

School board settles Carroll building issue

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

The village of Carroll will have a school for at least three more years.

That was the word from the District 17 School Board meeting Monday night.

The board decided to set a minimum enrollment requirement averaged over a three year period to determine whether to keep a school in a small community such as Carroll.

The resolution states, "when any attendance center enrolls 30 students or less for three consecutive years, the district will prepare to close the site for the next school year."

Carroll enrollment is currently at 48 students. West Elementary Principal David Luu told the board, after examining the census of potential students for the next three

Harvest death caused by heart attack

Wilmer Deck, 72, of Norfolk, died of a heart attack while working on the exterior of a combine, an autopsy reported Tuesday afternoon.

Deck was at the property of his son, Rodney Deck, in rural Winside at the time of the incident.

Deck was pronounced dead at 1:40 p.m. by acting Wayne County Coroner Chris Connolly.

At approximately 1 p.m. a call was placed to local authorities. The body was found on top of the combine. Connolly did not know if an accident brought on the heart attack, but found no visible signs indicating abnormal causes.

Home for Funerals of Norfolk is providing funeral services.

City studies garbage

Wayne City Council passed a resolution Tuesday night establishing a study committee on solid waste and recycling.

The resolution states that the current transfer station has been in existence since 1978 and is near the end of its serviceable life and that community recycling has been expanding through the use of the volunteer operated recycling trailer located on South Windom Street.

The resolution further states that the State of the Nebraska, through the enactment of the Integrated Solid Waste Management Act of 1992, mandates that all communities in Nebraska adopt sound disposal practices for solid waste volume reduction.

The study committee will be years, that the numbers looked good for maintaining the school.

WHILE THE decision to maintain a school was made at the meeting, the plans for renovation of the current building or erection of a new facility are still a question.

The board approved a committee Monday night to examine the issue. That committee will be appointed by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dennis Jensen. School Board President Phyllis Spethman will be one of the members.

THE RESOLUTION originally contained only a one-year evaluation period, but concerns were expressed among the board that enrollment might vary from one year to the next.

Mrs. Spethman proposed the three year period. "It seems to be a reasonable compromise point," she said. "That lets patrons in the community know what will happen and when it will happen."

Jensen drew up the resolution. Board member Will Davis questioned Jensen on his arrival at the minimum number of students.

Jensen said he looked at other school systems with similar policy and consulted administrators within District 17 before arriving at the number.

SUSAN GILMORE, Carroll mayor, was pleased with the decision. "We felt that [the school] was important for the viability of our community," she said. "I am sorry they didn't have the faith to continue [the school], but I can see where they're coming from."

The board has been looking into the Carroll issue for two years, and some Carroll residents are glad a decision has been reached. "Now we can move forward," said Lori Owens, of Carroll.

composed of seven members who will evaluate current solid waste management and recycling practices and develop recommendations on the transfer station expansion or disposition, recycling, solid waste collection and the financial impact of these options.

In other business, council passed a resolution promising the Library/Senior Center planning committee $50,000 more for the construction.

The resolution originally stated that the funds would come from the sale of the present library.

Board members Ralph Barclay and Jane O'Leary objected to such an action. The resolution passed with the stipulation that the source of the funds would be stated at a later time.

Geography lesson

Members of the Nebraska Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America spent Wednesday painting a 20 by 30 foot mural of the United States on the Wayne Elementary play area. The playground map will be used by teachers to teach geography through creative play. Telephone Pioneers include working and retired employees of US West who volunteer their time to help the community. Paint for the project was donated by Martin-Senour Paint Company. The company has donated paint for approximately 700 maps painted by Pioneers across the United States. The telephone pioneers are the largest corporation-affiliated service organization in America, with membership of approximately 855,000. Pictured above are, from left, Ken Bergland, Doug Engel, Tom Otto and Pat Otto. Others involved in the project included Deb and Bill Dickey. Members of the Wayne Elementary Booster Club and students also assisted.

Building committee does 'about face'

By Tom Mullen
Of the Herald

Charges of "controlling information" and "unethical conduct" spiced the school facilities meeting Tuesday night as the committee took a 180 degree turn towards a renovated Middle School.

Committee member Gary Van Meter, the lone proponent of renovating the existing Middle School at the committee's last meeting, distributed a letter outlining events of the previous week.

Van Meter had contacted Architect John Sova of Omaha, and arranged a tour of the Middle School last Friday with several other committee and School Board members.

According to Van Meter's letter, Sova believes, "the original 1908 construction of the school has potential as a good candidate for restoration."

OBSTACLES TO renovating the school, according to the letter, can be overcome by tearing down the west addition to the building, which was built in 1939.

Attached to the letter was a sketch of the original structure with a like footprint lying to the east, representing a new 30,000 square foot addition were the 1939 addition presently stands.

The sketch shows the two structures connected by a small, "central pod" which would house mechanical systems, elevators and stairways.

Also attached to the letter was a copy of a facsimile letter that Sova received from Lincoln architect Jim Dyck.

First signs pointing to hopeful harvest

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Harvest is just beginning in the area and it is really too early to make predictions on this year's yields, according to crop specialists from the University of Nebraska Research and Extension Center in Concord.

"We are just beginning bean harvest and very little corn is out. I feel we will have an extreme range of yields this year, both because of the hot, dry summer and the early frost," said John Witkowski, an entomologist at the Concord.

Witkowski reports that soybean yields range from 15 to 30 bushels per acre, but only a small percentage of the crop has been harvested.

Teri Post of the Consolidated Farm Service reports that her office has not had a large number of loss claims for CAT Insurance. "So far, the harvest has been better than the loss guarantee on the policies. We are urging farmers who think they may have a loss to leave strips in the field to be evaluated by our office," she said.

Post reports corn yields, in the fields that have been checked, to be from the upper 60 bushel range to 80 bushels per acre, which is above the level needed to collect insurance.

"The yields will be down considerably from the past several years but I think there are producers who are a little surprised because they (yields) are not as bad as they had thought," Post said.

Witkowski said moisture tests have indicated corn in the mid to upper 20 percent range but the warm, windy conditions of Wednesday and Thursday would help considerably in the dry down of crops.

Jason Berg of Wayne Grain and Feed said they have been getting a considerable amount of soybeans in, due in part to the excellent weather of the past several days.

"The yields are in the fair to average range with soybeans having 10 to 11 percent moisture. We are hearing of normal to below normal range. I would estimate approximately 25 percent of the soybeans are out in some areas. The weather has been cooperating and a lot is getting done," Berg said.

However, the forecast for the weekend calls for much cooler temperatures with the possibility of rain.

Dyck further asserts that Sova acted with complete disregard for the principals of the AIA code of ethics.

R-Way celebrates Mental Health Month

October is mental health awareness month.

Area businesses R-Way and Kirkwood House provide services for the mentally handicapped.

They would like to heighten your awareness of mental health issues during this nationally recognized month. Two of their clients have prepared statements about their experiences.

Zoo. I have taken fairy boat rides, paddle boats, and joined Pals, I have met many people since moving out of the nursing home. I like having lots of friends and visitors. I even had the opportunity to work part-time.

I also do a lot more for myself than I used to including doing my laundry, going to church and grocery shopping.

