Square footage is up but not cost of issue

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Supporters of the Wayne Middle School Bond issue have been talking about a 66,000 square foot construction project for over six weeks as they encourage voters to support a $7.9 million bond issue.

However, the proposed new building will not be 66,000 square feet. The construction will actually encompass 81,636 square feet. The earlier 66,000 figure referred only to the classroom spaces and did not cover hallways, restroom, mechanical spaces and some 4,000 square feet of renovated areas in the existing High School facility.

But, not to worry, the total cost figures of $7.9 million has been based all along on construction of a full-featured building. The price hasn't changed, just the total square footage being discussed.

Wayne School Superintendent Dr.

Dennis Jensen said initial discussions surrounded the 66,000 square feet of classroom space which would be required as part of state recommendations for a school district of Wayne's size and that was the figure that stuck.

HE SAID discussions about the square footage cost of the project, estimated at $78 did not total to $7.9 million when people started to multiply the .66,000 square foot figure with the cost estimates.

He said it would be impossible to build a building without halls, restrooms and mechanical service areas. In addition, some of the bond issue total includes equipment and furnishings.

Voters will be going to the polls on Tuesday to decide on the bond issue which would fund an addition to the high school. The addition would house the Wayne Middle School as well as providing additional space for the high school.

Jensen said both the school board and the citizen's committee which prepared the recommendations for the building project, settled on the minimum state recommendations for

Portrait to be presented

A framed portrait of Anthony Wayne, namesake of Wayne County, is scheduled to be presented to local county officials at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 20 at the Wayne County Courthouse, 510 Pearl Street in Wayne.

John Schleicher, field service representative for the Nebraska State Historical Society, will present the portrait of Wayne and a framed account of his life and historical significance, to the county.

Wayne County was named for Anthony Wayne, a hero of the Revolutionary War. As a young man, he operated the family's tannery business in Chester County, Penn. When the war began, he was placed in command of an army regiment.

Colonel Wayne's bravery was never questioned, but there was concern about his impulsiveness, which earned him the nickname,

"Mad Anthony." He was at the Battle of Monmouth, took more than 500 prisoners at Stony Point and served under Lafayette at the Battle of Yorktown.

After the war he was given command of the American army and in 1794 defeated Shawnee and Delaware Indians at the Battle of Fallen Timbers in Ohio. That battle effectively freed much of the old Northwest from British influence. Wayne died two years later at age 50.

Wayne County was organized by a proclamation of Governor David Butler. The first election of county officers took place on Sept. 5, 1870.

Portrait presentations and the historical significance of each Nebraska county namesake is a program of the Nebraska State Historical Society. For further information about Wayne County, contact the Society at 402-471-3270.

Accidents cause severe injuries

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Icy roads last Sunday was the cause of a one-car accident that left two, Wayne students in an Omaha hospital with severe injuries.

Matt Ley, a 1992 graduate of Wayne High and Tami Schluns a 1994 graduate of Wayne High, were on their way back to Lincoln following a 25th Anniversary Celebration for Randy and Glenda Schluns when the mishap occurred.

Ley was driving his 1992 convertible and lost control of the vehicle when he hit a patch of ice near Dodge around 7 p.m. Schluns was asleep but according to her sister, Deanna, awoke right before the accident happened.

The car apparently flipped when it hit the ice and on impact, Schluns was thrown from the vehicle. Ley remained in the car and following the accident, crawled out of the passenger door looking for Tami.

A road crew that was out graveling the highways came up on the accident right away and called for help. "Matt had to be sat on to keep from moving too much," Deanna said after talking with her sister

Tami. "He heard Tami yelling from a distance but he couldn't see her."

Tami, meanwhile, told Deanna that she was in so much pain she couldn't even move. The West Point ambulance arrived and began to transport Ley and Schluns to the hospital. They were both treated and transported to Sioux City, Iowa.

"En route to Sioux City a state patrolman called the ambulance and told them not to take Matt and Tami to Sioux City because the weather conditions were worse," Deanna said. "Instead, they transported them to Omaha's Methodist Hospital."

Ley was diagnosed with a broken neck and a broken left shoulder. However, he's expected to recover.

Highway project plans explained

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Over 40 stout souls braved a howling snowstorm Tuesday evening to attend the public hearing on the proposed Highway 35 widening project through Wayne.

State Department of Roads engineers and officials conducted the hearing to seek input from residents and business owners who will be affected by the construction project.

Plans call for widening and realigning Highway 35 (Seventh Street) through Wayne. The project is scheduled for the 1997 construction year at the earliest, officials said. It is currently estimated to cost over $4.9 million.

The city of Wayne got a nearly half million dollar gift when it was announced during the hearing that the entire cost of the project would be borne by the state. Earlier plans called for at least a 10 percent cost share from the City of Wayne.

Nebraska Department of Roads Engineer Don Turek discusses road construction plans with Verdel Lutt at the public hearing Tuesday night in Wayne. The state called the hearing to outline plans for the $4.9 million road improvement project through Wayne.

Project

near Fairgrounds Road west of Wayne and will extend to near the Logan Creek bridge on the east edge of the city. During the project to resurface and realign the stretch from Main Street west, traffic will be rerouted north along the county roads, officials said.
 The detour will be required to allow for the extensive grading and excavation work required to level the roadway in front of Wayne High School and near 7th and Douglas.
 The engineers said they are still studying possible access routes for residents and one business, Pac 'N' Save, while the roadway is closed for construction. They said the work is planned for completion during one construction season.
 Traffic will be maintained on the street east from Main during the construction period, officials said because of the need for access to the numerous businesses along that route and because the excavation and leveling work would not be as extensive in that area.

OFFICIALS THANKED the residents who attended the hearing and encouraged those who could not attend to look at copies of the plans available at city hall and submit written comments if they have them. Comments will be accepted in writing at the Department of Roads office in Lincoln until Dec. 16. The address is PO Box 94759, Lincoln, NE 68509-4759.
 Plans to eliminate the crossing light at 7th and Sherman as part of the leveling project along the road was objected to by at least two people who attended the hearing and officials promised to reconsider that decision.

