

Zoning protests cause further delay in passage

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Implementation of Planning and Zoning regulations in rural areas and villages of Wayne County is being delayed even further following an at times fiery meeting Thursday at which residents protested provisions in the zoning plans and questioned the need for zoning in the county at all.

The Wayne County Joint Planning Commission with representatives from the rural areas of the county and each of the three participating villages of Carroll, Hoskins and Winside, have been working for more than a year to develop plans which would regulate types and locations for development in the county.

SEVERAL neighboring counties and the city of Wayne have had land use planning for years and Wayne County began discussions on implementation of rural zoning more than two years ago.

The main goal of the planning commissioners as stated in their documents and meetings has been to protect rural agricultural land uses from encroachment by residential and commercial developments. Especially in the south eastern areas of the county, officials have seen increasing amounts of farm land converted to unregulated residential developments.

The number many of those who attended Thursday night's meeting found was that the rules being discussed to protect some agricultural and rural interests harm others.

SEVERAL OF THE volunteer commissioners who have served without pay in developing plans they thought would help the future of the county were personally and verbally attacked during the Thursday session, said outgoing commission secretary Sid Saunders.

He said some of the residents of the county are "taking the attitude that this is some kind of evil conspiracy." Saunders said the goal all along has been to protect the rights of the landowner to continue to use his property as he is using it today.

But there is great diversity in the agricultural operations in the county, he said. Thus what might protect the livestock producers might hamper the residential rural resident and visa versa.

Saunders said many changes have already been made in the draft of the zoning regulations and he anticipates more will be made before the document is discussed at public hearings before the planning commission and before each of the village boards and the county commissioners.

POINTS OF contention now seem to be limits on the number of livestock head intensive feedlot and hog confinement operators can expand to, what the minimum lot size for development in rural areas of the county can be, what the definition for an existing farmstead would be and what limits might be placed on

Churches proceed with merger

Approximately 180 voting members of Redeemer Lutheran and St. Paul's Churches met Sunday to discuss several proposals connected with the merger of the two churches.

The new congregation will be known as Our Saviour Lutheran Church, effective Jan. 1, 1995.

The members also adopted a new constitution for the church as well as several by-laws.

"I was extremely happy with the way the meeting went," said Pastor Jack Williams. "There were a lot of strong feelings from members of both congregations and the spirit of the day was very positive."

"A survey was taken regarding whether to build on to the existing facility or to build a new structure. Members were asked to indicate what they felt was important in a structure. The survey will be passed out during services on Sunday to allow members who were unable to attend the Dec. 4 meeting a chance to voice their opinions," said Pastor Williams.

"The results of the survey will be given to our building committee so they can develop a plan for the new congregation. We will not be doing any building in the near future but will be looking at options in the next six months," said Pastor Williams.

Mishap claims farmer

OSMOND, Neb. (AP) -- A Plainview man drowned when the tractor he was driving went into a livestock lagoon and another man couldn't save him, authorities said.

Gary Weinrich, 58, died Saturday on a farmstead about five miles northwest of Osmond, Pierce County Attorney Verlyn Luebke said.

The tractor he was driving went into the lagoon that he and Dennis Kuhl, 28, of Osmond, were preparing to pump free of livestock waste, Luebke said Sunday.

Weinrich was trapped in the cab of the tractor, which was completely submerged in water, Luebke said. Kuhl tried, but he couldn't rescue Weinrich, the county attorney said.

Osmond is about 40 miles northwest of Wayne.

Bond issue canvass raises questions

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

When the community canvassing committee encouraging passage of the Wayne school bond issue began door to door visits with voters in the district Sunday afternoon several questions came up from voters that need to be addressed, according to Mary Temme, publicity chairperson for the bond issue campaign.

Questions included what would be done with the old Middle School Building?, Why the School Project was more expensive than college Business Building project?, Why not vote down the first issue and get the district to cut the plan some more? and Why are college students who don't pay taxes here being encouraged to vote for the bond issue?

SEVERAL DOZEN volunteers began the process Sunday and knocked on over 1,500 doors to encourage voters to cast ballots for the bond issue. They left informational brochures and those residents who did not receive a call should be contacted in coming days.

The bond issue vote is next Tuesday.

Mrs. Temme said plans call for the old building to be sold to the highest bidder if voters approve the bond issue. She said there is interest in purchasing the old building and its potential residential property which would be a plus for the district since it would be returned to the tax roles of the district and could help address the crucial housing needs in the community.

ON THE QUESTION of cost comparison between the college business building and the proposal for the school district project, Mrs. Temme said the school project would be much larger in square footage and that cost estimates have increased dramatically since the college building was bid out.

"This is not an extravagant plan," she said of the school project. She reminded voters that earlier proposals to address the building needs of the district would have cost over $13 million.

"The thing voters have got to understand is if the bond issue fails their taxes will still be going up," she said. They will have to be raised as part of the district's sinking fund for building maintenance. The sinking fund levy will have to be raised to 14 cents per $100 valuation up from the current level of 8 cents. She said this increase would have to be used to help fund mandated building improvements to address ADA requirements.

SHE SAID another concern expressed by voters during visits with supporters on Sunday was the issue of canvassers visiting the campus to encourage students to vote for the project.

Wayne County Clerk Deb Finn said a couple of irate voters have Lee Sherry (right) receives a Distinguished Service Award from Ricki Leal, 1993-94 President of the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents.

Former Wayne resident receives service award

Lee Sherry, Utah State University Extension Agent Tooele County Utah, has won the highest honor given by the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents. Lee is the daughter of Hallie Sherry and the late Orville Sherry of Wayne. Hallie was able to join her daughter in New York, to see her receive the award.

Sherry received a Distinguished Service Award at the association's annual convention recently in Niagara Falls, N.Y. She is only one of 11 that Utah has so honored in the past 48 years.

The Utah 4-H Workers Association nominated Sherry for the award. She has been a member of the state association for nine years and has served as the state treasurer of the association. She is the current chair of the policy and resolution committee.

Sherry was among 1,200 professional youth workers from all 50 states and Puerto Rico attending the five day conference. It was hosted by the New York Association of Extension 4-H Agents. This 48th annual convention was Sherry's first 4-H agents and conference experience.

The conference theme was

"Investing for Tomorrow." The program was designed to help participants plan, conduct and evaluate educational programs for youth. They viewed exhibits and attended seminars, workshops and research presentations. Topics included youth, volunteer and personal development; programs management; educational design; communications; and research.

Some 5.6 million youngsters, ages 5-19 are enrolled in 4-H programs across the United States. They participate in organized clubs, special interest groups and school enrichment programs. Volunteer adults and teens provide leadership and guidance.

The 4-H program is conducted in all 50 states by the Cooperative Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, state and local governments. In addition, more than 80 countries have similar youth programs.

4-H focuses on the development of life skills for youth. Programs are offered to all youth regardless of sex, race, color, religion, national origin or disability.

Sherry stated that the award was made possible because of all the wonderful supportive 4-H leaders, 4-H youth, office staff, other agents, city and county officials that she has worked with in Utah. Plus a special thanks to Mrs. Howard Diamond of Wayne, who was her first 4-H leader and taught her about the 4-H program.

Wayne standouts to be included in Who's Who list

Fifty-seven Wayne State College students will be included in the 1995 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

A reception honoring these students will be held at 3 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 8 in the Nebraska Room of Wayne State's Student Center. The public is invited.

