement programs. Any amount withdrawn is subject to income tax. There is no upper limit on how much can be withdrawn. But the IRS has some complicated formulas for withdrawing minimum amounts each year, something many people prefer to do in order to stretch out income and avoid paying the heavy tax that a lump-sum withdrawal requires. The penalty for failing to make a minimum required distribution is 50 percent of the amount that should have been withdrawn. Consult the trustee of your retirement savings program for details on options for making minimum withdrawals.

Foster-French wed in double ring ceremony

Mary Foster of Holbrook became the bride of David French of Carroll in an Oct. 8 double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

The bride is the daughter of Jerry and Susie Foster of Holbrook and the groom is the son of Darrell and Dorothy French of Carroll.

Father Don Cleary of Wayne officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony. The church was decorated with two candelabra adorned with floral arrangements and two aisle candelabra featuring ivy and dark coral ribbon. The pews were also decorated with ivory opera bows.

Holly and Robyn Sebade of Wayne were vocalists, accompanied by Mary Ann Wehmoff of Wisner. Together they performed "Parents Prayer," "Vows Go Unbroken" and "My Only Love."

The bride chose a white floor length sheath style gown with scalloped v-shaped front and back. The bodice was adorned with beaded pearls and sequins over lace. The puffed sleeves were accented with a bow and were also beaded and sequined. They also featured a Victorian point at the hand. The gown featured a removable full length cathedral train that has lace cut-outs that were beaded and sequined. The edge was scalloped lace.

A crown style headpiece was worn by the bride which she created with pearls, iridescent beads and sequins. It also featured netting puffs and a fingertip length veil.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents.

Maid of honor was Sherri Lang-

Mr. and Mrs. French

ley of Lincoln. She wore a dark coral ankle length straight split skirt with a formal style jacket that featured a peplum. Bridesmaids were Diane French of Wayne, Dawn Spahr of Wayne and Lori Mast of Homer. They wore dark coral knee length tank dresses with a formal jacket that featured a removable tea-length over-skirt.

Flower girl was Amanda Schmale of Carroll and she wore a dress in the same style as the bridesmaids. Ringbearer was Cory Helms of Holbrook. He wore a black tuxedo with white brocade vest and tie to match the groom.

Candle lighters were Kayla and Kyle Schmale of Carroll.

Best man was Doug French of Carroll. Groomsmen were Ed Schmale of Carroll, Len Schmale of Carroll and Mike Zach of Wayne. They wore black tuxedos with black brocade vests and ties.

Seating guests were Curtis Foster of LaVista, Matt Langley of Lincoln, Ray Johnson of Carroll and Trever Hartman of Winside. The ushers were in black tuxedos with black cummerbunds and ties.

A reception was held in the Carroll Auditorium. It was hosted by Dan and Glenva Frahm of Minden and Todd and Mary Jenkins of Carroll.

The couple will be making their home in rural Carroll where the groom is engaged in farming.

How to adjust for a new baby

QUESTION: Before our new baby was born last month, our 3-year-old son was thrilled at the prospect of a baby brother or sister. Now, however, he shows signs of jealousy, sucking his thumb sullenly when I nurse the baby, and getting very loud and silly when friends drop in to bring a gift to the new arrival. Please suggest some ways I can ease him through this period of adjustment.

DR. DOBSON: Your son is revealing a textbook reaction to the invasion that has occurred in his private kingdom. My wife and I saw a similar response when our second child was born.

Our son arrived on the scene when his sister was 5 years of age. She had been the only granddaughter on either side of the family and had received all the adult attention that can be heaped upon a child.

Then suddenly, her secure palace was invaded by a cute, little fellow who captured and held center stage. All of the relatives cuddled, cooed, rocked, bounced and hugged baby Ryan, while Danae watched suspiciously from the wings.

As we drove home from grandmother's house on a Sunday afternoon about a week after Ryan's arrival, our daughter suddenly said, "Daddy, you know I'm just talking. You know I don't mean to be bad or anything, but sometimes I wish little Ryan wasn't there!"

She had given us a valuable clue to her feelings in that brief sentence, and we immediately seized the opportunity she had provided. We moved her into the front seat of the car so we could discuss what she had said. We told her we understood how she felt and assured her of our love. We also explained that a baby is completely helpless and will die if people don't take care of him—feed, clothe, change and love him.

We reminded her that she was taken care of that way when she was a baby, and explained that Ryan would soon grow up, too. We were also careful in the months that followed to minimize the threat to her place in our hearts. By giving careful attention to her feelings and security, the relationship with her brother developed into a lasting friendship and love.

Danae's admission was not a typical response among children. Much more commonly, a child will be unable or unwilling to express the insecurity brought by a newborn rival, requiring his parents to read more subtle signs and cues.

The most reliable symptoms of the I've-been-replaced syndrome is a sudden return to infantile behavior. Obviously, "If babyhood is where it's at, I'll be a baby again." Therefore, the child throws temper tantrums, wets the bed, sucks his thumb, holds tightly to Momma, baby talks, etc. In this situation, the child has observed a clear and present danger, and is solving it in the best way he knows.

If your firstborn child seems to feel like a has-been, I would suggest the following procedures be implemented:

1. Bring his feelings out in the open and help him verbalize them. When a child is acting silly in front of adults, trying to make them laugh or notice him, it is good to take him in your arms and say "What's the matter, Joey? Do you need some attention today?" Gradually, a child can be taught to use similar words when he feels excluded or rejected. "I need some attention, Dad. Will you play with me?" By verbalizing his feelings, you also help him understand himself better.

2. Don't let antisocial behavior succeed. If the child cries when the baby-sitter arrives, leave him anyway. However, reveal little anger and displeasure, remembering that the entire episode is motivated by a threat to your love.

3. Meet his needs in ways that grant status to him for being older. Take him to the park, making it clear that the baby is too little to go. Talk "up" to him about the things he can do that the baby can't—he can use the bathroom instead of his pants, for example. Let him help take care of the baby so he will feel he is a part of the family process.

