

Moving in

Student impact felt in Wayne

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

Wayne State College Relations reports student enrollment to be on pace with last year's numbers.

The first day of classes, Wednesday, showed a total enrollment of 3,691 compared with 3,635 last year at this time. Total enrollment is expected to continue to rise through the end of the add/drop period.

New freshmen numbers are 757 this year and 760 in 1994. Freshmen are strongly urged to live on campus and make up almost half of on-campus residence.

1,542 students currently have dorm contracts, while 1,644 lived in the dormitories last year at this time.

FRESHMEN MOVED IN this weekend, followed by upperclassmen on Monday.

Area businesses are glad to see Wayne State College back in session. Ticket sales tell the tale.

"We've been bumper to bumper for three days," said Nancy Niemann, manager of Dollar General Stores. "We sold out of fans. We could have sold 100 of them," she said. Mrs. Niemann said household items and plastics were the main commodities purchased.

Terry Gall, assistant manager of Pamida, said Monday, "[Business] was a little bit down from last year, so far." Gall attributes that decline to school beginning one day later than in previous years.

Restaurants were eating up the boosted commerce. Jim Molacek increased the Pizza Hut staff from 25 to 40 mainly with college students. Molacek said he saw a noticeable difference in activity over the weekend.

Shelley Murphy, Manager of Runza Restaurant, hired four employees to meet the increased demand.

Ticket totals will not be in until later this weekend, but area businesses are already glad to be busy.

Council puts brakes on 'jake braking'

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

Many motorists will soon be perplexed, seeing a "No jake braking" sign as they enter the city limits from the east on Highway 35.

Yes, motorists named Jake will be allowed to stop their vehicles. And yes, jake brakes are named after a guy named Jake.

The sign will apply only to transfer trucks.

Ed Sherer, resident of Highway 35 and professional truck driver, explained at the city council meeting Tuesday, "Jake brakes are a very necessary tool on diesel engine vehicles. But not in a city like Wayne." A jake brake is a mechanism used by transfer trucks in mountainous regions to aid the regular braking system in stopping the heavy loads.

The jake brake increases the air pressure on a diesel engine causing the engine, and, conversely, the truck, to slow down.

THE PROBLEM IS, that jake brakes make "quite a traumatic noise," said Sherer.

Residents along Highway 35 have complained lately that trucks are using them unnecessarily. Sherer believes that the hills on the east side of town in no way justify the use of the mechanisms in the city limits. He said truckers who use them only want to draw attention to themselves.

"We don't need people hating us any more than they already do," said Sherer, arguing for the implementation of a citywide restriction.

Council member Verdell Lutt pointed out that many trucks have straight exhausts instead of mufflers, but the law is rarely enforced in this area. Sherer agreed that better enforcement would cut down on noise pollution from the trucks.

Sherer's comments were met with appreciation from several council members, and the council voted 7-0 to establish a jake braking restriction for the city.

Accident shuts Dane down

A forklift driver accidentally hit a four inch air line at Great Dane Trailers Wed. morning, causing the plant to be out of operation for several days.

"Because we use air in the majority of our tools, we are not able to continue production until we can get the line repaired," said Terry Hansen, plant manager.

No one was seriously injured in the accident, although several people received bumps and bruises.

The plant will be back in operation for this weekend's workers to work their regular shifts.

School board meets Mondays

The Wayne School Board will meet on Mondays instead of Tuesdays starting September 11. The change was made to alleviate scheduling conflicts with other community events.

Mayor scolds council over Internet issue

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

Wayne Mayor Sheryl Lindau expressed her discontent with a stubborn city council Tuesday night after a funding issue failed to pass for community access on the Internet.

"I am really disgusted," said an angry Mrs. Lindau in the council session. "See, this is happening again. When it comes to final discussion, suddenly there is all this objection that was never brought up before."

Mrs. Lindau made the comments after the request for $14,000 in computer equipment was defeated, and a motion passed to reconsider the issue at the next council meeting.

"We had added this item in our budget hearings earlier. It was kind of lightly discussed, and nobody questioned what this was about," explained Mrs. Lindau in a later interview. "Since then, I hadn't gotten any feedback."

Mrs. Lindau said she was upset that a community member, Dennis Linster, made a presentation after two years of preparation and immediately shot down.

"I feel like a lot of the questions were very pointed and adversarial. I didn't like the way [Linster] was treated at the meeting," she said. "I just got the feeling that they thought he was trying to pull something on them."

FIVE VOTES were needed to pass appropriation of funds, but only four yes votes were cast.

Voting no were Jane O'Leary, Verdell Lutt and Doug Sturm. Mel Utech was not present.

The subsequent reconsideration vote passed 5-2.

Council members requested more detail on the exact expenditure of the requested funds.

O'Leary argued that Internet access was an issue better left untouched by the council. "It seems to me like it's getting into business that should be private enterprise. There is a potential for entrepreneurship," she said.

Presently, Wayne residents can buy the necessary equipment to get on-line services and subscribe through private businesses, but must pay a fee according to the time used on-line.

THE REQUEST WAS presented by Linster, representing the Wayne Information Technology Committee.

Linster explained that the proposed project would be to modify equipment at Wayne High School (WHS) and purchase Internet equipment for community use.

Council members received a memo from Educational Service Unit 1 (ESU), describing its decision to give WHS control of the Internet hookup.

"We believe that individual schools and their personnel are the best people to make the determination of who can access Internet through their system," the memo stated.

College proxy sets agenda for 2000

An ambitious five-year agenda was spelled out by Wayne State College President Donald J. Mash in his State of the College Address Monday.

The "Strategic Initiatives for Teaching-Learning" will be implemented until the year 2000, beginning with roundtable discussions by faculty members.

The initiatives were outlined as follows.

--To improve course work, particularly with regard to general education, communication, and critical thinking skills, independent learning, and student faculty interactions.

Crops need time; late frost wanted

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

"The hot weather is definitely rushing maturity but at this point we probably need to be more concerned about an early frost," said David Holshouser, crop specialist at the Northeast Station at Concord concerning the crop situation in N.E.braska.

This past week's above 90 degree temperatures helped encourage plants to mature faster which is good in some respects because corn appears to be one and a half to two weeks behind normal and the soybeans are a least one week behind, according to Holshouser.

"Most of the corn is in the soft dough stage and some of it is starting to dent. We are on the downhill slide now. The damage that has been done was due to the hot dry temperatures we had earlier this summer. The heat at this point will not have as much effect as it would if the corn were in the silking stage," Holshouser said.

SOYBEANS FUNCTION better under cool weather conditions and the lack of moisture and heat earlier this summer hurt soybean production.

"Rain at the present time would probably not help the corn but would help soybeans fill out," said Teri Post of the Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA).

Post also added that damage done by this summer's hot, dry weather has not been measured yet, but the area is not to the point of being declared a disaster area.

HOLSHOUSER AGREED that it is too early to tell how much damage has been done and that areas of N.E.braska have not all be affected the same way. "There are areas to the north of us that have received rain and the crops look pretty good," he said.

Both Post and Holshouser agree that the recent high humidity has been beneficial to crops and that frost is the biggest concern for area producers at this time. "The crops need to get to maturity before the first frost and no one knows when that may be," said Holshouser.

Construction nears end

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

Major construction on Highway 15 south of Wayne is expected to be completed within three weeks, according to Project Manager Ray Starman.

The six-mile stretch is a renovation project by District Three of the Nebraska Department of Roads.

"We're redoing the asphalt shoulders," said Starman. The eight-foot shoulders were broken up and replaced with new asphalt.

Starman said cracked and uneven joints are also being retinished along the project section. The company's largest crew of about 30 workers has been on the site this week.

Federal and state funds devoted to the project are said to be more than $1 million.

CONSTRUCTION ON A bridge approximately ten miles south of Wayne will be completed by tomorrow, according to Starman.

The surface of the deteriorating bridge deck is being chipped up and recovered. Work began on the bridge in early June.

Starman said the bridge work takes a long time due to the nature of the work. Each section has to dry for several days before work can continue on the next section.

Obituaries

Keri Thomas

Keri Thomas, 36, died Tuesday, Aug. 22, 1995 at her parents' home in Bellevue.

Services were held Friday, Aug. 25 at the Holy Cross Catholic Church in Omaha. Father Charles F. Swanson and Father Al Salanito officiated.

Keri Jo Thomas, the daughter of Kenneth and Jeanette Thomas, was born Feb. 18, 1959 at Omaha. She attended schools in Bellevue, graduating in 1977 from Bellevue High School. Edna Ellis

Edna Ellis, 75, of Allen died Wednesday, Aug. 23, 1995 at the Pender Community Hospital.

A memorial service was held Saturday, Aug. 26 at the Bressler-Humlicek Funeral Home in Wakefield. Bruce Wadley officiated. A social gathering was held at the Allen Fire Hall following the service.

Edna Marjorie Ellis, the daughter of LeRoy and Jennie (Garrett) Hawks, was born Feb. 2, 1920 at Fairview, Iowa. She grew up near Northloop, Neb. where she graduated from high school. She attended private college in Central City for two years and attained her teachers certificate. She then taught school for a short time. She married Herbert Ellis on Dec. 31, 1941.

Herbert was in WW II and she worked in a war plant as a welder. The couple lived at Des Moines, Iowa for a short time and then moved to Allen where the couple farmed for several years. In 1974 the couple moved to Sioux City where Herb was involved as a farm manager until retirement in the early 80's. They then moved back to Allen where she has lived since. She was a member of the Springbank Friends Church and was active in its mission work and a member of the Allen American Legion Auxiliary.

Survivors include her husband, Herbert at the Wakefield Health Care Center; three daughters, Mrs. Harold (Chris) Isom of Allen, Mrs. Jim (Dianne) Tatro of St. Paul, Minn. and Mrs. Rick (Debra) Zimmerman of Dakota City; one son, Michael Ellis of Kansas City, Kan.; six grandchildren; one great grandchild; two sisters, Bernice McCoullough of Des Moines, Iowa and Ruth Edenfield of Tallahassee, Fla.; and one brother, Kenneth Hawks of McClelland, Iowa.

Bernice Lundahl

Bernice Lundahl, 90, of Wakefield died Sunday, Aug. 27, 1995 at the Wayne Care Center.

Services were held Thursday, Aug. 31 at the Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

Bernice Olivia Lundahl, the daughter of Frank and Lilly (Johnson) Hanson, was born Aug. 6, 1905 in Wakefield. She attended the Wakefield schools and Wayne Normal School. She taught school, later married E. W. Lundahl on Feb. 21, 1927 at Stanton, Iowa. The couple farmed at Wakefield and she worked at the Wakefield Community Hospital. They moved to Creston, Iowa for three years and returned to the Wakefield community in 1950, continuing to farm until retirement. She was a member of Salem Lutheran Church and sang in the choir. Her husband, E. W., died Oct. 27, 1982 and she continued to live in Wakefield until September 1993 when she lived at the Wakefield Care Center and then into the Wayne Care Center in 1994.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Bill (Jeanine) Olson of Pipestone, Minn.; one son, Glen and DeeDee Lundahl of Sacramento, Calif.; six grandchildren; one great granddaughter; one sister, Mildred Larsen of Wayne; and one brother, Laurence Hanson of Tilden.

She was preceded in death by one brother, Roy Hanson and one sister, Ruth Johnson.

Pallbearers were grandchildren Thomas, Gregory, Paul and Annie Lundahl and Jennifer and Steven Olson.

Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery with the Bressler-Humlicek Funeral Home in Wakefield in charge of arrangements.

Memorials may be directed to the Wakefield Health Care Center and Salem Lutheran Project '95.

Riptide warning

A recent study of Waynians showed a growing percentage of us now are computer equipped, wired and ready for access to the Internet, the electronic super-highway.