Students seeking this honor were nominated based on academic achievement, service to the college and community, contribution to academic discipline and participation and leadership in college activities.

They join a special group of students selected from more than 1,800 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

WSC program honored for community relations

Wayne State College's Cooperative Education Program has been awarded the Public Relations Activity Award by the Cooperative Education Association of Nebraska (CEAN).

It is the second time since 1990 that Wayne State's Cooperative Education Program has received the award for outstanding public relations activity, according to Rowan Wiltse, director of cooperative education at Wayne State.

The competition for the award consisted of an evaluation of public relations activity and materials directly related to the promotion of cooperative education and a public relations summary description. Public relations activity and materials include press releases, slide/VCR presentations, bulletin board models, faculty/administration, communication tools to foster internal support of cooperative education and other advertising and promotional programs.

Through a mutually-beneficial relationship between Wayne State College and the business community, students may earn Cooperative Education course credit by working in jobs that are directly related to their program majors in school.

Students gain progressively responsible, paid, career-related work experience and the employer is assisted in the recruitment and development of outstanding employees.

The Cooperative Education Program's intention is to increase direct cooperation between education, business and industry for the development of an educated and trained work force.

contacted her office asking why college students should be allowed to vote on the Wayne School issue.

"It's the law," said Mrs. Finn. All registered voters within the Wayne School District 17 boundaries plus property owners in neighboring districts whose lands are affiliated (tax for high school services) by the Wayne District, will be voting on the issues.

"We have to treat all registered voters the same," said Mrs. Finn. She said one irate caller said she had heard the college students were being encouraged to register and vote for the bond issue.

SINCE THE cutoff for registration for the general election last month, 70 registrations have been processed by her office, she said. Of those 32 were new and 28 were updates which include new addresses or name changes due to marital status. Of the new registrations only three were Wayne State Students and five were recent graduates.

Mrs. Finn said she has only had about 50 requests for absentee ballots, which is a low number indicating a potential for a low voter turnout next Tuesday.

She encouraged elderly people and those physically hampered to go ahead and request absentee ballots. In this way they will be assured of being able to vote even if the weather turns out terrible on election day.

Those requesting information on absentee ballots may call the clerk's office at 375-2288.

small agricultural operators and hobby farmers in terms of number of livestock units and proximity to neighbors.

Saunders said some of the people attending Thursday's meeting were opposed to zoning in general and some called for an election on the issue before it is passed.

A public hearing which had been set for January 5 on the draft of the zoning regulations has been cancelled pending more revision of the document and meetings with the consulting firm which has been contracted to help the county draft workable regulations.

PRIVATELY, commissioners expressed frustration with the support of the consulting firm and the services it is providing during the crucial final phases of the zoning process.

Saunders also said the commission was criticized at the Thursday meeting for not adequately publicizing their meetings and the process of developing zoning plans.

He said the commission has exceeded the state guidelines for the open meetings laws and there have been numerous articles in the paper about the meetings over the last several months.

It'll cost more later

We have carefully followed the process which lead up to the decision to ask voters to approve a $7.9 million bond issue to build a new middle school and addition to the high school in Wayne.

Early in the process cost estimates were upwards of $13 million to properly address the most severe building needs of the district. The cost was pared to $9.2 million with the decision to combine the middle school and high school needs into one structure with shared space.

The $9.2 million plan was the one members of the citizen study committee said they wanted the school board to send to the voters. The study committee spent hundreds of man-hours reviewing the existing buildings, researching educational building standards and pouring over architects reports before arriving at their decision.

Instead of rubber stamping the committee's recommendation, the school board studied further and considering the political winds, eliminated a planned auditorium and additions to the lecture hall in further cost saving moves. The board sent the issue to voters as $7.9 million bond issue.

Now comes the Johnny-Come-Lately naysayers who contend, without having participated in the process to formulate the plan, that there must be "fat" in the building and that if the bond issue is voted down the first time, further cuts will be made.

In our opinion, too many cuts have been made already and further cuts would seriously inhibit the educational goals of the community.

Indeed, if voters reject the bond issue next week, it will be six months before the issue can legally be presented to the voters again. In just the last 18 months since the district has begun talking seriously about a construction project, costs for school building construction have increased 20 percent.

If we wait another six months to approve a bond issue, it will add a year to the construction timetable and will doubtless result in higher costs not lower. No analysts anywhere are predicting reverses in the upward trend of construction costs.

Thus a vote against the bond issue now will be a vote for higher costs later.

There will be no way to avoid spending millions for building improvements in the district. The schools are mandated to make building changes to address the Americans with Disabilities Act. Being forced to pump millions into revisions of an eighty year old building with structural and other problems which make its life expectancy questionable, is not good civic stewardship.

Voters have an opportunity to correct not only a serious ADA problem by passing the bond issue, but they will correct many educational and extracurricular shortcomings faced by the district at the same time.

And by passing the bond issue now, they will save the district thousands of dollars in future costs.

We're talking television, folks. How bad is it? Television is so bad, its intellectual challenge is less than that required for a political commercial. Bet you can't channel surf without seeing a gun, physical violence, a person wondering where the next bedroom companion is coming from, a chain of commercials, Hollywood's version of scheming police, or hearing "O God!"

People pay to see a dog race, but dogs, seemingly more intelligent, never pay to see the human race.

The "Married With Children" predicaments remind us that the man who wants a wife who can cook and sew, and that doesn't smoke or drink, should go to the graveyard and dig one up.

much fuel your car burns per mile, but do you have any idea as to how much electricity your TV squanders per TV murder, affair, theft, shooting, beating, car chase, or docudrama?

All television isn't bad. There are some delightful and adorable babies in the tire commercials. Great thrills are enjoyed by football, basketball, golf, bowling, tennis, and other avid sports disciples.

Cornhusker State soul searching

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — One of the most stressful moments in growing up was when schoolyard teams picked up sides.

There you stood as two captains chose up their players, one by one.

You just hated to be the last one chosen. You know exactly where you stood with your classmates then.

The state of Nebraska is currently undergoing some soul searching itself about where it stands in the pecking order of preferred states.

While the Cornhusker State has low-crime, wide-open spaces and little pollution (not to mention No. 1 football and volleyball teams), employers are still unable to find enough people to fill their job openings.

Some folks, including some in state government, think it's because the state of Nebraska's image needs some dressing up.

It's not that the state has a bad image, they say, but that we have no image.

With that in mind, the Nebraska Department of Economic Development has proposed spending $500,000 more a year to gussie up the nationwide view of the state.

The image makeover would help attract prospective employees to the state.

An Omaha computer company official told The World-Herald that his attempts to hire programmers has been hurt because people just don't want to move to the Cornhusker State.

If folks think of Nebraska as a great place, they'll move here and fill those job openings, he said.

Let's face it, Nebraska has always suffered from some bad press, from the days the Great Plains were referred to as "The Great American Desert" to when a New York Times reporter writing about a 19th Century drought here said that residents had nothing to eat but bugs.

We became "The Bugeaters" after that. Not exactly the most appealing nickname to attract new residents, even back then.

I've heard some funny references to Nebraska, too. During a visit to New York City, that hotbed of knowledge about geography and world affairs, one resident asked if Nebraska was located adjacent to Idaho.