Beyond these corrective steps, give your son some time to adjust to his new situation. Even though it stresses him somewhat today, he should profit for the realization that he does not sit at the center of the universe.

Plan for smooth and simpler holidays

Looking forward to a holiday celebration when we were children was almost as exciting as the occasion itself. As working adults, however, anticipating the holidays often means pressure-laden choices to be balanced with hectic work schedules.

There are decisions to be made about where to spend the holidays and with whom. Will you eat turkey with your parents and pumpkin pie across town at your mother-in-law's? Should you invite your favorite aunt even though she and your mother had a major fight this year? Is it possible to blend your own family traditions with those of your new stepfamily?

The choices we make can mean the difference between holiday depression and a joyful break in our work routine to be shared with family and friends. Whether you are married or single, here are some tips to help you avoid the stress of holidays. After all, you don't merely want to "survive" the season; you want to enjoy it!

Learn to simplify — To keep your celebration within manageable bounds, figure out what is really important to you and to your family and friends. That will help you cut down on those extra efforts that often go unnoticed and unappreciated.

Sally Ebmeier
Cedar County

One way to start is to ask people what they enjoy most about the holidays. You may be surprised when they mention simple things. Their answers should help you to see that it's O.K. to give up some of the elaborate holiday traditions. You can feel more comfortable about creating your own traditions — new ways of doing things with your family.

Rethink giving gifts — Talk to your family and friends, and you might be surprised to find that they also are concerned about too much emphasis on buying gifts. Lots of families draw names and have each person buy a gift for one other person. Plan with other families to give just one gift to the household instead of a separate present for each member of the family. And put a limit on the cost of a gift.

Try to get children to be less preoccupied with the number of presents they're to receive. See if you can focus them (and the people who give them gifts) on fewer but more meaningful ones.

Avoid conflicts — If you can, try to establish some ground rules ahead of time to avoid any conflicts with other family members. If all else fails, remember to pick your battles. Keep telling yourself that it isn't worth arguing over every small criticism or instruction from a parent. Keeping your sense of balance and your sense of humor is probably the best strategy to relieve any tension that might spoil your visit.

Church plans its 21st annual Christmas Fair

From homemade pies, cakes and rolls, to stitchery, crafts, wood items and other gift-giving ideas, this year's United Methodist Church Christmas Fair again plans to offer area residents a wide assortment of items to complete their holiday gift giving.

Doors to the Christmas Fair will open at 10 a.m. this Saturday, Dec. 3, and will remain open until 2 p.m. Shoppers are asked to use the north door of the church.

In addition to various booths, the fair will feature a hot turkey dinner served at the church from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The dinner can also be delivered personally to your home or office or be purchased at the church and taken home. This year's menu includes turkey, mashed potatoes and gravy for $3; cold turkey sandwiches for $1.75; children's portions for $1.50; pie for 75¢ and coffee or milk for 25¢. People wishing to have their food delivered can place their orders as early as 9 a.m., but they will not be delivered until 11 a.m. Call the Methodist Church at 375-2231 to place a meal order.

This year's fair will include the following booths:

Promise Tree— One of the most unique booths at the Christmas Fair is the Promise Tree, where specific talents, products and services are promised in exchange for a specific amount of money. Promises are paid for the day of the fair and are carried out as agreed upon by the promiser and purchaser. Popular promises in the past have included cleaned pheasants, catered meals and horseback rides. Chairpersons of this booth are Helen Rose and Cyndi Wagner.

Country Store — Shoppers can purchase homemade pies, cakes, breads and rolls, cookies, candies, eggs, canned goods, jellies and jams, in addition to a variety of other food items. Chairpersons of this booth are Deb Garwood and Gerelda Lipp.

Stitcher and Crafts Boutique — Sewn, crocheted and knitted items, embroidery, counted cross-stitch and other needlework will be featured at this booth, along with craft and decorator items. Chairpersons of this booth are Linda Teach and Lisa Wiesemann.

Kids' Korner — Items for $2 and under are sold at the Kids' Korner booth, including items which are suitable as gifts for children, or as gifts children may purchase for relatives, friends, teacher, etc. In addition, grab bags may also be purchased at this booth and are marked for either boys or girls. Chairpersons of this booth are Joni Poutre and Cyndi Milligan.

The Nook — Good, used items of every kind, except clothing, may be purchased at The Nook. Chairpersons for this booth are Mary Jarvi and Elizabeth Hancock.

Cookie Booth — In this booth, for a small price, sugar cookies can be decorated by persons of all ages. At times, the booth also will have plates of decorated cookies for sale. Chairpersons for this booth are Shelli Rager and Sue Schroeder.

The Carpenter's Shop — This booth features a wide array of specially designed items made of wood. Chairpersons of this booth are Donna and Al Shufelt and Becky and Bill Wilson.

There will be a Corstage for Missions table where a $1 donation to missions will entitle shoppers to a colorful ribbon corsage. This is a special way to say "thanks," "I love you" or "I'm glad we are friends." Chairpersons for corsages are Fern Kelley and Verna Rees.

Connie Hall and Mary Sturm are in charge of holly and wreath orders.

Overall chairperson for the 1994 Christmas Fair is Eliene Jager. Co-chairperson is Mary Carstens. Advisor is Imogene Brasch.

Other chairpersons are Deneil Parker and Kyle Rose, publicity; Nancy Sorensen and Ilene Nichols, kitchen; Leota Swanson and Margaret Hansen, pies; Connie Webber and Nancy Fuelberth, lunch room; Deb Gross and Marilyn Anderson, coffee; Pearla Benjamin, table decorations; Doris Supp, treasurer; and Pearla Benjamin and Dola Husmann, cashiers.

People attending the fair this year will be greeted by Pastor and Mrs. Gary Main and Julie Claybaugh, president of United Methodist Women.