Arlan Behrends

I came to Kirkwood House on April 17, 1991 from Elms Health Care Center, Ponca. This is my success story and I've tried to be as honest as I possibly can. When I first moved in at age 37, I was very unsociable and I didn't have trust of people. I basically lived my life in fear of everything. I wasn't employed, wasn't allowed to do my laundry, couldn't keep my checkbook with me or write my own checks. My parents would buy me clothing. Other than their visits, I would spend most of my time alone in my room. Now after living at Kirkwood for almost five years, I feel like I have everything, which is a good feeling that I have worked very hard to get. I am currently doing my own laundry, balancing my checkbook, and writing my own checks. I am very good about budgeting my money. I have taken control of my social life but still get some assistance from my parents when I need it. I have taken and passed a medication class and am currently holding two part time jobs. One, as a fill in staff member for R-Way and the other working for the R-Way Lawn Crew. I have learned to do away with bad thoughts, and my hostility towards people. I also got a chance to go on my first home visit in 15 years and have gone home for visits three years in a row.

distributed, refers to Dyck's letter, concluding, "Mr. Sova explained in additional correspondence that Mr. Dyck's letter precluded him from providing further information to the committee members present on Friday. A copy of the Dyck correspondence is attached for information. You may draw your own conclusions."

Committee member Duane Schroeder addressed the issue first.

"I'M UNEASY ABOUT the way this committee is going.

"I'm not confident that we've got a completely unbiased opinion - a year ago we were told that renovation would cost 90 per cent of new construction, now we are being told it will cost more than new construction.

"The concern I have is, is there an attempt to control the flow of information?"

Committee member Vicki Pick echoed Schroeder's sentiments.

"You're spoon feeding us. I don't feel like I have any choices here.

"What keeps you honest? Do I just accept your firm based on its reputation and the fact that the School Board chose you?"

DYCK DEFENDED HIS work, charging that no committee member had ever called him to request information or ask any questions.

"You have relied on one day of an architect's work. We have been working with the school and its staff for three years.

"We won't tell you what to build.

"I stand here at the end of each meeting asking... begging for your suggestions, for direction."

School board member Jean Blomenkamp rose to the architect's defense.

"As an educator, I can tell you that his firm is experienced in building schools and that he has an excellent understanding of our needs.

"I think part of the problem is that we're assuming that (last year's $7.9 million school) bond issue failed because it was too much money.

"THE BOND ISSUE failed because the people didn't understand what they were getting for their money."

The latest proposal of a remodelled Middle School, brought forth by Van Meter, calls for a 30,000 square foot addition to the 30,000 square foot original structure.

The plan was estimated to cost $6.25 million compared to Dyck's

$9 million renovated middle school. The committee charged Dyck with the task of addressing this latest proposal, which allows for roughly one third less space.

"THIS ISN'T AN APPLES to apples comparison, we are trying, I'm afraid, to put a size ten foot into a size six shoe," Dyck suggested.

The architect promised the committee that some hard decisions will need to be made on which programs should be eliminated to work with the latest plan.

The next facilities committee meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on October 26 at the High School.

ERNIE NEEDS HOME

Anyone able to provide a new home for Ernie, the town dog, is asked to contact Mary or Duke Johnson. Ernie needs a fenced in back yard or someone who is willing to let Ernie live in their house. Town ordinances require dogs to be contained in some manner.

BLOOD DRIVE

Medical personnel from the Siouxland Blood Bank presented community members Susan Von Minden and Pearl Snyder with five gallon plaques on Oct. 2 at the Allen fire hall. Susan has been giving blood since her college days and Pearl first donated to help out the Duane Koester family when their son Dan received a bone marrow transplant in the early 70s.

The plaques given to these donors were designed by Judy Block, a blood bank lab worker. They include a lasered sketch of the War Eagle monument, with the letters SBB artistically inscribed.

Thirty-one donors participated in the fall drive. Rick Smith and Jackie Mitchell were one gallon donors and Jason Mitchell and Les Thomsen were first-time donors.

FIRE INSPECTION

Insurance service officers spent one day in town recently inspected the fire department in order to set fire insurance ratings for property owners. The officers met with firemen and city personnel, checking the water supply, fire fighting equipment and examining training records.

After the inspection, officers assured the firemen that they were maintaining high standards and would at least attain their former rating with the possibility of receiving a better one.

The official rating will be made sometime within the next year. Insurance companies then use the rating to figure your fire insurance costs.

WORK DAY

Approximately 15 volunteers helped at the work day at the fire hall held Oct. 7. Tasks accomplished included painting the ceiling in the large room used to park the trucks, installing kitchen cupboard and counter tops and painting bathrooms. Workers are still needed to do a variety of tasks. If you have some time to spend helping out at the fire hall, please contact fire chief Ray Brentlinger. More work needs to be done prior to the dedication of the building planned for Dec. 16, the day of the annual town Christmas drawing.

In order to assist in buying things for the kitchen and interior of the new Allen fire hall, a November community money shower is in the planning stages. If you would like to serve on a shower planning committee, con-

College to host speakers

Wayne State College will host a mass communications speakers series through the month of October.

Humanities instructor Dave Ogden, one of the coordinators of the series said, "We started this series to give students an opportunity to meet communications professionals and to showcase our students for the professionals."

"One of the advantages of the series," adds Ogden, "is that the students have the opportunity to talk about issues that they discuss in the classroom and how they apply to the real world."

On Oct. 12, the guest speaker will be Mohammad Sadden, South

Sioux City attorney. Sadden will present his analysis and appraisal of press and media portrayal of Muslims and Islamic-related issues.

On Oct. 26, Steve Jarding, press agent for Senator Robert Kerrey (and also for the Democratic Senatorial Re-election campaign) will be the speaker. Jarding will discuss his dealings with the White House press corps, which are part of his new responsibilities and life as a press agent on Capitol Hill.

Polish the business not the government

Dear Editor:

Your "Road Signs" editorial sure caught my eye. Another "Shop in Wayne" reminder. Good idea, but I think you missed the target. You're reminding the wrong people. Consider that we residents who spend money every day, and most of us do, spend the most of our disposable income right here in Wayne.

I doubt the true bottom line figures would show that residents of Wayne spend more money out of town than they do in town. Sure, we go out of town. But shopping is just the excuse we use. The reason isn't because the merchandise is better, or because it's cheaper, or there is more to choose from, or we couldn't get it in town. These notions are far from true and everybody knows it.

The real fact is that we all need to get away for awhile. Just go someplace different than our normal surroundings and do whatever we do when we get there. It's a chance to "trap" the kids in the car, sometimes under false pretenses, and spend time with the family without all the interruptions of the hometown environment. No phone calls, no neighbors, no lawn that needs mowing, no garage that needs cleaning, no laundry to look at, etc., etc., etc. — if only for a few hours.

Maybe we do a little shopping, but not enough to make or break or change much on main street. We always come back home.

The key to more sales in Wayne does not rest solely on its residents. No town, large or small, can exist on its own income. Can you imagine where Norfolk would be if nobody but locals shopped there?

Perhaps those who choose to be our city leaders would do well to consider what it would take to attract people from other communities who want to get away for a few hours.

Could Wayne be developed into an attraction? Could Wayne be developed into a unique shopping experience? Could Main Street be a fun place for lots of people to be? Could Wayne attract and help set up new small businesses? Could main street Wayne change its image? Well, at least a couple of main street businesses think so!

Consider these two possible telephone calls to anyone, anywhere, USA.

"..... you just have to come and visit. Wayne has the neatest stuff going on. They're putting in this really cool new storm sewer, and guess what else, a new building to put all the city stuff in, and we're going to have a new power plant so we can sell electricity all over the place and you just have to come and see it!!!!"

OR..... you just have to come and visit. Wayne has the neatest places to shop and things to do. They have these really cool old stores with all kinds of new and old stuff. And there is some really neat places to eat and [Mary], remember that [item] you couldn't find anywhere, they have it here, and the price is right, too! Yes, [John], I think there are some bars, but nobody goes there. They have so much stuff going on all the time it's like Disneyland or something, not just on main street, but all over town, and guess what, one store didn't have what I needed and they said they could have it the next day, and they did!! And you should see the lights at night, and all the stores stay open late, and you just have to come and see this town!!!!"