But alas, if our public entities can't work in cooperation, we will be like a section of corn along Highway 35, watching other people speed-by on the road to knowledge. For we will have no on-ramp. At least not without paying a heavy rural toll, the likes of which our urban cousins never see.

Our School Board has wisely spent the funds needed to keep our children on the cutting edge of technology. Students here can travel anywhere in the world, albeit electronically, communicating with, and learning from other net-surfers.

But while this wizardry enjoys the use of hundreds of area youngsters, the equipment needed to allow access for the rest of us, remains at the factory, unshipped and unordered.

The School District cannot justify the additional cost because, they say, it is for the benefit of non students. They have, after all, already provided access to the net for the students.

Free access to the information super-highway has the potential of placing Wayne at the forefront of economic development, and it can also serve such basic needs as providing immediate answers to the questions like, "Will school be let out early today?" And, "What did Council do tonight?"

A local network to allow the exchange of electronic information would be a natural and inexpensive outgrowth of the Internet access equipment.

But while we paddle out from the beach, our fax-modems waxed and ready to catch a tasty wave of knowledge, there is an ominous feeling of being pulled out to sea on the riptide of indecision and petty bickering.

And while the responsibility for spending the additional money is passed like a hot potato from taxing entity to taxing entity, the opportunity to provide this service is passed along with it.

City Council decided 4-3 on Tuesday, not to decide on spending the $14,000 needed to build this on-ramp.

We urge Council to take the lead in this issue, that we might show our children, that we too, are still passionate in our desire to learn, and we will not sit and watch while others go by.

Political D-Day near for Nelson

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

LINCOLN — The political decision of the summer is about to hit the beach. Gov. Nelson is scheduled to announce soon whether he'll finish out his term as Nebraska's chief executive or seek greener pastures in the U.S. Senate in 1996.

The announcement, originally set for "by Labor Day," is now supposed to be made sometime after the holiday.

There's been as much speculation about what Ben is going to do as about which quarterback will start for the Nebraska football team in its opening game.

More and more wagers are now being placed that Nelson will take the plunge and run for the Senate. But insiders are just as confused as ever about the governor's intentions.

Reportedly, Nelson's mood on the issue has swung back and forth over the past several weeks.

The governor was ready to saddle up a '96 election campaign until he attended the recent National Governors' Conference. The conference got bogged down in party politics, with fights between the Republicans and Democrats handcuffing any meaningful action.

Nelson, a conservative Democrat, reportedly, wasn't very impressed with the way partisanship grinds progress into the ground.

As a governor, people listen to what you say, do what you want them to do, and snap to attention when you issue an executive order. As one statehouse lobbyist recently said, everyone laughs at your jokes when you're governor — even if they aren't funny.

That might change if you were a freshman senator from Nebraska from a minority party whose numbers continue to slide in Congress.

Nelson, in a radio call-in show in Lincoln last week, acknowledged that part of his decision hinged on whether he wanted to move from an executive job to that of a debator in Congress.

But, despite that, the speculation in Lincoln seems to be shifting. If Nelson wasn't running, why would he wait so long to announce it? Some people wonder.

Those who think he'll run say that gaining a seat in the U.S. Senate will give Nelson six more years of serving in public office, something he really likes to do.

If he doesn't run, the governor will have to leave office in 1998 because of the state constitutional limit on two consecutive terms in the mansion.

Then what? A run for the presidency? A return to a lucrative career as a lawyer or insurance company consultant?

Palm Springs, Calif., one observer noted, would look a lot nicer than Washington, D.C., if he opts to get out of public office.

Much is at stake for the Democratic Party, both in Nebraska and nationally. They cannot afford to lose another seat in Congress, and Nelson would be a formidable candidate — unbeatable, some say — to top Republican senatorial candidates Don Stenberg, the attorney general, and Chuck Hagel, an Omaha businessman and Vietnam veteran.

Leaving the mansion early might allow Lt. Gov. Kim Robak to improve her stock and visibility so that she could retain the governor's mansion for the Democrats in 1998, against the likely GOP candidates, like State Auditor John Breslow and State Treasurer Dave Heineman.

But who knows how the political winds will blow in the future? My bet is that Nelson will continue to do what he's always dreamed of and has enjoyed immensely: serving as governor. Just don't hold me to it.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Go for the learning opportunity

Dear Editor:

Decisions of our city council carry great impact, but some, more than others, will impact not only current residents but future citizens.

A 4-3 decision Tuesday night, related to the $14,000 funding toward making the WHS/WSC computer online system, including the Internet, accessible to all local residents, indicates a need for further explanation of what is at stake.

Growing numbers of Nebraska communities are already online. That means thousands of Nebraskans using their computers, business and private, are able to communicate and exchange information. Information is the new coin of the realm, and though it is difficult to conceive, numerous Wayne residents have already used their computers in the pilot project to get information from any place in the world.

I'm glad the council voted 5-2 to reconsider the $14,000 project, because whether or not Wayne residents are able to join in the worldwide communication miracle actually rides on this next consideration and vote. Visionaries at Wayne State College and our public school system have those institutions on the leading edge of computer technology. The city's investment will aid residents in also getting to use that equipment.

To cut Wayne residents out of the opportunity to use the WHS/WSC electronic facilities can be equaled to cutting the area's economic jugular vein. The council's decision touches every resident's economical future.

Doors of opportunity seldom open twice. Hopefully, in its reconsideration, the council can move to a posture of undergirding this phenomenal opportunity of opening the city gates to the new information revolution going on world wide.

Appreciative commission

Dear Editor:

The Wayne Recreation and Leisure Commission would like to thank all the parents and citizens that attended the open forum that was held Aug. 21.

We appreciate all the suggestions and concerns that were voiced. We as a commission are interested and concerned about the recreation and leisure programs of Wayne and would like to see new programs implemented but we would also like to improve and better the programs that are available. There are many activities offered to youth and adults and there are other activities that could be offered as suggested by the parents and citizens that were present.

We as a commission will continue working with the citizens of Wayne, the recreation director, city administrator and city council members to update our current programs and hopefully add new programs to the Wayne Recreation and Leisure. Our meetings are held the third Monday of each month at 7 p.m. at City Hall and the public is always welcome to attend, just to listen or to voice their concerns or suggestions.

Thank you for your support!

Nancy Sorensen
Vice Chairperson

For an expenditure of approximately $3 per resident, current and future citizens will be able to communicate with anyone in the world using e-mail, look into the information files of any college, university or city online in the world!

Education means gaining information. In the era when not every one had a telephone, they still proceeded with the project. As the number of families having computers increases, so does the thirst for economical, business, agricultural and medical information.

Here is an opportunity for taxpayers to reap continuing educational benefits from our investment by literally opening up a new world of discovery!

Our council's decision on this issue will mean our community either takes a leap forward with a moderate investment, or suffer from electronic isolation.

As a part of the beta project, and as a senior citizen, I've enjoyed reading newspapers and magazines all over the world through the WHS/WSC computer system. Funding this project will mean any resident with a computer and modem can not only do that, but communicate with friends, churches, missionaries, scientists, educators, or anyone using e-mail!

It's a new day in learning! Let's go for it!

After completing her theatrical performance, she bowed to thunderous applause.

Rogers of approval arose from the shouting spectators as the home team proved victorious over a talented rival.

Humans use various verbal and non-verbal ways of expressing appreciation for the talents of others. But for every performer who is rightly applauded, there are deserving thousands who are not.

After delivering a fiery message, challenging hearers to draw closer to their Maker, the man-of-God sees no standing ovation or roar of sanction.

Pilot and crew are the last to depart the jumbo jet which has safely landed after encountering a dangerous storm.

Hundreds of passengers are swallowed up by the cavernous terminal, while the crew goes to its quarters...absent the screaming and hollering enjoyed by a winning junior league baseball team.

Then there are the boys and girls who hop out of bed early in the morning, regardless of heat or cold, wind, rain, or snow, to see that a customer's newspaper arrives on time. Their daily efforts are not accompanied by a shrieking crowd pumped up with enthusiasm and shouting assent.

Farmers know well what its like working without applause. Early hours, late hours, wet weather, dry weather, diseased livestock, plummeting prices, overdue loans, a surprise profit, hail and damaging winds, a rare bumper crop, luckily hitting the market at its peak, and entertaining the grandchildren. They hear little appreciation and are given no curtain call for feeding a hungry nation.

Nurses, law enforcement officers, dentists and opticians, writers and editors, garbage crews, road crews, power crews, maintenance staff, owners, managers, professors, school boards and administrators, county and city personnel, nursing home staff, business people, judges and juries, court counselors, probation officers, on and on! All work without vocalized approval.

But send a pro football player, earning a million a year, into the end zone, and spectators go crazy! The roar echoes into newsprint, television and radio! Awesome!

Have you expressed a well deserved compliment or praise recently to some worthy worker?

--To develop technology to improve classroom instruction, to implement a distance learning capability, and to enhance faculty efficiency and effectiveness.

--To examine academic program decisions and governance structure to streamline "process" in order to enable timely and positive change.

--To examine the demands on faculty time and the impact such demands have on work satisfaction in order to identify issues which can be addressed to make more effective use of faculty resources.

Mash stated that Wayne State is on the verge of becoming a regional public college of national distinction if it can implement the initiatives.

"WE HAVE MANY reasons to celebrate our success. We are healthy, vibrant, and very much on the move," said Mash, after reviewing the college's progress over the past seven years.

Mash concluded that the school has two strengths that make it especially attractive when compared with other colleges.

"Colleges like Wayne State, that remain affordable while emphasizing strong teaching and student support, will be the colleges of the future," Mash said.

Net

The object of the project is to allow the Wayne community to "piggy back" on the school's hookup.

Dr. Dennis Jensen, superintendent of schools, said the project would be "mutually beneficial" to the city and the schools. "The project would also enhance the system we provide to our students."

If the city implements citywide access to the Internet, Wayne will be the first in the state to do so, according to Linster.

Host families needed

Attention Wayne area parents. The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce needs you to adopt a student.

Parents are needed for the Adopt-A-Student program which matches area families with Wayne State College freshman.

This is the third year for the program and at the present time there are 43 students signed up for the program and only 23 families available to "adopt" those students.

The program recognizes the fact that first year college students are faced with many challenges, decisions and responsibilities. This community effort serves as a support system to college students wishing to take advantage of the friendliness and knowledge that Wayne citizens possess," said Curt Wilwerding, one of the organizers of the program.

Typically, Wayne families who volunteered for the program in the past have invited the students over for dinner or to attend family outings as a break from dorm life.

Cookies at midterm and finals time, assistance with transportation difficulties, or just being an adult friend the students could confide in, were some of the positives cited by last year's participating students in discussing the program.

Host families say they are more inclined to participate in college functions-to attend programs with their adopted students than they were before they had a close connection with the campus.

Families who wish to participate in the program are encouraged to contact the Wayne Area Chamber office and fill out a questionnaire which will be used to match student interests and backgrounds as closely as possible with those of the host family.

For more information, contact the Chamber at 375-2240.

Garbage truck taken for Iowa 'joy ride'

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

Never leave your keys in your vehicle.

Especially if your vehicle is a large garbage truck which would provide a fun ride to Sioux City on a Friday night.

That is the lesson Mrsny Sanitary Service learned this weekend.

A Mrsny truck was reported stolen to the Wayne Police Department Saturday morning at 7:14 a.m. The Sioux City Police Department located the truck near the intersection of River Road and Dakota Street at 8:57 that evening.

An investigation is being conducted. Acting Wayne Police Chief Bob McLean believes the case to be one of "joy riding."