Trubes renew wedding vows

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Trube renewed their wedding vows of 66 years ago on Nov. 22 at the Wakefield Care Center. It was also Basil's 88th birthday.

Gladys wore her original wedding dress. Erma Koester, Gladys' attendant, attended the event.

Diane Blohm sang "Heirlooms." Allen Trube, son, and Gwen Trube Howard, daughter, gave the bride away. Rev. T.J. Fraser of Allen Methodist Church read the renewal of vows.

Refreshments were served, as many relatives and friends were there to share the special occasion.

The couple are both residents of the Wakefield Care Center.

WAYNE HAD four female athletes named to the Wayne Herald All-Area Volleyball Team including from left: Jenny Thompson, Angie Hudson, Katie Lutt and Carrie Fink.

All-Area volleyball team honors 12

WAKEFIELD'S STACEY Preston and Mary Torczon were named to the Wayne Herald All-Area Team.

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

The Annual Wayne Herald All-Area Volleyball Team was released today with 12 of the area's top players being tabbed to the first team while several others earned honorable mention status.

Wayne and Laurel dominated the first team with four selections each. Both teams qualified for the Nebraska State Volleyball Tournament earlier this month and both simply had outstanding seasons.

Jenny Thompson, Carrie Fink, Katie Lutt and Angie Hudson are the Wayne recipients of the all-area team. These Blue Devils were instrumental in leading Wayne to the state volleyball tournament.

Fink, the setter and quarterback of the team, made sure she got the ball to Thompson and Lutt and when that didn't work Hudson did a great job of filling the void.

Thompson is perhaps the finest female athlete in the Herald coverage area and signed a national letter of intent to play college basketball at Wayne State College.

Lutt, only a sophomore, gives Blue Devil fans a positive outlook for Wayne volleyball in the future.

Laurel recipients to the all-area team include Katie Newton, Gina Monson, Becky Schroeder and Tracy Ankeny. The Bears had their finest season ever and quarterbacking the squad was Monson who enjoyed nearly a perfect season from her setting position.

Ankeny would be the lone challenger to Thompson as the most athletic female in the Herald coverage area. Only a sophomore, Ankeny looks to propel the Lady Bears back to state in her next two seasons.

Schroeder is a 6-0 sophomore with lethal hitting power. A dominant left-hander, Schroeder will team up with Ankeny in the next two years to give the Bears an outstanding double-threat.

Newton is a player that every coach would love to have. She never does anything to hurt the team, yet quietly comes up with big momentum swinging plays.

Winside nailed down two spots on the all-area team with senior Stacy Bowers and junior Wendy Miller. Bowers was a complete player for first-year coach Lisa Schroeder and worked extremely hard in doing what ever the team needed to win.

Miller was the top hitter for Winside and was the Wildcat setter number one option in getting the ball. She also possessed the ability to change the game's momentum with one convincing kill spike.

The final two spots on the all-area team were earned by Wakefield's Mary Torczon and Stacy Preston. The Trojans battled through some tough times this year with the resignation of the entire coaching staff but seniors Torczon and Preston provided the leadership needed to get through the year.

Preston was the leading setter on the Trojans squad while Torczon was the top spiker. Wakefield, however, suffered its first losing season in volleyball in many years.

Honorable mention selections for the all-area team go to the following: Tanya Plueger and Jaime Mitchell from Allen; Alissa Kric and Megan Adkins from Laurel; Amy Hattig from Wakefield; Sarah Painter from Winside and Amy Post from Wayne.

The Player of the Year Award goes to Wayne's Jenny Thompson and the Coach of the Year Award will be divided into two awards with Joyce Hoskins of Wayne and Patti Cunningham of Laurel each receiving the honor.

WINSIDE VOLLEYBALL standouts Wendy Miller and Stacy Bowers were honored by the Wayne Herald as All-Area recipients. The two Wildcats helped Winside to another winning season despite a slow start.

Chamberlain nets another football honor

WAYNE-Wayne State wide receiver Byron Chamberlain was named to the first-team of the 1994 NCAA Division II All-Midwest Region Football Team, recently from a poll of all college sports information directors.

This team is the only Division II All-America team selected by a vote of all Division II members. Only players from NCAA members which are eligible for the Division II playoffs are eligible for nomination. Seventy-one players representing 20 of the 24 teams in the Region were nominated and sports information directors from 23 of the 24 schools voted.

All-State awards honor area players

WAYNE-The annual All-State Football Teams were released by the Omaha World-Herald, Sunday and the Wayne Herald coverage area had several players honored.

In Class C-2, the Laurel Bears placed two players among the top 22 listed as first-teamers as Jeremy and Jared Reinoehl earned the honors. Jeremy was named to the first team offense as a receiver while Jared was listed as a first team defensive lineman.

In Class D-1, Winside placed two players on the first-team as Jaimey Holdorf earned the honor as a sophomore playing receiver while Jeff Bruggeman was named as a first-team defensive lineman.

Winside also had Jayme Shelton, Lonnie Grothe and Robert Wutler named to the honorable mention list while Laurel had Tyler Erwin, Cody Carstensen, Jeff Wattier, Kody Urwiler and Dustin Ankeny named to the honorable mention list.

Wakefield, also a C-2 school had Cory Brown and Matt Peterson named to the honorable mention list while Wayne, playing C-1 had Ryan Pick, Dusty Jensen, Jason Carr and Jeff Hamer named to the honorable mention list.

Wayne State men suffer first loss of season against UNO

Wayne State men's basketball coach Greg McDermott suffered his first loss as an NCAA-II head coach as the 'Cats were defeated by UNO, 86-79, Saturday in Omaha.

The 2-1 Wildcats were tied with the Mavericks at 29 at the intermission but both teams exploded on offense in the second half with UNO out-scoring the 'Cats, 57-50 for the seven-point win.

"It was our inability to stop them on offense that hurt," McDermott said. "Offensively, I was very pleased with our performance. We executed the offense very well."