More thoughts about the taxes you talked about. It's not really the taxes that people complain about, it's the poor use of the taxes collected!! There wasn't enough money for a storm sewer, but there was for a new city building and power plant. Go figure!!! It's hard for me, and most people, to believe that a bright and shiny city government will attract new and more shoppers.

Maybe it's time to divert some of those business and property taxes back to the County so they can improve the roads and make it easier to come to Wayne and shop. Maybe it's time to give businesses a tax incentive so they can expand their inventories and create a new, unified image and target new customers. Maybe it's time to make our city image attractive to shoppers and cut back on our polished government image.

I guess in the end, all we get is what our dollars are spent on. It takes desire, time and money to create an image and set a pace. It might be worth looking in a little different direction.

A big point to remember, Mr. Editor, that every tax dollar paid, (pennies add up) it's another dollar NOT spent in a main street business. Wayne is not the "bargain of the month" in that department. Being at the bottom of some political list just puts us at the top of the opportunity list. Since taxes are as far fetched as taxes can get, maybe we should look for other opportunity angles.

For my money, I would rather see a few more, better paid, better equipped and continually trained police officers on the street, than a place to put equipment. The Fire Department could use some of that money, too.

Landfill problem

Dear Editor:

The Northeast Nebraska Solid Waste Coalition will be taking bids to construct a culvert on the adjacent farm ground of their sediment holding basin at the Clarkson landfill site, because water running from it in two places makes it impossible for the young man who farms this ground to harvest his crops; he never had this problem before.

The Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality issued a permit for construction of this landfill in this wet area by doing so it certainly shows the NDEQ is not there to protect our health and environment, but are there "rubber stamp" anything the municipalities want.

State finally using Micron Bill

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

LINCOLN — The leaves are turning color and the Huskers are regularly stomping opponents into the plastic turf.

Sure, it's fall, but I still can't shake some memories of spring.

Like those wacky days when state legislators burned the midnight oil to pass a package of bills to convince Micron Inc., to build its mega-zillion dollar computer-chip plant on the Plains of Nebraska.

You remember them days. We fought the good fight, but like so many Orange Bowls before this year, Nebraska placed out of the money. Micron went to Utah.

Last week, state officials finally got to use one of those Micron bills. A new computer plant? An automobile factory? The world's largest jet-engine facility?

Nope. The first company to cash in on the state's newest incentives for business growth was a company that was already in Nebraska and already laying concrete: Cargill Inc. The firm opened a $200 million corn-milling plant near Blair this summer. It is the largest of about a half-dozen plants built across the state in recent years that produce ethanol and associated products from corn.

Recently, Cargill launched a $100 million expansion of its plant. All told, it's the largest, single private investment in the state's history.

That's nothing to sneeze at. The 150 jobs supplied at the plant now have kicked the Blair economy into high gear, and added value to the corn grown in the region, and 100 more jobs are on the way.

But some state senators, and some national economists, are starting to wonder if the price of all of these incentives is worth the return.

Let's look at the Cargill deal. The plant already qualifies for up to $25 million in funds from the state's ethanol production incentive program. That program has been a tremendous success, putting Nebraska at the forefront of the nation's ethanol industry and giving farmers a better shot at making a profit.

Cargill also qualifies for incentives through LB 775, the Employment and Investment Growth Act of 1987.

And, thanks to a vote last week, the company also now is eligible to get incentives from one of the Micron bills.

State and company officials could not say how much money the Micron incentives would be worth to Cargill. But one state senator (Don Wesley of Lincoln, who is skeptical of these incentive deals) estimated that Cargill could bring in as much as $50 million over several years under the three state incentive programs it now qualifies for.

That's a boatload, enough to send a squadron to engineering or medical school. Wesley wondered if the Micron money was really necessary for Cargill, since it was already getting state incentives from two other programs.

You can't blame Cargill. They are in a very competitive business and should seek all the breaks they can get. Plus, the Micron incentives helped Cargill decide to expand in Nebraska rather than some other state (lower in the national football rankings, naturally).

Gov. Nelson said that in order to compete, the state needs to offer good reasons for companies to come here or expand here.

The Micron bills provide another tool to do that, particularly for the big, big projects like Cargill.

It's just that the first time the incentives were used, it didn't land a new fish in these waters, but one that had already tested them.

He's no Heloise but he's got cleaning tips

Need help with your Fall cleaning? Read on!

A sizable section of a grocery store is populated by dozens of cleaning compounds. Tons of these liquids and powders are sold annually to consumers trying to find a product that lives up to its advertising. Sometimes a home-made remedy works better.

A good cleaner of combining Grandma consisted of kowtow baking soda and vinegar. Here's one of gram's cleaners for keeping drains flowing.

Place one-half cup baking soda into the drain, and then pour in one cup vinegar. Wait a minute while the combination foams and bubbles. Now flush the drain with a minute or two of hot faucet water. Use lots of cold water to flush the mixture on through. This procedure is said to be a good preventative in keeping drains from clogging.

How about those coffee stains in your mugs, especially if you have hard water? You've tried everything, but have you tried this old formula using baking soda?

Sprinkle baking soda onto a sponge or damp cloth, then wipe-scrub it over the stains. Let it sit for awhile and then rinse it out. You may have to repeat this before the stains disappear. Using this routine occasionally should keep the mugs stain free.

Have you ever tried washing your windows with water and vinegar, then drying them with a wadded newspaper? Here are three different formulas. Whichever mixture you use should be kept in a well-labeled spray bottle and out of children's reach!

Formula 1. Combine one-half cup each of ammonia, isopropyl rubbing alcohol, and water.

Formula 2. Combine five table-spoons of nonsudsy ammonia to one gallon of water.

Formula 3. Combine one-half cup of vinegar and one-half gallon of water.

Any one of the three formulas cleans window glass, and using the solution from a spray bottle makes it convenient. You may want to add a few drops of food coloring for identification.

Newspapers must be community citizens

Should a newspaper accede to terrorist blackmail? The New York Times and Washington Post agreed to a demand by the notorious terrorist called the Unabomber to publish a lengthy "manifesto" or more people would die.

Whether the papers should have published the terrorist's material is being debated in newsrooms across the country this week, which is National Newspaper Week.

Many contend that giving in to a terrorist will only cause more deaths to try the same tactic and will only cause more senseless deaths.

Careful to consider all angles, the newspapers in question agreed to publish the material only after being advised to do so by national law enforcement experts. Our stated national policy has been not to negotiate with terrorists. In this case, however, The FBI and others advised the newspapers to publish the material because they believed it might save lives.

I hope I am never called on to make a similar decision. I didn't get into this business to make life and death decisions. The idea of living with those consequences is unsettling to say the least.

Based on what I have read about the case, I agree with the decision to publish the material because doing so gave law enforcement officials a leg up in the effort to nab the indiscriminate killer. There are many who argue that newspapers should not allow themselves to be used in such a fashion and that giving in to terroristic threats lessens the stature and "power" of the press.

Mann Overboard

By Les Mann

I disagree. The only "power" newspapers have is that bestowed on them by the people willing to pick them up and read them. A newspaper that loses the public trust and respect has no power. It fails in its obligation to serve the community by informing and offering a marketplace for the exchange of ideas.

As citizens of the communities they serve, newspapers have far less "power" over anyone than the average individual with a pencil in a voting booth. Newspaper people have a constitutional obligation to remain free of government interference, but that obligation is not supplanted by the one which requires them to be good citizens first.

Good citizens always try to help authorities catch law breakers, especially those who maim and kill in the name of lunatic causes. We all should cooperate in any way we can to bring terrorists to justice.

