

Commission puts lodging tax to sleep

By Clara Osten
For the Herald

Wayne County Commissioners voted against a controversial proposal presented to them by representatives of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce during a regular meeting today.

The proposal, presented by Dave Ewing, Jr. and John Farnan of the Chamber, would have added a two percent lodging tax to rates charged by Wayne motels.

"THE CHAMBER has studied this issue for a number of years and feels that $5-10,000 could be generated annually by this tax. The money would be used to directly promote tourism for Wayne County. Tourism is the third leading industry in Nebraska," said Dave Ewing.

According to plans proposed by the Chamber of Commerce, the tax would be put into a separate County Visitors Fund and be controlled by a five member Wayne County Visitors Committee appointed by the County Commissioners. The money would be used exclusively for tourism promotion within Wayne County.

Lori Villim with the South Sioux City Convention and Visitors Bureau was present at the meeting to explain how the program in Dakota County works. "The money generated by this tax can help groups seeking to promote activities by providing matching grants for specific projects. The goal is to attract people to the area," she said.

"THERE IS a need to educate people as to how important tourism is. Through a Visitors Committee, we can utilize what the community has and promote better communication between those in the lodging industry and those who are arranging activities," said Villim.

Ewing also stated that currently there is no consistent method of funding any type of tourist promotion for Wayne County.

The proposal met with stiff opposition from current and former motel owners who were present at the meeting to voice their feelings on the issue.

OWNERS OF the Sports Club Motel and K-D Inn were upset by the fact that Chamber officials did not present them with copies of the proposed tax information prior to the meeting. Jim Casey of the Sports Club Motel said, "I feel we do not have a say in this issue. I don't feel that this money will help attract people to the area."

"Events such as Old Settlers do not bring people to our motels. The people drive to events like this and drive home," he said.

Kerry Ote, former owner of the K-D Inn cited several studies done in different parts of the country that indicated people are unwilling to pay the additional amount created by the tax. "Motel customers are generally not unhappy with the charges for the room but are often upset by the additional taxes they are forced to pay," she said.

"I DO NOT feel this tax is fair. People that stay in motels do not just stay in their rooms. They

Icicle bicycle

This weekend's foggy air and frigid temperatures created countless beautiful scenes throughout Northeast Nebraska. It also created countless headaches for power suppliers and motorists who braved icy roads. Stacey Schaller submitted this picture which helps illustrate the problem with area power lines. Ice formed on the power line as on these bicycle spokes. When the heavy ice broke free in the wind it often created shorts on the lines causing widespread power outages in the area.

Heavy frost causes power outages

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Frost proved to be the culprit for several power outages in the Wayne area, Sunday according to Wayne City Superintendent of electrical production, Gene Hansen.

"There was an extraordinary amount of frost on the power lines," Hansen said. "It was a culmination of a three-day build up of frost. When the temperatures began to rise on Sunday about 60 to 70 feet of frost would fall off the lines at one time, causing the wires to sway and once they hit each other a short would occur."

The trouble area was near Emerson on the NPPD power lines that feed the Wayne and Wakefield areas. Hansen said once a short occurs, the breaker automatically recloses after about 15 seconds.

The power first went off around 1:30 p.m. but came back on shortly thereafter. The same thing happened around 3:30 p.m. but the breaker didn't reclose automatically, forcing Wayne to use its stand-by generators until about 6 p.m.

"The situation was thought to be under control after that," Hansen said, "but it happened again around 9 p.m. which forced us to use our generators once again until around midnight." A crew from Norfolk was called on to check the breaker and it was found to be not working properly. "The breaker is supposed to trip and release when the power goes out," Hansen said. "This particular breaker, however, malfunctioned." Hansen made it clear there was no problem with the City of Wayne's system but with the NPPD power supply source.

Constitution target of legislative bill

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Scattered throughout the pile of 425 bills introduced during the first week of the Nebraska Legislature are 17 measures to change the state's constitution.

"So far, I've never seen this many this early," said state Sen. Ernie Chambers of Omaha, a 25-year veteran of the Legislature. "Some of them have been offered for strictly political reasons. Some I simply don't have an explanation for."

The proposals range from requiring state government to provide money to local governments to pay for mandated programs to allowing off-track betting on horse races. There are two measures to change the number of signatures needed to put constitutional amendments on the ballot. There also are three proposed amendments to change control over the pardons of death row inmates or the parole of prisoners. Another would end the final reading of bills at the end of the legislative session, and still another would allow for two 65-day legislative sessions instead of a 90-day and 60-day session.

Five of the measures were pulled from the November ballot after the state Supreme Court ruled that lawmakers had missed a filing deadline.

Still, even veteran lawmakers like Chambers and Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said 17 is a lot in just a week. And both noted the high-profile arguments in Congress this

Former Pierce family devastated by AIDS

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — A Columbus couple that buried a second son due to an AIDS-related death less than two weeks ago now have to deal with the death of a 12-year-old granddaughter to the same disease.

Ray and Betty Plankinton's son, Richard, died Dec. 31 at the age of 33. Richard and his brother, Ron, suffered from hemophilia, a hereditary condition in which normal blood-clotting agents are absent. They both unknowingly contacted the HIV virus responsible for AIDS while undergoing treatment at an early age, their parents said.

Ron Plankinton died in 1992. On Tuesday, Sarah Plankinton, Richard's 12-year-old daughter, died at Children's Hospital in Omaha.

Betty Plankinton said Sarah died from pneumonia resulting from having AIDS.

"She was a neat kid," Betty said.

"She was tied to an IV pump at least the last 12 months. But she wasn't a complainer. She was more concerned about her folks being sick."

Sarah was a sixth-grade student at Pierce Elementary School in Pierce where her family was living when her father died.

Sarah's mother, Laura, also is suffering from the disease and is being cared for by the Plankintons in Columbus.

Sarah, an only child, was the first of Richard's family to be diagnosed with HIV, Betty said.

"She was diagnosed in the summer of 1987. She'd been in the hospital with pneumonia," she said. "That's when Richard and Laura knew they had HIV, but they weren't diagnosed until much later."

Betty doubts Richard would have married if he had known he had the virus. Ron never married and quit dating, she said.

Susan returns to Wayne annually during the Chicken Show to perform and enjoy the celebration.

Her mother reports that she was selected for the presidential performance because of a song she composed last year named "Calling all Colors."

Planners reschedule meeting on regulations

Wayne County Joint Planning Commissioners will continue their discussion about potential land use regulations during a meeting Thursday, Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse.

The meeting date was changed from an earlier scheduled meeting in the month to allow commissioners more time to review controversial regulations in the county zoning regulations being drafted.

There will be time available at the Thursday meeting for public input and discussion on the draft of the zoning and subdivision regulations, copies of which are available at the county courthouse.

Before enactment, the regulations must go before public hearings with the Planning Commission and at each of the participating county villages of Carroll, Winside and Hoskins as well as in front of the county commissioners.

Several rural residents have objected to the content and purpose of zoning regulations which might limit residential or future livestock developments in rural areas of the county.

