City employees irked by change on retirement

By Tom Mullen
Of The Herald

Wayne City Employees filled the Council Chambers at Tuesday night's meeting of the City Council, to express their discontent with the cost of a proposed new retirement plan.

The issue was addressed immediately after the council had killed the existing plan effective April 1st with a unanimous vote to terminate the employees current retirement plan which is managed by the Travelers Group.

The new plan, which has covered City Administrators exclusively since 1974, is known as the International City Management Association, and will be extended to cover all regular full time employees on that date.

THE TRAVELERS PLAN last year had a management fee of $12,800 which was paid by the city, and although ICMA has no such fee, they will deduct $18 each year from the retirement plan of each participating employee.

City Councilperson Mel Utech raised the issue, acknowledging what he called, "disgruntled employees," and suggested that the city should pay the fee for the employees.

"It seems to me that $1.50 per month is a small price to pay if it will make our employees happy, and couldn't we pay that?" he reasoned.

City Administrator Joe Salitros argued that the new plan has pre-tax benefits and that the city will match dollar for dollar up to six per cent of an employee's salary each year which, according to Salitros, "far outweighs the cost of the maintenance fee."

"PERHAPS THE question is not, 'could the city pay this?' But it is one of, 'should the city pay this?'" he said.

Public Works Director Vern Schulz addressed the council on behalf of the employees during the discussion period provided prior to the vote on the resolution.

"Our concern is not that Travelers is being eliminated... we watched as hundreds of thousands of dollars were being rolled over with no input on our part. The meetings to inform employees on ICMA start tomorrow, after the fact.

"IT'S OUR MONEY and it's our plan, and we should have had the chance to look at it. The roll-over will cost a substantial amount,

Senate panel in Wayne

Nebraska State Senators Stan Schellpeper, Stanton; Connie Day, Norfolk, and Pat Engel, South Sioux City, were in Wayne Friday for a Chamber of Commerce legislative forum. They addressed numerous questions posed to them by Chamber members and students from area high schools.

Senators have differing views on key issues

By Les Mann
Of The Herald

Northeast Nebraska's delegation to the state legislature doesn't always agree on the key issues facing the state but the three senators remain friends and openly discuss their differences of opinion, Sen. Pat Engel of South Sioux City told a legislative forum audience in Wayne Friday morning.

He, along with Sens. Connie Day of Norfolk and Stan Schellpeper of Stanton, addressed more than 150 high school students and community leaders from throughout the area at the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce forum Friday.

The session followed the regular weekly Chamber Coffee and was held in the new Gardner Business Building on the Wayne State College Campus.

"LEGISLATIVE incentives to attract the Micron computer chip plant, abortion issues, property tax reform, gambling issues and welfare reform were all subject on which the three senators expressed differing views but they all agreed on the need to address those issues and more.

Sen. Schellpeper was the only one of the three who opposed the incentives package passed to try to attract the Micron computer plant. He said the company was just using Nebraska to try to negotiate a better deal in other states.

Schellpeper said, according to his Revenue Committee's analysis of the impact of the Micron legislation if the company had decided to locate in Nebraska, it would have taken the state 15 years to get its money back.

"THAT'S NOT good business practice," he said adding that he didn't think we should attract businesses by giving away the state's tax base. "I would sooner put the funds into existing local businesses," he added.

Both Day and Engel said they supported the Micron effort as means boosting the state's economy and attracting new people.

The senators also had differing opinions on the approach to property tax reform. Sen. Day encouraged the teens in the audience to learn what their parents pay in property taxes and consider the services like police and fire protection, schooling and other local government programs they receive for those taxes.

"MOST OF THE time we are getting a pretty good deal on our (property) taxes," she said.

Engel, acknowledging the need for property tax reform but urged caution in considering new taxes such as income and sales tax increases. "There is going to be a

Iowa teen hurt; falls from bus

A Des Moines, Iowa 16-year-old boy was critically injured in a fall from a window of a chartered bus, Tuesday near Wisner around 4:30 p.m.

Tyler Stiller's freak mishap still has authorities baffled as to what really happened but the sophomore at Roosevelt High School was en route to Norfolk with his school's swing choir for a music festival.

Following the incident, the other 41 students returned to Des Moines with out attending the festival. Stiller's peers originally told authorities that he was just leaning on the bathroom window when it popped out, spilling him onto highway 275 about four miles west of Wisner.

