

Blast heard in Wayne

An explosion at the Terra Farm Chemical Plant in Sergeant Bluff, Iowa shortly after 6 a.m., Tuesday was felt more than 70 miles away and knocked out power at the Nucor Steel plant in Norfolk for nearly an hour-and-a-half.

Nearly 2,000 people were evacuated from Dakota and Thurston counties as a result of that explosion because of a cloud of ammonia and chemical fumes that threatened to drift into Nebraska.

Wayne High School Principal Dr. Don Zeiss was called by the superintendent of Emerson's Public School on Tuesday morning and asked if the high school in Wayne could house some elementary students from Emerson if they were forced to evacuate.

"Emerson had apparently gotten a call from the Civil Defense Department and the possibility of an evacuation taking place in the town hinged upon that cloud of ammonia and dangerous chemical fumes," Zeiss said. "There was no hesitation on our part to help out if the need called for it."

The towns of Homer and Macy were evacuated early Tuesday but evacuations were called off around 1:30 p.m. The only areas still evacuated at press time was a four-mile radius around the plant.

The explosion shook the ground in the Wayne area. Four people are known dead following the explosion although Sioux City, Iowa hospital officials said most of the injured were able to walk away from the blast.

There were 18 people treated at hospitals with nine being sent home by mid-afternoon. The cause of the explosion is still under investigation but it was believed to have taken place in the maintenance part of the plant in Port Neal, about five miles from Sergeant Bluff.

Last performance

Michele Thies has been a member of the highly respected Wayne State College Madrigal Singers for five years and participated in her last staging of the Madrigal Dinner at Wayne State College over the weekend. It was also the last performance for Dr. Cornell Runestad, the long time director of the vocal group.

Winter ceremony provides diplomas to 183 graduates

Dr. Thelma Thomas, president of Nebraska Indian Community College, will be the commencement speaker during Wayne State College's winter commencement ceremonies at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 17 in Rice Auditorium. The public is invited.

Dr. Donald J. Mash, president of Wayne State, will present 168 bachelor's degrees, and 15 master's degrees.

Thomas received her bachelor of science degree from Morningside College, her master of arts degree from the University of South Dakota, and her honorary doctorate from Nebraska Indian Community College. Prior to her appointment at NICC, she served as program director and department chair of the Indian Studies Department at Morningside College where she implemented the study of Dakota language. Her community work includes co-founding the Native American Child Care Center and serving on various boards, including the Sioux City Human Rights Commission, the Iowa Indian Advisory Committee for the Governor, the Sioux City Leadership Board, the Red Feather Family Service Board and on the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, Iowa Committee.

Her numerous awards include the Sioux City Leadership Certificate, Siouland Woman of Excellence Award, Certificate of Special Achievement from the Santze Sioux Tribe of Nebraska, Siouland Human Rights Award and the Outstanding Woman of Color Award. Also addressing the commencement audience will be honor gradu-

Man pleads innocence

A Concord man who is accused of kidnapping his ex-girlfriend, shooting her three times and leaving her for dead in a rural area, pleaded innocent to all charges in court Monday.

Brian Anderson, 22, was arraigned in Dixon County Court in Ponca on charges of kidnapping, false imprisonment, use of a firearm to commit a felony and attempted first-degree murder.

Prosecutors said he abducted Laura Kucera, 19, of Wakefield, from the home of her friend. Court documents claim he shot her twice in the head and once in the right shoulder and that he left her for dead in a ditch in a remote wooded area about three miles north of Macy in Thurston County.

Macy is about 30 miles southeast

State aid list shows drop here

When 1994 state aid money was released in July, many school administrators who had already crafted budgets were scrambling to find ways to replace unexpected losses in state funding.

In Wayne the school budget was clobbered by an unexpected loss of $106,000 in state aid.

A state aid consultant says the Department of Education is trying to take the guessing game out of the process of setting school budgets. Preliminary state aid estimates were mailed to school districts across Nebraska last week and having the news early will help in the process of preparing an accurate budget for next year according to Wayne school superintendent Dr. Dennis Jensen.

He said he just wishes the news were better.

Jensen was told to expect $120,000 less in state aid next year. That makes over a quarter of a million dollars less in state aid in the last two years, said Jensen.

"At least we have time to plan for the reduction," explained Jensen. He said last year's reduction left the district little time to work on revisions before the final budget was due in Lincoln.

Other administrators found themselves with tens of thousands of dollars more than they had expected.

That's why officials released estimates before the official July release date. A list of updated estimates will be sent in late February or early March, state education consultant Pam Roth said Monday.

"These figures are very preliminary and could change dramatically in some cases," Roth said. "But we wanted to release these in response to the timing problems this year."

When preparing annual budgets, school administrators generally relied on past allocations and trends in determining their state aid for the year. But changes in the state aid formula brought about by LB1059 have over the last few years vastly shifted funding to many districts.

"We're hoping that these preliminary estimates will help people to plan," Roth said.

Don Osborn, superintendent at the Red Cloud and Guide Rock public schools, said the estimates will help.

"Before this we were just completely in the dark," he said. "State aid really could vary anywhere from 50 percent to 200 percent more or less. It was difficult to tell."

Osborn said the clearer state aid picture also will help with staffing decisions, which generally need to be made in March of every year.

Barry Ballou, business manager for the Hastings Public Schools, said he is not putting much weight in the early estimates. More specific data

At each election held in Wayne county, 140 people serve on the election boards at the various precincts. Many of these people have served on election boards for 20 years or more.

Among those workers are several who answered questions asked by the Herald

NEIL SANDAHL has been on the receiving board for Hunter Precinct for more than 30 years, taking over for his mother when she decided to give up the job. "I love meeting and talking with people. Hunter Precinct is one of the larger rural precincts. We have approximately 230 registered voters. In a good election, we have between 100-120 people vote," said Sandahl.

Voting procedures have not changed much during the time Sandahl has worked. "When I first started working, we voted at a rural school house. Now that it has closed, we vote at the National Guard Armory in Wayne. The only other difference is that now we have a computer printout of the registered voters instead of the Black Book that makes looking up names much faster," said Sandahl.

The Hunter precinct has five persons on the receiving board and four persons on the counting board. Sandahl, as part of the receiving board, is responsible for setting up the election site the day before the election. He is usually at the Wayne area residents have until tomorrow to call the Chamber of Commerce to nominate their own or their neighbor's home for judging in the annual Home Outdoor Lighting and Decorating Contest in Wayne.

"We have so many beautifully decorated homes in Wayne we would like to see all of them considered for community recognition," said John Farnan, chamber executive.

Those who have outdoor displays will be eligible for prize money of $50 for first, $30 for second and $20 for third.

Judging will take place between Dec. 15 and 17 and the winners will be announced in the Dec. 20 issue of the Wayne Herald.

School election turnout is steady

No one was making any predictions Tuesday on the outcome of the $7.9 million school bond election as voters went to the polls but Wayne County Clerk Deb Finn said she expected an early answer this evening as a steady voter turnout was being reported at most precincts.

Mrs. Finn said the early reports from individual precincts indicate that the turnout might be higher than it was in the November General election.

With only one issue on the ballot, the count should not take long, she said.

Only 67 absentee ballots have been cast in the special election, compared to 130 which were cast during the general election last month. There are still nine absentee ballots due to come in, according to the clerk's office.

Polls will close at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Finn said she was getting no reading from visits to the polling places as to the outcome but a high turnout has traditionally indicated more negative votes on bond issues.

She said the turnout in the second ward in Wayne, where many bond issue opponents had feared a block of college student voters might push the bond issue over the top, was extremely light.

If approved, by a simple majority of the voters, the bond issue would fund an 81,000 square foot addition to the Wayne High School building. Part of the addition would house the Wayne Middle School to replace the 1908 building currently used for a middle school.

Some rural residents have voiced opposition to the measure, citing the high cost borne by taxpayers. The bond issue would raise School District 17 tax levies by 39.9 cents and affiliated district levies by 12.3 cents.

Wayne Middle School students made a televised plea for votes for a new school building when a Sioux City television reporter showed up last week for the Wayne Area Chamber Coffee which was held at the Middle School. The students told television viewers about noisy furnace pipes that interrupt classes, leaky rooms, and bats in the attic.

College building finished

Construction has been completed on Wayne State College's Daniel W. and Jeanne M. Gardner Business Building, the college's new structure that will house its Division of Business.