The same principle applies whether at the New York Times or the Wayne Herald. When asked by authorities to "bend" previously held traditions and policies in the interest of a better community safety or bringing criminals to justice, the Wayne Herald has in the past fudged on its obligation to immediately inform the public.

Yes, shocking though it may seem, we have in the past, withheld information from publication at the request of law enforcement personnel. We have also published information that we might not have thought worthy of publication because authorities requested it to help them do their jobs.

We don't feel superior or imbued by any special rights because we work for a newspaper. Indeed, we often feel frustrated, inadequate, burdened, anxious and apologetic when it comes to providing the best service for the communities we love.

In the words of Garrison Keillor's fictional newspaper publisher from Lake Wobegon, "We've got to live here too, ya know."

Students to make capital a classroom

Several Wayne High School students will take part in a series of government study seminars in Washington, D.C., during the week of March 17-23. Judith Schafer, Wayne High School teacher, said the local students have been invited by the Close Up Foundation to attend the weeklong, nonpartisan study program, in which the nation's capital becomes their classroom.

Mrs. Schafer said while the students are in Washington, they will meet and question policy makers, lawmakers and members of the federal bureaucracy.

The students will also participate in seminars with experts in the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the federal government, as well as with representatives of various interest groups and members of the news media.

In addition to seminars, Wayne High School students will visit various parts of Washington and will engage in small-group discussions to share views with students from other parts of the country.

The Close Up program is open to all Wayne High School students in the 11th and 12th grades, regardless of grade point average. To allow students from a variety of economic backgrounds to take part in the program, the Close Up Foundation provides limited fellowship funds for low- to moderate-income students.

These fellowships are made possible through a congressional appropriation and contributions from the private sector. Wayne students will also be working hard on fundraising projects.

Students or parents who need additional information about Close Up should contact Judith Schafer at Wayne High School, 375-3150.

Deadline for students to sign up for this year's program is Nov. 30.

CARROLL GIRL SCOUTS

Carroll Girl Scouts have gotten off to a terrific start. There are nine Brownie Scouts, 11 Junior Scouts and one Cadette this year.

The Brownies have already had their first event last Saturday at Grarity's Prairie Gardens in South Dakota. The girls attended with nearly 400 other Brownies for a fun-filled day and a hayrack ride out to the pumpkin patch to pick their own pumpkins.

Juniors have been busy working on this year's service project. They are starting a paper drive in Carroll and are asking residents to save their paper, newspapers, grocery sacks and cardboard for recycling.

The first pick-up will be sometime in November and will be posted at the post office and also in the paper. Save paper, newspapers, etc. in paper grocery sacks or cardboard boxes or tie into bundles and leave them at the curbside on the scheduled day. The scouts will also accept any aluminum cans. Place them in plastic bags along with the papers. The going rate for paper is $20 per ton and the scouts are hoping for full community participation, which would bring two to four tons a month. The girl scouts plan to donate this money to the ball park fund to help build a new concession stand.

Rural residents are also encouraged to participate. They would need to bring their items into the ball park on the scheduled dates.

Juniors are going on a field trip Monday, Oct. 16. They've invited the Brownies to go along and plan to leave once the bus arrives, around 2:30 p.m. for O'Neill to tour their recycling plant. The group should return around 7:30 p.m. and will be treated to pizza by Farmers State Bank after the tour. All scouts should remember to wear the vests or sashes for this outing.

Dear Editor:

Wildcats Days 1995 was an enormous success. Thank you to the community of Wayne for being so gracious and taking part in our event.

Due to the community support, our parade was the largest one ever. Unfortunately, it rained; but thank you for staying in spite of the inclement weather. In addition, thank you to all the spectators who stayed with us, crowding under overhangs and umbrellas.

The Chamber of Commerce Retail Council's first ever window painting contest also was a success and very much appreciated.

Thank you, Wayne, for helping us celebrate!! Let's do it again next year!

'Cats can't spoil UNK homecoming

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The Wayne State College dropped its third game in a row last Saturday as the Nebraska-Kearney Lopers toppled the Wildcats 24-14. The Wildcats rolled up 420 yards in total offense and the defense limited the Loper ground attack to just 59 yards on 30 carries, but WSC couldn't overcome some costly miscues.

"We played better but still made a couple of mistakes that hurt us," said Head Coach Dennis Wagner. "We dropped some easy passes and had a fumble on their 10-yard line that if we had scored, would have put us up 14-0. That changed the momentum of the game."

Kevin Swayne continues to rack up big numbers as he pulled in nine passes for 76 yards. Junior Marcus Bishop topped the 100-yard barrier for the third time this year with 107 yards on 24 carries. Junior quarterback Jarrod DeGeorgia got his second start of the season and responded with 236 yards through the air.

"Jarrod DeGeorgia had almost an error-free game at quarterback and we were able to run the ball effectively," said Wagner. "We still need to eliminate the dropped passes and turnovers."

Defensively, Jon Adkisson led the squad with a dozen total tackles and two pass deflections. Senior Jeff Lutt added four tackles, two of which were for losses totaling 13 yards, one pass deflection, and a quarterback sack. As a team, the 'Cats broke up eight passes, recorded three sacks, and blocked a field goal.

"Overall our defense had a good performance," said Wagner.

The Wildcats turned the ball over twice in the first quarter, but WSC rose to the occasion both times. The defense forced the Lopers to punt after a DeGeorgia interception and Steve Luedtke blocked a field goal after a Bishop fumble. The quarter ended with the game still scoreless.

The Wildcats began to get untracked in the second quarter as they put together a 13-play, 97-yard drive that ended with a seven-yard

Bishop run up the middle for a 7-0 lead. Bishop carried the ball seven times for 45 yards on the drive. On the first play of the ensuing possession Loper quarterback Joel Staehr found Ryan McCabe for a 31-yard strike, but McCabe fumbled the ball and Robert McConico recovered it for the Wildcats. After a missed field goal by Kearney, the 'Cats again went to work. Jason DeMartile carried the ball seven times for 55 yards on a 10-play, 70-yard drive for the Wildcats. The 'Cats looked to be headed for the end zone, but on his seventh carry DeMartile coughed up the ball and the Lopers recovered at the 10-yard line. After forcing UNK to punt, the Wildcats had the ball again. Wayne State could not convert on a fourth-and-one play at their own 48 however, and Kearney took advantage of their good field position by scoring four plays later on a 16-yard touchdown pass from Staehr to Jason Gibbs with 2:00 left in the half. After forcing WSC to punt, the Lopers again got excellent field position when Brad Fitzke shanked a nine-yard punt to give UNK the ball at the Wildcat 38-yard line. Staehr found Mike Smith on a 24-yard touchdown with 0:38 left in the half to make the score 14-7.

After a Wildcat punt and a good return, the Lopers again had good field position, setting up at the WSC 46. UNK drove to the 12-yard line before a pair of sacks by Robert Stuart and Art Maulupe almost moved Kearney out of field goal range. Mike Rowen booted it through from 39 yards out to extend the Loper lead to 17-7. After the kickoff went through the end zone, the 'Cats started their next drive at their own 20-yard line. A holding call against WSC pinned them deep in their end and Fitzke was again called upon to punt. UNK again got a good return and began their drive at the Wayne State 32. Shane Hatcher increased Kearney's lead to 24-7 with a 14-yard rumble with 8:34 remaining in the third quarter.

WSC began to think about a comeback in the fourth quarter. The 'Cats marched 66 yards in 11 plays as DeMartile capped off the effort with a one yard touchdown plunge to cut the lead to 10. With only 6:06 left in the game, the Wildcat defense returned the ball to the offense after only three plays. WSC could not convert on a fourth-and-two at the UNK 46 however, and the Lopers took the ball back. The Wildcats got the ball back one more time. DeGeorgia hit Swayne for 5 yards, Ray Taylor for 28 and Swayne again for 21, but time ran out on the Wayne State comeback.

