Council debates 'family'

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

A packed council room was on hand Tuesday night to listen to debate on the proposed ordinance to amend the definition of "family" in the Wayne zoning ordinance and hear of the proposed ratural gas rate of people who spoke against the or-dinance which had been amended at the last council meeting to limit to three the number of unrelated persons living in a single family dwelling.

Brian Kruse, an off-campus senafor on the Wayne State Student Se-nate told the council that the senate

"LIVING OFF-CAMPUS is . a part of life. Students are not going to move back into the dorms after they have fived off-campus,"

Kruse said, Paul Campbell, who owns sev eral rental properties in Wayne, told the council that he felt this was a bad ordinance.

We don't need an ordinance to kick tenants out who are not fol-lowing the rules, I have specific rules for my rental property and if I get calls in the middle of the night about my tenants, I will talk to

We have ordinances to deal with noise and parking and this ordinance will make the housing shortage in Wayne worse. I feel that we don't have accurate numbers and need to gather more information before we can proceed with this issue.

COUNCIL PERSON Verdel Luit stressed the council's concern about working families being able to afford housing in Wayne

"We are not out to kick anyone out of their house. If there are four people in a house and there are no problems, they won't get caught.
My concern is that if we raise the number to four, then there will be five people in the house and so Lutt said.

After discussion, the council voted 6-1 to amend the ordinance to read four or more unrelated persons living in a single dwelling or five or more related persons living as a traditional family. The ordinance will be up for aethird reading at a future meeting.

THE COUNCIL heard from City Administrator Joe Salitros on the proposal by Peoples Natural Gas to raise residential and commercial gas rates.

Tech Trek at Wayne

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

The Educational Service Units across Nebraska sponsored a special first-time event entitled Tech Trek Across Nebraska Feb. 5-8.

Stops were made at North Platte. Sydney and Hastings before the fi-nal stop in Wayne on Feb. 8 "The single goal of the project was to offer as many teachers and administrators as possible, within the span of one week, a representation of current technologies to use in the classroom and central office," said Dr. Dennis Jensen, Superintendent of Wayne Public Schools.

Over 125 school districts are members of the four ESU's in N.E.braska. However, turnout for the event was light.

THERE WERE many exciting and interesting presentations of-fered throughout the day with 22 staff members from Wayne Community Schools displaying their special talents and technological experiences," Jensen said.

There were 27 vendors in the gym demonstrating the latest technical advancements to help students, teachers and administrators improve performance

Debby Gunsolley of South Sioux City was one of those who visited the Virtual Reality display.

A Virtual Reality display attracted a great deal of attention. Other presentations included CUcceme, which is a low-cost alternative to accepted distange education options; computer sales companies representing local, regional and national firms; educational software businesses; library firms; CDROM educational software companies and a number of technology related businesses.

THE WAYNE Community School District was proud of the many presenters provided by the school for the Tech Fair," Dr. Jensen said

Presenters from the school included Sharyn Paige, Jill Klaver, Cathy Sump, Ted Blenderman, Sue Buryanek, Claudia Koeber, Fauncil Bennett, Dr. Dennis Jensen, Darla Munson, Joan Hansen (high school secretary), Lori Ruskamp, Joan Hanson (special education teacher), Mike Eckhoff, Trevor Schroeder, Dave Hix, Phyllis Trenhaile, Ellen Imdieke, Byron Heier and Judith

Wayne State College provided the services of Dennis Linster as a presenter on how to implement networks in small schools.

THE TOPICS offered by the local faculty and staff included: cost effective and efficient network models; the Voyage of the Mimi/The Great Ocean Rescue; enhancing the art experience with technology; special needs students and technology and administrators and the In-

Other topics included acusean and saving money with the school lunch program; desktop publishing; Industrial Technology demonstra-tions; accelerated reader project; instruction and management of a computer lab serving 180 students; the Ididirod Race of Alaska and teacher/media specialist partnerships in computing.
Tech Treck Across Nebraska will be an annual project with different hosting sites selected every year. The site for N.E.braska schools next year will be the Fremont School District.

"The Wayne Community School District was honored at being selected as an initial site," Dr. Jensen Anyone with questions concerning the tech across Nebraska for 1997 should contact ESU #1 in Wakefield.

Internet, grants topics at board meeting

Three bills, LB 1050, 349 and 1145, have been combined. One major aspect of the legislation would be to consider average income per capita for equalization. Under this proposal, the Wayne district would lose $76,00 in state aid because 19 more districts would be considered equalization districts.