Commissioner members have stated from the start of their work over two years ago, that their goal is to protect the county's rich agricultural resources from encroaching urban developments.

The agenda for Thursday's meeting calls for establishing public hearing date on the draft before the planning commission.

Minister takes faith to youth problems

By Stacey Schaller
For the Herald

According to Attorney General, Janet Reno, "Youth violence is the greatest single crime in America today." With that in mind, much has been attempted in recent years to correct youth problems of all kinds.

Everything from psychology to military style boot-camps have been implemented with varying degrees of success. One method of dealing with youth difficulties which has shown great promise is "Christ-centered counseling."

Life Changing Ministries of Stanton, Nebraska, is one counseling center dedicated to using Biblical principles to counsel families. Opened in February, 1994, by Reverend Roy Roberts, Life Changing Ministries has sought to help local churches in Northeast Nebraska better deal with the complex personal problems of today's society.

Reverend Roberts has a B.S. in Education and Psychology, and an M.A. in Biblical Studies, all giving him practical experience on the needs of families in America today. To pass on this experience, Reverend Roberts hosts parent training seminars called Family Life Semnar.

Through January, The Evangelical Free Church of Wayne will be holding a Family Life Seminar. Reverend Roberts will cover such topics as understanding children's behavior, goal setting, role modeling, and discipline.

Reverend Roberts states that the seminar is only "one facet of what I do." He has counseled parents and children with a variety of problems in a number of situations. In his 22 years of ministry, both as a pastor and as a professional counselor, Reverend Roberts has worked with youth in JDC, homeless people, prison inmates, and divorcees; the church and unchurched alike.

Roberts' purpose for Life Changing Ministries is to serve both the church and unchurched communities in the area. Due to the amount and complexity of family problems today, many pastors lack the time or training necessary to adequately deal with them. Life Changing Ministries supplies resources to the pastors, and counseling to families that want it.

Unchurched families can also contact Life Changing Ministries for counseling. Though their standard fee is $20-50, everyone who enters the door receives counseling. Roberts' philosophy on what will alleviate modern social problems is simple, "Jesus Christ." When we have a Christ-centered home, that makes all the difference in the home." He believes that Christ changes the way people think, making them better family members.

With this philosophy, he has recorded an 80% cure rate among those who come to him for counseling. Of the other 20%, Roberts stated that those people wanted only sympathy, or never wanted counseling in the first place.

When asked what he believes to be the most important factor in child rearing, Roberts stated, "Role modeling. ... As you live your life before your children... practice what you preach." He commented that he did not remember his parents for what they said, but what they were.

Roberts has a wife, Susan, and five children from 8 to 17 years old. With his "typical" family, Roberts has been able to learn family skills that make his seminars more meaningful.

Reverend Roberts can be reached through his Watts line, 1-800-219-0333. The Family Life Seminar will be held at 6:00 p.m. January 22 and 29, at the Evangelical Free Church of Wayne, Nebraska.

buy gas and go to restaurants to eat. However, these businesses do pay an additional tax," said Otte.

"I am concerned about how the money will be used to benefit the motel owners. I do not feel the tax is worth the problems it could cause," she said.

After discussion, the commissioners made a motion against the lodge tax proposed by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

"The board felt that there was a lack of cooperation between the motel owners and the Chamber of Commerce. The commissioners would be willing to re-consider the issue at a later date if the two groups would be willing to cooperate," said County Clerk Deb Finn.

IN OTHER action the commissioners approved the purchase of a used 1990 Caterpillar 140 G motor grader for use in District 2. Purchase price was $94,020.

The Board also made appointments to several area agencies. Dennis Dangberg was appointed to the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development Board. Merlin Beiermann will serve on both the Solid Waste Management Board and the Enhanced 911 Board.

Jaycees celebrate 40 years service to Wayne

For 40 years, the Wayne County Jaycees have been an important part of the Wayne community.

That tradition continues, as the service organization celebrates their 40th anniversary during National Jaycee Week, Jan. 14 to 21.

During the past year, the Jaycees have been active in its share of activities from: community development projects to management development activities and individual development programs. They have also donated time and money to national and local charities such as American Cancer Society, St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, Car Center gifts and Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council Adopt-A-Child project.

The Jaycees are a community service organization. They do many projects to better the community in which we live, such as the annual leaf pick-up, community clean-up, Adopt-A-Highway and manning the Recycling Center one month each year.

The Jaycees are very committed to our youth. They provide annual competition to measure boys and girls skills in basketball, baseball and football against the other children in their community and statewide. The Jaycees also sponsor an annual Easter egg hunt and assisted St. Mary's Booster Club with their Halloween fun day.

The Jaycees provide opportunities for their members to improve themselves through individual development programs. These programs include speakers at meetings and individual development colleges.

When the Jaycees aren't busy with community and individual development projects they can be found doing fund raising projects including the Wayne County fair demolition Derby, Christmas tree sales and Chicken Show games.

The community has been very supportive of the projects that the Wayne County Jaycees have done this year, especially the Fourth of July fireworks, which would not have been possible without the generosity of our local businesses and community. Our sincere thanks to all of you who made and continue to make our projects a success.

The chapter currently has 54 members and is always looking for more energetic men and women ages 21-39, to become part of the Jaycee organization. If you want to be part of the chapter that is "40 years old and going for the gold" contact local president, Garry Poutre at 375-4693.

Fraud attempt charged

Cedar County Sheriff Elliot Arens has arrested two Cedar County men on fraud and conspiracy stemming from an incident involving a vehicle that was reported stolen and later found abandoned and beaten with a sledge hammer on a rural road.

Arens said Edmund Madarassy, 22, Hartington reported his car was stolen on Sept. 22. The vehicle was found abandoned and damaged on a county road the next day. The case is still under investigation, said Arens, but Madarassy and Jonathon Abraham, 25 of Belden, were arrested last week and both were arraigned in Cedar County Court on Thursday.

Both were charged with theft by deception and conspiracy to commit a felony. Bond was set at $20,000 for each of them.

Project starts on Main

State coordinators for the Lied Main Street Program will be making a reconnaissance visit to Wakefield on Jan. 23 and 24.

Wakefield was one of only four Nebraska communities chosen for Main Street development funding assistance grants under the program. Part of the initial visit for coordinators will be a meeting with members of the community.

That meeting will be held Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. in the Fire Hall. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The meeting will include introduction to the National Main Street Center; an explanation of the Nebraska Lied Main Street Program, and "the four-point approach." The meeting also will be held to gather input from the public concerning appropriate projects for downtown Wakefield.

Coordinators will seek to develop a community vision for Wakefield's Main Street at the meeting.

The state leaders will be making a walking tour of Main Street with community leaders. They will also visit with the community volunteers who will be serving on the board of directors and with the Wakefield manager for the Main Street project.

Several applications have been received for the advertised position of part-time Main Street Manager for the community. An announcement is expected in the near future on the person hired to fill the post.