THE PLANS call for a complete new road surface with curb and gutters and a center turn lane throughout the route. Included will be modern lighting, upgraded storm water handling capabilities and new sidewalks where necessary.
 The detour during the construction period will take traffic north at Fairgrounds Road and East on Country Club Road before returning to the original route via Main Street. The rerouting of traffic along the gravel roads will require "minor improvements" to the county roads in terms of some widening, turning radii and bridge work, but there are no plans for the state to hard surface the detour route as some local officials had hoped.

Too cheap, too long

Wayne property taxes to support schools have traditionally been at or near the bottom of the tier of comparable schools in the state. Even though many school districts with equivalent numbers of students have much higher property tax valuations, the Wayne tax levy has been kept low through conservative and at times parsimonious spending practices.

Last year the district was dead last in comparison with other district's its size in the state with a $1.23 cent per hundred levy. The average among comparable districts was 1.58 with the high being $1.87 paid by property owners in the Raymond Central School District. We suspect when the new figures are in, even after passage of the 39.9 cents per hundred bond issue in Wayne, the district will still be near the bottom in the state in property taxes since many other districts will be moving up in the tier.

That's the good news. The bad news is over the years as taxpayers enjoyed the benefits of an ultraconservative approach to school spending, the school's suffered. Buildings in Wayne and Carroll were allowed to deteriorate, programs like technology went without the enhancements other districts were introducing and other improvements to benefit educational quality were deferred.

We see it as a situation not unlike the repairman on television commercials who encourages proper automotive maintenance. "You can pay me now or you can pay me later," he says.

When you pay later, often the costs are much greater than they would be if the problem had been fixed right the first time.

That is the point we would like for voters to remember when they go to the polls Tuesday on the Wayne School Bond election.

We should no longer give our students second class facilities and programs. We may be able to brag about the lowest taxes in our comparable districts, but the cost is mounting when it comes to catching up with other schools.

Six months from now if the bond issue fails the first time, the construction costs will be much higher and the problems a new building would solve will be greater.

To its credit, the school board has taken steps to enhance curriculum and programs including, with the help of large grant funds, improvements in technology curriculum.

It is time to bring our school buildings into the modern era too.

Getting together

We haven't heard much support in Wayne for the "great Carroll fear" that the school board will close the Carroll Elementary Building after the bond issue is approved.

Many Carroll voters have said they will vote against the Middle School Bond issue because the school board has not granted a guarantee that the school in Carroll will remain open. New members of the school board have indicated their support for keeping a school in Carroll.

The school administration has voiced its support for keeping the school open. We have editorialized in favor of retaining a school in Carroll as have many others.

There is no organized effort, overt or covert, to seek closure of the school, yet the fear persists in Carroll that the grand scheme in Wayne calls for them to lose their school.

We don't think so, but the residents of Carroll who hold the view that they will not vote for the Wayne Middle School bond issue until they have a guarantee for the future of the Carroll School may be shooting themselves in the foot.

If the bond issue fails in large measure because of an anticipated negative vote from the Carroll area Wayne voters may react more negatively when discussions commence on correcting school building problems in Carroll.

The issue should not be seen as an "us and them" situation in either area. Carroll students will spend more years attending the new middle school and high school buildings in Wayne than they will attend the Carroll School. Carroll voters should see the practically of proving improved facilities throughout the district. Likewise, Wayne residents we think, have shown the logic and agree with the benefits of keeping the Carroll School open.

Why else would they have agreed with the Carroll voters in electing representatives to the school board who were most vocal in support of keeping the school open.

We need to work together.

Passing the bond issue is the second step. Reaching agreement on a plan for a new Carroll Building using district sinking funds is the third step.

What's the first step, you ask?

That's remembering that in every case, we need to do what is best for the children.

Vote conscience

Dear Editor:

Vote your conscience on the upcoming school bond issue. I have been following the activities of this campaign and realize that the predominant issue is to decide whether to fund a new school or to not fund a new school. I also realize that other factors will become critical, and in need of decisions, if this measure passes.

One of those factors is the fate of the Carroll Elementary School. Will it remain open or will it be forced to close? Vote your conscience. Families in Wayne County whose children go to the Carroll Elementary School may ultimately be the real-losers if this measure passes.

Face it, if the Carroll school was going to remain open someone would have the strength and courage to say so, officially, before the voting begins. Instead, we are told that a decision will be made sometime in March, 1995 (almost three months post-election). Stalling is a wonderful tactic for slipping something by the informed and uninformed observer.

Once voted in, officials will simply say you had your chance, live with it. You can not get much lower than that. Vote your conscience. Even to the casual observer of this issue, this suggests that the decision to close the school and begin the daily bussing of children has already been made, or is near being made (why else stall until March with an answer?) If this is not the case, the appropriate authority/politician should say so officially. I do not know if you could believe them anyway.

The point remains that Carroll voters are a force to be reckoned with and a force to be respected. It is time to stand up, be counted and fight. Vote your conscience.

Vote it down

Dear Editor:

I am urging the voters of the Wayne-Carroll school district to vote for the bond issue. As a substitute teacher in the Wayne-Carroll system for two and a half years, I worked in almost every room in this district. While there are pressing needs in all four buildings, the Middle School building must be replaced. I would rather pay for a new functional building than sink almost as much money into the old one to meet federal laws and renovation necessities. To spend your day in the Middle School is an experience. It is overcrowded, the rooms are dilapidated, water pipes break, the heating system is deplorable and the electrical system isn't designed to handle computers (or much else). The building was built for the needs of students and curriculum of 1908, not 1994. Dr. Jensen and the board have shown fiscal responsibility in coming up with a building that will house the middle school students and also solve the needs of the high school.

I realize some people will vote

"no" on this issue. We are all tired of increases in state and federal taxes. The good thing is that this tax will benefit us locally. We have the power to control how the money will be spent. It benefits the children of the community.

When the new building is built, only one group of past inhabitants will be sorry to see the old building go — the bats.

Thanks

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Wayne Herald and Sports Editor, Kevin Peterson, for their spectacular coverage during the Laurel-Concord football season. This has been a memorable year for our students, parents and community. We couldn't have asked for better coverage, super pictures and great articles.