It appears, however, that the story is changing after authorities have talked to all of the passengers but the official cause of the incident is still under investigation.

A police sergeant from Boys Town in Omaha was also en route to the same music festival in Norfolk with his son when he came upon the accident.

Sgt. Richard Griffith helped flag down a motorist to summon help. Stiller was transported to Providence Medical Center in Wayne and was life-flighted to Sioux City's Marian Health Center shortly thereafter.

At the family's request, Stiller's condition is not being released by Marian Health Center officials but in a public statement on Thursday, Stiller's family said their primary concern is the health of Tyler and not so much of what happened at this point. They also said they were appreciative of all the support they've received from friends and family.

Computer network discussed

The next step in a process to develop full community access to the Internet information superhighway in Wayne will be taken Thursday, April 6 during a meeting at Wayne State College, reports Jack Middendorf, chairman of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce committee assigned to develop technology strategies for the community.

Next week's meeting of those interested in helping develop a community network for Wayne will feature an address by Dr. Dennis Linster, director of network services for Wayne State College. Linster also helped design and install the computer network system at Wayne High School.

Middendorf said he was excited about the Wayne effort which has been named, Wayne Information Network Resources (WINR). He said Wayne will be one of the first cities in the state to offer community access and he expects the community to be a model system for other towns interested in implementing community Internet access.

Much of the work and equipment already installed at the high school or the college can be utilized to help develop community-wide computer access, said Middendorf.

He said information and discussion at the Thursday meeting will center around costs and private funding for the equipment needed to allow noneducational computers to have access in Wayne. There has been discussion previously about formation of a corporation to fund and administer the community system, he said.

The meeting will be held in Room 115 of the Gardner Business Building at Wayne State College. It will begin at 7 p.m.

Fair supers meet with Ag Society

The Wayne County Ag Society recently met with the county fair superintendents. Kathy Rutenbeck, Superintendent of the Ag Hall's exhibits of domestic products and arts department, reassured the fair board that there is a continuing strong interest by the people in the community to have this department continue. In the past years the Wayne County Extension Clubs members always helped display the exhibits in this department. The Extension Clubs have since disbanded. According to secretary of the Ag Society Delores Felt, "The fair board will continue to help both financially and in other ways to keep this department growing and flourishing. As we all know, it is in the Ag Society's best interests to keep all departments open and to help superintendents meet the viewing public's interest because some fair attendees come to see livestock exhibits, while others come to see the domestic exhibits."

Details are being worked out to host a PeeWee bucket calf show this year. The fair has had numerous inquiries to have such a show for small children who are not yet old enough to enroll in 4-H. Children who may have an interest to bring a bucket calf to the fair can contact fair secretary Delores Felt at 287-2488 for further details. A pre-registration form will be included in the fair book.

Bill Claybaugh, chairman of the Wayne Area's Chamber of Commerce Ag committee, also meet with the Ag Society board. The ag committee is planning to host the music group, Strawboss free of charge to the public on Wednesday, Aug. 2. In the past years the fairgrounds have not been open to the public on Wednesdays. According to Bill Claybaugh and fair board president Mick Topp, the public will be allowed to enter the fairgrounds free of charge and also be able to attend the show free of charge.

Assistant fair manager Leland Herman announced a new "bull thrower" contest to make its first appearance at the fair. This will be Wayne County's version of a comedy show. Leland Herman may be contacted at 375-1871 for further details.

about seven per cent, no matter where we put it," Schulz said.

Mayor Sheryl Lindau was unsympathetic.

"Chances are, if you worked for a private company, you would not have a choice in this," she stated.

"I don't know that," replied Schulz.

Councilperson Patty Wieland sought to clarify the issue.

Lions Club winner has local ties

Travis Koester and Kurt Naeve won first place trophy in Division E of the 1995 Lions Club talent contest at the Platte Campus in Columbus on Sunday, March 26. They will now perform at the districts to be held on May 7 at Wayne State College. Both boys played acoustic guitars, with Travis doing the vocals to "Danny's Song."

Travis is the grandson of Donna Grashorn of Wayne and the son of former Wayne resident Pea Petersen. Both boys are students at Lakeview High School.

still don't understand why $18 is such a problem," she questioned.