Although the building will not be fully operational until January, students are currently using the second-floor computer labs while the finishing touches are being applied to the first floor.

The $4 million project is the first new academic building constructed on campus in more than 20 years.

The 41,000 square foot building contains lecture halls, classrooms, computer labs, offices and other support areas. It is located east of Benthack Hall and south of Bowen Hall. The building is named for Daniel and Jeanne Gardner of Wakefield for their longtime support of the college.

A dedication ceremony is scheduled for April.

Workers

polling site from 7 a.m. until nearly 9 p.m. on election day.

MADELYN KAI has worked elections in the Leslie Precinct for nearly 20 years. Leslie Precinct has approximately 80 registered voters and generally has a good turnout of voters for elections.

"Even though we generally work a 14 hour day on election, I enjoy being with the other workers. I serve as the messenger for our precinct. That means I go to the courthouse and pick up the materials for the election," said Kai.

Most of the voting procedures have remained the same during the time Kai has been involved with the election board. "We have had to make some changes because of the Americans with Disabilities Act because we vote in the basement of the District 25 school, but as far as actual voting, not much has changed. We probably have fewer people in our precinct now than we did when I first started," said Kai.

JOANN OWENS took her mother-in-law's place on the election board in Sherman Precinct more than 20 years ago. At that time, voting took place in Sholes. Since that time, several precincts have combined and now those in the Sherman Precinct vote with those in Deer Creek Precinct.

Owens serves on the counting board which is a group of six persons who actually count the ballots and tabulate the results of the election. "We go to work at 10 a.m. and then count the ballots about every hour. We are usually finished with our job by 8:45 p.m.," she said.

"Each year before the primary election, Mrs. Finn (Wayne County Clerk) calls all the workers in to the courthouse and tells us what to expect in the election. Each election board is made up of an equal number of Republicans and Democrats," said Owens.

"I have a nice group of people to work with. The day is not all work, we do have coffee and treats and get to visit at certain times, depending on how busy we are," Owens said.

ZITA JENKINS has served on the election board for Wayne's Fourth Ward for a number of years. The Fourth Ward is Wayne's largest, having 908 registered voters. Between 400-500 voters vote in each election.

Jenkins serves on the counting board in her ward. "We start counting as soon as we have had 25 voters come in to cast ballots. Sometimes when we are really busy, we are not finished with one group of 25 votes when another group is ready to be counted," she said.

"You need to be very careful so things get done according to the rules. It is important to keep things neat. Most of those on the board have learned from those who were experienced. We also did get some training from the courthouse," Jenkins said.

"We usually stayed at least an hour after the polls were closed to count totals, write down all the results and double check all the numbers to make sure that they matched," she said.

Arnold Marr has been one of the five members of the receiving board of Ward 4 for more than 10 years. At the present time three Republicans and two Democrats make up the five member board.

"Things have been pretty much the same except for the fact that we used to have to set up the night before and now the janitor at the auditorium sets up for us," said Marr.

"We have to get to the polls at least an hour before the election because each ballot must be initialized by two people before anyone comes in to vote. In the last election there were seven different ballots so it took some time," said Marr.

After the polls close at 8 p.m., those on the receiving board must count the unused ballots but are generally finished with their work within an hour.

"I really encourage the people to get out an vote. That is what this country is all about," Marr said.

Delores Johnson has worked elections in the village of Hoskins for nearly 30 years. "My father and grandfather were on the election board also. When Mrs. Winter, who was Postmaster at the time, decided to retire, she asked me if I would take her place and I have been on the board ever since," she said.

"This job is very rewarding for me. I get to see lots of people who I probably wouldn't get to otherwise," Johnson said.

"The job gets easier after you have done it for a while. I am the chairman of the Hoskins precinct and have had to replace several people on our board and so far I haven't had any trouble finding people who are willing to work," Johnson said.

"I get to know a lot of people from my job on the receiving board. Now I can put names to faces after these people have come in to vote," said Johnson.

Each precinct in Wayne county has a chairman who makes the selection as to who will serve on the election board. The names of volunteers are given to these chairmen who need to replace those who no longer wish to serve on the board.

Schools seek change in aid formula

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — School officials are clamoring for changes in the way the state distributes financial aid.

That could lead to changes in the 4-year-old school financing plan known as LB1059. The plan contains a formula to redistribute income and sales taxes to schools as a form of property-tax relief.

When the Legislature passed the measure in 1990, the goal was to provide up to 45 percent of each school district budget through state aid. The balance of the budget would come from locally levied property taxes.

Don Leuenberger, chairman of the state School Finance Review Committee, said Wednesday he expects a major debate in this year's session of the Legislature will be over the issue of tiers in the formula. School districts are grouped in tiers with aid distribution based on the average costs of similar-sized districts.

Some districts have proposed eliminating the tiers or replacing them with some other measure of educational costs.

The long-term problem for school funds is that local school budgets continue to grow faster than the tax base, Leuenberger said. Both tax increases and spending lids are temporary fixes for a problem that can be solved only "by changing the structure of the tax system," he said.

Aid

will have to be analyzed before a final aid total is released by the state, he said.

"For example, right now they don't have everybody's financial report from 1993-94 audited so they are making the assumption that it is accurate," Ballou said.

The state also does not have the final adjustments for property tax valuations or the final income tax data needed from the Department of Revenue, Ballou said. The February or March report should be much more accurate.

of Wakefield.

Anderson had dated Miss Kucera and had stalked her after their relationship ended, police and court records have indicated.

She disappeared six days after Anderson was released from jail on a 30-day sentence for violating a court protection order that he keep away from her.

Miss Kucera survived the ordeal and is recovering from her injuries, returning home from the hospital in time for Thanksgiving. Besides the gunshot wounds, she survived four rainy days and nights with temperatures in the 40s wearing only a cotton shirt, t-shirt and shorts. Doctors told the family they could not understand why her temperature dropped only to 95 degrees during the ordeal.

She was hospitalized for nearly two months and continues to receive physical therapy. The bullets remain in her body because doctors fear doing more damage in trying to remove them.

Anderson's trial has been set to begin March 27.

Director is honored

Georgia Janssen, director of the Wayne Senior Citizen Center, has been appointed by Nebraska Gov. Ben Nelson to serve on the White House Conference on Aging to be convened in Washington, D.C. in May.

Mrs. Janssen is one of ten delegates from Nebraska selected to attend the prestigious conference.

College curtain scorched Monday

A scorched curtain at Ley Theatre on the Wayne State College Campus drew the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department to the college Monday.

According to Andy Soll, Wayne State vice-president, the incident started when a stage light got too close to the stage curtain. There was little smoke or other damage as firemen and Wayne State crews quickly stopped the situation from becoming more serious.

The incident was reported at about 11:30 Monday.

Not all farm wives are lovers of cats

As you may have surmised, I'm not a cat lover. I mean, they're necessary on a farm to keep the mouse population down; but I do not join all the good folks in this country who consider a feline friend a member of their families. My sister is one of these.

We did not move any cats from the farm at Hoskins — we left the ones that were there to continue to live in the barn. There were a couple here when we arrived, but they were spooky and did not stick around.

Our neighbors across the road, Clark and Wanda McCabe, have a bunch of cats. Apparently, a black one got tired of fighting for his meals, and decided to move over here last winter. The Big Farmer petted him, bought him cat food, and generally encouraged him to stay.

Then, this summer, a grey cat started hanging around. By the time we realized she was in a family way, she had made herself at home. We suspect the black cat was responsible, but he disappeared before we could establish paternity.

In July, we were blessed with four kittens, three grey and one black. At first, Mama hid them in the garage. Eventually, she brought them near the front porch, and they charmed our guests. They are the gentlest, most playful kittens I have ever seen. One unties shoe strings. Mary calls them Eenie, Meenie, Miny and Mo, since we can only tell Mo from the rest. She also sneaks them canned cat food. I have seen them catch a mouse or two, so I've told them they can stay.

About the time they needed to be weaned, the mother disappeared. We don't know if she joined the father in roaming, or if the coyotes got her. Now we had four half-grown cats who were eating a lot. They do like leftover breakfast casseroles, so that helps.

Finally, a nurse here for a board meeting took one home. We would be happy to give at least one more away. We are attached to them, but not to the point of a woman I overheard in an antique store the other day. She said she had to have her cat put to sleep, and the way her husband always complained about the cat, she should have had him put to sleep!