McDermott said with five minutes to go in the game the score was tied. "Anytime you are in a position to win on the road with five minutes to go you're pleased as a coach," McDermott said. "It's very tough to win on the road. We're still learning and there are some things we have to really work on but the bottom line is we were right there and that's all you can ask for."

Billy Patterson came off the bench to lead the 'Cats in scoring with 17 points while Kyle White came off the bench to tally 12 points. Mike Fitzner also tossed in a dozen points while Greg Ryan scored 10 and Craig Philipp, eight.

Dan Anderson, Terry Mailloux and Curt Wooden each scored six and Omar Clark rounded out the scoring with one bucket. WSC was out-rebounded by a 36-33 margin with Omar Clark leading the way with seven boards while Philipp, Mailloux and Ryan had five each.

WSC did a good job of handling the ball with just 14 turnovers while forcing UNO into 24. Woodin notched three steals while Fitzner and Philipp had two each. Woodin and Patterson shared team honors in assists with five each.

WSC will travel to play a North Central Conference opponent team in South Dakota State, Tuesday night. They will return home to host St. Francis on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

FIRST-YEAR Wayne State men's basketball coach Greg McDermott has instilled a new attitude into the program. The 'Cats will visit South Dakota State, Tuesday night.

WAYNE STATE'S DAN Anderson goes up for a short jumper against Dana College in action last week in Wayne. The Wildcat men are 2-1 after suffering their first loss of the year, Saturday against UNO.

'Cats to play at Morningside, tonight WSC gals lose for first time

Mike Barry's Wayne State women's basketball team suffered their first loss of the season at the Fort Hays State round-robin tournament over Thanksgiving weekend.

The Wildcats lost a 66-53 decision to the host team, Fort Hays State but bounced back to win a nail-biter from Oklahoma City on Saturday, 66-65.

"I was happy to come away with a split with those two teams," Barry said. "We didn't play extremely well against Fort Hays but a lot of credit has to go to Fort Hays for taking us out of our game plan with a good, aggressive defense."

WSC trailed the host team by a 37-28 margin at the half but rallied in the second half. "It was a five point game with three minutes to go," Barry said. "Then we missed a couple shots and they hit some shots and we got into a must-foul situation."

The 'Cats mentor said his team didn't shoot particularly well and a big difference in the game was free throw shooting. "Fort Hays hit 21 of 24 free throw attempts and we hit 11 of 19," Barry said. "The total foul call was about even."

Mindi Jensen led WSC with a dozen points while Deedra Haskins came off the bench to toss in 11. Kristy Twait and Amy Brodersen scored eight apiece while Deb Kostreba netted five and Liz Reeg, four. Marla Stewart and Susie Osborn each scored two and Lori Zimecz rounded out the attack with a free throw.

WSC was edged, 40-37 on the boards with point guard Brodersen leading the 'Cats with seven caroms while Kostreba had six. Twait and Haskins each finished with five rebounds.

WSC suffered 23 turnovers in the game compared to 17 for Fort Hays and Brodersen led the 'Cats with five assists while Haskins blocked two shots. Jensen led WSC in steals with three.

heroine for WSC in the 'Cats narrow 65-64 win over Oklahoma City as she sank two free throws with no time remaining on the clock to notch WSC's third win of the season in four outings.

"We had a 63-62 lead with under 30 seconds to play in regulation," Barry said. "They came down and shot the ball but missed. We got the rebound but Oklahoma City stripped us of the ball and made the shot to take a 64-63 lead."

"We got the ball to half court and called a timeout with four seconds to go," Barry added. "We set up a play but it wasn't there so on the ensuing pass in bounds we called another timeout, this time with 2.9 seconds left."

Barry said when the two teams returned to the court, Oklahoma City called timeout then WSC called another timeout. "We got the ball thrown in to Susie Osborn who immediately went up to shoot," Barry said. "She got the shot blocked, however, and the rebound came down to Mindi who immediately went up with the ball. A foul was called with no time remaining which sent her to the free throw line."

Jensen went to the line with no one in the lane because time had expired. "After she made her first free throw Oklahoma City tried to call a timeout," Barry said. "With no time remaining, though, the timeout was not legal and the officials were on top of it."

Osborn led WSC in scoring with 17 points while Amy Brodersen poured in 12. Jensen finished in double figures with 10 while Kristy Twait netted nine and Deb Kostreba, seven. Marla Stewart and Liz Reeg rounded out the scoring with three and two points, respectively.

Despite the win, the 'Cats were out-rebounded by a 44-32 margin with Osborn and Jensen sharing team honors with seven caroms each. Brodersen dished out a team high seven assists and WSC won the turnover battle, 15-19.

Brodersen also had three steals to lead the team while Osborn and Kostreba had two each. "We still didn't do a very good job from the free throw line," Barry said. "We were just 4-13 and just 2-11 before Jensen hit her two shots at the end."

Barry credited Deb Kostreba for playing a good defensive game, holding an all-America type player in Rita Banks below her season average. WSC will travel to play a North Central Conference team in Morningside, Tuesday night.

Ag changes cause delay in county committee elections

This year's election for positions on the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, which were to be held in December, are being rescheduled to accommodate changes brought on with last month's enactment of the law to reorganize the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

According to Michael Dunklau, chairperson of the Wayne County ASC Committee, the change in the election schedule is nationwide and is authorized under regulations issued by USDA. Current members of ASC committee will continue in their posts until the new election is held next fall.

The law, which reorganized USDA, created a new Agency — The Farm Service Agency (FSA) — which encompasses all of the commodity support and basic conservation programs of the former Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), all of the risk management programs of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), and the farm lending activities of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

Dunklau said the new committee system, when fully implemented, will exercise increased responsibilities in its enlarged role. "Rescheduling the elections on a nationwide basis avoids confusion which could occur from hastily drawn rules and regulations," Dunklau said, "and will create efficiencies by using funds which would have been spent on this year's election process to be used in training committees in performing their added duties."

