WAYNE, NE 68787

120TH YEAR — NO. 18

For JDC

Wayne first pick

By Beth Peters
Of the Herald

Wayne will be the proposed site of a new Juvenile Detention Center in northeast Nebraska. In last Friday's meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Juvenile Services board, Wayne was chosen over Madison, Plainview and Wisner as first pick for the potential site. The alternate choice will be Plainview.

"The soil in Wayne will have to be tested to see if the land can support the building. The architect will also have specifics to look at. The plan is to purchase ground from Wayne Industries for the new location. The purchase is contingent on a two-thirds majority of the board vote," said Mike Applegate, director of the Nebraska Juvenile Detention Center in Wayne.

THE EXPECTED cost of the new building will be $2.6 million. The current JDC was formerly the county's adult jail, but was turned into a juvenile facility in 1990.

In order for building to begin the coalition has to convince all of the counties and tribes involved with the project to agree to pay 93 cents to $1.41 per capita as its share of construction costs and continued operational support. Ten parties have already committed, but the larger counties of Wayne, Dakota and Madison have not.

"HOW MUCH each county and tribe has to pay depends on how many of them commit to the project," Applegate said.

After the coalition's rejection of Madison county for the facility, the county may decide to withdraw from the coalition and build a separate facility for Madison county. The Madison site would have been free of charge to the coalition.

John Penn, the board's Winnebago Tribal representative is currently working on an arrangement for the Winnebago tribe to contribute $600,000 to the cost of construction. The stipulation would be that the facility has to be located no farther from Winnebago than Wayne or Wisner and must have tribal representation on staff.

THE WAYNE Center had been threatened with closure by the Jail Standards Board and State Fire Marshall, but has recently received a favorable report. The center also currently has a $20,000 revenue surplus which Applegate has been advised to invest. The surplus is due to grant-fund reimbursements and the fact that the center has been full recently.

The current center holds 14 and the new center will be able to house 24. Among the improvements in the new facility will be better security and more cell footage.

"The new facility will be more modern, more in compliance with the Nebraska juvenile jail standards," Applegate said.

ONE ADVANTAGE to having the new facility in Wayne will be its location.

"Wayne is centrally located for the coalition's counties, there is a good employment pool here, and services such as medical needs can also be met in Wayne. Everything's right here," Applegate said.

Applegate said the target date for completion will be sometime in January of 1998.

"If we start construction this fall, it will take about a year for construction, so it will be January of 1998 by the time we train staff and get the building ready for occupancy," Applegate said.

Heart month begins

Today is the first day of Heart Month. Watch for the block walker that will be ringing your doorbell soon. This is a total canvass of the community and volunteers will be calling on you. They are your neighbors and deserve a smile for the work they are doing. Your help will be a boost for the person.

Block walkers that have not received your packets be sure to contact 1-800-642-8400. They were mailed as planned on Jan. 22. They will need to see another part.

All of the waiters have been announced and if you want to be a part of the celebrity waiter dinner, contact one of the following people by Feb. 18th: Jeff and Renata Anderson, Bob and Tracy Keating, Mark and Lorna Griffin, Ken and Anne Nolte, Jerry and Maribeth Stodola, Leroy and Marian Simpson, Mark and Jane Ahmann, Jeff and Debi Morlok, Dr. Don and Jan Zeiss, Randy and Jill Brenner and John and Mary Murlough.

Winter woes

With this week's frigid temperatures, a number of area residents found themselves with vehicles that would not start. Randy Eichacker was one of those people on Thursday morning when temperatures registered 16 degrees below zero. The cold weather is not expected to leave any time soon with temperatures forecast to be below zero through the weekend.

Council debates zoning, approves street plans

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

The Wayne City Council amended a decision they had made at their last meeting concerning the definition of family in the zoning ordinance and approved the one and six-year street improvement plan.

The council had earlier changed the number of unrelated persons that could live in a single unit from the Planning Commission's recommendation of three to four. At Tuesday night's meeting, the Council changed the number back to three and gave first round approval to the ordinance.

Jane O'Leary said that while the initial problem with housing concerned problems with a number of college students, the ordinance is not directed at the college students, but rather at landlords who have a number of students in houses that are not safe.

"WE NEED to protect the college students. I have been in some of these houses and they are not safe," O'Leary said.

Vordel Lutt said that because of the ability to rent houses to a number of students, housing is not affordable for families.

"If you can rent a four-bed room house to four college students for $125 a month each, that is $500. The average family is not able to afford that much rent," he said.

In addition, there is the problem of parking. "If a house was divided into two units, with four people in each unit, there is the possibility of having eight cars that have to be parked somewhere," Lutt said.

SPEAKING AGAINST the new ordinance was Lori Bausch, a college student who lives on Nebraska Street.

"I feel that putting limits on the number of persons like this will only make rent prices escalate even more."

"At the present time, there are 1,479 students living in the dorms (at Wayne State College). 50 percent of who are freshmen. There are 903 students living in off-campus housing and another 903 students who live in places other than Wayne. The maximum number of students who can live in the dorms is 1,600. Where are the rest of the students going to go?" Bausch asked.

"I feel some of the dorms are as bad as some of the houses. When I lived in the dorm, there were only two plug-ins in the room and we were always blowing fuses because the building couldn't handle all the electrical use," Bausch said.

THE COUNCIL heard from Vern Scholz, Street Department head, regarding the proposed one and six-year street improvement projects.

Expected to be completed in 1996 is the Logan Street widening project. State funds will provide $400,000 for the project, with total construction cost to be $779,000.

Projects slated for 1997 include the widening of Highway 35 and Westwood Road reconstruction.

Portions of Westwood Road were damaged when a construction company hauled dirt over the streets. Depending on the insurance settlement with the construction company and this summer's weather, a portion of the project could be completed this summer.

WAYNE POLICE Chief Lance Webster presented the council the annual report of the police department. In 1995 there were 2,397 requests for police service, down from 2,544 in 1994 and 2,614 in 1993.

Webster reported that the enhanced 911 system is moving toward completion. The police department has obtained a records management program and needs to complete computerization of offices before the system can be put into effect.

Donald Stiefken, Chief Inspector and Planner for the city reported on construction that took place in the city in 1995.

Total valuation of construction for 1995 was $7,268,027 which was a decline of 14.2 percent from the 1994 high of $8,478,029.

"It is important to bear in mind that the 1994 figure included the State-funded WSC student center expansion valued at $4,157,000 which represented nearly 49 percent of that year's valuation total," Stiefken said.

Of the housing units issued permits in 1995, a total of 16 new single family dwellings will be built, 16 apartments will be part of the Ridge Point Apartments and 27 apartments will be part of the Oaks. Five permits were issued for apartment conversion and seven permits were for single family mobile homes.

In other action the council set Feb. 27 as a date for a public hearing regarding the request of Our Savior Lutheran Church for the rezoning of their property from R-3 to B-2.

Briefly Speaking

Acme Club gathers in Jensen home

WAYNE — Acme Club met Jan. 15 with Elinor Jensen in her home. Eight members attended for the annual paper sack luncheon and joke day. Delores Utecht read a quote of Martin Luther King for the thought of the day. Thank you was read from the Wayne Public Library for the book "My War" by Andy Rooney, given in memory of member Geneva Beckner and from the Nebraska Children's Home Society for the monetary Christmas gifts. The group sang the birthday song for Zita Jenkins. The next meeting will be Feb. 5 with Lu Hilton at 2 p.m.

