School officials bitterly oppose plan for aid cut

Nebraska Gov. Ben Nelson is try ing to slap local school districts with a new unfunded mandate at the same time he is campaigning against unfunded mandates from the federal level according to a group of school administrators who testified before the Nebraska Legislature's Education Committee Monday.

"This is nothing but an unfunded mandate," said Wayne Superintendent Dr. Dennis Jensen of a measure (LB 431) that would phase out state funding for local districts who educate students who are wards of the

If passed, the bill would ultimate Iv add $121,000 per year to the local property tax bills in the Wayne School District, said Jensen. The additional costs would be phased in as state aid would be reduced over a three-year period.

He said district taxpayers would, if LB 431 passes, foot the entire bill for special education services for students in the Region IV group home in Wayne. Currently the state the cost for educating the seven stu-dents in the group home who are not from the Wayne district. The state also reimburses the district for 75 percent of the cost of special education services for four students who are residents of the district.

Jensen said he told the senators at the hearing Monday that it was unfair to force local taxpayers to bear the burden for educating students from other districts who may be placed in Wayne because of the Region IV group home.

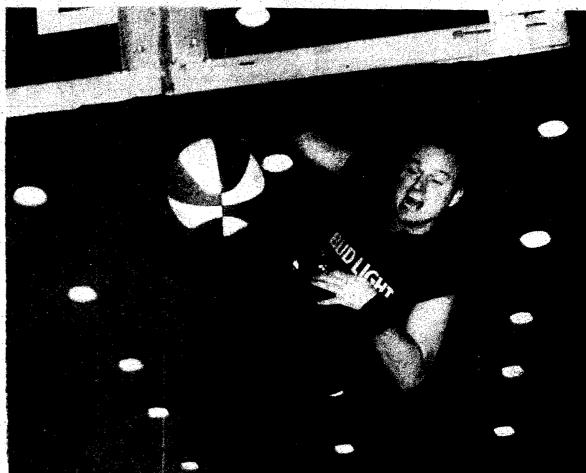

He said he has nothing against the

"These children are wards of the court, they're wards of the state, Jensen was quoted in the Omaha World-Herald, "They're the responsibility of the state.

Of the Herald

Recent news reports have told of the thousands of people who lost their lives in the devastating earthquake in Kobe, Japan. Death tolls have risen to more than 5,000 people, equal to the number to residents in the town of Wayne.

For Masaaki Kawanishi, a student at Wayne State College, these reports are more than just a sad story. Masaaki is from Kure-City, Japan, A city of 240,000, which is approximately three hours away from where the quake hit. Although he has no relatives or close friends in Kobe, he does have an aunt and cousins in the city of Osaka, which also received damage from the quake.

Masaaki has been keeping up to date on the events in Japan by reading the New York Times and Newsweek and watching CNN, "I am really amazed by the amount of damage that was done, Japan has very strict building codes because earthquakes are very common in some parts of the county," he said.

One of the reasons so many people were killed is the fact that houses in Japan are very close together. "Japan has a huge number of people living in a small area. It

AFTER the military, Mark spent most of the rest of his career in radio and television broadcasting. In 1986, Mark became the general manager of KTCH-AM-PM in Wayne.

Leo took a different path. As a youngster, Leo enjoyed radio broadcasting, spending time in his basement pretending to be an announcer. Following his graduation from Yankton College in Yankton, South Dakota however, he became an English teacher and basket ball coach.

After 21 years as a teacher, Leo wanted a change of pace, so he decided to check out radio again. Following two broadcasting jobs that didn't "pan out", he came to

The 1992 summer Olympics reminded Leo why he so enjoyed rural life. After his daughter, Christine, won two golds and a silver in swimming relays, the Wayne community showed more support for her than her home town of Benson, Arizona, did. Leo commented, "People are much more polite...in the mid-west. much more caring."

Both Mark and Leo have empty nests. Mark's three children, John, Lisa, and David, are married and live in Lincoln, Nebraska. Leo's daughter, Christine, lives with her husband in Arizona. Each of the brothers also have grandchildren.

Officials say leave partisan elections in

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - A move to change the partisan nature of Nebraska's county races has drawn criticism from some county officials who say if "it ain't broke, don't fix it."

A member of Nebraska's nonpar tisan Unicameral has submitted a bill that would require all county officers, except commissioners, to be elected on nonpartisan ballots.

Currently, county officials in Nebraska are nominated and elected on Democratic or Republican Party tickets. Douglas County Commissioner Ray Simon is one of those who sees no reason for a change: "The system has worked for a long time." Simon said. "I see no reason to change that."

In defense of his bill, Sen. Ron Withem of Papillion said there is no reason for party politics to enter into county races because most county officials perform purely administra tive functions such as collecting taxes and keeping records.

"There is not? Democratic or a Republican way of registering a deed," Withem said. "I don't think that it's the responsibility of county government to be a building ground to do the work the political parties the governors proposal places an unfair burden on a few school district to pay for those services. The majority of students who are wards of the state require special education services and there is no easy way to fund the rising costs of those necessary services, but, he said the bill which was introduced at the request of the governor is not the answer.

He said all the governor and Department of Social Services is trying to do is shift $6 million worth of the state budget to local school districts, especially to those who have group homes in their boundaries

The committee took no action Monday on the bill but Jensen said hicknows the senators are frustrated with the rising cost of education, especially special education. He agreed that special education costs have gone up dramatically--because of the increased numbers of students utilizing the services and the increased federal mandates that those services be provided.

Stevie wants to hear from you

I talked to Stevie's teacher this

Stevie is the California 5th Grader who wrote a letter to the editor last week asking for residents to tell him why they thought Nebraska was a great place to live. The 9year-old, whom his teacher describes as one of her better students and a youngster "with a real sense of humor," says he wants to move to Nebraska someday.