Anyway, just to show you how special these kittens are, Dr. Rademacher, our vet in Winside, made a house call here (130 miles) to give them their shots. That's special!

This is what my employees had to say when I told them if it snowed 3 inches or more on New Year's Eve, I was giving our customers their money back.

Medicare does not cover all health care costs, so insurance companies sell supplemental policies that help pay deductibles and co-payments. A "Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare" has been published by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Some tips: don't buy a new policy unless it provides better benefits or lower costs. Beware of pressure to sign "now." By law you can return a policy within 30 days of receiving it and get a refund of any premiums paid.

A week after finishing high school in 1960, Nick Corciani was hired by a major New York bank. He took evening classes and rose to assistant vice-president at good pay in 1976. Then things changed: stressful meetings every weekend, everyone competing with each other. He quit and tried running a shirt-factory. It failed. In 1980 a city agency called in response to an old application. Now he loves his job as an assistant road repairman. At 52 the oldest in his crew, he runs a jackhammer or shovels broken concrete. "The best thing is the guys," he says. "We're like a sports team," together on and off the job. "I can't wait to go to work...never felt that way at the bank."

Door slightly open

Just as the 1995 Christmas shopping season officially begins on December 26, 1994, the 1996 Presidential race has begun. It rises from the humming sound of the Republican Mandate. It is heralded in a discontent chorus by United States Senators Phil Gramm, Bob Dole and Arlen Specter, as they test the proverbial political waters.

But the fiercest fighting is always within a family, a point driven home subtly but truly by Senator Robert Kerry in an interview on NBC's "Meet the Press" last Sunday. The show's moderator Tim Russert reminded Kerry of his post-election remarks in which Kerry referred to the Republican landslide as a "sharp repudiation of President Clinton."

Kerry denied any immediate aspirations for the Presidency but tempered his remarks with a seemingly harmless caveat, "If he (Clinton) chose not to run, I haven't closed the door, but certainly it's a very small crack in the door."

The suggestion, by a leading Democratic Senator, that the President might decide not to run for re-election, is paramount to suggesting that the President should not run for re-election, or perhaps, to put it more succinctly, "Get out of the way Bubba!". A thought, no doubt on the minds of many stalwart Democrats, but shocking to the ears so soon after the pummeling they endured last month at the polls.

And so, although you may be assured a respite from the Lion King and the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers until next Labor Day, don't be so quick to put away the scoop shovel.

After all, there are just 696 slinging days till the next election.

Wassail to Wayne's Professor Runestad

Cornell Runestad has given much to music lovers during his 25 years as professor of music and choral director at Wayne State College. How fitting that the Nebraskan's final performance as conductor of his college's concert choir will take place in Carnegie Hall.

The May 13 performance in New York City will also mark the end of Runestad's 40-year career at the conductor's podium. The event will be unusual in that the Nebraska group will appear by itself on stage for a 60-minute concert before being joined by four other college choirs for a performance commemorating the 50th anniversary of the United Nations.

Runestad said he considers the invitation to perform at Carnegie to be a high honor.

Runestad is currently directing another Wayne State musical group, the Madrigal Singers, in a series of holiday concerts around the state. He founded the madrigal group in 1970. The events offer audiences an imaginary trip back to the days of Elizabethan England, recreating Christmas customs of the times and featuring traditional English and Latin carols.

His music groups have received many honors. Runestad credits the students. But he deserves a good share of the praise. Indeed, from all who have enjoyed the music of his concert choir and madrigal singers, Cornell Runestad deserves a standing ovation.

Business group seeks 'son of LB775'

By Melvin Paul

LINCOLN — I can still remember the panic in Omaha in the middle 1980s.

Internorth, the big natural gas company, was moving to Houston and changing its name to Enron.

ConAgra's Mike Harper was making big noise about moving his frozen food conglomerate out of the River City.

And rumors were rampant that Union Pacific was packing up and barging down the Missouri River to St. Louis.

Omaha leaders were frantic. Their town was losing its corporate headquarters. It's sort of like a city losing its major league teams and joining the minors.

Plus, hundreds of jobs were involved.

It was in that atmosphere of woe that former Gov. Kay Orr and the Nebraska Legislature passed Legislative Bill 775 in 1987.

The business incentive package was Nebraska's answer to the competition. It rewarded companies who created at least 30 new jobs and invested at least $3 million for expanding or moving to Nebraska. States across the country were sweetening their pots to attract new business and Nebraska needed to respond.

LB 775 became one of the most controversial bills ever passed in the Legislature, joining LB 1059 and Initiative 300 as the most recognizable proposals adopted in recent years.

Now, the same people who pushed LB 775 are saying the state needs to again up the ante in attracting businesses.

The Greater Omaha Chamber of Commerce recently unveiled some ideas for a new business incentive plan: Let's call it the Son of LB 775.

Basically, the chamber is calling for a 20-percent reduction in state income taxes, phased in over 10 years, expanding the tax benefits of LB 775 to smaller companies and increasing the bonuses for huge, BMW-like firms that come to Nebraska.

The Omaha Chamber also wants personal property tax on new business and farm equipment cut by 20 percent and state and local government to reorganize and become more efficient. Worker recruitment and training programs should be beefed up, too, the Chamber said.

The idea is this: in 1987, LB 775 was great but now other states have passed Nebraska by in providing incentives to businesses.

Twenty-two other states have reduced income taxes in recent years. Nebraska's is among the highest in the region, the Chamber said.

State senators interviewed by The Omaha World-Herald seemed to be receptive to looking at new business incentives.

However, they were a bit cool to the idea of cutting income taxes. It would amount to $50 million less in state revenue over the next two years, which on top of a $45 million budget shortfall adds up to a good chunk of cash.

Money, or the lack of it, will talk loudly in the 1995 session, particularly in the era of Ben Nelson, a governor who opposes tax increases.

But Nelson himself is planning some business incentives, most likely aimed at improving the image of the state and attracting new workers to solve a statewide labor shortage.

Don't count out the Chamber, though. Annually, the state's business community has been among the winners when it comes to passing laws in Lincoln.

And, just like in 1987, there seems to be some momentum for giving more incentives.

The Cornhusker state, after all, just barely lost out in the recruiting wars for the American plants for German automaking giants BMW and Mercedes-Benz.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Being a giver is a great pursuit, and it's easy handclasp through the mails, little clippings and poems about things that make life. When the hometown paper is on my desk I scan its pages to see if any of my old friends are mentioned. Maybe Mrs. Smith, my first school teacher, has now passed her 88th birthday. I congratulate her. Often I remember some lonely soul who made my boyhood days happier, and a letter goes to that one. When Joe Brown was elected to the legislature he received one of my letters. The last paper told of the death of elderly Mr. Trussell, a postman. I am glad I wrote him a jolly letter before his death, telling him he would hopefully be all right again, and to come and see me. Of course it takes a bit of time, but it's my hobby. It starts my days off and brings me much happiness."

Everyone pursues happiness. Happiness is not "where" you are, but "what" you are. Happiness is the result of satisfaction.

Fools dream of finding happiness in possessions. Never was true. Never will be. It isn't what you own, as some sage said, but what owns you. Being a Giver is a great pursuit. If you've tried it, you liked it.

Chances are you've got more "stuff" than you need, and probably fuss constantly due to the work of trying to take care of, manage, dust, move, or clean it. This can also be true of emotions. Loosen up today and give someone your best "Well hi!". Frame it with your best smile!

Presto! You're a Giver!

A Giver celebrates year around, not just at Christmas. Givers do not need an imposing granite shaft over their grave because they will, instead, have the only genuine monument available: the tribute of loving friends.

Mailed your Christmas cards?

What's next? Body chainsaw art?

Okay, I think I have officially heard everything.

The latest lack of logic to come out of America's Sodom, (San Francisco) is the new "art" of body branding.

They call it "slash and burn." People are paying money for one second's exposure to white-hot metal which creates a lasting scar.

I was shocked when I passed a "body piercing" parlor on a visit to Kansas City this fall. Body piercing is where you stick things like ear rings and Chrysler parts through various parts of the body that were not designed originally to have things sucking through them.

The purveyors of this popular new "art" claim there is precedent for body piercing. Women, and now men, have been piercing their ears for years. Seems to me ears are one thing, but noses, lips, nipples and other parts too horrible to mention seem a bit much.

