

Hog producers express fears at price rally

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP) -- Hundreds of farmers, including a Nebraska producer who criticized industry groups, rallied and compared notes to see what can be done to bring pork prices back to at least break-even levels.

"Last year I paid $20,100 in organization dues and checkoff fees and what do I get for it? Earlier this year it was $60 cattle that nearly bankrupted me and now it's $28 hogs and this could bankrupt me. I don't want to hear it anymore," said Willie Sellhorst, of Dodge, Neb., located about 35 miles northwest of Fremont.

Marv Reitema, a Sioux Center pork producer who organized the Rural Concerns Rally on Tuesday, said he viewed the rally as a beginning.

"I want these people to have something to hang their hat on. I want them to go home and say, 'It feels like something long-term is going on.' I think that happened today," he said.

The rally featured speakers from industry, government, academia and action groups who discussed low pork prices. Packers are now paying about $34 per hundredweight, which is more than the August low of $28 but short of the $40 or so needed to meet costs. The price was $50 per hundred pounds in April.

"Every hog I market, it's like I'm taping $25 or $30 on its back and saying, 'Have a good trip into town,'" said Todd Popken, a Plymouth County producer.

A central theme was the need for farmers and people in rural areas to speak with a more unified voice on agricultural policy.

"We aren't here talking about more regulation. We want the people who are at the head of (farm) organizations and government to do their jobs, to know and realize the concerns that we are facing," said Brad Schindel, a Merrill farmer. "We feel like somebody else should be here doing this."

The farmers circulated a petition demanding equal treatment of the red meat and poultry industries, and stepped up use of pork in the school lunch and emergency feeding programs.

Rep. Jim Meyer, R-Odebolt, said

Local farmers attend rally

Dozens of Northeast Nebraska hog producers attended the rally in Sioux City Wednesday and Rod Patent, extension agent, said the rally was productive in that it focused public attention on the issues.

He said there was a lot of emotion expressed at the meeting and that the emotion needs to be worked through to allow farmers to get down to the business of working together to be aggressive as a political force to win need changes.

Mike Brumm, hog specialist with the Northeast Research and Extension Center in Concord said he did not attend the meeting but has talked

The sounds of Christmas

Cheryl Kopperud's Wayne third grade music students performed a number of Christmas carols for an audience at the State National Bank & Trust Company, Tuesday morning. Approximately 60 kids were on hand to fill the air with the sounds of Christmas. The students were treated to Christmas cookies following their performance.

'Hizzonor the mayor' turns over his gavel

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Citizen involvement with the planning of projects to benefit the city and seeing numerous projects completed are two of the highlights of the recently completed term of former mayor Bob Carhart.

"I feel the city is currently on a good track and has good people who are looking forward and planning for the future of Wayne. I have been impressed with the 'can do' attitude and the number of people who have volunteered their time for the good of the city," said Carhart.

"ONE OF the greatest accomplishments of the past four years was the re-establishing of zoning regulations and the development of a comprehensive plan which created planning for the future, especially in the area of housing," said Carhart.

When Carhart became mayor four years ago the START committee had identified areas that needed attention, such as the need for child care and the need for a new Senior Citizen Center and Library. "The community will benefit for years to come from the work done by this group," said Carhart.

"It has been exciting to see these plans completed. I was able to witness the city embrace plans for the Senior Citizen Center and Library and see the community support these projects with the passage of a city sales tax."

"THE NEW highway and housing plans which will help private developers build new housing developments with affordable rent are two things that we can look forward to in the future," said Carhart.

Along with the positive aspects of being mayor, Carhart said being in a business such as his was a definite drawback. "As a developer of land and being mayor, there were some things that I did not do. To avoid a conflict of interest and to avoid the appearance of double dealing, I chose not to do some of the things I might have done during this time."

Bridge plans heard

Construction could begin as early as 1997 on a $17.1 million bridge across the Missouri River to connect Newcastle, Neb. and Vermillion, S.D. and completion would be within two years of the start of construction, those who attended a public hearing on the project were told this week.

The public hearing was attended by approximately 200 people and was held at the Newcastle Fire Hall.

The public was told there were no negative environmental impacts to preclude the construction of the bridge.

Survey and design work must still be completed and rights of way acquired for the approaches to the bridge before construction can commence. In addition, total federal appropriation for the bridge construction project is still approximately $2 million short of full funding, but officials have said the additional appropriations are expected before the project is ready for construction.

Nebraska and South Dakota roads departments will each bear ten percent of the cost of the project.

Records indicate residents of the area on both sides of the river began talking about a bridge link over 50 years ago and while project has been on and off the drawing boards in the intervening years, it has never proceeded this far.