On an Amtrak train once, some Pennsylvania students started yelling "home of the Wild Kingdom" when the train pulled into the Omaha station. I guess they expected Marlin Perkins to greet them at the station and Jim Fowler to be wrestling giant iguanas nearby.

The national press looks at us as kind of a curiosity, a place to visit when there's a sensational crime (those never happen in rural states, right?) or for an infrequent foray into the opinions of middle America.

Every Sunday morning, the nation sees humorist Roger Welsch wheel down main street of his hometown, Dannebrog, and extol the virtues of small-town life on his "Postcard from Nebraska" segments. Folks probably think everyone has a beat-up pickup and wears overalls here.

It could be worse. Just ask folks in Waco, Texas, or Washington, D.C.

But — back to the point — some state business leaders think Nebraska ought to become better known as a great place to live and a great place to find a job.

"Once you're known as the center of something, people just show up. It's amazing," said Gary Tobin, the Omaha computer guy.

Spending $500,000 on image enhancement would almost triple what's spent on advertising the state now, and Gov. Nelson has not yet said if he's willing to invest that kind of major money.

But with Nebraska's labor shortage continuing, I'd guess that the governor is willing to invest some coins in an image makeover for the state.

It may take some heavy makeup to change us from Bugeaters to Jobgivers.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Bite the bullet

Dear Editor:

Wayne has always had a school system with educators and students that are a cut above most school systems. It took courage and foresight to make this happen. During the latter part of the thirties, in a depression and a drought, Wayne bit the bullet and added on to the Middle School. That was between my sophomore and junior years of high school. My was that ever great to have more room — especially for that point in time a state of the art science room.

In the late fifties, Wayne built the Elementary School and then 10 or so years later Wayne built the high school.

Now in the computer age and with science leaping forward it is really a good time to lose that foresight? I think not. Wayne needs to keep it's schools great. Let us all bite the bullet again and get started on this needed project.

Cost more to wait

Dear Editor:

Last spring I was one of 35 members of a school facility study committee consisting of patrons from District 17. We spent seven months examining buildings in the District and listening to school administrators, board members and architects.

It was our unanimous opinion that repairing and renovating the middle school was not an economical or educational choice. I still agree with that decision. The proposal to build a new middle school adjacent to the present high school has many advantages because it allows for sharing space with the high school, thus being cost and maintenance efficient. The addition of classrooms to the high school building is urgent and combining the two projects into one saves construction costs.

about that. But the needs and problems with existing facilities will not go away. To wait will most certainly be more costly. Years ago the citizens of District 17 voted to build a new high school and the West Elementary school buildings. My four children were educated in those buildings and I am greatly appreciative that the citizens of this school district made the sacrifices to provide our children with such fine facilities. I am now willing to sacrifice for our children of tomorrow so that they too will benefit from a service we often take for granted: a free public education for all.

Does Dwight cause red light plight?

There's a law of physics that says an object in motion tends to stay in motion. It applies especially to spinning planets and vehicles on ice.

I have always believed there was another physical law which counters the other one, especially in terms of vehicles. "A vehicle in motion (especially with occupants in a hurry) will always get stopped at a red light."

I have explained my idea about the counter-motion theory to several of my friends and close associates, all of whom got better grades in high school science than I did, and they all have been skeptical of my theory. One friend suggested I might want to book reservations for the next Nobel prize for physics award ceremony. I think he was being sarcastic.

My friends and family are critics of my theory only until they ride with me, however. Then they marvel at my uncanny ability to be able to arrive at every traffic light smack dab at the start of the red cycle. And I wait.

I'm just not a green light kind of guy.

I'm sure I could have been someone really great if it hadn't been for all the red lights in my way. I've been late for too many important things because of all the time wasted sitting at traffic stops. I figure I have spent over 10 percent of my waking hours stuck at red lights. It's hard to accomplish much when you've always got a red light in front of you.

"A vehicle in motion tends to get stopped at a red light."

I told my theory to my friend Sandra George (as in Lyle's sister). She gave me a different theory to ponder.

She wondered if instead of a law of the physical universe my red light plight wasn't caused by more down to earth forces.

She espouses the theory that somewhere in the bowels of secret city/county/state/federal government there was long ago established a traffic control system. Deep in a dark underground vault in every community there is some singularly sadistic, bespectacled, antisocial, mole-like character. He sits there day in and day out surrounded by glowing grid maps, computer terminals and radar displays of blips that represent cars in traffic. His super secret job at one time was to keep the traffic flowing.

I think now Sandra may be right. The traffic control network was probably established during the cold war to control evacuation routes in case of nuclear patty melt ... or something.

In Wayne the control station surely is located deep under City Hall and the sensor array is probably hidden in the forever sealed observation tower at the County Courthouse. Our controller's name is Dwight.

And Dwight hasn't been reassigned to a peacetime (sanity-time) role. He's still down there with no real purpose other than to aggravate the people he hates. And he has my number. So sophisticated is Dwight's "car wars" control system that the minute I leave one stoplight he is already programming the next three lights along the computer projected route I am taking to all be red when I arrive.

No, amount of speeding up or slowing down matters to Dwight's computer assisted delay plans. I don't know what I ever did to get on his hit list but I know he must take special glee in creating traffic headaches for me.

I have even tried to thwart Dwight's efforts by making quick dodges down side streets and convenient alleys but he has many weapons available to him.

I can almost hear him chortle with glee when he sends an impromptu grain truck in front of me or creates an instantaneous, flat causing pothole to form in my path. He even has the ability to create holographic images of construction scenes with barricades and flagmen directing you back on the red-light route you thought you could avoid.

The nerdy little twerp even has a way to tell when I am driving someone else's car. I think the control stations are equipped with a DNA scan. It also makes little difference which town I am driving in. All the Dwight's in all the cities have a great communication network.

"Omaha Dwight, this is Wayne Dwight, come in."

"Yeah, Omaha Dwight, we have an 11-27 (aggravate target) incoming on your screen on Highway 275. It's that jerk Mann. Give him the works, hee hee hee."

My goal is to get concrete proof of this system and expose the secret millions that are being spent on it. I want to put a stop to it.

I'm a red light kind of guy.

Secretary of State to lead newspapers

Nebraska Secretary of State Allen Beermann, 54, has been chosen to replace Sandra George as executive director of the Nebraska Press Advertising Service and Nebraska Press Association. He will take over on Jan. 16, 1995. As executive director, he will supervise NPAS, which places advertising for clients in newspapers across Nebraska and the nation, and NPA, the oldest trade organization in Nebraska.

NPA was founded in 1873 and has 193 newspaper members. Beermann was chosen from a pool of 103 candidates which resulted from a national search.

Allen Beermann is "a tough act to precede" said George. "Just as (Nebraska Newspaper Hall of Fame member) Jim Raglin was a tough act to follow, I'm being replaced by the most consistently popular elected official I've ever known." George, 36, has been executive director of NPA and NPAS since 1991. George's resignation will be effective Jan. 13, 1995. She resigned to spend more time with her husband, Dr. Michael McGonigal, a veterinarian in Hillsdale, Mich. George, who is a Dixon native and the daughter of Marie and the late Harold George, has travelled over 300,000 miles during her three years of flying to Michigan on weekends.

Be informed

Dear Editor:

How could you in good conscience as an editor give front page publicity to the "Parade of Lights" Christmas parade and not print one word on the Wayne County Planning Commission meeting held the same evening? Is it not the duty of a newspaper to keep the public informed? Were all of your reporters busy that night?