FSA elections are open to all farmers regardless of race, color, sex, age, disability, religion, marital status or national origin whether owner, landlord, tenant or sharecropper.

Cattle count is down for state, region

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1.86 million cattle on feed on Nov. 1, according to the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service. This inventory was down 7 percent from both last year and two years ago.

Placements of cattle into feedlots during October totaled 630,000 head. This was up 7 percent from last year and was 3 percent above two years ago.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of October totaled 330,000, a decline of 8 percent from both October 1993 and October 1992.

Other disappearance during October totaled 20,000 head compared with 30,000 head last year and 20,000 head two years ago.

Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in the 7 States preparing monthly estimates totaled 8.51 million head, down 6 percent from a year ago and down 1 percent from Oct. 1, 1992.

Placements in feedlots during October totaled 2.46 million, 1 percent below 1993 and 8 percent below 1992. Net placements of 2.40 million for October were up fractionally from last year but 7 percent below 1992.

Marketings during October totaled 1.62 million, up 4 percent from 1993 and up 9 percent from 1992.

Other disappearance during October was 56,000 head, 26 percent below both 1993 and 1992.

Up and at 'em

There's been more going on in local fields than a big harvest of grain. According to Game and Parks Commission reports, area hunters have enjoyed an excellent harvest of pheasants too.

Some improvement in hog price

New ag agencies part of change

There's some new kids on the block — FSA, RECD, NRCS.

These new agencies came into being last month, when President Clinton signed into law a restructuring plan for the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) that will improve the way USDA agencies do business in Wayne County, said Teresa Post, acting County Executive Director for the Wayne County Farm Service Agency (FSA).

The FSA, formerly ASCS, will administer commodity price and income support programs, farm ownership and operating loans and the federal crop insurance program. The new agency combines all or part of three agencies familiar to farmers and ranchers — the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

In addition, the FSA will offer conservation cost-share assistance under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), as well as cost-sharing and land rental payments for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

We want producers to know that the reorganization did not eliminate any programs. What will change is that these services soon will be available to producers on a 'one-stop' basis. The whole purpose of the new FSA is to be able to provide better, more efficient service and to make it easier for farmers to use the programs.

At the local level, farmer-elected committee members will continue to oversee farm program administration and will take on additional duties in overseeing other FSA programs.

Farmers Home Administration

— FmHA — will be divided into two different agencies. The services performed through the Farmer Program Loans will be incorporated into the FSA sometime in the future. All single family, multi-family, community program and business and industry loans will be made and serviced by the Rural Economic and Community Development agency — RECD.

The Soil Conservation Service (SCS) was created nearly 60 years ago to address a national crisis called the Dust Bowl. The primary mission of the SCS was to provide technical assistance to farmers and ranchers. Since then, the agency has expanded its action into areas such as developing flood control projects and conservation activities in urban areas.

Reorganization has created a name change for SCS also. The Natural Resources Conservation Service — NRCS — will continue the technical assistance and programs currently provided by SCS. In addition, the NRCS will administer the Wetlands Reserve Program, Water Bank Program, Forestry Incentives Program and Farms for the Future Program.

The agencies are merging at headquarters first. The combination of staffs and functions at the county level will come in time. In the meantime, farmers can receive service as usual at their county offices. So, if you make a telephone call into one of these offices, and you hear a cheery voice say "Good Morning, FSA (or RECD, NRCS) may we help you?" don't hang up thinking you have a wrong number. You have the same services with a new name trying to bring you customer friendly, one-stop shopping.

Count down begins

Jim and Linda came from South Carolina for Thanksgiving, which made it a special holiday for all of us. The weather cooperated until Sunday, and the Huskers got out of Norman with a win. Big Eight coaches have been resigning faster than our quarterback's were being injured; and Joe Montana got clobbered today.

Besides my brother, there is only one other male heir named Staehr, and he even has my grandfather's first name. He was visiting his Mom in York, from Jackson Hole, Wyo., so his sister and I planned a mini family reunion on Saturday night.

We gathered at the Hunter's Lodge in Waco, in what was once an old hardware store and drug store. The restaurant part has been modernized, but the bar still has high tin ceilings and really looks old. It has been owned and operated continuously for 30 years by the Sackschewsky family from Thayer, and the food is good. (If you can pronounce that name, you are truly a German.)

I noticed the Ted Baacks, from Wayne's Pac 'N' Save, were also enjoying a post-holiday meal.

My cousin Fred is bald, an exact replica of his other grandfather. He has a daughter at Dartmouth, and one at Skidmore. My brother looks exactly like our father, only bigger; and he has two sons, one at the University of South Carolina in Columbia.

street of the town I grew up in that looks familiar except the telephone operator's home and the old roller rink. I experienced the shock that goes with realizing that we are now the same age our parents were when we thought they were getting old.

We marry, and move away, and get very busy raising children and making a living. Then, in the middle-age, we begin to make contact again; realizing the value of family ties, shared memories, common ancestors.

Chuck Swindall says Thanksgiving is his favorite holiday because it is not commercialized and it is family oriented. Plus, it's about giving, not getting. Giving thanks for blessings and making contact with loved ones are the sum total. Throw in a turkey and dressing, cranberries and pumpkin pie, and you have a winner.

Today, the first Advent candle was burning. The count-down to Christmas begins.

TREATING FROSTBITE

Frostbite happens when tissue freezes as a result of excessive exposure to cold. The best treatment for frostbite is prevention. This can be done by dressing warmly and in layers. Pay special attention to the head, face, hands and feet as those are the areas most likely to suffer from frostbite. If frostbite does occur, rewarm the area as soon as possible in a bath of lukewarm water, water that is not hot to a normal hand. Soak the area until it flush returns to all of it, usually 20 to 30 minutes. Do not use dry heat, such as a heating pad, to warm the injured area because it may heat unevenly and perhaps cause a burn. Once the area is thoroughly warmed, soak it in a whirlpool bath twice a day for 20 minutes until it is healed.