Mr. Peterson displays professionalism in every sense of the word. Through his articles and pictures Mr. Peterson was able to create memories that will last for a lifetime.

We are fortunate to have someone of this caliber in our area that has the dedication and loyalty to our student athletes and fans.

Must see

Dear Editor:

I would like to say publicly that my family and I really enjoyed listening to the WSC Choir and Norfolk Choir on Sunday afternoon. We are very lucky to have such a man to direct such a performance. This was an event that most people in the city get to see. How fortunate we are in Wayne to see such talent. There were many students saddened after the performance. I hope Dr. Runestad knows how many hearts he has touched in his lifetime of dedication to music. It only proves that when one enjoys their work it shows and everyone notices. To all others who took part in the performance. We all greatly applaud also. Thank you for your time and talents.

Vote for it

Dear Editor:

To all of those who believe everything they read. The article in the paper puts a slant on the condition of the Middle School. It makes it sound like it could collapse at any minute and the children inside are going to school in a hazardous environment. Wrong! This is the same building that many residents of Wayne went to for their entire education. Like many buildings and products of yesterday, it was over-engineered. That building has stood for over 80 years and will easily stand another 80. It'll probably stand longer than the existing High square footage requirements for the number of students in the district when they formulated plans.

HE SAID THE plans are conservative and do not leave much room for paring further without jeopardizing curriculum programs at the school.

He said those opponents who have said a vote against the bond issue on the first try will mean the board will cut the measure down and submit it again are wrong.

It is likely to cost more later, said Jensen of the bond issue because the square footage is at the minimum already and construction costs have raised dramatically in the last year since the district began discussing the project.

Jensen pointed out the school board already cut over $1.2 million off the building plan that its citizen committee had recommended in order to make the measure more palatable to voters.

Do you have a good idea?

By Karen Wermers
UNL Cooperative Extension

Since we are well into the information age, a new emphasis has been placed on intellectual property that protects your ideas, inventions, expressions, unique names, business methods and chemical formulas which have market value. Intellectual property law determines when and how a person can use a person's creation.

Inventions are protected by patents. A patent is a government grant of certain rights given to an inventor for a limited time in exchange for the disclosure of the invention. The most important right that the patent owner has is the exclusive rights to make, use or sell the invention.

Trademarks are another form of intellectual property. Trademarks relate to any word, name or symbol which is used in trade to distinguish a product from other similar goods.

Trademark laws are used to prevent others from making a product with a confusingly similar mark. For example, 3M is a trademark. Trademark infringement occurs, for example, if another business used the 3M trademark or something so close to it that it confuses the customer into thinking their products may be 3M. The infringing company cannot financially benefit from using another's trademark.

Copyright is another form of protection provided by the laws of the United States to the authors of original works of authorship including literary, dramatic, musical, artistic and certain other intellectual works. Use of the copyright symbol provides protection, but registration with the Library of Congress is most effective in enforcement if infringement occurs.

Trade Secrets are any information, design, device, process formula, etc., which is maintained as a secret and which gives the owner a competitive advantage. If diligence is used by the owner in keeping it secret, the owner has a certain legal recourse if someone steals the information.

Unfair Competition is a broad term defining legal standards of business conduct. It provides protection against such things as simulation of trade packaging, using similar corporate and professional names, misappropriation of trade secrets and palming off a person's goods as those of another.

The University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension recently held an innovation intellectual property workshop for our area, in Wayne. To receive publications on any of these areas, please call my office at 584-2234. If we cannot help, we will direct you elsewhere.

The "Word" for the Week

Emotional involvement with God

Ever have difficulty getting acquainted with certain folks? Somehow they seem cold to you. When you try to open up to them, they do not open up to you. A relationship therefore never develops. Paul experienced the same thing with a church. "O Corinthians, our heart is open wide. You are not restrained by us, but you are restrained by your own affections" (2 Corinthians 6:11-12). Paul was emotionally involved with this church. He had gone through many trials so they would hear the gospel. The Corinthians, however, were cool toward Paul. They were holding their emotions in check.

God often gets the same cool reception from each of us. Moses said of God's people, "The Lord set His affection to love them" (Deuteronomy 10:15). The people did not reciprocate. They refused to become emotionally involved with God. As a result, Moses admonished the people, "Circumcise then your heart, and stiffen your neck no more" (Deuteronomy 10:16).

These people had a heart problem. We often have the very same heart problem today. We get emotionally involved with basketball, baseball and football. Will we get emotionally involved with God? Not on a bet. A cold shoulder irritates us. It saddens God. He says, "An ox knows its owner, and a donkey its master's manager, but Israel does not know, My people do not understand" (Isaiah 1:3).

AAL grant is awarded to school in Hoskins

Trinity Lutheran School in Hoskins has been awarded a $500 grant for the 1994-95 school year by Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL), a fraternal benefit society based in Appleton, Wis.

The AAL Lutheran Elementary School Grant Program is designed to provide in-service training for Lutheran elementary school faculty. The funds may be used for consultants, speakers and resource materials. Activities may concentrate on such areas as teaching strategies, classroom organization and management, interpersonal relationships and communication, a teacher's role in the promotion of the school and in ministering to the needs of families.

"AAL is pleased to help teachers in Lutheran elementary schools to grow in their ability to provide quality Christian education for students and their families."

AAL awards educational grants totaling more than $3.1 million annually to Lutheran colleges, seminaries, high schools and elementary schools across the country. In this second year of the AAL Lutheran Elementary School Grant Program, a total of $750,000 was offered to nearly 1,500 schools.

KATIE LUTT tries to drive the baseline while a Battle Creek defender attempts to cut her off. Wayne suffered its first loss of the season by a 76-45 margin to the Bravettes. The Blue Devils will host Schuyler, Friday night.

Battle Creek hands Devils a 76-45 setback Wayne girls beaten

The Wayne girls basketball team suffered their first loss of the season, Thursday night as Battle Creek handed the Blue Devils a 76-45 setback at Wayne High.