His teacher Lisa Austin was taken aback when I called her and said who had indicated they would be sending material to Stevie. As part of a class project, her students are assigned to write (properly punctuated and addressed) letters to three locations in a state of their choice to see if they

Each year she said the class responses vary from nothing to a few cards and letters. She said Stevie will be excited to hear he has become a community project in Wayne.

I asked her for a picture of Stevie which we will publish when it arrives along with any additional letters in response to his request for information. If you plan to write Stevie, send a copy of your letter to the Wayne Herald, "Dear Stevie" column, PO Box 70, Wayne, NE, 68787 so we can all share in the good feelings and positive views on the Nebraska "Good Life."

Another monument controversy

After last summer's controversy in Wayne over the baby monument in the Wayne Cemetery, I have taken to reading all the stories that come across the wire about cemetery monuments.

Our brouhaha was mild in comparison to the flap that is likely to be raised in Louisville, Ky, over a sculptor who wants to have a statue of himself and his wife placed over his headstone after he dies.

The sculptor, Barney Bright, 67, is no novice to artistic and political controversy. His publicly displayed nude sculptures have raised eyebrows before. But now the cemetery directors have to deal with the issue of the monument he wants to erect to his own life.

"We're kind of nude," said the artist about the reclining statue of himself and his wife that he has asked for permission to place in the cemetery. He said he may have to compromise and chisel drapery into the plan to satisfy the cemetery board, but he doesn't want to-

I'm glad that controversy is happening there and not here.

Not all prices up the same

I was reading a story the other day about how much prices have gone up since those of us in the over 40 group were kids.

Homes, cars, candy bars, clothes, heat and things to cat have all risen dramatically in the last 30 to 40 years, In fact those items we spend most of our incomes on have gone up on the average of about ten times what they were a couple of generations ago.

Thankfully incomes have gone up at about the same multiple according to the statistics I was reading.

That's not so bad you think? We've kept parity, you think? It's all relative,

Well, not quite. We haven't accounted for the t-word.

The amount we spend on government by way of taxes and fees hasn't gone up ten times. No the multiple there is more like thirty times what it was when we were kids. Ouch!

But, when you start looking around for things to cut in government (and we could all name a few of our favorite perceived waste areas) you're in for a fight. Everyone wants to protect their own.

I predict we have about as much chance of balancing the federal budget as the Oregon Ducks had in winning the National Football Championship.

What parity?

· Speaking of parity and statistics--my friend Merle Ring reminded me recently of the commodity price imparity.

While most of the goods and services in America have gone up about 10 times since the 40s and 50s, the prices farmers get for their products certainly haven't.

Com is currently only 34 percent of parity, which means if all other things were equal, farmers would be getting about $6 a bushel for their corn, Soybeans should price out at about $12.30 a bushel on a parity scale, not the $5.50 range they got from the most recent harvest.

Hogs ought to be priced about $98 per hundredweight and cattle at $136.

Check the market report this week and you'll see the local producers are getting more like $35 and $70 respectively. Maybe that's why fewer and fewer young people are entering farming careers and the average age of the American farmer is nearing retirement

LINCOLN - Lay down your bets for expanded gambling, but don't wager on approval of casino gambling.

That's what some state senators are saying in the Nebraska Legislature this year about the chances of expanding legalized gambling in this state

While bills that would permit video slot machines to be operated by cities, counties and horseracing tracks are given even odds of passage, they said permitting casinos

Afterall, Nelson was the governor who pushed the Nebraska State Lottery and wanted voter-approval before it began.

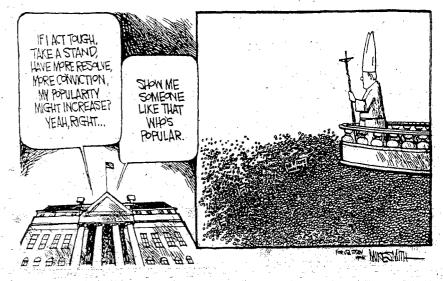

Right now, most senators haven't made up their minds about expanding gamblings. The storm

Tourism tax

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your recent article regarding the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce proposal for a 2 percent lodging tax to generate funds to promote activities in Wayne County. I would like, however, to clarify a few points. First, the Chamber is very concerned about keeping its members informed and there was substantial effort made to work with the motels that are Chamber members. We met personally with the senior management of the Super 8 chain to discuss the proposal last June and continue to contact them until the Friday prior to the Commissioner's meeting. The position stated to the Chamber by Super 8 management was that they would not oppose a lodging tax for Wayne County.

One of the goals of the Chamber has been the formation of a tourism or hospitality association among the motel and restaurant owners.regardless of their Chamber affiliation. To this end, the Chamber organized and invited all the motel and restaurants to two meetings at the Black Knight last spring at which common issues, including the lodging tax proposal, were discussed. The motel owners were invited to a third meeting in November but none of them attended.

The Chamber believes that the .500 to $10.000 of fund ated from the lodging tax would be important to many Wayne County activities that could use additional promotional funding such as the Winside Old Settlers Picnic, the Carroll tractor pulls, the Wayne County Fair, the Legends Car Club auto show, the bike and running club races such as the Turkey Trot, the Wayne County Historical Society and museum, the Fantasy For-est and Winter Carnival, and the basketball, baseball and softball tournaments, to name just a few The funds would also be invaluable in the development of new tourism activities such as an annual gun show, a bed and breakfast or a packaged overnight bus tour to Wayne targeted at senior citizens groups in Lincoln and Omaha consisting of dinner, community theatre tickets, lodging and a tour of Perennial Gardens and Blue Bird Nursery prior to returning home. We believe that the objections are short sighted in view of the benefit to the county.

For the cats

Dear Editor:
As I read of the furor over cats roaming freely in Wayne, it brought to mind that the origin of Wayne's now nationally famous Chicken Show as a spoor about those people who were distraught by the sounds of chickens crowing.

