Rural residents affect change in zoning draft

By Les Mann Of the Herald

A packed courtroom of rural resigents who were adamantly opposed to zoning regulations Thursday night convinced the Wayne County Joint Planning Commission to strip most of the provisions limiting development in rural areas out of the proposed zoning document.

Controversial provisions which are no longer in the draft of the zoning regulations are limits on num-bers of livestock units which could have been held in intensive feeding operations, limits on how close new residences could be built to existing livestock facilities and a 40 acre minimum lot size for rural develop-

MINIMUM lot size in the new draft permits subdivisions as small as 5 acres and allows them to locate anywhere in the rural areas of the county. Also stripped from the regulations Thursday was a one-mile zone along Highway 35 east and west of Wayne which would have permitted residential acreages below the 40-acre limit identified for other areas of the county

With Thursday night's changes, new livestock feeding operations will be permitted to locate anywhere outside the zone of influence of the cities and villages. They may even be built across the fence from existing residences.

Commission Chairman Neil Sandahi called the version of the zoning regulations tentatively ap-proved for presentation to a public version" but planning consultant Becky Hanna said the revised version of the regulations "might be a starting place for the county.

MS. HANNA, with the consulting firm of Hanna-Keelan Associates in Lincoln, said after the regulations are in place rural residents might find additional provisions they want included or excluded in subse quent planning sessions.

The Planning Commission's public hearing on the proposed zoning regulations has been set for Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the county court-house. Copies of the new draft of the regulations should be distributed in the county in about a week.

Over 100 residents attended the meeting Thursday, many of them arguing that the county did not need planning and zoning at all.
Others argued that if the intent of the planning and zoning process was to protect agricultural land from encroachment by residential and commercial development, as stated by the commissioners, then that could be accomplished simply by passing rules that said non-farm resi-dences couldn't be located near farm

DON LIEDMAN, a farmer from the Carroll area, said the county might benefit from restrictions against mobile homes and residences moving out to rural areas and then filing nuisance suits against farmers because of livestock odors.

Building for future continues at WSC

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

Building continues on the Wayne State College campus with major projected recently completed, one project under construction and another scheduled to begin this summer.

Work on the Daniel W. and Jeanne M. Gardner Business Building is essentially completed. The building is completely occupied by students and faculty," said Andy Soll, Vice President for Administration and Finace at

"Classes are currently being held in the new building and work is now being done to adjust and the students leave at the end of the semester," Soll said.

WORK continues on the Student Center addition. "We hope to be able to move into the new

Scheduled to begin this spring is work on the Heritage Plaza, to be named in honor of Lyle Seymour, past president of WSC. The plaza will be located in front of the Conn Library on the WSC campus.

Estimated cost of the project is $93,581. This figure includes $64,041 in construction costs and $29,540 for professional fees, plantings and a drip irrigation

"ALL THE money for the project is being raised by the Wayne State Foundation. Wayne Groner of the Foundation has done an excellent job of obtaining donations for this project."

"We currently have the money for construction costs and continue to receive donations. The Foundation also has funds available that have not been ear-marked for specific projects that could be used for the Plaza," said Soll.

Construction firms have been invited to bid on the project with bids scheduled to be opened on Feb. "Unless the bids do not fall into the range we expect, construction should begin this spring and be completed before school starts in the fall," said Soll.

Musician enjoyed gig with Clinton

By Les Mann

Folk musician Susan Wright says she was extremely excited about the opportunity to perform for President Bill Clinton when he appeared this week in Denver to deliver an address on Martin Luther King Day.

Though she said she doesn't al ways agree with the president's politics, the Wayne native, said she was pleased and proud when the President turned and gave her and the 25m e m b e r children's choir smiling thumbs up sign after they sang the Wright composi-tion "Calling All Colors" before Clinton began his address.

"It was quite a thrill," Ms. Susan Wright Wright told the Herald in a phone interview from Denver. She is the daughter of Virginia Wright retired Wayne State College administrator. Just since the Monday performance, Ms. Wright said she has received many inquiries about appearances and about the song she composed as a race unity message. She has been invited to perform or the United Nations Conference on Women scheduled for China later this year: The growth in interest in her music is "pretty amazing" she said. She explained that Wilma Webb, the wife of the mayor of Denver had requested that she be on the program for the president's Denver visit when she saw a copy of the musical tape single that Susan recorded.

Ms. Wright, who has a repertoire of humorous tunes as well as serious music with a message, has performed at each of the last two Chicken Shows in Wayne. The song that caught the president's attention this week is a regiae tune that is perfect for the children's voices, said the professional musician.