The 2-1 Blue Devils raced with the Bravettes through the first quarter as both teams shot lights out from the field and played even to a 19-19 tie. Battle Creek, however, remained red-hot from the field and opened up a 15-point cushion at the half after out-scoring Wayne by a 22-7 margin in the second stanza.

Things continued to go the visitors way in the second half as they ended up out-scoring the host team, 35-19 in the final two periods. "I felt the difference in the game was rebounding," coach Roger Reikofski said. "We did not do a good job of blocking out which led to a 37-19 difference on the boards and Battle Creek made the most of its second-chance shots."

Reikofski said rebounding is his squad's weakest part of the game right now. "Rebounding is a skill that were not getting done yet," he said. "We just aren't blocking out when the ball is being shot on either end of the court."

Jenny Thompson led Wayne in scoring with 16 points including 11 in the first quarter. Carrie Fink scored 15 including all seven, second quarter points and Katie Lutt finished with 12. Katy Wilson was the only other scorer with two points.

Lutt led the Blue Devils with six rebounds. Wayne suffered 21 turnovers while the visitors had 18 and the host team was 5-9 from the foul-line while Battle Creek was 2-4.

Both teams hit four, 3-pointers in the game but the Bravettes connected on over 58 percent of their shot attempts, 35-60. Despite the lopsided loss, Reikofski said there is no doubt his team will improve.

"I guarantee we will get better," the Wayne mentor said. "We have to play a much better game against Schuyler on Friday night or it could be another long game."

Wayne will play at West Point and Wisner-Pilger next week so the pre-Christmas schedule is loaded with very competitive and rated teams.

Wayne's reserve team fell to 0-3 on the season with a 40-31 loss to Battle Creek. Lacy Bebe led Wayne's offensive attack with 10 points.

Allen girls soar to 3-0 start after a 21 point rout of Ponca

The Allen Eagles girls basketball team improved to 3-0 on the season with a 62-41 drubbing of Ponca in the first round of the Ponca Tip-Off Classic, Thursday night in Ponca. The win advanced Lori Koester and Gary Erwin's squad to the championship game on Saturday night against highly rated Emerson-Hubbard.

"We played a very good game against Ponca," Koester said. "We shot lights out in the first half, hitting over 70 percent of our shots from the field. For the game, we ended up hitting nearly 60 percent."

Allen raced to an 18-8 lead in the first quarter and never looked back as they built a comfortable 22-point cushion at the intermission, 38-16.

"Every one of our girls shot over 50 percent from the field," Koester said. "Defensively, we dominated the boards and all of the girls played good on the defensive end of the floor."

Koester also was pleased with her team's ability to move the ball on offense, looking for the open girl. "We had 15 team assists which is good, team basketball," Koester said. "If there is an area I feel we have to work on, however, it's in the area of turnovers. We had too many of them."

Tanya Plueger paced the Eagles offensive attack with 19 points while Jaime Mitchell poured in 14 and Abbey Schroeder, 10. Mindy Plueger tossed in nine and Holly Blair netted six while Shany Moran came off the bench to score four.

The Eagles out-rebounded the host team, 31-15 led by Tanya with eight caroms while Mitchell and Mindy had six each. Mindy and Holly Blair each shared team honors in assists with four.

Allen did suffer 19 turnovers compared to 14 by Ponca. The Eagles connected on four of six from the charity stripe while Ponca was 5-11.

Winside girls fall to Raiders despite playing quality game

Lisa Schroeder's Winside girls basketball team fell to 0-3 despite playing a quality contest, Thursday night in Winside.

The Wildcats lost a 48-38 decision to the defending D-2 State Champs, Newcastle. Winside trailed by an 18-14 margin at the half but were still in the game throughout much of the fourth quarter. The host team went into the final stanza trailing by just six points at 34-28.

"All in all, I thought we played real well," Schroeder said. "To play the type of game we did against the caliber of team we did," was very pleasing to me."

Despite it being three games into the season, it was Wendy Miller's first game of the year as the leading returning scorer from a year ago sat out the first two games with a back injury suffered in volleyball.

"It was nice to get Wendy back," Schroeder said. "She makes a definite difference in our team. Miller returned in fine form with 17 points and 16 rebounds. Ann Brugger followed in the scoring column with seven points while Emily Deck netted five and Jodi Miller, four. Kristi Oberle finished with three points and Melinda Mohr rounded out the attack with two.

Winside was out-rebounded by a 52-43 margin and the Wildcats suffered 27 turnovers—three more than the Red Raiders. Winside was 12-21 from the free throw line and Newcastle was 16-27.

"Our inexperience really showed towards the end of the game," Schroeder said. "We suffered more turnovers late and we committed more fouls because we started playing defense with our hands and not our feet."

Winside will play Laurel in a make-up game from Tuesday's snow storm, Saturday night in Laurel.

Wakefield sees daycare changes

The M.G. Waldbaum Co. has for years operated a successful daycare facility in Wakefield. Under an agreement now under final negotiations there will be a few changes in the operation of the daycare facility.

Recently, a group of concerned community volunteers put together a community non-profit organization called the Wakefield Family Resource Center, Inc. Under the proposed agreement, the M.G. Waldbaum Co./Michael Food will transfer the former high school building, fixtures and equipment, as well as providing a subsidy of the operation for the first three years. The Wakefield Family Resource Center, Inc. upon accepting the gift, would assume the daycare functions in the early part of 1995, according to the agreement.

The lease of the Wakefield Senior Citizens Center will continue as it currently exists, providing stability and continued occupancy for that group.

There will be no major interruptions or changes in the provision of daycare services as they are now provided by the Humpty Dumpty Daycare Center.

The members of the Wakefield Family Resource Center Inc. board of directors are Kathy Skinner, president; Lynda Cruickshank, vice president; Susan Banholzer, secretary; Coleen Bressler, treasurer; Marcia Henderson, Linda Steinmann, Jill Woodward, Mike Moggus, Jan Dyer, Rhonda Lutt, Iris Larson and Lee Ann Hansen.

The board of directors is looking for community members to help with various committees. These include programming, finance and personnel. In addition, a parents' advisory team is planned to provide input on key issues concerning the center's management. Community members interested in helping with any of the committees are urged to call the Humpty Dumpty Daycare Center at 287,2211, ext. 199, or contact one of the board members.