Foundation to host lunches

The Providence Medical Center Foundation, under the direction of Sandra Bartling the Development Director, has begun its series of monthly lunches at the Providence Medical Center.

Over the next few months, area individuals will be invited to the Providence Medical Center Chapin Room to enjoy a meal and meet members of the medical staff, hospital and foundation board members, as well as hospital administrator, Marcile Thomas, and John Boomer, consultant to the Foundation.

"The purpose of these informal get-togethers," says Bartling, "is to get the word out about our new Charitable Gift Annuity program. Giving funds through the Gift Annuity offers the donor an opportunity to make a charitable gift, while at the same time putting their own income needs first by securing a fixed-rate lifetime income. The Gift Annuity also offers some very attractive tax advantages and helps us solidify the financial future for health care in this area."

Individuals interested in attending a luncheon are invited to contact Mrs. Bartling at the Providence Medical Center Foundation Office or call her at 375-3800 Ext. # 17. "It is a priority of mine to be at the disposal of any individual who has unanswered questions about what foundations are available at the Foundation."

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

Recently the American Library Association announced the Newbery Medal award for the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children published in 1995. The author, Karen Cushman, was also the Newbery Award winner in 1994. Her '95 book, "The Midwife's Apprentice," describes a young girl who learns about midwifery and life through her training. It is a Young People's book. The ALA also awarded the Caldecott Medal for the most distinguished American picture book. Peggy Rathmann's "Officer Buckle and Gloria" follows the misadventures of a dog and Officer Buckle, who presents safety tips to children. Officer Buckle can be found in the Juvenile books downstairs. Newbery Honor books awarded include "The Great Fire" by Jim Murphy which tells the story of Chicago's historic fire. All these books are to be found in the library.

The Winter Story hour continues each Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the lower level of the library. Children from 3 to 7 are welcome! Each Saturday a volunteer reader will share stories and activities with the children.

Just a reminder — there are jackets, hats, mittens, books, purses, book marks, family pictures and what-have-you in our lost and found box. Please, please, please come in and look things over. You may find something you thought was long lost! We will bundle the unclaimed jackets, mittens and hats up soon to give to the Coat Closet sponsored by Goldenrod Hills and housed in the basement of the Presbyterian Church.

Work continues moving mysteries from their special collection into general fiction. The fiction books are being moved along the shelves as mysteries are inserted, so you will need to search a little longer for the author you are seeking. It won't be long before we start doing the same thing to the Westerns and Science Fiction books. All new books in these categories are being placed in fiction (and not in a special section), so be sure to look in any new releases by your favorite authors!

The Wayne Public Library and the Wayne Senior Center each displayed the model of the new library/senior citizens center and floorplan recently. We thank all those who came to view and share comments. Bids are expected in early February, with city council approval set for Feb. 13. Plans are to break ground this spring.

Library hours are Monday through Friday, 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m. Winter story hours are Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. until March 30. Drop in and see us. We will do our best to answer your questions.

January posts record highs and lows in the Wayne area

On January 14 the temperature in the Wayne area was 64 degrees. On Jan. 7, 8 and 31 the temperatures recorded were 17 degrees below zero.

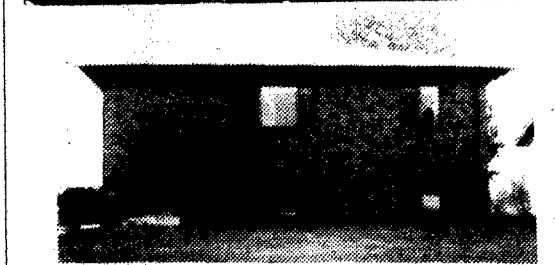

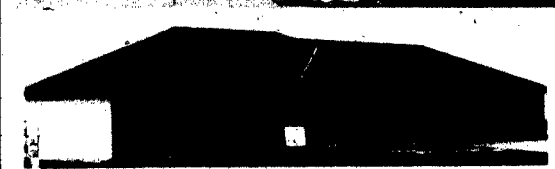

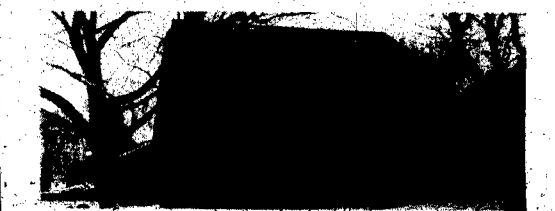

The Wayne area has received 11 inches of snow this winter and during the month of January received 1.06 inches of precipitation.

Last January our high was 44 degrees and this year 64 degrees, but during last January our low was only 12 below zero with just six days below zero. This year we had 13 days with zero or below temperatures and three of those days we recorded 17 below zero," said Pat Gross, Wayne weather observer.

"We don't record wind and velocity, but I think it is safe to say that this year we have had our share of that too. Throw in a substantial ice storm on the 17th and a record high day of 64 on the 13th and January 1996 seems to be a good one to have behind us," Gross said.

No 'safe' speed

What new limits should the state Legislature set for vehicle speeds? Uncle Sam nullified the mandated federal speed limits, so state senators will now decide as to whether or not speed limits should be changed.

One must keep in mind there are drivers so deficient in the art of operating a motor vehicle they are dangerous operating any vehicle at any speed.

Then there are drivers who obey all posted speed limits, not so much out of any moral conviction, but they can't afford either the fine or costs.

Nor can they afford losing more points off their license.

Other members of the driving crowd seldom observe any posted speed limit, passing everything on the road, and eventually are caught by a law enforcement officer's RADAR.

Wayne County Court fines are as follows: Speeding one to five m.p.h. over the limit calls for a fine of $10 plus $24 costs; from 6-10 m.p.h. over the limit the fine is $15 and costs; from 11-15 m.p.h. over carries a fine of $30 and costs; from 16-20 m.p.h. over has a fine of $50 and costs; and from 21 m.p.h. and over the limit, the fine is $100 plus costs. Some folk merely pick out a speed they can afford and pray they don't get caught.

So at what speed is a person "safe"? No such speed exists. If two vehicles collide head on, and each is traveling at 25 m.p.h., it means a 50 m.p.h. impact: enough to kill both drivers. May we then conclude that anything over 25 m.p.h. is dangerous?

And if so, does it feel worse to get killed at 60 m.p.h. than it does at 25 m.p.h.?

A national association of truckers has taken the posture against raising the speed limit. When was the last time you observed an eighteen wheeler maintaining the 55 m.p.h. limit?

So if most of us are already driving 60 or more, how can our legislators believe the hype that raising the limit to 60 will increase the number of fatalities?

If the Legislature is genuinely concerned about fatalities, let them increase the penalties for convicted drunk drivers.

How about confiscating the vehicle of the convicted drunk driver? Such a penalty might lower the fatality statistics more readily than laws related to speed. -mmw

LINCOLN — So often in Lincoln, issues are so complicated that it takes 20 consultants, a dozen lobbyists and a good bird dog to sort it out.