So, where ear piercing leaves off, body piercing has taken up. And where tattooing leaves off, body branding is now the new rage for those wanting to make "a personal statement"—a personal statement about their sanity, no doubt.

"With tattooing you're getting something embedded in your skin. But with branding, it's bringing out something that's already there it's more natural," said Adam Huffman, who gets paid to pierce body parts at a New York shop and has twin suns branded on his forearms.

What about the pain, you ask. Well, this mental giant claims it's not bad with branding.

"It's actually kind of soothing," he said. Huffman, 22, said Venus Modern Body Arts, where he works, gets only one branding customer every month or two, usually men in their mid-20s. The real action, he said, is on the West Coast.

In San Francisco, most professional branding is done in two shops where perforating noses, lips and more private parts are still the principal business.

Three to six customers a week show up in search of a more permanent

- and more painful -- statement, said the owner of Nomad Body Piercing. He goes by the single name of Blake.

While most of the clientele are white and between 20 and 40, branding began in the 1930s and 1940s among black college fraternities, especially in the South, Blake said.

Scarring was used by African and American Indian tribes as a symbol of manhood and branding may have grown out of that tradition, Blake said. The options for Blake's customers are limited by the branding process. The scars tend to spread, making intricate, tattoo-like images impossible. Brandees have to settle for simpler designs.

"Usually they want a personalized kind of thing -- an astrological symbol or a shape that has significance to them personally, like a triangle, a star," Blake said.

The process is fairly simple. Blake uses a blowtorch to heat a piece of galvanized sheet metal held in a vise grip. Then the white-hot metal is applied to the skin -- usually flatter, fleshier parts of the body -- through a stencil. Each "strike" lasts only a second.

A simple brand can be finished in one 15-minute sitting and costs about $50. But Blake recently finished a three-year, 200-strike project on a woman friend that includes a pyramid with sun rays.

Each scar can take six weeks or more to heal. "I know it sounds sort of '70s, but I was trying to achieve a balance between the symbols on my body," said 27-year-old Heidi Yoder, who has a brand of an African sunburst on her lower back.

"I couldn't get in balance myself, so I thought the symbols could keep me more centered. I already had earth and water in the form of vines and mermaids in tattoos, and I wanted fire," she told the San Francisco Examiner.

"Most people who are getting pierced are kids from the suburbs they get really frightened," said Huffman. "The person who is going to get branded is going to be a lot more at peace with themselves."

At peace? I think not. Since when is a person at peace going to want to mutilate their body? For the kooks who want to "achieve a balance" with the symbols on their bodies I would propose the next un-natural progression from tattooing to body piercing to branding to...

What could be better? Body chainsaw art.

ates Jennifer Dianne Hartman of Hinton, Iowa, and Brandon Michael Vakiner of Snyder.

Hartman is graduating with a bachelor of science degree with a major in accounting and a minor in mathematics. She is the daughter of Monte and the late Dianne Hartman. At Wayne State, she has been active in Phi Beta Lambda, a business fraternity, and Kappa Mu Epsilon, a mathematics honor society. She was a peer tutor in Wayne State's Learning Center in the areas of mathematics, business communication and accounting. She also played on Wayne State's intercollegiate volleyball team. Hartman intends to work for the accounting firm of Deloitte & Touche in Omaha.

Vakiner is graduating with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice with a social science minor. He is the son of Clifford and Donna Vakiner. At Wayne State, he has been active as president of the Pile Hall Dorm Council, a member of the Criminal Justice Association, a representative with the Student Activities Board and as a College Ambassador. Vakiner intends to seek a career in law enforcement.

Graduating Summa cum Laude will be Jennifer Dianne Hartman, Hinton, Iowa; Kenneth John Loberg, Carroll; Matthew Douglas Pantoja, Gordon; Gail Lynn Carstens Schurman, Battle Creek; Nadine Rita Shortt Strivens, O'Neill; and Brandon Michael Vakiner, Snyder. They have attained cumulative grade point averages of 3.90 to 4.0.

Magna cum Laude graduates are Jason Matthew Baker, South Sioux City; Douglas Alan Glackin, Marcus, Iowa; Jill Marie Rasmussen Godfrey, Randolph; Dennis Dean Miller, Lyons; Kathy Jo Mostek, Beemer; Amy Jean Campbell Peters, LeMar, Iowa; Elizabeth Carol Schmidt, Blue Hill; and Tammy Jean Geiger Young, Wayne. They have achieved cumulative grade point averages of 3.80 to 3.89.

How to tell if your child has an ear infection

Since ear infections in small children are very common and the child may not be able to explain what exactly is wrong, here are some symptoms to watch for: The child may turn the T.V. up very loudly, or seem to not pay attention. The ear infection may affect the child's sleep, making him/her tired during the day. The child may also complain of snapping or cracking in the ears, they may also hear a whistle or "choo choo" in the ears or head. If any of these symptoms appear, contact your pharmacist or physician for more advice on ear infections.

Christopher Henschke, son of Tom and Alyce Henschke of Wakefield, celebrated his 12th birthday on Dec. 3. Evening guests were Chris Bargholz and Paul and Arlene Henschke of Wayne, Terry and Jodene Henschke, Kala, Ryan and Libby and Teresa Fischer and Jenna of Wakefield. His actual birthday was Dec. 6.

Niemans, was served. The theme "And the Angels Sang" was carried out by ceramic angel centerpieces, white candles, white lights and an angel decorated tree.

As the tables were cleared by the seventh grade girls, who had served the meal, Christmas carols were sung by the women.

Circle 1 was in charge of the Advent program entitled "In Joyful Expectancy." The program was in three parts: Part I was "Come Thou Long Expected Jesus," Part II "Prepare In Hope" and Part III "Proclaim a Joyful Welcome." Marge Johnson, Marian Christensen, Sylvia Olson and Ardath Utecht read Bible passages from the Old and New Testaments, a number of meditations and litany's all of which expressed the light of Christ as being the hope of Christmas life. A number of advent hymns were also sung by all. After "Joy to the World" was sung, offering was taken, followed by prayer.

Lynn Wilms sang a solo "Heirlooms," accompanied by Margaret Fischer on the piano.

Mae Greve read a poem, "What Is Christmas?"

Pastor Wilms installed the officers for the coming year.

The afternoon ended with a Christmas prayer lead by Mae Greve. The annual report was distributed to all members and guests present.

YOUTH INSTITUTE

More than 350 First Congressional District high school students and teachers were on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus in Lincoln on Nov. 21 for the 14th annual Youth Institute on Government Affairs, sponsored by Representative Doug Bereuter. Participating from Wakefield were Carly Salmon, Mary Torczon, Jamie Addink, Kent Thompson and Amy Hatig, along with instructor Gregg Cruickshank.

Juniors and seniors from over 60 high schools attended the one-day seminar where they discussed a variety of current national issues. The day began with an opening from Congressman Doug Bereuter. Stephen Janger, president and CEO from the Close-Up Foundation in Virginia, was the keynote speaker.

Wedding ceremony at Norfolk church

Staci Pickinpaugh, Norfolk, became the bride of Cory Jensen, also of Norfolk, during an Oct. 22 ceremony at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

The bride is the daughter of Junior and Vickie Macke of Creighton and the groom is the son of Dean and Kathy Jensen of Winside.

Peach altar flowers and pew bows with turquoise ribbon decorated the church for the afternoon double ring ceremony. It was conducted by the Rev. Thomas Schmidt.

Maria Sweigard was the vocalist and was accompanied by organist Karen Pufahl, both of Norfolk. Music numbers were "O Perfect Love", "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You".

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a white, full-length gown decorated with lace, sequins and pearls. It's heart-shaped back was enhanced with strands of pearls. She also wore a waist-length veil attached with a band of pearls.

She carried a bouquet of peach and turquoise roses and carnations, white, peach and turquoise ribbon and pearls.

Maid of honor was Jaime Beaudette, Creighton. Bridesmaids were Cathy Hult, Creighton; Holly Holdorf, Norfolk, and Sarah Painter, Hoskins. The attendants wore tea length turquoise dresses of prima satin.

Flower girl was Jordan Jensen, Norfolk. Candelighters were Kelly and Jodi Macke, Creighton.

