By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

High winds, heavy rains and several tornados caused damage to numerous buildings in the Wayne area during Saturday afternoon's storm.

More than six inches of rain fell in some areas of the county. According to Wayne weather observer Pat Gross, the city of Wayne received 2.97 inches of rain.

Wayne Police dispatch received word of possible tornados in the area and Wayne Volunteer firemen spotters were sent to two locations, one northwest of Wayne and one southwest of Wayne.

BILL SPERRY, one of the firemen who was south of Wayne said he saw two tornados touch down.

"When we see this type of activity, we alert the Dispatch personnel, who start the sirens to alert the people in the city of Wayne to take cover," Sperry said.

"The firemen were out for over an hour, keeping watch on the situation. People from the Sheriff's department were also out spotting," he said.

A TWISTER took at 16 by 21 foot piece of roof off a machine shed owned by Dennis Dangberg three miles east of Winside.

"The tornado came through at approximately 4 p.m. and when the roof came down, it knocked out the power lines. Other than that, I really did not have any damage," Dangberg said.

Dangberg, who is Wayne County Commissioner in District 3, said the weekend rains did cause some problems on county roads.

"THERE WERE several areas where water was going over the road. Gravel was washed away and culverts were undermined. There is also a lot of trash in ditches and along fences," he said.

"There are no roads that are closed at this time. Everyone should be thankful that no bridges were washed out. However, we have to wait for things to dry up before we can repair the culverts."

A tornado destroyed a garage and ruined personal belongings on an acreage owned by Vernon and Carol Bauermeister southwest of Wayne at approximately 5 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Jennifer Damme waters the flowers at the grave of her great-grandfather Carl this Memorial Day at Wayne's Greenwood Cemetery, as her little sister, April, looks on. The girls are the children of Randy and Vicki Damme. Carl's widow, Henrietta, will celebrate her 87th birthday later this year.

Reading new building plans is 'fund'amental

By Tom Mullen
Of the Herald

City Administrator Joe Salitros had a fundamental problem at Tuesday night's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

The soon to be built Wayne Public Library and Senior Center plans have come in over budget, and the funding source for the project appears to be heading in the opposite direction.

Zenon, Beringer, Mabrey Partners, the architectural firm hired to design the project, had originally estimated a $1.2 to $1.3 million building, but the total cost of the new center is now estimated to be over $1.5 million. And the city sales tax, its major funding source, has suffered a 15 percent hit in projected revenue.

"WE WILL BE financing $550,000 from the Library Foundation, the other monies will come from the City Sales Tax," Salitros explained in his format presentation to the Council.

"To meet the projected needs, the Building Committee recommends a $925,000 City contribution."

Salitros added that the committee expects an additional $50,000 in revenue from the sale of the current library property.

Iowa teen recovering

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — An Iowa student who fell out of a chartered bus going 65 mph on a highway near Wisner has been released from the hospital.

Tyler Stillely, 16, was released Friday from a Des Moines, Iowa, hospital after being treated for massive head injuries, including a skull fracture, brain swelling and bleeding. He also suffered a lung injury.

"We are surprised to see him doing as well as he's doing," said Diane Stillely of Des Moines, Tyler's mother. "I'm not going to underestimate him on anything. He's very strong-willed."

The teen fell out of a bathroom window on the bus March 28 as he and about 40 other students from his choral group at Roosevelt High School were traveling to Norfolk for a music festival.

He apparently was leaning on the bathroom window when it popped out.

Since the accident, Stillely has been in three hospitals and rehabilitation centers.

Ms. Stillely said he will continue daily therapy for at least a month to help him regain his speech and cognitive abilities.

"It's been tough, but I expected it to be tough," Stillely, a high school sophomore, said Saturday. "At first, it was really hard to walk. It still feels weird."

He may not recover fully for two years, his mother said, though his condition improves each day.

Stillely experiences dizziness, headaches and double vision and wears an eyepatch while reading. He also suffers from some memory loss, including what happened on the bus trip.

Belden man dies in mishap

A 68 year old Belden man was killed Wednesday afternoon in an accident at the intersection of Highway 20 and Main Street in Belden.

Billy J. Brandow was westbound on Highway 20 and turning onto Main Street when he was struck and killed by an east bound tractor trailer driven by Gordon S. Baker of Sioux City, Iowa.

Brandow was transported to the Osmond Hospital and Baker was taken to Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Brandow was not wearing seat belts.

The Cedar County Sheriff and the Nebraska State Patrol investigated the accident.

Public Policy forum to be held

WAYNE — The conflict over whose values should be taught in the public schools will be discussed at the Public Forum which will be held as part of the Public Policy Institute at Wayne State College next week.

The forum, at which public participation is encouraged, will be held Friday, June 9, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Auditorium at the Gardner Business Building.

The tug of war over school value judgements is one of the key issues identified for discussion in public forums throughout the nation this year as part of the program sponsored by the Kettering Foundation through Wayne State College.

Deadline nears

WAYNE — The deadline for ordering copies of the 1994-95 Wayne High year-books is Friday. The books can be ordered at the high school office at a cost of $35. At the time of delivery, a limited number of books will be available for $40.

Coalition sets summer schedule

WAYNE — The Coalition for Social Justice will meet during the summer months on alternate Thursdays, beginning June 8, at 4:30 p.m. at Riley's. Interested members of the community are invited to attend.

Izaak Waltons to meet

WAYNE — The Wayne Izaak Waltons will meet at the lake on Monday, June 5 at 7:30 p.m. The fish are biting. Memberships are available from Doescher's Appliance.

Farmer's market participants needed

AREA — The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce is organizing a farmer's market. Interested parties may call the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, 375-2240, by mid-June.

Terry Hansen of Wayne photographed one of the tornados that passed through the Wayne area on Saturday. The picture was taken from Hansen's backyard northwest of Wayne.

Crop damage only minor

The weekend storms caused only minor damage to area crops according to crop specialists at the University of Nebraska Research Center.

"We had some minor washing in fields and corn stalk residue blocked in the water in some spots, especially on hillsides," said Keith Jarvi, of the Northeast Research and Extension Center at Concord.

Jarvi reports that most of the corn in the area has been planted but because of the cool temperatures, the crop is just beginning to emerge.

"There are lots of soybeans to be planted yet, but producers still have time to get them in before there is any reduction in yield," said Jarvi.

Areas in Wayne and Dixon county received nearly four inches of rain which increased the yearly total, but the precipitation total from September 1, 1994 through May 15 of this year are very close to normal for this area.

"We had a fairly dry fall and winter and while we had a lot of rainy days this spring, we did not have any huge rains before this weekend," said Jarvi.

First family to use house program now in new home

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

The first family to take advantage of a new Wayne City revolving loan fund to assist first-time home buyers is enjoying their new home in Wayne.

Monte and Cheryl Wieseler and their son Christian moved into their new home at 302 Nebraska last weekend. They come to Wayne from Winside and Wieseler said he is excited about the Wayne program that helped the young couple buy a better home than they thought they could afford when they first began looking at home ownership.

The program the Wieselers took advantage of was established this spring through the new Wayne Community Housing Development Organization (WCHDO). It offers down payment assistance to first time home buyers to help them qualify for bank financing.

The families are expected to pay the down payment assistance loans back to the Wayne Revolving Loan Fund based on income guidelines that establish low interest and easy terms. If the families remain in the home for ten years, the loan balances are forgiven, according to Linda Anderson, director of the WCHDO program.

She said several young families are taking advantage of the program and other housing deals are pending. The program is designed to Cattle rustler?

The heavy rains accompanying Saturday's tornado, caused Logan Creek to swell to its banks. This picture was taken from the Highway 15 bridge, south of town. Several Northeast Nebraska farmers reported that the flash flooding was to blame for sweeping away their cattle.

All-Star band selection

Wayne junior-to-be April Beckenhauer has been selected to take part in the first ever Masonic All-Star Marching Band to be held on the University of Nebraska Campus in Lincoln from Aug. 2-5. The 200-person marching band will be featured on Shrine Bowl Day in a parade in downtown Lincoln and then at halftime of the annual Shrine Bowl Classic. Pictured is Orval Brandstetter, secretary of the Wayne Masonic Lodge, Beckenhauer and Marty Summerfield, master of the Wayne Masonic Lodge.

Power button has meaning

Kids watch too much television. As much as 23 hours each week according to a recent survey on 2-year-olds, whose parents and caregivers use the device as an electronic baby-sitter.

This worries Congress, who in 1990 passed the Children's Television Act, to ensure, they reasoned, that television broadcasters would provide enough educational programming for children.

The Federal Trade Commission, the federal agency in charge of enforcing the Children's Television Act, continues to conduct inquiries, hearings and surveys as they attempt to make changes to their regulations which govern the broadcast industry.

The FCC says that it hopes that educational programming will be clearly identified, in order to foster better viewing habits. But to date, the FCC has made no changes in their regulations relating to the compliance of this act of Congress.

They have, however, come up with three principals to be followed in developing any proposed changes.

They are: (1) judgements about the quality of programming, educational or otherwise, are best made by audiences, and not the federal government; (2) the Commission's rules must be clear, simple and fair; and (3) broadcasters should be guided by market forces...in determining whether they meet their programming obligations.

So Congress, bowing, no doubt to special-interest pressures, has passed this somewhat dubious legislation, only to hand the ball on to the FCC.

The FCC, in turn, lays this hot-potato in our lap. And they are right to do so.

We will decide what will be on television. Whether it be a purple dinosaur or scantily dressed California lifeguards.

And we too then, will shoulder the blame when an eleven-year old burns down his home in a fiery tribute to an MTV cartoon.

Try as we might to have our Congress legislate us into a better mannered, less lewd society, the decisions of what we watch, and what we let our children watch, will always be in our hands.

If you look at your television's remote control, the button with which you turn the set on and off is labeled, "Power."

Lots of head-butting in Legislature

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — By the time you read this, the 1995 session of the Nebraska Legislature should be about over.

At this point, the 90-day session might be remembered most for what wasn't accomplished as what was.

While plenty of bills will become law this year, there's a significant list of major bills that have been put on hold until next year.

From the governor's crime bill to legalizing video gambling, legislators may have postponed more measures than ever before.

One lobbyist said the Unicameral now has something in common with the Nebraska football team: the motto of unfinished business.

I'd say there was something else that senators shared with football players this year: lots of head-butting.

Just about every bill up this year met a deluge of debate. The days of trusting a senator to bring in a bill that's a good idea and then voting with them are gone.

Nowadays, senators — as is their right — dissect bills during debate with amendment upon amendment. The king of this is Sen. Ernie Chambers of Omaha, who uses this tactic to slow down advancement of bills to avoid discussion of measures he really hates, like the crime bill, welfare bill, license revocation bill, etc.

Ultimately, at the end of a session, time runs out on some bills, and they are either punted into the next year or are killed.

This was also a tough session because big chunks of time were eaten up by debates over the state budget and those business incentive bills that were supposed to attract that computer-chip company. What was its name? Micron?

Time, and money, killed proposals to provide a sales tax break for farmers on purchases of veterinarian supplies and to provide a $6 million discretionary fund for the governor for economic development efforts.

Senators pulled those bills in light of the Legislature's efforts to balance the state budget, and opposition raised about spending multi-millions on those purposes.

Controversy postponed the crime and gambling bills, though there is still a chance the crime bill could return.

Last week, senators just weren't all ready to amend the bill in the waning minutes of debate.

I'm sure the governor and other backers of getting tough on crime now wish they'd brought up the idea sooner than the 80th day of the 90-day session.

Controversy, and a lack of agreement, also put off bills dealing with the state's citizen petition process, the scope of practice of nurse practitioners and the "taking" of private property rights.

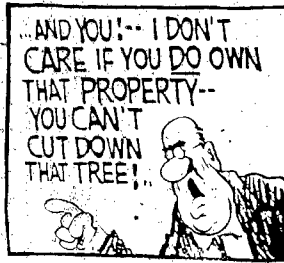

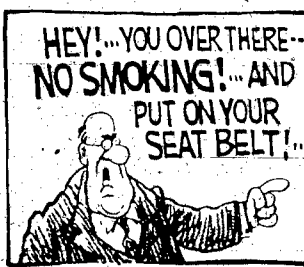

After court rulings last year knocked off initiatives put on the 1994 ballot by petition drives, some senators used the opportunity to revisit the entire issue of petition drives.

Debate then bogged down over how many signatures should be required and whether signatures collected by paid-petition circulators should be treated differently.

Let's face it, the Legislature is just not very excited about giving special interests the power to rule the state through petition drives.

And, as we saw this year, lawmakers are just as reluctant to pass bills that are complex and controversial without more debate.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Information is new coin of the realm

In an "informationized" society, information is the new wealth.

Information is more important than property. It is in reality the new coin of the realm.

Man's thirst for information was the driving force behind developing a global educational system.