DR. JENSEN also discussed three grant proposals that the school has applied to receive. The 1996-97 School to Work grant will be considerably different than this year's format. The district received $28,000 for this year but now single schools will no longer be accepted. Instead, Wayne High will work with Wayne State College, Northeast Community College and eight other districts

The district is also applying for an MCI grant which focuses on teacher and administrator, training. The grant asks for software for the math curriculum, equipment for feachers to take home over the summer and using Internet in classroom. The grant is valued at the gas company and the 94 cities served by Peoples met and negotiated what will amount to a two percent average increase in residential rates and approximately five percent increase for commercial users," Salitros said.

The total revenue generated by this increase will be approximately $2 million, which is down from the $4 million the company had originally requested.

Gas rates were last adjusted in

The council voted to approve the increase and waive the second and third readings of the ordinance.

THE COUNCIL voted to defer any action on involvement with WayNet, an interlocal agreement with Wayne Community Schools.

Council members voted to set public hearings on two proposals involved with bringing a dairy business to the Wayne area. Salitros told the council that a purchase agreement has been signed for land west of Wayne that is one mile outside of the Wayne zoning jurisdiction.

The dairy, originally based in California, would be for the production of milk and would be the largest of the three that have come to Nebraska.

SALITROS ALSO said the dairy would create 10-15 jobs, in cluding that of a full-time veterinarian. The business would use approximately $1.5 million worth of feed and pay $35-40,000 in taxes. The council voted to set a public hearing for amending the Wayne Revolving Loan Fund Plan and a hearing on the dairy's request for up to $98,000 in Revolving Fund to $98,000 in Revolving Fund monies. These hearings will be held on Tuesday, Fcb. 27.

Garry Poutre, head of the Wayne Electrical Distribution Department, asked council to approve the addition of a 40 foot basket truck to the city's fleet. He recommended keeping the city's present 55 foot truck which would allow for more versatility for city employees.

The council voted 7-0 to go ahead with the purchase.

Poutre also gave the council the annual report on electrical distribution for the city. He reported that the city had a number of outages in 1995, the majority of which were caused by high winds and ice on trees and lines.

The council also received a wate and wastewater report which indicated that the city used just over 300 million gallons of water in 1995. During 1995 the city treated more than 150 million gallons of

- The Providence Medical Center Foundation is very pleased to announce that charitable donations to our Foundation in the amount of $10,000 each, have recently been received in exchange for Charitable Gift Annuity Agreements. The Charitable Gift Annuity allows these Donors to guarantee future support for Providence Medical Center, while at the same time putting their own income needs first.

It is the wish of the benefactors that their names not be made public at this time and we are happy to honor that request.

One gift was made in the form of cash, and our Foundation has signed an Agreement to pay a fixed-rate income for as long as the donors both live. Their annuity rate will remain fixed, and will not change throughout their joint lifetime. The IRS allows the donors two nice tax advantages for making a charitable gift in this form. The first is a charitable contribution income tax deduction, and the second is that a large portion of the lifetime income we will pay them will be tax-free. PMC Foundation will keep the gift money invested during their lifetime to fund their income stream, and when the second of the donors is deceased, their gift money will be freed up to transfer from our Foundation to Providence Medical Center for its good work in providing healthcare services to the people of this region.

The second $10,000 Gift Annuity works just like the first, except this single / donor gains one additional tax advantage. She funded her Gift Annuity with appreciated securities, and she will avoid partial capital gain tax liability on this stock which has appreciated in value over the years she has owned it Donors find that their hearts as well as their minds guide them when they give through a Charitable Giff Annuity at the Providence Medical Center Foundation. They give their funds now, irrevocably, but retain a lifetime income interest, while gaining tax advantages at the same time. Upon their death, their gift money passes to our Hospital for its use in healing the sick. These kinds of charitable gifts strenthen the financial future for Providence Medical Center, thereby helping to insure that access to healthcare will be here for families today and tomorrow. Access is so important in healthcare. Physicians often speak of the "golden hour" ... that first hour of critical care in which the accessibility of healthcare is the patient's best friend.

So we thank our most recent Gift Annuity donors, who once again have demonstrated their compassion and support for our community. At Providence Medical Center, what we do best is care. What these individuals do best is share. The Providence Medical Center foundation expresses our sincere gratitude to them for remembering us in such a special way.

Perhaps it would pay you to look into what a Charitable Gift Annuity might do for you. Ask your attorney, banker or financial advisor, or call Sandy Bartling at the Foundation office in Wayne, 375-5529. She'll be glad to help you.