"Then you take it," replied Schulz.

Councilperson Verdell Lutt sought to arbitrate the dispute.

"Maybe after the employees have heard everything about the plan and they realize how good it is, they won't mind paying for it.

"LET'S WAIVE the fee for a year and see where this savings of $12,800 is going to go.

Salitros stated that any savings would be absorbed by the various departments and that it would be impossible to predict any savings due to some unforeseen costs of the new plan, which allows vesting of workers from their first day of employment.

"Savings in the old plan, which did not permit 100% vesting until after five years will not be seen in the new plan.

"There are benefits, I believe, that come with this new plan, that far outweigh the maintenance fee," he said, restating his earlier argument.

The council agreed, voting to implement the new retirement plan, with the employees to pay the $18 annual fee. Lutt was the lone dissenter.

Laundering in the 90's: Still is a fact of life

Detergents are essential to personal health. They loosen and remove soils, contribute to good hygiene, reduce the presence of germs that cause disease, extend the useful life of clothes, tableware and furnishings, and make the home and workplace more pleasant.

The Soap and Detergent Association notes that consumers of the '90s want products that perform quickly and effectively — especially since today's average American works outside the home 20 percent longer than in 1978.

In addition, Mom isn't the only one doing the laundry today. More typical is a dual-income household with one or two children under the age of 18 in which any member operates the dishwasher or clothes washer.

Detergents were first developed in 1916. By 1953, the changes made in detergents surpassed those of soap. Detergents have replaced soap products because of soap's inability to adapt to a variety of fibers, wash temperatures and water conditions.

About 90 percent of laundry powders and 75 percent of liquid detergents are packaged differently and are more concentrated because of environmental concerns. Look for "ultra" powdered detergents or super concentrated liquids. Also, some detergents have been combined with bleach or fabric softener for convenience.

Lynda Cruickshank
Wayne County

Detergent ingredients also have changed. The biggest change was in the builders which help reduce water hardness. Phosphate, the most effective builder, has been banned in many states for environmental reasons. Substitute builders used now are sodium carbonate, sodium aluminosilicate (zeolite) and sodium silicate.

Water condition and type of soil should be considered when selecting a detergent. Liquid detergent works better in cold water than powders because it dissolves more easily. Liquids also are more effective on oily soils and as a pretreatment for stains. Powder detergents work well in warm and hot water and are effective on clay and ground-in dirt stains.

The recommended amount of detergent depends on the water hardness and soil level. Proctor & Gamble reported that most consumers get only 70 to 80 percent of the detergent's benefits due to under use. Maytag reported that far more laundry problems are caused by using too little detergent than by using too much.

Detergents are usually formulated, as noted on package directions, for a five- to seven-pound load of clothes, five gallons of water hardness and 16 gallons of water. If water hardness is greater, more detergent is needed to remove extra minerals. Experience will indicate how to adjust detergent usage to meet specific conditions. If a large amount of detergent is needed to get clothes clean, it may be necessary to use a water softener.

Detergents perform best in warmer water temperatures. Care labels and detergent manufacturers define cold as 80 to 85 degrees. A minimum of 65 degrees is needed to dissolve and activate ingredients. Use hot water (120 to 140 degrees) for whites and heavily soiled colorfast items; warm water (85 to 105 degrees) for most loads; and cold water (65 to 75 degrees) for bright colors and lightly soiled items.

Laundering in the 90's is still a fact of life, but knowing the facts will make the task much easier.

Q. My suit is ruined! I picked it up at the cleaners and it's as stiff as a board. What should I do?

A. Your better dry cleaners use sizing to maintain the body of your garment. Certain fabrics retain more sizing than the customer desires. This can easily be rinsed out with no damage to the clothes. Simply return the garment to your dry cleaner and explain the problem.