Information is so specialized that information factories award "degrees" identifying the scope of information in which the graduate concentrated. A question often fielded by college freshmen: "What is your major?" In other words, in what area of information are you specializing?

Information is the parent of all "inventions" including the wheel, airplane, space vehicles, and everything else.

Could your mind give birth to a product desired by consumers? Yes! If you had the right information, and using it, your mind implemented the gymnastics of its genius.

Fashioning a hydrogen bomb is more intricate than designing a ladder. Both, however, require the wealth of processing information intelligently.

Alexander Bell's mind invented the telephone, a mechanism for transferring information. Other techniques used in transporting information include the telegraph, television, books, magazines, newspapers, radio, audio and video recordings, and computers, to name a few. These devices are the products of information, and they carry information, but they are not the information! The human brain, home of the mind, is the greatest information processor, and you only get one.

Individuals may possess all the conceivable information transports, but unless there is intelligent data to be transferred, and an intelligent receiver, the device is useless.

Regardless of the type of work you do, essentially you get paid for handling information, even as do lawyers and doctors, which brings us to another point.

We humans are identified by what type of information we are selling. Lawyers and doctors go to school to absorb the appropriate information, then open their offices and apply that information to human problems.

All for a fee, of course. Who would want a lawyer handling the surgical scalpel, or having a surgeon orating as defense counsel? Most of our information, gathered through schooling, lies in a narrow field. The astrophysicist is not schooled in dentistry, and the airline pilot is not trained in pharmacy. What we think about gives us individuality. We are characterized by the information we deliver.

Entrepreneurs, capitalists, financiers and industrialists, are all busy selling what they know. In reality, an employee is renting out his or her mind as an information processor.

School is out...but accumulating information lasts forever!

Clean up potty-mouth language

Are there any dirty words in the English language anymore?

It used to be that there were a bunch of words which were never used in polite company. But they came in handy when you were alone had wanted to succinctly express your sentiments after dropping that heavy crate on your toe.

I am beginning to think, however, that there aren't any dirty words anymore. Hit your thumb with a hammer and about most emphatic epigram you can utter is "Oh My that Hurts." The four letter words that used to turn the air blue and make the thumb feel better don't work anymore.

The air is already too blue. Former dirty words don't carry the same effective meaning they once did. They have lost their impact through overuse.

The average PG rated movie today has at least two dozen utterances that would have caused moms of the 50s and 60s to go into apoplexy and begin casting about for a can of cayenne pepper. When I was growing up, sins of the tongue were treated with topical application of red pepper, in copious quantities, on the offending organ.

It was effective treatment. I don't recall any offensive words being used more than just once within earshot of my mother and her handy can of pepper.

She'd have a sad case of pepper shaker's elbow if she were to have to raise kids today, I'm afraid.

Former vulgarities have, regrettably, become a part of everyday conversation. Movies especially, have fostered the overuse of dirty words. R-rated movies make more money than PG and PG-rated ones make more than G. Quasi-clever movie makers have learned that it is easy to boost a G-rated flick up in the profitability ranks simply by spicing up the dialog.

Even television shows push the limits of good taste in language use. Isn't there a popular show about a guy named Beavis and his sidekick who has a head that looks like a used, discarded cigarette? If I would have called my brother that growing up (even though I wanted to many times) there would have been a sudden acute shortage on the world pepper market. We learned

Mann Overboard

By Les Mann

other ways to communicate our emotions.

Kids are growing up today thinking to be cool, like the media stars they admire, they have to talk trash. And it is not just the kids who have stepped into the language gutter.

Adults are also becoming less effective communicators through the routine (over) use of vulgarities.

So when will the common use of dirty words move into print communications? That was a discussion topic during a recent Nebraska Press Association meeting. The college language professor who lead the discussion explained that European cultures, from whom we inherited our language, are among the few on Earth who use vulgarities as points of emphasis in verbal discourse. American Indians and Asian cultures don't have potty mouths.

It was interesting to participate in the dirty word discussion at the press meeting. We all started out trying to be polite and not actually say the words we were discussing. But by the end even the older grandmotherly ones among us were using the worst of the worst openly. It was a good discussion and it made all of us rethink our policies on treatment of vulgarities in the language.

The young newspaper people in the session thought their work should reflect the community and if gutter language is used as a matter of course in everyday conversation, it should also be reflected on the pages of their newspapers. The older group held to a different standard. I hate to admit it, but I was in the older group arguing for avoidance of dirty words in print.

But what if a city council member were to call someone a no good #@!-%!*& during a council meeting? Would we print a direct quote and use the real words uttered?

I doubt it, but there is always a possibility depending on the circumstances. I think we could convey the story about what transpired and what was said without resorting to putting the actual words in print. I figure I don't want any words in your newspaper that would cause Mom to reach for the cayenne if I were reading her the stories aloud.

Those who want to effectively use the language to communicate usually will find they can do a better job of it without resorting to low-life expletives. I think that is the standard we should all try to maintain.

The dirty words are out there enough. We don't want to be a party to fostering their further use. We would prefer to see the trend move back the other way and we expect it will as the old dirty words continue to loose their impact with overuse.

Wayne baseball season begins

The Wayne Midgets and Junior Legion baseball teams opened up season play at the annual Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament last week with the Midgets losing two games while the Juniors went 1-1.

The Midgets fell by a 6-3 margin to Norfolk Nucor in their first game of the season with Josh Starzl taking the loss from the mound. Both teams had five runs and two errors.

Wayne's hits all came from the bottom of the batting order with Ryan Sturm leading the way with two singles. Jeremy Lutt and Tyler Endicott each doubled and Kurtis Keller singled.

Last Friday the Midgets lost a 6-1 decision to West Point with Tyler Endicott taking the loss. Wayne actually out-hit its opponent, 5-4 but the locals suffered four errors compared to none for the winners.

Brian Fernau supplied Wayne with its only run after an inside-the-park home run in the seventh inning. Josh Starzl doubled and singled while Robbie Sturm and Ryan Sturm each had one base hit.

The Juniors lost their first game of the season last Friday against Wakefield, 3-0 with Cody Stracke taking the pitching loss while Shane Schuster garnered the win for Wakefield.

Wayne out-hit Wakefield, 2-1 but they left eight runners on base compared to six for the host team. Wakefield did commit five errors compared to just two for Wayne.

Jeremy Sturm and Dusty Jensen each singled for Wayne and Wakefield's lone hit came from Josh Snyder with a single. Schuster struck out 10 Wayne batters while Stracke struck out six Wakefield batters.

Michael Bljohm scored two of Wakefield's three runs and Shane Schuster scored the other on a sacrifice from Justin Dutcher.

Wayne did come back on Monday night to defeat Neligh by an 8-0 margin as Jeremy Sturm struck out nine and earned the win while Dusty Jensen got the save.

Wayne pounded out 10 hits while limiting Neligh to two. The locals scored four in the first inning and added the other four in the sixth. Dusty Jensen smacked three singles while Josh Starzl doubled and singled. Jaimy Holdorf had two singles and Jeremy Sturm doubled while Cody Stracke and Ryan Junck each singled to even the record at 1-1.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT in Wayne the two teams played their home openers as they entertained Pender and it was a sweep night for the home teams as the Midgets notched their first win of the season in dramatic 5-4 fashion while the Juniors completed the sweep with a 7-4 victory in the nightcap.

Ryan Sturm earned the pitching win for the Midgets after throwing 3 2/3 innings before being relieved by Josh Starzl for the final 3 1/3 innings. Starzl struck out five in his stint on the mound.

The game was tied at four after the sixth inning with Wayne's winning run being thrown out at home to force the extra inning. In the bottom of the seventh Jeremy Lutt blasted a double and then scored the winning run after Adam Endicott belted a towering double with two outs for the game winning rbi.

Josh Starzl had three singles to pace the Midgets offense while Kurtis Keller doubled and singled. Lutt and Endicott each doubled while Ryan Sturm, Brian Fernau and Tyler Endicott each had one base hit.

The 1-2 Midgets will travel to play Emerson on Monday night.

The Juniors jumped out to a quick 5-0 lead after two innings of play and were never threatened as they improved to 2-1 on the season. Ryan Junck started on the hill and reigned the win with 5 2/3 innings of quality pitching that included a handful of strikeouts. Dusty Jensen came in for the final 1 1/3 innings to earn the save.

Wayne finished with nine hits and one error while Pender had four hits and four errors. Jaimy Holdorf, Jeremy Sturm and Dusty Jensen each had two singles while Joe Lutt tripled. B.J. Woghtler and Adam Bebee each had a single.

BRIAN FERNAU unloads on a West Point offering during the seventh inning of the Midgets game last Friday night in Wakefield. Fernau scored on the hit with an inside-the-park homerun.

TYLER ENDICOTT hurls a pitch during action at the Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament in Wakefield last week.

Wayne sluggers compete

WAYNE-The Wayne Little League and Pony League teams played their first games of the season, Tuesday as the White teams hosted Wakefield. The Blue Little League and Pony League teams were slated to play in Emerson but that was postponed.

Wayne's White Little League lost to Wakefield, 4-0 with Craig Olson taking the loss from the mound. Wayne had three hits in the game with Jon Pickinpaugh leading the way with a double and single. Danny Roerber also laced a single.

The Pony League team lost an 8-1 decision to Wakefield with Jeremy Dorcey taking the pitching loss. Wayne mustered just two hits, singles by Joel Munson and Dan Nelson with Nelson also notching the team's only rbi.

Dalton named Academic All-District

WAYNE-Wayne State College sophomore Kathy Dalton, a member of the Wildcat cross country and track teams, has been named to the GTE Academic All-District VII At-Large second team. District VII includes schools from Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Alberta and Saskatchewan in Canada.

Dalton, a native of Waverly has a grade point average of 4.00 in business administration and is a Presidential Scholar-Athlete. Among her many accomplishments includes setting the school record in the 1,000 meter, 1,500 meter, 5,000 meter and mile events. She also is a member of three school record setting relay teams. This past fall, Dalton served as captain of the Wildcat cross country team.

Weightlifting schedule at Wayne High

WAYNE-The strength training program at the high school will begin Monday, June 5 and run through August 11. Lifting will be done on a four day per week program. It will be a split routine, meaning the upper body lifting and lower body lifting will be done on different days. The weightroom will be open Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays during the following hours: 6-9 a.m. and 4-7 p.m.

The weightroom is open for all athletes to use including eighth graders and seventh graders. "We really encourage the eighth graders to come work out," Lonnie Ehrhardt said. "This is set up for boys and girls."

Junior golf school set in Wakefield

WAKEFIELD-Logan Valley Golf Course in Wakefield will be sponsoring a junior golf school which starts Monday, June 5 and runs for five weeks, not counting July 4. There will be one hour sessions each Monday and Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. The fee is $25 which covers all expenses. The school will be instructed by Mike Zagalis.

T-Ball slated in Carroll

CARROLL-Summer T-Ball for girls and boys ages 5-7 will begin with a parent/practice meeting and session on Sunday, June 4 from 6-7:30 p.m. at the Carroll Ball Park.

Wayne High volleyball clinic set

WAYNE-Wayne High volleyball coach Joyce Hoskins will conduct a volleyball clinic for Wayne girls from grades 4-12 on June 14-15-16 at the high school.

The cost of the clinic is $15 with fourth through sixth graders attending sessions from 12-1:30 each day while seventh and eighth graders will attend sessions from 10-11:30 a.m. High school players will have two sessions each day from 8-10 a.m. and 1:30-3 p.m.

The clinic is designed for working on individual and team skills. Pre-registration is preferred but if it can not be done, registration can take place at the time of the first session if proper physical papers are provided along with parental consent.

For more information contact Joyce Hoskins at 375-2230 or 287-2046.

Wayne State recruits

Wayne softball standouts Carrie Fink and Wendy Beiermann recently signed letters of intent to play college softball next season with the Wayne State Wildcats and coach Joan Scherbring. Beiermann faced 1038 batters last season and struck out 280 while only walking 97. She also hit .306. Fink was the lead-off hitter for coach Bob O'Borny's 18-under team and hit .384 with an on-base percentage of .538. Pictured from back left: Ron Fink, Kathy Fink, Bob O'Borny, Mike Beiermann and Carolyn Beiermann.

Wayne girls win softball opener with Beemer, 7-3

The Wayne 18-under girls fast pitch softball team opened up season play at home, Tuesday in winning fashion as they defeated Beemer, 7-3.

Bob O'borny's squad scored two runs in the bottom of the first inning and never trailed with veteran pitcher Wendy Beiermann notching the victory from the mound.

Beiermann struck out 10 Beemer batters and walked just three while scattering four hits. Wayne, meanwhile, belted 10 hits with Molly Melena, Katie Lutt and Shona Stracko each garnering two singles while Carrie Fink doubled. Jenny Thompson, Jenni Beiermann and Kristen Hurlbert each had one single.

MOLLY MELENA fields a ground ball during the girls 18-under fast pitch game with Beemer, Tuesday night in Wayne.