CONTRIBUTIONS NEEDED

The 11th annual Wakefield Lions Club Christmas project to provide food, clothing and new toys to needy families has gotten underway. The club needs cash donations to be used for purchase of new toys and food baskets. Donations may be mailed to Larry Clay, club treasurer, or left with any Lion.

Clothing in clean and good condition is being handled by the Midwest Disaster Relief group. The clothing should be left in the basement of the old hospital. Entry is from the west driveway, and instructions are posted on the doorway to the basement. The clothing is distributed as needed and also used as material for quilts that are given to the families.

Each year the project aids 15 to 20 community families and 50 children.

Public hearings set on new bridge at Newcastle

Public hearings have been set in Nebraska and South Dakota on the proposed Newcastle/Vermillion bridge across the Missouri River.

The hearings on the environmental assessment reports on the project will be Dec. 19 at the National Guard Armory in Vermillion and Dec. 20 at the Fire Hall in Newcastle.

Highway from both states officials will be conducting the hearings. The project, with an accompanying connector road planned to be constructed near Wayne, would reduce by more than 30 miles, a trip between Wayne and Vermillion and Wayne and Sioux Falls.

The bulk of the funding for the $16.9 million project has been appropriated from federal funds. Each state is expected to share 10 percent of the cost of the work.

Construction could start on the project as early as 1996 according to officials.

The bridge project has long been supported by residents of both sides of the Missouri who have argued for better commerce and cultural exchanges between the two regions separated by the river.

Cooperative efforts between the University of South Dakota at Vermillion and Wayne State College have also been cited as a positive benefit of the bridge.

The bridge could also enhance the labor pool available to industries in the area, supporters have said.

Mishaps

100 percent and will unofficially return home this weekend wearing a halo-brace to support his vertebrae.

Schluns will be in the hospital for about another week after suffering a cracked pelvis on both sides, a broken left arm and having five teeth knocked out.

She is, however, expected to make a full recovery. "Tami's really in pretty good spirits," Deanna said. "She's on a lot of pain killers right now and is moving around via a wheel chair because of her cracked pelvis."

ICY ROAD CONDITIONS are enough for drivers to be cautious about but in Lee Summit, Missouri last Sunday another former Wayne resident was on her way home from shopping with her daughter when they were struck by a drunk driver.

Renee Carlsson, 47-year-old daughter of Fred and Loreene Gildersleeve of Wayne was en route to her home with her nine-year-old daughter Sarah Brown when the accident occurred around 7 p.m.

According to Renee's sister Shelley Frevert of Wayne, the jaws of life were used to free Renee and Sarah from their vehicle and both were life-flighted to different hospitals in Kansas City, Missouri.

"Sarah was flown to Children's Hospital and Renee was flown to St. Joseph's Hospital," Shelley said. "Sarah suffered a broken right arm and a gash on her head."

"Renee suffered a crushed right foot, a fracture from her right ankle to her knee with muscle damage," Shelley added. "Her leg hadn't been set yet on Thursday because of the amount of time needed to work on the muscle damage."

Renee also suffered a herniated disc in her back and a broken bone in her neck. "Her spinal chord wasn't severed but she has some partial paralysis in her hand," Shelley said. "In time, however, she should regain the feeling." She's improved drastically since she was brought to the hospital on Sunday night.

Shelley said Renee's recovery is expected to take some time but a full recovery is expected. Sarah was transferred from Children's Mercy Hospital to St. Joseph's Hospital on Thursday where the two were reunited for the first time since the accident.

Citizens of Wayne Carroll School District #17 and Affiliate Districts #51 and #57

You will decide the future of our public school December 13th. A committee of 35 citizens reviewed all current school facilities over a period of 7 months and made their recommendation to the Board of Education. This recommendation was based on information from previous studies and comprehensive tours of all school buildings in the district. The plan submitted to the board consisted of a proposed middle school building connected to the present high school and renovations to the high school. This plan would make use of shared spaces for a variety of programs including: business, computer labs, art, home economics, music, athletic activities, industrial technology, administrative offices, dining and kitchen facilities. The citizens committee further recommended that accessibility problems at both elementary attendance centers, in Wayne and Carroll, be addressed in the future through the use of sinking fund moneys.

The Board of Education chose to bring the current bond issue to a vote of the patrons after review of the facility study committee recommendations and current financing options. A citizens committee has attempted to inform the voters of the issues surrounding the project. This committee has tried to be honest and open about the proposed bond issue and many patrons have responded in kind.

The proposed bond issue will involve a tax increase, but it is an investment that must be made at this time. The school district currently has no outstanding bonded debt. Bond market rates are favorable at this time and are projected to increase in the future. Construction costs will most certainly increase and the facility needs at this time are critical.

Each patron must choose whether this is a sound investment at the polls December 13th. Remember, just as someone paid for our education, we too must provide for the best possible education for our children and grandchildren. The projected levy of 39.9 per $100 of actual valuation for District 17 patrons and 12.3 per $100 valuation for affiliate patrons cannot increase once the bonds are issued. This levy could be reduced when the Districts total valuation increases or if the bond is re-financed at lower interest rates.

If the plan is not exactly what each individual has in mind, we ask only that you consider compromise. This is the American way. In any large group, if we insist on getting only our own way, we get nothing.

This bond issue will improve our schools for the benefit of all the children in the district.

A CELEBRATION OF SERVICE

The Wayne Area
JAYCEES
40th Anniversary

The Wayne Kiwanis Club Salutes the Civic Organizations of our Community!
*This section pays a special tribute to those outstanding organizations that make our community a better place to live, and congratulates
The Wayne Area Jaycees on their 40th Anniversary.*

WAYNE COUNTY JAYCEES

Young persons community leadership

Over the past 40 years Wayne residents have experienced nine presidents, men walking on the moon, two Woodstock concerts, numerous baseball strikes, wars, economic upswings and downfalls, and rock and roll. This is just a very short list of events that have occurred in the last 40 years. One continuum throughout this period has been a Jaycees chapter in the Wayne community.