Many people who enjoy the company of a house cat, find that the cat remains healthier and more content after enjoying several hours daily outdoors in fresh air. That cat certainly knows where it's home is, and returns there regularly for both food and attention. To classify that as a stray cat to be disposed of at the whim of a neighbor, makes me worry how my child might be treated by that neighbor.

Most farmers very early learn the importance of keeping cats around to control the rat, mouse and other varmint population that otherwise lurks around the building site. Neighbors have certainly dispelled the theory that gats and birds are incompatible, because they regularly buy 50 pounds of bird food to keep their many bird feeders full, yet they also are home to more than a dozen cats who roam their farm

Disease can indeed be a problem for a cat, but with good care, inoculations, etc. this poses less of a hazard for that can than being shot.

Some people place collars on cats with identification, so hopefully if lost, the cat will be returned to the rightful owner, but collars and leashes can pose a real hazard for a cat heeding its natural hunting instincts. As was found at South Sioux City, licensing is not really feasible, but instead becomes one more government regulation that maybe will enhance the city coffers while annoying its residents.

If Wayne is so fortunate as to have a number of cats who seem to have no permanent home, but apparently are self-supporting, your town probably has far fewer probwith rats and mice than you would otherwise have. Being bitten by a rat poses a far greater threat than the likelihood of being attached by a horde of stray cats.

Legislature enters busy period with over 900 measures to hear

By Stan Schellpeper District 18 Senator

The Legislature, now in its fourth full week, is in full swing as the various committees hold public hearings on the approximately 900 legislative bills and constitutional amendment resolutions introduced by the members. I would like to take the opportunity in this week's newsletter to talk about a few of the bills introduced this session.

I have introduced a bill which would allow executive officers of Nebraska nonprofit corporations who receive annual compensation of $1,000 or less to waive their right to workers' compensation coverage. The Business and Labor Committee held a public hearing on this bill, LB 44, last week and is considering amendments to the bill. Many executive officers of nonprofit corporations, such as county fair boards, receive little or no compensation. In fact, a significant number of these individuals are volunteers who offer their own personal time and energy. If they feel workers' compensation coverage is unnecessary and a waste of money for the nonprofit corporation, they should have the option to waive that coverage.

three bills relating to health care which have been considered recently by the Legislature. LB 32, a bill to permit midwives to deliver babies in the home of the pregnant mother received a public hearing this past week. Under the proposal midwives would be allowed to perform home births if they met certain training and education requirements. Although there is some support for this bill, I have concerns about the level of education needed and the potential endangerment of the baby and/or the mother if any unforeseen emergencies arise. I addition, the issue of liability, if such emergencies occur, must be considered.

A bill to allow nurse practitioners with advanced education and training to exert more control over their practices was also heard by the Health and Human Services Committee. LB 414 would eliminate the requirement that these advanced nurse practitioners have a physician direct their practice, but would re-with at least two physicians with whom they would consult and collaborate and to whom they would refer patients. I am generally supportive of this proposal, but there will likely be stiff opposition from physicians' groups.

Finally, LB 214, of which I am a cosponsor, makes a very logical change to the school physical examination requirement for beginner grade (kindergarten), seventh grade and new school students. Currently, only a licensed physician may do this examination. However, as you know, many rural communities do not have a physician practicing in their area to do this exam. This will allow physician assistants and nurse practitioners to perform these examinations! in communities where no physician is available.

I am looking forward to hearing from many of you as we move along through the session. As always. I encourage anyone who may have questions or concerns or would like to comment on these or any other issues to write me at the state capitol or call me or my staff at

Clip, save and write your senator

This year we remind ourselves ment is "of, by and for" the people. Here is information that will aid you in contacting your representative.

Our state senators are elected and collectively make up the Nebraska Legislature, which meets each January in the Capitol in Lincoln. Legislatures exist two years meeting for 90 days in odd-numbered years, and 60 days in even-numbered years

Elected by voters in their district, each of the 49 senators represent approximately 32,200 citizens. Personal views are important to your senator. Most prefer a personal contact, however you may also ex-press your opinions by letter and phone. Form letters are not as impressive, and less effective, than personal letters.

To reach your senator in Nebraska, one only needs to address the envelope including the senator's name, district number, State Capitol, Lincoln NE 68509.

For Wayne residents and those living in the eastern half of Wayne County, the senator is Leo "Pat" Engel, District #17, State Capitol, Lincoln NE 68509, Sen. Engel also represents voters in Dakota, Thurston, and portions of Dixon and Cuming Counties. His work phone at the Capitol is 402-471-2716.

Folk living in the western half of Wayne and Dixon Counties, Stanton, Cedar, Pierce, and a small corner of southeastern Knox County make up District 18 whose representative is Sen. Stan Schellpeper. Work phone at the Capitol is 402-471-2801.

Juvenile services still needed

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) – Nearly a year after state lawmakers passed a juvenile anti-crime bill, Nebraskans are still figuring out how to provide the community-based services required by the legislation.

Juvenile Judge Kristine Cecava of Ogallala said Nebraska requires different services in different areas. This process needs to be community-based," Cecava said. "You go to Omaha or to Merriman and you say, 'If I were a kid in trouble here, where would I go?

Cecava was among dozens of judges, lawyers, law enforcement officials, treatment providers, parents and officials of state agencies who met for two days last week to develop a comprehensive juvenile

"Our goal should be, 'How can I serve this child's needs?' rather than, How can I not serve them and make somebody else do it?" Cecava said Friday.

Most rural parts of the state lack services for the treatment or deten-tion of youths, she said. Many judges lack local options for placing chil-

Denis McCarville, executive director of the Uta Halee Girls Village in Omaha, was among those recommending the creation of Youth Service Centers. The centers would provide information, evaluation and initial treatment facilities in a "one stop shop."