The Golden Years

By: Connie Dishrow

No age group, even 50 or older, is immune from the increasing divorce rate. Since the 1970s, divorces have surged 50 percent among men age 50 to 54 and 38 percent for women in that age group, according to the National Center for Health Statistics. Economic factors, such as job loss from downsizings, may be a factor in ending longtime marriages weakened by other stresses.

John McGrath never took a tennis lesson but in time became a national champion. McGrath grew up in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. In the 1930s, his family built a backyard tennis court, where teenaged John learned the basics, but he didn't play often. After serving in World War II he became an industrial engineer, started a family, built his own court in the 1950s and began winning local tournaments. Upon retiring, he played daily and competed in senior USTA tournaments. In his first year in the age 70 to 74 division, he wound up No. 1 nationally. His latest birthday put him in the 75 to 79 division — an opportunity to win a new title.

Spike the cannon

University of Nebraska Regent Robert Allen is a loose cannon that needs to be spiked.

First, in an angry tirade he demanded the firing of University Chancellor Graham Spanier. Then he wanted five other regents to resign with him. Now he says he was wrong to call for firing Spanier.

Over the years the University Regents have displayed an uncanny ability to shoot themselves in the foot.

Allen gives us but one more reason to seek change. The regents, like the state college board of trustees who have conversely shown an uncanny ability to always do the right thing, should be appointed.

Violence won't save innocents

We can't understand how anti-abortion or pro-life protestors could justify violence to support their cause.

Increasingly common are reports of bombings, killings and terrorism at abortion clinics. Anti-abortion terrorists have argued that their tactics are warranted in an effort to save innocent unborn lives.

Taking life to save lives or to support a political cause can only galvanize the opposition to their position. Terrorism is wrong. The world is galvanized against the cause of Middle East extremists who use terrorism to try to win support for their views.

Anti-abortion terrorists will do more damage to the ultimate cause of saving innocent unborn lives if they persist in this tactic.

Inspiring performances

Dear Editor:

Christmas decorations are being packed away for another year — lights, candles, wreaths, etc. But many people will remember longer the real message of Christmas — the coming of Jesus Christ to earth.

For many years, many citizens of Wayne have been blessed by participating in the Wayne State College Christmas choir concert, produced and directed by Dr. Cornell Runestad. These performances helped us keep the real message of Christmas in balance with the outward associations of the season.

As Dr. Runestad retires from Wayne State, will the deeply-religious emphasis of the WSC Christmas Choir Concert be retained? Undoubtedly Dr. Runestad received opposition from some Wayne State colleagues and citizens under the banner of "separation of church and state." We are glad Dr. Runestad persisted against criticism to produce these inspiring performances.

An excellent article in the December, 1994 Reader's Digest is titled "The Supreme Court is Wrong About Religion." This article clearly shows that our Founding Fathers had no intention of restricting religious expression in the First Amendment to the Constitution. They did intend that an official church not be vested with privileges denied other churches and be supported by the public treasury.

Quoting from the article, "The Constitution, including the First Amendment, was the work of believers in God who expressed their faith through public prayer. We have come to a day when a child's mention of God in a graduation address or the presence of a Nativity scene in a public place triggers threats of legal action. This is a gross distortion of our Constitutional history and a dishonor to our Founders."

In the replacement process, we urge Wayne State President Dr. Mash and other administrators allow Dr. Runestad's successor the latitude to continue the fine tradition of the WSC Christmas Choir Concert in emphasizing the spiritual message of the Christmas season.

Youths aren't 'youngsters'

Dear Editor:

I am writing in regards to your article concerning Pastor Bob Timberlake from the Open Door Mission and Lydia House. Overall I thought your article was well done. But, my concern was in your referring to the St. Mary's Catholic Youth Ministry students as "youngsters." These students are young adults, teenagers. They are a very-mature, socially-aware and very concerned group of young adults. The CYM students invited Pastor Bob to the Wayne area. They are also planning to spend a weekend at the Open Door Mission. They will be helping with meals, chores and working with the homeless children. The students are also planning some fund raising activities to help the Mission. These students deserve our respect, support and admiration. Thank you for your time.

God Bless,

Nelson stumbles over bounty hunter

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — Ben Nelson hit a political speed bump as his crusade for streamlining state government got out the blocks last week.

The governor announced that he was planning a $70 million cut in state income taxes, a winner at any time, especially if you're running for office (which a lot of people wonder about Nelson these days).

But the manner in which the ambitious Nelson hopes to pay for the tax cut got him in a little hot water.

The major funding source for the tax cut will be $50 million that a paid bounty hunter found in the federal treasury.

Specifically, the state hired a Virginia firm, Maximus, to see if it could find more federal funds that Nebraska might qualify for. Officials said the red tape of Washington, D.C., is so thick and complicated that states like Nebraska need to hire a professional guide.

Forty-four other states and several cities and counties have hired Maximus to hunt up more money. Nelson, obviously, thought what was good for states was good for the Cornhusker State.

And Maximus hit the jackpot — at least they say they have — discovering that Nebraska could cash in on about $52 million if it just reclassified a couple of its state-funded programs for foster care and emergency family aid.

It sounded too good to be true. Usually, the news from Washington is bad.

For its work, Maximus will receive 12.5 percent of what it delivers to the state in extra funds. In this case, it's about $6 million.

That figure caused a number of politicians to hit the roof. They included former Gov. Bob Kerrey, now a U.S. senator, U.S. Rep.

Doug Bereuter, State Sen. Don Wesely and the Nebraska Republican Party (you remember them, the ones that decided not to contest Nelson in the last governor's race).

They all said $6 million bucks was too much for anyone that couldn't run for more than 200 yards per game, return kickoffs and play baseball in the off season.

Bereuter told the Lincoln Journal that Nebraska's congressional delegation should be the ones to find such money. It wasn't necessary to pay this Maximus bunch, they all agreed. Plus, it didn't look good to be cutting taxes at home while sending away for more money from Uncle Sam.

But geez, Nelson said, this is our tax money. And, he added, if this money was so easy to find, why didn't our troops in Washington or in Lincoln find it earlier?

If this Maximus bunch can hit .350, steal 30 bases and deliver $5 million in cold cash, they're worth every penny, Nelson said.

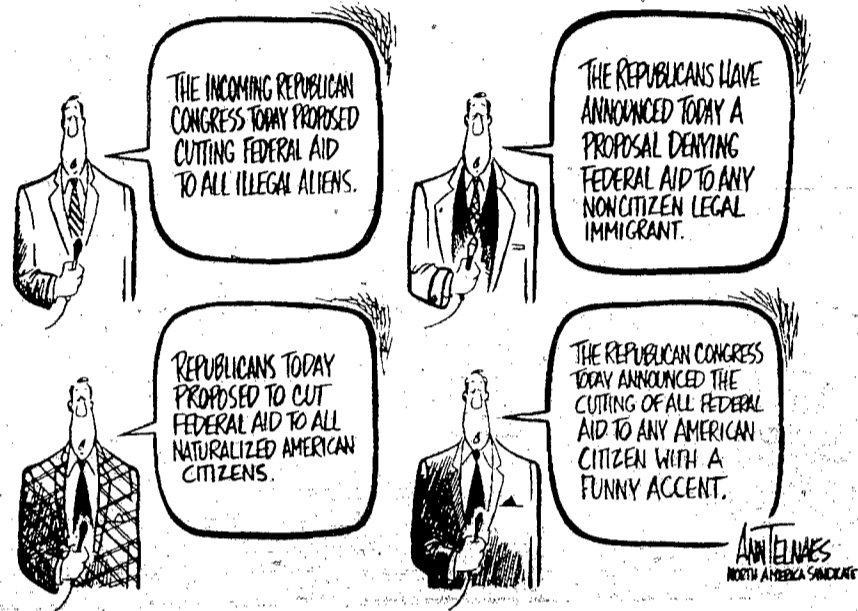

As the controversy heightened, Nelson pointed out that other states had paid even higher percentages for Maximus' services.