That's why it was so nice to see President Clinton and the Congress finally decide that setting the highway speed limits was something the lowly states — not Uncle Sam — could take care of.

When Clinton signed the bill in December that eliminated the national speed limit of 65 mph on urban interstates, several states did the simple thing. They increased their speed limits to where they were before that nasty federal law pulled our toes off our gas pedals.

You'd expect Nebraska to also follow suit. Don't.

Judging by the testimony at a recent public hearing and comments from state senators, there's plenty of disagreement about whether Nebraskans should be allowed to put more pedal to the metal. There's even some folks lobbying to keep the speed limit at 65 mph.

Those folks are the truckers. You remember those guys, the Snokey and the Bandit types who declared a CB war against the government when the speed limit was dropped to 55 mph in 1974.

The uproar was so loud, you'd have thought someone had insulted their mothers, spit on their Confederate flag or outlawed country-western music.

Well, truckers have found religion and are more concerned about safety now. A convoy of the big trucking firms is rolling against raising Nebraska's interstate speed limits to 70 mph or 75 mph, as some propose.

"Ask yourselves, is it worth it to get to Omaha four minutes faster? Is it worth it to get to the Colorado border a half-hour quicker?" said trucking industry lobbyist Bud Cucca.

Speed, the truckers said, raises costs for fuel, vehicle upkeep and insurance, and will increase accidents, injuries and fatalities.

It doesn't always save time, they said. It will mean more rest stops to quiet nerves jangled by the higher speeds. You save time, the truckers said, by shortening down on rest stops.

Many independent truckers who get paid by the mile and the minute disagree with their corporate cousins in the big trucking firms. They want higher speeds.

But the truckers raised some good points. Will increasing the speed limits disrupt rather than improve the flow of traffic? Will it save time or just increase the death toll and costs to society?

The State Department of Roads has weighed in with a study, something government does every time there's an "issue." It said that not all state roads are designed to handle increased speeds.

The study proposed no increases on two-lane highways. (I can't imagine that settling too well with folks that travel the lonely stretches of highways 2 and 20 across the state.)

The roads department also recommends a moderate increase on rural, four-lane highways from 55 mph to 60 mph. The agency really lets its hair down in interstates, though, suggesting that west of Lincoln, Nebraskans can drive up to 75 mph.

You all knew there were advantages to living in Lincoln and points west.

State Sen. Doug Kristensen of Minden, the chairman of the committee considering the speed limit issue, wisely observed that Nebraska has two speed limits right now: the posted limit and the one everyone is driving.

I'd say it's about 70 mph on the interstates and maybe 59 on the highways.

So what do lawmakers do? Set the speed limit where tickets can be written or where people are driving already?

In a conservative state, expect a conservative answer. We might be driving a little bit faster across Nebraska by this summer, but not by much.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Tom has criminal past

This past week a member of my family was picked up by the local police dept. The person in question means well, but just has a bad habit of hanging around places he or she shouldn't be. I guess you are wondering why I'm telling you this. Well, in any small town rumors get started and stories get larger and more exaggerated as they are told over and over. I wanted everyone to know the truth. So here is the whole story.

Thomas J. Shanks, Tom to his friends, has had a history of being in trouble with the law. In South Pittsburg, Tenn., he was well known by the local police dept. Tom is not a violent individual, in fact the Chief of Police in South Pittsburg has stated to my wife and I on numerous occasions that when he was caught, that all they had to do is show Tom the car door and in he went without a fuss. This has had a big impact with the local judges who have presided over his cases. No hand cuffs were ever needed.

We have sought professional help on several occasions trying to teach him that breaking the law is a serious event in society today, but to now, no avail. In fact on several occasions, he has stayed out all night and didn't call home. He does appear at times to be insensitive to this family, and our wishes.

Tom is a friendly creature if you ever had a chance to know him. He has never met another human being he did not like. When we still lived in South Pittsburg he was constantly being asked by the neighborhood kids if Tom could come out to play.

Tom doesn't have a job either. I always thought he wanted to get one, but doesn't seem to have the know how or desire to follow through on getting one. He does make up for this by being help

Have to love the media

Walter Cronkite used to close his TV newscasts saying "And that's the way it is." Confident Americans believed him.

Things change! If an anchorman said that now, viewers would snicker. Americans know network anchormen (we must be PC and say anchorpersons) and their writers are as biased toward the liberal left, or conservative right, as anyone trying to mold public opinion.

Jennings, Brokaw, Rather and Shaw can look into cameras and read "news" with a biased spin that often bears little similarity to reality. For instance, how long was the war in Bosnia going on before the networks finally identified the battle as a religious war? Why didn't the news correspondents appropriately depict the war being fought between Muslims and Serbs as a religious conflagration?

so why Bosnia? Now that the U.S. has joined in supporting the Muslims, are we to be world peacekeepers in the name of God?

The networks didn't describe the killing as being done in the name of religion. They termed it "ethnic cleansing". Not many Americans would want their sons risking death in a foreign country trying to keep a fragile peace destined to go by the

Support Groups Offer Help for Stroke Survivors

Stroke is the nation's third-leading killer. But it is not always fatal. In fact, more than 3 million Americans are alive today, after having a stroke.

But surviving isn't enough. Stroke survivors strive to regain or compensate for lost speech and movement skills as well as to receive feelings of self-esteem. They also want more independence and not have to rely entirely on a family member or close friend for their care.

In the first few weeks and months after a stroke, survivors will most likely work with one or more healthcare professionals, depending upon how they are affected. People recovering from a stroke may spend time with physical therapists, speech pathologists, psychologists, nurses, social workers or health educators.

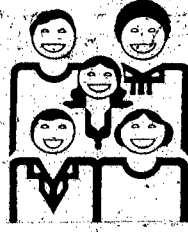

But even professionals may not be enough. Stroke survivors often feel isolated and estranged from family, friends and the world in which they lived and worked. That's where a support group can help. Clubs across the nation bring together people, including caregivers, who share common experiences with stroke. This lets club members learn about stroke-related disabilities and exchange information about getting better.

Club activities can also renew hope and encourage more independence and self-improvement for people who have had a stroke. At workshops, seminars, conferences and social events, stroke survivors and their families can draw strength from each other and learn to cope with day-to-day activities.

The American Heart Association supports about 850 stroke clubs that are members of the AHA's Stroke Connection. That support includes to publications: Stroke Connection magazine for all stroke survivors, and A Stroke of Luck for those affected by aphasia, a language disability. In addition, brochures, books, tapes and other materials are available. For information about stroke and its effects or to learn about stroke clubs in your area, call the AHA's Stroke Connection toll-free service at 1-800-553-6321. ©1994, American Heart Association

Gap separates rich from poor

Dear Editor:

One of the most alarming socioeconomic trends in America in the last decade has been the dramatically widening income gap between rich and poor. Currently, 1 percent of the population controls 40 percent of the wealth, leaving 60 percent of the wealth for the other 99 percent of Americans. The numbers are even more striking if one looks at the top 10 percent, who control 69 percent of this nation's money. The other 90 percent of the populace controls but 31 percent.