Best man was Jason Maguire, Norfolk. Groomsmen were Dean Jensen, Colby Jensen and Kyle Frederick, all of Winside. Ushers were Nathan Stolp, Norfolk; Jaime Holdorf and Randy Holdorf, both of Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails. Attendants wore black tuxedos with tails and ushers were done out in black tuxedos.

A reception hosted by Sandy and Dave Stolp, Norfolk, and Joni and Randy Holdorf, Carroll, was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Norfolk following the ceremony. The reception was attended by 200. The couple's wedding cake was made by the groom's mother.

A wedding trip is planned at a later date. The couple is at home in Norfolk where the new Mrs. Jensen is employed at Little Kings and is a student at Northeast Community College. She is a 1992 graduate of Creighton High School.

The groom is employed at Walters Construction. He graduated from Winside High School in 1992 and is scheduled to graduate from Northeast Community College in 1995.

Stress and anxiety can cause medical problems

QUESTION: You stated on your television program once that the sexual revolution has resulted in a higher incidence of certain physical problems. Explain what you mean.

DR. DOBSON: I was discussing that observation with my guest, the late Dr. David Hernandez, an obstetrician and gynecologist from the University of Southern California School of Medicine.

He had noted an increase in the presence of the disorders which are known as "soft spots" for emotional pressures—gastrointestinal (digestive) disorders, migraine headaches, high blood pressure, colonitis and general fatigue.

Dr. Hernandez believed, and I agree, that these medical problems are more prevalent among those who struggle to overcome sexual mediocrity—those who are now under such intense pressure to "perform" in bed. The stress and anxiety that they feel over their orgasmic inadequacies actually affects their physical health adversely.

Incidentally, Dr. Hernandez commented further that many men and women engage in sexual intercourse for various illicit motives. He listed a few of those motives:

1. Sex is often permitted as a marital duty.
2. It is offered to repay or secure a favor.
3. It represents conquest or victory.
4. It stands as a substitute for verbal communication.
5. It is used to overcome feelings of inferiority (especially in men who seek proof of their masculinity.)
6. It is an enticement for emotional love (especially by women who use their bodies to obtain masculine attention.)
7. It is a defense against anxiety and tension.
8. It is provided or withheld in order to manipulate the partner.
9. It is engaged in for the purpose of bragging to others.

These "non-living" reasons for participating in the sex act rob it of meaning and reduce it to an empty and frustrating social game. Sexual intercourse in marriage should bring pleasure, of course, but it should also provide a method of communicating a very deep emotional commitment.

QUESTION: My 10-year-old can be very irresponsible. He hates to work and he has lost or broken everything of value he's ever been given. I've read many books about teaching children to be responsible and mature, and we're working on these objectives. My problem is that I lose patience with him too often. I yell at him and accuse him of being stupid and lazy. Then I feel terrible about my lack of control. Am I damaging his self-esteem by these outbursts?

DR. DOBSON: Children are usually very resilient and most of them can absorb occasional parental outbursts without sustaining permanent harm. In fact, your displeasure is part of the teaching process whereby a parent nudges his child in the direction of maturity.

However, if you realize you are over-reacting frequently or habitually, especially if it involves labeling him unfairly, you would do well to remember what someone has said about the way people perceive themselves:

We are not what we think we are...

We are not even what others think we are...

We are what we think others think we are.

There is a great truth to this statement. Each of us evaluate what we believe our associates are thinking about us, and then we often play the prescribed role. This explains why we wear a very different "face" with different groups.

A doctor may be an unsympathetic professional with his patients, being reserved and wise in their presence. They "see" him that way and he complies.

That evening, however, he is reunited with his former college friends who remember him as a postadolescent screwball. His personality may oscillate 180 degrees between afternoon and night, being totally unrecognizable if seen by an amazed patient. Similarly, most of us are what we think others think we are.

That being true, your child will conform to the image he thinks you hold of him.

If you call him lazy and stupid, his behavior will prove that assessment to be correct. Fortunately, the opposite is also true. So whenever possible, control your impulsive reactions and give him a high image to shoot for. Otherwise, he will stoop to match the one you are now communicating.

I know! I know! It sounds easy on paper, but it is tough to implement. I have trouble following this advice, too. But we can at least try to provide what our imperfect kids need from us imperfect parents.

Wayne Woman's Club holds Christmas party

The Wayne Woman's Club had their December meeting and annual Christmas party at the Black Knight on Friday, Dec. 9.

Ray Peterson entertained the 14 members and two guests who were present with Christmas music and other selections.

After the luncheon, a short meeting was held. Roll call was a favorite Christmas hymn. Orvella Blomenkamp, president, gave three readings. One was "The Little Lights of Christmas." These are called luminaries, made with brown paper bags filled with sand and candles. They originated in Spain and were passed on to Mexico, then to New Mexico. They are a favorite Christmas lawn and walk decorations of the Spanish people.

Leon Kluge reported that the Wayne Care Centre Christmas presents list is almost completed. Orvella concluded the program.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13 at the Womans Club rooms, which will feature a puppet show. Roll call will be a recycling hint. Hostesses will be Lillian Granquist, Florence Wagner and Blanche Backstrom.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13 at the Womans Club rooms, which will feature a puppet show. Roll call will be a recycling hint. Hostesses will be Lillian Granquist, Florence Wagner and Blanche Backstrom.

Haase-Cordes wed

Jeannie Marie Haase and Gregory Mark Cordes, both of Sioux City, were united in marriage Oct. 29 during a ceremony at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The bride is the daughter of Jon and Sherry Haase of Wayne and the groom is the son of Ronald and Marilyn Cordes of San Antonio, Texas.

Three candelabras decorated with ming fern, baby's breath and ivory bows decorated the altar area of the church for the late afternoon double ring ceremony. Brass pew candelabras with ivory, ivory tulle bows adorned with wine ribbons and pearls accented the aisle.

The Rev. Merle Mahnken officiated.

Eric Smith of Wayne was the vocalist for the service. He was accompanied by organist Coleen Jeffries also of Wayne. They performed "A Time For Joy", "The Wedding Song", "He Has Chosen You For Me" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She chose an ivory gown of imported lace and satin. It featured a sweetheart neckline and modest v-back. Hand beaded alencon lace highlighted the bodice and long, leg-o-mutton sleeves. A full satin skirt flowed from the Basque waistline. Beaded alencon lace edged the entire scalloped hemline including the cathedral train. Heavily beaded alencon motifs enhanced the skirt along with small satin and organza roses. A triple peplum finished the back waistline.

Mr. and Mrs. Cordes

The bride's veil was an elegant jewel encrusted pearl and floral lace ivory crown. It featured a cloud pouf, double fingertip veil and side floral sprays.

She carried a cascading bouquet of cala lilies, button mums, white stephanotis and ivy accented with pearls.

Maid of honor was Rachel Haase, sister of the bride, of Wayne. Bridesmaids were Suzy Lutt, Omaha, and Bethany Keidel, Mission, Kans.

The attendants wore floor-length, sheath-style dresses in wine shantung.

The bride's personal attendant was Janet Ruff, Wayne.

Flowergirl was Erin Magnuson, Wayne. Candle lighters were Ryan Haase, brother of the bride, Wayne, and Kimberly Cordes, sister of the groom, San Antonio, Texas.

Ring bearer was Adam Lutt, Wayne.

Mark Schiefelbein, Pittsburgh, Pa. was the best man. Groomsmen were Jeff Black, Wakefield and Doug Janssen, Wayne. Ushers were Ty Adams, Sioux City, and Troy Adams, Orchard, Neb.

The men wore black tuxedos with black cummerbunds and ivory shirts. A reception and wedding dance followed the ceremony. It was held at Riley's Convention Center and was hosted by Bret and Dian Taylor, Oklahoma City, and Dave and Terri Graverholt, Norfolk.

The couple is at home in Sioux City following a cruise to Cozumel, Mexico.

A 1988 graduate of Wayne High School and a 1993 graduate of Wayne State College, the bride is employed at Gateway 2000.

The groom is a 1989 graduate of Bellevue East High School and a 1993 graduate of Wayne State. He also is employed at Gateway 2000.

Laurel boys host Osmond, Tuesday Bears off to 3-0 start

Clayton Steele's Laurel boys basketball team improved to 3-0 over the weekend with home wins over Randolph on Friday and Winside on Saturday in a make-up game from last Tuesday's snow postponement.

The Bears defeated Randolph, 53-44 despite not playing particularly well. "We're just glad to get a win over a team like Randolph," Steele said. "They're a well coached team with good discipline. Lyle Nannen really does a good job."