Playground construction crew

The Wayne High Vocational Building Construction class kept busy throughout the year with projects such as the installing of playground equipment at rural school district 57 south of Wayne. Pictured from left: Scott Sievers, Matt Niemann, Brian Heinemann, Lucas Thompson, Jeremy Beckenhauer, Josh Swanson and Jon Pick. The class, instructed by Dave Hix, did a shingle job, basement remodel and finish job, front porch, counter tops and other small projects. Hix did say the class is looking for some fall projects if anyone has something they need done. "We'll do shingling, flat work, decks, etc." Hix said. For more information call Hix at 375-3150 or 375-2712.

Wakefield Juniors win first games of season at own tourney

Paul Eaton's Wakefield baseball team won their first two games of the Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament and advanced to the finals along with Wisner-Pilger-Beemer.

Wakefield defeated Wayne, 3-0 in the first game last Friday before shutting out Neligh, 5-0 on Memorial Day. Shane Schuster got the win from the mound against Wayne and struck out 10 batters while scattering just two hits.

Wakefield's offense, however, could only muster one hit—a Josh Snyder single despite earning the win. Michael Blohm scored two of the winners' three runs and Shane Schuster scored the other on a sacrifice from Justin Dutcher.

Against Neligh the winners had six hits and two errors in scoring five runs while limiting Neligh to two hits and three errors. Travis Birkley kept the visitors at bay with an 11-strikeout performance.

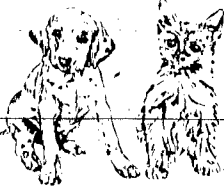

Mike McQuistan paced the winners with two singles while Michael Blohm tripled and Shane Schuster doubled. Justin Dutcher and Cory Coble each singled.

The Wakefield Midgets won their season opener with a 5-4 victory over Neligh with Josh Templeman earning the win. Wakefield was out-hit, 5-2 but Neligh committed six errors. Justin Mackling and Matt Kucera each had base hits for the winners.

Family plans change when tornado visits

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Last Saturday was much like any normal Saturday for Sandy Bartling as she came into town and ran errands before returning home early afternoon to prepare for an evening with her family which included eating out with husband Terry and children Kelly of Pender and Matt of Wayne.

Those plans were suddenly changed, however, after a 90-second fury from Mother Nature as the Tom Prenger farm, rented by the Bartling's five miles west and 3 1/4 miles south of Wayne was struck by a tornado.

"On the way home from Wayne I kept noticing how the clouds were looking so ominous," Sandy said. "I pulled into our garage and got out and Terry and I decided just to sit on the tailgate of our pickup and watch them for a while."

Shortly thereafter, Terry remarked, "those clouds are really starting to boil" according to Sandy and she said she immediately started looking in the southwest direction for wall clouds because that's what she had learned as to where tornados can possibly be formed from.

Things began to happen rapidly at that point. "We have a large corn crib in the southwest part of the farm which really kept us from seeing a lot of the action that was happening in the low hanging clouds," Terry said. "We did see the bottom drop out of the clouds and the tail which began to drop towards the ground."

At that point Terry yelled for Sandy to run for the basement and it was something he didn't have to yell twice. Terry, however, stayed and watched the funnel which was less than 400 yards away. "I saw several tails hit the ground and despite the massive amount of rain we had, the funnels were still sucking up dust," he said.

Terry also said the wind was blowing harder than he ever felt in his life before the tornado struck from the east. "All the things we've ever heard about how and when a tornado strikes leads me to believe it's nothing but a myth because this one defied all tornadic logic," Terry said.

"The old calm before the storm was never a factor and it rained tremendously. The wind snapped off a mulberry tree in our front yard."

When all was said and done extensive damage had been done to a large machine shed that housed two pontoon boats, a tractor and a combine. "The south end of the machine shed was sucked in and part of the roof was blown off," Terry said. "A large heavy door on the east side of the building was blown off and found approximately a half-mile away and one of the pontoon boats which faced south was turned and facing east but no damage was found on any of the boats or the tractor and combine."

Terry did say a tarp that was covering one of the 20-foot boats was blown off but was neatly tucked under the other boat. Little did the Bartling family realize at the time but Terry more than likely saved the house and garage by mistakenly forgetting to close the garage door after Sandy had pulled her car in earlier.

"I think by leaving the door open it equalized some of the pressure," Terry said. "The machine shed had all its doors shut and that suffered some heavy damage but nothing touched our home or garage with the exception of dirt and mud."

There were some shingles blown off the roof and the television antennae was bent and their satellite dish is off alignment but the Bartling's feel very fortunate to come away with most everything.

"I'm still missing some power screw drivers but everything else has been found for the most part," Terry said. "None of our pets were harmed and the unusual thing is all three cats and both dogs were acting real strange before the tornado hit. They all wanted in the garage which is something they never want so they must have sensed something."

On the patio behind the house an old hand pump sits on the edge as a decorator and on top of that hand pump is a small pot. When the tornado with its high velocity winds swept through the farm the pot was not touched and remained on top of the decorator hand pump but 25-feet away a solid mulberry tree snapped like a toothpick in the path of the tornado.

The Bartling's cancelled their evening of dining out but the kids showed with food and the night was spent washing off the house from the debris that had blown on it as well as picking up limbs off trees and other paraphernalia.

A pile of rubble is all that is left of what was the garage at the home of Bill and Staci Pinkerman southwest of Wayne after a tornado went through Saturday afternoon. The propane tank was also knocked over by the winds.

Storm

noise that sounded like a helicopter overhead. We all headed toward the basement and as I looked out the window, the garage just seemed to explode," said Bill.

"We really didn't lose anything out of the garage. A couple of our things were ruined when they got wet during the rain, but we were very lucky," said Staci.

The tornado also upset the propane tank, sucked the glass out of several windows and did minor damage to the roof of the house.

Several of the other farm buildings were missing shingles and trees were damaged by the tornado.

People living in Norfolk began sandbagging against rising waters of the Elkhorn River and Nebraska Civil Defense officials toured the river by helicopter Wednesday after runoff from heavy weekend rain moved downstream.

The river reached flood stage at Norfolk in Northeast Nebraska Wednesday and was expected to hit a record crest.

Flood warnings were posted Tuesday for the Elkhorn from Norfolk upstream, and the Missouri River was out of its banks on the south edge of Grand Island.

The Elkhorn, at Neligh and Clearwater had dropped about a foot Wednesday and the immediate danger had passed there, an Antelope County sheriff's dispatcher said. Residents had spent their Memorial Day holiday sandbagging to protect the towns.

Nebraska's extended forecast calls for dry conditions Friday with highs in the mid-70s to the lower 80s. Thunderstorms could strike in the west Saturday but it will be dry in the east. Highs statewide will be in the 70s.

Thunderstorms could strike statewide Sunday and highs will be in the 70s.

The graduation cake was made by Scal Hills of Norfolk. Jayme was awarded a Board of Governor's scholarship and plans to attend Northeast Community College.

CLOSING PROGRAM

On Thursday evening, May 25, the Trinity Lutheran School choir, fourth through eighth grades, concluded their year by presenting a concert of songs and hand chime selections. They were under the direction of principal James Dreiske. The songs commemorated special events during the church year and closed with singing of the Lord's Prayer. Pastor James Nelson was the narrator.

FENSKA REUNION

The annual Fenske family reunion will be held Sunday, June 11 at the Lutheran Fellowship Hall in Hoskins. It will begin with a carry-in dinner at noon. Pete and Grace Fenske are in charge.

BIBLE SCHOOL

Trinity Lutheran Church will hold vacation Bible school June 12 through 16 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. daily. Theme this year is "God's Special Agents." All children, three years through sixth grade, are invited to attend.

The closing program will be held Friday evening, June 16 at 7 p.m.

GARDEN CLUB

The Hoskins Garden Club and a guest, Shirley Mann, went on a tour May 25. They went to Plainview where they toured Victoria's Stables and the Unique Antique Shop. They had lunch at Grandma Carol's Bread Kitchen. In the afternoon, they toured a number of places, including the Friedrich Shop, B&B Designs and Florists, Rose Garden Inn, a local flower garden and Kountry Keepsakes.

The next meeting, which will be their annual birthday party, will be at the home of Frieda Meierhenry on June 22.

HOSKINS SENIORS

The Hoskins Seniors met at the fire hall on May 23 for an afternoon of cards. Prizes were won by Lucille Krause, Elsie Hinzman and Frieda Meierhenry.

Hilda Thomas was coffee chairman for the cooperative lunch.

The next meeting will be on June 6, which will be the final meeting of the season. Nona Witter will be in charge of arrangements.

GET-TO-GETHER CLUB

The Get-To-Gether Club met at the Country Kitchen on May 18 for a noon luncheon and social afternoon. Ten point pitch was played, with prizes going to Mabel Schwode, Lolamaye Langenberg and Lucille Vinson.

This was the final meeting of the season. Shirley Wagner will be hostess for the next meeting on Sept. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerle Kesting of Pierce were afternoon visitors.

Robert Thomas and Hilda Thomas went to Grinnell, Iowa May 20 where they were guests in the Connie Bailey home. On Sunday, they attended confirmation services at the Immanuel Lutheran Church there. Kenneth Bailey was one of the confirmands. Kenneth is the grandson of Robert Thomas and great grandson of Hilda Thomas.

The Rev. and Mrs. Julius Rechtermann went to Richmond, Mo., May 20 to attend baccalaureate services and commencement exercises for their grandson, Jeffrey Rechtermann. They also met their son, Joe, there who came from Newport News, Va. to attend the event. They also went to St. Louis to visit her mother, Anne Buelter and her brother, Emanuel and Jean Buelter.

Easter at the fairgrounds

Approximately 115 children and more than 35 volunteers from Our Saviour Lutheran Church participated in Vacation Bible School at the Wayne County Fairgrounds this week. The children were divided into four groups and visited a different center each day. At each center the children did crafts, played games and did Bible related activities connected with their center. Centers included Easter Cave, Birthday Island, Thanksgiving Acres and Christmas Country. Pictured above is a group of children participating in a Bible study at Easter Cave.

Weather has a good side

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - Cool, wet weather is getting credit for one good thing in Nebraska this spring - cutting down on the number of traffic fatalities reported in the state.

State Office of Highway Safety administrator Fred Zwonechek is pleased at the small number of fatal traffic accidents in Nebraska this spring. The low rate is the primary reason for a decade-low traffic deaths total - 76 through May 25. Last year, 104 people had died as of May 25.

One must look back to 1985 - one of the safest driving years in Nebraska history - to find a death toll figure as low as this year's.

"The one thing that really has happened is that during the month of May we've had nine fatalities," Zwonechek said. "The closest thing to that is 11 in 1989."

The number of May fatalities rose by one Thursday after a car-pedestrian accident near Wisner.

May traffic fatality totals in the 20s and 30s are much more common, state statistics show. May figures range as high as 44.

Zwonechek said safety analysts find it more difficult to conclude why people survived accidents than to determine why people died. However, conventional traffic safety wisdom holds that bad weather generally means safe highways.

In Nebraska, Zwonechek said, "we've only had a couple of good weekends." People tend to drive less in inclement weather, he said. They cut unnecessary trips and eliminate recreational driving, when they are least likely to be thinking about safety.

People also tend to drive more slowly when roads are slick, Zwonechek said. "If we can drop the

HOSPITAL BAZAAR

Wakefield Health Care Center Auxiliary is off and running with plans for its 1995 bazaar, according to president Sue Nelson. The "quilt" made by auxiliary members to be raffled at the annual bazaar in October is completed and on display at the Care Center and later at the drug store. Tickets are now available.

It is through the work of the auxiliary that WHCC is able to have many extras that other nursing homes have to budget for. The auxiliary is dedicated to providing the extras to enhance living conditions for the residents. Monies from past festivals have purchased dryers for laundry, appliances and tablecloths for dietary, physical therapy and activity equipment, medication cart, new furniture, office equipment, beauty shop chair, VCR camcorder, special chairs for residents, in addition to awarding approximately 35 nursing scholarships for Wakefield students and employees.

Monthly bingo birthday parties recognize residents with a card and treats. Many auxiliary members also volunteer assistance with crafts, reading, outings and special events, Nelson said. The newest project is the enclosed courtyard.

The auxiliary has four general meetings a year and holds the annual Fall Festival. Anyone interested in becoming a member or volunteering a few hours here or there can contact Nelson or any auxiliary member.

CHOSEN FOR HOBY

Andrea Kai has been selected to attend the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Nebraska South Leadership seminar. She will join 150 other youth leaders representing Nebraska high schools June 1-4 at Concordia College in Seward.

Kai, a sophomore at Wakefield, was chosen based upon demonstrated leadership and potential for continued leadership growth.

HOBY Leadership Seminars bring together a select group of high school sophomores so they can interact with groups of distinguished leaders in business, government, education and the professions.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The Board of Directors of the Wakefield Health Care Center announced its scholarship recipients. The two $1,000 scholarships were awarded to Melissa Haglund and Jamie Oswald.