Such services now are scattered among courts, probation offices, corrections departments and other agencies. Many rural areas lack the services altogether.

Three pilot centers could be set up around the state as examples for other communities, McCarville said.

What is cause of hyperactivity?

QUESTION: What is hyper-activity and what causes it? DR. DOBSON: Hyperactivity

(also called hyperkinesis, minimal brain dysfunction, impulsive disorder and at least 30 other terms) is defined as excessive and uncontrollable movement. It usually involves distractibility, restlessness and a short attention span.

I stress the word uncontrollable because the severely affected child is absolutely incapable of sitting quiet-ly in a chair or slowing down his level of activity. He is propelled from within by forces that he can neither explain nor ameliorate.

One such youngster was a 7-year-old boy named Kurt who was afflicted with Down's syndrome (a form of mental retardation which was originally called mongolism). This little fellow was frantically active, and literally "attacked" my furniture when he entered the room. He scrambled over the top of my desk, knocking over pictures and files and paper weights. Then this lad grabbed for the telephone and held it in the direction of my ear. I humored him by faking a conversation with a mythical caller, but Kurt had other purposes in mind. He jumped from my desk and scurried into the office of a psychologist next door, insisting that my colleague play the same game.

As it happened, our two phones were on the same extension, and this little 7-year-old had succeeded in outsmarting the two child development "experts." There we were, talking to each other on the phone without anything relevant to say. It was a humbling experience

A truly hyperactive child can humble any adult, particularly if the disorder is not understood by his parent. The condition often appears related to damage to the central nervous system, although it can also be caused by emotional stress and fatigue.

Some authorities believe that virtually all children born through the birth canal (that is, not by caesarean section) are likely to sustain damage to the brain tissue during the birth process. The difference between patients who are severely afflicted (and are called cerebral palsied) and those who have no obvious symptoms may reflect three variables:

1. Where the damage is located; 2. How massive the lesion is, and 3. How quickly it occurred.

Thus, it is possible that some hyperactive children were afflicted very early by an unidentified brain interference which caused no other symp toms or problems. I must emphasize, however, that this explanation is merely speculative and the medical understanding of this disorder is far

QUESTION: How can I tell whether my child is just nor-mally active or genuinely hyperactive? And how can I deci-pher whether his problem is the result of emotional or a physical impairment?

DR. DOBSON: These questions are difficult to answer, and lew parents have the training to resolve them. Your best resource in evaluating your child's problem is your pediatrician or family physician. Even he may have to guess at a diagnosis and its cause.

He can however, make a complete medical evaluation and then refer you, if necessary, to other professionals for specific assi-

Your child may require the services of a remedial reading teacher or a speech and hearing therapist or a psychologist who can assess intellectual and perceptual abilities and offer management advice.

You should not try alone to cope with an excessively active child if this additional support and consultation is available.

QUESTION: I'm guessing that in your professional capacity you have been in a position to observe those who get involved in extramarital affairs. What happens to them? If we checked in on them two to three years later, what would be found?

DR. DOBSON: I have carefully watched such people who have left the world of responsibility-the "straight life"-and have observed a virtual inevitability.

These individuals eventually establish another "straight life." The grass is greener on the other side of the fence, but it still has to be mowed.

Sooner or later, the pleasure of an illicit affair has to come to an end. Folks have to get back to work. And, the fantastic romantic feelings don't last forever. In fact, the new lover soon becomes rather common-place; just like their husband or wife. His or her flaws come into focus, and the couple has their first fight. That takes the edge off the thrill.

Furthermore, the sexual relationship gradually loses its breathtaking quality because it's no longer new. There are times when it doesn't appeal at all. But more significantly, the man and woman eventually turn their thoughts to earning a living and cooking and cleaning, and paying taxes again, permitting ego needs to accumulate as before. Alas, after the emotions have been on a moon-shoot, they are destined to come back down to earth once more.

Then what does our amorous couple do when they conclude for the second time that the "straight life" has become intolerably heavy? I am acquainted with men and women, and so are you, who have apped from one straight life" to another in vain search of prolonged pleasure and sex and ego-gratification. In so doing, they leave in their wake former husbands and wives who feel rejected and bitter and unloved. They produce tittle children who crave the affection of a father or mother, but never find

All that is left on the march toward old age is a series of broken relationships and shattered lives and hostile children.

These questions and answers are excerpted from the book Dr. Dobson Answers Your Ouestigns. # Wakefield boys notch overtime win over third-ranked Laurel

By Kevin Peterson Sports editor

The Wakefield Trojans boys basketball team snapped the Laurel Bears 13-game win streak to start the season with a 69-66 overtime victory last Friday night at Wakefield.

Laurel came into the game with the number three rating in Class C-2 but the Trojans proved the number 13 to be unlucky for the Bears as they fell to 13-1.

Laurel came into the contest with out the use of one-half of their dynamic twin duo as Jared Reinoehl was sitting out after having surgery on his clow to remove bone chips.

The Bears still nearly triumphed after coming back from a 15-point deficit in the second half to force overtime where they fell. Both teams scored 16, first quarter points but Wakefield took control in the second period and grabbed a 10-point lead at the intermission following a 3-pointer by Mike Rischmueller at the buzzer.

Laurel trimmed one point off the gap at the third quarters end but still trailed, 48-39. Then, the comeback began. Laurel converted 13 consecutive free throw attempts in the final stanza and actually took a slim lead. The Bears had the final shot to win the game in regulation but the attempt was errant.

The only controversy of the game came at the end of regulation and it was due to the noise factor. Laurel grabbed the rebound off the missed final shot and went to put the ball back up when a foul was committed by Wakefield.