Write your staté senator

Dear Editor:

State of Nebraska statute (77-1605) allows for financial assistance to Veterans', their departments and widows to provide for food, shelter, wearing apparel, medical or surgical aid, or tuneral expenses for persons who served in the armed forces of the United States during a period of war (this includes WWI, WWII, Korea, Vietnam, Panama, Grenada, Lebanon and Persian Golf conflicts/.

On February 2, 1996 the Government, Military and Veteran's Affairs Committee of the Nebraska Legislature conducted a "hearing" to consider the merit of LB 1303 (which proposes to eliminate the 50 year old authority of the Veterans Service Committees to establish the amount of "Veterans" aid" needed and to shift that airthority to the County Boards).

It is apparently the opinion of many county boards and Senator Bud Robinson that there is either sufficient or too much money already available to help veterans and their families. According to Sen. Robinson, he has "never had a single veteran complain that their needs are not being met." Are there not veterans in need of financial assistance in Sen. Robinson's district. or are these veterans and their family members not aware of the County Veterans' Aid fund, or have you given up on being helped be-cause of the attitudes of the politicians of your district?

Sen. Robinson beheves that welfare, Medicaid, and the V. A. Medical Centers are the "answer all" to these veterans needs. How are the V.A. Hospitals meeting all the medical needs of you and your family? How many of you (or your veterans) have been financially destroyed by medical bills?

According to Sen. Robinson, this is either "not a problem" (because he personally does not come in contact with veterans that are not as comfortable finalicially as he is) or if it is a problem it should be dealt with in the "democratic way" (i.e. if your county is not funding the County Veteran's Aid fund adequately, every veteran and all of their family members should flood to board meeting rooms to exercise your "democratic right". should write and call Board members and the State Senators and tell them if their needs are being met and vote those politi-cians out of office that will not be is going to do "everything in his power to make sure that the County Board gains control of the estab-lishment of the County's Veterans'

The Veterans' service organizations say "Goodbye County Veteran's Aid if the County Boards gain control of the fund!"

In Buffalo County, the majorityof the Board of Supervisors say S 6000 per yearshould be enough. I told Sen. Robinson "If the county boards in counties the size of Buffalo believe $ 6000 meets the needs of all th eligible applicants. then those board members are not living in the same world I am.'

Please call and write your State Senator and Sen. Bud Robinson and your county board members and tell them if you or your veteran's needs are being met. Go to the county board meetings as often as you can and tell them who you think is "living in reality"! If you have already done this, do it again because they apparently can't hear you, so this time sound off about Veteran's Senator Robinson's number is (402) 471-2728.

Anti-gambling message sent

By Melvin Paul ehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - The earthquake felt in eastern Nebraska last week was more than just the shifting of underground faults.

State senators sent an anti-gambling rumble across the state by routing the armada of well-paid lobbyists that were trying to win approval of a statewide vote on expanding legalized gambling.

The vote was a shocking 36-9 to kill the pro-gambling resolution. One senator calculated that the gambling proponents were able to convince about one senator per two lobbyists to support the idea.

Gambling lobbyists are expected to be paid more than $400,000 this That, it now appears, is a pretty stiff price to see the casino gambling issue crash and burn for the second year in a row --- on first-round debate.

The death of the gambling issue opens up more room on an already crowded agenda for debate on several other interesting issues.

One issue that is emerging is whether the Legislature screwed up in allowing some state agencies to sell public records at a profit.

State Sen. Curt Bromm of Wahoo and some other senators think senators did drop the ball.

He has introduced Legislative Bill 1375 to prohibit state agencies from collecting fees for public records. The bill has already been advanced from a legislative committee to debate by all

The issue heated up last summer, when a Lincoln insurance company, Farmers Mutual, sued the state and the Nebraska Library Commission.

The company alleged that the commission improperly gave exclusive rights to a private computer on-line service, Nebraska Interactive, to sell public drivers license records for a profit. That was done without legislative approval, the suit said.

Farmers Mutual also objected that the fees charged for such records was increased from $2 to $3 per record without legislative approval. The new fee was exorbitant; the company said, and was raised only so the on-line service could make money.

I don't know about you, but it always ticks me off as a reporter when I'm asked to pay money to obtain a public record. Public officials are paid public dollars to maintain public records for the public. That is a big part of their ob. It is not to market such records for a profit.