Haglund will begin her sophomore year in college in the fall at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, majoring in biology with a minor in administration. She continues to work at the care center on a part-time basis during school breaks and summer and is the daughter of Rod and Lori Haglund.

Oswald graduated from Wakefield and plans to attend Wayne State College, taking courses in pre-nursing. She plans to continue her education at Northeast Community College, earning an associate degree and eventually earn a bachelor's degree at a four year college. She is employed part-time at the care center after school and weekends. She is the daughter of Steve and Sherry Oswald of rural Wakefield.

Valerie Fischer was chosen as the alternate. She is the daughter of Richard and Leila Fischer of Wakefield and is a part-time employee of WHCC.

NUERNBERGER AWARD

The selection committee for the Nuernberger Scholarship Foundation has selected Jennifer Siebrandt for the 1995-96 scholarship. She is the daughter of Larry and Julie Siebrandt of Wakefield. Jennifer will receive $1,000 annually for the next two years.

Chosen as alternate was Jamie Oswald.

NEW INSTRUCTOR

Marty Slaughter has been hired as the new industrial arts instructor for 1995-96. He will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Dennis Engstedt.

Slaughter is currently the industrial technology instructor at Irons, S.D. This was his first year of teaching. He has a bachelor of arts degree in education from Wayne State College, with a coaching endorsement. He graduated from WSC in May of 1994 and is a Lyons High School alumnus.

Besides his teaching duties, Slaughter will be the volleyball coach and assistant boys basketball coach at Wakefield.

Slaughter's wife, Amy, is also a recent graduate of WSC and an education major with an endorsement in art. She is a native of Waltham.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

Academic Achievement Awards are presented to students who have been on the honor roll for at least four consecutive quarters, beginning with the final quarter of the previous school term. This year, 23 students earned this recognition and received letters or a gold bar for their letter.

Seniors receiving the recognition were Jamie Addink, Michele Mackling, Mike McQuistan, Andrew Muller, Jamie-Oswald and Rebecca Ping.

RIBBON CUTTING

INDUCTED

Matt Anderson was recently one of 17 students at the University of South Dakota at Vermillion to be inducted into Phi Beta Kappa honor society. He is a Wakefield High School graduate and is the son of Robert and Marla Anderson of rural Wakefield.

PHARMACY DEGREE

Sharon Wenstrand graduated from the University Medical Center College of Pharmacy in Omaha on May 6 and received her doctor's degree. She is the daughter of Ben and Rose Wenstrand and is a Wakefield High School graduate.

BIG BROTHERS, BIG SISTERS

Each year, members of the senior class volunteer to be a big brother or a big sister to an elementary student. Mrs. Sondra Remer, who coordinates the program, said that many of the seniors offered, but only nine were needed this year.

Participating were Cory Brown, Mike McQuistan, Andrew Muller, Stacey Preston, Tammy Sandahl, Becky Simpson, Luke Tappe, Kent Thompson and Alyssa Utecht.

INITIATED

Dave Phipps was among 14 new members initiate I by Pi Gamma Mu, an international Social Science honor at WSC. He is a Wakefield High School graduate and the son of Don and Mardelle Phipps.

SADDLE CLUB

The Golden Spur Saddle Club

held a trial ride on May 20 beginning at the Allen park. The Rick Chases were hosts.

The next trail ride will be on Sunday, June 11. They will meet at 2 p.m. at the Maskell Park. Duane Oswald will host. Each member is to bring finger food.

Carroll's Gilmore banks for work, fishes for play

By Stacy Schaller
Of the Herald

The soft breeze wafted the river into gentle ripples. The air was crisp as plop — a lure landed about 20-feet away.

"I didn't have any one to take me fishing when I was growing up," Frank Gilmore, President of Farmer's State Bank in Carroll said as he sat leisurely, waiting for a catfish to strike his lure.

A grandfatherly sort of man, Frank, congenial and full of stories, is a Norman Rockwell type painting of the home-town banker, taking the neighbor children on a Saturday morning fishing trip to the Missouri River.

Frank was born in Oklahoma where his mother died shortly after his birth. From there he went on to Missouri, growing up on his uncle's farm. There, he describes, he led the normal life of a midwestern boy, hunting rabbits and squirrels, and playing "Cowboys and Indians" with his cousin.

After spending two years in the Army, he got his first finance job with production credit, handling agricultural financing. In 1972, he went to tracking down delinquent accounts for GM trucks.

Since 1974, Frank has banked for work and fished for play.

The boat rocked as a good sized catfish struggled against the line. Juggling two poles and a young boy's frequent questions, Frank managed to reel it in.

As things calmed down, Frank commented, "Some people play golf. I fish."

While waiting for another catch, Frank described how he wound up owning a bank.

"My wife Susan was working for the Social Security Administration. She came home one night and said this guy came in and wanted to retire and go to South Carolina."

This was a very small bank. We got together with six fellows who could come up with [$300,000] and bought it." Now two of the original six partners remain.

Frank doesn't have many stories about problems at the Carroll bank, because local folks have been honest and conscientious, but he told one story of a tractor he had to repossess.

"This fellow had a drinking problem. I had to send the Sheriff out to get this tractor, then I parked it there behind the bank.

I took this one foot section of hose out from between the diesel pump and the filter so that you couldn't drive it.

He finally came down and paid for it one Saturday, and then he wanted his tractor.

I told Susan he could have it when I got there at 11:30. So when I got over there I put on a pair of bib-overalls and a work shirt, and got that piece of hose and my tool box. All [that] time he'd been down at the bar waiting for me, so I put the piece of hose on and got the tractor running and gave it to him.

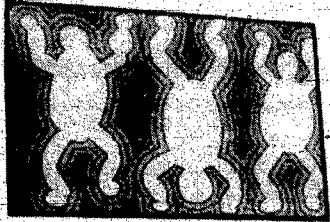

He was going to sue the bank because they broke his tractor. If it hadn't been for some nice fellow in a pair of bib-overalls, he couldn't have gotten his tractor."

Now one of the children was wrestling in a catfish. Wrestled in, measured, photographed, and safely in the live well of the boat, a proud young lad told all about his catch.

Frank said economists thought that small town banks like his would fade out of the picture "like buggy whips and hard rubber tires." Now, they are alive and well as "niche-banks", or banks that offer personal service on a first-name basis.

You won't find any golf clubs in the back of Frank Gilmore's truck. This banker prefers sandy bottomed fishing holes to sandy bottomed bunkers. Gilmore and his wife, Nancy see "personal service," as the key to running a successful bank. They set out to prove it by raising the money, in 1974, to purchase the Farmer's State Bank of Carroll.

YOUTH Art MONTH
BELLOWS OUTDOOR AD

Bill Richardson is going to need a big refrigerator and a lot of magnets for this granddaughter's artwork. Ginny is a fifth grader in Norfolk and her prize winning work is on display on a billboard there.

Young artist featured

Ginny Richardson, Norfolk fifth grader, has been awarded a certificate of academic excellence from Northern Hills elementary school in Norfolk, along with six other honors for academic, cultural, civic and scholastic achievements.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richardson of Norfolk and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richardson of Wayne.

She also was registered with the second annual Motivation for Academic Performance program conducted by Duke University's Talent Identification Program.

Other honors include a national physical fitness award; her original artwork blown up to billboard size and displayed in Norfolk during the month of March; receiving a certificate of participation for the 1994-95 challenge Olympics for outstanding students. In addition she carried a straight A grade average and served on the student council.

Her civic work included helping at the Senior Center, serving lunch to the seniors, participating in the Pennies for the Planet program to aid migratory wildlife and taking part in a program tagging monarch butterflies to aid in tracking migratory routes of the butterflies.

Her teacher is Mrs. Julie Morgan of Northern Hills elementary school.

Blood Bank cites Wayne volunteers

The Siouxland Blood Bank has cited the community of Wayne and the surrounding areas for their terrific support of the blood drive held on Thursday, May 25 at Providence Medical Center.

Seventy-seven individuals volunteered to donate. A total of 69 pints of blood were collected.

The Blood Bank especially recognized the following milestone donors:

Seven gallon donors, Debbie Bargholz and Dorothy Nelson.

Six gallon donor, Kirk Hochstein.

Three gallon donor, Lois Shelton.

Two gallon donor, Lori Butler and Ronald Elsberry.

One gallon donors, Doug Carroll and Vera Lange.

First time donor, Dorothy Wert.

"A special thank you to the Hospital Auxiliary members, our callers and all the volunteers for their help in making the blood drive a success," said Pam Masching, director of donor resources. "Our ability to fulfill our commitment to our hospital patients is dependent on the support of local communities like yours," she added.

WSC advertising club honored

The Wayne State Advertising Club competed in the American Advertising Federation's (AAF's) district nine Dodge Neon advertising competition in Des Moines on April 28.

The competition was a learning experience for advertising students. This was the first year WSC has had an advertising club. The Club received the American Advertising Federation charter this January.

The advertising team members spent most of their spare time in the past months working on the Dodge Neon advertising campaign. A planbook for the campaign was prepared and sent to judges by March 30. The planbook included a consumer analysis, competitive analysis, industry analysis, primary research, media plan, sales promotion and creative storyboards for the Dodge Neon.

Dr. Anthony Kochenash, the advertising team's advisor, said he was proud of the advertising team, they did terrific for their first time at competition and competed well.

The advertising team enjoyed the trip and was glad to have the opportunity to watch other teams. Advertising team member, Joseph Shinstock, said, "The whole experience was educational and exciting. Next year we can go with more experience, and be competitive. It was fun and I plan to do it again next year."

Wayne State competed among nine other colleges and universities. These teams came from Iowa,

Kansas and Missouri. Robyn Wise, advertising team member, said, "I was very impressed with the creative work of all the colleges and universities that participated. Everyone had different ideas."

Dr. Kochenash said, "I was pleased with the students and with the judges' comments about the quality of our planbook, especially those comments related to the high quality of our positioning statement, problem identification, opportunities and objectives."

Morningside College received first place at the competition to move on to finals in Florida. Southwest Missouri State, Wichita State and St. Louis Missouri received second, third and fourth places respectively.

Homeware parties are new

I've been to lots of home buying parties: jewelry, home decorating, makeup, crystal, toys, books; and of course, Tupperware. Lately, there have been baskets — very expensive baskets. Now there is a new one: called the Pampered Chef. It features all kinds of kitchen gadgets, and it's fun.

There is a YMCA Camp just a few miles from us. The managers there are old friends from Exeter. Gladys had a Pampered Chef party in one of the big rooms at the camp the other night.

The good thing about these parties is the demonstrator cooks the food! What could be easier?

The "chef" in this case was an UNMC dietetics student who works at the camp, so she has credibility.

First, we heard about the baking stone, which is the preferred way to bake pizza. I have one. Now I learned you can bake anything on it. You can't wash it in the dishwasher or even use soap on it; it absorbs moisture, and it costs a lot of money.

She used the handy little chopper to chop cauliflower, ham, onion and other goodies, wrapped it in crescent rolls, and put it in the oven on the stone.

While the concoction was baking, she started on a cookie dough that was already baked on another stone.

She mixed cream cheese and brown sugar and spread it on top of the huge cookie. Then, came the piece de resistance: the apple peeler, corer, slicer.

I love apples. I fry them, bake them, put them in pies and dumplings, and even dehydrate them. I have peeled thousands of apples. I have looked at apple peelers, and always resisted.

When the chef brought out the peeler, I whispered to the gal next to me, "If this thing works, I'm buying one."

She put a Granny Smith apple on the darned thing, and by golly, it peeled, cored and sliced it. It was beautiful!

Not only that, the gal next to me did one, and I did one. It is slick. The only problem was we ended up with all these apple peel spirals. And that gal next to me, and Gladys, the hostess, are two very creative women. So they were trying to come up with ideas for what to do with these peels — besides eating them.

The upshot of it all is that I ordered one of the things. And the peels are bows, and Christmas decorations, and I don't know what all. It was a fun party. We got to eat the ham roll, and the apple stuff. I'll let you know how the peeler-corer-slicer works in real life.

RITIK event

The RITIK (Rotarians Investing Time In Kids) program will host its final event of the school year when some of the mentors, students and school sponsors attend the baseball College World Series in Omaha in June. The Rotary hosted many events for the students in the program; including bowling and WSC football games.

Pizza Hut played a key role in the program when they donated pizza for all the mentor/student introductory lunches throughout the school year. Dairy Queen provided treat coupons for the peer tutors who worked with the program this year. Annette Rasmussen, RITIK coordinator at Wayne Public School, would like to extend a sincere thank you to all volunteers and businesses for their participation in this program in helping to make it a success.

Discover scholar

Discover Card Services has named Jessica Jaeger of Winside a state winner of the $1,000 Bronze Discover® Card Tribute Award scholarship.