One reason for this redistribution of wealth has been the stagnation or decline of wages at the lower end of the scale. For example, the current minimum wage is at a 40-year low in buying power; it would have to be increased from the present $4.25/hr. to $5.75/hr. just to regain the purchasing power it had in the 1970s.

Something is being done to begin to close this income gap, however modestly: a bill to raise the Nebraska minimum wage to $5.15/hr. will be introduced in the Unicameral in the near future. If it passes, Nebraska will join eight other states, including Iowa, which have taken this step forward. We urge our fellow citizens to stand behind this legislation by writing their State Senator, Pat Engel (Nebraska State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68508), and asking him to support it. Letting other state senators and Gov. Nelson know of your support for the bill would also help.

We cannot rely on the free enterprise system to raise wages. If it operated that way, wages should have risen when huge profits for a few individuals and corporations rose, along with prices. Obviously, that has not happened; wages, in real terms, have fallen, not rise, in the last two decades.

Nearly 70 percent of Nebraskans who now work for the minimum wage are over 20 years old, and the majority of these are white female breadwinners. This fact is ignored by those who argue that most minimum wage jobs are held by teenagers -- who, by the way, are often working to save money for their education. These people need a fair shake economically.

Despite what opponents of a minimum wage hike claim, studies of past increases found little rise in prices or loss of jobs. Instead, raising wages is good for business and will contribute to the performance of Nebraska's economy. For all these reasons, we support legislation to raise the minimum wage in Nebraska.

Volunteers needed

A training program is being offered for volunteer and professional who in turn will work with individuals and families to take advantage of effective financial management. Volunteers will receive 20 hours of extensive training and then provide approximately 50 hours of volunteer time working with people one-on-one, in families or to groups as a Master Money Manager. The training covers cash flow, savings, goal setting, credit and debit management, records, acquiring major expenditures, insurance analysis, financial statements, counseling, and employment retraining opportunities. Master Money Managers do not need computer skills, but data will be entered into the "user friendly" Quicken Financial Planner and Power Pay software programs.

The training sessions are Saturdays Feb. 17-March 16, 8:30 a.m. to noon at Nebraska State Bank, Wakefield. Local and Nebraska experts in the areas of counseling, finance and the law will be teaching parts of the program.

You've got to love the media business! We are addicted to making fools of ourselves, and now with this being an election year the public should brace itself for even more propaganda.

Demonstrating a level of self-absorption that can be found in few other professions, members of the mainstream media are feverishly debating whether it is appropriate for a presidential candidate to solicit votes by any other method than through them. How can we possibly understand what President Clinton said in his State of the Union address unless the egotistical network notables "explain" what the President really meant!

Maybe I'm missing something but I always thought President Clinton spoke English.

Beware of any current media "reports" on presidential candidates. Network writers will slant the story to their own liking, knowing the news jockeys will read it in front of a camera because it is, after all, their daily bread.

After listening to the "news", remember its likely "That ain't the way it was!"

Media moguls need to discover why we've forfeited our standing as the most trusted source of information, and start telling it like it is!

Wildcats break school three-point mark in 100-93 win

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

It was raining inside Rice Auditorium during the first half of Wayne State's game with Northern State. Raining threes.

Wayne State sank a school-record 16 three-pointers, including 12 in the first half, to knock off the 15-2 Wolves 100-93. The Cats shot an amazing 63 percent from beyond the three-point arc in the first half, but the Wolves kept pace. Northern State sank 53 percent of their first-half threes, including seven from guard Lance Luitjens. NSU finished the game with 13 three-pointers.

Despite shooting so well in the opening half, WSC was having a hard time building much of a lead. Kyle White hit four three-pointers in the final 3:30 before halftime to help the Cats build a nine-point lead with :05 left, but Luitjens cut the lead to 59-53 with a three-pointer from half-court at the intermission.

The scoring slowed down in the second half and Wayne State held an 85-76 lead with 7:09 left. Northern State was not quite ready to give in and went on a 9-0 run to tie the game, but the Wildcats were not ready to give up the lead as they went on to outscore the Wolves 15-8 over the final 5:22.

"It was a super team win," said Head Coach Greg McDermott. "I'm proud of our guys off the bench and I thought our leadership had a lot to do with this win. When we're clicking offensively we're pretty tough to beat, but I think the key to the game was our defense in the second half. We felt that if we could hold them under 45 percent shooting in the second half we would win the basketball game and that's exactly what happened."

Six players scored in double figures for the Cats led by Chad Nelson with 17 (four 3's). Kyle White (four 3's) and Dan Anderson (7 rebounds) each added 16, while Curt Woodin (four 3's) added 14. Craig Philipp had 11 points, Mike Fitzner (two 3's) had 10 and Jason Diaz (two 3's) added eight.

Scoring - C. Philipp 11, C. Nelson 17, G. Ryan 2, M. Fitzner 10, T. Johnson 4, K. White 16, C. Woodin 14, J. Diaz 8, D. Anderson 16, J. Jones 2.

Rebounds - WSC 38 (Anderson 7), NSU 34
Assists - WSC 20 (Woodin 6), NSU 21
Halftime - WSC 59, NSU 51

Wayne State 83, Minnesota-Morris 74

Wayne State College won their fourth game in five tries Saturday night with an 83-74 victory over Minnesota-Morris. The Wildcats shot just 35 percent in the first half and trailed 40-39, but came out in the second half and outscored the Cougars 44-34 to get their seventh win of the season. The Cats held a 56-35 advantage in rebounds and outscored Morris 22-7 at the free throw line.

"Obviously the key to the game was our total domination on the boards," said Head Coach Greg McDermott. "Our guys were constantly attacking the offensive boards and doing a pretty good job of controlling the defensive boards."

The WSC underclassmen again did an superb job in the game. Freshman Chad Nelson hit four three-pointers and scored 18 points, while classmate Jason Diaz scored 11 points and grabbed 14 rebounds. Sophomore Craig Philipp also pulled down 14 boards and scored 10 points.

"Jason Diaz and Craig Philipp were outstanding on the boards," said McDermott. "To have two guys with 14 rebounds in a game is something you don't see very often. It was good to see Chad Nelson come out of his slump and get three big three-pointers for us during a stretch in the second half where the game was still pretty close."

"I felt my shot was there," said Nelson, "and after I've been struggling for three or four games, I just felt the stroke, so I just kept shooting the ball. We have a few big games coming up, but I think we'll be back to the 500 mark pretty soon the way we've been playing."

Scoring - C. Philipp 10, C. Nelson 18, G. Ryan 5, M. Fitzner 10, T. Johnson 9, K. White 3, C. Woodin 3, J. Diaz 11, D. Anderson 8, J. Jones 6.

WSC beats UMM; falls to Northern

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The WSC women's basketball team (9-9) dropped a 73-68 decision to Northern State on Wednesday night. The Wildcats fell behind early in the first half and took their first lead at 35-34 before heading to halftime behind 38-35. WSC trailed the entire second half, climbing to within one point at 55-54 and within three points late in the game. The Cats had some opportunities as well as the game, but the Wolves were able to hold them off.

"It was a pretty even ball game," said Head Coach Mike Barry. "As I've always said, against Northern State you have to shoot the ball pretty well. You have to make some perimeter shots and we didn't do that. It came down to I thought, a pretty even game, except they put it in the hole a few more times than we did."