Yet, in some state offices, you have to pay $1 per page to get a copy of a public record. Sure, we should pay the actual cost of making that copy, but $1 a copy? Get

The insurance company is making a similar argument. Previously, they got their motor vehicle records on computer tapes for $2 per record. They aren't too thrilled with the new-fangled computer service that clips them for $3 a record.

Two years ago, Sen. Don Preister of Omaha tried to raise concerns about making sure that the public had free computer access to legislative records. Unfortunately, other lawmakers didn't listen and Preis-ter's bill got buried in a study.

Several senators wished they'd listened now because the commission's contract with Nebraska Interactive has reportedly been extended until the year 2000.

That means that even if Sen. Bromm's bill passes, the Legislature may not be able to do anything to get correct this questionable deal. Someday, we'll be able to sit down at a computer and access every government record. The debate over LB 1375 may help decide whether we have to pay for that privilege or not.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska

Tracy Ankeny's basket at the buzzer of overtime number two gave Laurel-Concord (17-3) a 59-57 win over Hartington Cedar Catholic Tuesday night.

The Lady Bears led 4-2 after a defensive first quarter. The Lady Trojans jumped out to a 14-7 second quarter lead, but Laurel scored six of the quarter's last eight points to cut the halftime deficit to 16-13. LCHS went on a 7-1 run to open up the third quarter to take a 20-17 lead, but Cedar Catholic outscored the Lady Bears 11-4 the rest of the quarter to take a 28-24 lead into the fourth. Laurel took a 30-28 lead, but the Lady Trojans regained the lead 36-35 with just over a minute left. Cathy Mohr's free throw with 0:55 left tied the game and sent it into overtime.

Laurel led by four in the first overtime, but Cedar Catholic came back to tie the game with 0.08 left.

The Lady Bears led by as many as five in the second OT, but the Lady Trojans again rallied to tie the game at 55-55 with 0:34 left. Megan-Adkins hit a pair of free throws with 0:24 left to give Laurel a 57-55 lead. Cedar Catholic ucd it with 0:10 left before Ankeny's shot at the buzzer ended it.

"I'm very proud of the effort," said Head Coach Rick Petri, "Cedar Catholic is an outstanding young team and coach Joe Schroeder does a fine job in preparing his kids. Both teams gave 110 percent. We had some girls really step up and do a great job at the free throw line in pressure situations. Cathy Mohr was really outstanding in the overtime periods,"

Mohr scored a career high 15 points and nailed 11 of 16 from the line. Becky Schroeder added 14 points, 11 rebounds and sex blocked Baseball.

The Wayne State College baseball team swings into action on Saturday when they travel to Pittsburgh State of Kansas for a pair of weekend doubleheaders

Here's a look a how the the 1996

Wildcats shape up. Pitching Staff

Head Coach John Manganaro feels that the quality of the four or five starters on the team will make the pitching staff the strength of this year's team. Senior left-hander Joe Thompson (2-5, 5.08 ERA, 28 strikeouts) returns to anchor the starting rotation, while junior right-hander Nate Corman (2-6, 3.52 ERA, 30 strikeouts) compliments him on the other side of the mound.

"Joe went to a camp last fall," said Manganaro, "and he's drawn a lot of attention from scouts that work the midwest area. Nate has just improved tremendously from last year. He's pretty smart. He has a great curveball, changes speeds pretty well and he knows how to pitch. He knows what he's supposed to get done.

The Wildcats schedule is again tough, but Manganaro thinks the experience of last season's stiff schedule has helped his team.

"That will help us immensely," said Manganaro. "We fear no one. We can't wait to play Creighton and Nebraska. We don't have anything to fear because we've already experienced it. We played at North Alabama and Southern Colorado last year, two pretty darn good recognition for the regional playoffs because they're going to take one at-large team. If we can play like we're capable I think we'll have a shot this year.

The Wildcats main goal is to wash away the memories of a an 8-27 record last year.

"Everything that could go wrong, did go wrong last year," said Manganaro. "Our goal is to make up for last year, no matter what it

"It was just one of those days," said Head Coach Brian Kavanaugh, "We had a couple of disappointing races early on, which set the tone for the rest of the meet."

Among the bright spots was freshman Stefanic Senn's seventh place

"She went out a little too fast," said Kavanaugh, "but now she knows what to expect.

The girls responded very well to some adversity," said Head Coach Rick Petri. "Neligh's hot shooting in the first half had us down 13 at one point in the second quarter. A change in defenses and we picked up our intensity level on defense helped turn the tide. It was a total team effort."