Jaeger, a student at Winside High School, is one of nine high school juniors in Nebraska to win a Tribute Award scholarship.

The Discover Card Tribute Award scholarships, given in cooperation with the American Association of School Administrators (AASA), are presented as part of Discover Card's fourth annual Tribute Award program and are awarded to outstanding juniors on both the state and national levels in the U.S. and American schools abroad.

Jaeger is a solid student with a particular flair for performing. She is a talented singer, and is capable of singing both alto and soprano roles in the school choir. As a result of her abilities, Jaeger was selected to perform the "Star Spangled Banner" at school sporting events.

A member of the band, she has played the alto, tenor and baritone saxophone. In addition, Jessica is a cheerleader, and takes seriously her position as a role model for younger students. She plans to attend college and become a computer technician.

The Discover Card Tribute Award scholarships reward students who maintain a minimum 2.75 cumulative grade point average and demonstrate accomplishment in four of the five following areas: leadership, obstacles overcome, unique endeavors, special talents and community service. Winners may use their scholarship money for any type of continuing education or training beyond high school, not just a four year college or university program.

The Nebraska Council of School Administrators coordinated the Nebraska panel of judges who based their decisions on information from nomination materials submitted by each student. The judges represent area communities as well as the state's education and business sectors.

State Tribute Award recipients win gold ($2,500), silver ($1,500) or bronze ($1,000) awards. The gold award winners in each state compete for nine national scholarships (3 - $20,000; 3 - $15,000; 3 - $10,000). These national awards will be presented at a June ceremony in Chicago. Individual students can win as much as $22,500.

Chemistry award

Alissa Vodehnal of Schuyler has been awarded The 1995 Freshman Chemistry Award at Wayne State College.

The award is sponsored by the Chemical Rubber Company of West Palm Beach, Fla. and is presented to the outstanding freshman chemistry student at over 1,000 colleges and universities nationwide.

Vodehnal, this year's recipient, is a 1994 graduate of Schuyler Central High School and the daughter of Robert and Annette Vodehnal. She is an RHOP Medical option - Health Sciences major at Wayne State College. As an RHOP Medical option student, Vodehnal has already been granted admission to the University of Nebraska Medical Center, College of Medicine, beginning in the fall of 1997.

"The Annual Freshman Chemistry Achievement Award indicates not only a top-notch performance in the classroom and laboratory during the academic year 1994-95, but also a demonstrated potential for future success in chemistry, outstanding character, and promise as a Wayne State representative," said Dr. J.S. Johar, head of the Division of Mathematics and Sciences at Wayne State. Alissa was selected to receive this award by a unanimous vote of the six faculty members of the Chemistry Department at the college.

Vodehnal is active in the Health Sciences Club and the Biology Club at Wayne State College.

New lawyer

Lucinda Meyer Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bauer of Norfolk, received her law degree on May 13 during the 71st annual commencement exercises of McGeorge School of Law in Sacramento, Calif.

While attending McGeorge, Bauer was a top oralist in the National Moot Court competition and received second place in the top brief writing competition for National Moot Court. A graduate of Wayne State College, Bauer was also a Medallion Winner in the California State Bar's Workers' Compensation Writing Competition.

McGeorge awarded 327 Juris Doctor degrees and 47 Masters of Law degrees at the Arco Arena commencement. In addition, honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws were conferred upon Fred Korematsu and Dale Minami, the plaintiff and the attorney in Korematsu v. U.S., the case that reversed a 40-year-old conviction and vindicated Japanese-Americans interned during World War II.

Presiding over the ceremonies was Dean Gerald Caplan. McGeorge is the second largest private, ABA-accredited law school in California.

College acceptance

Jeff Hamer, son of Timothy and Mary Hamer of Wayne, has been accepted by Dana College as an incoming freshman for the 1995-96 academic year.

Hamer graduated from Wayne High School in May.

A private four year liberal arts college of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, located in Blair, Dana is in its 111th academic year.

O.M. winner To retire

Eric Denesia, 14 of Bloomington, Ill., was on the seven-member "Odyssey of the Mind Team" which finished third in the Illinois state competition recently.

The team was coached by Eric's dad, Tom Denesia, formerly of Wayne. Tom is the son of Charles Denesia of Wayne. The proud father and grandfather said the winning team put in a lot of hard work in preparing the "Time Traveler" skit for the competition.

Representing Marie Schaefer Junior High School, the Denesia-led team was given the "OMer Award" for "skillful design and incorporation of props within and throughout the skit."

At basic

Aaron Geiger of Wayne left for basic training with the United States Marine Corps on May 9. His family invites friends to write to him at REC Geiger, Aaron, 1st Battalion, A Company, Platoon 1127, 40004 Midway Ave., San Diego, CA 2140-5677.

Staff honored

Wayne State College held its annual support staff recognition brunch last Thursday.

Bob Lohrberg, Director of Administrative Services, who will be retiring at the end of June, presented awards to support staff members recognizing their many years of service to the college.

Andrew Soff, Vice President for Administration and Finance, gave a speech outlining the effect of next year's budget on pay increases and health care premiums for support staff members.

New members of the support staff were also introduced and welcomed by Lohrberg.

Recognized at the luncheon for 25 or more years of service were Tootie Lowe, business office; Chick Jeffrey, operations and maintenance - power plant; Duaine Jacobsen, operations and maintenance - power plant; Cathleen Echtenkamp, library; Merihg Sievers, operations and maintenance - carpenter shop; Ivan Creighton, administrative services; Dean Backstrom, operations and maintenance - power plant; and Sharon Flier, business office.

Those honored for 20 to 24 years of service were Kathryn Stevers, operations and maintenance - Bowen; Lucille Peterson, president's office; Angie Eftis, education; Mary Wert, operations and maintenance - education; Lyle Samuelson, operations and maintenance; and Vicky Skokan, business office.

Long-time Peoples Natural Gas employee Babs Middleton will retire on May 31. Babs began working for PNG at the Wayne Service Center in February, 1975. The majority of the more than 20 years were spent assisting customers as a customer representative.

"Babs has been right out front with our customers," said Jim Markham, Customer Service Manager at the Wayne service center. "Her experience and years of service were invaluable to our team."

Retirement will allow her more time to spend with her husband, Leroy and their three children, Gail Jaeger of Winside, Pam McCall of Phoenix, Ariz. and Mark of Norfolk.

Mrs. Middleton is a deacon at the First Presbyterian Church and president of the Wayne Eagles Auxiliary. A public reception was held on May 23.

Peoples Natural Gas is a division of UtiliCorp United, Inc., with headquarters in Kansas City. The company has approximately 1.2 million electric and gas customers in eight states, British Columbia and New Zealand. Including customers served indirectly, UtiliCorp's businesses reach a total of more than 22 million customers. The company also is engaged in various non-regulated energy and utility-related businesses in the U.S., the United Kingdom and Jamaica.

News manager

Wayne State College has announced the appointment of a new Manager of News and Information. The position will be filled by Tegan Robinson.

As Manager of News and Information, Robinson will be responsible for the writing and editing of media releases, photographing events, writing feature stories and interviewing faculty and community members.

Robinson, a graduate of Wayne State College, transferred from Rhode Island College in Providence, R.I. in 1992. As an undergraduate at Wayne State, she majored in English, was a staff reporter for The Wayne States, WSC's student newspaper, and a member of the English Honor Society. After receiving her bachelor of science in English, Robinson became a graduate assistant in the Humanities Division at Wayne State, where she taught two composition courses.

Robinson and her six-year-old son, Brian Stewart, make their home in Wayne.

Our Savior Women hold May programs

Our Savior Women of the Evangelical Church in America held three program circles on Wed. May 10 with a total of 39 women in attendance. The Charity (program) circle met on May 17 with 17 participants and one guest present. The group worked on Bible School materials. The Visitation circle reported that eight women were present for the April 19 meeting. A total of 67 cards were mailed and 39 members were visited. Thirty-two women attended one of the four Bible study circles in May. Lesson leaders for June will be Barbara Sieyers, Madge Bruffat, Elaine Draghu and Gerry Williams. Hostesses will be Irene Reibold, Jude Milliken, Leone Jager and Virginia Backstrom. Faith, Joy and Love program circles will meet on June 14 with the program entitled "Why?" to be presented. Leaders will be Margaret Anderson, Mary DeFreese and Lydia Thomsen. Scheduled hostesses are Esther Gathje, Norma Koeber, Mary Martinson, Ardyece Reeg, Lillian Granquist and Janice Barelman. Sewing Group will meet on June 22 at 9:30 a.m. with a potluck lunch at noon.

Church Notes

Methodists adding service
WAYNE — Beginning June 4, the First United Methodist Church of Wayne is adding a second Sunday morning service. The 8:15 a.m. service will be briefer and more informal than the regular 9:30 worship. Visitors are welcome at either the 8:15 or 9:30 service.

Annual memorial service planned
AREA — On Sunday, June 4 at 4 p.m. the Community Care Hospice Group, Lutheran Community Hospital Home Health and Providence Medical Center will jointly sponsor the fourth annual Memorial Service at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne. They will be remembering patients of hospice, home health and the hospital who died between April of 1994 and March of 1995. Debi Bonds will be the featured speaker for the service. During the service, balloons will be distributed to family members, friends or caretakers of the deceased. After the service, the balloons will be released. A potluck dinner will follow. The public is invited to attend. Call Jean Kinney at 375-1628 for more information.

ELCA Lutherans gather

Area residents will join about 800 other ELCA Lutherans at a statewide mission rally, Festival '95, on the University of Nebraska-Kearney campus on June 2 and 3. Jeannine Wriedt, Leslie Hausmann and the Rev. Jack Williams will represent Our Savior Lutheran Church of Wayne at this Mission Rally of the Nebraska Synod, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. Festival '95 is planned as an intergenerational event. People will participate in global and traditional music and worship, in 39 different "giftShops" and view and experience all kinds of resources and skills to take back to their congregations. Age-appropriate programming is planned for young people in grades K-8. Some "gift" shops are geared for high schoolers, who will attend as adults. Child care is available for those families bringing babies and toddlers. Our Savior Lutheran will be honored at the recognition banquet on Friday evening, June 2.

The "Word" for the Week

Bewitched by work?

There are addicts of all sorts. There are alcoholics and workaholics. Where do you fit? Perhaps you are not addicted to drugs or alcohol; but are you addicted to work? Many people are. It's a primary source of stress. "Who has bewitched you?" (Galatians 3:1). Do you think you are going to get ahead in God's world by work alone? Then you probably think you can please God and find a happy place in the life to come on the basis of good works. However, the Bible asks, "Are you so foolish? Having begun by the Spirit, are you now being perfected by the flesh?" (Galatians 3:3). Now don't get me wrong; hard work does produce results as many a success story will attest. A great danger remains. Work can cast a spell on you. You really think your personal worth is wrapped up in your achievements. You are driven. You are impelled to prove yourself to everyone by the work you accomplish. You are bewitched by work. As a result, you are stressed beyond your limit. You need new perspective on your job. God encourages hard work. He requires high performance too. The objective is not self-exaltation. Our work reflects on God. We labor with His strength in order to glorify Him. This perspective is the proper answer to the problem of self-imposed stress.

Gold Star rating earned for Wayne

Members of Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) Branch 9609, Wayne, have been awarded a Gold Star rating by the fraternal benefit society in recognition of exemplary volunteer service to the community. AAL's 8,829 branches are ranked in eight performance categories. To achieve a Gold Star rating, branches must annually sponsor at least one AAL benevolent activity (fund-raiser, work project, etc.), conduct at least 12 meetings, sponsor at least one educational activity and one member awareness event and comply with AAL's attendance, voting and reporting requirements. Officers of AAL Branch 9609 are Robert Wriedt, president; Vickie Damme, vice president; Virginia Backstrom, secretary; and Kristine Robinson, treasurer. All are from Wayne. AAL, a fraternal benefit society based in Appleton, Wis., provides its members with life insurance and retirement products, as well as disability income and long-term care insurance in most states. The Wayne branch also helped with matching funds for a soup benefit for Carl Allyn in February of this year. In March, the group held a branch member awareness spaghetti dinner. On June 11, the Wayne branch is holding a fund raiser for Habitat for Humanity. Cookies and coffee will be served at 9:15 in the social room at Our Savior Lutheran Church. AAL members will be taking a free will offering and providing matching funds for this project.

Community development training to be offered

A training session for "Partners in Planning," a comprehensive community planning guide to address the needs of youth and families will be offered June 15 and 16 on the Wayne State College campus. The program is being cosponsored by the Wakefield Family Resource Center and UN-L Extension.

Professionals and volunteers who write grants to provide services and programs for families and youth in their community should try to attend. Participants who complete the 10 hour training session can become certified "Partners in Planning Facilitators." Trained facilitators can then lead their organization, towns or communities in a "comprehensive planning process" which will be required for communities to apply for several types of state funded grants. It will also benefit communities by increasing communication about the importance of family strengths and current resources that are available to families.