She explains she got involved with a youth chorus through friends at the Gemstone Bahia School in Denver. She said the song she wrote es-

The Wayne City Planning Commission has scheduled a meeting and public hearing for Monday, Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers to consider a conditional use request to allow conversion of the second floor space at 202 Main, formerly the Suber's Clothing Store to four apartment units.

The rural residents said the draft of the zoning regulations did not focus enough attention on protecting existing farms and should not contain any restrictions on the abil-ity of farmers to expand livestock operations as economic conditions may require.

Members of Thursday's audience also questioned the costs and reasons for implementing the planning and zoning process and there were several calls for an election to decide if county voters wanted the new restrictions or not.

Last year the county and villages of Winside, Hoskins and Carroll merged their planning efforts under one joint planning commission in an effort to economize and coordinate regulations. The commission is comprised of six members from the rural areas of the county and one each from the villages.

The city of Wayne is not included in the current planning issue since it has operated under planning and zoning rules since their's were enacted there in the 1970s.

Kevin Kai still questioned the cost of the planning and zoning process and the new building permit requirements its passage would create.

Liedman said the changes made Thursday created a better document but he was not happy with the idea of planning and zoning and the new bureaucracy it would create. He said there also should be better agriculture producer representation on the planning commission.

BOARD CHAIRMAN Sandahl said commissioners were asked to prepare a document they thought would benefit the county, and they have spent many months working on the process and they thought they were doing the right thing.

"I just want everybody to be happy with it when we're done," said Mark Sorensen. Recalling one audience member's argument Thursday that planning and zoning would lead the way to Communism, Sorensen said he did not have Communistic ten-dencies. "I just want to see agricultural interests protected," said Sorensen, who added he thought he was doing what the agricultural producers wanted when he helped draft the zoning regulations.

Sunday, Jan. 22 is Sanctity of Human Life Sunday - a time to remember that all human life is sacred to God — and therefore should be sacred to us, too. Jan. 22 is also the 22nd anniversary of the Roe vs. Wade Supreme Court decision that made abortion on demand legal.

In memory of the more than 30 million babies who have died by abortion in the United States since 1973, a number of churches in and around Wayne will toll their bells 30 times at noon on Sunday, Jan.

"God has not forgotten these innocent little ones and we dare not either," said Debby Rise, Wayne organizer.

The "Word" for the Week Old fashioned Christianity

The salvation planned by God and worked out by Jesus Christ is not only negative. It is positive. It is not only salvation from sin. It is salvation to eternal life. To be rescued from the consequences of sin is not enough. Such rescue simply brings us back to ground zero. Can any human being then earn his or her way to heaven? Absolutely not. "For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23). You and I not only need rescue from the terrible consequences of sin. We need to be taken to glory.

The Good News is that Jesus Christ is the way to glory. He lived a life of sinless perfection. Only this life of Christ is worthy of heaven. Christ lived His perfect life on behalf of people like you and me. He earned a place in heaven for the likes of us. As the death of Christ was vicarious, so was His life.

The Bible therefore teaches: The gift of eternal life and access to heaven are obtained through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore you must not only trust in Christ to save you from your sin, you must trust Christ to give you eternal life and heaven to come. "The free gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Ro-

WSC snaps Briar Cliff jinx as Billy Patterson nets 30 match-up that most assuredly

The thing about streaks in any sport is they always come to an end," Wayne State men's basketball coach Greg McDermott said.

Briar Cliff's 11-game win streak over the Wayne State men's basketball team came to an abrupt end, Wednesday night in Rice Auditorium as WSC evened its record at 7-7 with an 86-70 victory over the Chargers, who fell to 13-8.

The Cats were 0 for the 90's against the Chargers with the last win coming in 1989 but Briar Cliff ran head first into a Wayne State team with more heart and desire this

Leading the way was senior Billy Patterson who's had the unenviable task of playing through six of those setbacks. The Chicago, Illinois native shaked and baked his way to a career-high 30 points with a brilliant performance from the field, hitting 14 of 16 shots.

In fact, during one stretch in the second half Patterson scored 10 consecutive points and brought WSC from a one-point deficit at the 6:26 mark to a seven point lead at

"It was a great team effort,"
McDermott said. "It was our best team outing of the season. Billy was really zoned in and took advan-tage of the match-up Briar Cliff put on him. Craig Philipp and Greg Ryan did a good job of stepping up their games with the absence of Dan Anderson who went home to Chicago to attend a funeral of a good friend who was killed in a car accident," McDermott added.