The "Word" for the Week

So you're not perfect

"Perfection only comes in heaven. But we drive ourselves excessively and exclaim, 'You know I'm a perfectionist.' Here is the height of contradiction. We push ourselves to reach perfection in our marriage, on the job, or with our children. When we fail, we excuse ourselves, 'After all, I'm only human.' We know we cannot reach perfection. In the mean time, we impose no small amount of stress upon ourselves. What is the answer? The actual reason we are not perfect is sin. We must accept this. 'If we say that we have no sin, we are deceiving ourselves' (1 John 1:8). The answer to sin is not more work. More work increases stress. The answer is God's grace. By God's grace we receive new hearts. Through faith in Christ, we receive forgiveness. 'For by grace you have been saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God' (Ephesians 2:8). No work is not the answer either. God's grace extends to our desire to do good works. 'For we are His workmanship created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand that we should walk in them' (Ephesians 2:10). Here is God's answer to excessive, improper, self-imposed stress. First, we must receive forgiveness for sins. Second, with God's strength, we must accomplish the good works already planned for us.

Melinda Mohr earns MVP award at USD indoor invite

Winside track team competes

The Winside track teams traveled to Vermillion, S.D., Tuesday to compete in the largest meet of the season—including the state track meet.

Athletes from Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota were present and according to Winside athletic director Jim Winch, over 1450 athletes competed.

No team scoring was kept but the Wildcats girls and boys teams fared very well considering the competition. Senior distance specialist Melinda Mohr highlighted the meet in the girls division as she captured gold medals in the 800, 1600 and 3200 meter runs.

Mohr was awarded the most valuable female track athlete for the second straight year for her accomplishments. She ran a 2:30 in the 800 and a 5:37 in the 1600 while clocking a 11:54 time in the 3200.

Emily Deck notched Winside's other high finish with a fifth place effort of 4-11 in the high jump. In the boys division Jaimey Holdorf enjoyed another outstanding day with a first place effort in the 55-meter hurdles with an 8.06 time. Chad O'Connor, meanwhile, garnered a pair of runner-up finishes with a 20-2 leap in the long jump and a 6-2 effort in the high jump.

The Wildcats 4x200 meter relay team was timed in 1:39 for third place honors with Landon Grothe, Jay Shelton, Jaimey Holdorf and Jeremy Barg and Jeff Bruggeman added a sixth place finish in the shot put with a 44.4 effort.

O'Connor added a sixth in the triple jump by leaping 40-5.

"There was no team scoring kept," Winch said, "but if there had, we would have done pretty well, scoring 34 points in the boys division and 32 in the girls division."

The Winside track coach said he was very pleased with his team's overall performance in a meet this size. "We've had two meets and two good outings," Winch said.

Winside will travel to compete in the Newcastle Invitational on Thursday in South Sioux City.

Golf variety offered

Wayne area golfers can now take advantage of near-unlimited golf at a single affordable price this summer with the purchase of a Northeast Nebraska Golfing Green Card.

Golf enthusiasts came play as many as 630 holes of golf at courses located close to home—a near $546 value for a one-time fee of just $46.

Participating in this year's Green Card program are 35 courses in the following communities: Wayne, Fremont Valley View, Fremont White Tail Run, Schuyler, David City, Beemer, Hooper, Pender, Wausa, Wakefield, Niobrara, Crofton, Valentine, Bassett, Ainsworth, O'Neill, Neligh, Stanton, Leigh, Norfolk Fair Play, Humphrey, Ponca, Sioux City-Sun Valley, Ewing, Madison, Pierce, Randolph, Laurel and Hartington.

Also participating this year are "bonus" courses in the Omaha and Lincoln area including Carter Lake Iowa Shoreline, Omaha Knolls, Plattsmouth Bay Hills, Eagle Woodland Hills (state's number one-ranked course), Lincoln Hidden Valley and Lincoln Hi Mark.

Each Green Card holder may play 18 holes at each of the participating courses from April 15 until October. At nine hole courses, golfers are permitted to play the course twice during the same day for a total of 18 holes.

According to Green Card organizers, golfers should make tee times at least 24 hours in advance before traveling to each course in order to avoid various local closed periods of play which can include leagues, tournaments or special events. Each course phone number is listed on the billfold-size Green Cards.

An important stipulation for golfers to purchase a Northeast Nebraska Green Card is membership in a participating course listed above. Family discounts also are available for members of the same family household: first card cost is $46 while the second is reduced to $41 and the third and fourth to $36 each.

To purchase a Green Card or Cards, golfers may send payment to: Nebraska Golfing Green Card, 420 W. 4th Street, Wayne, NE 68787 or phone 375-5434 or 1-800-401-PUTT.

NEWS FROM SCHOOL

A monthly feature brought to you by The Wayne City Schools with space donated by The Wayne Herald and Morning Shopper.