Plans for a joint Wayne/Dixon County comprehensive community planning effort have been set for Friday, June 30 and Friday, July 21 from 1-4 p.m. each afternoon. The tentative site will be the ESU #1 in Wakefield.

More information about the training and registration may be obtained by contacting Lynda Cruickshank, Extension Educator in the Wayne County Office at 402-375-3310.

Service held in Allen to honor 50-year members

American Legion Auxiliary, Floyd Gleason Unit #131 of Allen recently honored three members for 50 years of continuous membership and one member for 52 years continuous membership. The ceremony was held jointly with the American Legion prior to the regular meeting, and was conducted by Unit President, Deenette Von Minden.

Eva Durant joined March 11, 1946, through the service of her husband, Irvin, during World War II. She has held many chairmanships in the Unit and has served as unit secretary and unit treasurer.

Gail Hill joined through the service of her husband, Keith, who served during World War II. Since joining in September of 1946 she has held many chairmanships and has served as secretary, vice president and was president for three years. She has served as color guard for 14 years. Gail was Dixon County president in 1974 and Dixon County secretary in 1994.

Margaret Isom joined in September 1945, through her husband, Wendell, who served during World War II. She held many chairmanships over the years and served as treasurer and as president in 1964. She was membership chairman for 30 years.

Mable Mitchell joined in December 1943, through the service of her husband, Ernest "Jack", who served during World War I. She was honored for 52 years of continuous membership. She became a permanent member in 1984. She held many chairmanships and was vice president eight years. She served as president in 1959 and 1960. Mable celebrated her 100th birthday in September, 1994 and is still very interested in the American Legion Auxiliary.

These ladies were presented certificates and 50 year membership shields by Wanda Novak, membership chairman.

The ceremony was closed by Donna Stalling, acting chaplain.

Scholarship winner

Frances Doring, right, president of the Irwin L. Sears Auxiliary 43 for American Legion, presents a scholarship certificate to Maribeth Junck of Wayne. Maribeth won the nursing scholarship presented annually by the post. She is also shown with Eveline Thompson, scholarship chairperson. A 1995 graduate of Wayne High School, Maribeth will be attending Mount Marty College in Yankton in the fall. She is the daughter of Dean and Barbara Junck of Carroll.

Solving financial problems is work

There are basically only three ways to solve financial problems: increase income, decrease expenses or adjust credit debt payments.

Several options exist for increasing income but all may not be alternatives for a particular situation. These possibilities include upgrading a present job to one that pays more; switching jobs to a better-paying one; working overtime; having someone addition in the household seek and find employment where more money is made than spent; qualifying for assistance, either public or private such as food stamps, child support, grants or subsidies; and renting or selling assets that are no longer needed and/or used.

Temporary adjustments in expenses may provide temporary income increases. Stop payroll deductions for retirement, savings or education funds. Adjust tax withholding so that enough is being withheld but a large tax refund will not be coming next spring. Do more home production; garden or sew if you already have the skill and equipment needed. Use community resources for recreation. Pay insurance premiums monthly.

To decrease expenses either cut down or cut out. For more people going "cold turkey" or cutting out entirely may not be possible. Above all, to cut expenses, go to cash-only basis; put all credit cards out of reach.

Certain expenses cannot be cut out entirely because of health or safety concerns such as utilities, food, health, recreation and insurance.

Karen Wermers
Dixon County

right now. Paying a little back is better than doing nothing or just worrying about the problem. Paying back a small amount will give you a sense of control. It will start you on your way to solving your financial problems.

To set up a debt payment plan, follow these steps:

1. Find out who you own and how much you owe.
2. Decide how much you can pay back and when you can pay it back.
3. Set up a plan for paying back your debts.
4. Discuss your plan with your creditors.
5. Control your spending by sticking with your debt payment plan until debts are paid.
6. Occasionally, look over your plan to see if you are keeping up with your debts and your daily living expenses. If there is a change in your income, you need to raise or lower your monthly payments accordingly.

You have to admit that you have financial problems and really want to solve those problems. Getting out of financial trouble is not easy. You have to make up your mind that you will pay your debts within a specified length of time. You have to be willing to discipline yourself to pay back the money you borrowed.

Contact the Extension Office for more information and assistance or the Consumer Credit Counseling Service.

DEVELOPING A DEBT PAYMENT PLAN

If you find yourself with more bills than your monthly income can cover, set up a debt payment plan. Completing this plan will take patience. You will have to stick with it until all your debts are paid. A debt payment plan will work if you really want to get out of debt. You need to start getting out of debt

St. Mary's ceremony unites Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keating

Tracy Renee Cadwallader and Robert James Keating, both of Wayne, exchanged marriage vows May 6 at St. Mary's Church in Wayne.

Parents of the couple are Bill and Marge Cadwallader of Pender and James Keating of Lincoln.

Fr. Jim Novotny of Emerson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Church decorations included ivory lace and pearls with cala lilies and greenery accented with gold.

Delwin Kai of Pender sang. He was accompanied by organists Donna and Merlin Ring of Wayne and saxophone player Taryn Gilster of Lincoln. Selections included "This is the Day the Lord has Made", "He has Chosen You for Me", "We've Only Just Begun", "Kenny G's Wedding Song" and "Theme song from St. Elmo's Fire".

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a satin candlelight gown with a detachable train, fitted bodice, high collar and long, fitted sleeves. The gown featured French Alceon lace, heavily beaded with sequins and seed pearls. Her veil was a beaded crown caplet in waltz length.

Matron of Honor was Karen Roebber of Thurston. She wore an off-the-shoulder black sheath dress with ivory embroidered lace.

Best man was John Keating of Phoenix, Ariz. Ushers were Terry Schulz and Randy Gamble, brothers-in-law of the groom, both of Wayne; Daniel Cadwallader, brother of the bride of Thurston and Jeff

Mr. and Mrs. Keating

Wollenburg, brother-in-law of the groom, of Gretna.

The men wore black tuxedos with ivory shirts and gold paisley vests.

Kim Williamson of Lincoln and Charlotte Graham of Wayne, friends of the bride were candlelighters.

The couple's 19 nieces and nephews each carried a rose during the ceremony as a sign of love and happiness for many years to come.

A reception was held at the National Guard Armory, Cheresa Garner of Norfolk registered the 400 guests. Guest couples were Dan and Norma Backstrom of Wayne and Donnie and Darlene Schumacher of Omaha.

Gloria Nichols, cousin of the bride and Gurt Schumacher, aunt of the bride, both of Ralston served cake.

Shannon Gibson of Wayne and Holly Bares of Tyndell, S.D. served punch. Waitresses were Beth Ballinger, Melanie Smith, Nicki Peters, Nicole Bucholz, Katie Hermelbracht, Sanya Simonsen and Heidi Novak, all of Pender.

The bride is a graduate of Pender High School and Northeast Community College. She is employed at Providence Medical Center.

The groom is a graduate of Wayne High School and Wayne State College. He is employed at Northeast Nebraska Insurance.

The couple is at home in Wayne.

Should children 'fear' their parents

Q. What place should fear occupy in a child's attitude toward his mother or father?

A. There is a narrow difference between acceptable, healthy "awe" and destructive fear. A child should have a general apprehension about the consequences of defying his parent. By contrast, he should not lie awake at night worrying about parental harshness or hostility. Perhaps a crude example will illustrate the difference between these aspects of fear.

A busy highway can be a dangerous place to take a walk. In fact, it would be suicidal to stroll down the fast lane of a freeway at 6 p.m. on any Friday. I would not be so foolish as to get my exercise in that manner, because I have a healthy fear of fast-moving automobiles. But as long as I don't behave ridiculously, I have no cause for alarm.

I want my child to view me with the same healthy regard. As long as he does not choose to challenge me, openly and willfully, he lives in total safety. He need not duck and flinch when I suddenly scratch my eyebrow. He should have no fear that I will ridicule him or treat him unkindly. He can enjoy complete security and safety—until he chooses to defy me. Then he'll have to face the consequences.

Q. Some educators have said we should eliminate report cards and academic marks. Do you think this is a good idea?

A. No, academic marks are valuable for students in the third grade or higher. They serve as a form of reinforcement—as a reward for the child who has achieved in school and as a nudge to the youngster who hasn't.

It is important, though, that marks be used properly; they have the power to create or to destroy motivation. Through the elementary years and in the required courses of high school, a child's grades should be based on what he does with what he has. In other words, we should grade according to ability. A slow child should be able to succeed in school just as certainly as a gifted youngster. If he struggles and sweats to achieve, he should be rewarded with a symbol of accomplishment even if his work falls short of an absolute standard.

By the same token, the gifted child should not be given an A just because he is smart enough to excel without working. Our primary purpose in grading during the elementary and junior high school years should be to reward academic effort. On the other hand, college preparation courses in high school must be graded on an absolute standard. An A in chemistry or Latin is accepted by college admission boards as a symbol of excellence, and high school teachers must preserve that meaning. But then, Slow Joe and his friends need not be in those difficult courses.

Q. There are times when it is obvious that my son is trying to provoke my anger, just for the fun of it. Why would he want to upset me when he knows I love him?

A. It may be the result of a power play between him and you. Indeed, there are times when I think children understand this struggle for control even better than their parents, who are bogged down with adult responsibilities and worries. That is why so many kids are able to win the contest of wills; they devote their primary effort to the game, while we grown-ups play only when we must.

One father overheard his 5-year-old daughter, Laura, say to her little sister who was doing something wrong, "Mmmm, I'm going to tell Mommy on you. No! I'll tell Daddy. He's worse!" Laura had evaluated the disciplinary measures of her two parents and concluded that one was more effective than the other.

Grand Island ceremony unites couple

Leann Serbousek, M.D. of Edmond, Okla. and Terry Tietsort of Omaha exchanged marriage vows during a 3 p.m. ceremony May 13 at Trinity United Methodist Church in Grand Island.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Joan Serbousek and the late Richard A. Serbousek, M.D. of Grand Island and Donna Tietsort and the late Mark E. Tietsort, D.D.S. of Wayne.

Pastor Kay Moyer officiated at the double ring ceremony. Music was provided by the Hastings Symphony String Quartet.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mark Serbousek, Leann chose an informal gown which featured a V-neckline. The bodice was covered with lace and beaded Venice applique. Her puff sleeves were long and lacy. Her skirt was an elegant look of crepe flowing into a long flared skirt with a bit of a sweep train.

Her headpiece was made of satin rosettes with sheer leaves outlined with iridescent sequins and small white pearls. Three tiers of veiling with scattered pearls over the veiling completed the headpiece.

Matron of honor was Janet Wright, friend of the bride, of North Platte. Bridesmaids were Kathleen Johnson, friend of the bride, of Lincoln and Mary Jo Serbousek,

Avoid Breaking These Suppositories

Acetaminophen is a relatively safe fever and pain reliever that often is used in infants and children. Some physicians recommend use of these suppositories, especially for infants and children who cannot keep medicines in their stomachs due to nausea.

When acetaminophen suppositories are manufactured, the medicine is combined with a warm suppository base, and the mixture is poured into molds. Before cooling to form a solid, medicine particles may gravitate toward the bottom of the mold. If a suppository is broken, the top half may contain little medicine, and the bottom half may contain much more. According to physicians writing in The Family Physician, a child given less than a complete suppository (the top half) may be vulnerable to convulsions and other undesirable effects of fever. The authors do not believe that there is danger of overdosage from receiving the bottom half.

Survey for cutworms as soon as corn is up

Newly emerged fields should be scouted for cutworm damage as soon as corn appears. Small cutworms generally feed on leaves about the growing point for the first few days of their lives, so scouting early and often will be the key to cutworm management, said Keith Jarvi, NU Extension IPM Assistant. As cutworm larvae grow, they begin to cut-off plants at the soil surface or below, Jarvi added. This phenomenon depends somewhat on soil conditions. Dry conditions force cutworms deeper in the soil.

Every year about this time extensive media coverage about the "black cutworm outbreak" occurs. Because many counties in Nebraska have captured a number of the pests in pheromone traps this year, producers are more concerned than usual about the possibility of cutworm damage.

Although pheromone traps are used to simply indicate pests' presence, trap counts are useful in determining when to look for potential problems. Due to the recent cool weather, models suggest that cutting by the black cutworm may not begin until the last week of May or early June in Northeast Nebraska.

Predicting which fields will have a cutworm problem and which will not is impossible. "What happens in one field usually has little to do with what is happening in neighboring fields," Jarvi said. Each field must be looked at for potential problems and appropriate strategies should be developed.

Any field can be potentially harmed by cutworms, but certain factors indicate a higher level of risk. Previous crop, green plant material available when egg laying occurs and surface residue's presence are all factors to consider.