In addition to the bridge, Nebraska Department of Roads is planning for an upgraded highway connection between the new bridge and U.S. Highway 83 near Norfolk. Rep. Doug Bereuter, who has been instrumental in winning federal funding for the project has recommended the new connector route to pass through or near Wayne.

Tim Bjornberg, roadway design engineer for Nebraska, and Jim Nelson, environmental engineer from South Dakota, attended the Tuesday hearing to explain the project, a recently completed environmental assessment and to ask for public input.

The Nebraska hearing was a repeat of a hearing held Monday at Vermillion.

Receives grant to present program

WAYNE COUNTY — The Wayne County Extension office has received a $3,500 grant to conduct trainings for people involved in business and organizations that want to improve their skills in working with people. The curriculum is designed to provide individualized instruction in a group setting. It will train you to recognize your strengths and build on them while at the same time, improve upon the things you find difficult when working with groups. The program is called Building Blocks.

Building Blocks provides training in communications, team building, group consensus, and group decision making skills. Trainings will be offered in Wayne and South Sioux City areas starting in mid-January. A third program will be scheduled according to demand. This program offers an excellent opportunity to learn and build upon your skills in working with people.

To receive more information contact the Wayne County Extension office at 402-375-3310.

Winter weather is due to change

December and January could prove warmer and wetter than usual over the High Plains due to an atypical upper-atmospheric weather pattern, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural meteorologist.

Al Dutcher, state climatologist, said weather for the next four to eight weeks will be dominated by El Nino, a Pacific Ocean weather pattern that occurs annually near Christmastime. El Nino is a "coupling event" that involves the transfer of energy from the western Pacific equatorial region to the eastern Pacific, and it can have a profound effect on weather by altering the flow of the jet stream.

The effects of this year's El Nino are somewhat unusual, because the jet stream appears to be developing a split flow, Dutcher said. One branch, or "jet," of the pattern has settled into place over northern Canada. The other jet is hovering over the southern United States.

If the split flow persists, residents of the Midwest can expect warmer temperatures and more precipitation than usual, Dutcher said. The northern jet will hold back cold Arctic air that usually invades the United States at this time of year. Residents can expect some relief from the bitter cold December and January temperatures of the past few years.

At the same time, the southern jet will be pumping moisture-laden air into the central United States from the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Ocean, Dutcher said. That moist air could cause heavier snowfall. Snowfall may not necessarily be more frequent, but when it does occur, accumulations are likely to be greater, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources climatologist explained.

The weather disturbances caused by El Nino normally do not last long — usually under three months. The 3-month outlook calls for slightly above-normal temperatures and normal precipitation, Dutcher said.

Historical moment

Wayne may get more officers in grant program

By Tom Mullen
Of the Herald

The City of Wayne may be getting three more full time police officers. The Wayne City Council gave the go ahead for a federal grant application at their meeting Tuesday night.

According to Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild, the grant will fund up to 75% of an officer's salary and benefits over a three year period, not to exceed $75,000 or $25,000 per officer, per year.

The grant is part of a new Community Oriented Police Services - Funding Accelerated for Small Towns or COPS - FAST program. "We applied for this grant last year but since then Congress and the President have appropriated more bucks for smaller communities, towns with populations of less than 50,000," said Fairchild.

Chief Fairchild told the Herald that the increase in officers is sorely needed. "We barely have enough people to cover shifts now and our workload keeps increasing," he said.

The grants will be awarded within the first three months of the new year and if successful, Wayne will have its additional officers sometime after the first of August according to Fairchild.

When asked what could be done about the high incidence of officer turnover, the Chief stated, "Young officers like more excitement than Wayne has to offer and I really don't want that to happen. I don't think our turnover rate is higher than anywhere else in the state, it just looks that way because we have so few officers."

In other business, the Council voted to amend the city code by updating the Building, Electric and Plumbing codes. The Council voted to pass all three readings of the ordinance which will now take effect February 1, 1995.

to many in the area who did. He agreed with Patent that the session sounded like a place where farmers vented steam.

One of the best things that are making the local producers feel better though has been a turnaround in the market prices for hogs. This week selling for around $36, the prices have come up from the low last month of under $26.

Many farmers are still not able to break even at that $36 price, said Brumm. But many are and quiet a few efficient operators are even turning a profit at that price, he said.

Brumm said he hopes the price continues to climb and that traditionally the low hog price of the year hit the week after Thanksgiving.

He said he believes the changing market conditions may make it impractical for some farmers to produce hogs. But he added those who can adapt to the changes and continue to produce top quality hogs while holding down costs will be able to survive the current cycle and do well in the future.