Steele said his team still has only had about a dozen practices on the season which is one reason the flow isn't quite there yet. Laurel led the Cardinals by a 10-9 margin after the first quarter and 31-24 at the half. Both teams scored just eight, third quarter points with the Bears maintaining control throughout the fourth quarter despite the fact Randolph cut the lead to five on two different occasions.

Jared Reinoehl led the winners with 17 points while Jeremy Reinoehl tallied 14 including a towering two-handed slam dunk in the fourth quarter.

Rich Rasmussen was also in double figures with 10 points while Cody Carstensen scored six and Tyler Erwin, four. Travis Stingley rounded out the attack with two points.

Laurel had the upper hand on the boards, 27-17 led by Jared and Jeremy with seven and six caroms, respectively. The Bears did commit 20 turnovers while Randolph suffered only nine. Laurel was 13-17 from the free throw line while the visitors were 6-9.

In Saturday's game the Bears sprinted to a 40-14 lead at the half and never looked back en route to a 75-34 thumping of Winside. Ten different players scored for the winners led by Jeremy Reinoehl's 25-point performance.

Tyler Erwin poured in 16 and Jared Reinoehl netted nine while Cody Carstensen and Shane Stuster scored five each. Kyle Mackline and Travis Stingley each netted four while Vince Ward scored three. Ryan Kvols and Rich Rasmussen we've had success in, during all three of our games this season."

The Bears dominated Winside on the boards, 43-13 and Laurel nailed 15 of 19 free throw attempts while Winside was 4-15 from the charity stripe. The Bears will host Osmond on Tuesday before traveling to play Plainview, Friday.

"We had a good game on the defensive side of the ball," Steele said. "We recorded 23 steals. We also did a good job of connecting on our free throws, something

WSC men snap losing streak with 80-67 win

The Wayne State men's basketball team snapped a four-game losing streak with a 80-67 victory over Moorhead State, Saturday night in Rice Auditorium.

The host Wildcats improved to 3-4 on the season. They led the visitors by just one point at the half, 31-30 but out-scored them by a dozen in the second half, 49-37 for the 13-point victory.

The difference between the two teams came in the long range shooting category and free throw shooting. WSC connected on seven, 3-pointers while Moorhead made just two from bonus range and the host team was 23-31 from the charity stripe compared to 7-9 shooting by Moorhead State.

Mike Fitzner connected on four, 3-pointers to lead WSC and he led the Cats with 17 points while Billy Patterson tallied 13 and Kyle White, 12 including a pair of 3-pointers.

Dan Anderson scored nine points while Craig Philipp and Greg Ryan each netted eight. Omar Clark tossed in six and Terry Mailloux, four while Curt Woodin rounded out the attack with three.

The host team did an outstanding job of taking care of the basketball with just five turnovers while Moorhead State had just eight turnovers.

Woodin led WSC with six assists and Patterson notched four while leading the Cats in steals with four. WSC hit on 37 percent of its field goal attempts, 25-68 while Moorhead State was 29-72 for 40 percent.

JEREMY REINOEHL stuffs the ball after stealing it at half court during the fourth quarter against Randolph.

JARED REINOEHL drives to the hoop during first half action of the Bears game with Randolph, Friday.

Wayne girls fall to Schuyler while boys drop home opener

The Wayne High girls and boys basketball teams were in action over the weekend at home as the Blue Devil girls hosted Schuyler on Friday while the boys hosted Columbus Lakeview, Saturday in the home opener.

Blue Devil girls coach Roger Reikofski was hoping his team would recover from a 31-point blowout loss to Battle Creek at home on Thursday and for the most part, Wayne did improve its play but it was Schuyler escaping with a 10-point win, 48-38.

The 2-2 Blue Devils struggled early against the Warriors, trailing by a 15-6 margin after the first quarter. The rest of the game was played pretty even with Wayne trimming the Schuyler lead to three on two different occasions in the second half but that's as close as they could get.

"We didn't do a very good job the first 10 minutes of the game on our defensive boards," Reikofski said. "Schuyler already had 10 offensive rebounds by then. I had to use a timeout with about six minutes left in the first half to discuss a few pinning details with our players."

Reikofski's short but to the point speech during that timeout proved effective as Schuyler only managed five offensive rebounds the rest of the game.

"That shows us we can to some extent, control our defensive boards which we must do to avoid allowing teams easy buckets," Reikofski said. The Wayne coach said he was pleased with the way his girls stayed competitive despite trailing by 11 points early in the game.

Jenny Thompson poured in a game-high 19 points to lead Wayne while Katie Lutt tossed in 10. Carrie Fink sank three free throws while Erica Stoltenberg, Katy Wilson and Anne Wiseman each scored two points to round out the scoring.

"J.T. (Thompson) really shot the ball well and the encouraging thing is she's getting most of her shots out of running the offense through good team execution," Reikofski said.

Wayne was out-rebounded, 30-28 with Lutt leading Wayne with eight caroms while Amy Ehrhardt notched five. The Blue Devils suffered 18 turnovers while forcing 12. Lutt also dished out a team high, four assists.

"Katie is really improving and beginning to show her talents," Reikofski said. "She is a good shooter and can also penetrate zone defenses well. She hit a couple reverse lay-ups that caught almost everyone off guard—even the officials."

Reikofski said Lutt really worked on that style lay-up over the summer and he's glad to see it paying off. Wayne will travel again this week with a game at West Point on Thursday and at Wisner-Pilger, Friday.

THE WAYNE boys did not end their home opener on a high note, dropping a 64-60 decision to Columbus Lakeview, Saturday night. "We had our chances down the stretch, we just didn't take advantage of them," Wayne coach Rocky Ruhl said. "Overall, I don't think we played as aggressive as we should have."

Wayne trailed the visitors by a 16-10 margin after the first quarter and 36-28 at the half. The host Blue Devils out-scored Lakeview, 32-28 in the second half but couldn't manage to come all the way back from the eight-point deficit.

Joe Lutt paced the Blue Devils attack with 18 points while sophomore Paul Blomenkamp came off the bench to pour in 15. Ryan Pick tallied 11 and Ryan Martin scored six while Andy Witkowski netted five but spent much of the game on the bench in foul trouble.

Jason Carr rounded out the scoring with two points. "I thought Joe and Paul really had nice games," Ruhl said. "Paul came off the bench and hit all six field goal attempts and was 3-4 from the foul line. He was also our leader in rebounds with nine."

In fact, Wayne out-rebounded the visitors, 28-25 with Pick and Martin hauling down five rebounds each to go with Blomenkamp's, nine. Wayne had just 11 turnovers in the game but it was three more than Lakeview and the Blue Devils were 17-23 from the free throw line—exactly the same as Columbus Lakeview.

Wayne will take its 1-1 record to Schuyler on Tuesday night before playing at Wisner-Pilger, Friday and at home against O'Neill, Saturday.

The Wayne reserve team lost a 63-45 decision to Lakeview which evened their record at 1-1. The Blue Devils were led in scoring by Nick Vanhorn with nine points.

Lady Bears down Winside and Ponca Laurel notches wins

The Laurel girls basketball team was very busy over the weekend with three games in four days. Rick Petri's squad went 2-1 in that stretch with a 50-33 win over Winside on Saturday and a 68-50 win over Ponca on Monday night in Ponca while suffering a 31-24 setback to Randolph, Friday in Laurel.

In Friday's game the Bears simply couldn't find the hoop as they shot just 18 percent from the field for the game, 9-51. "We did everything we had to do to win except shoot the ball," Petri said. "We out-rebounded them, we had less turnovers and we both hit the same number of free throws."

The Bears got 10 points from Becky Schroeder and seven from Alissa Krie while Cathy Mohr, Tracy Ankeny and Gina Monson tossed in two each. Natasha Kardell rounded out the scoring with a free throw.

Laurel held a 35-25 advantage on the boards with Schroeder hauling down 11 rebounds to lead the way while Ankeny had eight. Laurel had just 15 turnovers in the game while forcing 25. "We had our chances to win," Petri said. "We got the shots we wanted but we just didn't knock them down."

In Saturday's game with Winside the Bears offense got untracked by scoring 50 points while Winside slipped to 0-4 with the 50-33 setback. Laurel took a slim 13-11 lead into the second quarter where Winside suffered its worst quarter of the season, scoring just one point while the Bears scored a dozen and enjoyed a comfortable 25-12 lead at the intermission.