I am urging the people of rural Wayne county to become informed on the issues involved in county zoning. We were assured at the meeting Dec. 1 that as many copies as necessary of the draft would be run off at the courthouse. Please go to the County Clerk's office and ask for a draft of the zoning ordinances. Also ask for copies of the minutes of as many meetings as they have available.

Study the proposed draft of zoning and subdivision regulations and decide if you would be willing to live under the restrictions they would impose on you. Then, each and every rural citizen of Wayne County, call your County Commissioners and tell them your views on county zoning.

Come to the next meeting of the Wayne County Joint Planning Commission on Jan. 5, 1995 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wayne County Courthouse. It will be time well spent.

Rural citizens of Wayne County — please become informed citizens.

Marilyn Otte

Reminder...

The last opportunity for publication of letters to the editor expressing views for or against the Wayne School Bond issue, which voters will consider next Tuesday, will be in the Friday, Dec. 9 issue of the Wayne Herald. Letters should be submitted by noon Thursday for the publication.

Late night shows are periodically entertaining, whatever that means. If you could put the Leno-Letterman shows together, you'd get hours on end of self advertising by folk promoting their new movie, recording, video or book.

Television entertainment holds these deceptions to be self evident, that all viewers are created half-wits, that they are saddled by their creator with certain inalienable peculiarities, that among these are susceptibility to lies, innuendo and the pursuit of sex.

That to perpetuate this tragic state of things, script writers are turned loose among men, deriving their shocking boldness from the passive stupidity of the duped, that whenever any moralist threatens to expose their corruption, it is the right of the critics to lynch him, and set up their stooges in his place.

But we continue watching. So what else is new?

The Golden Years

By: Connie Dishrow

Why take Social Security out of the U.S. Health and Human Services Department (HHS) and create an independent agency to run the system? Advocates say that under HHS the program has not gotten the attention it merits. In 20 years there have been 12 Social Security commissioners, each subordinate to the HHS hierarchy. In the 1980s, services for more than 40 million recipients were curtailed because the Social Security staff was cut more than 20 percent. Proponents of the change say a separate agency would improve services and build confidence in the program.

In 1959 Joseph Diamond left the furniture factory he ran with five brothers and "retired" to Miami. A master upholsterer who learned the craft from his father, Diamond took on jobs to redo sofas and chairs. At 81 he still goes to his shop at 7 a.m. six days a week, sometimes seven. "He's a living legend," one interior designer told an interviewer. "His quality of work is almost impossible to find today," especially when working with fabrics costing up to $500 a yard. Diamond's wife says he "doesn't feel alive unless he's working." She wants him to cut back to five days a week.

Remember When? 1965 — Petula Clark won a Grammy for her recording of the hit song, "Down-town."

Teach children to be responsible adults

QUESTION: What would you do if your 18-year-old son decided to become a social dropout and run away from home?

DR. DOBSON: It is difficult for anyone to know exactly how he would face a given crisis, but I can tell you what I think would be the best reaction under those circumstances.

Without nagging and whining, I would hope to influence the boy to change his mind before he made a mistake. If he could not be dissuaded, I would have to let him go.

It is not wise for parents to be too demanding and authoritative with an older teenager; they may force him to defy their authority just to prove his independence and adulthood. Besides this, if they pounce on the table, wring their hands and scream at their wayward son, he will not feel the full responsibility for his own behavior.

When Mom and Dad are too emotionally involved with him, he can expect them to bail him out if he runs into trouble. I think it is much wiser to treat the late adolescent like an adult; he's more likely to act like one if he is given the status offered to other adults.

The appropriate parental reaction should be: "John, you know I feel you are making a choice that will haunt you for many years. I want you to sit down with me and we will analyze the pros and cons; then the final decision will be yours. I will not stand in your way." John then knows the responsibility is on his shoulders.

Beginning in middle adolescence, parents should give a child more and more responsibility each year, so that when he gets beyond their control he will no longer need it.

Perhaps we sometimes keep our children from coming to their senses by preventing them from feeling the consequences of their own mistakes. When a teenager gets a speeding citation, he should pay for it. When he wrecks his car, he should have it fixed. When he gets suspended from school, he should take the consequences without parental protests to the school. He will learn from these adversities. The parent who is too quick to bail his child out of difficulty may be doing him a disservice.

QUESTION: Most of your books and discussions are directed to younger wives and mothers. But middle-aged women have problems, too. I've survived most of the stages of life, but now I need help to grow old gracefully. I don't want to become a boring, sour, old woman. Would you offer a few suggestions that will help me avoid some of the problems that are characteristic of post-retirement

Dr. Dobson

Answers Your Questions

DR. DOBSON: There are at least four dangers to be circumvented. Let me discuss them briefly.

First, avoid the pitfall of isolation. Reuben Welch has written a book titled, We Really Do Need Each Other, and he is absolutely right.

Isolation is a bad thing; it ruins the mind. As you grow older, do not allow yourself to withdraw within the four walls of your house and cut yourself off from people. Keep up your social life even when the easiest thing to do is stay at home.

Call your friends; they're probably lonely, too. Get involved with people. And remember, loneliness is not something others do to you; it's usually something you do to yourself.

Second, avoid the pitfall of inactivity, which is a common trap for the elderly.

I once flew to Chicago very late at night and found that the hotel had rented my reserved room to someone else. The manager was obligated to help me find accommodations, but every hotel was full. Finally, he located a room in a facility for the elderly.

My brief experience in that converted condominium was enlightening and depressing. The following morning when I came to breakfast, I saw 400 or 500 elderly people sitting in this huge lobby. Most were silent, neither talking nor interacting. They weren't even reading newspapers. Most were sitting with their heads down, either nodding off to sleep or just staring into space. There was no activity or involvement--no interchange between people. How sad it seemed to see so many lonely human beings in one another's company, yet each was lost in his own thoughts. Inactivity and its first cousin, loneliness, are dangerous enemies of the elderly.

Third, avoid the pitfall of self-pity--an attitude that can kill its victim, quite literally. Instead of internalizing remorse, I suggest that you begin giving to others: bake something, send flowers, write a card. Get into the world of other people.

Fourth, avoid the pitfall of despair. Many people slip into the habit of thinking, "I'm getting old. There's nothing ahead but death - life is over."

Healthy families: survive and thrive

Since we are right in the midst of the "Holi-Daze" of events and activities, I thought I'd share some ideas on how healthy families survive and thrive in the face of stress and/or everyday hassles.

Everyday is full of little hassles -- rushing to school or work, being teased, unexpected homework or work demands, hitting all the red lights and the list goes on. Some days bring big hassles -- getting fired, injured, divorced, dealing with sickness or death. None of us welcome these stressors, but we can all do something about them. Many problems can be prevented or reduced or not repeated.

Youth, adults and families who develop healthy lifestyles, stress coping skills and supportive relationships most often reduce stressors and increase enjoyment of life.

The following is a list of traits

Cooperative Extension
Lynda Cruickshank
Wayne County

that resilient persons have. Read through the list and discuss it with your spouse and/or your children. Try to find several ways to act out this behavior to help youth understand.

▲Insight: Seeing things 'as they are', being unafraid to ask questions, getting out of the way of craziness.