Hogs

producers like himself must have a positive attitude.

"The biggest challenge we have is independent producers, like myself, getting discouraged and not having an optimistic attitude about the future," he said.

Though agriculture is going through a downturn, the recently passed General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade will be good for Iowa farmers in the long term, said Meyer.

Another idea explored at the meeting was the formation of marketing groups similar to those operated by the National Farmers Organization.

"These people have no idea how much power they possess by working together," said Reitema.

Band director is honored

Brad Weber, band director at Wayne High School and as a member of the executive board of the Nebraska Music Educators Association (NMEA), helped organize the group's recent annual meeting.

Weber chaired the association's band affairs committee.

He was given special recognition at the meeting, held in Scottsbluff, as a retiring board member.

Christmas potluck luncheon is held for ELCA groups

St. Paul's and Redeemer Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America met jointly for a Christmas potluck luncheon at noon on Wednesday, Dec. 14. More than 60 participants were in attendance, including Pastors Mike Girlinghouse, Frank Rothfuss and Jack Williams. Service Group One from St. Paul's was in charge of preparations and serving.

St. Paul's President Dorothy Aurich opened with a welcome and devotions and Pastor Rothfuss offered a prayer before the meal.

After the luncheon, Pastor Rothfuss installed the 1995 officers of the Women of the ELCA. They are Phyllis Rahn, president; Dorothy Aurich, vice president; Madge Bruflat, secretary; and Viola Meyer, treasurer.

Frieda Jorgensen (Redeemer) gave the visitation report, and Madge Bruflat (St. Paul's) gave the Christian Action report for Joy Getman.

New yearbooks were handed out, and Dorothy Aurich explained the program schedule. Further inserts will be distributed later.

Committee and group updates were given by Viola Meyer, treasurer; Marilyn Carhart, "Lutheran Women Today"; DeAnn Behlers, service groups; Olga Nissen, prayer chain; and Rodella Wacker, sewing.

Clewa Willers, Northeast District Board, reported on the upcoming leadership model workshop, "Embracing Self and Others," to be held Jan. 21 in Grand Island. She may be contacted for registration forms.

Monetary gifts were presented to Pastors Girlinghouse, Rothfuss and Williams.

Redeemer Women were in charge of the program entitled "Joyful Expectancy," led by Phyllis Rahn, Viola Meyer, Margaret Anderson, Frieda Jorgensen and Elaine Menke. Several others assisted.

Following the program, St. Paul's women took trays of cookies to shut-ins.

Next month, Our Savior Women of the ELCA Program Circles will meet Jan. 11 at 9:15 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. All are encouraged to become involved with a circle.

Juvenile Center to get state grant go-ahead

The Northeast Nebraska Juvenile Detention Center received some good news this week with an agreement by the Nebraska Crime Commission to release grant funding to help pay personnel.

The state agency had held up $16,250 in previously approved grant funds and had rejected a $32,500 grant request for this year in a flap over management of the center in Wayne.

The commission had objected to conditions at the Wayne center which it claimed created unsafe conditions for juveniles detained there. In July, judges in the Fifth Judicial District temporarily stopped sending juveniles to the facility citing concerns surrounding their safety.

Members of the detention center board in a meeting last month to consider possible closing of the facility had complained that the issues cited by the commission and judges were old issues that had been previously dealt with.

Citing the importance of the center and the need to keep it open and functioning to provide services to Northeast Nebraska Counties, the members of the crime commission agreed to keep the state funds flowing after a meeting last Friday with representatives of the center board of directors.

"Both groups want to see it succeed and work more closely together in the future to make sure that happens," Allen Curtis, director of the Crime Commission was quoted as saying after that meeting.

The JDC board has apparently agreed to several conditions attached to the grant funding. Among those was the drafting of specific policy and procedures manual for center personnel and the completion of a basement fire escape route from the center building.

Chris Connolly, attorney for the JDC board and its designated spokesman, told the Norfolk Daily News that the policy manual was two-thirds written.

In addition, the JDC board won tentative approval last month for the Wayne County Commissioners to share in the cost of constructing a fire escape that will be coded. The project is expected to cost approximately $10,000.

The juvenile detention center is housed in the former Wayne County Jail. The building is owned by Wayne County and is leased to the corporation that formed to administer the JDC. The corporation is made up of representatives from each of the participating counties.

Plans to build a new facility designed specifically for juvenile detention have been delayed by the funding and administrative problems Connolly said last month.

Helping the needy

Dr. Donald Koeber, a Wayne optometrist, will be participating in the Nebraska Optometric Association's program to provide free eye examinations to low-income workers and their families in January.