Wayne State's Marcus Bishop scores on a seven yard run to give the Wildcats an early 7-0 lead over Nebraska-Kearney last Saturday.

WSC PLAYERS OF THE WEEK
Offense — Jarrod DeGeorgia — The junior quarterback started his second game of the season and passed for 236 yards on 27 of 42 passing.

Defense — Steve Luedtke — The sophomore defensive lineman blocked a field goal attempt in the first quarter and had three tackles. His aggressive play on the line helped WSC limit UNK to just 59 rushing yards on 30 attempts.

'Cats to face Mustangs

Wayne State (3-3) travels to Marshall, Minn. on Saturday to face the Mustangs of Southwest State (1-4).

"They play good aggressive defense and don't give up a lot of points," said Wagner. "Their offense had been struggling all season until last Saturday when they scored 21 points against Minnesota-Duluth. Our offense must be able to move the ball effectively against them. They have a talented secondary which will challenge our receivers. We are still looking for our special teams to play well and make big plays for us. At 3-3, our backs are against the wall. We must get a win, whether it's by one point or 20 points."

WSC NOTEBOOK

- Senior Jon Adkisson is WSC's leading tackler for the third straight season. He currently has 84 tackles and has 300 tackles for his career.
- Junior Kevin Swayne is averaging 8.3 receptions (50) and 107.3 yards (644) per game with three touchdowns. He is currently on pace to tie the Wildcat record for receptions in a season. Byron Chamberlain and Jerry Garrett set the record in 1994 with 83 catches each.
- Marcus Bishop leads the team in rushing with 857 yards per game and has a team-high 30 points.
- Jarrod DeGeorgia has completed 58 percent (56 of 96) of his pass attempts.
- WSC has allowed just 10 first quarter points all season.
- WSC's current three-game losing streak is its longest since a four-game skid in 1991.
- Junior linebacker Marcus Alridge will miss next week's game with Southwest State due to a turf toe injury.
- Juniors Chris Baker and Roy Maloa have been dismissed from the team for disciplinary reasons.
- Junior Rysaun Mosley has been suspended indefinitely for disciplinary reasons.

Winside Wildcats overpower Ponca

By Lee Koch
Of the Herald

Winside scored first and last while accumulating 439 yards of total offense in between as the Wildcats out-scored host Ponca 35-14 Friday night. A Robert Wittler to Jaimey Holdorf touchdown pass good for 81 yards opened the scoring for the visiting Wildcats and Landon Grothe's 55-yard spring put the game on ice for the local squad.

First period action looked as though neither team wanted the football as the teams exchanged fumbles on each squad's first two possessions until the Wittler-Holdorf combination struck with 44 seconds left in the quarter.

The Indians, with seven turnovers on the night, added a bad snap on a punt resulting in Wittler scoring the first of his two touchdowns on an 11-yard scramble to pay dirt. Josh Jaeger recovered the ensuing kickoff after it hit an Indian player setting up a 34-yard double reverse that left the Ponca defenders looking for the football as Jaimey Holdorf crossed the goal line untouched and unseen.

Winside's defense shut down Ponca's ground game, that had been averaging 216 yards per outing, allowing just 36 rushing yards. Joe Schwedhelm and Cory Brummels each had a pair of fumble recoveries, while Grothe and Chad O'Connor added interceptions to the defensive effort. Jaeger and Holdorf tallied six tackles apiece with Dave Paulson and Brock Shelton adding five stops each to lead the 'Cats defensive efforts on the evening.

Winside mentor Randy Geier states, "I want to emphasize the overall team play. We won the game because we controlled the line of scrimmage offensively and defensively." He also feels the same type of effort will be needed Friday night as the Wildcats (3-3) host Homer (0-6), a team that likes to control the football with a strong running game.

Bears pound Elkhorn; stay unbeaten at 6-0

By Jeremy Buss
For the Herald

The Elkhorn Valley Falcons, new to the NENAC conference, came to town Friday night hoping to oust the third ranked Laurel-Concord Bears on homecoming. Laurel would prevail however, with a 44-0 victory.

Quarterback Tyler Erwin would start things off for the Bears in the first quarter with a one yard touchdown run on Laurel's first possession to give them an early 6-0 lead. The Bears would score again late in the first quarter off of a 32-yard run by Jeff Wattier. The two point conversion was no good leaving Laurel with a 12-0 lead. Wattier would strike again in the second quarter, this time with back to back 14-yard touchdown runs to give the Bears a 25-0 lead.

"Jeff is having an outstanding year, and we need to keep getting the ball in his hands," said Head Coach Tom Luxford.

An interception by Dan Peters would set up Laurel's next score three plays later on a nine yard run by Todd Arens. Laurel was not finished for the half however, as Arens would score again off an 87-yard reception from Erwin. This gave the Bears a 38-0 halftime lead.

The second half turned into a defensive battle with neither team able to punch in a touchdown. Elkhorn Valley at one point moved the ball down to the Laurel eleven before being stopped by the Bear defense. Late in the fourth quarter the Bears would break the dry spell as Nic Dahl would go in from 18 yards out to give Laurel a 44-0 homecoming victory.

"Our defense is setting the tone for every game," said Luxford. "They are giving us the short field we need to work with."

The Bears will be in action at home next week against conference rival Bloomfield in their final regular season match. Kickoff is at 7:30.

"This is going to be a tough game," said Luxford. "We have a lot of respect for them and we are going to have to be ready to play."

Blue Devils upset by O'Neill

By Korey Berg

The Wayne Blue Devils traveled to O'Neill last Friday and were upended by the Eagles 7-6. O'Neill out-gained the Devils 193-147 in what proved to be a defensive battle.

"We were really disappointed in the loss," said Head Coach Lonnie Ehrhardt. "We didn't play up to our potential."

O'Neill came into the game with an 0-5 record, but Ehrhardt said that

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The Allen football team fell to 1-5 on the year as Beemer defeated the Eagles 42-22 Friday night. Injuries continue to plague the Eagles as Allen's top two running backs, David McCorkindale and Corey Frochaska, may be lost for the season with knee injuries. Guard Greg Rastede also suffered an injury to muscles in his neck and junior varsity quarterback, Brook Blohm, is lost for the year with a broken arm.

"We were playing pretty good in the first half before the injuries," said Head Coach Warren Jensen. "It's tough to play when you don't have your horses in there."

Michael Blohm put together a magnificent game with eight receptions for 173 yards and two touchdowns, one touchdown rushing, and 25 tackles on defense. Jeremy Kumm passed for 185 yards and two touchdowns on 12-22 attempts.

"I was happy with the enthusiasm and intensity," said Jensen. "We kept plugging away and the kids played their hearts out. That's all I can ask."

Winside stops Wynot

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The Winside Wildcats improved their record to 7-6 in volleyball action last Thursday with a 15-12, 15-4 win over Wynot.

Winside fell behind 7-0 in the first game, but rebounded thanks to some aggressive serving by senior Wendy Miller to go up 12-7.

"In the second game we passed the ball very well and got some strong attacks," said Coach Lisa Schroeder. "Our defense continues to pass more consistently and we still need to do a better job of running through the ball."

Miller was 8-10 hitting with five kills, 12-13 serving with five aces and had seven digs. Monica Sievers was 9-9 serving with two aces and 14-14 setting with seven assists, while Emily Deck was 19-20 setting with five assists. Win streak ends for Wakefield

Of the Herald

Wakefield came up short in the battle of the unbeaten's last Friday as Hartington topped the Trojans 12-0.