"We feel pretty fortunate that no one was hurt and the truck was not damaged," said Alice Mrsny. Mrs. Mrsny also stated that it was advantageous that the truck was gone on Saturday—the business shortest working day. The business used another older vehicle for the daily route.

The truck was parked next to the Mrsny's residence/office, but Mrs. Mrsny said she heard nothing that evening with an air conditioner running in the window.

"We've got a Doberman, and I'm sure he raised hell. I bet he got a soar throat for nothing," said Mrs. Mrsny, laughing.

Mrs. Mrsny continued that the keys were not in the ignition, but in a side pocket in the door. Mrsny Sanitary Service does not pick up grass clippings but has left the keys in the truck for Country Nursery to use for that purpose. "They had to hunt to find the keys," said Mrs. Mrsny.

After reporting the theft to the WPD, the Mrsny's hired an airport aviator to conduct an aerial search of Wayne, but the truck was not spotted.

Orin Zach of the Wayne Airport Authority took off at 11 a.m. and circled Wayne at about 1000 feet. After 30 minutes, Zach landed with nothing to report.

McLean said that all stolen vehicles are immediately registered nationwide with police. The Sioux City Police Department was on the lookout for the truck by Saturday afternoon.

No fingerprints were taken. McLean said an investigation of this nature builds on hear-say. "We wait for the rumormill to do its work," said McLean.

HOSKINS GARDEN CLUB

Christine Lueker was hostess when the Hoskins Garden Club met at the Lucia Strate home for a dessert luncheon on Aug. 24.

Elsje Hinzman, president, opened the meeting with an article "Just A Thought." The hostess chose the song "Little Brown Church" for group singing. LaVern Walker had the poem for the month, "Summer Symphony." She also read a poem, "Olden Days." Members answered roll call by naming their favorite food to take to a picnic.

The secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved. An invitation was received to attend the Town and Country Garden Club's guest day at the fire hall on Sept. 25. Plans were made for the annual family picnic next month.

Frieda Meierhenry was honored with the birthday song and the anniversary song was sung for Lorraine Wesely.

For entertainment, the hostess read an article, "Grandma's Flower Garden" and also conducted several quizzes. Lorraine Wesely had the comprehensive study on "Care of Azaleas." The lesson, "Special Care for Plants" was given by Esther Rechtermann.

The meeting closed with the Watchword for the Month, "Pray for a Good Harvest, But Continue to Hoe."

The next meeting will be the annual family picnic on Sept. 28 at the Hoskins fire hall.

BIRTHDAY CLUB

Frances Langenberg entertained the Birthday Club Aug. 21. Shirley Wagner and Evelyn Langenberg were guests.

Bunco prizes went to Elsie Hinzman, Vera Brogie, Lucia Strate and Evelyn Langenberg.

Heartland ensemble returns

An ensemble of the Heartland of America Band will return to Wayne this fall for a concert performance on Friday, Sept. 15 at Wayne State College.

The full concert band from Offutt Air Force Base played before and enthusiastic packed house at Rice Auditorium in Wayne in April of this year.

The Brass Quintet, a chamber ensemble composed of members of the Concert Band will perform at 8 p.m. at Ramsey Theatre. The performance, which is free of charge, is sponsored by the Wayne State College Center for Cultural Outreach. The Wayne Herald is a co-sponsor.

The Brass Quintet performs for military as well as civilian audiences in a number of different settings around the community. Part of their mission is to aid recruiting by performing in schools and universities, often sharing their expertise with the music students in a clinic forum.

The group's repertoire consists of classical, jazz and standard brass quintet music showcasing the group's diversity.

"The Air Force Band's Brass Quintet will take our audience on a tour of some of the world's most beautiful and exciting music," said Beyerly Soll, director of the Center for Cultural Outreach. "Each member of the group is a soloist in their own right and together they render the perfect blend of tone, color, expression and traditional interpretations," she added.

The performance planned for Wayne will include selections which will appeal to all tastes, Mrs. Soll said.

Blue Devils have taste of success

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Few would fault Wayne High Football Coach Lonnie Ehrhardt if he would borrow a motivational motto for his 1995 Blue Devil. "Unfinished business" is how he and his team sees the 1995 campaign.

After a 6-3 season last year and narrowly missing the state playoffs, his coaches and players have a taste of success and they expect even more this year.

Graduation took 16 senior letter winners off last year's squad but an enthusiastic and committed group of last year's juniors, sophomores and even freshmen are stepping into the leadership roles, said the coach.

A payoff from the school's weight program is expected to show especially this year, said Ehrhardt. Most of his team have been working daily through the summer on weights and their strength, speed and ability to avoid injuries gained through the program should be evident throughout the season.

Ehrhardt said fans can expect to see his team establish the run in each game behind three "really top running backs" in Josh Starzl, a senior, Brian Fernau and Tyler Endicott, juniors.

Starzl finished last year's campaign as the team's leading rusher with 534 yards. He averaged over 4 yards per carry a year. He is also a receiving threat out of the backfield. He caught ten passes for 174 yards last year.

While the running game will be the basic offensive attack as it has to be in high school football in Nebraska, Ehrhardt said he is excited about the 1995 team's passing chances. He said he is not going to be afraid to put the ball in the air with Senior Ryan Junck showing poise and a great arm and receivers Scott Sievers, Lyle Lutt, Adam Diediker and the running backs showing great ability to run pin point routes and catch most anything in their area.

Ehrhardt smiles impishly when he recalls last year's statistics which showed that his team ran the ball 70 percent of the time and threw it 30 percent of the time but gained the same amount of yardage each way.

"Does that mean we will see 'Air Ehrhardt' this year?"

"We'll take whatever the defense will give us," said the coach, smiling.

ing. He said fans should not be surprised to see Starzl lined up from time to time in the wingback position this year.

"We want to get the ball out there to him (as a receiver) and see what he can do with it," said the coach.

Going into the opening game at home Friday against Schuyler, Ehrhardt said he is not sure what to expect from the team his Blue Devils dismantled early in last year's campaign.

"They had a lot of holes to fill from seniors graduating last year but they have a great program and will be prepared," he said. "We are ready for just about any defense they throw at us."

Ehrhardt said he was pleased with the Pop Scrimmage effort last Friday.

Young volleyball squad 'surprising'

By Les Mann
Of the Herald

Wayne High Volleyball Coach Joyce Hoskins will take her young, largely untested squad into the fray tonight at the Beemer Invitational tournament.

While she is realistic about '95 team's chances of repeating last year's state tournament qualifying 22-5 team, she still says this year's squad will surprise some people.

After losing four senior starters from last year's district championship team, and without a change senior starter this year, Hoskins said it would be a "little unrealistic" to believe the Lady Blue Devils could repeat.

She said a realistic goal for the Wayne team would be to finish over .500.

A tough schedule of opponents won't help. This week, depending on the first round matches in the Beemer Tournament, the Blue Devils could be facing the defending state champion Wisner Gators right out of the gate. Laurel, the current number one rated team in C-2 is also on the schedule.

While the loss of "so many dominant seniors" from last year's squad and the prospect of facing tougher competition might have other coaches and their teams wringing their hands, Hoskins said the bright spots are her young team's talent level, athletic ability and work ethic.

"I've seen some really good things in practice," said Hoskins. She said the young players have worked very hard on fundamentals and most of her players have spent personal time during the summer on strength training.

Juniors Katie Lutt and Melissa Weber will be the nucleus of the '95 squad as the only returning starters from last year. They are joined by Katie Wilson, a junior who would have been a starter last year except for injuries. Coach Hoskins said she is fortunate to have the good leadership and experience back. Other starters tapped for tonight's opening will be Molly Linster, Gayle Olson and Shoana Stracke, a freshman.

Other varsity players this year include Jenny Beiermann, Mindy McLean, Lindsay Baack, Kellie Lubberstedt, Alycia Jorgensen, Lacy Bebee, Sarah Metzler and Carla Kemp.

Wayne State launches '95 campaign at Omaha

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The Wayne State Wildcats kickoff the 1995 football season on Saturday when they travel to Omaha to take on the intrastate rival Nebraska-Omaha. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m. at Caniglia Field. It will be the 31st time that the two teams have played with the Mavericks holding a 13-11-6 advantage in the series.

Last year the Wildcats defeated the Mavs 40-17 in the season opener. Ray Powers threw for 345 yards and three touchdowns and Byron Chamberlain and Jerry Garrett combined for 19 receptions and over 300 yards. Lamont Rainey and Jason Williams led the ground attack with 262 yards combined.

Last year's stars are gone now and Wayne State will have to find other ways to win this year.

"We have a lot of shoes to fill, but we feel good about our talent level and the upcoming season," said Head Coach Dennis Wagner. "The defense will need to play big early on to allow our offense to jell because of all the new faces."

Three of the biggest contributions on offense this season may come from the smallest players. Wide out Lamart Cooper (5-7 170) and running backs Marcus Bishop (5-7 175) and Ray Taylor (5-8 190) are all expected to be big threats offensively. On defense Wayne State will rely on All-America candidates Jeff Lutt (LB/DE), Jon Adkisson (LB) and Robert McConico (SS). Other 'Cats to watch include receiver Kevin Swayne, linebacker Marcus Alridge and free safety Marcus Rankin.

Despite last season's lopsided victory, Wagner isn't taking the Mavericks for granted.

"UNO is a better team from a year ago," said Wagner. They are young, but talented and many of their young players picked up a lot of experience playing last season."

The Wildcats are looking to start the season in the win column and build confidence for the remainder of the season.

"This is an important game for both teams," said Wagner. "It's important to establish yourself early on in the season."

Sports network for Wildcats

All Wayne State College football games will now be broadcast on a regional basis with the formation of the new Wildcat Radio Network. Pete Chapman, WSC director of athletics, has announced that radio stations KWPB (108 FM/84 AM) in West Point and KTCH (104.9 FM/1590 AM) in Wayne will carry all Wildcat football games during the 1995 season.

Talent for the network includes KTCH's Mark Ahmann, providing the play-by-play and color commentary by Bill Siefert, sports director at KNEB Radio in Norfolk.

The network will also carry the Dennis Wagner Show, which will be broadcast every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. The new half-hour show will include comments from Head Coach Dennis Wagner, interviews with Wildcat players and special guests, and updates on all Wildcat athletics.

Lady 'Cats aim higher

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The Wayne State College volleyball team has high hopes for the upcoming season. Third-year Head Coach Sharon Vanis returns five starters from last year's squad that finished with a 15-24 record.

The Wildcats will be led by senior co-captains Lora Grant (5'9" outside hitter) and Annette Fluckey (5'9" rightside hitter). Grant led the team last year in attacks (1,379), kills (488) and digs (307). She also recorded 23 service aces and 21 solo blocks. Fluckey played in 38 matches and had 151 kills in 563 attempts. Seniors Tammy Gablenz (5'10" rightside hitter) and Laura Pfister (5'10" middle hitter), and junior Jenifer Svitak (5'10" middle hitter) will also provide leadership on the team.

"We have a lot of depth," said Vanis. "We have the experience, but we just need to find the right combination of players."

Also figuring into the mix will be sophomores Kari Pichler (5'7" setter) and Amy Gudmundson (5'10" middle hitter), who both saw significant action last year. Newcomers who hope to make an impact this season include Wayne natives sophomore Erin Pick (transfer from Morningside College) and freshman Carrie Fink, in addition, to junior Tracy Wessel (Platte) and freshmen Amy Johnson and Jessie Pontow.

The Wildcats are hoping for a 20 win season, but they will be tested with a difficult schedule.

"I think it's important that we play those kinds of teams," said Vanis, "and see who we can beat in order to ever have a shot at post-season play."