It is sort of ironic that the governor is the one mining these hidden federal funds at the same time he's griping about those unfunded mandates that keep coming down from D.C.

Yet, I can't understand why the state of Nebraska would turn down such a windfall.

By the end of the week, the normally jovial Nelson was a bit frazzled, wondering why he was getting so much criticism for trying to cut taxes.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Charity should begin in the House

Dear Speaker Newt:

Now that you hold the gavel as first Republican speaker in four decades, I have an urgent message for you.

There are countless citizens out here in the heartland who never dreamed of earning $50,000 a year, let alone $100,000. But those boys in the Senate increased their own pay in 1991 from $101,900 to $125,100. But that is not why I'm squawking.

You say you're going to cut expenditures in an effort to balance the budget. Perhaps I can help.

A start would be to ax those $100,000 plus annual congressional pensions down to size. How long do congressmen have to work to become eligible for their pensions? Five years. Since senators have six-year terms, all they have to do is get elected once and keep living. There are a lot of voters out here who sure wish they had that kind of a sweetheart deal.

As you know, congressmen only have to be 50 to start collecting their full pension. True, a one-termer wouldn't draw a big pension, but it sure would be more than anybody who, after 40 years behind a plow, collects from Social Security at 65.

Now Newt, in addition, congressional retirees get annual cost-of-living increases based on the rate of inflation. If the rate is, say, 3 percent, their 3 percent is going to add up to a lot more money than Social Security's 3 percent.

Here is another way to cut expenses, although I'm aware a law enacted last year ended the practice of using tax money to pay for an office, staff and travel expenses for the rest of a former president's life. We now only have to pay those for five years. Remember, however, that former presidents aren't affected and continue to get annual $148,400 pensions. We're hard working folk out here in Nebraska but even then it takes us a whopping long time to save $148,400 so a former president can take it easy!

Besides drawing their hefty pensions, office expense allowances for 1995 show Gerald Ford will get $445,743; Jimmy Carter, Wil Davis made a valuable personal point at the school board meeting last week when the board considered applying for funds from the lottery education fund pool.

Only half jokingly, he said he was against "dirty money" meaning funds raised from gambling.

The board went ahead and applied for the grant funds and even Davis voted for the application, but I wonder how much longer the funds are going to be available for education.

When passed, the lottery proceeds were supposed to be divided between education, the environment and solid waste. A half of one percent of the proceeds were allocated to provide counseling for compulsive gamblers.

But already, the government spending zealots are lining up to ask for revision of the funding plans. Everyone, it seems, wants their own piece of the lottery pie and their is talk of expanding the gambling programs in the state.

I'm with Wil. Nebraska was built by people who earned money honestly with hard work and integrity. Would that we could get back to that philosophy.

But I doubt now, that we will ever get rid of the lottery and other "dirty money" schemes. Perhaps we should devote a small portion of the proceeds to counseling for habitual government spending zealots. It's a worse addiction than gambling.

Neighbor Publisher Marlin Waechter of Stanton reported in a recent personal column about an acquaintance of his who did not enjoy her first (and probably last) ski trip.

In his column "Pot Shots" by Marlin, he relates the following incident: "A friend just got back from a holiday ski trip to Utah where the conditions were perfect -- 12 below, no feeling in the toes, basic numbness all over and a "tell me when you're having fun" kind of day.

"One of the women in the group complained to her husband that she was in dire need of a rest room. He told her not to worry, that he was sure there was relief waiting at the top of the lift in the form of a powder room for female skiers in distress. He was wrong, of course, and the pain did not go away.

"If you've ever had nature hit its panic button in you, then you know that a temperature of 12 below zero doesn't help matters. So, with time running out, the woman weighed her options. Her husband, picking up on the intensity of the pain, suggested that since she was wearing an all-white ski outfit, she should go off into the woods. No one would even notice, he assured her. The white would provide more than adequate camouflage. So she headed for the tree line, began disrobing and proceeded to do her thing.

"If you have ever parked on the side of a slope, then you know there is a right way and wrong way to "set" your skis so you don't move. Yup, you got it. She had them positioned the wrong way. Steep slopes are not forgiving, even during embarrassing moments. Without warning, the woman found herself skiing backward, out of control, racing through the trees, somehow missing all of them, and onto another slope. Her derriere and the reverse side were still bare, her pants down around her knees, and she was picking up speed all the while. She continued on backward, totally out of control, creating an unusual vista for other skiers.

"The woman skied, if you define that verb very loosely, back under the lift, and finally collided violently with a pylon. The bad news was that she broke her arm and was unable to pull up her ski pants. At long last, her husband arrived, put an end to her nude show, then went to the base of the mountain and summoned the ski patrol, who transported her to the hospital.

"In the emergency room she was regrouping when a man with an obvious broken leg was put in the bed next to hers.

"So, how'd you break your leg?" she asked, making small talk.

"It was the damndest thing you ever saw," he said. "I was riding up the ski lift, and suddenly I couldn't believe my eyes. There was this crazy woman skiing backward out of control down the mountain with her bare bottom hanging out of her clothes and her pants down around her knees. I leaned over to get a better look and I guess I didn't realize how far I'd moved. I fell out of the lift.

"...So, how'd you break your arm?"

Gift makes her feel old

I mentioned last week that our kids got us a new TV for Christmas. We were so surprised! I didn't even know we needed one. A 27-inch screen, with greatly improved reception, really does make great viewing.

But it made me feel old. They all are earning their own money; and together, they can afford a snazzy TV. It wasn't that long ago they were poor college students, working at Arby's for spending dough. Soon, they'll be wondering what to get Mom and Dad. The age-old question.

My answer would be: get them things you would want yourselves. Because you may get them back.

I remember when my grandmother died, there were embroidered pillow cases and tea towels in the buffet that my Mom had made for her. Never used. So we got them back. I'm using some right now.

When Mike's mother moved from her home, I saw a seldom-used electric fry pan and later, got back a set of luggage.

Now, my Mom is moving into a duplex. So she has to do some consolidating. Through the years, we've done well with some gifts, bombed with others.

Two of the more successful ones were a stereo 8-track and cassette player, and an automatic garage-door opener. An electric typewriter grandmother always said, "Get me panty hose. I can always use panty hose." When she died, sure enough, there was a drawer full of panty hose.