"The second quarter was the difference in the game," Winside coach Lisa Schroeder said. "We had 10 turnovers in the period alone and seven of those occurred in the first two minutes of the quarter."

Petri said he was pleased that his girls bounced back the night after a dismal shooting performance against Randolph. "We did shoot the ball better," Petri said. "We connected on 40 percent of our attempts."

Becky Schroeder proved to be unstoppable as the Bears sophomore post tallied 24 points while Tracy Ankeny netted nine and Dawn Wickett, seven. Heather Cunningham scored four and Natasha Kardell along with Cathy Mohr netted two each. Alissa Krie and Penny Stone each scored one.

Winside was led by Wendy Miller with 16 points while Melinda Mohr tossed in seven. Emily Deck, Jodi Miller, Kristi Oberle and Tammy Thies each scored two while Mindy Marotz and Ann Brugger tallied one each.

Laurel maintained a 45-42 advantage on the boards led by Schroeder's 12 caroms while Ankeny hauled down 10. Wendy Miller led Winside with 13 rebounds while Oberle notched six. Winside had 23 turnovers compared to 17 for the Bears.

MONDAY, LAUREL led Ponca by a slim 32-31 margin at the half but the Bears defense took a stand in the third quarter allowing the host team just five points while Laurel scored 17 to take a 13-point lead into the final stanza.

"It was a fast paced game early," Petri said. "Both teams pressed so there was a lot of quick action. The key for us was changing our defense at the half."

The Bears switched to a man-to-man defense which caused Ponca problems and by the time adjustments were made the Bears had the game well in hand.

Becky Schroeder led Laurel in scoring once again with 19 points while Dawn Wickett poured in 11 and Heather Cunningham, 10. Alissa Krie scored eight and Tracy Ankeny along with Cathy Mohr netted seven each while Natasha Kardell tallied three. Megan Adkins finished with two and Sarah Ehlers rounded out the attack with a free throw.

CATHY MOHR and a Randolph player wrestle over a loose ball in the fourth quarter of the Bears loss to the Cardinals.

The Bears edged Ponca on the boards, 28-27 with Schroeder hauling down seven to lead Laurel while Cunningham notched four boards. Laurel suffered 22 turnovers but forced 25 and the Bears were deadly from the free throw line, hitting 20 of 28 while Ponca was 8-15. Laurel will travel to play Plainview, Friday.

NATASHA KARDELL looks to score two points during Laurel's game with Randolph last Friday.

Wayne grapplers medal six of seven at West Point meet

The Wayne wrestling team managed a sixth place finish at the West Point Invitational, Saturday after scoring 76 points. David City Aquinas, virtually dominated the team title with 241 points while runner-up Fort Calhoun tallied 118. West Point Central Catholic placed third with 108 and West Point was fourth with 83.5 followed by O'Neill with 83, Wayne, Blair with 72 and Pierce with 17.

The Blue Devils had just seven grapplers in action as four others competed at the Stanton Varsity Invitational. Jeff Hamer and Dusty Jensen notched Wayne's highest finishes in West Point as each garnered runner-up efforts.

Hamer received a first round bye before winning by pin in the semifinals of the 215 pound weight class. The senior grappler suffered his first loss of the year in the finals to the defending state champion, Andy Christensen of Fort Calhoun who pinned Hamer in 3:29.

Jensen won his first round by pin and he won his semifinal match by pin before falling to David City Aquinas' Matt Arps by a 14-10 margin.

Brent Geiger placed third in the 172 pound division, winning his first round, 13-3 but falling in the second round, 12-6. Geiger came back to win by pin in the finals of the consolation before edging Joe Mueller of O'Neill for third place, 5-2.

Jody Campbell captured a fourth place medal for Wayne at 119 pounds. He lost his first round match by pin but came back to win a 10-3 decision in the first consolation round and he won by pin in the consolation finals before falling by pin to Shane Stone of Fort Calhoun in 4:52.

Jeremy Sturm placed fourth at 151 pounds, losing his first round match, 9-8 before winning by a 14-2 margin in the first consolation round. He won an 8-4 decision in the second consolation round but was edged, 6-5 by Matt Steffen of West Point Central Catholic for third place.

Ryan Brown was the sixth medal winner for Wayne with a fourth place effort in the 185 pound category. Brown won by pin in the first round but lost by pin in the second round. He won his next round by pin but lost, 8-5 to Chris Shipley of David City Aquinas in the match for third place.

Tyler Endicott wrestled at 126 pounds for Wayne but did not place. He lost his first round by a 9-2 margin but came back to pin his next opponent before bowing out of the tournament with a 10-4 setback.

"I felt we made progress as a team in this tournament," Wayne coach John Murtaugh said. "We do need to work on finishing a tournament stronger than we did, Saturday."

CORY ERXLBEN captured first place in his 151 pound category at the Stanton Invitational, winning his first round by a 12-7 margin before winning by pin in the semifinals. He won the finals match by pin over Adam Thompson of Elkhorn Valley in 1:28.

Jeremiah Rehwisch placed third at 172 pounds, winning his first match by pin before falling by technical fall in the semifinals. He won the consolation finals, 8-6 and he won by pin over Aaron Schmidt of Elkhorn Valley in 3:43 for third place.

Anders Lundsgaard wrestled at 126 pounds but did not place. He won his first match by pin but was pinned in the second round and pinned again the consolation finals.

Brian Campbell also wrestled in Stanton but did not place in the 160 pound weight class. Campbell won by pin in the first round but lost by pin in the second round and he lost, 7-5 in the consolation finals.

Wayne will host its own annual invitational on Saturday.

WSC falls to Morningside in Classic 'Cats suffer rare loss

WAYNE STATE'S Deb Kostreba gets fouled while going up for a shot during first half action of the 'Cats 25-point win over Concordia.

Allen girls lose to rated Emerson in overtime at Ponca

The Allen girls basketball team suffered three losses to Emerson-Hubbard last year by a combined total of five points. Saturday, the two met for the first time this season in the finals of the Ponca Tip-Off Classic and those that felt there is no way this year's games could end up closer than last year's trio of contests were in for a surprise.

"We didn't have any games that ended up going to overtime last year," Allen coach Lori Koester said. "This year in our first game with them, we went to overtime."

The unfortunate thing for Allen is they came up on the short end of the score once again after playing the Lady Pirates, this time falling by a 63-57 margin.

"We had our chances," Koester said. "We are not, however, about to bow our heads about losing a game like this against a team like Emerson-Hubbard. We played a very good, overall game. I think the major difference was our foul trouble. We took four girls into the overtime with four fouls each," Koester added.

Allen did have a two point lead with less than two minutes to go in regulation and they had possession of the ball. "We just had the ball taken away from us after a defensive rebound," Koester said. "We had a chance to win with the last shot and Abbey Schroeder got the ball to Tanya Plueger who got a good shot off but it drew iron."

The Eagles came from eight down at the half, 24-16, to send the game to overtime with the score tied at 53. "In the overtime we fell victim to Tanya Porter who scored nine of Emerson's 10 points," Koester said. "She is an outstanding player and she nailed us for 29 points."

Tanya did lead the Eagles in scoring with 23 points while Abbey Schroeder and Jaime Mitchell scored 10 each. Mindy Plueger added six and Debbie Plueger tossed in four more while Holly Blair and Sharyn Moran netted two apiece.

Allen dominated the boards, 49-31 led by Tanya Plueger's 24-carom performance. The Eagles committed 26 turnovers compared to 15 for Emerson and Allen was 7-16 from the foul line while the winners were 19-30. Allen will play host to Hartington on Tuesday and Newcastle, Friday.

THE ALLEN boys fell to 0-4 on the season with a pair of losses at the Ponca Tip-Off Classic, Friday and Saturday.

Doug Schack's squad lost a 78-42 decision to Ponca on Friday and they fell, 67-37 on Saturday against Homer. In Friday's game Michael Blohm led the Eagles with 18 points while Josh Snyder poured in 11 and Davis Miner, six. Brad Smith scored four while Craig Philbrick, Brett Sachau and Scott Williams rounded out the attack with one point each.

Ponca out-rebounded Allen by a 21-18 margin with Miner leading the Eagles with seven rebounds while Blohm had six. The Eagles suffered 32 turnovers in the game compared to 17 for Ponca and Allen was 13-20 from the free throw line while the winners were 3-6.