Part of the nationwide program called Vision USA, the effort is being sponsored in Nebraska by over 90 members of the Nebraska Optometric Association who are donating their services to help families in need.

Applicants can be screened for eligibility from Jan. 3 to 31 by calling 1-800-766-4466. Phone lines will be open weekdays from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. People can also apply by mail. Application forms are available from VISION USA, 243 N. Lindbergh Blvd., St. Louis, MO 63141. Completed forms must be postmarked by Jan. 25.

To qualify for the free eye care, persons must have a job or live in a household where there is one working member; have no health insurance of any kind; have income below an established level based on household size; and have had no eye examination within 2 years.

The comprehensive eye exams will be given in optometrists' offices in March, coinciding with the celebration of Save Your Vision Week, March 5-11.

Based on the results of the first four years of the VISION USA program, it is obvious that many people in low-income families are being held down because they can't see well enough to do their jobs or to learn in school. It is the Association's objective to continue to provide access to eye care for these people.

VISION USA was started in 1985 with a pilot program in Kentucky. It quickly spread to many other states and, in 1991, became a nationwide program. The 1995 nationwide project is being supported in part by a grant from Vistakon, a division of Johnson & Johnson Vision Products, Inc.

At a recent meeting of the Wayne Lions Club, District Governor Bill Dunn of Bennington, Neb. presented awards to the Wayne Club for its high level of service and activity.

Dunn emphasized that the "Wayne Lions can take real pride in their 1993-94 achievements."

For the ninth consecutive year, the Wayne Lions earned the 100 Percent Club Award, a coveted honor presented annually to especially productive and meritorious clubs. The Wayne Lions showed an increase in membership, in sponsorship of public service efforts and in financial support of sight and hearing projects.

Hilbert Johs, club secretary, joined Cletus Sharer and Fred Webber as the third Melvin Jones Fellow in the local club. Named for the founder of Lions International, the fellowship is the highest honor bestowed by the Lions Foundation.

Russ Rasmussen, Wayne Lions Club President for 1993-94, was named as a recipient of the 100 Percent President Award. This special award recognizes those club presidents whose commitment and leadership have been outstanding in promoting their clubs in particular and Lions in general.

Lions Club District Governor Bill Dun presents Hilbert Johs with a plaque to honor him as a Melvin Jones Fellow.

Carhart found that people in Wayne were very generous, even when having complaints. "There are always those that think the city is not being fair. These complaints made us look back at what we had done and ask ourselves 'did we do the right thing?' The city has a very thorough re-examination process and there is nothing wrong with changing your mind if you find that the original decision was not the best one," he said.

CARHART said that being mayor is easy compared to being on the city council. "The mayor serves as a facilitator, presenting both sides of each issue. The council has to actually vote on the issues. I hope, that as mayor, I was able to promote free and open discussions between the council members on all issues."

"I will definitely miss the contact with people involved in the decision-making process and the action that takes place at the meetings. Hearing the information on the radio or reading it in the newspaper is not the same as being there," said Carhart.

"Being mayor was wonderful. It was a great learning experience and there is no substitute for experience. Because of it, I don't think I will be as quick to make judgements on issue, but to instead try to find out all the facts before making a decision," he said.

Christmas games and contests were led by Ardath Utecht with Virginia Leonard and Alice Heimann winning prizes. Ardath read a poem entitled "A Dieter's Christmas," also a poem on fire prevention during the holidays based on the poem, "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

The next meeting is Jan. 18 with Ruth Boeckenhauer, hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson joined guests Sunday afternoon honoring Ruby Prauner of Frazee, Minn. on her 80th birthday. It was held in the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Behmer of Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dowling, Garry and Angela of Houston, Texas came over the weekend for a 10 day visit in the Bob Hansen home and in the Kenneth Dowling home in Martinsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rhodes of Duluth, Ga. came Dec. 15 to visit Emil and Alice Muller over the Christmas holidays.

EMILY DECK gets the ball knocked away from her and tries to regain possession during the Wildcats 39-33 win over Walthill. Winside snapped a six-game losing streak dating back to the beginning of the season.

Winside girls earn first win of season

Lisa Schroeder's Winside girls basketball team notched their first win of the season, Tuesday night at home against Walthill, 39-33. The Wildcats, however, could not earn the sweep of the Bluejays as Bill Koolstra's boys team fell by a 67-60 margin.

The girls contest was plagued with turnovers as both teams combined for 50. Winside led, 5-3 after the first quarter and 15-12 at the half. The Wildcats took a 23-19 lead into the final stanza where the game was tied by the visitors on two different occasions.

"It's nice to finally get that first win," Schroeder said. "Despite the low score we got points from just about everyone." The Winside mentor said her squad played their best game of the season from a rebounding standpoint.