Megan Adkins came off the bench to score a career high 17 points. She also dished out five assists and grabbed six rebounds, while Becky Schroeder and Alissa Krie each scored 14. Schroeder also added 11 rebounds.

Allen improved to 11-7 on Friday with a 67-38 win over Beemer. The Eagles led 16-5 after one-quarter, 33-17 after two, and 46-26 after three before putting the nail in the Bobcat's coffin by outscoring them 21-12 in the fourth.

"Our intensity level was great from start to finish," said Coach Lori Koester. "We can always count on 100 percent effort from our girls. With that kind of work ethic, we're excited about entering district tournament play and looking forward to some more great basketball."

Abbey Schroeder paced Allen with 19 points and six assists. Shanyn Moran added 18 points and eight rebounds, while Mindy Plueger had 13 points and cleared the glass of eight missed shots.

Wildcats finish first at districts

Winside kept the train on the track rolling to the district title, scoring 182 points to runner-up Creighton's 171.5 last weekend. Senior Josh Jaeger and sophomore Cory Brummel's led the Winside effort as Brummels upset Class D's No. 1 rated Matt Jenkinson of Creighton and Jacger dropped Joe Reilly of Cedar Rapids to claim tournament crowns.

The Wildcats qualified 10 of their 12 wrestlers for the state tournament this weekend and placed themselves imposition to make a run at winning some hardware in Lincoln.
"We are definitely on a roll right now," said Coach Paul Sok, "and I hope it doesn't stop until Saturday afternoon. The guys are on a mission and have their goals set high for the state meet. Every one of our 12 wrestlers contributed four or more points to the district total

Tradition rich Winside will be looking for their 23rd individual State Champion and third Team Championship. The Wildeats have 13 top three team finishes and have finished as one of the state's top 10 teams in 22-of the past 25 years

At this time I feel we have a very balanced team going into the state tournament," said Sok. "Our pairings look to be favorable and if the young men wrestle well we should come out in fine shape."

VILLAGE BOARD

The Allen Village Board members met Jan. 8 at the Village office. The board is planning to resurface the remainder of the village streets which were not done last year. Since Highway 9 is scheduled for resurfacing this year, it is anticipated that the board may be able to contract with the same company for less cost.

Plans are also being made to urface Ellis Avenue and the west half of Summit Drive in the Village Estates Housing Subdivision. The cost of the curb and gutter work will be assessed to the lot owners and the village would pay for the cost of blacktopping the streets.

Two positions on the Village Board will be voted on in the 1996 general election.

BB TOURNAMENT * A 3 on 3 basketball tournament, sponsored by the sophomore class will be held March 30 in the Allen school gym. Normal basketball rules will apply. RAISING RATES

The town of Dixon will soon be raising its water rates for their customers. This has become necessary due to the increased prices of state testing, $517 was spent in 1994 on testing and prices in 1995 for the same testing was $2,011. The increased rates will become effective

METHODIST WOMEN

A pledge service emitted "Seeds of Promise" was led by Donna Young at the United Methodist Women on Feb. 8. The program compared the UMW to a garden. Planting and cultivating are needed in order to receive a harvest. A song was sung by the group and scriptures were read.

After the program, each member opened a valentine from her secret prayer partner. Names were revealed and new names were drawn.

The business meeting was called order with prayer by the president, Wilma Eckert. members answered roll call with a scripture verse. A treasurer's report was given and bilts paid. New program books for 1996 were handed out. Martha Walton, Christian personhood coordinator, read a poem: Bonnie Hirchert, supportive community coordinator, passed out sheets with information on recycling for the bins in Concord.

It was decided to serve pie and ice cream again at the Dixon Celebration to be held sometime in August, Martha Walton asked each one to bring some broken article or vessel to the April meeting to be used as part of her prayer and selfdenial program.

Church Lenten services will be held on Wednesday evenings, alternating with Allen. The first service will be held Ash Wednesday, Feb. 21, in Allen.

Lunch was served by Pastor Nancy and Lois Ankeny BEST EVER CLUB

Dinslage-Ahmann wed in West Point

West Point, was the setting for the Jan. 5 wedding of Anne Heather Dinslage and Matthew Clark Ahmann. Father Steve Emanuel officiated the ceremony. LuAnn Ortmeier accompanied vocalists Jackie Quinn and Glenn Nemec. Rita Ahmann, aunt of the groom was the lector. Eucharistic Ministers were Kara Gittings and Jennifer Even. The eucharistic gifts were carried by Toby, Stephanie, and Abbie Fryermuth

Parents of the couple are Dennis and Agnes Dinslage of West Point and Leo and Candace Ahmann of Wayne

The bride wore a candlelight satin gown fitted straight to the floor. Pearls embellished the off the shoulder neckline and the long tapered sleeves. The detachable semicathedral length train was trimmed with pearls and lace appliques. She carried a hand cluster of osiana roses tied together with a lace handkerchief that belonged to her Grandma Dinslage and a rosary that belonged to her Grandma Renner.