In Saturday's game the Eagles were led by Davis Miner with 11 points and Jeremy Kunn with 10 while Michael Blohm netted eight and Craig Philbrick, four. Josh Snyder and Brett Sachau each scored two points.

Blohm was the catalyst on the boards for Allen with 10 caroms while Philbrick had eight and the Eagles once again suffered a plethora of turnovers with 36 while Homer had 17.

"We've been struggling through the early part of this season," first-year coach Schack said. "We've only got 10 guys out for basketball this year which makes it tough in practice."

The annual Catbacker Classic women's basketball tournament was played Friday and Saturday in Rice Auditorium with Wayne State hosting three teams including Morningside, Doane and Northeast Missouri State.

WSC played Northeast Missouri State on Friday and Mike Barry's 'Cats posted an 85-65 win over the visitors. The 'Cats led by five at the half, 37-32 but blew the game open in the second half, out-scoring Northeast Missouri by 15, 48-33.

Kristy Twait led the winners with 16 points while Deb Kostreba poured in 13. Amy Brodersen and Susie Osborn each tallied 10 and Lori Zeimet scored nine while Deedra Haskins and Danyel Grammer netted five each.

Liz Reeg, Renee Belz and Mindy Jensen scored four apiece and Marla Stewart tallied three while Kara McLarty finished with two.

The 'Cats also won the battle of the boards, 58-55 with Osborn and Jensen each finishing in double digits with 11 and 10 caroms, respectively. WSC had 18 turnovers while forcing 21 and Brodersen led the 'Cats in assists with five while Stewart dished out four and Twait, three. Brodersen also recorded five steals while Kostreba notched four thefts.

Saturday, WSC played Morningside in a rematch from a game played in late November in Sioux City in which the Chiefs won. Things didn't change much for the 'Cats in this game as the Chiefs won a 74-71 decision, handing WSC its first home loss in nearly two years.

Morningside opened up a 45-37 lead at the half over the 'Cats and WSC managed to chip away at that margin in the second half before falling by three points.

Deb Kostreba poured in a game-high 22 points to lead WSC while Amy Brodersen poured in 13 and Mindy Jensen, 11. Kristy Twait finished with seven and Susie Osborn netted six while Lori Zeimet and Deedra Haskins netted four each. Liz Reeg and Marla Stewart each scored two points.

The Wildcats were dominated on the boards, 52-34. Jensen led WSC with seven rebounds and Brodersen along with Zeimet each had six caroms. Both teams had 14 turnovers and Brodersen dished out six assists to lead the 'Cats offense while Stewart had four. Jensen blocked five shots in the game.

Amy Brodersen and Deb Kostreba were each named to the Catbacker Classic All-Tournament Team. Brodersen notched 23 total points and 12 rebounds while dishing out 11 assists and Kostreba had 35 total points and 10 boards.

MONDAY, WSC hosted a solid NAIA Division II team in Concordia College of Seward. The visitors came in with an 8-1 record but WSC made sure they left with an 8-2 record as the 'Cats posted an 89-64 victory.

WSC took leads of as many as 21 points in the first half at 36-15 but Concordia clawed its way back to trail by 14 at the break, 48-34. The host team, however, didn't allow Concordia to threaten in the second half and they went on to win their fifth game of the season against four losses.

Mindy Jensen led the winners with 15 points while Kristy Twait and Deb Kostreba netted 14 each. Liz Reeg and Danyel Grammer scored nine each and Deedra Haskins tossed in eight while Marla Stewart and Amy Brodersen netted seven apiece. Susie Osborn and Renee Belz rounded out the attack with four and two points, respectively.

WSC out-rebounded Concordia by a 53-45 margin led by Jensen with 11 caroms and Haskins with nine. The 'Cats committed just nine turnovers while forcing 21 and Jensen blocked a career-high seven shots while Haskins blocked five. Stewart dished out a game-high six assists while Brodersen and Jensen had four each.

WSC will travel to play top rated Northern State of Aberdeen, S.D. on Saturday in the final game this year. Action in January begins on the seventh when the 'Cats play at Bemidji State. The next home game will be Jan. 11 against Winona State.

MINDY JENSEN goes up strong for two of her game-high 15 points as Wayne State drilled Concordia College, Monday night in Rice Auditorium.

Wayne, Nebraska
December 5, 1994

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, December 5, 1994, in the Courthouse meeting room. Roll call was answered by Chairman Beiermann, Members Nissen and Pospisil, and Clerk Finn.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on November 29, 1994.

The agenda was approved.

The minutes of the November 14, 1994, meeting were examined and approved.

County Assessor Joyce Reeg and County Clerk Debra Finn presented options in updating the county's mailing system. The purchase of a rebuilt mailing machine and electronic scale was discussed. Reeg and Finn were directed to determine how old the rebuilt equipment is prior to making any commitments.

Several members of the Northeast Nebraska Juvenile Services, Inc. Governing Board attended the meeting. Chairman Jim Huggenberger requested the Commissioners commit to constructing a second level on the basement of the building currently being rented from Wayne County. It was noted that this exit is mandatory for the Detention Center to stay in compliance with Jail Standards. Relocation of the Detention Center is projected to be at least two years in the future. An offer to cost share the expense of installing the exit was made by Huggenberger. It was requested that a motion stating intent be made prior to a Detention Center grant hearing scheduled for December 18, 1994. Motion by Nissen, seconded by Beiermann, stating Wayne County's intent to solicit bids for the installation of a second basement exit from the building, based on a cost share arrangement to be arrived at in the future. Roll call vote: Nissen - Aye, Beiermann - Aye, Pospisil - Abstain. No Nays.

Highway Superintendent Saunders reported that his resignation as clerk to the Wayne County Joint Planning and Zoning Commission had been accepted. Arnold Marr was appointed to fill the vacancy. Saunders also noted that the regulations would not be ready for the hearing tentatively scheduled for January 5, 1995.

The following officers' fee reports were examined and approved: None filed.

Northern Nebraska's Cataract Specialist

"I saw his sweet little face for the first time."

Marjorie Brozek had Cataracts.

She had No-Stitch Cataract Surgery.

"By the time I had the operation I could only tell night from day. I couldn't see. I couldn't read. I couldn't drive or do anything. I couldn't even see my own children's faces.

The worse part was I had a new great grandson and I had never seen his face until I had cataract surgery. When I took the patch off, I saw his sweet little face for the first time. It was a miracle.

I've always lived in Norfolk and I've had a lot of people tell me how great Dr. Feidler is. My son-in-law's mother had her surgery by Dr. Feidler and she was thrilled about it. No one really referred me, I just knew Dr. Feidler was a great doctor.

I think some people are afraid of cataract surgery, but I was excited about being able to see again. I like Dr. Feidler, he makes you feel so at ease. His staff has been so kind and helpful. They all make you feel right at home."

LADIES AID

St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid met Nov. 16 at the church for a potluck luncheon. Cards and the Christmas luncheon were discussed.

Officers elected for 1995 were Donna Stalling, president; Marge Rastede, vice president; Frances Kraemer, secretary; and Hildegard Thomas, treasurer.

St. Paul's Christmas luncheon will be hosted by the Ladies Aid on Dec. 22 at noon with members of St. Paul's invited to attend for fellowship.

leave it in the church basement by 9:30 a.m. on that morning. Those in charge of the project are Pat Janke, Erna Hoffman, Bev Dangberg and Arlene Allemann.

Quilts have been donated to the Community Outreach local needy families. More are still needed and will be given to them as well as to Project Hope for the Orphan Grain Train. Christmas gifts were given to Gary Phillips, Camp Luther and Bethesda Home.

Entertainment for the afternoon included a group of ladies singing Christmas songs and a skit "Gifts of Christmas." A contest to name the Christmas songs was won by Gloria Lessmann. The group then sang carols and the meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and "Silent Night."

The next meeting will be Jan. 4 for a 12:30 p.m. carry-in dinner.

BUSY BEES

Ten members of the Busy Bees Club met Dec. 6 for a noon carry-in Christmas dinner at the Helen Jones home. A gift exchange was held and election of officers. Elected were Ruby Ritze, president; Bonnie Wylie, vice president; and Helen Jones, secretary/treasurer. Secret pals were revealed and new ones drawn.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Jan. 18 with Ella Mae Cleveland.