▲Independence: Becoming one's own person, not caught up in others' hang-ups, focused on what can be done.

▲Relationships: "Connecting" with peers, mentors, friends in ways that build self-worth and belongingness.

▲Initiative: Finding work or casual interests to develop talents, confidence and leadership.

▲Humor: Being able to laugh at self and with others through jokes, play and recreation.

▲Creativity: Using art, drama, writing, sports and compassionate living to express one's uniqueness.

What does it take to reduce stress in families? The following is a list of traits that resilient families have:

▼Commitment: Keeping promises and committing to caring and doing what it takes to follow through.

▼Cohesion: Togetherness involving a balance of affection, support and respect for individuality.

▼Adaptability: Blending tradition and consistent rules with flexibility and helping kids think for themselves.

▼Communication: Openness and respect expressed through "speaking for self" and listening with care.

▼Spirituality: Faith, hope and a sense of purpose and service for other people.

▼Connectedness: Keeping in touch with family and friends; building and serving the community.

▼Time Together: Taking time out every day and celebrating special occasions which build memories.

▼Efficacy: Family pride and optimism which leads to esteeming members and accomplishing bold goals.

4-H can provide great opportunities for families to take time together, use communication skills, build closeness, confidence and a sense of connectedness. Don't forget to provide your families with these opportunities.

PROPER EAR CARE

To prevent major problems with the ears, such as hearing loss, good hygiene of the ears, neck, and face is very important. Never place anything smaller than a finger in the ear canal. It is important to understand that ear wax is not necessarily a bad thing to have in the ear as it can protect the ear canal from infection. To maintain the proper balance of ear wax, you should have your ears flushed with warm water to break up and remove excess ear wax periodically, which can be done in most physician's offices. Some ear conditions can only be properly treated by a physician. Anyone with an ear problem should consult a pharmacist or physician before starting a treatment.

Volunteers needed for TCE program

The Tax Counseling for the Elderly and low-income (TCE) program offers free tax help to individuals who are low-income or who are age 60 or older or homebound.

The grant funds are made possible by an appropriation of the Congress. Related IRS activities are authorized by Section 163 of the Revenue Act of 1978. This Act also authorizes the Internal Revenue Service to enter into agreements with private or non-governmental public non-profit agencies or organizations that will provide training and technical assistance to volunteers who provide free tax counseling and assistance to elderly individuals or low-income individuals in the preparation of their federal income tax returns.

Goldenrod Hills Community Services has entered into a cooperative agreement to sponsor the TCE program within its 12 county area. Sponsoring this program means that we will be responsible for all aspects of operating a TCE program including publicity, recruitment, site selection and management of volunteers. Volunteers other than professional accountants and enrolled agents are required to pass a test to demonstrate their competence and understanding of the federal tax law as it applies to the elderly.

Volunteers are needed throughout the 12 county area to donate their time to help taxpayers (low-income and age 60 and over or homebound) file their tax returns correctly. Volunteers attend an IRS training course of three days in length. This course emphasizes income tax preparation involving step-by-step completion of Forms 1040, 1040A and 1040EZ. Volunteers learn how to handle pension income, capital gains and losses and tax benefits for the elderly and low income.

Volunteers must pass a test for certification. If you would be interested in more information on the program or interested in volunteering your time a few hours a week or month, please call Goldenrod Hills Community Services at 529-3513.

Marjorie Brozek had Cataracts. She had No-Stitch Cataract Surgery.

"By the time I had the operation I could only tell night from day. I couldn't see, I couldn't read, I couldn't drive or do anything. I couldn't even see my own children's faces.

The worse part was I had a new great grandson and I had never seen his face until I had cataract surgery. When I took the patch off, I saw his sweet little face for the first time. It was a miracle.

I've always lived in Norfolk and I've had a lot of people tell me how great Dr. Feidler is. My son-in-law's mother had her surgery by Dr. Feidler and she was thrilled about it. No one really referred me, I just knew Dr. Feidler was a great doctor.

I think some people are afraid of cataract surgery, but I was excited about being able to see again. I like Dr. Feidler, he makes you feel so at ease. His staff has been so kind and helpful. They all make you feel right at home."

Wayne girls open the season with pair of home victories

The Wayne High girls basketball team opened up season play over the weekend with home contests against Sioux City West on Friday and Pierce, Saturday.

Roger Reikofski's squad came into the first game with the number seven ranking in the Omaha World-Herald preseason poll in Class C-1 and despite less than stellar performances, the Blue Devils won both games.

Friday's game with West ended in a 41-29 Wayne win while Saturday's game with Pierce ended in a 42-40 Blue Devil win. "I don't think it was just a matter of not playing well against West but our shots wouldn't fall," Reikofski said. "Plus, we didn't have as much practice time with the volleyball team going to state. We had 12 total practices while West had 26 and they had three games under their belts before coming to Wayne."

Reikofski said the Blue Devils held West to their lowest point total of the young season. Wayne took a 23-8 lead into the locker room at the half but West rallied early in the third quarter to tighten the gap before Wayne regrouped to post the 12-point win.

Jenny Thompson led Wayne with 18 points while Carrie Fink netted seven. Katie Lutt and Erica Stoltenberg each tallied six while Cori Langenfeld rounded out the attack with four.

Wayne out-rebounded West by a 49-34 margin led by Thompson and Anne Wiseman with 10 each while Lutt had eight. Wayne had 28 turnovers which was 10 more than West and allowed the visitors to stay with in reach of the Blue Devils. "We had 18 of those turnovers in the second half," Reikofski said. Wayne was 11-19 from the foul line while West was 9-27.

PIERCE WAS a much more physical team than West and the visiting Bluejays dominated Wayne on the boards to the tune of 59-27 but the Blue Devils still managed to notch a narrow victory.

Wayne led 41-40 with six seconds left when a foul was committed by the host team, sending Pierce to the free throw line for a one-and-one. The shot was missed and Wayne rebounded, followed by a foul which sent Katie Lutt to the free throw line where she hit one of two attempts which accounted for the final two point margin.

Once again the Blue Devils came out strong, building a 12-4 lead after the first quarter but Pierce battled back in the second stanza and trailed the host team, 16-15 at the half. The Bluejays took a 26-25 lead into the fourth quarter and they built their lead to seven at 34-27 with five minutes to go before Wayne went on a 12-0 run.

J.T. (Jenny Thompson) hit a couple big shots for us and we executed our offense a little better down the stretch," Reikofski said. "Even though we got hammered on the boards we managed to check off better during the last few minutes."

This was not a game with high quality shooting by either team as Pierce connected on just 15 of 69 attempts from the field while Wayne was just 12-48.

Katie Lutt led the offense with 17 points while Thompson tossed in 14 and Carrie Fink, six. Anne Wiseman and Amy Ehrhardt each scored two while Cori Langenfeld rounded out the attack with one.

Ehrhardt led Wayne in rebounding with eight and Thompson hauled down six. Both teams finished with 20 turnovers and Wayne hit 16 of 29 free throw attempts while Pierce was 8-19.

Wayne boys come from behind to win

The Wayne boys basketball team started of the 1994-95 season with a 76-71 victory over Battle Creek last Friday night in Battle Creek. Rocky Ruhl's team overcame an 11-point deficit with 1:30 to go in the third quarter to post the win.