"I guess our luck might have run out a little bit," said Head Coach Dennis Wilbur. "It boiled down to them getting a few opportune breaks and our breaks didn't happen."

Wakefield battled back and forth with the Wildcats all night long. Curt Topf gave Hartington a 6-0 lead with a one yard run that completed a 14-play, 75-yard drive. The score remained 6-0 until it looked like Wakefield would take the midway through the second half. Justin Mackling burst up field 90 yards for what appeared to be the go ahead touchdown. A Trojan penalty would bring the play back and Wakefield would not score. Hartington put a cap on the game with a 34-yard pass from Eric Wynia to Tyson Fischer.

"It was too bad somebody had to lose this game," said Wilbur. "One or two plays turned the game in their favor. They are a very good team and we weren't as consistent as we would like to have been."

Wakefield (5-1) hopes to ride a win into the post-season as the travel to Pierce (2-4) for the regular-season finale Friday night.

"They have a lot of speed," said Wilbur. "They look like a better team than their record shows. We'd like to have a little momentum going into the play-offs."

Home-based business contest nets happy student new computer

Marie Burns of Sioux City, Iowa now has a new computer to assist with her school work at Wayne State College thanks to the Nebraska Home-Based Business Association (NHBBA). Burns was the winner of a complete computer system through a raffle sponsored by the statewide, nonprofit organization.

"This was a fundraiser, of course, but it was also a great vehicle for getting the word out about the association," said Susan Zink, NHBBA President. "With degrees in psychology and sociology, Marie Burns might someday be practicing from a home-based business."

Almost 300 Nebraskans who currently make products or provide services from home-based or small businesses are members of the statewide association, according to Beth Cole, NHBBA executive director.

"Keeping our members abreast of technology is one of our primary goals," said Zink. "In addition, the Association provides information and training to small businesses, tremendous networking opportunities and a membership directory of products, services and resources available in Nebraska."

Also persons working in their homes or developing small businesses have occasion to meet others and work on local issues through area chapters in regions across the state.

Persons interested in membership or business development assistance should contact Beth Cole, NHBBA, P.O. Box 308, Merna, Neb. 68856 or call 308-643-2292.

The computer system was delivered to Burns' dorm room by Midwest MicroSystems of Atsworth.

Job network new service at college

Wayne State College's Career Services Office has launched a positive new initiative in an effort to better address the employment needs of college students and local Wayne community residents.

Thanks to generous contributions of several area contributors, the Nationjob Network, a national computer network listing current employment opportunities and company information is now available at no charge to WSC students and local Wayne area residents.

Access to this employment listing service is available in the College Career Services Office, Conn Library, Room 14. According to Deryl Lawrence, director of Career Services, this is the only location in N.E. Nebraska where this service is available. Access to the system in the WSC Career Services Office is available between the hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Persons making appointments will be provided access ahead of other walk-in customers.

The Nationjob Network system consists of over 300 personal computers placed at various sites across the country (in public libraries, college career centers, job service centers, etc.) where people go to look for job information.

Using the system and computer in the Career Services Office is very easy and guides job-seekers step-by-step. Individuals simply specify the type of job they are looking for (defined by such criteria as location, industry, position type and salary). The system then provides detailed descriptions of available jobs along with application procedures. Descriptions of the recruiting companies can also be viewed.

Weekly updates keep the information current. The system is a valuable tool for college students and experienced workers looking for new employment opportunities.

Local employers may use the system to recruit employees at no charge, and may obtain listing forms by contacting Nationjob directly at 515-964-6718. Fill out the listing form and fax it to Nationjob by Thursday noon, and the listing will appear on the system nationally the following week.

The system reaches a wide and varied audience, and is appropriate for all types and levels of recruiting: skilled and unskilled, professional, technical, part-time and temporary. There are no limits on the number of positions listed by employers.

German student enjoying life on the plains

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

When Sebastian Huhnan filled out his foreign exchange student application he asked to be sent to the northwestern mountains of the United States.

He almost made it. Huhnan has found a home in downtown Wayne America with Richard and Sandra Gathje, and says he is not disappointed with rolling hills.

The 17-year-old Hamburg, Germany native will turn 18 on Sunday. He is following in the footsteps of his mother who was an exchange student in Tennessee.

Huhnan has a variety of interests including cross country, basketball and flying glider airplanes.

The Gathjes took Huhnan to an aircraft show in Harvard, Neb.

where he had a chance to test out the skies of N.E.braska in a glider. "The conditions are better here than in Hamburg," he said.

Huhnan should know. He has been flying gliders for six years now and delayed his arrival in the U.S. to compete in a gliding competition.

Huhnan is from a family of four, including a 16-year-old brother. His mother is a school teacher and his father teaches at a police academy.

His parents' occupations have given Huhnan a heightened awareness of educational differences.

"You have to learn more names and dates in history and government," said Huhnan. Huhnan continued that history and government tests full of essay questions. "You have to come up with more on your own."

His evaluation did not end with tests. "I think the teachers are very good here. They are very organized."

Huhnan comes from a school of about 2,000 students in Hamburg, which has nearly two million residents. He hopes to visit friends from that school, who are exchange students in St. Louis and Kansas City.

Several other trips have been planned for Huhnan. He and other foreign exchange students will visit the black hills this fall. The Gathjes will be traveling to Orlando, Florida for the Christmas Holidays. Huhnan has already experienced the apex of the Nebraska adventure—a Huskers game.

Culture shock seems to be light. One big difference, Huhnan said, is eating habits.

"We only eat fast food once in a month in Germany," he said. "Here, it is several times a week." Huhnan said meat is only eaten once a week in Germany.

The Gathjes are enjoying having Huhnan in their home and are pleased with their ability to communicate. "I'm glad he speaks such good English," said Mrs. Gathje. "We can understand him very well."

Huhnan has been equally pleased with his host family. "They are very nice."

The Gathjes have two children, Jon, 14 and Christina, 11.

The exchange student program is through the Education Foundation based in Cambridge, Mass.

It wasn't a quiet week on the farm

Pat Janke told me once that this weekly mission serves as a catharsis for me. Tonight, Sunday, the end of the first week in October, I'm mulling over the events of the weekend and thinking that I need to write them down in chronological order.

I actually had a four day vacation from the paper at Max and Ann's. I turned it off and didn't even take it along. I got back here at noon on Friday.

Mike was taking hamburger out for supper because Jon and Kristie would be staying, on their way to Winside to see the new baby!

I did some laundry and unpacked. Talked to the Weeping Water office; then had report from the Hospice nurse in Nebraska City. She'd had an unbelievable week: two deaths, two funerals and numerous calls.

I ran into Louisville for groceries and served supper about 6:30. Then, made a breakfast quiche and two more for later on Saturday. Cut up fruit, mixed muffins, played with Randa and fell into bed.

Three gentlemen from Iowa were our guests. They had come to pack up the belongings of the minister at the church west of us, who is moving to Burt, Iowa.

Everyone was on their way by 9:00. I put two more quiche in the oven, baked the muffins and put a clean tablecloth on. Six officers of a PBX operators group arrived for brunch at 10:00. I changed bedding upstairs while they had their business meeting.

They toured the house and left at noon. I showered and changed clothes and left for Pawnee City for a funeral. The committee was at Dubbis, which is almost on the Kansas border.

I was back here at 5:00, went for more groceries, and saw a patient at South Bend. Home by 7:00, had supper, and finished making beds and folding towels.

Besides his farewell sermon, this pastor was also baptizing his new baby daughter. His mother-in-law and the godparents and their three children were to stay here. They arrived at 10 p.m.