Jody Dinslage, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Crissy Leighton, sister of the groom, Dara Kaup and Cheryl Volck.

The bridesmaids wore off the shoulder forest green velvet dresses that fell above the knee. Each carried a hand-tied nosegay of white carnations, alstroemeria, and an osiana rose. Personal attendant to the bride were Angie Bracht.

Leo. Ahmann, father of the $groom_{\tau}$ was the best man. Groomsmen were John Dinslage. brother of the bride, Jason Even and Chris Micinski. Ushers were Tyler Gentrup, cousin of the bride, and Paul Priester.

Self-worth is evaluated on intelligence

Q. What part does intelligence play in the self-esteem of adults?

A. It has been said that "a boy is the father of the man," meaning we "grown-ups" are direct products of our own childhood. Thus, everything I have written about selfesteem in children applies to adults as well. We are all graduates of the educational "fail factory," and few have escaped completely unscathed Furthermore, our self-worth is still being evaluated on the basis of intel-

Dr. Richard Herrnstein, a Harvard University psychologist, predicts that a caste system founded on IQ is coming to America. He believes people will soon be locked into rigid intellectual classes that will determine careers, earning power and social status. Dr. Herrnstein's expectation is based on the disintegration of racial and sexual barriers to success, teaving only intelligence as the major remaining source of discrimination.

WAYNE, NE 68787

I don't agree fully with Dr. Herrnstein, although I am certain we will see the continuing importance of mental ability to self-esteem in our technological world.

Q. 1 have suffered from low self-esteem for years, so I sought help from a psychiatrist during a particularly depressed period of my life, Rather than building my self-worth, however, he was cold and aloof with me. I had the feeling he was merely doing a job and never really cared about me. How would you approach a patient with my kind of problem? of problem?

A. It has been discouraging for me to see how often my professional colleagues (psychiatrists, psychologists and counselors) have overlooked the feelings you described as a most obvious root cause for emotional distress. Lack of self-esteem produces more symptoms of psychiatric disordets than any other factor yet identified.

Time and time again in my casework as a psychologist, I sat talking to a person with deep longings to be respected and accepted. How badly he needed human affection and kindness, as well as emotional support and suggestions for change. Yet if that same needy patient had gone to Dr. Sigmund Freud in his day, the immortal grandfather of psychoanalysis would have sat back in detached professionalism, analyzing the patient's sexual repressions.

If the patient had sought treatment from Dr. Arthur Janov, originator of Primal Scream therapy, he would have been encouraged to roll on the floor and bawl like a baby. Other modern therapists would have required the same patient to assault and be assaulted by other members of an "encounter group," or remove his clothing in a group.

Believe it or not, one of the major areas of controversy at psychiatric conferences a few years ago involved the wisdom of female patients having sexual intercourse with their male therapists! Have we gone completely mad? Whenever men abandon their ethics, they cease to make sense, regardless of their professional degrees and licenses.

The most successful approach to therapy for a broken patient, I firmly believe, is to convey the following message with conviction: "Life has been tough, and you have become acquainted with pain. To this point, you've faced your problems without much human support, and there have been times when your despair has been overwhelming. Let me now share that burden. From this moment forward, I am interested in you as a person; you deserve and shall have my respect. As best as possible, I want you to quit worrying about your troubles. Instead, confide them to me. Our concentration will be on the present and the future; together we will seek appropriate solutions,

Suddenly, the beleaguered patient no longer feels alone-the most depressing of human experiences, "Someone cares! Someone understands! Someone assures me with professional confidence that he is certain I will survive. I'm not going to drown in this sea of despondence, as I feared. I have been thrown a life preserver by a friend who promises not to abandon me in the storm."

Addiction to work can be deadly In today's society, almost any addiction is considered harmful.

From alcohol and drugs to exercise, addictions bring negative images to mind. A notable exception to this Single-minded dedication to job — even to the exchalon of most everything else — has long been viewed as a mature, responsible and admirable trait.