TEACHERS MEETING

St. Paul's Sunday school teachers met Nov. 22 with four teachers and Pastor Bertels present. On Oct. 9, the Sunday school gave Gerry Buresh a plaque for the years of service teaching Sunday school.

Christmas program practice will be on Sundays, Dec. 4, 11 and 18 during Sunday school time. The program this year will be "Who Will This Baby Be."

On Dec. 11, there will be a Christmas party for the children and they will collect new or good used toys for the Haven House in Wayne. The Sunday school children will be buying a gift for a person on the Tree of Love which is displayed at Farmer's State Bank. These gifts are for residents of Colonial Manor in Randolph.

The Christmas program will be Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m. AAL #3019 will serve lunch after the program. The teens of the church will decorate the tree on Wednesday, Nov. 30 at 7 p.m. Those who will be confirmed this year are welcome to come help.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 17.

AAL MEETING

AAL Branch #3019 met Nov. 21 with four officers and three guests present. It was discussed about what to "serve" for lunch following the Christmas program. Mark Tietz will get the Christmas tree for the church and AAL will furnish pizza for the youth who will be decorating the tree on Nov. 30. Projects were discussed for the Senior Citizen meeting hall.

The next meeting will be after the Sunday school Christmas program. There will be a planning meeting in January. Date will be announced.

CARD CLUB

Neighborhood Card Club met Nov. 19 at the Winside Legion Hall with Lonnie and Wilma Fork as hosts. There were 15 present, with card prizes going to Gordon Mohr and Shirley Woslager for high; Kathy and Ray Johnson, low and Richard Woslager, traveling.

The next meeting will be Jan. 21 with Ray and Kathy Johnson.

Philip Scheurich

Mail carrier honored for 30 years service

By Dianne Jaeger
Winside Correspondent

Philip Scheurich, rural postal service carrier from Hoskins, recently was presented a pin for 30 years of service. The pin was presented by Ed Goforth of Norfolk, a representative of the U.S. Postal Service. He also received a "Letter of Recognition" from them.

Scheurich started carrying mail in 1964 as a substitute carrier. When the Hoskins rural carrier retired, Scheurich filled that position.

"Back then, we covered around 80 to 85 miles of service. Even though many of those farms have been abandoned, my service area has grown to about 95 miles a day. The biggest change I've seen in the postal service is automation. With the current system being installed, patrons need to be very accurate when addressing mail. Also, since I started in Hoskins we have a new post office building," Scheurich said.

Scheurich's territory extends several miles south of Winside, north to Highway 98 and west and south to the Wayne and Stanton county lines.

Scheurich and his wife Elaine live in the rural Hoskins area. They have two children, a daughter Michelle, who is a junior at Wayne State College and a son Lynn, who is a ninth grader at Norfolk Junior High.

Pork

Farmers in 1990 received 88 cents of the $2.21 consumers paid for a pound of pork, or 39.8 percent, the USDA said. This year, farmers are getting 56 cents of $1.98, or 28.3 percent.

Farmers are getting 13.8 cents a pound less than they did even six months ago, the senators said in their letter. At the same time, they said meatpackers are getting 2.9 cents more and retailers 7.2 cents more.

However, one retailer said last week if farmers want more money for the hogs they have to do a better job of convincing consumers to buy their products.

"Pork isn't a white meat, it's a red meat ...," said Herb Brinkmeyer, head of the meat and seafood division of Baker's Supermarkets. "It's a backwards campaign ... They should be selling its leanness, how it cooks, cost per serving, which is less than chicken or turkey breast."

Like beef supplies this year, there is an oversupply of pork, said Glenn Grimes, an agricultural economist in Columbia, Mo. A spokesman for meatpacking giant IBP Inc. said processing plants have been kept running on Sundays this month to keep up.

"If you take inflation into consideration, hog prices are the lowest since at least the 1940s," Grimes told the Omaha World-Herald. "Some operations are still growing, but others are reducing."

He also said grocery and packer prices may seem low to respond to low hog prices because most pork is selling at current prices.

"Demand for pork has been good ... and there's no consumer groundswell for lower prices," Grimes said.

But Elwyn Fitzke of Glenvil, a vice president with the Nebraska Pork Producers Association, said it is upsetting to see such slow change.

"You complain to the packer and retailer and they both say it's someone else's fault," Fitzke said. "Sometimes you wonder about the producer check-off money for pork production. You wonder if it creates demand so they don't have to lower the price."

Neighbors help family harvest

On Nov. 15 over 40 relatives, friends and neighbors assisted in harvesting corn on the Randy and Joanne Baier farm located 10 miles south and one mile east of Wayne.

Organizers, Ron Wemhoff and Stan Baier said short work was made of harvesting 115 acres of corn. Randy succumbed to illness in August of this year.

Combines were furnished by Ralph Schmidt, Ron Wolverton, Gary Buhrman, Nyrton Woodward, Tim Hansen, Eric VonSeggern, Pete Reeg, Ron Wert, David Baier and Logan Valley Impl.

Grain carts were furnished by Richard Siefken, Tony Wemhoff, Wilbert Stuthman, David Baier, Ron Wolverton and Pete Reeg. Furnishing trucks were Gary Weise, Northeast Coop, Wayne Heetmann, Loren Schroeder, Les Youngmeyer, Reinhardt Trucking and Lutt Trucking.

Food and refreshment was furnished by Deb Hansen, Esther Stark, Mary Hansen, Ruth, Imogene and Joanie Baier, Pearl Youngmeyer, Lois Schmidt, Mary Ann Wemhoff, Alvin and Viola Meyer, Judy Schroeder, Bev Buhrman, Mr. B's Pub and The White Dog Pub.

Others helping were Forest Hansen, Denny Lutt, Ron Wemhoff, Clarence Stark, Damon Henschke, Ron Penlerick, Steve Glassmeyer, Randy Koll, Pastor Paul Moeller, Jerry Baier, Greg Podany, Richard Hewitt and Stan Baier.