Youth competes at Nationals

Katie Walton of Wayne qualified for the National Union gymnastics competition this summer in Des Moines, Iowa. A member of the Norfolk YMCA Flairs, Katie competed at the advanced optional level in the Nebraska State Meet to earn her place on this first Nebraska delegation to ever compete as a team.

"The national AAU is a kind of mini-Olympics," said gymnastics coordinator at the Norfolk YMCA, Cyndi Atchinson. "It is complete with an opening ceremony, a week of competition involving 26 sports and closing ceremonies." This week was part of the Junior Olympic program, featuring some of the top gymnasts in the nation.

Participants performed original routines on parallel bars, balance beam, floor exercise, and vault and competed in both individual and team scores. According to Atchinson, the girls competing in nationals trained 7-10 hours a week in addition to their required dance and strength classes.

"It was exciting to see gymnasts from all over the United States. I met people from Alaska, Florida, and Georgia, to name a few," said Walton.

Winside coach has large squad to build season on

By Lee Koch
For the Herald

Coach Lisa Schroeder in her second year as head Winside volleyball mentor is hoping to improve on last year's 11 and 8 record—a goal that Schroeder feels is well within reach taking into consideration that the Wildcats feature a hitting corps that will have at least five hitters between 5'10" and 6' tall.

Schroeder, who will be assisted by ex-Wildcats Stacy Bowers and Christi Mundil, will start building her squad around senior returning starters Wendy Miller at middle hitter (MH) and setter (S) Emily Deck. Miller was an all-area, all-conference and honorable mention all-state player last season.

Senior teammates Monica Sievers (S) and Kristi Oberle (S) both back row (BR) players along with Ann Brugger (MH) and Keri McMillian (BR) join sophomore outside hitter (OH) Jodi Miller as Wildcats who gained valuable varsity experience on last year's squad.

Schroeder lists the hitting game as well as a quick offense which should keep opponents off balance among the Cats strong points. She also lists back court play as an asset, expecting excellent passing from Oberle and Sievers, both players who rotated into the back court lineup last year.

Winside will start the year with 47 girls looking for playing time. The numbers are well above average for a small school, a fact that Schroeder attributes to past performance by the Wildcats which has resulted in state tournament appearance in four of the last five years.

A return trip to Lincoln this year is the goal of Schroeder's team but she states to accomplish that goal, "We have to have a positive team leader step forward. We need to develop team unity and cohesiveness which we are lacking (at this time)." A tough sub-district which includes defending state champion Wisner-Pilger, Stanton and Norfolk Catholic means Schroeder's squad has a lot of hard work ahead of them.

The Wildcats will have to get past Wausa and Hartington to garnish conference hardware who Schroeder lists as Lewis and Clark conference favorites. She also mentions area squads Laurel and Wayne as other strong teams on the Cats schedule with Winside facing the Blue Devils for the first ever in the opening round of the Wakefield Tournament on Sept. 7.

Winside is hoping to start the season where they left off a year ago when they opened the season with a single win against six losses. Last year's team then proceeded to win 10 of their next 12 games to end the year on a positive note. "This current crop of Wildcats may be able to meet all of Schroeder's goals if those team leaders come forward."

Yearly trip is planned

By Corey Berg
Of the Herald

After reaching the state tournament for the first time ever last season, the Laurel-Concord volleyball team hopes to make the trip a yearly occurrence. Head Coach Patti Cunningham returns five letter winners to a squad that finished the season with an impressive 19-2 record.

The Lady Bears will be led by 5'11" senior middle blocker Heather Cunningham and 5'9" senior setter Gina Monson along with juniors Mindy Eaton (5'8" rightside hitter/setter), Sarah Ehlers (6'0" middle blocker), Tracy Ankeny (5'10" outside hitter), Becky Schroeder (6'1" middle blocker), and Brandi Urwiler (5'9" rightside hitter). Sophomores Megan Adkins (5'9" outside hitter), Katie Monson (5'8" outside hitter), and Jessie Erwin (5'8" middle blocker) are also expected to make significant contributions.

"We have quite a few returning letter winners," said Cunningham, "so we hope to accomplish everything we did last year and play competitively at the state tournament."

Winside Wildcats switch to an 11-man schedule

By Lee Koch
For the Herald

None of the current Winside football players were in school the last time the Wildcats played the 11 man version of the sport in 1982. Coach Randy Geier, as well as his young charges, is looking forward with great anticipation to Friday night when his 'Cats face host Wakefield in the season opener.

Geier, whose entire coaching career has been spent in 8-man football, is in his ninth year at the helm of the Wildcats. He and his staff were a bit apprehensive about the change but, "The more we look at 11 man the more we have really become excited about the change," says Geier. "We had our own football camp and I think the transition is going real well. There hasn't been any problems (so far) putting in our offense," he adds.

Geier is assisted by Ryan Hotten, Wally Johnson and Tim Stubbs.

The Wildcats have set several goals for the upcoming season. First they would like to keep every one healthy which is always a concern in having a successful season according to Geier. A second goal that is also an annual team goal is to keep everyone academically eligible for the entire season. The players themselves not only want a winning season but are shooting for a conference title as well as state playoff berth. Geier and his assistants feel these are possibilities if everyone plays hard and gives a good effort.

Geier feels team speed is among his team's strong points as well as defense. The 'Cats have some strong people up front and he feels they will be able to hold their own on the line of scrimmage, a result of a majority of the players participating in the summer weight lifting program. Additionally, he feels his kicking game from the standpoint of both the return game and in the punting area should be above average.

The conference squads along with Laurel-Concord and Wisner-Pilger fill out Winside's district format under the new playoff format which will be in place this season for Nebraska high school football. Geier, a long time, proponent of district play says, "Now we're just like the other sports. We can prepare to peak at the end of the season and there will not be as much pressure to perform well early in the season."

The Wildcats return several key players with Geier naming his entire offensive line as being keys to the years success. Jaimie Holdorf, Josh Jaeger, Dave Paulsen and Robert Wittler, all of whom were all conference selections a year ago return as do senior letter winners Scott Stenwall, Lucas Mohr and Greg Mundil. They, along with juniors Joe Schwedhelm, Shaun Magwire, Chad Oconor, Robert Wittler and Jeremy Barg and sophomores Landon Grothe and Brock Shelton will fill out the 'Cats opening game starting crew.

Opponents may be paying a lot of attention to Holdorf, a first team all state selection a year ago. "Anytime you have a first team all stater he's going to get a lot of attention," said Geier. "We feel we have a lot of team speed so we think it will be to our advantage. Should teams do some things, to stop Jaimie it will open up some other things for us."

Bears aim for title

By Corey Berg
Of the Herald

The Laurel-Concord Bears came within one game of winning of winning the C2 state championship last year and, while a 12-1 record is certainly nothing to be ashamed of, Coach Tom Luxford's squad would like another shot at the title. The Bears return seven defensive and six offensive starters to a team that is pointed toward their fifth straight playoff appearance.

"We've lost some key starters from last year, but we have some young kids that have filled those shoes," said Luxford.

One starter that will be returning is 5'10", 185 pound senior quarterback Tyler Erwin. After throwing for over 1,700 yards and 21 touchdowns last season, Erwin should be a key element in the 1995 offense. Joining him in the wishbone backfield will be 5'11", 185 pound senior Jeff Waitier and 5'9", 190 pound Todd Arens. Waitier ground out 950 yards last season, while Arens added 450 yards to the rushing attack.

Wakefield football trying for 'that extra half-yard'

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

Wakefield High football players remember the disappointment last year. The Trojans came up a half yard short of the play-offs a year ago. A failed two-point conversion in double overtime left Head Coach Dennis Wilbur's team out of post-season action.

The 1995 football season gives the Trojans a second chance and the team hopes to take full advantage of that chance.

Wakefield will be led offensively by senior quarterback Justin Dutcher, who threw for over 1,000 yards last year, and All-Conference senior receiver Matt Peterson. Juniors Justin Mackling and Lance Jacobsen will share the duties at running back.

"They're not very big," said Wilbur, "but, they're pretty quick and they're tough kids."

Defensively, contributions should come from seniors Jason Fischer, Ryan Hoffman and Shaun Bach. Junior Tyler Peters should also help out, along with Jacobsen, Mackling, Dutcher and Peterson.

Wilbur is very confident about his team and would be disappointed if the team doesn't play in at least 10 games this year.

"Some teams are not going to be able to stop us," said Wilbur.

"We've got a lot of athletic kids out there."

Although he would like to see his team go undefeated into the first round of the play-offs, Wilbur admits the road may not be so smooth.

"The teams we play are going to be very competitive," said Wilbur. "There are not going to be many blow-outs."

Wakefield on the upswing

By Tom Mullen
Of The Herald

Trying to rebound from a difficult 1994 season, Wakefield's volleyball team faces its first trial Thursday night at Winside.

Andrea Lundahl, the only senior on the team, is out for the season having torn a ligament behind her knee in practice last week.

But Athletic Director Brad Hoskins expects great things from his Trojans.

"The girls are pretty tough," he said.

Last year the Trojans lost their coaching staff just one week into the season. And while struggling through a 9-13 season, the girls managed to reach the finals of last year's Lewis and Clark tournament.

Having found a new head coach in Marty Slaughter, the Wakefield girls are physically ready for their opener.

Coach Slaughter is a Wayne State College graduate, in his first head coaching position, having assisted at Irene, S.D. last year.

"He's a pretty intense individual," said Hoskins, who describes Coach Slaughter's practices as, "energetic."

"The girls had a difficult time last year and I think that they are responding pretty well to him," said Hoskins.

Returning lettermen are juniors Jamie Paulson and Allison Benson, and sophomore Bree Oswald.

"For the girls to go four or five games over 500 would be great," predicted Hoskins.

"There's no one over 5'8" on the roster, so blocking could be a problem.

"We'll know more after Sept. 9 when we host the Northeast Nebraska Tournament," said Hoskins.

But now the Trojans are focusing on their opening game against the Bobcats, a team Hoskins describes as, "always good."

Eagles look to improve

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The new Allen Eagles volleyball coach has landed. First year Head Coach Scott Kneiff takes control of a team that finished the 1994 season at 4-12. With only two returning starters the Eagles are looking to rebound with two seniors and a strong group of juniors.

Leading the way in 1995 will be the lone holdovers from a year ago. Seniors Abbey Schroeder (outside hitter) and Andrea McGrath (rightside hitter) will be called upon to hold the young team together. Junior setter Jaime Kliver will also play an key role in Allen's quest for a winning season.

"The girls are really working hard," said Kneiff. "They're trying to get used to a new system and they're adapting well. Allen has had a good volleyball tradition and we're trying to get it turned back around. We're getting back to the fundamentals and hopefully we can finish with a winning season."

Seniorless team seeks improvement

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

First year Wakefield volleyball coach Marty Slaughter has found himself senior-less.

The Lady Trojans had one senior on the squad, but Andrea Lundahl injured her knee in a scrimmage and is out for the season. That leaves the task of improving on last year's 9-13 record to juniors and sophomores.

One junior that is sure to stand out is 5'7" middle hitter Alison Benson, who received All-State Honorable Mention recognition last year.

"She's going to be the player that teams are going to have to stop in order to beat us," said Slaughter.

Other players that will make significant contributions include junior Jamie Paulson (5'6" outside hitter) and sophomores Jenny Sandahl (5'6" setter), Bree Oswald (5'5" outside hitter), Susan Brudigam (5'6" setter) and Kristin Preston (5'8" middle hitter).

Slaughter believes that an improvement to 15-5 and a trip to the state tournament is attainable for the 1995 Lady Trojans.

Allen Eagle football team is taking flight

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The Allen Eagles are looking to fly high in high school football this season, but with only four returning starters on offense and five on defense the squad will have its work cut out for them.