Mothers can only use so many pairs of earrings, so many sweaters and so many robes and night gowns. Ditto, perfume and lotion. Grandma received several books this year.

I gave her a new slack set. It fits, and she likes the color. I can relax until April, when it's her birthday; and May, with Mother's Day, is right behind. Hopefully, the new place will need some things by then. I'll make sure it's something I like!

has also been used. But a snow blower has never been run! She shoveled it the old-fashioned way. Don Beattie took the blower home with him.

Sue got a fondue pot back. I have an iced-tea maker. Sarah, who will be married in June, is getting things like beds, tables, chairs. Not gifts, just things she won't have room for. For Christmas, we got old tree ornaments, now antiques, and decoupage pictures. Yesterday, more quilts were delivered at my door. This is fun!

When you don't have a garden or a yard to care for, all kinds of things go. We came home with a lawn mower, sprinklers and tomato cages. I think we'll have to have a garage sale, even though I swore I'd never do that.

A gal at work told us that he month over changes to the U.S. Constitution.

A proposed amendment to the Constitution, part of a 10-point Republican "Contract With America," would require a balanced budget by the year 2002, something Congress has failed to do since 1969. It would require ratification by 38 states.

"A lot of these things - the balanced budget amendment or the line-item veto at the federal level and requiring party identification for legislative candidates here (LRICA) - have been around a long time," Warner said Saturday.

"They usually make it to one house or another and that's it," said Warner, who was first elected to the officially nonpartisan Legislature in 1962.

Richard Duncan, a professor of constitutional law at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, said the number of proposals before Nebraska lawmakers and the attention given national measures may indicate a belief that democracy hasn't worked.

"At the national level, part of what's going on is a lot of disenchantment with government," he said. "People think they can't trust their legislators to do the right thing. But some of these ideas aren't new. It's just that they may have a more receptive audience."

Duncan called constitutional change an "extraordinary" remedy. "You need to think long and hard before you amend the constitution," he said.

Chambers agreed. "I think a lot of people are drunk from the recent election," he said. "And although a relatively low number of voters turned out, the results have been taken as a mandate for all kinds of craziness."

"It's bad. The constitution should not be easily changed. When you have this many, it indicates a lack of thought behind them."

Changing the constitution won't do much good without quality people in government, Warner said.

"There's this concept that if we need a change, it's government structure that would address some issue or concern," he said.

"My personal view is that seldom do structure changes address those concerns," Warner said. "I would argue that good people in the right positions make any system work well. You can't substitute the system."

Blood saves lives

For almost 60 years, Americans have been volunteering to donate blood. Last year, approximately 14 million units of blood were provided to nearly four million patients suffering from cancer, traumas, accidents, other illnesses and surgeries.

Siouxland Community Blood Bank collected nearly 20,000 units from approximately 10,000 donors in 1994. The blood was donated at over 100 sites including hospitals, businesses, fire halls, community centers, schools and churches in order to meet the needs of the 12 community hospitals it serves.

In January, Siouxland Blood Bank joins the American Association of Blood Banks in celebrating National Blood Donor Month. Thirty-four individuals from 14 communities will be recognized and presented with a plaque from the

My Turn

Guest Column

American Association of Blood Banks for their outstanding achievement of donating 10 gallons of blood.

This is an achievement that no only takes a long term, dedicated effort but also a true concern for their fellow man.

Giving blood saves lives. There are no artificial substitutes available. The demand today is greater than ever, and the nation's supply of banked blood needs constant replenishment. Nationally, an estimated eight million volunteer blood donors are needed for 1995. Without blood from a community supply, many medical and surgical procedures would not be possible; and lives would be lost. While more than half of the American population is eligible to give blood, less than 5 percent actually donate.

Giving blood is completely safe. Measures are taken to safeguard the health of the donor as well as the health of the person who receives the blood.

Giving a little means a lot. Become a regular volunteer blood donor.

Get a sharp pencil Mr. Speaker, and let's dock these fellows a few bucks. They'll likely not go broke. Shucks, all of us retirees around here could put our pension checks in a single pot and still wouldn't be able to support one tired old president.

How about a tax break, huh, Newt?
Enough of executive welfare!

Kuchar-Eckel wed

A Dec. 17 ceremony at First United Methodist Church in Wayne united Pamela Kuchar, Meadow Grove, and Gregory Eckel, Wayne, in Holy matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Willis and Betsy Kuchar of Meadow Grove, and the groom is the son of Dean and Barbara Eckel of Bellevue, Neb.

The Rev. Gary Main officiated at the 6 p.m. ceremony.

Maid of Honor was Sue Hockemeier, friend of the bride, from Madison. Bridesmaids were Peggy Novotny, Norfolk, and LuAnn Koch, Meadow Grove. Both are sisters of the bride. Flowergirl was Kyla Koch, Meadow Grove.

Best Man was Tom Barr, friend of the groom, from Wayne. Groomsmen were Brad Eckel, brother of the groom, from La Vista, and Paul Prall, friend of the groom, also from La Vista.

Ringbearers were Benjamin Comte, Bellevue, nephew of the groom, and Brycen Hockemeier, Tilden, Neb.

Ushers were Mick Kuchar, brother of the bride, and Ron Koch, brother-in-law of the bride. Both are from Meadow Grove.

Shelly Hemmelman, Madison, was the vocalist for the ceremony. She was accompanied by Connie Weber, Wayne.

A reception at the National Guard Armory in Wayne followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckel

The reception was hosted by Gary and Roxie Hilkemann, Pierce, and Damon and Tracy Henschke, Wakefield.

Following a wedding trip to Southern Texas and Mexico, the couple is making their home in rural Carroll.

The new Mrs. Eckel is employed at Andrews Van Lines, Inc. in Norfolk. She has a computer programmer degree from Northeast Community College. Recommends 'no-knock' policy QUESTION: My 12-year-old is embarrassed about the size of her nose. But what I can't understand is that she keeps talking about it to her friends. Should I call this to her attention and advise her not to mention this problem?

DR. DOBSON: One of the most obvious characteristics of a person who feels inferior is that he talks about his deficiencies to anyone who will listen.

An overweight person feels compelled to apologize to his companions for ordering a hot fudge sundae. He echoes what he imagines they're thinking: "I'm already fat enough without eating this," he says, scooping up the cherry and syrup with his spoon. Likewise, a woman who thinks she's unintelligent will admit freely, "I am really bad at math, I can hardly add two and two." This kind of self-denigration is not as uncommon as one might think.

While there is no virtue in becoming an image-conscious phony, trying to be something we're not, I believe it is also a mistake to go to the other extreme. While the person is blabbing about all of his ridiculous inadequacies, the listener is formulating a lasting impression of him.

So I do recommend that you teach a "no-knock" policy to your daughter. She should learn that constant self-criticism can become a bad habit, and it accomplishes nothing.

There is a big difference between accepting blame when it is valid and in simply chattering about one's inferiority. Your daughter should know that her friends are probably thinking more about their own flaws, anyway.