It was determined, however, that the final buzzer sounded before the foul was committed, thus forcing the overtime period. Wakefield se nior Cory Brown always seems to come alive when a game is on the line, late and Brown took control in the overtime period scoring five of the nine points and he played a key role on defense, limiting Laurel to

Brown led all scorers with 29 points with 15 of the 29 coming in 31 from the foul lire fourth quarter and overtime team was 12 of 17. Tory Nixon tossed in 13 and Wes Blecke was in double figures with 11 while Mike Rischmueller and Justin Dutcher netted seven apiece. Luke Tappe rounded out the Trojans offensive attack with two points.

Jeremy Reinoehl paced Laurel with 15 points while Travis Stingley netted 13 and Rich Rasmussen, 12. Cody Carstensen and Kyle Macklin were also in double figures with 11 each and Tyler Erwin tal-

"I thought the game was played at a very high intensity level," Wakefield coach Brad Hoskins said. There ended up being 38 turnovers but it was still a clean game."

Hoskins said Laurel's free throw shooting exhibition in the fourth quarter helped fuel the comeback. They hit 17 of 18 free throw tries in the second half," Hoskins said. They really did a good job at the line. This was a big win for our team because it's our first non-conference win and our guys got an important boost of confidence heading into the conference tournament," Hoskins added.

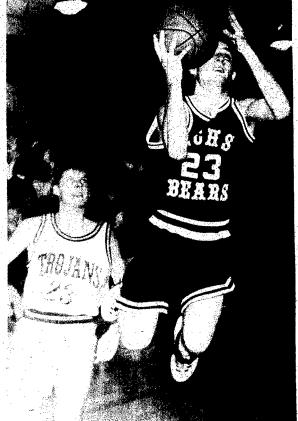

The Wakefield mentor also singled out Mike Rischmueller as being the spark plug to ignite the Troians run in the second quarter, Mike really stepped in and did the job," Hoskins said. "He scored seven points and dished out five assists and more importantly, he played good defense.

Bears coach Clayton Steele said his kids gave a good effort but he felt they shouldn't have gotten themselves in a position to where they had to come back from such a large deficit.

'We were a little impatient on offense at times," Steele said. "We just can't afford to get behind by that many points against good teams because you're not always going to be able to come back."

The Bears did dominate the boards, 34-21 with Stingley leading the way with 11 carons while Macklin had seven and Rasmussen, six. The Trojans were led by Brown with eight rebounds and Rischmueller with five.

Laurel committed 19 turnovers in the game compared to 21 for Wakefield and the Bears were 25 of 31 from the foul line while the host

Allen is the only girls team to advance

Lewis & Clark tourney begins

Conference girls basketball tourna-ment got underway, Saturday with three Wayne Herald area teams playing first round games.

The Allen Eagles improved to 11-4 with a 37-24 victory over Homer in Allen as Lori Koester and Gary Erwin watched their squad win their fifth straight game since los-ing in Wausa in early January.

Despite the win the Eagle coaches weren't overly excited about the lack of offense displayed. "We came out a little flat," Koester said. "We didn't have that same intensity we had last week when we beat Coloridge and Emerson-Hubbard but we got the win and that's what counts."

The Eagles trailed Homer, 10-6 after the first quarter but out-scored the visitors, 10-2 in the second quarter to lead 16-12 at the inter-

The Eagles won the battle of the boards, 24-22 with Tanya leading the way with 10 rebounds. Allen did have 18 turnovers compared to 23 for Homer and the Eagles were just 4-13 from the foul line while

THE WAKEFIELD Trojans were upset by Wynot in Wakefield, 52-49—just eight days after Wakefield drilled Wynot by 16 points in Wynot. "We just got out-played," Trojans coach Gregg Cruickshank said. "We didn't play with much intensity and the things we did suc-cessfully at Wynot were not done again on Saturday:"

The first clash between the two teams had the Trojans completely shutting down the dribble penetra-tion by Wynot and limiting the fast breaks but Wynot reversed that role this time and it led to a first round

The 11-7 Trojans were led by Jaime Paulson with 10 points while Kristin Preston tossed in nine. Stacey Preston and Mary Torczon each tallied eight while Amy Hattig netted five. Jenny Haglund and Alison Benson each scored four and Rachel Dutcher added a free throw.

The Trojans struggled from the foul line, hitting just nine of 23 attempts while Wynot was 10-21. Wakefield will travel to play Newcastle next Tuesday.

Candace really got it going in the second quarter," Winside coach Lisa Schroeder said. "She finished the first half with 14 points." Winside decided to play a box-and-one on Bloomquist in the second half and it worked as she failed to score.

The Vikings, however, haven't made it to an undefeated record with out good balance and when Bloomquist cooled off, someone else picked up the pace and Wausa owned the second half at home, 36Wendy Miller. # Laurel girls and boys notch first round conference wins ketball teams notched wins in the first round of the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Conference Basketball Tournament, Saturday.

Rick Petri's girls survived an overtime clash with Randolph in Cardinal country, 39-33 to improve to 9-6 on the season while Clayton Steele's boys blasted Creighton in Laurel, 97-50 just 14 hours after dropping their first game of the season at Wakefield in overtime.

In girls action, I aurel was tied at six with Randolph after the first quarter and the Bears trailed the host team, 17-16 at the half but the game was tied at 24 after three quarters of play.

Neither team could muster much. offense in the fourth quarter and the game went to overtime tied at 28. Laurel scored more points in the four-minute bonus period than they did in any one quarter, 11 while holding Randolph to five

"Randolph at the last shot in regulation but it drew iron," Petri said. "In overtime we scored the first seven points with five coming at the free throw line."

Alissa Krie sank the first two free throw attempts before Becky Schroeder stole the ball and made a lay-up while being fouled. She converted the 3-point play and later hit two more free throws to put the game away for the Bears

"It was really a slow paced game," Petri said, "We even changed defenses in the second quarter to see if we could speed it up some but we changed back to our zone in the third quarter."