According to Head Coach Warren Jensen the strengths of this year's team will be the running game and the offensive line. David McCorkingdale returns for his senior season at running back to lead the ground attack. Last year he rushed for over 750 yards and he may be even better this year.

"He's a lot stronger," said Jensen. "We're looking for big things out of him."

When it comes time to throw the ball, wide out Michael Blohm, who pulled in 16 receptions and scored nine touchdowns last year, will be the go-to man.

Defensively, the Eagles will rely on 6'3", 210 pound defensive end Jason Mitchell. Mitchell was an All-Conference selection last year.

After finishing with a 3-6 record a year ago, Allen hopes to improve on that mark.

"Our goal is to have a winning season and to make the state play-offs," said Jensen, "and I think we have an opportunity to do that."

From the desk of the superintendent

Dr. Dennis Jensen

A new school year has begun and this year started on a very positive note with the faculty and staff have three days of inservice and staff development activities that were the most exciting I have witnessed in 22 years. During the three days of the inservice activities, it did rain twice so that added some optimism to the festivities. With the return of the students, the first few days of school have gone smoothly except for the lack of cooperation from the weather. As a reminder, in case of inclement weather please tune your radio dial to KTCH early in the morning for school cancellations or postponements. Television stations will also be alerted once the emergency notice system in Sioux City has assigned our district a code number which should happen in the near future.

Tools for success

Is success reserved for the lucky few? Absolutely not! Any student can have a successful high school career that can serve as a springboard for a successful life.

There's also more to school than good grades. (Though you have to be careful not to emphasize that too much if your child looks for any excuse not to study!) Learning to get along with others, developing leadership skills, pursuing hobbies and interests, getting to know one's own strengths and limitations, and finding out how to maximize opportunities are some other crucial lessons that a student can learn while in high school and which will serve him a lifetime.

As any successful business person will tell you, hard work is the first ingredient for success, but other ingredients are necessary, too. What are they? Here's a checklist:

✓ Confidence. Nothing succeeds like a good attitude. If your child always has thoughts like, "I could never be elected class treasurer" or "I can't do a really good science project, so I'll just do something easy," then he's setting himself up for failure. You can't do anything unless you try and have an optimistic outlook — while no guarantee of success — is often the impetus that propels a project or dream to fruition. Encourage your child to have faith in himself and to assume that he's as good as anyone else. Help him find his personal strengths (a natural outgoingness, a sense of humor, good organizational skills, creative thinker, etc.) and focus on those, not limitations.

✓ Participation. Many students go through high school without joining a club, a team or the student government association. There are many extra-curricular activities at school — something for everyone's tastes and abilities. Joining up affords the chance to meet new friends, broaden horizons, develop social skills and build self esteem.

✓ In-class participation. The same thing goes for classroom behavior. The students who participate in classroom discussions, ask questions and fully involve themselves in what's going on will find it easier to do well on tests. If their marks are hovering between two grades at report card time, the teacher is more likely to give an involved student the higher grade. This doesn't mean it's necessary to be an apple polisher, just employ a little friendliness and effort.

✓ Personality. Not everyone has charisma, but everyone can be cheerful, helpful and polite. It's amazing what a difference a firm handshake, wide smile or warm "hello" can make, even just passing in the hall. Students who are not afraid to be congenial elicit positive feedback from others, which bolsters their own self-image.

✓ Courtesy. It might seem obvious, but it's something some high schoolers ignore: being respectful of the rights and feelings of others reflects well on the giver. Your child should be sure to be on time for class, bring the right books and have his homework done on time. He should never involve himself in ridiculing or name-calling, even if it seems like everyone else is doing it. He could offer a kind word or act of friendliness to a new or particularly shy classmate who's having trouble fitting in. Being altruistic is good for its own sake, but it also reaps rewards; somebody who always makes fun of others or is sarcastic to the point of cruelty may get laughs in a group, but no one really trusts him.

✓ Appearance. Not everyone can fit the Hollywood image of handsome or beautiful, but everyone can look his personal best. Careful grooming and clean dressing says to the world, "I care about myself; I'm worth something and you should think so, too." In high school, appearance is important. No matter which "look" your child adopts, if it gives him an more confident and positive self image, be supportive.

All it takes to be successful is a little hard work, an upbeat attitude and a willingness to take a risk. Joining a club, extending a friendly hand to a new student or running for school office may bring rejection or disappointment, but the student headed for success won't let that stop him. He'll learn from every experience, find something good about every day and continue to try new things. And everyone can do that!

Back to school means back to good habits

Now that September has arrived, it's time for parents to reinforce a positive back-to-school environment around the home. Like most parents, you have "bent the rules" during the summer.

You have allowed the children to watch more TV, extended bedtime hours and you might have given in to requests for unhealthy snacks. Don't feel bad. It doesn't take much to get back into the good habits that bring about success in school.

A good idea is to have your children help you develop back-to-school rules around the house. Establishing guidelines in this way makes it a child's responsibility instead of a parent's demand to follow the rules.

Here are some suggestions:

Turn off the TV — Establish set hours and programming for children. Try to limit TV time to no more than one hour after school per day.

Homework first — Even if your child has no homework on a given night, set time aside for math and reading exercises. Make it fun, and get personally involved. Also, set a specific time (one hour after dinner, for instance) when homework is to be completed every evening.

Set a firm bedtime — This is a good idea for students of all ages. Don't give in to TV demands beyond the established bedtime.

Start with a hearty, healthy breakfast — Studies have shown that children who come to school well fed do better academically.

Don't rush in the morning — Give children plenty of time to wake up, dress, eat and prepare for school. Rushing around in the morning produces stress, both for you and your children.

Communicate regularly with school — Contact teachers whenever you have a question about your child's progress. Attend PTA meetings, board of education meetings, etc. When you take education seriously, so will your children. Finally, don't forget to recognize a child's daily accomplishments in school. Rewarding positive behavior is the key to avoiding negative behavior.

Rural health outreach goal is healthier N.E.braskans

In 1994, rural health outreach funds were granted to the Pender Community Hospital in an effort to combat and reduce the high incidences of cancer in N.E.braska.

The Rural Health Outreach office is responsible for wellness education, prevention education and early detection of cancer. The counties in the service area include Wayne, Cumming, Dixon, Dakota, Burt and Thurston.

The Rural Health Outreach located at Pender develops curriculum for wellness and prevention. Projects have been done or are in development stages are Farm Safety Camps, Wellness Day Camp, Work Site Lunch and Learn programs, community Lunch and Learn programs and, most recently, the Rural Health Outreach office is busy organizing a five county health and wellness forum on aging issues.

The forum is called "Wellness is Ageless" and will be held on Sept. 28 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Pender Community Legion Hall. The forum is designed to demonstrate the diversity and quality of services available in the five county area.

Six screening tests will be provided to anyone who wishes, free of charge. "Wellness is Ageless" will focus on all aspects in the cycle of wellness. Financial, Legal, Psychological and Health information will be provided as well as enrichment services like entertainment and massage therapy services. During the lunch hour, Dr. Baltazar and his "traveling medicine show" will provide attendees with information about the elixir of life and other obscure philosophies.

Rural Health Outreach invites any agency in the area to contact the organization about its services. The RHO can help with the development of a specific project or can help others with formats already developed. The organization is available to provide health and prevention education to all of N.E.braska. Contact Karen Hoag, project coordinator, for more information at 402-385-3083.

Phone executives changing

Marion Geneski will retire Sept. 1 after 30 years of dedicated service to HunTel Systems and the Eastern Nebraska Telephone Company. In February 1965, Geneski began his career in engineering for the Eastern Nebraska Telephone Company in Osmond. He became local manager seven years later in 1972, and held that position through the present.

Through the years, Geneski has witnessed many changes in the telephone industry. Telephone lines have been improved to be completely buried underground. The Central Office in Osmond has grown from 350 lines in 1965 to its present 593 lines. The Central Offices in Belden, Carroll and Meadow Grove have grown to support 693 lines.

Technological advances such as cable television have become available to Osmond, Carroll and most recently Belden.

Geneski and his wife Marilyn have three children, Michael, Carol and Cherie.

His retirement led to the promotion of Ken Mowery. Mowery will become local manager in Osmond. He began his employment with HunTel Systems in March 1972, working with the Blair Telephone Company's Outside Plant Crew in Blair. He held various positions in Blair before starting work as an inside/outside plant technician in Arnold and Stapleton, Neb. In 1974, he took on the role of central office technician for Osmond, Carroll, Belden, Meadow Grove, Bassett and Newport telephone exchanges.

Most recently, Mowery has been responsible for the maintenance of all central office switching equipment in Osmond, Belden, Carroll and Meadow Grove. His background includes time spent at Iowa State and in the U.S. Navy, specializing in electronics and radio communications.

With the reorganization of the Osmond Central Office, the Eastern Nebraska Telephone Company announced the promotion of Burton Bargmann. Bargmann has advanced to the position of lead service technician for Eastern Nebraska Telephone Company. He began his career with the company in Walthill in February 1977.

Grant True is a new addition to Osmond and the Osmond Central office. True recently transferred from the Blair Telephone Company and will replace Burton Bargmann's previous service technician position. He has been with HunTel Systems since May of 1992.

Taxes due

Wayne County Treasurer Lorraine Johnson reminds property owners that the second half of real estate taxes due for 1994 will become delinquent on September 1. Unpaid taxes will draw 14 percent interest after that date, she said.

Taxpayers are encouraged to send or bring their statements with their payments to the Wayne County Treasurer, P.O. Box 408, Wayne, NE 68787.

Colorful colorers

Nearly 200 pictures were entered in the Wakefield Victory +50 Coloring Contest. The contest was sponsored by Humpty Dumpty Day Care and judged by student teachers Mr. Shrunck, Mrs. Kneift and Mrs. Sass. Pictured are winners: Back row: Thu Tran (1st, 11 and 12 year-old division.), Kellie Larson (2nd, 9 and 10), Donald Oden (2nd, 11 and 12); Janná Erickson (1st, 9 and 10); Front row: Laura Salmon (1st, 6-8), Jaimy Albrecht (2nd, 6-8), Jessica Berns (2nd, 2-5), Kara Cruickshank (1st, 2-5).

Bank adds investment office

Farmers & Merchants State Bank announces the addition of a new line of investment services to broaden the range of financial products and services it offers to customers. The bank has contracted with AEGON USA Securities, Inc. to offer mutual funds, variable annuities, stocks, bonds, and managed accounts, and Affiliated Financial Services (AFS) to offer fixed annuities and insurance products. Farmers & Merchants State Bank has established Community Financial Services as an investment department located at the bank at 321 Main Street in Wayne.

New investment information is available from Matt Lawler, a licensed investment representative, who is experienced in helping customers identify present and future needs, explain alternatives, and recommend financial packages to reach individual goals and objectives. Lawler has been in the financial planning business for the past six years.

Lawler grew up in the small town of Claire, Iowa, just northwest of Fort Dodge. He is a graduate of Briar Cliff College in Sioux City. At Briar Cliff, he met his wife, Cari, and they now reside in the Siouxland area.

"We recognize the changing needs of our customers," according to

Matt Lawler

Tim Keller, Farmers and Merchants State Bank President. "We've introduced the concept of one-stop shopping for financial services because the convenience appeals to busy customers who also want to feel confident that they are working with experts. Now our customers can consolidate their financial services and work with one institution to develop an investment strategy that meets all of their present and future needs."

Lawler will share time between Farmers & Merchants State Bank and other affiliated banks. He will have regular office hours at Farmers & Merchants State Bank on Tuesdays and will be available by appointment any other weekday.

Keep your fruit pot

There were six nurses at the breakfast table this morning: three young and three older ones, the older ones began reminiscing about rum pots, Herman and Amish friendship bread. The younger trio had never heard of any of these.