The Wildcats were led by Amy Brodersen and Marla Stewart, who each scored 14. Minda Jensen, who scored 12 and had seven rebounds, and LeAnn Weeks, who scored 11.

Scoring - A. Brodersen 14, S. Osborn 10, M. Jensen 12, M. Stewart 14, J. Heine 7, L. Weeks 8, T. Thompson 2, K. McLarty 4, S. Suits 2, C. Schultz 2, M. Plakowski 9.

Wayne State 83, Minnesota-Morris 81

The Wayne State Wildcat women held on for an 83-81 win over Minnesota Morris on Saturday, improving their record to 9-8.

The Cats forced 18 first-half turnovers and built a 46-38 lead going into the lockerroom. In the second half, WSC saw their lead shrink to three with 12:13 left, but built it back to 12 with 5:54 remaining. The Cougars again closed the gap. Morris climbed within two with 1:57 left, but Marla Stewart hit a pair of three-pointers and LeAnn Weeks sank three of four free throws to seal the victory.

"I thought we were in control for most of the game," said Head Coach Mike Barry. "I have to give Minnesota Morris credit because they hung in there and in the last two minutes they hit some big shots. It was a game down to the very last play. I have to give them credit and I have to give our team credit for not folding up when they (Morris) hit all those shots. I don't think we played with as much intensity as we did last week, but we played well enough to get it done."

Stewart scored 21 points to lead the Wildcats, while Susie Osborn and Amy Brodersen each added 10. Megan Plakowski added nine points and five rebounds.

Scoring - J. Heine 6, S. Osborn 10, M. Jensen 7, M. Stewart 21, A. Brodersen 10, L. Weeks 8, J. Thompson 4, K. McLarty 4, S. Suits 2, C. Schultz 2, M. Plakowski 9.

Rebounds - WSC 50 (Plakowski 9), UMM 51

Assists - WSC 20 (Stewart, Plakowski 3), UMM 35

Halftime - WSC 46, UMM 38

Wayne State goes on the road for their next pair of games. The Cats travel to Bemidji State on Saturday and Southwest State on Wednesday.

WSC split a pair of games with Bemidji State last season, losing 95-85 on the road and winning 64-63 at home. On January 17, the Wildcats beat Southwest State 79-69 after losing twice last season, 71-54 and 61-43.

Wayne State's Julie Heine tries to steal a rebound from Northern State's Melissa Krause during Wednesday night's game at Rice Auditorium.

Laurel-Concord ran their win streak to 10 games and advanced to the championship game of the NENAC tournament with a 68-65 win over Elkhorn Valley on Tuesday.

It was a tight battle throughout, as Laurel led 15-14 after one quarter and 35-28 at the half. The Bears led 55-49 after three quarters and survived several attacks from the Falcons late in the fourth to pull out the three point win.

"It was a very close game," said Head Coach Clayton Steele. "It was well played by both teams. We gained a 12 point lead in the fourth quarter, but the Falcons quickly closed the gap to four, two or one in the last three minutes several times. Clutch free throws from Tyler Erwin (5-6) and Vince Ward (2-2) in the fourth quarter clinched the win for us."

Travis Stingley led the Bears with 22 points and seven rebounds, while Tyler Erwin added 18 points and Kyle Macklin had 11 points and nine rebounds.

The Bears now face Crofton for the NENAC championship on Thursday at 8:00 p.m. at Plainview. The Warriors handed Laurel a 58-44 loss in the season opener.

Scoring — T. Stingley 22, T. Erwin 18, K. Macklin 11, R. Rasmussen 8, R. Kvols 5, V. Ward 4.

Tuesday's Other Results

South Sioux City 50, Wayne 45

Wayne (5-10) lost a 50-45 decision to South Sioux City on Tuesday night. The Blue Devils went into halftime trailing 25-23, but came out slow in the third quarter. The Cardinals outscored the Devils 19-8 in the third to gain a 44-31 advantage. Wayne came back in the fourth to outscore the Cardinals 14-6, but it was not enough.

"After coming out slow in the second half we got ourselves into a position to win," said Head Coach Rocky Ruhl. "The shots would not fall for us again. We are in a slump right now and have to start to climb back up."

Paul Blomenkamp scored 22 points and had 15 rebounds, while Justin Thege added 11 points and seven rebounds.

Scoring — P. Blomenkamp 22, J. Thege 11, R. Junck 5, E. Wiseman 3, N. Vanhorn 2, P. Zulkosky 2.

Sports Brief

WSC athletes do well in the classroom

WAYNE — Student-athletes at Wayne State College are working just as hard in the classroom as they are in their chosen sport.

The cumulative grade-point average for all Wildcat student-athletes is an impressive 3.0. During the 1995 fall semester, the 195 Wildcat student-athletes posted a GPA of 2.9.

For the fall semester, the women's cross country team led the athletic department with a GPA of 3.46 while the women's basketball squad earned a 3.37.

"All the coaches here at Wayne State do a great job of recruiting and bringing in strong student-athletes," said Mark Linder, WSC's athletic academic coordinator. "With its small class sizes and outstanding faculty members, Wayne State is set up to assist the students' academic needs. The students also have strong support services here which serve as a safety net for all our students."

Perfect 4.0 GPAs during the 1995 fall semester: Mandy Alt, Waverly, softball; Deanna Badura, Omaha, women's track; Adam Bealle, Omaha, baseball; Amy Brodersen, O'Neill, women's basketball; Kathy Dalton, Waverly, women's cross country/track; Darrin Gregory, Elkhorn, baseball; Angela Kinent, Stanton, women's track; David May, Hampton, football; Kara McElany, Sgr. Bluff, Iowa, women's basketball.

Local Presidential Scholar-Athletes (GPA of 3.2 or higher): Holly Blair, Allen, women's basketball; Chris Headley, Wayne, men's cross country; Jeff Lutt, Wayne, football; Jenny Thompson, Wayne, women's basketball.

Allen (0-14) got pounded 94-27 by Bancroft-Rosalie Monday night in first round Lewis & Clark tournament action.

The Eagles trailed 20-11 after one quarter and 38-15 at the half. It only got worse for Allen as the Panthers outscored the Eagles 27-9 in the third and 29-3 in the fourth.

Coleridge outscored Winside 23-4 in the second quarter and went on to hand the Wildcats (2-11) a 77-57 loss Monday night in first round Lewis & Clark tournament action.

"Poor shot selection and shooting percentage combined to give Coleridge a big second quarter," said Head Coach Jim Hoyt. "We played well for three quarters, but the 25 point halftime lead was too much for us. Early in the third quarter we were within 14 points, but we were unable to hold them off and were never that close again."

Greg Mundil, Chad O'Connor and Jamey Holdorf each scored 13 points to pace the Wildcats. O'Connor added eight rebounds and four assists, while Mundil had seven rebounds and Holdorf dished out five assists.

Scoring — M. Kollath 2, G. mundil 13, C. O'Connor 13, J. Holdorf 13, T. Sueli 2, A. Hoffman 2, A. Behmer 2.