Generally speaking, wet areas that were not planted last year or had grassy weeds in the fall have increased potential for cutworm problems, particularly with the claybacked, dingy or other species which may have been attracted to those areas to lay their eggs last fall. "The chances of problems from these cutworms are approximately the same as with blacks," Jarvi added. They pose a severe problem if heavy infestations are present, therefore these areas should receive special attention as the corn emerges.

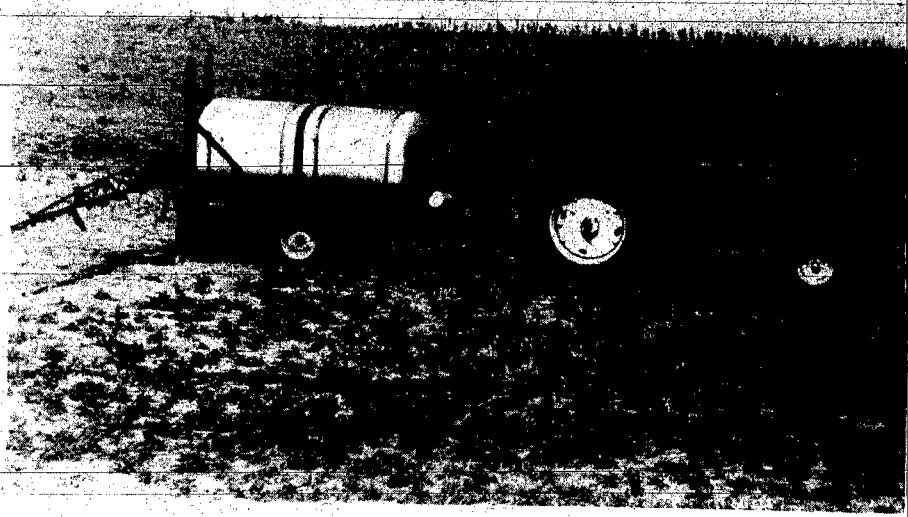

Planting time treatments usually are not recommended to control cutworms, Jarvi advised. While residual materials may work well if black cutworms are already present or infest shortly after application, their performance is not usually as long as advertised.

The most cost effective way to manage cutworms is to scout and apply a rescue treatment if necessary," Jarvi said. Since any field can be cutworm infested, all should be scouted, even those that have been treated at planting time. Once the corn appears, take stand counts and look closely for feeding damage, Jarvi advises. Cutworms begin feeding when leaves are small and so this will give an indication of their presence before damage occurs.

Jarvi recommends scouting daily since development occurs rapidly. "Most cutting occurs within seven to 10 days after plants emerge," he added. Feeding damage in at least five percent of the plants indicates a need for rescue treatment. Effective rescue products include Asana, Ambush, Pounce and Lorsban liquids.

The label generally gives a range of rates to choose from. Choosing the correct rate for the target insect and current conditions is vital. Lower labeled rates can control cutworms if much soil moisture is present and worms are near the surface, or if applied by chemigation. All the insecticides listed can be chemigated.

Unwanted crop

The abundant amount of rain on Northeast Nebraska's plains this spring seemed to fall mainly in the county of Wayne. And the wet weather will bear unwanted weeds, as the farmers struggle to get into their fields. This farmer took advantage of Tuesday's sparse sunshine, by applying herbicide to his land, just south of Wayne.

Weed tour is set Old tractors in demand

The 1995 Nebraska Weed Tour is scheduled for June 19-22, it was announced in Lincoln.

The annual tour is organized by weed science personnel in the University of Nebraska-Lincoln agronomy department and involves weed specialists and scientists statewide, said John McNamara, agronomy assistant.

During the four-day tour, the group will inspect test plots at NU's five regional research and extension centers and at the High Plains Agricultural Laboratory near Sidney, Neb. to see how industry trials of new pesticides and other studies are proceeding, McNamara said.

The tour is open to the public. Those interested in attending may obtain more information at local Cooperative Extension offices, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources staff member said.

Here is the itinerary for the tour across Nebraska:

- June 19: 1 p.m., near Concord, NU Northeast Research and Extension Center; 5 p.m., Tilden, meet at main intersection in town.

- June 20: 9 a.m., Lincoln, NU Agronomy Farm; 84th and Haylock streets; 3 p.m., Clay Center, NU South Central Research and Extension Center.

- June 21: 8:30 a.m., North Platte, NU West Central Research and Extension Center; 4 p.m. MDT, near Sidney, NU High Plains Agricultural Laboratory.

- June 22: 8:30 a.m. MDT, Scottsbluff, NU Panhandle Research and Extension Center.

Many farmers love their old tractors. They look at them and remember times past -- warm spring days when planting was easy, and muddy spring days when they bogged down in the muck.

Chris Akhminen loves old tractors, too, but he sees Africa's future when he looks at them.

Akhminen is a Nigerian ag economist and he's a big fan of the Ford 8-N tractor. More than a half-million 8-Ns were made between 1948 and 1952. Compared to today's tractors, they're not fancy; no enclosed cab, climate control or sound system. But they're easy to operate and easy to repair, they can do many farming jobs and their gas engines are reliable. All of these factors make the 8-N appropriate technology for Africa.

When Akhminen was studying business management in England in 1984, he had a vision from God to end hunger in Africa. While searching for the means, and pursuing a Master's Degree in agricultural economics from Kansas State University, he wrote his thesis on methods of raising crops in Nigeria. He concluded that small tractors and appropriate implements would greatly enhance crop production.

Africa has land in abundance, but starvation is still rampant in many countries. Akhminen believes the primitive hand tools which African farmers use keep them from raising enough food to feed themselves and their families. He sees the 8-N as the answer to his prayers.

Many 8-Ns are still on the job in the U.S. They're not on most farmers' first team; rather they're likely to be the back-up to the second-best tractor, or be even further down on the depth chart. But they're reliable and parts are readily available.

Waynian will head dairy group

Fred Temme of Wayne has been elected president of the Board of Directors of the Dairy Council of Central States, announced Dairy Council executive director JoAnn Werblow. Temme will serve a two-year term.

Temme was appointed to the Dairy Council board in 1983. He served as secretary and vice president before taking over the presidency. Involved in dairy farming for more than 35 years, Temme represents the Associated Milk Producers Inc.

Funded by the federal dairy checkoff program, Dairy Council of Central States is a nonprofit nutrition education organization based in Omaha. It works with teachers, dietitians, physicians and nurses to provide nutrition education programs and materials throughout Nebraska, western Iowa and northern Kansas.

Chris Akhminen wants to acquire 10,000 8-Ns, to ship to Africa. Farmers who donate 8-Ns or their implements will get a tax deduction from the organization Akhminen heads, "Tractors for Our Daily Bread." Akhminen will arrange or cajole transportation for donated tractors to Manhattan, Kan., headquarters for Tractors for Our Daily Bread. In Manhattan, they'll be tuned-up, repaired and repainted, by volunteers such as local FFA members. Meanwhile the organization arranges for longshoremen to donate their labor and sponsors to fund the shipping to Nigeria.

The first six 8-Ns and implements were shipped to northern Nigeria in spring 1994. Nigerian farmers were trained in operating and repairing the 8-Ns. With their new tractors, they prepared the soil, planted and cultivated 123 acres of edible beans, ginger and maize (corn). A retired mechanic from Oregon, who is training one farmer as the tractor repair specialist, helped the farmers harvest their first crop.

Tractors for Our Daily Bread has 44 more Ford 8-Ns in various stages of preparation for shipment to Nigeria. And already, five other African countries have asked to receive 8-Ns and the technical assistance that goes with them. Tractors for Our Daily Bread is exploring the feasibility of starting pilot projects in Zimbabwe and Zambia this year. It will need two tractors to begin in Zimbabwe and funding for other program needs.

Chris Akhminen feels food aid is a short-term measure that keeps people fed through a crisis. He wants Africa to have the proper tools to feed its own peoples, using their rich land and the technology the rest of the world takes for granted.

It's a goal he's achieving one tractor at a time. Farmers who have an old 8-N they only use a couple of times a year might want to donate it to Tractors for Our Daily Bread. The organization's toll-free number is 800/775-2732. Implements for 8-Ns are needed, too, and Akhminen and his colleagues will also be glad to receive gifts of money.

Planting date is extended

The Nebraska Acting State CFSA Committee (STC) has extended the ACR and CU for payment planting date to July 1. This extension supersedes the date of June 1.

The extension is for 1995 only. The 1995 crop cover requirements are still in effect. Wayne County has been given authority to designate as ACR or CU for payment small acres of at least .1 (one tenth) an acre in size, if all other eligibility requirements are met.

The final planting date for 1995 corn in Nebraska has been extended to June 5. This extension applies for crop insurance and Acreage Reduction Program. If you have any questions call 402-375-2453 or stop by the office at 709 Providence Road.

Tarbox Hollow Living Prairie featured in tour

"Our long-term goal and dream is to recreate a living prairie," said Larry Mason during a tour of his family's intensive grazing project, Tarbox Hollow Living Prairie. Approximately 70 people attended two tours of the Mason's farm on May 18.

The project began when more than 100 acres of the Mason's farm was given early release from the 10-year Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) contract in order to conduct a three-year sustainable agricultural study. Early release was granted provided that the land would not be tilled for at least five years. The Masons believed that they could get the best return from their CRP acres through intensive, rotational grazing.

Before the tour officially began, the Masons were asked what they hoped to achieve through the project. Each family member explained a different reason.

Monty Mason, Larry's brother, explained that the financial aspect was one reason. He believed intensive grazing could be helpful for people just starting out who don't have "a million dollars at their disposal." Larry hope to develop the project to see which grasses and plants survive the best since native plants are often times more disease and drought resistant.

Larry's wife, Rosalie (Rose), said that they want the project to benefit as many people as possible. Putting on demonstrations and hosting groups of 4-H students and FFA members are some of the benefits Roses hopes to see.

Part of the field-trip focused on the bison the Masons chose to graze on the 160 acres of newly-released CRP ground. When they first arrived, the 52 cows grazed on the land close to the Mason house. Larry was quick to note "you can hardly tell they were on it." Not only do these animals eat less than the Masons expected, they can bring in quite a profit as well, over $1,000 each. The bison provide "the highest return per acre we can get," Larry said.

Four-participant Louis LaRose, who manages over 20 head of bison in Winnebago, explained that he is looking for an area on the reservation that had never been plowed. He believes replicating an untouched area will allow the best grazing since he theorizes that bison know which food is best for them.

Two "secrets" to successful intensive grazing were the topics of UNL Extension Educator Terry Gompert's first presentation. "Grass grows grass," Gompert said. Because of the bison's uniform grazing habit, regrowth can begin immediately. Ample rest is the second necessity for successful grazing to occur. Gompert explained that if the bison are allowed to graze in a particular area longer, it would take much additional time for new grasses to grow.

Bruce Anderson, UNL Extension Forage Specialist, said a common misconception about intensive grazing is that it suggests that grazing is done until the grass is very short. "Intensive means using your intensive management skills, not intensively defoliating," Anderson said. He suggested leaving about six inches of forage to increase the speed of regrowth.

The next point of interest dealt with the variety of native grass species already present on the project land. Native plants ranged from brome and blue grass to wild lettuce and sweet clover. Gompert suggested that 50-75 different species may exist by this summer.

Gompert encouraged all to pay attention to the percentage of good forage (green) versus bad (brown) to evaluate the healthiness of the grass. Anderson noted that although the brown "junk" is not good nutritionally speaking for the livestock, it does help to retain moisture and minerals. Too much may cause smothering, but little bare soil enhances the recycling of nutrients. Cool season grasses are growing now, but since the soil temperature has finally increased, the warm season plants are beginning to grow.

Finally, Gompert led the group to the CRP grass demonstration plot which focuses on determining the best way to bring CRP land into productive grazing. This land was divided into eight sections, each 50 by 800 feet. The first section was exposed to animal impact, trampling and grazing for three days. The second was only subjected to trampling. The third was clipped while the fourth remained untouched. These hold more potential for wildlife, particularly nesting pheasants. The fifth area was clipped and will be used for grazing once regrowth occurs. The sixth section was used for hay and grazing.

The seventh and eighth sections were burned in early April. It is essential that burning is done close to the growth season to prevent too much soil erosion, Gompert said. Switch grass requires a soil temperature of 55° F and therefore it had already started regrowth, unlike the areas which were not burned. Once regrowth occurs, the seventh section will be used for grazing as well.

Testing on these areas will include measurements of fertility, forage production, meat production, labor requirements, supplemental feed and other inputs. A yearly analysis will be made to determine the profit of the various alternatives.

The Masons have received approximately $5,000 in Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education (SARE) grants to help purchase fencing and water equipment. The Masons will provide SARE and farmers statewide with the results at the end of the three-year study.

Additional tours of the Tarbox Hollow Living Prairie will be given on July 10 at 1:30 p.m. where the guest focus will be on Agency Personnel. The guest focus will be FFA Chapters on Oct. 4 at 10:30 a.m. For more information call 402-584-2337.