I certainly do remember. And if any of my friends wish to remain my friend, they will not bless me with friendship bread, or any of that stuff.

It seems to go in cycles. Periodically, someone will carefully transport a concoction of flour, sugar, water and yeast in a Tupperware container; hand it to you, and say: "here, keep this in your refrigerator for bread and pancakes; and this is the way you feed it."

Then starts the daily process of stirring, adding sugar and flour, baking, and dividing. Because, you see, it tends to grow when you stir and feed it. Eventually, you run out of friends to give the stuff to, and you are sick of the bread.

"Herman" is like this. And one of the older gals admitted she finally threw hers out, saying "I felt so guilty!"

The fruit pot was the same principle, only you did not keep it in the frig. It sat on the counter and fermented. Supposedly, you used it for upside down cake, and ice cream topping; and added a different cup of fruit each week.

There were wrinkled noses from the youngsters, and chuckles of reminiscence from the rest of us.

But it did remind me of a lady in our new neighborhood who works in activities at the local nursing home. She frequently has the residents baking with sour-dough starter. And this starter came over on the ship with her great grandmother 125 years ago!

That is just an unbelievable record. The World-Herald even featured her in a story about starters this spring. I wouldn't want the responsibility for it.

But the thought of all that bread, and rolls, and pancakes through the years does make my mouth water.

I just don't want any Herman, or friendship bread from the Amana colonies lurking in my kitchen.

the RESOUND DIFFERENCE

- The ReSound Personal Hearing System can be programmed to provide different amplification of both soft and loud sounds based on your hearing loss.
- ReSound automatically separates incoming sound into two frequency bands and adjusts the sound intensity in each band independently.
- ReSound automatically provides increasingly more amplification as the sound input becomes softer and controls loud sounds by providing less amplification as the sound input becomes louder, and does this over the entire speech range.

Now you have the opportunity to experience for yourself the advanced technology of the unique ReSound Personal Hearing System

Due to the complex factors involved in neural hearing loss it is NOT possible for ALL hearing impaired individuals to receive the same benefit from sound processing circuitry. As with any hearing instrument, a thorough hearing evaluation by qualified professionals is necessary to determine the amplification needs of each individual.

However, if you wear a behind-the-ear, all-in-the-ear or canal style hearing aid we invite you to compare the ReSound system to your present instrument. For professional assistance regarding the ReSound system or any other hearing instrument, contact the audiologists at Norfolk Audiology for a no obligation consultation.

Attend meeting

Gary Van Meter, Shani Kavanaugh and Kim Kruse recently attended the 90th Annual Convention of the Nebraska and South Dakota Jewelers Association which was held at the Ramada Inn at Kearney August 18 - 20.

The three attended meetings conducted by several representatives of leading manufacturers and suppliers in the jewelry industry.

The program highlights were: KWHS Retail Marketing Services Seminar "Creating a Business Plan for Your Store" by A. J. Sales; Jewelers of America's Michael D. Roman Center for Business Studies Seminar "How to Promote for Your Customer's Special Occasions" by James Porte, President of The Jewelry Marketing Institute of New York; Message from Jewelers of America Membership Director, Bill Edwards; Gregg Todd, Training Coordinator for Stuller Settings Seminar "Remount Limitations and Selling".

Promotion

E5 Staff Sergeant Lori Stock of Lincoln, a member of the 155th Nebraska Air National Guard Refueling Group, has recently been promoted to E6 Tech Sergeant and is now NCOIC (non commissioned officer in charge) of billing in the services flight.

Lori has been a member of the Air Guard for seven years. She is married to Steve Stock and has two daughters, 4 and 3 months. She is the daughter of Norman and Mary Jensen of Winside.

Efforts cited

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Dale S. Pokett, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Pokett of Wayne, recently received a Gold Wreath for Recruiting excellence.

Pokett was cited for his efforts at Navy Recruiting District, Omaha, where he is currently stationed. The gold wreath recognizes outstanding performance of duties, professionalism and initiative.

The 1988 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School joined the Navy in June 1988.

Dr. James Lindau

Family doctor

Dr. James Lindau of Wayne has completed continuing medical education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP), the national association of family doctors.

AAFP members are required to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. The AAFP, which has more than 75,000 members, is one of the largest medical specialty organizations in the country. It was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical advancements through regular continuing medical education.

Dr. Lindau has been an active AAFP member since 1979. As a family physician, Dr. Lindau is qualified to work in all major areas of health care and trained to treat patients of all ages for the vast majority of health problems.

The AAFP, which is headquartered in Kansas City provides educational, legal, insurance and lobbying services to its members and publishes American Family Physician, a 150,000-circulation clinical journal.

Student pages Nominated

Any student in Nebraska's 17th Legislative district, which includes Wayne and Wakefield, who would like to be nominated as a page for the 1996 Legislative Session, should contact Joyce Morgan at State Sen. Pat Engel's office in Lincoln. The number is 402-471-2716.

Typically, upper classmen are selected for these positions since they have adjusted to college responsibilities and have more flexibility in their schedules. Engel said he encourages any student who has an interest in public policy and desires to learn the legislative process to consider this opportunity.

The deadline for submission of application for the page positions for the 1996 Legislative Session is Sept. 20. The page selection committee will meet later in September to select individuals to fill these positions.

Nathan Salmon

Completes basic

Nathan Salmon recently graduated from Basic Training in the Air Force. He is now attending Lab Technical School at Sheppard's Air Force Base in Texas.

Wesley Blecke and Andrea Lundahl, both seniors at Wakefield High School, have been nominated for the second annual Wendy's High School Heisman Award, according to principal Jeanne Surface of Wakefield High School. The national awards program, created by Wendy's, the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASPP) and the Downtown Athletic Club in New York City, recognizes academic achievement, community service and athletic accomplishments of high school senior men and women.

The following accomplishments earned Blecke and Lundahl their nomination for Wendy's High School Heisman Award.

Blecke earned a grade point average of 97.84. He is active in basketball and baseball and earned several honors. He was a member of speech and drama, National Honor Society, class officer, participated in Wayne State College Math Day, Creighton University Math Day, Wayne State College Business Day and was an academic letter winner the past four school terms. He taught Bible school and Sunday school and was a member of the property committee at church.

Miss Lundahl has a grade point average of 97.21. She is active in volleyball, basketball, track, Future Business Leaders of America, band and was a class officer. Her volunteer service included community theater, Tree of Love for the Wakefield Health Care Center, DARE mentor, elementary aide and assistant coach for ESVA team. She received an excellent rating at Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science and an academic achievement award at Wakefield High School.

Principals at the nation's estimated 23,000 high schools were invited to nominate one male and one female student-citizen for the awards competition. Entries will be evaluated to narrow the field to 1,020 state finalists and then to 102 state award winners.

After that, a panel of judges will name 12 national finalists, one male and one female representing six geographic regions. They will be honored during the Heisman Memorial Trophy national telecast on Dec. 9 on ESPN.

NRD budget requires property tax increase

NORFOLK — The 1996 Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District fiscal budget will require a property tax increase as adopted by the board on Thursday, August 24 at their regular meeting.

The 1996 fiscal budget requires $1,439,242.00 million in property taxes, as compared to $1,385,045 million required the previous year.

The property tax levy is tentatively set at 3.59 cents per $100 of valuation due to the fact that two counties have not yet submitted their valuations to the district. The 1995 property tax levy for the Lower Elkhorn NRD, which covers all or portions of 15 counties in Northeast Nebraska, was 3.52 cents per $100 of valuation.

The 1996 Lower Elkhorn NRD budget reflects a strong commitment to conserving soil and maintaining water quality. One of the largest budget items is designated for land treatment cost-share assistance.

Water resources programs are also considered a very important priority for the district. The board designated $115,000 for water resources programs, which includes the well abandonment, soil sampling, wellhead protection and groundwater management programs.

The board also allotted $140,000 for intergovernmental cost-share assistance to build four road structures within the district. The LENRD contributes 75 percent to the total construction cost of building a road structure with the county or state paying the remaining construction costs.

In other action, the board unanimously approved awarding a $500 grant to St. Leonard's School in Madison for the construction of an outdoor classroom.

The board also unanimously approved a request made by staff to network the office computers to provide a more efficient working environment. The computers will be upgraded in the upcoming weeks and the networking process will begin later this fall.

The board and staff recognized fellow employee Letha Shimerka of Pierce who will be retiring this month. Letha was a secretary for the Natural Resources Conservation Service in Pierce for 32 years and also worked as the Natural Resources District secretary for Pierce County for the past 23 years. She was awarded a plaque and was congratulated for her many contributions. An open house was held in honor of Letha prior to the board meeting. Kathy Klein of Pierce has been hired to fill the position.

The next board meeting of the Lower Elkhorn NRD will be held on Thursday, September 28, 1995.

Wellness Weekend is planned for women

A Wellness Weekend for Women is planned for the weekend of Sept. 15 to 17 at Niobrara State Park. With a focus on the aspects of wellness — physical, intellectual, emotional and spiritual — a variety of speakers will share their knowledge and skills with the participants.

Guest speakers will include Joan Burney, Ms. noted author and humorist who will share her gems of wisdom throughout the weekend. Also featured is Delores Ruzicka, owner of Country Creations in Verdigré, and nationally recognized crafts person. Delores will be teaching workshops along with sharing her experiences as a small business person.

Additional workshops on investments, nutrition, communication, wardrobe planning, and crafts will be offered, including a session on learning your personal personality profile. Also available will be professional massages and color analysis.

The weekend will begin with registration on Friday evening, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and conclude on Sunday morning. It is co-sponsored by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension, Northeast Community College and the Nebraska Pork Producers Association.

For more information and a brochure, call your local extension office, or the Cedar County Extension Office at 402-254-6821.

Piano students of Mrs. Marcile Uken toured several places in Lincoln recently. Among their stops was Photo Day at Memorial Stadium on the University of Nebraska campus where the students were able to get autographs of Neb. football players.

Several piano students of Mrs. Marcile Uken visited Lincoln Aug. 19 for their annual tour.

The students who were on the trip were Ben Allemann, Alison and Scott Baier, Jamie Beckman, Emily Brady, Emily Bruflat, Amy Close, Brandon, Katie and Kristin Echtenkamp.

Also attending were Kala Henschke, Ryan Hix, John Rachel and Sarah Jensen, Andrea and Jacob Kay, Kayla and Todd Koerber, Emily Kinney, Jessica Liegthy, Ashley and Jason Lutt, Erin Magnuson, Tessa Main, Karie and Kelly Mitchell, Adam Munter, Andrew Peterson, Joel and Justin Polthamus, Carol and Craig Rahn, Marisa Rose, Jamie and Matthew Sharer, Ann and John Temme, Michaela Vander Weil and Heather Zach.

Parents who accompanied the group were Deb Allemann, Joan Baier, Midge Bruflat, Larry and Cathy Echtenkamp, Jodene Henschke, Dr. Dennis and Monica Jensen, Don Koerber, Patty Lutt, Kathy Mitchell, Larry Peterson, Matt Polthamus, Marvel Rahn, Mary Temme and Karen Zach.

While in Lincoln the group toured the Bedient Company which builds pipe organs. These organs begin at $92,000 and can take several years to make because they are hand made and tested.

The group also attended Photo Day for the Nebraska Cornhuskers. They were able to get autographs, take pictures and talk to the players.

They toured the State Capitol and spent time at Pioneer Park and Nature Center.

The group ended the day with a meal at the Country Buffet.

Wayne BPW covers topics of concern to women

The Wayne Business and Professional Women met for a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting at Riley's in the upstairs meeting room on Tuesday, Aug. 15. Members present were Evelyn Sheckler, Carrol Baier, Jociell Bull, Connie Disbrow, Anna Combs, Melanie Holshouser and guests Nancy Sutton, Wendi South and Michelle Evans.