"We held them off the boards by blocking out well," Schroeder said. "That's something that's been costing us in previous games." Wendy Miller led the winners with 14 points while Kristi Oberle netted five. Mindi Marotz, Emily Deck, Stacy Bowers, Melinda Mohr and Tammy Thies had four points apiece. The Wildcats won the battle of the boards, 37-32 led by Miller's eight caroms while Oberle had six and Marotz, five. Winside suffered 24 turnovers but forced 26 and the host team was 5-8 from the foul line while Walthill was 5-10.

"I think what we need to learn to do better is converting turnovers into points," Schroeder said. "We also need to pick up the offensive a little bit." Winside will be idle until Jan. 6 when they play at Beemer.

THE BOYS team led 18-16 after the first quarter but were out-scored by 10 in the second stanza, 22-12 which was the difference in the game. The second half was won by Winside, 30-29.

"We gave up too many offensive rebounds," Koolstra said. "Our transition from offense to defense wasn't that good, either, especially in the second quarter."

Jeff Bruggeman paced Winside's scoring attack with 17 points while Jaimy Holdorf netted 10. Colby Jensen and Jay Shelton each notched nine points while Matt Jensen tallied five. Josh Behmer and Chad O'Connor each scored three while Greg Mundil and Brock Shelton finished with two each.

The Wildcats were dominated on the boards, 47-34 despite a 10-carom performance by Jay Shelton. Bruggeman hauled down six rebounds. Winside committed 17 turnovers in the game but forced 20 and the Wildcats were 9-15 from the foul line while the visitors were 3-8.

Winside will host Beemer after the Christmas break on Jan. 5.

Trojan teams split games

The Wakefield basketball teams played in Osmond, Tuesday and the Trojans escaped with a split with Gregg Cruickshank's girls winning a 38-25 decision while Brad Hoskins' boys fell, 66-48.

The Lady Trojans remained even with the Tigers through three quarters of play at 23 but Wakefield dominated the final period, 15-2. "We played good defense the whole game and we got up five five in that fourth quarter and I think it frustrated them," Cruickshank said of Osmond. "They didn't have any field goals in the fourth quarter and I think they panicked a little."

Mary Torczon led a balanced Trojan attack with 11 points while Jenny Haglund scored eight and Alison Benson, seven. Jamie Paulson chipped in six while Rachel Dutcher, Stacey Preston and Carly Salmon scored two each.

Wakefield was out-rebounded by a 32-26 margin with Torczon leading Wakefield with seven caroms. Wakefield committed 18 turnovers in the game but forced the host team into 27. The Trojans were 8-19 from the free throw line compared to 5 of 16 shooting for Osmond.

The 3-3 Trojans will be in action next week at the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout against Madison on Wednesday in a noon tip-off.

THE WAKEFIELD boys had their three-game win streak snapped in a big way as Osmond pounded the Trojans, 66-48. Hoskins' team took a 15-12 after the first quarter but were out-scored by a 37-16 margin over the next two quarters before playing the host Tigers even in the fourth period with 17 points each.

Matt Kucera led the Trojans with a dozen points while Cory Brown was held to 10. Wes Blecke added nine and Justin Dutcher tossed in seven while Tory Nixon netted four. Mike White, Luke Tappe and Jim Rusk rounded out the scoring with two apiece.

"We just ran out of gas," Hoskins said. "We were running on tired legs. We were out-rebounded by a good margin which enabled Osmond to get quite a few second chance points."

There were no other stats available on this game. Wakefield will play Madison in a 1:30 p.m. contest, Wednesday in the first round of the Great Northeast Nebraska Shoot Out at Wayne State.

Wakefield will be in action at the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout at Wayne State next week with a first round game with Madison at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday.

Matmen lose Wisner dual

The Wayne wrestling team lost a 49-16 decision to Wisner-Pilger in dual action Thursday night in Wisner.

The Blue Devils gave up 36 free points to the Gators because of forfeits in the following weight classes: 100, 106, 112, 134, 142 and 275. There were seven matches in the varsity competition with Wayne coming out on top in four.

Jody Campbell won a 4-0 decision from Mike Hughes at 119 and Tyler Endicott won a 14-4 decision from Shaun Byborny at 126 pounds. Jeremy Sturm wrestled at 151 and was pinned by Adam Ott in 2:37 while Brent Geiger lost an 11-2 decision to Jed Erickson at 160.

Dusty Jensen captured a 3-1 decision to the number three rated wrestler in Class C in Nick Kumm at 172 pounds and Ryan Brown won by pin in 4:40 over Neil Heckman at 185 pounds.