"The kids just found a way to win," Ruhl said. "It shows a lot of character to come back from that far down on the road." Ruhl said the Blue Devils didn't play all that well in the season opener but well enough to win.

The host team took a 20-13 lead into the second quarter and maintained a 39-35 lead over Wayne at the intermission. Both teams scored 19, third quarter points before Wayne rallied to out-score the host team, 22-13 over the final eight minutes.

Ryan Pick and Joe Lutt paced the Wayne attack with 22 points each while Andy Witkowski netted 17. Jason Carr and Paul Blomenkamp finished with five each and Ryan Martin scored three while Nick Vanhorn rounded out the scoring with a bucket.

Wayne dominated the boards, 33-18 led by Witkowski with nine caroms while Blomenkamp had eight and Pick, seven. The Blue Devils suffered one more turnover than their counterparts, 13-12 but Wayne hit 11 of 18 free throw attempts compared to 10 of 18 shooting by Battle Creek.

"Both teams were hot from 3-point range," Ruhl said. "We ended up shooting 9-19 from behind the line and Battle Creek was 9-21." Wayne will host Columbus Lakeview in the home opener on Saturday.

The Blue Devils reserve team won their season opener as well, 60-45 as Paul Zulkosky led the way with 11 points and six steals.

Wildcats to host Catbacker Classic this weekend

WSC women lose close one

The Wayne State women's basketball team is rapidly becoming known as the cardiac kids after just six games of the season of the regular season.

That's because the 'Cats played another down-to-the-wire contest in St. Cloud, Minnesota, Saturday which was their third straight and fourth of the six games played.

Mike Barry's squad lost to St. Cloud State, 58-56 which left the 'Cats with an even 3-3 record heading into Tuesday's home game with Concordia College of Seward. St. Cloud, meanwhile, snapped a 16-game losing streak at WSC's expense.

"We just didn't play the entire game very good," Barry said. "We battled well at the end and made it close but we felt coming into the game if we played to our potential we should have won."

Still, WSC finished the game with a better shooting percentage, better free throw percentage, more rebounds and less turnovers but came away with the loss.

The game was tied at 29 at the intermission but the 'Cats found themselves trailing by seven points early in the second half. WSC fought back and had possession of the ball with 50 seconds to go in regulation.

"We went to set up a play and we dribbled the ball off our foot out-of-bounds giving the ball back to St. Cloud," Barry said. "They came down the floor and made a shot with 17 seconds left."

"We got the ball and set up another play to hopefully tie the game and we just missed a six-footer," Barry added. "We ended up fouling on the rebound which put St. Cloud at the free throw line for a one-and-one."

St. Cloud missed the front end of the one-and-one but got the offensive rebound, wherein, the 'Cats were forced to foul again. St. Cloud also missed the next front end of a one-and-one and WSC regained possession of the ball with 6.1 seconds left.

"We had a play designed with Amy Brodersen taking the ball down the court and penetrating the lane but St. Cloud did a nice job of defending her and she got the ball past half court and took one dribble and the buzzer sounded to end the game," Barry said.

Amy Brodersen and Susie Osborn each shared team honors in scoring for WSC with 12 points while Deb Kostreba and Mindi Jensen tallied nine each, Deedra Haskins finished with eight points while Marla Stewart, Lori Zeimetz and Danyel Grammar each tallied two.

WSC edged the host team, 39-38 on the boards led by Osborn's eight caroms while Brodersen had six from her guard position. Zeimetz notched five boards.

The 'Cats had 15 turnovers in the contest but forced 19. Brodersen had three steals while the two post players, Jensen and Haskins had two each.

Brodersen and Kristy Twait shared team honors in assists with three apiece and Jensen blocked three shots to help pace the defense.

Following Tuesday's game with Concordia the 'Cats will host the Catbacker Classic on Friday and Saturday. In Friday's action Doane will play Morningside at 5:30 p.m. followed by WSC's game with Northeast Missouri State.

Saturday, action will resume at 3:30 p.m. with Doane playing Northeast Missouri State while WSC plays Morningside immediately following.

Wayne State beaten by St. Francis, 74-71

The Wayne State men's basketball team was in prime position to snap their two-game losing streak against St. Francis College of Illinois, Saturday afternoon in Rice Auditorium as Greg McDermott's team had a 69-60 lead with five minutes remaining.

The visitors, however, closed out the game with a 14-2 scoring run which spelled defeat for WSC, leaving them with a 2-3 record after a 74-71 setback.

"This was a tough loss for us," McDermott said. "We felt like we were in position to win but we were held to, two points in the last five minutes."

The WSC mentor said his squad suffered four turnovers in that final stretch. "It wasn't just the offense that failed us in the last five minutes but our defense kind of let us down," McDermott said. "We let one guy score the game's final 10 points."

McDermott said it's important for his team to keep their chins up and not get down because despite the fact they are on a three-game losing streak, they have shown marked improvement.

"I think we are making nice progress," McDermott said. "Unfortunately, we are not being rewarded with wins but we have to keep after it."

WSC led the visiting Saints, 38-35 at the half. Billy Patterson paced the 'Cats scoring attack with 14 points while Craig Philipp and Omar Clark scored a dozen each. Mike Fitzner finished with 11 and Dan Anderson garnered 10 while Greg Ryan tallied eight. Curt Woodin and Kyle White rounded out the attack with three and one points, respectively.

WSC was out-rebounded by a 31-26 margin with Philipp leading the host team with seven caroms. The game was cleanly played with WSC committing just eight turnovers while St. Francis had only six. Woodin dished out a team high four assists while Clark and Patterson had three apiece.

The visitors left Wayne hitting 16 of 19 free throw attempts while WSC was 7-10. The 'Cats will host Northwest Missouri State University, Saturday at approximately 7:30 p.m.

WAYNE STATE'S Billy Patterson penetrates the lane between two St. Francis defenders during action in Rice Auditorium, Saturday afternoon. The 'Cats led the Saints by nine points with five minutes to go but fell, 74-71.

Tanya Plueger leads Allen past Trojans

Lori Koester and Gary Erwin watched their Allen Lady Eagles basketball team improve to 2-0 after a 44-33 win over Wakefield, Saturday night in Wakefield.

"It was a typical Allen-Wakefield clash," Koester said. "Whenever these two teams meet it's a real battle." Allen jumped out to a 13-3 lead after the first quarter but Wakefield returned the favor in the second quarter by out-scoring the Eagles, 15-5 to knot the game at 18 at the intermission.

The Eagles took a 26-23 lead into the fourth quarter where free throw shooting eventually led to the 11-point win. Tanya Plueger paced the winners with 18 points and a game-high 16 rebounds while Abbey Schroeder tossed in 13. Jaime Mitchell finished with six and Holly Blair scored five while Mindy Plueger rounded out the attack with two.

"We did a good job of shooting free throws down the stretch," Koester said. "Abbey hit nine of 11 from the line for the game and as a team we hit 12 of 16 in the final quarter."

Koester said she was pleased with the quality play she got from Holly Blair who is still playing in pain after suffering torn ligaments in her ankle last summer during a summer basketball game at Wayne State.

"People really don't realize just how much pain Holly's in while she's playing," Koester said. "She never complains and always gives a top notch effort."

Stacey Preston led Wakefield in scoring with 10 points while Jaime Paulson netted nine and Alison Benson, seven. Carly Salmon finished with three while Jenny Haglund and Rachel Dutcher scored two each.