Evelyn Sheckler, president, called the meeting to order. The Pledge of Allegiance and the club collect were recited in unison.

The minutes of the July meeting were read by the secretary, Anna Combs. A thank you letter was read from Haven House for the personal articles given by the members of Wayne BPW. The treasurer's report was given by the president.

A report was given by Jociell Bull, who represents the Wayne BPW Club in legislation, from the National Business and Professional Women entitled "A Million Voices for Economic Justice." She encouraged members to send a post card addressed to President Clinton to urge him to veto any welfare measure coming out of the United States Congress that would harm women and their children.

Carrol Baier, Wayne BPW legislation chairperson, reported on the first woman cadet in the history of The Citadel, South Carolina's state military college. Connie Disbrow, Young Careerist chairperson, reported on the Young Careerist Speak-off to be held at the Sept. 19

Wayne BPW meeting. Each candidate is to be between the ages of 25 and 35 and the topic is "I Have A Vision..." For more information contact her at 375-3304. She also shared a poem, entitled "Opportunity."

Evelyn Sheckler reported on a celebration of the Woman's Suffrage Movement to be held in Lincoln Aug. 25 and 26 and the week of Oct. 17 is National Business Women's Week.

The program was given by Michelle Evans and Wendi South who work at Haven House. Their topic was "Domestic Violence: Signs of Abuse, How the Abused and the Abuser Can Receive Help." They shared pamphlets with the group and held a question and answer session. They reported that volunteers are needed and donations of personal items.

The next meeting of the Wayne Business and Professional Women will be a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting held in the upstairs meeting room at Riley's on Tuesday, Sept. 19.

Car purchase can teach teens a lesson

Before shopping for a car, teenagers and their parents should try to anticipate and solve possible conflicts.

A teen's first car often is as much part of a family's life as his or her first tooth. The main consideration is how this purchase will affect the household.

Before buying a car, parents and the teen should pencil out the costs implied in the car's purchase and show these costs will be shared.

Issues for discussion include: Will the teen find a part-time job? How much can he or she really afford? Will the parents contribute or co-sign a loan?

If parents decide to lend the money to buy a car, they should write down exactly the terms of payments and eventual interest. These negotiations will prepare the teen for adult life. Parents who buy their teens a car may make them happy but teach them nothing.

The amount of responsibility that a parent can place on a teen varies according to his or her maturity level. Some teens may be ready for a car at age 16 while others may not be. Parents are the only ones who can make that decision.

Before the purchase, the parents and teen should negotiate rules pertaining to the car. This makes the teen part of the decision-making process. Negotiations also lay out duties concerning every detail of the car's management—such as gas, mileage and maintenance.

Lynda Cruickshank
Wayne County

Here are some practical issues concerning the purchase of a car that teens should be aware of:

- Don't necessarily go through the dealer for a loan. Shop around for interest rates and compare.
- Have a used car checked by a mechanic and get estimates for the eventual repairs.
- Learn to separate sales techniques from facts.
- Individuals not knowledgeable about vehicles should have someone accompany them when car shopping.
- Gather information before buying a certain car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruskamp are new Emerson couple

Lori Barent and Chris Ruskamp, both of Emerson, were married July 22 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Loup City. The Rev. Tom Ryan and the Rev. Don Larmore officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Alvin and Mary Jo Barent of Rockville. The groom is the son of Norbert and Mary Ann Ruskamp of Dodge.

Music was provided by soloists Jill Moritz and Bill Ensley and organist Stacy Peters.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white romance satin and embroidered lace with pearls and clear sequins. It featured a sweetheart neckline with an open back in the shape of a heart, an elongated back peplum and a cathedral train.

She carried a bouquet of long cascade of berry roses and yellow lilies with purple pansies and purple babies' breath. The bouquet was accented in pearls and teal sparkle angel lace and tied up into tulle with ivy trailing.

Dawn Robertson of North Loup was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Stacy Duvel, Wendy Hansen, Lauri Brandenburger, Renee Bubak and Denise Hebda.

The bridesmaids wore dresses of cranberry satin, a high low cut, with sweetheart necklines and open backs. They carried hand tied clutch bouquets of burgundy garden roses and yellow miniature lilies and purple pansies accented with teal sparkle angel lace tied up with teal tulle and streamers. A bow of multi colors garnered the bouquets.

Candlelighters were Tara Harshorn and Mandy Lueshen.

Flower girls were Courtney Ruskamp and Tiffany Bochart. Ringbearer was Jason Oligmueller. Personal attendant was Deb Barent.

Tom Ruskamp of Dodge was the best man. Groomsmen were Dave Ridder, Jeff Ortmeier, Randy

Mr. and Mrs. Ruskamp

Ruskamp, Bernie Ruskamp and Chris Pieper.

Ushers were Larry Rasmussen, Terry Rasmussen, Glen Franzluebers and Greg Rief.

Hosting the reception and dance at the gymnasium in Rockville were Kermit and Margene Erikson, Raymond and Teresa Barent, Dave and Carol Oligmueller and Kevin and Jeanette Lueshen.

Lynette Harms and Kim Oliphant sat at the guest book.

Honored guest was the grandmother of the bride, Clara Hehnke.

Following a wedding trip to Florida and the Bahamas, the couple lives in Emerson.

The bride is a graduate of Loup City High School and the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. She is a Special Education teacher and junior high volleyball coach at Wayne Public Schools. The groom is a graduate of Dodge High School and the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. He is a crop production specialist at Emerson Fertilizer.

The Golden Years

By:
Connie Dishrow

A bit of history — the nation's smallest public library — has passed from rural Back Valley, Tennessee. The 5-by-6-by-6 foot structure housed 2,000 books. May McGlothlin, now 86, was a teacher who donated $250 for the lumber in 1956. The library was built in the front yard of Dorothy Byrd, a nurse now 69, by her family and "whatever happened by," she recalls. Perry had collected books for the project because the nearest county branch was 20 miles away. Once opened, the door was never locked. The county at first ignored the compact library, because the Back Valley people hadn't gone through channels. "We just built it and told them it was here," said Mrs. Byrd. In time the county started her at $5 a month as part-time librarian. She has retired now that a much larger library, computer-equipped, has opened in a nearby town.

At 90 Emanuel Thebner practices law and walks up to five miles a day. He walks to a suburban station to commute to New York City and often hikes to the court hearing his case. At 90? "I don't look it, feel it or try to act it," he says. "I eat wholesome food and I try to save and apply my energy usefully."

Remember When?
September 5, 1957 — "Beat-generation" author Jack Kerouac published On the Road, which became a legendary best seller.

Joins religious order

During celebration of Mass at St. Bonaventure's Catholic Church in Columbus, Allen O'Donnell of Wayne made the Profession of Faith to the religious order founded by St. Francis of Assisi more than 800 years ago.

The Rev. Fr. Ed Schad of St. Bonaventure's celebrated the Mass held on Saturday, August 26. The Mass was concelebrated by the Rev. Fr. Don Cleary, pastor of St. Mary's Church in Wayne.

The Third Order of Franciscans, sometimes referred to as Tertiary, is reserved for the laity, or "secular" folk, who wish to give their time, energy and lives to the helping of those in need, in the manner taught by St. Francis.

As a novice for 14 months, O'Donnell studied the life and writings of St. Francis and St. Clare, both of Assisi. O'Donnell is a retired social science associate professor at Wayne State College.

St. Clare, a disciple of St. Francis, founded the first Franciscan women's order, popularly known as the "Poor Clares".

Attending the ceremony in Columbus were members of the Secular Franciscan Fraternity of St. Bonaventure, members of Wayne's St. Mary's Marian Center, known as "Mary's House", and members of O'Donnell's family.

After the ceremony a reception was held in St. Bonaventure's social hall for O'Donnell and guests.

The "Word" for the Week

Intellectual arrogance?

Did you know men and women in academic circles have a great respect for Jonathan Edwards? Jonathan Edwards lived between 1703 and 1758. He was probably the greatest intellect in American history. Almost all those in academic circles reverence Edwards as a learned man and philosopher. Although these men and women bow before the intellect of Jonathan Edwards, they hope he is wrong. They hope he is wrong in his assessments about this life and the life to come. Why? Well, if Jonathan Edwards is correct, most present day intellectuals are doomed.

You see, Jonathan Edwards taught the so called "hard doctrines" of the Bible. He taught that "the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men" (Romans 1:18). Jonathan Edwards taught only God can save men and women from eternal destruction. "In this is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins" (1 John 4:10). A propitiation is a sacrifice which appeases God's wrath against sin. Jesus Christ took upon himself the wrath of God due to others for their sins. As a result, Christ's sacrifice for sin is the ultimate definition of love. It is this kind of teaching most intellectuals really hate; they also know they are doomed if it is true.

Christian concert planned

Cooperative Campus Ministries of Wayne State College will sponsor a Christian music concert by Soul Support, an a capella group out of Lincoln.

The concert will be Thursday, Sept. 7 at 8 p.m. in the WSC Willow Bowl. The concert is free admission and the public is welcome. In case of inclement weather, the concert will be in WSC's Lay Theater.

The four-year-old group has brought their own fresh and exciting style to the Contemporary Christian Music Scene of the midwest and more recently the nation.

Baptism

Anna LaRayne Yost

Howard and Marion Iversen and Greta Grubbs of Winside traveled to Lincoln Sunday, Aug. 20 to attend the baptism of Anna LaRayne Yost, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yost. It was held at Our Savior Lutheran Church and a dinner was held afterwards.

The Iversens are great grandparents and Lester and Greta Grubbs are grandparents.

Waynian is youth delegate

Jennifer Johnson, daughter of Dale and Karen Johnson of Wayne, was a Nebraska delegate to the recent National Presbyterian Youth Tricentennial.

The week-long gathering, July 25-30, was held at Perdue University. Over 6,000 youths were present from all over the world.

The theme of this year's tricentennial was "And the Walls Came Tumbling Down". Delegates attended workshops and study groups pertaining to breaking down walls and barriers in their lives such as racism and prejudice.

Fifty-three delegates, attended from the Homestead Presbytery in which the First Presbyterian Church of Wayne is located.

Why do schools use age for starting school?

Q. If age is such a poor factor to use in determining classroom readiness, why do schools use it exclusively to indicate when a child will enter kindergarten?

A. Because it is so convenient. Parents can plan for the definite beginning of school when their child reaches 6 years of age. School officials can survey their districts and know how many first-graders they will have the following year. If an 8-year-old moves into the district in October, the administrator knows with certainty that the child belongs in the second grade, and so on. The use of chronological age as a criterion for school entrance is great for everybody—except the late bloomer.

Q. We have a 6-year-old son who is a late bloomer, and he is having trouble learning to read. Can you explain the link between his immaturity and this perplexing learning problem?

A. It is likely that your late bloomer has not yet completed a vital neurologic process involving an organic substance called myelin. At birth, the nervous system of the body is not insulated.

That is why an infant is unable to reach out and grasp an object; the electrical command or impulse is lost on its journey from the brain to the hand. Gradually, a whitish substance (myelin) begins to coat the nerve fibers, allowing controlled muscular action to occur.

Myelination typically proceeds from the head downward and from the center of the body outward. In other words, a child can control the movement of his head and neck before the rest of his body. Control of the shoulder precedes the elbow, which precedes the wrist, which precedes the large muscles in the hands, which precedes small muscle coordination of the fingers.

This explains why elementary school children are taught block-letter printing before they learn cursive writing; the broad strokes and lines are less dependent on minute finger control than the flowing curves of mature penmanship.