Weather woes discussed during prairie tour

A press conference concerning weather issues and the bid to release CRP land was held between tours at the Mason homestead.

Tim Powell, UNL Extension Farm Management Specialist, explained that agronomists generally agree that if planting occurred by May 26 or 27, "we'll probably make up for lost ground," especially if it's another mild fall. However, if an early frost occurs, "every day counts," Powell said.

Gompert noted that due to the extra moisture this season, the soil temperature is an average of 10° F lower than usual. The yield is usually reduced one to two bushels per acre each day the season is shorter. Generally speaking, Gompert said, crop planting is further behind in the southern part of the state.

UNL Extension IMP Assistant, Keith Jarvi, explained that black stem in alfalfa may become a problem this year, possibly decreasing yields anywhere between 25 to 50 percent. "The most detrimental action on alfalfa is that it [spring black stem] causes leaf drop," Jarvi said. This in turn lowers the nutritional value of the plant. He suggested that the best way to combat this problem is to harvest. Delay of harvest increases spreading.

Although it's too early to tell how widespread black cut worm may be, Jarvi also recommended that farmers keep an eye out when their corn begins sprouting.

Bidding to release CRP land was also discussed. CRP land is used to protect the nation's cropland base, improve and preserve the water quality and enhance wildlife habitat. Bidding can be done anytime between May 15 and June 2. It was suggested that conservation requirements will be less restrictive this year than in the future.

Gompert suggested that the ones who will probably "opt-out" of the program are those expecting high corn return. He advises that because of the wet weather this may be a busy time for many, but farmers should at least consider bidding out of CRP before June 2.

Livestock Market Report

The Norfolk Livestock Market fat cattle on Friday saw a run of 920. Prices were $1 higher on steers and heifers, cows and bulls were $1 to $2 higher.

Strictly choice fed steers were $63 to $65.75. Good and choice steers were $62 to $63. Medium and good steers were $60 to $62. Standard steers were $53 to $58. Strictly choice fed heifers were $63 to $65.75. Good and choice heifers were $62 to $63. Medium and good heifers were $60 to $62. Standard heifers were $53 to $58. Beef cows were $38 to $45. Utility cows were $38 to $45. Canners and cutters were $34 to $54.

Stocker and feeder sale was held on Thursday with a run of 826. Prices were $1 to $2 higher.

Good and choice steer calves were $75 to $90. Choice and prime lightweight calves were $85 to $103. Good and choice yearling steers were $62 to $72. Choice and prime lightweight yearling steers were $68 to $79. Good and choice heifer calves were $65 to $78. Choice and prime lightweight beef calves were $80 to $95. Good and choice yearling heifers were $60 to $64.

There was a run of 119 at the Norfolk Livestock Market Tuesday for fed cattle. Prices were steady on steers and heifers, cows and bulls were also steady.

Good to choice steers, $62 to $64.50. Good to choice heifers, $62 to $64.50. Medium and good steers and heifers, $60 to $62. Standard, $53 to $59. Good cows, $37 to $43.

Dairy cattle on the Norfolk Livestock Market last Tuesday saw a run of 63 head, with prices steady on cows, springers and yearlings, calves were higher.

Top quality fresh and springing heifers were $800 to $1,000. Medium quality fresh and springing heifers were $600 to $800. Common heifers and older cows were $500 to $600. 300 to 500 lb. heifers were $275 to $450. 500 to 700 lb. heifers were $450 to $550. Good baby calves — crossbred calves, $150 to $220 and holstein calves, $85 to $150.

Sheep numbered 477 at the Norfolk Livestock Market last Wednesday. Trend: $1 higher on fat lambs, feeders and ewes were steady.

Fat lambs: springers, 100 to 130 lbs., $88 to $91.25 cwt.; old crop, 110 to 140 lbs., $80 to $88 cwt.

Feeder lambs: 30 to 60 lbs., $100 to $120 cwt.; 60 to 90 lbs., $90 to $100 cwt.

Ewes: Good, $50 to $60; Medium, $35 to $50; Slaughter, $25 to $35.

Butcher hog head count at the Norfolk Livestock Market on Tuesday totaled 747. Trend: butchers were $1 to $1.50 lower, sows were $1 lower.

U.S. 1's + 2's 220 to 260 lbs., $38 to $39. 2's + 3's 220 to 260 lbs., $37 to $38. 2's + 3's 260 to 280 lbs., $35 to $37. 2's + 3's, 280 to 300 lbs., $32 to $35. 3's + 4's 300+ lbs., $28 to $32.

Sows: 350 to 500 lbs., $27.50 to $28; 500 to 650 lbs., $28.50 to $31.

Boars: $22 to $25.

Wayne High School releases fourth quarter honor roll

Wayne High School has released their 1994-95 fourth quarter honor roll.

Receiving perfect 4.0 (A) grades were senior Ga'bor Nagy, juniors Kristine Kopperud and Beth Meyer, sophomores Jolene Jager and Melissa Weber and freshman David Ensz.

Students listed to the high honor roll during the fourth quarter, with grade point averages between 3.5 and 3.99, were:

Juniors: Marla Brown, Sandy Burbach, Matt Carner, Erin Granberg, Tom Hansen, Ryan Junck, Krissy Lubberstedt, Karie Lutt, Krista Magnusen, Matt Niemann, Brandon Novak, Bukky Okubanjo, Scott Olson, Brett Otte, Tisha Rothfuss and Carl Samuelson.

Sophomores: Rachel Blaser, Piyali Dalal, Nick Hagmann, Terry Hamer, Kurtis Keller, Kellie Lubberstedt, Katie Lutt, Neil Munson, Anne Wiseman and Matt Youngmeyer.

Freshmen: Melissa Baier, David Boehle, Alycia Jorgensen, Aaron Kardell, Carla Kemp, Kayla Koeber, Molly Linster, Matt Meyer, Gayle Olson, Kate Samuelson, Michelle Saul and Lisa Walton.

Also listed to the fourth quarter honor roll, with grade point averages between 3.0 and 3.49, were:

Seniors: Adam Bebee, Wendy Beiermann, Scott Carmag, Jason Carr, Carrie Fink, Mandi Hall, Jeff Hamer, Chris Headley, Tim Heinemann, Melodee Lage, Darci Lubberstedt, Molly Melena, Andy Metz, Traci Oborny, Jimi Okubanjo, Nate Salmon, Kelly Soden, Cody Stracke, Angie Webb and Jason Zulkosky.

Juniors: Rachel Frailey, Missy Heikes, Mike Imdieke, Erin Langemeier, Brent Meyer, Kim Nolte, Jenny Reinhardt, Gunnar Spethman, Spencer Stednitz, Josh Swanson, Lucas Thompson, Nathan Watier and Eric Wiseman.

Seventh and eighth grade quarter and semester honor rolls released

The 1994-95 fourth quarter and second semester honor roll for seventh and eighth graders at Wayne Middle School has been released. The honor roll is based on the subjects of English, social studies, math and science.

Seventh graders receiving four A's for fourth quarter include Caitlin Blaser, Billie Davie, Heidi Dickes, Brandy Frevert, Jon Gathje, Mandy Hansen, Sarah Holstedt, Klinton Keller, Amy Magnuson, Bobby McCue, Molly Muir, Dustin Sehmeits, John Slaybaugh, Kristin Wilson and Kevin Youngmeyer.

Seventh graders receiving four A's for second semester include Caitlin Blaser, Rebecca Brumm, Heidi Dickes, Britney Frevert, Jon Gathje, Mandy Hansen, Sarah Holstedt, Klinton Keller, Amy Magnuson, Jason Parks, Dustin Schmeits, Tonya Schwanke, Erin Simpson, John Slaybaugh, Kristin Wilson and Kevin Youngmeyer.

Seventh graders receiving two A's and no D's for fourth quarter were Rebeca Brumm, Eliz Campbell, Wade Carmichael, Kristin Ewing, Brandon Garvin, Kristin Hochstein, Chris Junck, Joel Munson, Dan Nelson, Jason Parks, Sam Schrant, Tonya Schwanke, Erin Simpson, Abby Spahr, Beth Sperry, Dana Vande Velde, Michael Varley, Jessica Woehler and Lindsay Woehler.

Seventh graders receiving two A's and no D's for second semester were Darci Bargholz, Tyler Bayless, Eliz Campbell, Wade Carmichael, Sara Ellis, Kristin Ewing, Brandon Garvin, Kristin Hochstein, Chris Junck, Bobby McCue, Molly Muir, Joel Munson, Abby Spahr, Beth Sperry, Dana Vande Velde, Michael Varley, Jessica Woehler and Lindsay Woehler.

Seventh graders receiving one A and no D's or 4 B's for fourth quarter were Kevin Addison, Darci Bargholz, Tyler Bayless, Pritam Dalal, Adam Ellingson, Sara Ellis, Dan Johnson, Erin Milander, Christy Mitchell, Kristin Paape, Joe Paustian, Addie Polt and Scot Saul.

Seventh graders receiving one A and no D's or 4 B's for second semester were Kevin Addison, Billie Davie, Adam Ellingson, Daniel Johnson, Erin Milander, Christy Mitchell, Dan Nelson, Kristin Paape, Joe Paustian, Scot Saul, Sam Schrant and Heather Walton.

Eighth graders receiving four A's for fourth quarter include Hailey Daehnke, Brian Finn, Trisha Hansen, Tary Hart, Audrey Kai, Katie Langebehn, Erin Mann, Brooke Parker, Amanda Polt and Shona Stracke.

Eighth graders receiving four A's for second semester include Hailey Daehnke, Trisha Hansen, Tara Hart, Audrey Kai, Katie Langebehn, Erin Mann and Brooke Parker.

Eighth graders receiving two A's and no D's for fourth quarter were Dustin Allemann, Ryan Allemann, Sarah Buryanek, Larissa Coulter, Ryan Dahl, Becky Fletcher, Kim Harold, Heidi Headley, Brian Hochstein, Darin Jensen, Casey Junck, Crystal Kaup, Carol Longe, Erick Lutt, John Magnuson, Lindsey Martin, Nick Muir, Josh Murtaugh, Steph Pickinpaugh, Jessica Raveling, Scott Reinhardt, Kirby Roberts, Christina Ruwe, Dustin Smith, Matt Sobansky, Brent Tietz, Chris VanMeter, Gretchen Wilke and Brandon Williams.

Eighth graders receiving two A's and no D's for second semester were Sarah Buryanek, Larissa Coulter, Abbie Diederik, Brian Finn, Becky Fletcher, Brandon Hall, Heidi Headley, Brian Hochstein, Carol Longe, John Magnuson, Nick Muir, Josh Murtaugh, Amanda Polt, Jessica Raveling, Kirby Roberts, Christina Ruwe, Matt Sobansky, Shona Stracke, Chris Van Meter, Gretchen Wilke and Brandon Williams.

Eighth graders receiving one A and no D's or 4 B's for fourth quarter were Abbie Diederik, Jack Dorcay, Sarah Dorcay, Ryan Dunklau, Shauna Dunklau, Eric Ekberg, Melissa Fluent, Tony Greenwade, Brandon Hall, Alan Johnson, Heidi Johnson, Ellie Jones, April Lage, Jim Most, Tony Mrsny, Kim Niemann, Traci Nolte, Jesse Rethwisch, Wes Sievers, Dustin Soden, Robbie Sturm and Faith Frailey.

Eighth graders receiving one A and no D's or 4 B's for second semester were Dustin Allemann, Ryan Allemann, Amy Close, Ryan Dahl, Ryan Dunklau, Eric Ekberg, Jill Fleeer, Melissa Fluent, Darin Jensen, Heidi Johnson, Ellie Jones, Crystal Kaup, Erick Lutt, Linsey Martin, Cody Melmann, Kim Niemann, Steph Pickinpaugh, Scott Reinhardt, Wes Sievers, Dustin Soden, Brent Tietz and Kim Harold.

RETIN-A, ARE YOU PROTECTED?

Retin-A (tretinoin) is a medication that requires a prescription and is applied to the skin directly to treat some forms of acne as well as some forms of skin cancer. Retin-A may also make your skin extra sensitive to the sun, causing burns in a much shorter time. Sunscreens with an SPF of at least 30 should be used at all times of the year. It is also recommended that a mild soap be used in conjunction with the medication to prevent any unwanted irritation that may sometimes occur with this product. It is also important to not use more Retin-A than what is recommended by your physician or pharmacist. Too much Retin-A may create a very painful irritation and drying of the skin. Consult with your pharmacist about the proper use of Retin-A to provide the most effective treatment.

New building dedicated

Correction

The Draft horse hitch appearing at this year's Wayne County Fair is owned by Reiman Publications.

We incorrectly identified Donald Liedman as the owner of the hitch. Liedman and his wife Dorrine are sponsors of the hitch, along with TWJ Feeds and Farmers State Bank of Carroll.

We apologize for the error and regret any inconvenience we may have caused.