"Tyler defeated a wrestler who beat him last week at our invite," Wayne coach John Murtaugh said. "Dusty defeated the number three wrestler in Class C for the second time in less than a week and Ryan Brown pinned the kid who won our invite last Saturday at 185 pounds."

Murtaugh said he is looking forward to the practices over the Christmas break. "It will be a good opportunity for us to get better as a team," he added.

Eagle boys remain winless Allen girls win by 19

Allen's girls and boys basketball teams played in Homer, Tuesday in the final game of 1994 and the Eagles escaped with a split as the girls team won, 41-20 while the boys team remained winless following a 60-47 setback.

watched their team battle a Homer squad that deliberately slowed the game down. The only difference in this 19-point blowout was the Eagles were held to 40 points but gave up just 21 as they improved to 5-2.

Koester said, "We went into half with a six point lead at 22-16 but we held Homer to five, second half points including a shutout in the third quarter."

Koester said the slow down style of play was somewhat frustrating for her team but she was pleased with the way they responded by raising the intensity of their defense.

Abhey Schroeder led the Eagles with 16 points while Shanyyn Moran came off the bench to pour in 10. Holly Blair finished with six while Tanya Plueger, Mindy Plueger, Jaime Mitchell and Jamie Kluer each scored two.

Allen was outbounded by the host team, 26-25 with Mindy Plueger and Tanya Plueger leading the Eagles with six and five caroms, respectively. Allen did a good job of handling the basketball with just nine turnovers while forcing 15. The Eagles had just one free throw attempt the entire game and that was missed while Homer was 5-14.

Allen will start the 1995 schedule at Wausa on Jan. 3.

THE ALLEN boys remained winless on the season at 0-7 after a 13-point setback to Homer but head coach Doug Schnack isn't about to throw in the towel just yet.

"We're showing improvement," Schnack said. "I was real pleased with our defensive play. It was our best effort of the season." Allen led 11-7 after the first quarter and trailed by just two at the intermission, 20-18.

Homer doubled the score on the Eagles in the third quarter, however, 20-10 and despite a heroic comeback attempt, Allen fell short. "We cut the margin down to two points with just over two minutes to go but we had a couple careless turnovers and before you know it we were forced to foul and Homer hit its free throws," Schnack said.

Davis Miner paced the Eagles with 18 points while Josh Snyder tossed in 10 more while Jeremy Kumm netted nine and Mike Blohm, Seven. Craig Philbrick rounded out the scoring with three points.

Allen did win the battle of the boards, 26-24 with Snyder leading the way with eight caroms while Blohm hauled downs seven rebounds. The Eagles suffered 27 turnovers compared to 19 for Homer and Allen was 12-25 from the free throw line while the host team was 16-24. Allen will travel to play Wausa on Jan. 3.

Wayne reserves sweep Norfolk

WAYNE-The Wayne reserve wrestling team competed against the Norfolk freshman team, recently and Wayne captured all 12 matches. Tyler Endicott wrestled at 126 pounds and won by pin twice while Anders Lundsgaard wrestled at 126 and won by pin twice.

Jody Campbell competed at 119 pounds and won by pin his first match and by a 6-0 margin in the second match. Brian Campbell competed at 160 and won by pin in the first match and won, 7-2 in the second match and he won by technical fall in his third match. The final wrestler was Jeremiah Rethwisch at 172 pounds. Rethwisch won by pin twice and won by a 15-7 margin in his third match.

"It was a great performance," coach John Murtaugh said. "It's nice to see our team dominated like that."

Wayne junior high girls end season

WAYNE-The Wayne junior high girls basketball teams ended their season recently with contests at Wakefield. The seventh grade won, 32-21 to end the year at 3-5 as Jennifer Schaffer and Beth Sperry shared team honors with eight points while Brittney Frevert added six. Amy Magnuson, Kristin Ewing, Lindsay Woehler, Erin Milander and Sara Ellis each netted two. Frevert was the top rebounder with eight caroms while Tonya Schwanke notched seven. Kristin Wilson and Sperry each had five rebounds.

The eighth grade girls team won, 37-12 and end the season at 4-3. Brooke Parker led the winners with 12 points while Hailey Daehnke and Shona Stracke scored six each. Jessica Raveling finished with four while Heidi Johnson scored three.

Carol Longe, Jill Fleer and Gretchen Wilke rounded out the scoring with two apiece. Johnson led the team in rebounding with eight caroms while Wilke netted six. Stracke, Melissa Fluent and Larissa Coulter had five rebounds apiece.

Crop Protection Clinic aids pest control plans

Practical, economical and environmentally sound management strategies for integrated pest management will be the theme at the 1995 Crop Protection Clinic.