"We definitely don't think we deserve to hang our heads about losing to Allen," Wakefield coach Gregg Cruickshank said. "They are a well-coached team who is coming off a state tournament appearance with experience back."

Cruickshank said his team gave up three buckets in the third quarter off of in-bounds plays from under the Eagles basket. "We hung with them for three quarters but free throw shooting in the fourth quarter was the difference."

Wakefield slipped to 1-1 on the young season. Allen did win the battle of the boards, 30-19 and the turnover battle was nearly even with Allen committing one more, 22-21. Wakefield was just 7-16 from the free throw line.

Allen will host Winnebago on Tuesday before playing in the Ponca Tip Off Classic which begins Thursday. The Eagles will play the host team in the first round while Emerson-Hubbard plays Homer. The two winners will clash on Saturday in Ponca. Wakefield will travel to play Wausau on Friday.

Jeff Hamer captures championship at 215

Wayne grapplers place at Blair

John Murtaugh's Wayne wrestling team placed seventh of eight teams at the Blair Invitational, Saturday in Blair with 65 points. Plattsmouth won the meet with 145.5 points while Tekamah-Herman followed with 139.

Logan View finished third with 115 and Ralston was fourth with 111 while Gretna placed fifth with 84. Blair edged Wayne for sixth place by one point while South Sioux placed eighth with 54 points.

Wayne was open in six weight classes including 100, 106, 112, 134, 142 and heavyweight. Five of the seven that did wrestle came home with medals led by Jeff Hamer in the 215-pound category.

Hamer won the championship with three pins—all of which came in the first period including the championship match which lasted 93 seconds before he stuck South Sioux's Paul Lowry.

Jeremy Sturm placed third at 151 pounds after losing his opening round match, 8-4. Sturm came back to win a 6-5 decision and a 10-9 decision before pinning Logan View's Joe Foust in 2:43.

Dusty Jensen also placed third at 172 pounds. Jensen won his opening round match by pin but then lost by pin before winning a 9-7 decision and a 13-4 decision over Gretna's Don Zelency.

Tyler Endicott placed fourth at 126 pounds for Wayne, losing his first round by pin before bouncing back to win by pin and winning by a 9-4 decision. He lost to Blair's Tom Berg in 4:32 in the third and fourth place match.

Wayne's fifth medalist was Brent Geiger at 160 pounds. Geiger lost a 7-1 decision in the first round, received a second round bye and then won an 8-1 decision. He lost 3-2 to Brock Thompson of Blair in the third and fourth place match.

Jeremiah Reithwisch wrestled at 185 for the Blue Devils and did not place but won his second round match by pin after being pinned in the first round. He lost his third match by a 9-1 decision.

Jody Campbell wrestled at 119 pounds and did not place. He lost by technical fall in the first round and lost by a 9-3 decision in the second round.

"With the exception of the first round, I was pleased with the way we wrestled," Murtaugh said. "Five of our seven wrestlers medaled which isn't bad."

Murtaugh was especially pleased with Jeff Hamer's performance. "Jeff really had a great tournament," Murtaugh said. "He pinned all of his opponent's in the first period."

Hamer is currently 4-0 on the season with four pins. Wayne will dual at West Point on Tuesday before traveling to compete in the West Point Invite, Saturday.

Winside boys defeat Allen in season opener; fall to Wynot

The Winside boys basketball team split their first two contests of the year last Thursday and Friday with an opening season win over Allen, 53-49 and a 60-40 setback to Wynot on Friday. Both contests were held in Winside.

First-year coach Bill Koolstra notched a win in his debut as the Winside mentor and watched as his squad took a four point lead after the first quarter at 16-12. The rest of the game was played even between the two teams with both scoring identical points in each of the next three quarters:

"We were up 10 or 12 points late in game but Allen came on strong at the end," Koolstra said. Jay Shelton paced the Wildcats with 17 points while Colby Jensen notched 11 and Jamey Holdorf, 10. Josh Behmer scored five while Jeff Bruggeman and Matt Jensen netted four each. Greg Mundil rounded out the attack with two points.

Allen was led by Josh Snyder with 15 points while Davis Miner tossed in 14. Jeremy Kumm netted eight and Craig Philbrick scored seven while Mike Blohm finished with five.

Against Wynot the Wildcats trailed by a 32-24 margin at the half but Wynot out-scored the host team, 28-16 in the second half to post the 20-point victory.

"We didn't play very good team defense," Koolstra said. "We played a man-to-man but we didn't adjust very well in the second half to some of Wynot's adjustments."

Colby Jensen led the Wildcats with 10 points while Jamey Holdorf netted eight. Jeff Bruggeman and Matt Jensen scored six each and Josh Behmer added five while Greg Mundil tallied four and Jay Shelton, one.

Winside was also out-rebounded by a 41-37 margin with Bruggeman leading Winside with seven caroms while Shelton had five. Winside had 15 turnovers in the contest which is respectable but Wynot finished with only nine. The Wildcats were 8-19 from the foul line while the visitors were 11-21. Winside will travel to play Laurel on Tuesday.

Koolstra, incidentally, comes to Winside from Bonesteel-Fairfax high school in South Dakota where he coached girls and boys basketball for the past four years. Koolstra, a Little Rock, Iowa native played college basketball for one year at Morningside College in Sioux City before playing a year at Northwest College in Orange City, Iowa.

Winside nets four champs at Creighton Invitational

The Winside wrestling team saw their first action of the season, Saturday at the Creighton Invitational and Paul Sok felt coming into the meet his squad could finish in the top three if things fell into place.

Well, things did better than fall into place as Winside sent eight grapplers into the finals and the Wildcats-walked away with the team championship after scoring 174 points.

Neligh-Oakdale was runner-up with 150 and Creighton was third with 127 while Elkhorn Valley finished fourth with 90 and Norfolk Catholic rounded out the top five with 80.

Clearwater, Pender, Norfolk reserves, Osmond, Pierce, Randolph, Creighton reserves and Plainview rounded out the field of teams in order.

"It was very much a pleasant surprise to see how things finished out," Sok said. "I really didn't think we'd score over 170 points but things went well for us."

Winside had four champs on the day including 119-pound senior Jason Wylie. "Jason beat a state placer from last year in Jason Sturek of Elkhorn Valley," Sok said. "He wrestled for Elgin Pope John last year. The finals match was one of Jason's better matches. He really turned it on and wrestled an error free match and won, 5-2."

Scott Jacobsen captured top honors at 126 pounds and the senior wrestled outstanding in his first two matches before struggling in the finals with Cory McManigal of Creighton. "Scott was down, 6-1 with 30 seconds to go in the match and he scored eight points to win, 9-6," Sok said. "He got him on his back and got his points, then let him up and did it again."

Lonnie Grothe came through to win the championship at 172 pounds after defeating Pender's

Jeremy Olsen by a 4-3 margin in the finals. "Lonnie beat a pretty wrestler in Olsen," Sok said. "He'll (Olsen) be one of the better wrestlers in our district."

Sok said Lonnie certainly has the strength to wrestle at 171 pounds but it's a matter of refining some of his moves, especially takedowns.

The fourth Winside champion was 215-pound sophomore Joe Schwedhelm. "The 215-pound weight class is a new one this year and Joe may well be able to take advantage of it because he'll now be wrestling guys his own size instead of giving up 30 and 40 pounds like in the previous year's heavyweight category."