Petri said neither team led by more than two points until the overtime. Schroeder led the Bears offense with 19 points while Krie tossed in 10. Tracy Ankeny and Dawn Wickett tallied four each and Cathy Mohr rounded out the attack

Laurel edged the Cardinals on the boards, 32-31 with Schroeder hauling down a team-high 10 caroms while Krie and Megan Adkins had six rebounds each. Laurel had 13 turnovers and forced 22 and the Bears were 13 of 18 from the charity stripe compared to 6-10 shooting by the host team.

THE LAUREL boys hosted Creighton and the contest was pretty much in hand by half as the Bears held a convincing 20-point cushion, 45-25. Things continued to get worse for Creighton in the second half as the Bulldogs were collared to the tune of 52-25

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

How does that old song go? — "The best things in life are free!"

Sure, the sun is free and the moon is free (except when we send omeone to walk on it) but what it comes down to is a pretty short list if you think about it.

what does all this mean if we are talking about the library? Certainly our library services to the public seem free. But please consider. The Wayne Public Library is funded almost solely from the Wayne city tax, which is paid by all residents within the Wayne city limits. Rural patrons, who currently make up 14 percent of the library users, are charged an equivalent $15 annual registration fee. A charge, incidentally, which does not fully cover the cost of most new books ($23.50), videos ($15-40) or one magazine subscription ($12-85). Wall Street Journal is $150. Besides these, the library provides newspapers, art prints, books on tape, Interlibrary loan, CD-Rom computer, library programs as well as other information services, not to mention costs that are not as visible - such as staff salaries, office supplies, computer paper, floppy discs, bar code labels, patron cards, electricity, heat, water — well, you get the idea. Compare your cost to the annual cost of purchasing books for your families. Since January 1994, our three copies of John Grisham's "The Chamber" = $1328.32, our copies of "Bridges of Madison County" = $941.85, and Stephen King books, with over 90 circulations so far — over $2000! So libraries are never free, but they are a bargain!!

After all this discussion, we need to remind our rural patrons that their library cards may have expired. Please check the back of your cards for the expiration date. We will remind you when you check out books. Bring your card each time you come to the library, please.

Help us also keep our patron files current. If you have changed your address and/or telephone number, please let us know.

Story hours for children ages 3 to 7 continue Saturday mornings at 10:30 to 11:30. We have guest readers and good fun. The final story hour is April 1. We would sure like to see your children her during

New books in the library include: "No Night Is Too Long" by Barbara Vine; "Kiss the Girls" by James Patterson; "The Heart of Justice" by William Coughlin; "The Murderers" by W.E.B. Griffin; "The Secret of the Villa Mimosa" by Elizabeth Adler; "Faith by Len Deighton; "Trust Me" by Jayne Ann Krentz; "Haunted" by Joyce Carol Oates, "Insomnia" by Stephen King, "Acceptable Risk" by Robin Cook and "Self-Defense" by Jonathan Kellerman.

Library hours are Monday through Friday, 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m. Keep us in mind.

Community Options Program Project explained at meeting

The Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Develop-ment Council held its monthly meeting Monday, Jan. 23. Jacky Smith, Director of Community Options Program, Nebraska Department on Aging opened the meeting by explaining the Community Options Program Project.

Despite the availability of a wide-range of local facilities, services and supports, many older people are frequently unaware of special aging and home care services in their area. They fear becoming a burden to their friends and family. And, many do not understand the expanded, modern role and services of Nebraska's hospitals and nursing care facilities. Too frequently, the result is needless suffering, personal losses and deprivation.

Nebraska Department on Aging, assisted by the Department of Agriculture RC&Ds in Nebraska and in collaboration with other health and human service agencies and organizations, local long term care coalitions will be forged to meld the various parts of this project into one very viable, sharply focused, project entitled "The Community Options Program."
The goal of the project is to assist older people to remain independent through access to appropriate medical and long term care, the use of community aging network resources, and other community based service programs.

The Community Options Program will operate on two "front": The first area of program development will center around health promotion and wellness and public relations efforts to communicate, inform, educate and empower older people, their families and communities regarding the resources presently available to them in assisting the older person to remain in their homes and communities for the longest time possible. The second area will concentrate on the building of community coalitions ordination of quality assured long term care community resources for delivery of service to at-risk and disabled individuals.

Other items of business included introducing the new RC&D directors: Tilly Arens, Cedar County, Kathy Boswell, Dixon County, Dennis Dangberg, Wayne County; and Janet Eckmann, Knox County. New projects adopted included the Neligh industrial site imaging project, developing a knapweed poster, the Hartington museum building and hosting an area solid waste information meeting. Andy Tinkham, AmeriCorps

Domestic abuse target of Haven House seminar

Haven House recently sponsored a two-day community awareness/volunteer training workshop which attracted 20 participants in cluding representatives from the Wayne Police Department, Wayne State College, Goldenrod Hills Community Services Agency, Dakota County Victim Assistance Program and Hartington schools.

This workshop was held on Saturday, Jan. 21 and 28 at the Columbus Federal meeting room in Featured speakers for the workshops included Dr. Joni Boye-Beaman, Assistant Professor at Wayne State College. Ms. Boye-Beaman, who has done extensive research on violence in intimate relationships, gave a sociological view of the dynamics of a violent relationship.

Discussion was held regarding how society has considered domestic violence a private matter, but is now beginning to realize that this issue is a public matter, and that our communities need to be involved to break the silence regarding these crimes.

Gayle Catinella, CMSW, of Logan Valley Counseling Services, gave an overview of what volunteers, or those who are in contact with victims of domestic violence, may encounter. Discussion was held regarding needs, options and alternatives a victims may need when they reach out for assistance.

Officer Jeff Ottens, Wayne Police Department, led a discussion on how law enforcement can work with the Haven House agency to assist victims of domestic viole and sexual assault and their children. Officer Ottens also reviewed Protection Orders and how such orders can be helpful to victims.