Yes, the Wayne County Jaycees are celebrating their 40th anniversary as a service organization in the Wayne community. During those 40 years the local chapter has experienced many changes. The Junior Chamber of Commerce, the official Jaycee title, originally was for young men 21-30 years of age. Then the expansion of the age range to 35 and eventually to 40 years of age and the inclusion of women brings us to the present day.

The Wayne County Jaycees were chartered on May 18, 1954 with 54 members. Donald Boyce was the first president of the organization. Original officers were Boyce, Donald Means, William Kugler, Norman Ellis and Alvin Voorhies. Directors were Jason Preston, Wayne Christopher-son, Earl Green, David Hamer Jr. and Charles Surber.

Outstanding!

Jeff Pasold was named Outstanding President for the first quarter of 93-94 year in the state of Nebraska.

The 1994-95 officers are Garry Poutre, President; Scott Brummond, Secretary; Rod Hunke, Treasurer; Kathy Berry, Membership Development V.P.; Leslie Schultz, Community Development V.P.; Curt Wilwerding, Individual Development V.P.; and Latisha Sumner, Management Development V.P. Directors are Ron Gen-true and John Farman.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

interest is its community involvement. One of the major accomplishments still visible in the community development area took official roots December 8, 1981. In an effort to accommodate the increasing number of men and women involved in softball and the softball fields were spread throughout the city, the Jaycees proposed, in conjunction with the established softball leagues, the construction of a four field softball complex on a 14.2 acre plot of land located east of the existing treatment lagoon. Over the years, improvements to the fields has made the complex the center of activity for the softball association. People can enjoy men's, women's and girl's softball throughout the summer. Recent improvements include lights for one softball field and the construction of two sand volleyball courts. Although the Jaycees relinquished total control of the fields sometime ago, they have left their mark on the community for future generations.

Most recently the Jaycees thumb print on the community took shape in the form of playground equipment at the Rainbow World Daycare Center. The chapter was approached to help with the erection of the playground equipment. With the guidance of Gary West, the Jaycees were able to finish the project before the daycare's grand opening.

Another area of community development includes environmental issues such as the annual spring community cleanup, manning the recycling center, the annual fall leaf pickup and the adopt-a-highway program. Numerous community development projects are centered around youth and elderly activities. Annual competitions are held to measure boys and girls skills in basketball, baseball and football against the other kids in their community and statewide. Elderly activities include providing gifts to residents of the Wayne Care Centre as well as cookies and fruit baskets to local elderly citizens during the Christmas season. The chapter also provides entertainment to the residents of the Care Centre by hosting bingo parties.

Charitable fundraising is yet another community development activity the Jaycees are involved with. Projects are engineered to raise funds for numerous national and local organizations. Projects include a sandbox fill to benefit St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, Longest Day of Golf to raise money for the American Cancer Society (4 zealous young men played 200 holes during our '94 day) and the Women Helping Women Walk to assist women's programs at Wayne State College. These are just a few of the charitable fundraising activities the Jaycees have undertaken. The chapter has helped raise thousands of dollars for these charities.

Finally, to celebrate our nation's birthday, the Wayne chapter coordinated a fireworks display for the community. What used to be an annual show took a hiatus for a few years but was resurrected in 1992. The Jaycees want to provide a fireworks show on a biennial basis.

These only highlight our community development projects. We have only touched the tip of the iceberg. There are just too many projects to mention, but it does reflect how the Jaycees stay active in the community.

Receiving Charter - 1954

INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPMENT

The Individual Development aspect of the Jaycee organization was created to enhance the individual member. Projects can help individuals improve skills in communications, time management, leadership and personal dynamics. Projects are designed to help the member in both the business and family settings.

These projects are achieved by inviting speakers to share their knowledge in certain topic areas and by getting individuals involved in speak-up and write-up competitions sponsored by the state chapter. Speak-up is a competition to enhance a member's oral skills. A topic is given to the competitor who must think on his or her feet and provide a short and impromptu oral report to a panel of judges. The individual is judged and ranked against the other competitors. The write-up competition is run in the same manner as speak-up competitions except members are asked to communicate through their written skills.

Other topics to enrich the members can consist of CPR training, stress management and/or personal financial planning. These are just a few of the broad base of topics individuals can sample and take with them to use in their everyday lives.

MEMBERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

An organization cannot exist without members. There were 54 members when the local chapter was chartered. Today the local chapter has approximately the same number of members, although the makeup today shows a strong base of women involved in our organization. Being involved with fellow Jaycees can take many shapes and forms. The personal relationships built through the community, individual and management development projects are just two examples.

The local chapter also plans activities that involve social events because the Jaycees believe that "all work and no play makes a dull person." So activities are promoted for the play in all of us. Family picnics, soup suppers, membership nights and recreational activities including golf, swimming, camping and volleyball are just a few examples of social events the local chapter gets involved with.

Of course, an event is being planned to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Wayne County Jaycees but as of this printing no details have been finalized. To all the current and former members, beware, an invitation will be on its way. When the time comes, help us celebrate this birthday!

Pigskin Masters

An unidentified participant prepares to throw the football in The 1993 Pigskin Masters Competition. Members from the 1993 nationally ranked WSC Football Team provided much needed help.

MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT

In order to provide resources to fund all of the Jaycee projects, money needs to be raised and management development handles this department. Our most visible projects have been aided by the overwhelming support of the community.

Each Christmas season the citizens of Wayne show their support by purchasing their Christmas trees from the Jaycees. This has been a long standing project and has been very successful in the past. Despite increased competition and a more accessible site to sell from, the Jaycees will continue to provide the community a variety of trees to choose from.

When fair time rolls around the Jaycees sponsor an annual demolition derby. The derby grows each and every year. We cannot thank the Wayne County Agricultural Society and Wayne Volunteer Fire Department enough. These two organizations have bent over backwards to promote and assist us in our endeavor.

Finally we are grateful to the Wayne Chicken Show committee for allowing us to become part of their production. Approximately three Chicken Shows ago our organization was approached to assist the committee by providing the brawn to the show as well as allowing us the opportunity to witness a natural act of a chicken. What more can be said.