The clinic is scheduled for Friday, Jan. 6 at the Ramada Inn in Norfolk, said Rod Patent, Extension Educator.

The clinics are geared for consultants, custom applicators, dealers, farmers and professional agriculturalists, said Patent.

The local clinic is one of 12 held statewide and will focus on crop and pesticide concerns in this area, Patent noted.

Clinic topics relate to pest control and include information regarding less reliance on insecticides, cultural practices influencing diseases and weed interaction, and or competition with crops. Topics of special interest are: "Why Pre-emergence Herbicides Didn't Work in '94", and "Weed Shifts from Conventional Tillage to No-Till."

Pest management is an increasingly critical issue to producers who are striving to be environmentally responsible and cost-efficient, added Patent.

The clinic is sponsored by University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension and will feature specialists from the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources at UNL and regional research and extension centers. Registration will be begin at 8 a.m., with the first presentation to begin at 8:40 a.m. The clinic is scheduled to conclude at 4 p.m.

The $17 registration fee includes noon meal, coffee, rolls and proceedings. Commercial recertification is an additional $10, payable at the door. For more information, or to register, contact your local County Extension office, or call the Northeast Research and Extension Center at 402-584-2261.

Plueger is recognized

Recourse loans offered for cracked corn

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Richard Rominger has announced that recourse loans will be made available to producers who have corn that has been cracked, rolled or crimped.

USDA will make the nine-month farm-stored recourse loans to eligible producers of 1994-crop corn at 70 percent of the county price support rate.

"Availability of this loan provides our nation's livestock producers with an important financial management tool," said Rominger.

The entire measured quantity will be eligible for a recourse loan. If the corn is stored in a structure that cannot be measured, inspected or sampled, the loan quantity shall be limited to 75 percent of the quantity certified by the producer.

The program does not apply to any other variations of corn, such as silage.

Producers should contact their county ASCS office for more information.

Cattle on feed count is down

Nebraska cattle feeders had 2.0 million cattle on feed on Dec. 1, according to the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service. This inventory was down 5 percent from both last year and two years ago.

Placements of cattle into feedlots during November totaled 500,000 head. This was unchanged from last year but was 4 percent below two years ago.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of November totaled 340,000, down 6 percent from November 1993 and 13 percent below November 1992.

Other disappearance during November totaled 20,000 head compared with 30,000 head last year and 20,000 head two years ago.

Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter-market in the 7 States preparing monthly estimates totaled 8.77 million head, down 6 percent from a year ago and down 1 percent from Dec. 1, 1992.

Placements in feedlots during November totaled 1.84 million, 1 percent below 1993 and fractionally below 1992. Net placements of 1.77 million for November were up 1 percent from both last year and a year ago.

Marketings during November totaled 1.50 million, up 3 percent from 1993 and up 4 percent from 1992.

Other disappearance during November was 71,000 head, 34 percent below 1993 and 22 percent below 1992.

Concord student is tops in animal judging contest

Winners of the 1994 Meat Animal Evaluation Contest (MAEC) at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln have been announced by the Block and Bridle Club which sponsors the event.

The contest, held Dec. 2, allowed members of the club to compete against each other in evaluating market and breeding cattle, hogs and sheep, according to Keith Gilster, professor of animal science at UNL and MAEC coach. Winners were recognized for their achievements at a luncheon Dec. 9.

Gilster said the contest went well this year and student participation was excellent. There were 35 teams and 128 student contestants in the junior division. Nine students competed in the senior division, which consists of students vying for positions on UNL's junior livestock judging team.

The overall junior division team winners included Justin Sindt, Riverton; Todd Grabenstein, Eustis; Jud Skavdahl, Harrison; and Mike

Anderson, Cozad. This team also won the breeding livestock division.

The junior team winners in the market division included Chris Cornelius, Madrid; Shawn Moss, O'Neill; Sean Case, Westerville; and Brian Munger, Springview.

Scott Bonifas of Roseland was the overall individual junior winner and top evaluator in the breeding livestock division. Other junior individual winners included Martin Hegland of Peterson, Minn., sheep and second place overall; Chad Setje of Leigh, market livestock; Ryan Baumert of Howells, cattle; and Travis Horn of Broken Bow, hogs.

Renee Plueger of Concord, was the overall individual senior winner. She also won the market livestock and cattle divisions. Other division winners included Debbie Roeber of Ashland, breeding livestock, sheep and second place overall; and Pat Williams of Elm Creek, hogs.

MAEC chairman Bill Ference and Rick Kusek, both of Loup City, worked hard to conduct the contest, Gilster said. The contest is conducted mainly by students with help from faculty. The chairmen were in charge of organizing help, developing score cards, conducting the contest and tabulating the scores.