Patterson's offensive perfor-mance was not the only shining part of the 'Cats victory. The defense stepped it up at crunch time, holding Briar Cliff scoreless over the final 5:18 of regulation.

Patterson, however, was a little surprised when the game started and he saw who was guarding him. was very surprised that Briar Cliff put Ricardo Yearwood on me,' Patterson said. "In the locker room before the game we had figured that guard Brent Braswell would be guarding me but they put a big guy on me and I just took advantage of

Patterson said the 'Cats stuck to looked to be in his favor. When the game is on the line Patterson said he likes his role of being a go-to

"I definitely like the role of having to create a play or score a basket during crunch time," Patterson added. "I want to win so badly." McDermott added that sometimes when you get in a streak like the one with Briar Cliff that it becomes a mental thing. "It was a real grati-fying win for our team but especially for Billy and Omar Clark," McDermott said. "This was their first taste of victory over that team during their four years here."

Wayne State led by as many as 10 points in the first half, 35-25 but Briar Cliff cut the gap to three by intermission by out-scoring the host team, 9-2 over the final 3:21.

In the second half the Chargers led by three points on two occasions, the latest being, 60-57 with 11:51 remaining. Then, Billy-ball began and when Patterson finished his domination on the offensive end of the floor some nine-plus minutes later, he had scored 16 of the Cats next 20 points including 10 straight as WSC had regained the lead and

When a guy gets hot like that the only thing you want to do is make sure you keep getting him the ball," McDermott said. Kyle White came off the bench and continued his quality play with 14 points while Philipp was in double figures

Mike Fitzner tallied nine points and Curt Woodin netted seven while Omar Clark scored five. Greg Ryan and Terry Mailloux finished with four each and Joe Gnat rounded out the scoring with a pair of free WSC out-rebounded Briar Cliff, 35-30 with Ryan leading the way with eight caroms while Patterson hauled down seven. Patterson also dished out a team-high-four assists while both teams handled the ball well with just 10 turnovers each. Woodin notched three steals and Patterson had two. The 'Cats nailed 18 of 22 free throw attempts while Briar Cliff struggled from the line, hitting just seven of 16 attempts.

WSC women rout Briar Cliff but lose Reeg for the season 'Cats breeze past Chargers

The Wayne State women's basketball team evened their season record at 7-7 with a blowout win over Briar Cliff, Wednesday in Rice Auditorium, 86-57.

Head coach Mike Barry was a little concerned before the game about the visiting Chargers athletic ability but one they Briar Cliff lacked was depth and the 'Cats took

"We played very well," Barry said. "Our guards put a lof of pressure on Briar Cliff's guards and held them in check from scoring what they normally do. In the second half got our transition game going and we got a lot of easy baskets.'

a big way but in doing so they might have lost in a big way. Former Wayne high standout and Wildcat sophomore Liz Reeg suffered an injury midway through the second half and early reports indicate she may have suffered a torn ligament in her knee which writes her off at least the rest of this sea-

"Liz will have an MRI done on Friday to determine just exactly what the damage is," Barry said, "It doesn't look good at this point and I'd probably be shocked if she didn't have a torn ligament which means she'd have to have a total reconstruction surgery.

Barry said Reeg had been playing very well as of late and her number of minutes was increasing because of her quality play. The Cats took a 37-27 lead over Briar Cliff into the locker room at intermission and in the second half Briar Cliff never threatened as WSC out-scored them by a 49-30 margin.

Deb Kostreba poured in a game high 23 points while Amy Brodersen tossed in 16. Kristy Twait was also in double figures with 14 while Marla Stewart and Susie Osborn tallied nine each. Reeg scored eight before her injury whil Mindi Jensen, Lisa Davids and Jodi Heller netted two apiece. Danyel Grammar rounded out the attack with a free WSC won the battle of the boards, 47-42 with Brodersen leading the way with nine caroms from her guard position while Reeg had five. Brodersen also dished out a team-high five assists.

Cats had 19 turnovers in the game but forced Briar Cliff into

The Winside girls basketball team dropped a 55-41 decision to Clarkson, Tuesday in Winside, leaving Lisa Schroeder's squad with a 2-9 record heading to Friday's game at highly rated Wausa

Clarkson jumped out to a 16-5 lead on the Wildcats after the first quarter and led, 31-19 at the half. "We just got off to a slow start," Schroeder said, "We didn't stick to our game plan and suffered some early turnovers as a result which led to easy points for Clarkson.