Public Relations, another area of management development, allows us to get our word out. Every January, in conjunction with National Jaycees Week, the local chapter hosts a Chamber Coffee to say thanks and show our appreciation to you the community. This service organization tabloid is another avenue to get our word out. The tabloid concept was developed by caring business people and it gives all service groups an opportunity to promote themselves in the community. Without their foresight this would not be possible.

This is a brief summary of the concepts the Jaycees are built from. For more information contact any Jaycee member and they will be happy to provide interested parties additional information.

Service organizations cannot survive without their community. The Wayne County Jaycees are no exception. The local chapter's lifeline is its local community. Besides providing members to carry out the numerous projects offered, the local community provides a backbone for the Jaycees to rely on. Without this support the chapter would wilt and die.

With our 40th anniversary year in progress, it shows the continued support from residents of Wayne. With a strong membership comes additional projects. These additional projects require more access to the general public and they have been welcomed with open arms. The Wayne County Jaycees say thank you for the support provided over the past 40 years. With the continued support, our goal is to achieve another 40 years of community service to Wayne and its residents.

Remember that service to humanity is the best work of life.

WAYNE ROTARY CLUB

Business and professional leaders united

In its seven year history of existence, the Wayne Rotary Club has established an unprecedented record of growth and community service.

Last year the young and energetic Wayne Club was honored as the best Rotary Club among the 46 clubs in the Rotary International (Omaha) District 5650 covering an wide area of eastern Nebraska and western Iowa. The club won the honors for completing more community and international service projects, increasing membership and living up to the Rotary ideals of "service above self."

As one of the largest, most respected and most significant international service organizations, Rotary International, undertook a special worldwide humanitarian project several years ago. The goal the more than 1.2 million Rotarians accepted was to wipe polio and many other childhood diseases from the face of the earth.

As a powerful, private, humanitarian, nonpolitical organization, Rotary was well positioned to raise the funds, organize the logistics and cut through the often troublesome political red tape to deliver vaccine directly to the millions of children in developing countries which are still susceptible to the diseases which were eliminated in most developed countries a generation ago.

Rotarians, including those in Wayne, raised over $23 million to buy vaccine and supplies. Thousands of individual Rotarians volunteered to go abroad and help with the vaccination programs. World health and children's organizations have praised the efforts of Rotary and have predicted the goal of eliminating polio by the year 2005 will easily be reached.

UNICEF has joined the polio immunization effort and is providing DPT, measles and other inoculations as well.

The Polio eradication effort is administered through the Rotary Foundation, which boasts that 100 percent of the donations received go directly to humanitarian efforts. Administration and fund raising efforts are not financed through donations. Rotary Foundation funds more worldwide humanitarian grants to needy people and worthy projects than the Fulbright and Nobel programs combined.

Fostering international goodwill and understanding is the goal of popular Rotary exchange programs. Wayne Rotarians annually host a foreign exchange student who attends Wayne High School. In addition, in each of the last two years, the club has hosted a professional group study exchange team from Brazil and Japan.

Local projects include sponsorship of scholarships to Wayne State College for worthy Wayne High Students, the club's annual soup and pie supper and this fall the club sponsored a big top circus in Wayne. The proceeds from the circus were used to benefit the Wayne Care Centre aviary project and to purchase educational materials for Wayne schools.

Wayne Rotarians also are the originators of a mentoring program that matches high school students with drop out potential with Rotary leaders for fun activities and programs which encourage school attendance and success. Besides the one-on-one relationships students develop with Rotary leaders, there are group activities sponsored and financed by Rotarians throughout the year.

Also within the last year, the Wayne Club adopted an Iowa flood victim and helped her reclaim and furnish her home. The project involved several trips to the flood ravaged Iowa community for hands on work that club members said was extremely rewarding.

Current Rotary Club officers in Wayne are Brad Coulter, President; Ric Wilson, president-elect; Rick Burleigh, vice-president; John Fuelberth, secretary;

Dennis Lipp, treasurer, and Mel Utecht, sergeant at arms.

The club meets at 7 a.m. every Wednesday at the Black Knight in Wayne at which time they sing, have fun and listen to interesting programs. The club has 46 lively men and women as members.

The Kiwanis Club of Wayne has established an endowed scholarship fund at W.S.C. with a gift of $5,000 to the W.S.C. Foundation. Earnings from the endowment fund will provide an annual scholarship award to a member of the Kiwanis student organization, Circle K. Funding for the endowment comes from this advertising tabloid.

HAVE WE FOR

Kiwanis? Kiwanis is a worldwide service organization of individuals who want to improve their communities. As a group, they can achieve what they cannot do alone. These men and women attend club meetings for fellowship and inspiration. They perform voluntary community service through committees ... usually after hours.

Grand Marshall

Kiwanian Willard Wiltse is the Grand Marshall of the Band Day Parade.

Our goals: Community and Youth services are but two of the many service areas that members are involved in. Kiwanis International's major emphasis for 1994-95 continued to be "Young Children PRIORITY ONE." The Nebraska-Iowa District has adopted four major projects.

1. Children's Miracle Network. To assist St. Lukes Medical Center's Youth Services Center. Our annual balloon sale in conjunction with the Wayne Dairy Queen carnival raises about $600 annually.

2. Special Olympics. The Wayne Kiwanis Club supports the Special Olympics through the "Medal Club," helping fund the nearly $3,000 needed to give participants medals for their achievements.

3. Camp OK. The Wayne Kiwanis Club sponsors a fifth or sixth grade student to Kiwanis Camp OK. Offer an exceptional student, who otherwise could not attend, to participate in a learning as well as a fun camp.

4. New to Kiwanis International and adopted by all Kiwanis Clubs is Iodine Deficiency Disorder (IDD), a worldwide problem among young people severely interfering with the growth process.

During 1993-94 the Wayne Kiwanis Club sponsored the 31st Annual Academic Honors Banquet. Attended by the top 10 students in each class, 7-12, their families and Kiwanis families, we continue to have over 225 in attendance each year.

Two new projects this year include the Wayne State College Circle K Scholarship. Through the WSC Foundation, the award will be made to a Circle K student who has shown both academic achievement and demonstrates his/her participation in the principle of service to their community and college.