From the Elementary Principal David L. Lutt

Parents Did You Know? Dr. Don Zeiss, Principal

Each month the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) sends a two page release that it calls the "Indicator of the Month." The September, 1994, edition showed changes in course taking in high school between 1982 and 1992. The proportion of high school students taking algebra II grew from 37% to 56%, the proportion taking geometry grew from 48% to 70%. The proportion to those taking trigonometry nearly doubled (from 12% to 21%).

A look at science shows a similar picture: biology at 93%, up from 79%; chemistry at 56%, up from 32%, and physics at 25%, up from 14%. The proportion of students taking all three stood at 22% in 1992, up from 10%.

Wayne High School percentages are very similar. Students have always taken math and science course work and show stability over the past eight years.

The proportion of Wayne High School students taking algebra II was 64%; the proportion taking geometry was 72%; and the proportion of those taking trigonometry tripled (9% to 28%).

A look at local science enrollment shows a similar picture: biology at 96% (required course); chemistry at 44%, up from 36%, and physics at 20%, up from 16%. The proportion of students taking all three stood at 47% in 1993, the same percentage as were enrolled in the mid '80's.

The widespread notion that American students are shying away from mathematics and science simply does not find any support in these numbers.

*Source: Phi Delta Kappa, March, 1995.

Achievement tests will be given to students in grades 1-4 during the week of April 10-13. Students will be given these tests in their home rooms by their teachers. Ample time will be given for all students to complete the tests. The tests that are used by the Wayne Public Schools are the Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills (CTBS) by McGraw Hill. All test results will be sent home in the report cards on the last day of school.

It is important for the students to have a good night sleep and a balanced breakfast to help them do well in the tests. If you know that your child will be gone during that week, please contact the home room teacher.

The appropriate way to look at these tests is to view them as indicators. A test score is only one measure of how a student performed at one given point in time. Test results may accurately reflect a student's ability, but there is no guarantee that they do. A test score should not be regarded as a hard and fast report of ability, intelligence or any other characteristic.

The purpose of tests is to gain a better understanding of the individual student. Tests are best used to help teachers design appropriate educational programs for a student because they uncover areas of strength and weakness. Tests also provide the student with an opportunity to apply what he/she knows about solving problems in a new situation. It must be emphasized again that test scores are only indicators. They are not infallible measures of intelligence, ability or performance. That is why we must be careful to use them only for designated purposes. If we keep the limitations of tests in mind; however, they can be valuable tools in providing the best possible education for every child, and that is something we all want.

IMPORTANT DATES TO REMEMBER:

- April 10-13 — CTBS Testing

From the Desk of the Superintendent

As 'internet' becomes more of a household word, many people have had questions regarding internet access and on-line telecommunications. It appears that people are genuinely interested in trying to have a basic understanding of what a network like internet has to offer students or adults in an educational environment. The Illinois Association of School Boards Public Relations Service has a publication entitled 'Going On-line' that does a good job explaining some benefits of on-line research and connectivity to the world.

"On-line research gives students access to information from hundreds of libraries, removing the traditional limitations imposed by the size or condition of the local library. Students can interact with leading professors, scientists, government officials and business people and communicate and collaborate with each other regardless of their location. Students at small rural schools can share the resources of larger urban schools. And students are exposed to technologies they will use as adults.

"Electronic bulletin boards (a message board that when linked to through a modem, telephone line, and computer, can report activities in the school or about town) — electronic bulletin boards allow teachers to share ideas for class projects and instruction, and communicate with parents about homework assignments. In the classroom, teachers move into the role of "coach" or facilitator and not only that of a "giver of information," and students become actively involved in the learning process.

"Schools can easily transfer documents and data between sites electronically. Administrators can connect with other educators for discussions on the latest in school management, curriculum, services, operations and technology."

In a class all its own, the internet is a system that links most online networks to each other worldwide. Educators can log onto a local network and reach networks almost anywhere else to communicate with others, do research, and join on-line activities. Schools can sometimes get accounts on a local college system or pay to join a commercial service. Many state and regional networks, often free or low-cost, offer educators access to the internet.