But work addition is not a laudable condition. It doesn't mean higher production or higher morale. Instead, it can lead to failed relationships, poor health and emo-tional and spiritual bankruptey. fronteally, work addiction can even undermine the work itself. The addict's struggle for control, marked by a failure-to delegate responsibility and give due credit to others, can weaken teamwork and cause resentment among co-workers.

In her book, "Working Ourselves to Death," management consultant Diane Fassel identifies three stages of work addiction; early middle and late.

In the early stage, the work addict is consistently busy, often taking on more than reasonably can be spected. In this stage, the addict thinks about work all the time, is a compulsive—list-maker, works overtime regularly and refuses to take days off

As the addiction moves to the middle stage, other addictions also may increase. In addition, the addict begins to put aside personal rela-tionships and subjugates his or her social life to-work, In this stage. the work addict becomes increassigns of addiction or blackouts and Cooperative Extension Lynda ckshank Wayne periods of lethargy. Attempts to change at this point usually fail.

In the late stage, the physical problems that began earlier become more serious. The work addict may develop chronic headaches, back-aches, high blood pressure, ulcers and depression. Serious medical problems such as stroke or heart attacks can occur, leading to hospitalization, which may scare the addict into making a life change.

tion, work addiction is a difficult habit to kick. Work addicts who try to change often relapse and need encouragement and support to try

If approached correctly, work, for some people, goes beyond just a paycheck - it can be an avenue for ychological development and fulfillment! But to put work in the right perspective, it is necessary to establish a balance. To do this, priorities must be identified and pursued. This requires seeking and accepting support from family, friends and co-workers.

It also requires learning how to take care of oneself, Learning how to relax, exercise properly and take care of personal needs is a vital step in achieving a balance between work and everything else

Establishing this balance may even enhance the work itself.

WOMENS CLUB

The Carroll Womens Club met Feb. 8 at the St. Paul Lutheran Church social groom. Beverly Hansen, president, opened the meeting with the flag salute.

Nincteen members answered roll call, Minutes and treasurer reports were read and approved. Correspondence was read. Margaret Kenny reported that she had ordered the daffodils and everyone will pay for the ones ordered at the next meeting. It was decided to have a white elephant sale at the March meeting. Sue Gilmore sent pictures of the 1995 Spring Fea and the Wayne Care Centre Christmas party to be put in the scrapbook.

The club sang "Loves Old Sweet Song" and "The Quilting Party", led by Dorrine Liedman and accompanied by Dorothy Rees.

Beverly Hansen and Dorring Liedman presented a program about quilts. Dorring read the poem, "The Quilt." They both displayed quilts they had made and gave some helpful hints on making them.

A homemade Valentine exchange was held. Lunch was served by Edith Cook and Joyce Sandahl.

Prayer service to be held in Omaha

Three spiritual leaders of Nebraska's Roman Catholic, Lutheran and Episcopal denominations will join in an ecumenical prayer service this

Anecdote shared by friend

'Don't cry over things that can cry over you

On Friday, the ninth, the temperature was 90° warmer than the Friday before! Doesn't seem possible. The wind is really blowing today. I gave up trying to hang sheets em.

The Chicken Soup for the Soul cookbook has an anecdote about a woman whose mother wore a silver Navajo concho belt every day When she died, it was passed on to the woman. It had given the woman great comfort. And when it was stolen, it had caused her much grief. When she shared her sorrow with another Native American, she heard, "Remember, the true gift you were given was things of the spirit. Don't ever cry over things that can't cry over you."

What insight. In the past month,

I have visited with two women who regretted the way their parents' be-deaths. I was amazed at the hard feelings it had caused among siblings was reminded of another poem by Rae Turnbull:

Life is a journey, wise men say. And when we come closer to its end, we give more thought to how our travel time was spent.

It becomes clearer every day, that we'll leave with only what we had with us when we came, except for the memories..

Those we own.

And gradually we begin to see the material things that we have gained, or any money we may have made, matter much less than the love of those few good friends who traveled with us along the way.

Happy Valentine's Day! And re-member not to cry over things that can't cry over you.

ZION LUTHERAN

LADIES AID-LWML Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid-LWML held its annual family potluck dinner Feb. 4 with 11 members, Pastor Cage and nine guests attending. Christian growth devotion, "Beginning" was given by Donna Mae Kruger.

Joyce Saegebarth, president, conducted the meeting. For roll call, members paid dues and 10 cents to the Penny Pot and named a hymn with the word "Love" in it.