QUESTION: I tend to feel depressed after every holiday, but I don't know why. These special days are very happy ones for my family. Why do I find myself "blue" after such enjoyable occasions?

DR. DOBSON: It will be helpful to understand the nature of emotional rhythm in human beings. Anything that produces an extreme "high" will set the stage for a later "low," and vice versa.

A few years ago, for example, my wife and I bought a newer home. We had waited several years to find the right house, and we became very excited when escrow closed the property and it was finally ours.

This elation lasted for several days, during which time I discussed the experience with Shirley. I mentioned that we had been very high and that our excitement could not continue indefinitely. Emotions don't operate at maximum velocity for very long.

More important, it was likely that our mental set would drop below sea level within a short period of time. As expected, we both experienced a vague letdown into mild depression about three days later. The house didn't seem so wonderful, and there wasn't anything worth much enthusiasm. However, having anticipated the "downer," we recognized and accepted its temporary fluctuation when it came.

Depression, therefore, should be understood as a relatively predictable occurrence. It is likely to appear, as in your case, following a busy holiday or after the birth of a baby, a job promotion, or even after a restful vacation.

The cause for this phenomenon is partly physical in nature. Elation consumes greater quantities of body energy, since all systems are operating at an accelerated rate. The necessary consequence of this pace is fatigue and exhaustion, bringing with it a more depressed state. Thus, highs must be followed by lows. The system is governed by a psychological law. You can depend on it. But in the healthy individual, fortunately, lows eventually give way to highs, too.

Wayne State men net road win but lose to the Lopers

The Wayne State men's basketball team defeated Southwest State in Marshall, MN., Saturday night, 86-58 but the Wildcats dropped a home contest with rival Kearney, Monday in Rice Auditorium, 76-61 leaving Greg McDermott's team with a 6-7 record.

The Wildcats raced to a 45-27 lead over the Mustangs of Southwest State and out-scored the host team, 41-31 in the second half. "We came out and shot the ball real well from the perimeter," McDermott said. "I've said all along that we're a team that relies on the perimeter shot and the shots fell, Saturday."

Kyle White paced the winners with 17 points including five, 3-pointers while Mike Fitzner nailed four, 3-pointers en route to a 16-point performance. Omar Clark and Craig Philipp each tallied 10 while Justin Malcom scored seven and Mike Mitchell, six. Curt Woodin and Harlin Welch each netted five points while Dan Anderson and Greg Ryan scored four apiece. Gary Kneiff rounded out the scoring with two points.

Wayne State out-rebounded winless Southwest State, 35-28 with Philipp and Billy Patterson sharing team honors with five caroms each. Patterson and Woodin each dished out five assists.

WSC committed 16 turnovers but forced 20. The 'Cats nailed 50 percent of their shots from the field, 30-60 and they connected on 15 of 19 free throw attempts.

IN MONDAY'S tilt with UNK the same shots the 'Cats hit against Southwest State would not fall against the Lopers. In fact, WSC trailed 11-0 before Justin Malcom drained a 3-pointer to put the home team on the board. The 'Cats found themselves down by a 22-6 count at the midway point of the first half before cutting the gap to seven by intermission, 36-29.

"Kearney's got a very good team," McDermott said. "Our slow start with our inability to knock down the perimeter shot proved costly." WSC did trim the Lopers lead to three on two different occasions late in the game but Kearney responded each time and down the stretch gradually increased its lead.

"Our defense did what we wanted it to do," McDermott said. "Anytime you hold a team that's averaging 95 points a game to the mid-70's, you're doing a good job but we just never got untracked from an offensive standpoint."

Despite the lack-luster shooting the 'Cats played hard according to McDermott. "We feel if we can get that same defensive intensity each time out that our offense will come around," McDermott added.

WSC was just 25 of 67 from the field for 37 percent while Kearney hit 28 of 65 shots for a 43 percent success ratio. Kyle White led the 'Cats for the second straight game with 18 points with six, 3-pointers in 10 attempts from bonus range.

Omar Clark scored 13 points including a two-hand dunk that drew rave reviews from the home fans. Billy Patterson was also in double figures with 10 while Dan Anderson tallied eight and Mike Fitzner, six. Justin Malcom netted three and Greg Ryan scored two while Harlin Welch connected with a free throw to round out the scoring. UNK's Mike Mueller led all scorers with 22 points. The 'Cats were out-rebounded, 45-40 with Patterson leading WSC with 11 caroms. He also led the team in assists, dishing out six. Both teams committed 17 turnovers and Clark came away with a team high four steals.

Kearney was 14-21 from the free throw line while the host team was two of five from the charity stripe. WSC will host Briar Cliff on Wednesday before playing at Minnesota-Morris on Saturday.

WAYNE STATE senior guard Billy Patterson goes in for two of his 10 points against the Kearney Antelopes during action Monday night in Rice Auditorium. The 'Cats fell to 6-7 with a 76-61 setback.

OMAR CLARK gets ready to finger roll a lay-up for two of his 13 points, Monday night. The senior also had a two-hand slam dunk to bring the crowd to their feet.

Blue Devil wrestlers compete at Elkhorn invite; Hamer wins

The Wayne Blue Devils wrestling team scored 42 points at the Elkhorn Invitational, Saturday which left them 10th out of the 11-team field.

Aurora captured the championship with 162 points while Nebraska City placed runner-up with 105. Valentine claimed third place with 91 while the host team was fourth with 82 and Falls City was fifth with 72.

O'Neill, Plattsmouth, Gretna, Crete, Wayne and Bennington rounded out the field of teams in order. Despite the 10th place effort, Wayne's Jeff Hamer claimed championship honors at 215 pounds with wins over state rated grapplers.

Jeremy Sturm also wrestled very well and claimed a third place medal. "We really had a good first round," Wayne coach John Murtaugh said. "After that we had a let down." The Wayne mentor did say Hamer and Sturm wrestled very well. "They both wrestled their best matches of the season," Murtaugh said.

Tyler Endicott wrestled at 119 pounds and won his first match, 7-6 but was pinned in the second round and lost 10-6 in a consolation round. Anders Lundsgaard wrestled at 126 pounds and lost by pin in his bunny-bracket round which eliminated him from further competition.

Sturm wrestled at 151 pounds and won his first match by pin before losing by a 5-0 margin in the semifinals. He won by pin in the finals of the consolation round and won, 12-3 over Morgan Fischer of Valentine in the match for third place.

Brent Geiger wrestled at 160 pounds and lost by pin in the first round but won his first consolation round, 8-4 before losing in the second consolation round by pin.

Dusty Jensen, competing at 171 pounds lost, 11-4 in the first round and 5-2 in the first round of consolation. Hamer began his route to the championship by pinning his first opponent and winning in the semifinals by a 5-2 margin. In the finals he decided previously unbeaten Marty Bohlen of Nebraska City, 5-2.

While the Blue Devils were competing in Elkhorn, Jody Campbell and Jeremiah Rethwisch competed at the Pender freshman and sophomore tournament and both claimed championship honors.