The two day workshops also featured various video presentations on domestic violence and sexual assault. Participants who viewed "Survivors," "Campus Rape" and
"Surviving Rape - A Journey
Through Grief" found them to be very helpful in understanding the thoughts and feelings of those who have experienced intimate and sexual violence.

Vicki Meyer, Haven House director, thanked the speakers for the time and energy they gave to help community members learn what they can do to break the cycle of

On behalf of the agency, she also thanked area businesses who helped sponsor the workshops by providing food and beverages for the participants. Those businesses were Godfather's Pizza Daylight Donuts Pac 'N' Save, Gary's General Store and Quality Food Center.

Dillon returns from duty on hospital ship USNS Comfort

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Jerome V. Dil-lon, a 1969 graduate of Sacred Heart High School of Emerson, has returned from duty off the coast of Haiti and Cuba with the Navy Hospital Ship USNS Comfort.

Dillon was one of 700 medical personnel and crew members who were assigned to the ship during the operations to rescue Cuban mirants and restore democracy in Haiti. The medical treatment staff came from 52 commands across the United States from Florida to Maine and as far west as Washington. The crew of USNS Comfort is made up of civilian mariners and U.S. Navy personnel.

Dillon and fellow crew members and medical staff treated more than 100 military and civilian personnel, including five Haitians, during the deployment to the Caribbean. The medical team even provided an emergency neurosurgery to a news photographer after he was shot in the head by a sniper while ashore in

Equipped with the latest hightech facilities, the hospital ship has a 1,000-bed capacity, 12 operating rooms, pharmacy, laboratory, radiology clinic and can move 500 miles a day.

Under the cognizance of the U.S. Nävy's Military Sealift Command, USNS Comfort is kept at its layberth in Baltimore when it's not being activated for assignments. While the ship is in Baltimore, the medical treatment staff returns to their various hospitals and bases across the U.S., and a small contingency crew stays with the ship in case it's needed.

He joined the Navy in May 1985.

Sonya Plueger, a sophomore from Concord, and Jeffrey Hall, a enior from Laurel, were among the 51 students who have been elected to membership in Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture service fraternity at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The new members were initiated at the first annual Alpha Zeta banquet Jan. 18 in the UNL East Union, according to Missy Girard of Osceola, Neb. The Nebraska Chapter was founded in 1904, but previous initiation programs did not include a banquet.
Guest speaker at the event was Hutchens went on to point out that many new agricultural products are being developed and that there will be many career opportunities in this field. He encouraged the new initiates to learn more about the issues in agriculture and become involved in helping develop policy.

Don Edwards, dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences and Vatural Resources at UNL, said career opportunities for CASNR graduates have recently had a posigraduats have recently and a post-tive effect on enrollment in the college. This is an opportunity for the students to be involved in an educational field experience," Stirtz said. "They have the chance to practice the hands-on skills they will need as teachers.'

And while students received educational benefits, the community received free assistance for their programs.

Stirtz said the main goal of the field experience is to help students determine if they are choosing a profession that fits their interests, by allowing them an opportunity to ork in a setting where they help people better their lives.

Stirtz said the program also helps students who plan to teach develop an understanding and empathy for human diversity and issues of equality, gain an appreciation of human service work and its value to others, and begin to understand the school, home and community relationships.

Proper respect cures a lot of ills

My employer, like most, is concerned about political correctness. Therefore, we had a mandatory inservice regarding cultural diversity last fall.

I was pretty sure I didn't need it; but it was mandatory, and I got paid, so I showed up.

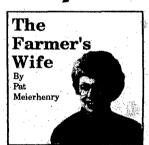

We were given a sheet of paper headed by the question, what is a community and what are its characteristics? There were 10 blanks. I wrote: common goals, security and educational opportunities. Others added variety, communication, values, stability, leadership, compassion, privacy, tolerance, support, a sense of belonging and respect.

We were then asked to vote on the single most important item.

Security came out on top. I realized how significant that choice was.

But I voted for Respect. The more I thought about that word, the more it seemed to me to be the one element that would make a community a good place to live.
Since that one hour session, I've seen the word again and again, in letters to the editor, articles on parenting, speeches by Congressmen. I used it myself in the column on the Nebraska-Miami game, saying how much we respect Tom Osborne.

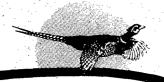

"Mom, they have no respect." I don't even remember what it was in reference to. I also don't know for sure how to acquire more of it. But I'm convinced it would be a solution to a lot of problems if we could.

When we respect our bodies, we eat right, get some exercise, and sleep enough, when we respect our minds, we use few drugs, forego trashy movies and books, and continue our education.

We respect the office of the presidency, even when we aren't sure about the person in the office. Likewise, our ministers, teachers and law officers; all other elected and appointed officials, and our neighbors, including those of an-

Seed catalogs for the 'gardening impaired'

catalogs in January or February. They arrive in great abundance in the mailbox, but I set them aside for my husband, the plant scientist. Besides, the historic division of labor in our household classifies gar-dening as an outside chore -- his specialty -- while I am responsible for the inside of the place. We've never quite settled the question of whether harvesting the garden produce is an outside, gardening chore, or an inside, food preparation task, we get our sons to do it.

But I digress. I only read seed catalogs at the office, and only if they are well-written. The one from the Petoseed Company is always a winner. You can't just go down to your local garden store, however, and say, "Give me some of that Petoseed," because the company functions as a wholesaler, marketing to the industry and consumers under various brand names

Anyway, this year I'm taken tomato, described as "a good variety for inexperienced gardeners who are either lazy or don't know what they're doing." That would be me. Some years ago, I planted miniature yellow, pear-shaped tomatoes, instead of large, round, red Better Boys or Girls. I was greatly surprised at harvesttime, but managed to trade bushels of those yellow disappointments for a couple dozen decent red tomatoes grown at the

Under the headline, "Attention Lousy Gardeners," Crimson Fancy is described as very forgiving. "You can forget to water it, walk on it, let it ramble on the ground, don't spray it or generally ignore it, and it will still love you" I can do all those things and have. But one qualifier from the seed company: You'll usually get a nice crop whether you want one or not." Personally, I don't know too many folks who plant tomatoes hoping they won't grow. But I do know some who fear they won't -- a realistic approach, given their garden skills -- or lack thereof. Call them "gardening-impaired."