The second project was furnishing a TV-VCR-Nintendo unit for Providence Medical Center. Originally the idea was to give young patients the opportunity to watch children's movies and play games. Having the equipment on a rolling stand will allow adults to utilize the equipment too.

We continue to assist the community and schools through:

- BUG, Bring Up Grades program in the elementary school
- Terrific Kids
- Kiwanis Jr. High Track Meet
- Summer Swim Meet and Golf Day
- HOBY, Hugh O'Brian Youth conference for outstanding sophomore student
- Highway Clean Up with Circle K
- Friends, Scholarship
- Circle K, College Kiwanis Program

- Chicken Dishes, Omelette Feed
- Head Start
- Rainbow World
- Haven House
- 4-H and Scouts

How do we fund all this? Three major fund raisers! First, our long-standing Pancake Feed. Second, Hot Chocolate sales and Third, the tabloid, which you are reading. From time to time we have sponsored a circus, medicine show and volleyball tournament.

100 percent of all monies raised by the Wayne Kiwanis Club are distributed by the club back into the community to support youth and community projects.

Every Kiwanian is proud of the part they play in supporting the future leaders of our city, state and country. The public support that has helped us achieve these goals is greatly appreciated by every member. Thank you!

Officers for the Wayne Lions Club for 1994-95 are Tom Cook, 375-3714, president; Russ Rasmussen, 375-3197, immediate past president; Jack Imdieke, 375-3714, first vice president; Fred Webber, 375-1781, secretary; Hilbert Johs, 375-3369, treasurer; Charles Maier, 375-3549, Lion Tamer.

Monthly social meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month at the Wayne Vet's Club at 7 p.m. Contact any of the Lions listed above for information about Lionism.

BACKGROUND

The Wayne Lions Club, one of 42,000 clubs worldwide, was chartered in 1961; and for over three decades the club has been an active, high-profile organization in the community and the region.

Lionism was started in Chicago in 1917 by Melvin Jones, a young insurance agent who envisioned a new type of service club dedicated to helping others without regard to politics, religion, race or personal interests. The growth of Lionism was phenomenal, not just in the United States but around the world. Today, Lions Club International ranks as the largest global service organization and boasts some 1.4 million members serving in 178 nations and geographic areas.

SERVICE

"We Serve" is the motto of the Lions, and the 30 dedicated members of the Wayne Lions Club support numerous service projects at the local, state, national and international levels. A partial listing of activities follows:

•Major Sight and Hearing Conservation Commitments

1. Purchase of eyeglasses and hearing aids for local residents.
2. Cooperation with the Nebraska Optometric Association to screen regional applicants for free eyeglasses.
3. Sponsorship of the Lions mobile screening unit van: Wayne County Fair, Aug. 4-6, 1994 (about 100 people screened); Wayne Chautauqua, July 20-21, 1992 (87 people screened); Wayne Chicken Show, July 13, 1991 (193 people screened, the third largest one-day total in the unit's history).

4. Support of the Lions Eye Bank in Omaha, a special facility prepared to receive eyes donated for corneal transplants and research purposes.

5. Contributions to the National Leader Dog School.

6. Donations to Campaign Sight-First, the largest and most successful fundraising initiative in Lions history. CSF substantially surpassed its goal of $130 million in April, two months before the official close of the campaign on June 30, 1994.

7. Collection of used eyeglasses for distribution to the needy.

•Support and Sponsorship of Youth Activities

1. Punt, Pass and Kick Competition in October (60-70 participants)
2. Lions Track Meet in May (350-450 participants)

Talent Contest Winners

Ying Wang and Emily Kinney in the Chicken Show Parade.

3. Talent Contest in April (15-35 participants)

4. Lions-Quest Program: Skills for Adolescence (grades 6-8), Skills for Growing (grades K-5)

5. FRIENDS (Facts Raise Interest Ending Needless Drugs)

Lion's Camping Park

Campers utilized the Lion's Park in record numbers during the summer of 1994.

Lion's Mobile Unit Testing Van

6. Eagle Scout Projects (several boys have earned Eagle awards working with the Lions)

•Cooperative Projects with Other Service Clubs

1. Recycling Effort - Lions worked Saturdays in August 1994 at the local recycling center.

2. MS 150 Bike Tour (Sept. 18-19, 1993). The Lions and other service clubs assisted the Midlands Sclerosis Society in providing meals, facilities and entertainment for the highly successful MS 150 fundraiser.

3. Support for the McGruff House Program.

•Public Service Efforts

1. Collection of toys and clothing for the Open Door Mission

2. Maintenance and operation of the Lions Club Camper Park located two miles east of Wayne at the airport (over 400 overnights during the summer of 1994, and 189 overnights during the summer of 1992). Campers at the Lions Park have left numerous notes of appreciation and praise for the quality of the facility in Wayne.

•Notable Achievements in 1993-94

1. The 100 Percent Club Award. For the ninth consecutive year, the Wayne Lions Club earned this coveted honor presented annually to highly productive, meritorious clubs.

2. Melvin Jones Fellowship. Hilbert Johs joined Clete Sharer and Fred Webber as the third Melvin Fred Webber was named the Outstanding Lion in District 38-B in 1991, and was selected as a Melvin Jones Fellow in 1993.

Jones Fellow in the Wayne Lions Club. Named for the founder of Lionism, the fellowship is the highest honor bestowed by the Lions Foundation. It is a recognition of a dedication to humanitarian service and the improvement of the quality of life for people locally and in communities around the globe.

3. The 100 Percent President Award. Russ Rasmussen, Wayne Lions Club President in 1993-94, was named as a recipient of this special award established to recognize club presidents who have exhibited solid commitment and leadership in promoting their local clubs in particular and Lionism in general.

4. State Talent Winners. In June 1994, two of the local talent contest winners, Emily Kinney (8 years and under) and Ying Wang (12 to 14 years) won the state talent contest in their respective age groups. Never before had two competitors sponsored by the same club gone on to win the district and state competition. The Wayne Lions Club is proud of these gifted youngsters, whose achievements underscore the high quality of talent in the Wayne community.