Nebraska is fortunate to have passed legislation last year that created an internet access trunk across the state. The ESU's (Educational Service Units) like the one located in Wakefield, have been outfitted to allow internet accessibility to students across the state. All 19 ESU's have this internet access equipment and the Wayne School District is linked to their access point. The Wayne Community School District is in the process of developing email addresses for each student in the system to begin to do research on-line or to talk on the computer 'live' with students, teachers or experts anywhere in the world. Not every state had the vision to set-up a network like is in Nebraska, but once fully operational, our students will have an advantage over those from neighboring states.

There will be challenges down the road for each district wanting to have every student on the internet. Multiple access is not free but the benefits for each student, and the learning potential for each student, far outweigh the necessary equipment cost.

If you have any questions about internet or any general question regarding the school, talk to one of our teaching professionals, or give me a call.

Middle School News

Students at the Wayne Middle School were very active during the month of March competing in various competitions.

On Saturday, March 18 four Odyssey of the Mind teams performed in Columbus. Our fifth grade team placed first in their division and will go on to state competition in Kearney on April 1. Mrs. Lutt and parent volunteers have done a wonderful job overseeing our first year in this program.

Also on April 1st, Erin Mann will head to Omaha and compete in the State Spelling Bee. She received first place in the Wayne County Spelling Bee which was held March 17. John Gathje and Trisha Hansen also represented the Middle School at the county level.

As a result of winning the local geography bee and successfully completing the National Geographic qualifying test, Dustin Schmeits will compete in the state Geography Bee in Omaha on April 7.

Congratulations and best of luck to these students as they represent Wayne Middle School in these state competitions.

The Jr. High Wrestling program has just completed a successful season and now on to the track season. Hopefully, the weather will stay unseasonably warm for our first meet on April 10.