Schwedhelm won a 5-2 decision from Norfolk's Brandon Eckmann in the finals.

Freshman Justin Bowers placed second in his first varsity high school meet at 106 pounds. Bowers lost a 10-2 decision to Norfolk Catholic's Mike Matteo in the championship.

"Justin's a tough kid," Sok said. "Despite being a freshman he's very experienced. He's been to clinics and some wrestling camps and he's wrestled quite a bit in the past."

Josh Jaeger placed second in the 142-pound weight class, falling to Ryan Zegers of Neligh-Oakdale in the finals, 8-5. "Josh wrestled a good match with the Neligh wrestler," Sok said. "He (Zegers) is a defending state runner-up."

Lucas Mohr captured runner-up honors in the 151-pound weight class after losing to Rick Hasenpflug of Creighton, 14-5 in the finals. "Lucas is a 142-pounder wrestling at 152 pounds," Sok said. "The strength factor at 152 was a definite factor and a little more than he could handle."

Shaun Magwire was the fourth runner-up for Winside at 160 pounds. Magwire was man-handled in the finals, however, by Brian Wragge of Norfolk Catholic as he stuck Magwire at the 5:24 mark of the match. "Shaun wrestled very good in his first two matches," Sok said.

Winside filled 11 of the 13 weight classes and 10 grapplers brought home medals. Jeff Jacobsen placed fourth in the 112-pound weight class as the freshman lost to Brian Whitesell of Neligh in the consolation match, 14-2.

Sophomore Robert Wittler placed fourth in the 134-pound weight class, losing by pin to Tim Kester of Clearwater in the consolation match. Jeff Barg wrestled at 185 pounds for Winside but did not place.

The Wildcats will dual Wisner on Tuesday night before competing in a triangular with West Point Central Catholic and Pender on Thursday in Pender. Winside will compete in the North Bend Tournament on Saturday.

WSC men fall to Morningside

WAYNE-The Wayne State men's basketball team lost an 81-47 decision to Morningside College, Monday night in Sioux City, Iowa. The 'Cats fell to 2-4 on the season while the Chiefs improved to a perfect 6-0.

WSC never led, the host team despite tying the game on three different occasions. Morningside broke open the game midway through the first half and led by a 44-27 margin at the half.

The 'Cats came out of the locker room and quickly got the Morningside lead trimmed to 10 but the Chiefs went on another scoring run and when the game ended the margin of deficit stood at 34.

Mike Fitzner and Craig Philipp led WSC with nine points each while Curt Woodin tallied eight and Greg Ryan, five. Omar Clagk and Billy Patterson each netted four while Joe Gnat, Dan Anderson, Terry Mailloux and Gary Kneill scored two each.

The 'Cats were out-rebounded by a 44-35 margin with Woodin leading WSC from his guard position with seven caroms. Patterson dished out five assists but WSC suffered 27 turnovers compared to 14 by the host team.

"Morningside is a very talented team," WSC coach Greg McDermott said. "I think the biggest stat is the 27 turnovers because we came into the game averaging around 12. We just kicked the ball around."

WSC is a team that has to shoot a lot of 3-pointers because of their lack of size and the 'Cats were just three of 15 from bonus range. "Our guys competed hard and this loss isn't something we're going to panic over," McDermott said. "We'll regroup and work hard in practice for Moorhead State on Saturday."

Laurel boys win season opening game by three; girls lose by 14

The Laurel girls and boys basketball teams played in Crofton last Friday night and the Bears came away with a split as Rick Petri's girls team lost a 56-42 decision while Clayton Steele's boys team won a 63-57 decision over a strong Crofton team.

The Lady Bears trailed the host team by a 13-7 margin after the first quarter and 26-15 at the intermission. Laurel played Crofton to a three-point game in the second half, 30-27.

"We didn't do a very good job of handling the ball," Petri said. "We suffered 32 turnovers and yet we did a nice job of handling Crofton's press. We didn't have that many turnovers because of the press but we got into trouble when we started forcing passes while running our offense."

Petri said his squad needs to learn how to be more patient when game situations call for it. Despite the loss the outstanding play of Laurel 6-0 sophomore Becky Schroeder was not overlooked as she poured in a game-high 23 points.

Cathy Mohr netted eight points and Alissa Krie scored five while Tracy Ankeny tossed in four and Gina Monson, two. The Bears were edged on the boards, 35-32 with Schroeder, Mohr and Ankeny sharing team honors with seven caroms each.

The Bears were 10-17 from the free throw line while the host team was 14-26. Laurel will host Winside in a girl-boy double-header on Tuesday night at 6:15 p.m.

THE LAUREL boys team was limited in their number of practices prior to the start of the 1994-95 basketball season because the football team played in the championship game in Class C-2 which added an extra three weeks to the football season. In fact, Laurel had nine practices compared to the normal average of 20-to-25.

Still, the talented Bears stepped up to the challenge of playing the defending NENAC conference champs on their home floor and came away with the six-point win, 63-57.

"I thought our kids played pretty well," Steele said. "It was a pretty close game all the way. We got out to a nice lead early but they got hot from 3-point range and came back to trail by just three after the first quarter."

The Bears led 34-29 at the half but the lead narrowed to one after three quarters of play at 48-47. The game was very physical but Steele said his team stayed pretty disciplined.

"Crofton had three players foul out," Steele said. "We were successful in our two team goals which was taking advantage of our inside game and keeping them from running which they like to do."

Steele said the Bears didn't turn the ball over one time against Crofton's press. Jared Reinoehl proved to be the biggest thorn in Crofton's side as he poured in 27 points while hauling down 23 rebounds including 14 on the offensive end.

Jeremy Reinoehl tallied 13 and Cody Carstensen scored 10 while Shane Schuster came off the bench to toss in six. Travis Stingley netted four points and Tyler Erwin rounded out the attack with three.

Laurel dominated the boards, 46-24 led by Jared's 23 caroms. The Bears had just 13 turnovers in their opener while Crofton had a dozen. Laurel was 27-37 from the foul line and the host team was 11-20.

The Bears reserve team won by a 58-50 margin with Travis Stingley leading the way with 18 points. The Bears freshman-sophomore team played at the Wakefield Tournament on Saturday and captured top honors with wins over Emerson-Hubbard, 36-32 and Wakefield, 46-32. Travis Stingley led the team in both games with 15 and 14 points.

THANK YOU

DEAR FRIENDS, There are times in our lives when we are weak. We feel downtrodden and miserable. If we are lucky, others will stand by us; they will walk with us. They will be patient with our pain, will wait for us to grow, will speak words of encouragement and listen long hours to us. They will believe in us and love us! They will watch patiently with us until our life begins again. We are deeply grateful for all that you have done for us. Our sincere thanks. The Gary and Julie Klahn Family. 12/6

WE WOULD like to thank Pastor Mahnken and Pastor Jelt, Mel Fernau, the loving and caring Sisters, staff and administration at Providence Medical Center, all of you who kept us in your thoughts and remembered us in your prayers and all who visited and brought gifts of food during the illness and death of our loved one, Lena Fuelberth. These acts of kindness and caring were greatly appreciated and will long be remembered. May God bless all of you. Ben Fuelberth, Belva Forsberg, Dennis Manske, Alton Fuelberth, Delno Fuelberth.