"We had a five point lead with a minute left and made some bad decisions," said Head Coach Brad Hoskins. "We were really lucky to go to overtime. Wynot was shooting two free throws with 0:02 left. They made the first one."

Allen girls fall short in 53-51 loss

By Corey Berg
Of the Herald

Allen (10-7) came up a basket short in a 53-51 loss to Bancroft-Rosalie in the second round of the Lewis & Clark Conference tournament on Tuesday.

Allen trailed 11-9 after one quarter, but took a 23-21 lead at the half. The Eagles opened up a 38-30 lead after three quarters, but the Panthers outscored Allen 23-13 in the fourth to advance to the conference semi-finals.

"We had an eight point lead entering the fourth quarter and watched it slip away with some bad decisions in the last couple minutes," said Coach Lori Koester. "It was a real disappointing finish to one of the best games we've played this year."

Mindy Plueger led Allen with 19 points and 10 rebounds followed by Abbey Schroeder with 16 points, seven assists and two steals and Shany Moran with 14 points and six rebounds.

Scoring — A. Schroeder 16, M. Plueger 19, S. Moran 14, J. Sachau 2.

Tuesday's Other Results

Wausa 65, Winside 43

Winside (6-9) dropped a 65-43 decision to Wausa in the second round of the Lewis & Clark Conference tournament on Tuesday.

The Wildcats slipped behind 21-5 after the first quarter and were forced to try to play catch-up for the rest of the game. The Cats did play an excellent third quarter, sinking 10 of 14 shots from the field and outscoring Wausa 22-12 to cut the deficit to 47-39. The Lady Vikings outscored Winside 18-4 in the fourth however to put the game away.

"If we wouldn't have let them jump out to a 16 point lead in the first quarter I feel it would have been a different ballgame," said Head Coach Lisa Schroeder. "We did cut their lead to six in the third quarter, but we turned the ball over several times in crucial situations which allowed them to pull away."

Ann Brugger led Winside with 14 points and eight rebounds, while Wendy Miller had 40 points and eight rebounds.

Scoring — A. Brugger 14, W. Miller 10, J. Miller 10, J. Miller 6, E. Deck 3.

Monday's Results

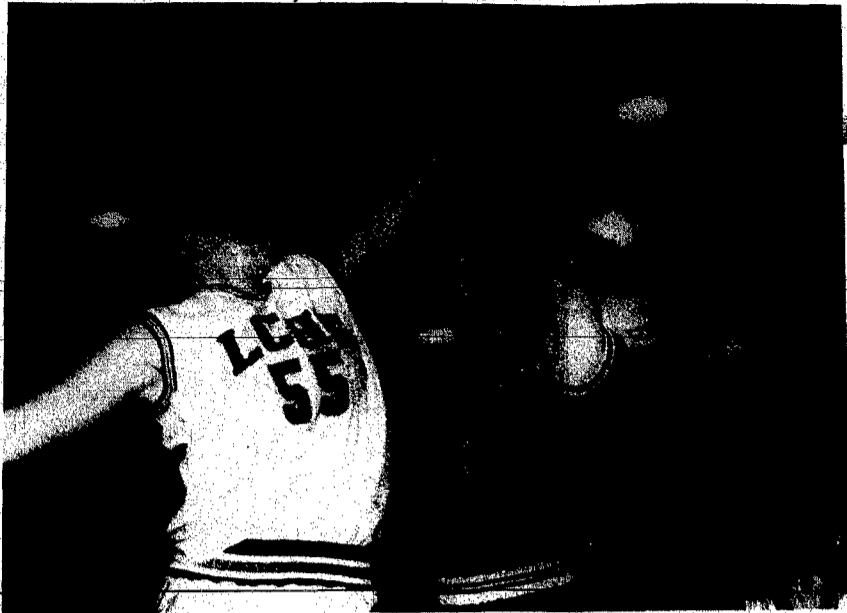

Laurel-Concord 55, Neligh-Oakdale 44

Laurel-Concord (14-2) advanced to the championship game of the NENAC tournament with a 55-44 win over Neligh-Oakdale on Monday.

Laurel held a 29-14 lead at the half and increased that lead to 47-29 after the third. The win was the ninth in a row for the Lady Bears.

"Our full-court press gave Neligh some problems in getting the ball up the floor," said Head Coach Rick Petri. "Our defensive pressure in the first half was outstanding."

Becky Schroeder paced the Lady Bears with 14 points, eight rebounds and four blocked shots. Megan Adkins tallied 11 points, six Laurel, ranked No. 8 in Class C-2, faces No. 7 ranked Randolph in the NENAC championship game on Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Plainview. Randolph handed Laurel their first loss of the season on December 22 by a 55-48 score.

Scoring — B. Schroeder 14, A. Krie 12, M. Adkins 11, H. Cunningham 6, C. Mohr 4, T. Ankeny 4, G. Monson 2, S. Ehlers 2.

Saturday's Results

Laurel-Concord 71, Bloomfield 49

Alissa Krie scored a career-high 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Laurel-Concord to a 71-49 victory over Bloomfield in the opening round of the NENAC tournament on Saturday.

The Lady Bears shot 49 percent from the field and opened up a 34-20 lead at the half. Bloomfield outscored Laurel 18-17 in the third quarter, but a 20-11 fourth quarter advantage for the Lady Bears put the game out of reach.

"We played another excellent game," said Head Coach Rick Petri. "Defensively, we forced 32 turnovers and the girls continue to play unselfish, basketball offensively. We have worked hard at finding the open player. We hope to continue our defensive intensity."

Along with Krie, Becky Schroeder also had a solid game, scoring 14 points and recording 12 rebounds, six steals and four blocked shots.

Scoring — A. Krie 24, B. Schroeder 14, M. Adkins 11, T. Ankeny 12, S. Ehlers 3, H. Cunningham 3, G. Monson 2.

Allen 46, Beemer 32

Allen outscored Beemer 18-4 in the second quarter and went on to a 46-32 win in the first round of the Lewis & Clark Conference Tournament on Saturday. The Eagles led 10-7 after one quarter, then exploded to take a 28-11 lead into the lockerroom and coast to the win.

"We were pleased with the win," said Coach Lori Koester, "but we're going to have to pick up our intensity if we are going to stay alive in this tourney."

Abbey Schroeder scored 24 points for the second consecutive game and added five assists and six steals. Shany Moran tallied eight points and nine rebounds.

Scoring — A. Schroeder 24, S. Moran 8, M. Plueger 4, J. Klaver 8, A. Mitchell 2.

Osmond 68, Wakefield 49

Wakefield (8-10) dropped a 68-49 decision to Osmond on Saturday. The Tigers outshot (55%-45%) and outrebounded the (38-22) the Lady Trojans.

"Four factors usually determine who wins a game," said Wakefield Head Coach Gregg Cruickshank, "defense, rebounding, loose balls and running the floor. In every area Osmond was the superior team."

"We did not apply consistent pressure on the ball, we did not box out on the defensive boards and we did not go hard to the offensive boards. Offensively, we played well. We had good balance. We should win games when we score 50 points. Fortunately we have some practice time to work on some things."

Kristin Preston led Wakefield with 11 points, while Jenny Sandahl added 10.