I've never grown pumpkins, but I've defaced more than my fair share. My children always want to buy big ones, but they lose interest in the carving process early on. Once long ago I carved the corporate logo of a former employer for an ugly pumpkin contest. I didn't win, but my co-workers and I especially enjoyed watching that particular pumpkin day by day as it rot-

Anyway, the folks who want you to buy Crimson Fancy toma-toes are also touting their Hallo-Queen pumpkin. It has "much better color and a better handle" and is thinner walled, to carve and clean out with less mess. Think of it as a pumpkin for parents. The pumpkins of my experience are thickwalled with stringy flesh, and you have to buy a large one because your hand is going to be spending a lot of time inside, scraping out gunk. The one my younger son selected last October required some because it had started to rot -- a fact to light. There's no reason at all why a pumpkin can't have three ears, and I have known one that did. I always think Jack o' Lanterns never look quite nice if there is stringy stuff hanging out from the inside. Never mind that one session ith a candle turns the innards black and earns an admiring "Ooooh, gross!" from the kids. Jack o' Lanterns should look nice for those photos that show up on grandparents refrigerators, I believe.

The literature doesn't mention it, but this may be a point in Hallo-Queen's favor: being thinner walled. it may be less effective in knocking over mailboxes when used as a projectile. Personally, I've never employed a pumpkin in this man-, yet we have some experience at my house being on the receiving end, a couple year's worth, to be

Fortunately, mailbox replacement is clearly an outside job, and never my responsibility.

"Last year's FCRS was used extensively to analyze the effects of the 1993 flood on farm operators in the Midwest," said Bill Dobbs, head of the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service. "The upcoming survey is important because it will give us a better feel for the effects of two major occurrences in 1994 the lowest cattle and hog prices we've seen in years and record production of corn and soybeans."

Gosch wants to make sure that Wayne County farmers are properly represented in both the state and national samples, so that local farming conditions are reflected in the survey results. She pointed out that each farmer selected for the survey represents many other farmers in similar circumstances. Once a name has been selected, no one else can take that farmer's place.

When we respect nature, we farm in a way that conserves topsoil and water, we care for lawns and gardens and trees, we try not to litter or burn, and we encourage wildlife habitat. We protect property.

We can respect other opinions or viewpoints without necessarily agreeing. We can respect our elders, and provide for their needs. We can respect our employers, and give an honest day's work for pay. #### MUSIC BOOSTERS

Main topics of discussion at the recent Music Boosters meeting were the two benefits that the group sponsored for Curt and Coleen Jeffries and their family. The Jeffries' daughter, Krista, is seriously ill and since the Christmas break has not been able to attend school. The Jeffries are currently on leave of ab-sence from their teaching positions at the Wakefield school.

It was reported that nearly $900 was raised through the raffle. The music students sold the majority of the tickets and the drawing was held in December.

A tavern supper was organized and hosted by the Music Boosters on Jan. 7 in conjunction with the post-holiday basketball tournament finals: It was reported that all of the supplies needed for the supper was donated by various individuals and businesses. Contributions came from Dalton Winds and Brass, the Fair Store, the Wakefield National Bank, Kevin Hohn and Heartland Paper Co., Music Boosters and other individuals.

Between 350 and 400 were served and numerous donations for served and numerous adnations for the family were received. The Boosters were able to present the family with $2,500 at this time. There is presently an account open for Krista and her family at the Wakefield National Bank for anyone who would like to contribute, but was unable to do so through the benefits. The account will remain open through January.

In other business, Sue Sandahl and Sherry Oswald reported on the trip for the senior music students. A ski outing is planned for the 11 students. Students will be contacted soon with details and costs.

Eunice Johnson told the boosters that 10 new bags to store band uniforms had been purchased.

Allen News

FREE THROW
The Elks Club sponsored a National Basketball Free Throw con-test last week at the Allen school. There were three different age groups participating. The local contest was held on Tuesday and Wednesday.

In the eight and nine year old division, Brittany Klemme and Corie Uldrick were the winners. Laura Creamor and Brett Keitges won the 10 and 11 year old bracket, with Melissa Wilmes winning the 12 and 13 year old class.

These students went on to participate at the next level with Brittany Klemme receive runner-up, Corey Uldrick placing third and Laura Creamor placing first in her age group. Approximately 15 to 20 kids were in each age group.

Laura will go on to regional competition to be held in York.

State competition will be held Feb. 11 in Kearney.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
The January birthday party was held at the center and those celebrating January birthdays were Fran Anderson, Warren Anderson and Nola Potter. Cakes were fur-nished by Phyllis Geiger, Mary Lou Koester, Wanda Novak and Kathryn Mitchell. Ralph Osbahr furnished the ice cream.

The potluck dinner will be served on Feb. 17. Since February is Heart Month, Kathy Gothier RN will be at the center at 11:30 a.m. to take blood pressures. She will then present a lesson on the heart following dinner:

The center is in need of a volun-teer to help in the kitchen on Wednesdays and Fridays. Anyone wishing to volunteer should contact Joanne at the center. An extra person is also needed to open up in the mornings. Someone is also needed to help clean up at the Nutrition Site/Senior Center at their own convenience.

Wayne Middle School Band students under the direction of Keith Kopperud, performed in concert before a large crowd at the Wayne High School Gym last week. Over 100 students are enrolled in the Middle School band program this year.