Official judges for the MAEC and 1994 members of the UNL MAEC team were Joel Engle of Schuyler, Jim Jonak of Grand Island and Ted Ormesher of Valentine. Gilster also served as an official judge.

The UNL Block and Bridle Club was also recognized as fourth in the nation in chapter activities for the 1993-94 school year, Gilster said. The club's yearbook was ranked third in the nation.

Hog prices show improvement

There was a run of 244 at the Norfolk Livestock Market Tuesday for fed cattle. Prices were 50¢ to $1 lower.

Sustainable Agriculture meeting is February 25

The 1995 annual meeting of the Nebraska Sustainable Agriculture Society (NSAS) will feature farmers finding their own solutions to the problems they experience, through on-farm research. The event will offer workshops, exhibits, good food and an opportunity for farmers to get together and share information. Keynote speakers Dick and Sharon Thompson of Boone, Iowa will present examples of sustainable agriculture research on their farm.

The NSAS annual meeting will be held at the New World Inn in Columbus on Feb. 25 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Registration, which includes lunch and refreshments, is $30 in advance, or $35 at the door.

Additional family members pay only $15 and full-time students are eligible for half-price admission. Additional information is available from NSAS, Box 736, Hartington, NE 68739 or by phone at 402-254-2289.

Pre-measure is available in set-aside

Sign-up for the 1995 Feed Grain Program will soon be here. The ACR or set-aside is 7.5 percent of your corn base and 0 percent for other bases. Pre-measurement is available at a cost of $14 for the first farm and $3 for each additional farm, plus $10 per hour.

The CFSA, Consolidated Farm Service Agency (previously ASCS), is suggesting that you may want to come in and have your pre-measurement done early to avoid the rush during the sign-up period. To schedule an appointment to pre-measure, call the office at 375-2453.

Annual Arboretum meeting set

The Northeast Arboretum at the Northeast Research and Extension Center, two miles east of Concord, will conduct its annual meeting on Friday, Jan. 6, starting at 1:30 p.m. This year, the guest speaker will be from the staff of Nebraska's Statewide Arboretum (NSA). They will discuss the NSA's programs and recent changes in the individual Arboretum sites status within the NSA.

Free trees offered

Ten free river birch trees will be given to each person who joins The national Arbor Day Foundation during January 1995.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"River birches will add year-round beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said. "Their cinnamon-colored, exfoliating bark and informal appearance give a natural look to a garden or planted area."

The trees will be shipped post-paid at the right time for planting between Feb. 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12 inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bimonthly publication, "Arbor Day," and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to Ten Free River Birches, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410 by Jan. 31.

Other topics of discussion will be a review of the 1994 activities of the Northeast Arboretum, plans for 1995 projects, electing three new directors for the Arboretum Board and the drawing for a membership quilt hanging. The meeting should be completed by 3:30 p.m.

Plan now to attend and bring a friend to find out what has been happening at the Northeast Arboretum. Membership starts at $10 and includes updates on happenings, like grafting and tree planting workshops, newsletters and tours to other arboretums. Contact Steve Rasmussen at the Northeast Research and Extension Center, 584-2851, for more information about the Northeast Arboretum or details of the upcoming meeting.

GARDEN CLUB

The Hoskins Garden Club met at the home of Elsie Hinzman for a no-host Christmas luncheon on Dec. 16 with eight members present. Christine Lueker, president, opened the meeting and read the "Christmas Story," followed by group singing of "Away in a Manger."

Secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved. The 1995 yearbooks were handed out.

All members took part in the afternoon's program of readings and singing Christmas carols.

The Watchword for the day was "Merry is a word for Christmas, Happy is a word for New Year, Thanks is a word for all year long."

A gift exchange was held at the close of the afternoon and coffee, cookies and candy were served.

The next meeting will be at the home of Nona Wittler on Jan. 26.

A-TEEN CLUB

Ten members of the A-Teen Club and three guests met at Becker's for a noon luncheon on Dec. 14 and then returned to the home of Blanche Andersen for the afternoon, where another guest joined the group. Guests were Lavonne Fleer, Lois Fleer and Amy and Dawn Dieter. A short business meeting was conducted by Donna Kruger, president. Blanche Andersen, hostess, selected the roll call "where will you be on Christmas."

Yearbooks for 1995 will be prepared by Donna Kruger, Iva Robinson and Arlene Fleer prior to the March 8 meeting. Hostess gift was won by Elaine Ehlers and the chair prize by Lavonne Fleer. Members drew names for secret friends for 1995. Secret friends for 1994 were revealed when Christmas gifts were distributed.