Campbell wrestled at 119 pounds and won by pin in the first round and in the semifinals before claiming a 7-0 decision from Omaha Roncalli's Joshua Aves.

Rethwisch won by pin in his first round and in the semifinals before a 5-1 victory over Doug Camerud of Omaha South in the finals. The Blue Devils will host Albion in dual action, Thursday.

Allen girls beaten by Bancroft-Rosalie

The Allen girls basketball team fell to 6-4 last Friday night in Bancroft following a 46-42 setback to state-rated Bancroft-Rosalie. "We came out on the short end but we exhibited our best defensive performance of the year," Eagles coach Lori Koester said. "We had plenty of chances to win the game but we just didn't convert on them."

Allen trailed by an 11-10 margin after the first quarter and 27-22 at the half. The host team took a six point lead into the fourth quarter at 36-30 but the Eagles made the ranked Lady Panthers earn the victory in the final period.

"I wasn't discouraged at all by our performance," Koester said. "We'll see Bancroft again this season." Abbey Schroeder led a balanced Eagles attack with 14 points while Tanya Plueger netted 12. Holly Blair scored eight points and Mindy Plueger netted six while Jaime Mitchell rounded out the scoring with two points.

The Eagles won the battle of the boards, 25-19 with Tanya Plueger leading the way with nine caroms while the turnover category was a non-factor with the Eagles having 14 and the Panthers, 10. The difference in the game came from the free throw line where the Eagles were 2-7 while the host team connected on 14 of 18 attempts.

Lenny Jones led team ONE with 11 points while Dan Loberg finished with nine.

Devils fall to 2-8 with loss to Stanton Wayne boys beaten

WAYNE SOPHOMORE Paul Blomenkamp glides past Stanton's Jon Dolliver for two of his 29 points, Friday.

Rocky Ruhl's Wayne boys basketball team fell to 2-8 on the season after a 64-61 setback to Stanton last Friday night in Wayne. The Blue Devils jumped out to an 18-14 lead after the first quarter and they extended that margin to five by half, 34-29.

Stanton bounced back in the third quarter and tied the Blue Devils at 48 heading to the final stanza. Wayne led 55-51 with five minutes to go but the visitors managed to tie the game in its next two possessions.

Wayne's largest margin of deficit was five points which came in a matter of about 30 seconds late in the fourth quarter on two quick possessions by Stanton which resulted in a 3-pointer followed by a steal and lay-up.

"We made some critical mistakes at crucial times down the stretch," Ruhl said. "We didn't attack on offense in the second half like we did in the first half. We let Stanton's press get to us."

Ruhl said his squad played hard enough to win but things didn't go their way. "Sometimes when you're 2-7 or 2-8 it seems like the breaks don't go your way," Ruhl said. "We have to keep working hard and get through this."

One critical momentum swinger came in the second quarter when senior Ryan Pick went up after a rebound and slammed dunked the ball. The dunk drew rave reviews from the Wayne partisan crowd but not from the officials who waved off the bucket with an offensive goaltending call.

The Wayne-Stanton clash was also a chance for area fans to watch Stanton junior sensation Jon Dolliver who delivered with a 23-point performance, but it was Wayne sophomore Paul Blomenkamp who drew the attention of Wayne and Stanton fans alike as he poured in a career-high and game-high 29 points.

Blomenkamp's sensational play forced Stanton to pack its defense inside the paint a little tighter instead of letting Blomenkamp score at will and when they did that, the sophomore sensation from Wayne stepped out beyond the 3-point line and drained another shot.

Joe Lutt tallied 13 points and Ryan Pick netted 11 while Andy Witkowski finished with four. Jason Carr and Shawn Nolte scored two points each to round out the attack.

Wayne out-rebounded the Mustangs, 32-21 led by Pick's 11 caroms and Blomenkamp's nine rebounds. Wayne had 12 turnovers in the game and forced 14 and the Blue Devils were 11-15 from the foul line compared to 10 of 18 shooting by Stanton. The visitors, however, connected on 55 percent of their shots from the field.

Wayne will host Hartington Cedar Catholic on Friday and Randolph, Saturday.

RYAN MARTIN and Andy Witkowski team up for a rebound during first half action of Friday's home game with Stanton. Wayne fell to 2-8 with a 64-61 loss.

Winside girls win second game

Winside played Beemer in a make-up game on Thursday in Beemer with the Wildcats coming out on top of a 46-45 decision thanks to Emily Deck's free throw with 12 seconds to go in regulation.

"We went ahead on the free throw and our half-court press didn't allow Beemer to take a good shot at the end of the game," coach Lisa Schroeder said. "In fact, Beemer's final shot attempt came from half court."

The Wildcats trailed, 27-26 at the half but took a 38-35 lead into the final stanza. Wendy Miller paced the winners with 15 points while Jodi Miller tossed in 10 and Melinda Mohr, eight. Tammy Thies tallied six points and Kristi Oberle scored three while Sarah Painter netted two. Emily Deck and Stacy Bowers each scored on a free throw.

Both teams had 39 rebounds with Thies leading Winside with 10 caroms while Wendy Miller, Oberle, Painter and Minda Marotz notched four rebounds each.

Winside had 31 turnovers compared to 23 for Beemer and the Wildcats hit eight of 17 free throws while Beemer was 17-31.

Trojans beat Winside

The Wakefield girls and boys basketball teams swept visiting Winside last Friday night with Gregg Cruickshank's girls defeating Lisa Schroeder's Wildcats, 59-43 while Brad Hoskins boys team defeated Bill Koolstra's Winside squad, 79-43.

In the girls game sophomore Jamie Paulson took matters into her own hands and delivered a career-high 27 points as the Lady Trojans improved to 8-5.

Wakefield sprinted to a 19-9 lead after the first quarter and led by 15 at the intermission, 36-21. Winside never recovered from the first half deficit despite playing the second half to win in a point of the Trojans, 23-22.

"We didn't do a very good job of putting pressure on the Wakefield guards," Schroeder said. "Our intensity just wasn't there. We have to come prepared to play each night out and not give just an average effort."

Winside was led in scoring by Wendy Miller with 13 points and Sarah Painter with 11 while Emily Deck and Melinda Mohr netted six each. Kristi Oberle tallied three while Stacy Bowers and Minda Marotz netted two apiece.

Stacey Preston and Kristin Preston followed Paulson's 27-point performance with 12 and 10 points, respectively while Mary Torczon and Amy Hattig tallied three apiece. Susan Brudigam and Alison Benson rounded out the attack with two points each.

Wakefield out-rebounded Winside by a 41-36 margin with Wendy Miller leading Winside with nine caroms. The Wildcats turned the ball over 30 times while Wakefield suffered 24 turnovers and Winside was 13-26 from the free throw line compared to 15 of 29 shooting by the host team.

"I thought we played very well," Cruickshank said. "Winside played hard in my opinion and our girls met the challenge." The Wildcats fell to 2-8. Winside will host Clarkson on Tuesday and Wausa on Friday.