Schroeder said the Clarkson guards really hurt the Wildcats because they weren't playing good perimeter defense. "Once again we played like we weren't prepared," Schroeder added.

Wendy Miller led Winside with nine points while Kristi Oberle and Sarah Painter netted seven each. Jodi Miller tallied five and Mindi Marotz scored four while Ann Brugger added two and Melinda Mohr, one.

Winside did win the rebound battle, 45-43 with Painter and Marotz sharing team honors with six each while Wendy and Jodi Miller along with Tammy Thies notched five boards apiece.

The Wildcats suffered 25 turnovers in the game compared to 15 for the visitors and Winside was 11-27 from the foul line compared to 13 of 25 shooting from Clarkson. Schroeder did highlight the play of Mindi Marotz who also dished out five assists while hauling down five rebounds and scoring vincing sweep of Hartington in Laurel, Tuesday with Rick Petri's girls winning, 65-48 while Clayton Steele's boys team topped the century mark for the first time in many years with a 103-67 victory.

In the girls contest the Bears doubled the score on Hartington after the first quarter of play, 16-8 but the visitors cut the gap to three by intermission at 29-26.

The second half, however, was all Laurel as the Bears out-scored the Wildcats, 36-22 to post their seventh win of the season against five losses. "It was pretty much a complete game," Petri said. "We played very well for all but about three minutes.

The Laurel coach said his team did a good job in the second half with their press which caused numerous turnovers that led to easy buckets. "We did the things we had to do to win," Petri added.

Alissa Krie led a well-balanced scoring attack with 16 points while Becky Schroeder tossed in 14 and Tracy Ankeny, 10. Heather Cun-ningham and Cathy Mohr each tallied eight while Dawn Wickett and Gina Monson netted four each. Megan Adkins rounded out the scoring with a free throw.

Laurel edged the visitors on the boards, 35-33 with Mohr leading the way with eight rebounds while Schroeder and Krie had six each and Mohr nearly recorded a triple-double with eight points, eight rebounds and nine assists,

Laurel had 19 turnovers in the game but forced 30 and the Bears were 5-8 from the charity stripe while Hartington connected on nine of 17 attempts.

THE LAUREL boys poured in 28, first quarter points and the rout was on as they led by 16 after the first stanza and 23 by intermission, 54-31. The Bears continued their torrid scoring pace in the third quarter and led 77-43 heading to the fourth period.

The only question that remained

Wayne got off to a slow start and found itself down by a 9-4 margin. The visitors settled for a six point cushion at the intermission, 31-25 before Wayne turned up its defensive intensity.

"We had a really good third quarter," Reikofski said. "We outscored them, 13-7 to tie the game at 38 but Crofton did what it had to do to win in the fourth quarter."

The Warriors came out gunning. in the final stanza and took an eight point lead after the first three possessions. Wayne dwindled that margin to three fate, but was forced to start fouling in order to get the ball back and the visitors hit their free throws when it counted.

"Crofton came into the game hitting just 44 percent of its free throws," Reikofski said. "Against us they hit 16 of 23." The Wayne mentor said foul trouble also hurt his team because he was forced to sit some of his starters at crucial Carrie Fink led Wayne with 19 points while Katy Wilson poured in 11. Jenny Thompson scored nine and Katie Lutt netted eight while Cori Langenfeld finished with two. Anne Wiseman and Amy Ehrhardt rounded out the scoring with a free throw each.

Gale Lawton of Wayne visited the Winside first grade on Martin Luther King Jr. Day to tell the students about his life and share birthday cake.

Students share special Dr. King Day celebration

Lawton) visited the Winside first grade classroom on his birthday, Jan. 16. He told about his childhood, the Rosa Park's story and "His Dream." The first graders discussed how they could make Martin Luther King's dream come true. The class sang "Happy Birthday" to Martin Luther King and ate birthday cake. They also figured out that he would have been 66.

Earlier in the day, a special activity was used to better understand prejudice. All the short first graders were declared "smarter, prettier, more handsome and superior" to tall people. The short students were given gum and praised, while the tall people were treated as if they were tall. Feelings were then discussed and compared to how African-Americans felt before the civil rights movements. This was extended to include "differences" of all kinds such as gender, race, learning ability, etc. Then the roles were reversed and tall people were considered superior, so that each child had the opportunity to experience discrimination.

Gale Lawton, a Wayne State

College student, portrayed Martin Luther King Jr. Eliene Jager is the classroom teacher.