Scoring — K. Preston 11, J. Sandahl 10, A. Wiseman 10, K. Lutt 10, M. Weber 8, M. Linster 7, H. Johnson 2.

Winside 56, Wynot 53

Winside came from nine points down after three quarters to post a 56-53 win over Wynot in the first round of the Lewis & Clark Conference Tournament on Saturday. The Wildcats trailed 30-27, at the half and 40-31 after three quarters before outscoring the Lady Vikings 25-13 in the fourth to take home the win. The Cats shot 73 percent from the free throw line, including eight of 10 in the fourth quarter.

Jodi Miller led Winside with 17 points, four steals and four assists. Ann Brugger added 12 points and eight rebounds, while Wendy Miller had 11 points and five assists. Jessica Miller was the team's top rebounder with nine.

Scoring — W. Miller 11, A. Brugger 12, J. Miller 17, J. Deck 4, J. Miller 8, M. Lopp 4.

Thursday's Results

Hartington CC 56, Wayne 43

Wayne fell to 3-13 with a 56-43 loss to Hartington Cedar Catholic on Thursday. The Blue Devils kept it close, trailing 20-16 after one quarter and 32-29 at the intermission. The Lady Trojans outscored the Devils 24-24 in the second half to take home the 13 point win.

"We played very aggressively in the first half," said Head Coach Roger Reikofski. "In the second half, we became more tentative. Cedar has a young, athletic team and you have to play well for four quarters against teams like that."

Anne Wiseman scored 10 points and pulled down eight rebounds, while Katie Lutt scored 10 and added four assists and four steals.

Scoring — C. Langenfeld 4, E. Sootenberg 2, A. Wiseman 10, K. Lutt 10, M. Weber 8, M. Linster 7, H. Johnson 2.

In the JV game, Wayne won its third game in a row with a 47-44 victory. Gayle Olson led the Blue Devils, followed by Kellie Lubberstedt with eight and Brooke Parker with 6.

Laurel-Concord 58, Wakefield 35

Laurel-Concord shrugged off a slow first half start to beat Wakefield 58-35 Thursday night. The Lady Bears led 22-15 at the half, but outscored the Lady Trojans 20-6 in the third to coast to victory. Laurel outshot (58%-27%) and outrebounded (39-22) Wakefield, while rejecting nine shots.

"Defensively, we played another good game," said Laurel Head Coach Rick Petri. "Offensively, we struggled in the first half, turning the ball over 18 times. In the second half we executed our offense and were able to get the ball inside. Wakefield really played hard and forced us to make some adjustments."

"We struggled all night offensively," said Wakefield Head Coach Gregg Cruickshank, "and that's largely because of Laurel's size and athleticism. We played hard on the defensive end in the first half, however, I was disappointed in our defensive effort in the third quarter. We let our offensive frustration affect our defensive effort. Give a lot of credit to Laurel's players and coaches. They're a talented team that is

Wayne at Albion Invite

Coach John Murtaugh and his wrestling squad traveled to Albion Saturday to face a highly regarded field of statewide wrestling teams. Teams competing included Class A Kearney as well as Seward, Albion and Lexington, all at one time rated Class B schools.

The Blue Devils came away with five medal winners and gained valuable mat experience which should prepare them for the upcoming district competition. Wayne, composed of mostly underclassmen, has continued to improve, according to Murtaugh, who feels the team sees vast improvement in the practice room as well as in week to week competition.

"I was disappointed in our lack of aggressiveness in the quarter-final round," said Murtaugh. "After that round we wrestled much better." Wayne's young wrestler's are gaining valuable mat experience during this season, a fact that will assuredly come to fruition during the near future.

Rushville to a five and a half point lead after the completion of the 171-pound finals, putting pressure on Cat Joe Schwedhelm by requiring him to pin his opponent in order to score the six point win that would put the Wildcats on top.

Schwedhelm responded by pinning Les Painter of host team Ainsworth at the 4:50 mark of the match. Painter came into the bout with a won-loss record of 17-5.

Sally's mood changed noticeably when he suggested dinner at Riley's

Sally knows he meant something special with his invitation because Riley's is a special place. She likes the relaxed surroundings where you don't have to feel out of place if you aren't dressed up and yet she knows she can order her favorite, delicately prepared Shrimp Fettuccine the way a good Italian restaurant knows how to make it. She also knows he will enjoy his man-sized, hand-cut, extra-tender, USDA Choice steak-cooked to perfection on an open flame grill. Riley's steaks are never dried out the way he gets them at some restaurants when they're fried on a flat grill. Sally knows it will be a special occasion.

Dixon County Fair dates told

The Dixon County Fair will be held Sunday through Wednesday, Aug. 4-7, according to Dixon County Fair Secretary Norman Meyer.

Meyer said the fair board selected an earlier date for 1996 to avoid conflicts with school and fall sports practices which begin in mid-August. He said the board had received numerous requests to hold the annual County Fair earlier.

This year's fair will feature entertainment by the Fox Brothers and DeLisa Dawn. The Demolition Derby will be held again on Wednesday night. The will be a horse show and many other traditional activities, along with several new ones.

The McDermott Family Midway of Anthon, Iowa will provide the rides and games this summer. Meyer said there would be one day or evening set aside as wrist band day with special ride prices.

Ak-Sar-Ben honors Koch family with Pioneer Farm Award

The August Koch family farm was recently honored for being in the family 100 years.

Ak-Sar-Ben generally recognizes these family farms during the local county fair, but does make an exception if the family has a special request.

The Koch farm was originally purchased in February of 1895. It is located near Winside with a legal description of "the East half of Section 5, Township 25, Range 3".

August is one of William's eight children. He married the former Ella Biermann in 1920. In 1936 the couple bought his father's farm.

The couple has six children: Floyd, who died in 1974; Jeanette who lives in Wyoming; Donald who lives in Arizona; and Arlene, Barbara and Karen, all who live in California.

August and Ella retired from the farm in 1976. They moved to Winside for several years and then moved to California for 15 years. In 1992 they moved to Wyoming to be near their daughter Jeanette.

In August of 1995 they celebrated their 65th anniversary. August is now 91 years old and Ella is 83 years old.

Because of August's failing health, the couple is not able to return to the Wayne County fair to receive the award.

Those who wish to have their family farms honored by Ak-Sar-Ben need to submit their nominations to the secretary of the local County Fair Board. Nomination forms are available from the board secretary.

Selling steaks by telephone?

The Cowboys and the Steelers are in Tempe tonight; and Jack Palance just pulled a mountainous chasm together with a Ford pickup! At one million bucks per one minute ad, I can't imagine any corporation being interested. Of course, good old Budweiser bought four. Priorities have definitely gone awry in this country.

I actually got a walk in this afternoon, and the south wind wasn't too cold. But it has switched to the north again; and it's snowing west of us. I had another afternoon at home on Friday, thanks to blowing snow. I scooped sidewalks on Saturday; and had to do it over today. Wood stove feels mighty good.

Luckily at least so far, the telemarketers don't bother us on Sunday. I have a backrest that heats up and vibrates. So, I like to get comfortable on the couch with the World-Herald about 9 p.m. and give my back a treatment. It really bugs me to have the phone ring then, especially if it's someone pushing a new credit card.