The secretary and treasurer re ports were given. The card committee reported sending one cheer card in January, Correspon-

The president reported on the LWML executive board meeting she attended in January. The local society will host the LWML spring rally on April 9. The theme will be Focus on God's Design." Bernice Luebe and Iva Robinson were named the kitchen committee. Aid officers will meet to finalize plans for the rally.

"Home medicine chest kits" are to be assembled by all LWML Societies, to be given to the Ingathering mission service as a project for LWML district convention to, be held at the Ramada Inn in Norfolk on June 21 and 22. Kits will be sent to Ethiopia via the Orphan Grain Train.

Serving on the Altar Guild on Feb. 4 were Elaine Ehlers and So-phic Eldhart and on March 3 will be Inez Freeman and Delma Vyhlidal.

Dear Reader:

Please join us in the ex want to take this opportunity to invite more of you to join the growing number of informed Wayne Herald readers. And we want to thank our valued long time readers. If you subscribe or extend votor subscription during our special offer you can enjoy the next 52 weekly issues of the newspaper delivered to your home at a savings of $16 off the newsstand price!

Plus! Accept our special discount offer now and we will enter your name in our super Wayn grocery shopping spree sweepstakes. In this free drawing, you'll be eligible for $500 in GROCER-IES at a Wayne supermarket of your choice - $250 for first prize; $150 for second, and $100 for third. Think of the spread you could lay out for your family with free groceries!

A subscription to The Wayne Herald will never be cheaper. The rates went up January 1, 1996. Newsprint costs continue to increase, mailing and distribution hikes, and other expense increases force us to increase subscriptions to $25 per year locally (up from $20). But you can lock in your local subscription now for only $22. That's $3 off the new regular price and A WHOPPING 41 PER-CENT OFF the newsstand price. See the enclosed sweepstakes entry form for additional savings on longer term subscriptions and out of area deliveries. You can send a check or use the convenient credit card order form. This offer expires February 16, 1996.

This offer is our way of saying "thanks" for your support. We pledge to continue to continue to provide the best in award winning local news and features about your neighbors, advertised specials, sports coverage, editorial discussion, community service and more. We are excited about the improvements and conditions in Northeast Nebraska and we want to be a vibrant part of the area's positive future.

COMMUNITY CHOIR

A Wakefield area community choir began practicing on an Easter Cantata "Embrace The Cross" on Feb. 4 at the Christian Church. Contact Deb Nicholson at 287-9937 for further information.

GEOGRAPHY BEE

Joseph Nelson, a Wakefield sixth grader, was the winner of the Geography Bee recently held at the school. Melissa Surface was the second place winner and third was Traci Lueth. The girls are both seventh graders.

The students qualified for the bee by taking a written test. Fourth through eighth grades were eligible. The next step for Nelson is to take a written exam, which will be entered in state competition. The top 100 scores in the state will advance to the state bee.

The contest is sponsored by the National Geographic Society. Locally, the Nebraska State Bank furnished prizes and Val Bard served as moderator.

Grade winners included Joe Olsufka, fourth; Katie Davis, fifth; Joseph Nelson, sixth; Josh Henderseventh; and Melissa Hansen, eighth. Also qualifying for the bee were Frank Holm, sixth grader; Brian Boeckenhauer, Melissa Surface and Traci Lucth, seventh graders; and Maggie Brownell, eighth grader.

SEEKS INPUT

The Wakefield school facility needs committee is in the process of reorganizing. The committee met Feb. 5 with two board of education members and two school administrators to discuss future plans that will address the school needs.

Members of the committee felt that they should begin at the beginning and first take another look at the needs and priorities. In order to do this they would like input from district patrons and expand the committee to include more people.

Committee members will be inviting people to serve and also have extended an open invitation to anyone interested or with concerns and ideas to feel welcome to attend the next meeting. Anyone interested is asked to contact Supt. Derwin Hartman or principal Jeanne Sur-

The next facility needs meeting has been set for Monday, Feb. 26 at 8 p.m. at the high school library.

The contract with Northeast Nebryska Juvenie Services, Inc. was once again discussed. No action was taken.

Redistricting the Commissioner voting districts to enable the voting districts to more closely correspond with the road maintehance districts was discussed. Nissen expressed concerns in Hoskins precinct. Discrepancies in Plum Creek, and Stratan precincts were also discussed. Redistricting after the 2000 census was considered. Dangberg acknowledged some problems existed in certain precincts, but as no viable solution is apparentingly now he moved no change should be made. The motion was seconded by Nissen, roll cull vote: all layes, no nays.