I fed them apple crisp, sent them to bed and put all the leaves in the table. They had provided three 9x13 pans of breakfast casserole. I mixed

Development group works for area

The Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Council is a non-profit group working to make life better for N.E.braskans. It covers the area of Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Antelope, Pierce and Wayne counties. RC&D brings local people together from around the area to work on projects that will help improve the quality of life.

Meetings are held once a month at the office in Plainview. An informational speaker is usually first on the agenda. Representatives from each of the six counties then report on project activity. New projects brought to the Council by communities, counties and groups are discussed to see what needs to be done, how they might be accomplished and where funds can be found to complete the task.

RC&D is a USDA program. Nationwide there are 277 councils and in Nebraska there are nine. This Council began working together in 1991 as a steering committee. In January 1993 they received funding to open an office and begin working on projects. To date, 13 projects have been completed and 20 are in progress.

At the last meeting, Ryan Bloomquist, president, was presented an award for his leadership to the Council. The Nebraska Environmental Trust Fund has recommended a Council biomass project for $15,000 funding. Operation Back Home Again is a project that networks with former Nebraskans who are alumni of the area. An LB144 grant request is being prepared for possible funding of that project.

The tourism committee is working diligently on a six-county mini tours brochure for release next spring. The waste committee is trying to complete the recycling database to help communities know what's being done in the area. Two youth Council members will be participating in the Tomorrow's Leaders Today workshop on Oct. 24.

The RC&D meetings are open to the public. All ideas and projects are welcome. The next meeting is Monday, Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the RC&D office in Plainview.

Jacyees not selling trees

For more than 20 years the Wayne County Jacyees have sold Christmas trees as a community service project. As times and situations change, the program of work must adapt. With the rising cost of trees and additional vendors, the Jacyees simply cannot compete.

The Jacyees will not be selling Christmas trees this year. As a community, the support has helped St. Jude's, the Chicken Show, Heavy Hitters and Pig Skin Masters, Toys for Tots, gifts for the elderly, the Easter egg hunt, the annual community clean up, as well as many others.

Teens and stealing

A new study measuring moral development in adolescents found that teens were deficient in understanding why they shouldn't steal. Researchers found that non-delinquent teens generally scored well on a test that measured their moral judgment concerning values such as telling the truth, keeping promises, saving a life and helping their parents. But the test showed that teens had relatively immature or self-serving reasons for why stealing is wrong. For example, they said that you shouldn't steal because you might get caught and punished.

The study involved 163 non-delinquent teenagers from a suburban public school; 89 incarcerated male delinquents; and 71 incarcerated female delinquents. All of the teens completed the short form of the Sociomoral Reflection Measure, the investigators' test for measuring moral reasoning. As expected, delinquents showed evidence of lower moral reasoning than non-delinquents. This difference remained even after the delinquents' lower socioeconomic status and verbal intelligence were taken into account.

Female non-delinquents showed the highest levels of moral reasoning, followed by male non-delinquents, female delinquents and then male delinquents. The fact that girls generally had a more developed sense of moral reasoning than boys is not surprising because girls also develop faster than boys in other cognitive areas, as well as physically. More than 90 percent of the teens — both delinquents and non-delinquents — rated the moral values discussed in the study as important, a finding the researchers called "a ray of hope." They recommend that moral education programs in schools emphasize respect for property.

Why does a father have more authority?

Q. Our two children will obey my husband with just a word from him, even responding to a slight frown when we are in a group setting. But I have to scream and threaten to make them behave. Why do you suppose this is true?

A. That difference in response usually results from these factors:

* The father is more likely to back up his commands with action if the children don't obey. Over the years, the kids have come to understand that Dad means business.

* The mother spends more time with the children, and as the old saying goes, "Familiarity breeds contempt." Her authority has gradually eroded from the constant pressure.

There is another phenomenon at work, however, that I would like you to consider in greater detail. I'm referring to the fact that children naturally look to their father for authority. For instance, when our son, Ryan, was 4 years old, he overheard a reference to my childhood. This prompted the following exchange:

"Daddy, were you ever a little boy?" he asked.

"Yes, Ryan, I was smaller than you," I replied.

"Were you ever a baby?" he inquired with disbelief.

"Yes. Everyone is a tiny baby when he or she is born."

Ryan looked puzzled. He simply could not comprehend his 6-foot-2-inch, 190-pound father as an infant. He thought for a minute and then said, "Were you a daddy-baby?"

It was impossible for Ryan to imagine me without the mantle of authority, even if I were a tiny newborn. His 9-year-old sister reacted similarly the first time she was shown home movies of me when I was only 4. There on the screen was a baby-faced, innocent lad on a horse. Danae had to be assured that the picture was of me, whereupon she exclaimed, "That kid is my father?"

Danae and Ryan both revealed their perception of me, not as a man who had been given authority, but as a man who was authority. Such is the nature of childhood. Boys and girls typically look up to their fathers, whose size and power and deeper voices bespeak leadership.

Answers Your Questions

That's why, despite numerous exceptions, male teachers are likely to handle classroom discipline more easily than soft ladies with feminine voices. (A woman teacher once told me that the struggle to control her class was like trying to keep 32 Ping-Pong balls under water at the same time!)

That's also why mothers need the disciplinary involvement of their husbands. That doesn't mean a man must handle every act of disobedience, but he should serve as the frame on which parental authority is constructed. Furthermore, it must be clear to the kids that Dad is in agreement with Mother's policies, and he will defend her in instances of insurrection.

Q. Is it accurate to say that an undisciplined preschooler will continue to challenge his parents during the latter years of childhood?

A. It often occurs that way. When a parent loses early confrontations with the child, the later conflicts become harder to win. The parent who never wins, who is too weak or too tired or too busy to win, is making a costly mistake that will usually come back to haunt him or her during the child's adolescence.

If you can't make a 5-year-old pick up his toys, it is unlikely that you will exercise any impressive degree of control during his adolescence, the most defiant time of his life. Another important point parents should keep in mind is that adolescence is a condensation or composite of all the training and behavior that has gone before.

That's why any unsettled matter in the first 12 years is likely to fester and erupt during adolescence. Therefore, the proper time to begin disarming the teenage bomb is 12 years before it arrives.

St. Mary's to bless new building site

St. Mary's Catholic Church of Wayne will bless the building site of its planned rectory on Sunday, Oct. 15 during the time between the 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. Masses.

Coffee, juice and rolls will be served in Holy Family Hall by members of Fr. Kearn's Council of the Knights of Columbus following the 8 a.m. Mass until 9:30 a.m. when the blessing will take place. This time will also allow parishioners the opportunity to look over the final drawings for the new building.

The rectory will have living quarters for pastor(s) and house-keeper on the upper level, and parish offices and meeting rooms on the lower level.

The new building is being constructed by Otte Construction Company of Wayne. Ground work on the new building began this week.

The "Word" for the Week Good news to you

The gospel is the Good News about Jesus Christ. God sent Him to earth "that the world should be saved through Him" (John 3:17). Christ entered the world to accomplish what we could never do. He lived a perfect life. Then he died on a cross. "Him Himself bore the sin of many" (Isaiah 53:12). Christ paid the penalty due to others for their sins. This is Good News. Christ stood in the place of others and suffered the wrath of God against sin. Not only so, as proof that Christ's sacrifice was an adequate payment for sin, "God raised Him up again" (Acts 2:24).

After His death and resurrection, Christ sent out His followers to tell others this wonderful Good News. He said, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation" (Mark 16:15). Today God continues to send forth the Good News. For example, the gospel, the Good News, is sent to you by way of this little article. In the words of the Bible, "I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received, that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, and that He was buried, and that He was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures" (1 Corinthians 15:3-4). What should be our response? "Repent and believe the gospel" (Mark 1:15).

STATE CONTEST

Wakefield is entered in the 1995 Nebraska Community Improvement Program (NCIP) and there were three judges in town Oct. 2 to hear brief oral reports and tour the project submitted.