THE WAKEFIELD boys wasted little time in taking control of their game, racing to a 30-8 lead after one quarter of play. The Trojans continued their domination in the second quarter, putting the game away by halftime with a 48-12 lead.

Winside coach Bill Koolstra said his squad was down by a 16-0 count before they could get in the scoring column. "We just had a horrible first quarter," Koolstra said. "We had a lot of early turnovers and just couldn't get the ball to go in the hole."

Wakefield, meanwhile, had little trouble scoring from all areas led by junior Justin Dutcher who poured in 31 points with the aid of six, 3-pointers in seven attempts from long distance range. Dutcher scored 25 of his 31 points in the first half. Cory Brown was also in double figures with 10 points while Ryan Hoffman netted nine and Luke Tappe along with Mike Rischmueller scored eight apiece. Wes Blecke finished with seven points and Cory Coble tallied four while Jim Rusk rounded out the scoring with two.

Winside was led by Jaimey Holdorf with 17 points—all of which came in the second half. Brock Shelton tallied 10 points while Colby Jensen and Chad O'Connor scored six each. Jeff Bruggeman rounded out the scoring with four points.

Wakefield out-rebounded the visiting Wildcats, 39-33 and Winside committed 25 turnovers compared to 14 for the Trojans. Wakefield was 9-16 from the foul line and Winside was 6-14. Wakefield improved to 6-5 and will play Newcastle at home, Tuesday and at Wynot on Friday while Winside fell to 1-9 with home dates with Clarkson on Tuesday and Wausa, Friday.

Wayne girls down Wakefield by 15

Roger Reikofski's Wayne girls basketball team defeated Wakefield, 47-32, Monday night at Wayne High to improve to 7-5 on the season. Gregg Cruickshank's Lady Trojans slipped to 8-6 on the year.

The Blue Devils jumped out to a 14-4 lead after the first quarter and by halftime the margin had ballooned to 17 at 27-10. "We played a very good first half," Reikofski said. "We executed both our offense and defense well with the only exception being rebounding."

Cruickshank said his squad found themselves trailing by 23 points early in the third quarter at 33-10 but he was proud of the way his team kept fighting and managed to trim the lead to 11 with over three minutes to go in the final period. "We never gave up," Cruickshank said. "I think two things really contributed to our problems with Wayne. First, we didn't handle the press very well and second, we didn't shoot the ball very well."

The Wakefield mentor said his squad got the types of shots they wanted but they just wouldn't fall. "You have to give Wayne some credit for our poor shooting because they played very good defense," Cruickshank said.

Jenny Thompson paced the Blue Devils with 20 points with a 9-11 shooting performance from the field. Katie Lutt tossed in 14 points and Carrie Fink was in double figures with 10 while Molly Linster netted two and Cori Langenfeld, one.

Wakefield was led by Mary Torczon with 10 points and Amy Hattig with nine while Jaime Paulson, Kristin Paulson and Alison Benson scored four each. Carly Salmon rounded out the Trojans scoring attack with a free throw.

Wakefield out-rebounded Wayne by a 36-25 margin with Hattig leading the way with 15 caroms while Thompson and Katy Wilson hauled down seven rebounds each to share team honors for Wayne.

Wayne forced 24 turnovers while committing 21 and the Blue Devils were 3-4 from the charity stripe while the Trojans were 4-8. Wayne will host state rated Crofton on Tuesday night while Wakefield plays at Wynot, Friday.

Bears host Hartington, Tuesday

Laurel cagers sweep Creighton

The Laurel girls and boys basketball teams defeated Creighton last Friday night in Creighton with Rick Petri's girls claiming a 61-51 victory while Clayton Steele's boys breezed to an 82-40 win.

The Lady Bears jumped out to an 18-10 lead after the first quarter and took a comfortable, 40-23 advantage at the intermission before settling for the 10-point victory.

"We really took it to them in the first half," Petri said. "We executed our offense very well. In the second half, Creighton switched defenses to a zone which slowed the game down."

Becky Schroeder led the Bears with 21 points while Heather Cunningham tossed in 10. Alissa Krie and Tracy Ankeny each netted eight and Gina Monson finished with six while Cathy Mohr scored five. Megan Adkins rounded out the scoring with three points.

The Bears out-rebounded Creighton, 34-31 with Schroeder leading the way with 11 caroms while Mohr hauled down five. The Bears forced 23 turnovers while suffering 18 and Laurel was 5-8 from the foul line while the host team was 9-15.

THE LAUREL boys team improved to 10-0 and strengthened its hold on the number four rating in Class C-2 with a 42-point victory. The Bears trailed Creighton early, 7-0 but Steele's squad roared back to take a 17-12 lead after the first quarter before rolling to a 15-point cushion at the half at 36-21. Laurel out-scored the host team, 46-19 in the second half.

"We ran the floor well," Steele said. "We put quite a bit of pressure on and we got some turnovers and some easy baskets." Jared Reinoehl led the winners with 17 points while Jeremy Reinoehl tallied 16. Cody Carsten-en and Rich Rasmussen each scored 10 while Kyle Macklin netted eight.

Travis Stingley finished with seven points, while Tyler Erwin, Vince Ward and Ryan Kvoles netted four apiece. Dan Peters rounded out the scoring with two points.

The only other stat available was free throw shooting with the Bears hitting four of eight while Creighton was 5-7. Both the Laurel girls and boys teams will host Hartington on Tuesday and travel to play Bloomfield, Friday.

WSC gals fall to 6-7

The Wayne State women's basketball team fell below the .500 mark on the season after a deceiving, 71-54 setback at Southwest State in Marshall, MN., Saturday night.

Mike Barry's squad led the host team, 30-29 at the half and with six minutes to go in the contest it was a two-point game. Then, things went sour for the Wildcats as they went several possessions with out scoring.

"We had about seven straight possessions where we had point blank shots and we just missed," Barry said. "Then, in the final four-and-a-half minutes of the game we never scored."

The 'Cats connected on 10 of 14 free throw attempts while Southwest State was 14 of 21. The 6-7 Wildcats will host Briar Cliff on Wednesday in Rice Auditorium.

"We'll have to be ready to play," Barry said. "They are another very athletic team that likes to run and gun so they'll provide a very good test for us."

Barry said the 17-point loss was not a true indicator of how the game really went. "Southwest State is a very athletic team and we played right with them for 34 minutes," Barry said. "It really wasn't anything they did to cause the difference in the game but our inability to make the shots when we had them."

Susie Osborn led the Wildcats with 14 points while Mindi Jensen tallied 11 and Amy Brodersen, 10. Deb Kostreba tossed in seven points and Liz Reeg netted six while Kristy Twait, Lori Zeimetz and Deedra Haskins finished with two each.

Southwest State was led by all-American candidate Lillie Brown with 30 points, 13 rebounds, five assists, two blocked shots and four steals and she played the entire 40 minutes.

WSC was out-rebounded by a 37-34 margin with Jensen and Osborn leading the 'Cats with six caroms each. Kostreba and Marla Stewart dished out four assists each and Osborn blocked a pair of shots. WSC committed 27 turnovers, however, compared to 20 for the host team.