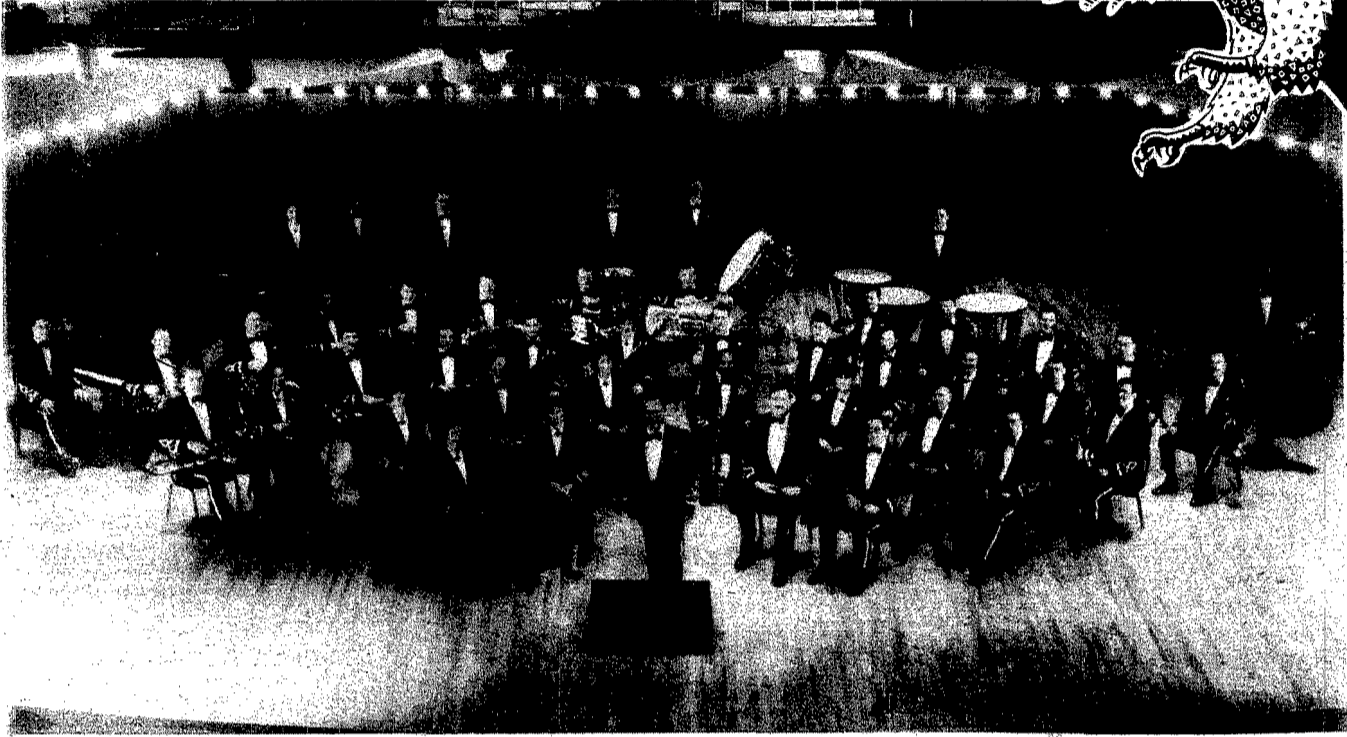

Our annual sixth grade International Festival is scheduled for April 27, 6:30-8 p.m. at the City Auditorium. This event features costumes and activities from countries around the world. Ethnic foods from these countries are prepared and sold at a small cost. This activity has been a great success in past years and a whole lot of fun too. We hope you will attend!

SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

Members of the Winside Scholarship Foundation met March 14 in the Legion Hall. Ken Kollath, chairman, and Helen Holtgrew, chairman-elect, both conducted the meeting. The secretary and treasurer reports were given.

There will be four $300 scholarships available this year for graduates of the 1995 class, as well as two $250 alumni scholarships available for any past Winside High School graduates who are currently enrolled full time in a post secondary school. Applications for both scholarship programs will be available after April 7 from Winside High School guidance counselor Leigh Fuhrman. They must be returned to her by May 1 and those applicants who are selected will be notified at graduation.

Other business discussed included the November dance that was held which raised $60 for the general expense fund. Fund raisers are held by foundation members to cover printing, mailing and other expenses so that all donations made to the foundation may be added to the principal. The number of scholarships and the amounts of them are based on the interest earned annually, therefore, the more principal the foundation has, the more it can help our youth attend college. Anyone wanting to make a contribution may do so at the Winside State Bank.

The printing of new brochures for this year's graduation were discussed. Ron Leapley will discuss the foundation and present this year's selected recipients at the May graduation ceremony. Helen Hancock will make a foundation presentation at his year's May alumni banquet.

Election of officers was held. Ron Leapley was elected chairman elect. Helen Hancock has resumed duties as the 1995-96 chairman. Carol Jorgensen was re-elected as treasurer and Dianne Jaeger, re-elected secretary. The executive committee will be made up of all the new officers as well as two new at large members, Don Leighton and Ken Kollath.

The next meeting will be the annual meeting scheduled for Sept. 7 in the Winside Legion Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The next meeting will be April 20 at the Rose Janke home at 1:30 p.m. Roll call will be pay two cents for every window in your house.

DRIVERS ED

The Wayne High School is offering a driver education class this summer from June 5 through 23. The class will meet in the mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. The cost of the class for Winside students is $135. Students must pre-register

FUND RAISER

Approximately 450 individuals were served at the March 19 pancake and omelet feed held at the Winside village auditorium. The feed was hosted by members of the Winside fire and rescue department to raise funds for a Jaws of Life. Funds raised were matched by Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 1960 of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and Branch 5946 for Trinity Lutheran Church.

Joe and Bill Claybaugh of TWJ Farms donated the eggs and supplied the grills for cooking. Winside Feed and Grain donated the pancake mix.

Humpty Dumpty Day Care
4th & Johnson, Wakefield, Nebraska
402-287-2521

A Working Mother's Response.....

My children have been attending Humpty Dumpty Day Care since last August when we moved to this area. I have been pleased with the many advantages of public day care and am thankful for the opportunities it allows my children.

My children spend most of their time with same age peers and daily activities are scheduled and age appropriate. The written plans are posted each week. Preschool activities, special visitors like Smokey the Bear, and trips to the park, pool and library, keep my children excited and challenged.

The rates are reasonable and comparable to in-home day care. The children are provided with milk and nutritious snacks. The teachers receive 12 hours of educational in-service as well as CPR and First Aid certification every year. The teachers also benefit from having other colleagues to discuss activities and behavior situations with throughout the day.

If my child's teacher is ill, I do not have the stress of finding alternative care at the last minute. The day care handles finding substitutes.

Finally, it's a great weight off of a working mother's shoulders when her children are enthusiastic and cheerful about going to day care!

Openings in all age groups.