By Pat Meierhenry

The phonathons are about as bad. I got a letter from Wayne State saying that if I contributed then, I would not get called. So, I sent a check. Wish some others would do the same.

I try to be polite, because I always figure it's someone's son or daughter, working their way through college. And they are usually polite to me. But I feel like saying "Why don't you get a real job? The local nursing home is looking for some good nursing assistants."

We discussed these folks in the office last week, and our secretary reported that her husband has had some very unkind epithets slung at him.

The crowning blow came when the home health coordinator reported that her niece, a college graduate, is selling Omaha Steaks on the phone and making $15 an hour!

We wondered what the producers of those steaks make per hour. And we thought steak was probably something we could sell too.

I've been thinking about it. No driving in snow and wind to see patients, no risking lawsuits for malpractice, no getting called at all hours with problems. Just getting orders for Beef: real food for real people. Heck, I've been pushing the stuff for free for years. Get ready, I'll be calling one of you these days. The game's over. That darned Switzer did it again.

How to deal with a strong-willed child

Q. My wife and I have a strong-willed child who is incredibly difficult to handle. I honestly believe we are doing our job about as well as any parents would do, yet she still breaks the rules and challenges our authority. I guess I need some encouragement. First, tell me if an especially strong-willed child can be made to smile and give and work and cooperate. If so, how is that accomplished? And second, what is my daughter's future? I see trouble ahead, but I don't know if that gloomy forecast is justified.

A. There is no question about it: A willful child, such as yours, can be difficult to control even when her parents handle her with great skill and dedication. It may take several years to bring her to a point of relative obedience and cooperation within the family unit.

While this training program is in progress, it is important not to panic. Don't try to complete the transformation overnight. Treat your child with sincere love and dignity, but require her to follow your leadership. Choose carefully the matters which are worthy of confrontation, then accept her challenge on those issues and win decisively. Reward every positive, cooperative gesture she makes by offering your attention, affection and verbal praise. Then take two aspirin and call me in the morning.

Concerning the second half of your question, I must admit that your daughter, if not properly disciplined, would be in a "high risk" category for antisocial behavior later in life. Such a child is more likely to challenge her teachers in school, question the values she has been taught and shake her fist in the faces of those who would lead her. I believe that youngster is more inclined toward sexual promiscuity, drug abuse and academic difficulties. This is not an inevitable prediction, of course, because the complexities of human personality make it impossible to forecast behavior with complete accuracy.

On the other hand, the dangers I have described are greatly minimized by parents who actively seek to shape the will of the child during the early years. That's why the future of your daughter is not a negative one. It is my belief that a strong-willed child like yours typically possesses more character and has greater potential for a productive life than her compliant counterpart. The key to reaching that potential is to gain a measure of control of the child's will and then, at the appropriate moment, transfer that control to the individual as she approaches the end of adolescence.

Dr. Dobson

Answers Your Questions

Sounds easy, doesn't it? But be prepared, it's a tough assignment.

Q. You have described the nature of willfully defiant behavior and how parents should handle it, but does all unpleasant behavior result from this deliberate misbehavior?

A. No. Disobedience can be very different in origin from the "challenging" response I've been describing. A child's antagonism and negativity may emanate from frustration, disappointment, fatigue, illness or rejection, and therefore must be interpreted as a warning signal to be heeded. Perhaps the toughest task in parenthood is to recognize the difference between these behavioral messages. A child's resistant behavior always contains a message to his parents which they must decode before responding.

For example, he may be saying, I feel unloved now that I'm stuck with that yelling baby brother. Mom used to care for me; now nobody wants me. I hate everybody. When this kind of message underlies the rebellion, the parents should move quickly to pacify its cause.

When a 2-year-old screams and cries at bedtime, one must ascertain what he is communicating. If he is genuinely frightened by the blackness of his room, the appropriate response should be quite different than if he is merely protesting about having to go night-night. The art of good parenthood revolves around the interpretation of behavior.

Discipline: Too much or too little

A certain amount of conflict between parents and children is normal and necessary. How you handle the inevitable conflict is what really matters. Discipline, to most of us, suggests punishment and we often confuse the two. In fact, the words have very different meanings.

Discipline comes from the Greek word disciplina, which means "to teach" or "to lead." In the truest sense of this word, we are teaching our children how to lead themselves. We are teaching them to be self-disciplined, so they can make responsible choices when we're not around. When we set firm boundaries, we provide children with a sense of safety and security. When we discipline with love, we give two important messages: I care too much about you to allow you to act inappropriately and I care enough about you to take the time and effort to teach you how to behave.

The authoritarian parent expects and demands obedience; "because I said so." When standards are externally imposed and children have very little room to question, challenge, disagree or to think for themselves, they get the impression: "My ideas must not be very good. I need someone else to make my decisions for me. When children disobey, authoritarian parents often react by spanking. This may work in the short run to change a child's behavior and relieve our own frustrations, but it's more likely to create resentment than improve behavior. Recent research shows that children who are hit are more likely to hit other children, and they learn to accept violence as a way of solving problems.

It's easy for working parents and single parents especially to fall into the permissive approach, partly because it often takes less energy to give in than to be firm. And, we may be trying, unconsciously, to make up for not spending as much time as we would like with our children. So we become wishy-washy — saying no but don't really mean it.

Sally Ebmeier, Cedar County Cooperative Extension

Some permissive parents are reacting to overly strict, controlling methods used by their own parents. Children are pragmatic; they do what works. They can sense guilt and indecisiveness and will push until you give in. Studies have shown that children of permissive parents are often low achievers and poor problem-solvers. Children may not like what you say to them all the time, but they feel safe and secure knowing what the rules are and what you expect of them.

The authoritative approach to parenting is somewhere between authoritarian and permissive. Parents encourage cooperation and teach reasoning by working together with their children to establish rules and responsibilities. The rules are clearly defined and enforced in an attitude of dignity and mutual respect. Children who are raised with clear guidelines and are encouraged to live with the consequences of their choices will be better able to think for themselves. They also tend to be more considerate of others and more independent than children raised in permissive or authoritarian homes.

We must commit ourselves to a positive approach to discipline — one that includes respect, clearly defined expectations and limits — so our children can develop the self-esteem and self-discipline we want them to have.

The end of an era

In early 1950, the Village of Dixon had a bad fire on its main street that left the town short one more retail business. The only piece of fire fighting equipment was a rotted, two-wheel, hand-pulled cart with some hose, dated 1927.

Due to unpaid taxes, low population or whatever, there was no money to spend on fire equipment. But something needed to be done to protect the citizens.

After much investigation, it was found that the City of Wakefield had purchased a new fire truck. Their old truck — a 1936 Ford — was now not needed and could be purchased. The amount needed was borrowed from Ed Dougherty and the purchase was made. The village fathers asked John Young to ride to Wakefield with them and drive the "first" fire truck back to Dixon.

A building was built by volunteer labor and cash donations to house the 1936 Ford. The truck served the community well, through snow storms and hot summers. When larger equipment was secured, the old 1936 Ford rested.

The City of Wakefield wanted to show their citizens how far they had progressed and wanted to get the old truck back. After much consideration, the village fathers decided to sell the truck back to its original owners. Again, John Young drove the truck.