Entered into the competition were the new welcome signs along the highway, the tree board's tree plantings including the recent ones at the new ESU building and the cemetery, the transfer of the Humpty Dumpty Day Care from private business to a community cooperation, the completion of the remodeling of the old hospital to provide a remodeled medical clinic and assisted living apartments, the Little Red hen's summer production of "Joseph", the Hatchery Business Incubator building, Wakefield's participation in the New Lied Main Street program and the Victory +50 Celebration to honor area World War II veterans.

The judges spent an hour and a half in town and were greeted at the fire hall by 35 active volunteers in the community.

BLUE MEMORY LIGHTS

The blue memory lights for the Wakefield Health Care Center Christmas Tree will be available at the annual Fall Festival to be held Saturday, Oct. 14. The blue lights have been a project of the auxiliary for 23 years.

Funds raised through the sale of the lights have been used for a variety of things at the center. Purchases have included small items like a clock or bibs to large equipment like a refrigerator for the lab, carpeting and other things. Current blue light funds are paying for the quarterly maintenance needs for the Aviarey at the center.

The fund was started in 1972 by Bonnie Bressler and was inspired by an article she read following the death of her father. She served as the coordinator for the project for many years. Carol Sharpnack has been in charge the last couple years.

The idea is for people to purchase a light or lights in memory of a deceased loved one or in honor of someone still living. For every $1 spent for a light, it is represented on a Christmas tree at the center. Sales of the lights begin when the festival is held and continue through the Christmas season. Names of those honored will be published after the first of the year. Purchases may be made by mail by sending them to Mrs. Carol Sharpnack, RR 1, Box 112, Wakefield, Neb. 68784.

During the 23 year history of the project, over $9,000 has been raised.

NEW BAKERY

A new bakery opened in Wakefield recently. It is called Panderia (which means bakery in Spanish) Morelos (which is a state in Mexico). The owners are Serapin and Ezequiel Ramirez.

The bakery is located at 208 Main Street.

The brothers and their families came to Wakefield from California and work at the Waldbaum Company. Ezequiel and his wife Luz Valadez, along with their son and daughter, have lived here since April of 1995. Serapin and his wife, Lucia also have a boy and a girl and have been here for about two years.

Presently, the bakery is open seven days a week from about 8 a.m. until evening.

The bakery offers take-out items such as cookies, breads, pastries and other pastries. They accept orders for birthday cakes and also have the coffee pot on.

Future plans are to have a few small tables, so customers can have coffee and a roll or cookie on the premises.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The Nebraska State Volunteer Firefighter's Association will hold a "Fall Firefighters" memorial service on Sunday, Oct. 15 in conjunction with National Firefighter's Day. The services will be held at the Blair Fire Station beginning with coffee and donuts served from 9:30 to 10:15 a.m. The service will be from 10:15 to 11:15 a.m. upstairs at the station. Following the service, a dinner will be served by the Blair Firefighters and Auxiliary.

All volunteer firefighters are invited to honor 1995 fallen comrades by attending the special service.

BIBLE STUDY

An adult Bible study began at the Wakefield Presbyterian Church Oct. 3. The group will meet weekly at 7:30 p.m. at the church and the study topic will be "Planting the Seeds of Community." The group is open to any interested persons in the community.

The subject matter was developed by the Center for Theology and Land at Wartburg and Dubuque Theological Seminaries. It is a Bible study for revitalization in rural America. The unit is four sessions long. The first one was entitled "Good News for Community."

Ag at Crossroads conference features property tax issues

Imagine one conference where you can learn about the Nebraska property tax system and four proposals to alter that system.

That one conference exists: It's the sixth annual Agriculture at the Crossroads Conference, to be held at the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln Nov. 3, according to Glenn Helmers, conference chairman and professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Jointly sponsored by the Nebraska AgRelations Council (NAC) and the UNL Department of Agricultural Economics, the conference this year will draw together the central figures in Nebraska's current property tax controversy, Helmers said.

One panel during the morning general session includes State Sen. Jerome Warner, Waverly, Neb.; Omaha tax activist Ed Jaksha; Bryce Neidig, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, Madison, Neb.; and Atkinson, Neb., rancher Stan Dobrovolny. Also joining the panel will be a representative of the Unicameral's Revenue Committee.

Jaksha and Dobrovolny are each spearheading petition drives to change Nebraska's property tax laws. The Nebraska Farm Bureau and the Nebraska State Education Association are jointly sponsoring another property tax petition drive.

Prior to the panel, Roy Frederick, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist-public policy, and John Allen, rural sociologist at UNL, will provide the historical setting of local property taxes and discuss trends in property taxes, respectively.

Robert Raun, Minden, Neb., farmer and NAC president, will preside over the day-long conference, which will begin with registration and refreshments at 9 a.m., followed by the general session at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 3.

The luncheon speaker will be Lynn Harvey, Michigan State University extension economist, who will review "The Michigan Experience in Property Tax Reform."

The thrust of the Conference shifts after lunch to farm bill legislation under intense discussion in Congress, followed by breakout sessions on current topics of interest to the agriculture/agribusiness sector, Helmers said.

The three breakout sessions, which will be repeated once during the afternoon, are:

— Ag Outlook for Crops and Livestock, with Lynn Lutgen and Al Weltman, IANR marketing specialists, as resource persons.

— "Precision Farming Technology," presented by Larry Snyder, landowner and former president of Snyder Industries, Lincoln.

— "Networking—New Entrants in Farming" with discussion leaders Joy Johnson, Center for Rural Affairs Land Link program, Walthill, Neb.; a representative of the Farmers National Co., Omaha, addressing new and innovative land leasing arrangements; and Mike Turner, UNL marketing specialist, on limited liability opportunities in swine production.

The conference registration fee, which includes the noon meal, refreshments and reference materials, is $20 for NAC members; $25 for non-members. The registration deadline is 5 p.m. Nov. 1. To register for the conference, or to obtain more information, contact Dan Lutz, NAC, 104 ACB, P.O. Box 830918, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583-0918; call 402-472-2821, or send a message via fax to 402-472-0025.

Peddle puller is top finisher

By Eric McCarty
Of the Herald

Cody Lange is a quiet seven-year-old.

But who said verbosity has to be a prerequisite for sports stars?

The Hoskins boy took second place at the National/International Pedal Pull Championship in Omaha Sept. 23rd. If the publicity is going to his head, it isn't coming out of his mouth.

Sitting at the Lange's kitchen table, the interview begins.

Herald: "Are you famous at school now?"

Lange: Grin. Shrug.

Mrs. Lange: "His friends at school brought him paper clippings."

One hundred and ten pound Lange pulled his tractor load 27.5 feet at the Omaha City Auditorium. Bryant Tyler of Kansas was the only seven-year-old to pull farther at 29 feet.

Herald: "Were there a lot of people there?"

Lange: Grin. Shrug.

Mrs. Lange: "There were over 500 present."

Herald: "Did they cheer for you?"

Lange: Big grin. Big nod.

Lange received his first toy tractor at the age of three, but has never practiced or trained as many other contestants have.

He does ride big wheels, bikes and toy tractors often around the Lange farm.

He discovered his unexpected talent when he won the Country General Grand Opening in Norfolk, which qualified him for the state fair.

At the state fair Lange pulled away from the competition with the only full pull.

Herald: "Are you going to train for next year's competitions?"

Lange: Shrug.

Herald: "Let's move to other subjects. Do you like girls?"

Lange: Grin. Negative head motion.

Herald: "Do you like tractors?"

Lange: Nod.

Herald: "What is your favorite subject in school?"

Lange: Grin. "Art!"