Since visual apparatus in humans is usually the last neural mechanism to be myelinated, your immature child may not have undergone this necessary developmental process by his present age of 6 years. Therefore, such a child who is extremely immature and uncoordinated may be neurologically unprepared for the intellectual tasks of reading and writing. Reading, particularly, is a highly complex neurological process. The visual stimulus must be relayed to the brain without distortion, where it should be interpreted and retained in the memory. Not all 6-year-old children are equipped to perform this task. Unfortunately, however, our culture permits few exceptions or deviations from the established timetable. A 6-year-old must learn to read or he will face the emotional consequences of failure.

Q. We've heard a lot about war toys. Do you think they are damaging to children?

A. Kids have been playing "cowboys and Indians" and other combat games for hundreds of years, and I'm inclined to feel that the current worry is unfounded.

Young boys, particularly, live in a feminine world; they're with their mothers far more than their dads. The teachers of the nursery school, kindergarten and elementary school are likely to be women. Their Sunday school teachers are probably female, too. In this sugar and spice world, I think it is healthy for boys to identify with masculine models, even if the setting involves combat. Two boys can "shoot" each other without emotional arousal. "Bang! Bang! You're dead," they shout.

On the other hand, parents should limit the amount of violence and killing their children view on television and in the movies. The technology of audio-visual electronics has become tremendously effective and can be far more stimulating and damaging. Measurable physiological changes occur while a child is watching a violent movie; the pulse rate quickens, eyes dilate, hands sweat; the mouth goes dry and breathing accelerates. If repeated often, the emotional impact of this experience should be obvious.

Reunions keep area families busy

Deck reunion

The annual reunion of the descendants of the late Herman and Hulda Deck was held Sunday, Aug. 27 at the fire hall in Hoskins and was hosted by the Paul Deck families.

Fifty-two attended and came from Colorado Springs, Colo.; Lincoln, Fremont, Wisner, York, Norfolk, Pierce, Winside and Hoskins. An exchange student from Germany was also present.

The eldest attending was Ella Deck of Norfolk and the youngest was Daisha Schwanko of Pierce.

The 1996 reunion will be held at the same place on Aug. 25 and will be hosted by the Henry Deck families.

Cousins reunion

Cousins of the late Hillevi Stalder, Goldie Reimers and Elna Peterson held a reunion at the John Peterson farm near Carroll on Sunday, Aug. 27.

Those present were Archie and Virginia Lindsay, Gary and Janice Schmitt, Raymond Schmitt and Dave and LeAnn Carstensen of Laurel. Also present were John and Norma Peterson, Lane and Carol Ostendorf and family of Sioux City, Iowa, Scott and Kathy Lackas and family of West Point, Larry and Shannon Peterson and family of Carroll, Carl Peterson of Carroll, Bob and Annabelle Peterson of Norfolk, their sons Russell and Judy of Bellevue and Steve and Anne of South Sioux City.

Rauss-Aurich reunion

Stu and Diana Hollman were hosts to the Rauss-Aurich 37th family reunion at their home near Clatonia, Neb. A carry-in noon dinner was enjoyed by 18 family members.

Oldest attending was Marvin Aurich of Dalton. Youngest was Emily Ferguson of Lincoln. Traveling the furthest were Lance Hollman of Evanston, Ill. and Norma and Allan Olson of Longmont, Colo.

Attending from this area were Gilbert and Eleanor Rauss and Arland and Dorothy Aurich of Wayne and Overt and Delilah Aurich of Becmer.

There were three births reported. Next year's reunion will be held in Columbus with Frances Inselman as hostess.

Holmberg reunion

Four generations of Andrew and Ida Holmberg held a reunion on Sunday, Aug. 13 in the Wakefield Senior Center. Approximately 70 cousins traveled from Idaho, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska.

Joellen Adams and Pamela Djerf were the organizers. They have been attempting to update the family records. Joellen read minutes for the first organized reunion 40 years ago. Pam reported finding clippings and letters, some dating about 10 years prior to the 1955 minutes. They were voted to serve as the 1996 officers.

Correspondence was read and messages relayed from from the absent cousins.

The two bouquets furnished for the Salem Lutheran Church altar that morning were presented to Myrtle Mortenson Nelson and Erwin Mortenson, honoring them for 97 and 93 years.

There are 10 new members, four marriages and six infants.

Kristine Djerf, who has been a student in Sweden the past year, made a study of Holmberg grandparents, updated and made corrections in the records and added information to the family life history.

Bishop-Herfel reunion

The Bishop-Herfel reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 20 in the Senior Center in Laurel. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Herfel, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Boye and family of Ponca, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Herfel and family of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bobenmoyer of Maskell, Mrs. Jim Cooper of Dixon and her aunt and granddaughter from California and Phyllis Herfel.

Krueger reunion

The annual Krueger family reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 13 in the Winside Legion Hall with a noon potluck dinner. Approximately 50 family members attended from Winside, Carroll, Wakefield, Hoskins, Norfolk, Newcastle and Kansas City, Mo.

Oldest was Esther Krueger of Norfolk. Coming the farthest was Mr. and Mrs. Dick Krueger of Kansas City, Mo.

The 1996 reunion will be held the second Sunday of August in the Winside Legion Hall.

Carlson reunion

A Carlson family reunion was held Saturday, Aug. 12 at the Wakefield park. Thirty-five relatives attended from Lavern and Cottonwood, Minn.; Lincoln, Omaha, Wakefield, Bancroft and Concord. A potluck dinner was held, followed with a film review of a trip to Alaska by Lloyd Carlson of Lavern, Minn.

Debate continues on 1995 Farm Bill

As debate on the 1995 farm bill continues, it is frequently suggested that land-idling requirements — officially acreage reduction programs (ARPs) — be eliminated. This and the next column in this series will be devoted to ARPs and their role in commodity programs.

Generally, ARPs are popular with producers, but agribusinesses have been less than enthusiastic about their value. ARPs vary from year to year and from commodity to commodity. For example, there was no ARP for wheat in 1994 and 1995, and none is planned for 1996. For corn, the 1994 ARP was zero, but in 1995 it was 7.5 percent of the crop acreage base.

Farmers tend not to object to ARPs if they have some lower quality land that is well suited for idling. In addition, there is a general perception that ARPs will be beneficial to market prices. However, both ideas deserve careful analysis. In particular, we offer the following:

1. ARPs involve a cost to farmers, and this is sometimes overlooked in evaluating program benefits. The net benefits of program participation to a producer are considerably less than the deficiency payments received because of the lost revenue on idled acres. This is sometimes not recognized in the public debate over program benefits. If an ARP was not involved, it would be easier to assess the contribution of the program to farm income. Often, it is perceived that program payments are simply an "extra" benefit, and sometimes it appears that program payments make up the major share of agricultural net returns. This can be a somewhat distorted view.

2. ARPs reduce the risk benefit of commodity programs. Here again, because ARPs involve lost revenue, the risk benefits of our current program may be less than it first appears. It is commonly thought that our current program places an effective floor under producer income because of the deficiency payment mechanism. This is true for conditions of low market prices. On the other hand, suppose a situation exists where aggregate production is low and market prices are high (matching or exceeding target prices). The deficiency payment mechanism is not engaged because of high market prices. Further (except for a total crop failure), a non-participant has more to sell than a participant because of the ARP requirement for participation. In such a situation, the current program does not act as a floor on income.

Perhaps the most accurate conclusion is that the perceived costs and benefits of ARPs can vary from producer to producer, from commodity to commodity, and from year to year. It is a bit unfair to make all-encompassing statements about ARPs without taking this variability into consideration.

Pickup destroyed by fire

A 1982 Ford pickup owned by Vernon and Carol Bauermeister of rural Wayne was destroyed by a fire Friday afternoon. Mrs. Bauermeister was windrowing hay when she noticed the fire and called the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department. The pickup was parked in the field but no other damage was reported. The exact cause of the fire is not known.

Audits not always unpleasant

The word "audit" has unpleasant connotations for most people. Taxpayers do not care to receive greetings from the IRS concerning an audit. Business owners do not look forward to the annual visit from the auditors.

But an audit can have good outcomes: overlooked deductions are found which benefit the taxpayer, or the auditors suggest a change that will help business owners reduce their cost of doing business.

An audit is a methodical examination or review of something, to determine that everything is in good order and as it should be. Thus audits are useful activities; it is the connotations we put on them that make them fearsome.

Right now farmers and ranchers have a concern with a particular kind of audit, an environmental audit. This is a review of agricultural operations, farming practices and the land to determine if a farm is in compliance with laws that protect the environment. It can be done by an outside firm or person, or landowners can conduct a self-audit. It's a useful activity to identify good practices and those that would benefit from improvement. Certain laws or regulations encourage such audits, and many lending institutions require them when land is sold.

Farmers' concerns relate to the confidentiality of that audit information. Under current Nebraska law, when a violation of environmental regulations is found, by an audit or other means, it is to be reported immediately to the appropriate authorities. Here farmers face a dilemma. On the one hand, the audit information is clearly valuable. On the other hand, there's a very real possibility that an audit may identify as a problem something that never would have come to light without a systematic investigation. Because audits are not currently protected by of audit protection is needed, but it opposes a blanket immunity for all fines and penalties if major violations are found. One possibility is to provide that if a problem is found, immediately corrected, not intentional, and reported to authorities, DEQ would agree not to pursue civil penalties. Inclusion of "not intentional" is important: sometimes years pass before environmental violations are apparent, and they may have been caused by a previous owner of the land.

Protection for self-audits is an important issue, because Nebraska should encourage these audits. It's better to find and correct problems than to be like an individual who fears cancer and puts off a doctor visit until it's too late.

privilege — subject to confidentiality — a farmer who is undergoing an extensive audit faces the possibility of establishing a laundry list of complaints that may result in environmental agency penalties or civil lawsuits. This lack of privilege may tend to discourage self-audits, which may be the first step toward a third party investigation.

LB 721 was introduced in the last session of the Nebraska Legislature to provide protection for self-audits. Since 1993, Colorado, Indiana, Kentucky and Oregon have implemented laws that shield self-audits with a privilege to withhold information in legal proceedings. Except in very limited cases, self-audit documents aren't admissible in civil, criminal or administrative legal actions — but only if the responsible individual takes corrective action.

The Environmental Protection Agency and the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality have expressed opposition to giving confidentiality privileges to self-audits, saying they could be used to hide past environmental violations and allow the violation to continue — in effect, shielding criminal conduct. However, both agencies have said they are willing to work toward some type of program that encourages self-audits as an effort for environmental protection.

CRP sign-up expected in September

USDA is preparing for the 13th sign-up opportunity for the popular Conservation Reserve Program (CRP). Farmers should be watching local papers closely, or checking with local Farm Service Agency offices for information. "States have been given the option of developing their own bid ranking criteria and priority enrollment areas for the next CRP sign-up," says Kris Thorp of the Center for Rural Affairs. Because enrollments must be finalized by Sept. 31, there will be a short decision window for farmers.

The Natural Resources Conservation Service convened the NE State Technical Committee to develop the Nebraska plan for the sign-up. "The directions given to states for developing their own ranking system and priority enrollment areas were similar to recommendations made to Senator Kerrey by a broad-based consortium of farm, commodity and environmental groups. This appears to be a test run for giving states more control over agricultural conservation programs," says Thorp.

Support for using state technical committees is strong throughout the nation, with over 70 grassroots organizations in 26 states endorsing the Campaign for Sustainable Agriculture's CRP policy options.

The Center for Rural Affairs, Nebraska Sustainable Agriculture Society and Nebraska Wildlife Federation have endorsed these CRP proposals. The National Farmers Union, the Isaac Walton League of America and the Soil and Water Conservation Society also support the use of state technical committees.