Library hosts speaker

Speaker at the Wayne Public Library on Wednesday, Dec. 7 at noon will be Crete humorist Richard Kimbrough.

The author of 10 books, Kimbrough's program at Wayne will be based on a nationally-syndicated column that he wrote for 10 years carried in nearly 200 papers around the nation. The column "Love Grows On Farms" is based on the experiences of people in a fictional Nebraska farm community. The people discussed range from Esty Brace, the egg man at the local Coop to Bessie Wimple, the buttnisky, to Olaf, the old Swede who would not put up snowfence.

Kimbrough annually speaks to at least 100 groups around the country and has appeared in Wayne a number of times to address school groups. In 1991 in recognition of his work with high school students, Kimbrough was one of 17 Americans to receive the Leavey Award for Excellence in Education presented through the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa., an organization formed by President Dwight Eisenhower in the 1950's to honor Americans in various walks of life.

Kimbrough is married, and he and his wife Bev have five grown children.

This program is funded by the Nebraska Humanities Council, a state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Allen Community Club met on Nov. 21 at the Village Inn for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner at 6:30 p.m. A business meeting followed. Fifteen members were present.

Old business was discussed. Rob Bock and Jerry Schroeder were appointed to fix and put up the sign at the junction of Highways 9 and 20. Kathy Boswell has been and will continue to work on getting signs for the trailer court. She has given tourist information to the Travel and Tourism Division. The children and teen Halloween party was both very successful.

New business was discussed. It was decided to have the Christmas drawing at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 17, with Santa coming to town at 1:30 p.m. After considerable discussion, it was decided to give away $100 in Allen Bucks and a grand prize of a television set, must be present to win. Community Club members will be eligible. Dean Chase, Duke Johnson and Jerry Schroeder were appointed to the committee.

At the drawing Rob Bock will recognize Bill Snyder and Joanne Rahn as recipients of the Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor Award.

The Allen Community Club will again sponsor a lighting contest, with prizes being $35, $25 and $15. Vicki Bupp will take care of publicity. Applications are at the Post Office, bank, Cash Store, Village Inn and Allen Oil Co.

Dean Chase brought to the Club's attention that the Legion would like to have some sort of attention, such as a monument at the trailer court. The club discussed this proposal and suggested other places for a park site. Everyone agreed that the area west of the new fire hall should be landscaped and made into a park for the flags, time capsule, fire bell, benches, a gazebo and blue spruce trees for Christmas lights. The Village Board will need to take action on this before the ACC pursues the project.

Sheila Schroeder also mentioned the signs which could be posted outside of town in July 1995 with the theme, "Company's Coming Again." Phyllis Swanson will be asked to work on this project.

There will be no December meeting. The next meeting will be in January with election of officers. The present officers will submit a list of candidates for the new officers.

SENIOR CENTER

The Christmas craft sale was held Nov. 18 and 19. Donna Stalling won the big quilt in the raffle drawing and Betty Chapman received the baby quilt. Nola Potter won a lemon pie.

A nice crowd attended the birthday party. Cakes were furnished by Pearl, Carol, Irene and Wendell.

The card party was also held with a nice crowd attending. Prize winners were Gaylen Jackson, Dorothy Brownell, Earl Potter and Twila Ogle. Fay and Marge hosted. Earl and Nola Potter will host next month.

Anyone wishing to have chore and housekeeping services done should contact Joanne Rahn at the center. Christmas brunch will be served on Dec. 23 and on Dec. 30. Serving time is at 9:30 a.m. both days. Please sign in early on those two days so the Nutrition Site can know how many to expect.

FmHA grants and loans are available for home remodeling and fixing up. Call Joanne if interested. Donations are needed for the general clean-up fund, because it is too much work for four or five people to clean every month.

SELLING MEMORABILIA

The Allen Alumni will be selling memorabilia every Saturday morning between now and Christmas. They will be at the Senior Center from 8 to 11:30 a.m. Some of the items on sale will be T-shirts, hats, trivets, brass school bells and spoons.

ADDRESSES NEEDED

The Allen Alumni is preparing for the 100th birthday celebration to be held in July, 1995. The group is missing some addresses. Contact Kathy Boswell if you know the current address of the following graduates: Lois Wheeler, Claribel Stingley, Kenneth Delaney, Donald Barnes,

NUTRITION SITE MENU

Monday, Dec. 5: Egg salad sandwich, potato soup, pea and cheese salad, white bread, apple-auce.

Tuesday, Dec. 6: Spaghetti and meat sauce, beets, tossed salad, garlic bread, fruit jello.

Wednesday, Dec. 7: Salisbury steak, baked potato, green beans, dinner roll, pudding.

Thursday, Dec. 8: Salmon loaf, wild rice, asparagus, carrifruit salad, corn meal muffin, fresh fruit.

Friday, Dec. 9: Ham, sweet potatoes, tomato and zucchini, whole wheat bread, plums.

NEBRASKA DEPARTMENT OF ROADS

NOTICE OF HIGHWAY PROJECT DESIGN HEARING

The NEBRASKA HIGHWAY COMMISSION and the DEPARTMENT OF ROADS will hold a PUBLIC HEARING on Project F-35-4(1008) known as "In Wayne". This Project is on Highway 35 (7th Street) in Wayne. The Project begins on the west edge of Wayne at County Road 35 (by the Fairgrounds) and runs east along 7th Street to the Logan Street Bridge at the east edge of town.

Work proposed for this Project consists of: the construction of a new three-lane highway with the center lane as a common left-turn lane, curb and gutter along the new three-lane roadway, a new drainage system, minor grading at the intersections, retaining walls and sidewalks to be built where necessary, and realignment of some city streets as necessary. Some driveways may be closed or rebuilt.

HEARING LOCATION: WAYNE SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM
611 WEST 7TH WAYNE, NEBRASKA

HEARING DATE: TUESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1994

HEARING TIME: 7:30 P.M.

In addition to the above stated hearing, interested persons are invited to stop by at any time between 3-5 P.M. on the same date in the same location for an informal discussion on any aspect of the Project with personnel from the Department of Roads.

A public hearing on the above project is being held in order to provide information on the design features of the project. All persons interested in the Project are invited to attend and present their views and questions. Written statements and exhibits may be presented at the hearing and will also be accepted as a part of the hearing record for 10 days following the public hearing.

Where possible, the Department of Roads will provide an accessible hearing facility for disabled persons. Appropriate provisions for the hearing and visually impaired persons will be made if the Department is notified by November 10, 1994. Notification should be submitted to: Public Hearings Officer, Department of Roads, P.O. Box 94759, Lincoln, NE 68509-4759, telephone (402) 479-4871.

Preliminary plans, developed by the Department of Roads are available at the District Three Office located at 408 North 13th Street in Norfolk, Nebraska.

NOTICE OF MEETING

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners will meet in regular session on Monday, December 5, 1994 at the Wayne County Courthouse from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. The agenda for this meeting is available for public inspection at the County Clerk's office.

Attention Deficit Disorders, Hyperactivity and Associated Disorders

Dr. Bob Uhing, Special Ed Director
Richard Metteer, Middle School Principal

Children with attention deficits, learning and behavioral problems can be very challenging. Their problems with concentration, poor impulse control, distractibility and frequent hyperactivity make daily management a difficult struggle. Parents and school personnel want to do as much as they can to make life at home and school go smoothly. These children need more than the usual love, patience, consistency and firm guidance.

The techniques below appear simply and easy when read. Putting them into practice takes time, self-examination, patience and hard work. Focus on one technique at a time and think about how it affects the various problems you want to change. Refer to the ideas below when you need help in handling a stubborn or difficult situation. When you get stuck and can't resolve a problem behavior, get help from a professional who specializes in working with children.

1. Think positively about discipline. Discipline is the process of teaching a child the rules of behavior and how the child's behavior affects other people.
2. Tell your child with words and with a hug at least once a day that you love him and that you are glad that he is a part of your family.
3. Notice and praise your child's good behavior.

4. Use "descriptive" praise. Describe what your child has done and how it made you feel.

5. Children with behavior and learning problems are vulnerable, and their feelings can be hurt easily.

6. Keep instructions simple. Children with attention problems have trouble remembering complicated instructions.

7. Keep instructions clear.

8. Talk positively to your children.

9. Be sure you have your child's full attention before you ask him to do something.

10. Use a hand signal to help your child pay attention.

11. Give your child extra help in organizing tasks.

12. Provide sequencing for your child.

13. Help your child increase his attention span and lessen distractibility.

14. Try to provide a routine at home. Times of stress will be easier if there is a regular routine.

15. Be consistent when you discipline. Give your child one warning and then follow through with established consequences.

16. Pay attention to the amount of disorder, noise and distraction around the house.

17. Provide frequent opportunities for your child to let off physical energy.

Parents Did You Know?

Dr. Don Zeiss, Principal

Overcoming your teen's mental obstacles to college (so that they can overcome the real ones)

If your teen is like many of their peers, they might think that they can't go to college. They can't afford it. They're not "smart" enough. They have no career goals. Lack of money, academic accomplishment and direction can all be craters in the road that leads to college. To get around them, your teen will need a large supply of determination (and some encouragement from you).

MONEY

Few students have parents who can sit down and write a check for their college education. Most have to be a little creative. They take out loans, apply for scholarships and grants, allow longer than four years to earn their degree, work their way through school, and live at home until they finish college. Not having enough money makes getting through college tough. But students do it.

ABILITY

Ability spends most of its time following Effort around. If our teen is willing to work hard at academics, then college should remain an option to them.

Many students do not blossom academically until they reach college. That's because academic achievement results from much more than raw ability. It results from intense effort over an extended period of time. Some students don't begin to witness the effect of all the studying they did in high school until they reach college.

CAREER GOALS

Few students going into college know what they will do for a living when they graduate. If your teen doesn't know what they want to do with their life, that's no reason to stay away from college, it's a reason to go there and explore the possibilities.

DETERMINATION

Nothing can guarantee a student that they will get into college, let alone earn a degree. As soon as your teen decides that they will make it, however, and begins working in that direction, they dramatically increase the odds that they're right.

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCES

Conferences were held at the Wayne-Carroll Elementary on November 8, 10 and 11. All the conferences were scheduled with a very successful turnout.

Wayne Elementary — 100%. Carroll Elementary — 100%. We would like to thank all parents for being involved with their child's education. If you would like to visit school in the future, please call the office to make the necessary arrangements.

LAPTOP COMPUTERS

All fourth grade students have been working on the IBM computers in their homerooms using Microsoft Works. Students are learning how to create their own files, change format and use the spell checker. As the year progresses, we hope to teach them more usages of the computer. Mrs. Hamer's room started taking the laptops home on Monday, November 14th. Students will have an assignment to be completed at home with their parents. The following day, the student will print out the completed assignment and take the results home to show the lesson to their parents. After all students have successfully completed working with the laptops, they will be able to check them out on an individual need.

HERE'S HOW TO KNOW IF IT'S TIME TO CALL THE TEACHER

You suspect your child is having a problem in school. Should you call the teacher? Or should you say nothing and hope for the best? Most teachers say they want to know what's going on in their students' lives. Chances are if you've noticed a problem, your child's teacher has observed it too. By working together, you may be able to come up with a solution that's right for your child. There are sometimes you should definitely call your child's teacher. You see a dramatic change in your child's behavior. A happy child becomes withdrawn. A friendly child wants to be alone. Grades drop, this may be in one subject or all of them. You suspect that your child may be telling you things about school that aren't the truth. He may say that there's no homework, or may say the teacher never teaches math. There's been a change in family. A new marriage, a divorce or a new baby can all affect school work.
