Board is presented proposal

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners heard of a proposal to construct a building to deal with courthouse accessibility concerns.

Commissioner Dennis Dangberg presented the board with plans that would involve constructing a building to house the court room and several offices, eliminating the need to use the third floor of the present courthouse.

"This plan is an alternative to an elevator in the courthouse. It may have some merit and it may not, but I feel we need to have something else to look at before making a decision about the elevator," Dangberg said.

Dangberg said the commissioners had started with a $30,000 slide chair to make the courthouse accessible and comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act and had worked up to a nearly $300,000 elevator installation/renovation project.

Estimates from three contractors for the building project have been under $50 a square foot for a total project cost of less than $250,000.

A number of county officials were on hand at the meeting to ask questions and raise concerns.

No action was taken on the proposal.

The commissioners discussed the possibility of constructing a parking lot on the south side of the courthouse but no decision was made on the issue.

In other business, the board adopted a resolution authorizing the County Commissioners to contract beyond their normal commissioner duties at $6.47 per hour with a maximum of $2,000 per year.

Bids for liability/Comprehensive and health insurance were given to Warnemunde Insurance and First National Agency, respectively.

Commissioners rejected bids for the sale of a 1964 IHC 706 tractor and will re-advertise for its sale with a loader.

A number of transfers were made between funds to complete the county's fiscal year.

Tunnel vision

What appears to be an abstract art design or complicated sculpture is actually a large pile of pipes that will be used in the construction of the new dairy four miles west of Wayne. The pipes will be placed in the milking parlor to be constructed. The cows are expected to be brought in late this fall.

Wayne Runza has a new manager

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Jon Murray likes the size and friendliness of Wayne.

As the new manager of Runza®, Murray has met a number of Wayne residents since he began his duties here June 1.

Murray does not plan any major changes in the Wayne restaurant.

"There needs to be a little fine tuning in some areas and I hope to increase sales, but there won't be any big changes," he said.

Murray, a Columbus native, has been with Runza® for nine years and moved to Wayne from Lincoln.

Murray, his wife, Kari and their 11 month-old daughter Kayla have purchased a home in Wayne and plan to get involved in community activities.

Kari will be attending Wayne State this fall to finish her degree in elementary education/special education.

The Runza® chain currently has 63 stores, mainly in Nebraska. The Lincoln based company was started in 1949 with a $500 investment.

In the 1970's Runzas, which are a mixture of ground beef, cabbage, onions and special spices baked inside homemade bread, were sold at Nebraska Cornhusker football games.

At the Wayne restaurant, between 70 and 100 Runzas are made daily.

In addition, Murray said he has had orders for frozen runzas that customers wish to take to relatives when traveling throughout the United States.

Runza also offers, burgers, chicken and salads, as well as hand-dipped onion rings.

Also popular with the younger customers is the Arctic Blast, a frozen drink that is available in lemon-aid and cherry flavors.

The Wayne restaurant works closely with Wayne Elementary School and Wayne State College in a number of activities.

Jon Murray, the new manager at Runza, checks the freshly made runza sandwiches before they are baked.

"We offer a summer reading incentive program for elementary students where they earn free Runza® products according to the number of books they read."

"During the basketball season, those purchasing tickets to WSC games can receive free products at our store. We are also a sponsor on the Wayne High School Bargain Card," Murray said.

The Runza® store employs 10 people and Murray said "everyone knows each other and they have been a really good group to work with."

"Runza® is popular with people of all ages, from kids to older people. We offer a 15 percent discount to seniors and four Kids Meals for children, so there is something for everyone," Murray added.

Heritage Days events are being planned for Wakefield

Plans are being finalized for the Heritage Days Celebration to be held June 22-23 in Wakefield.

The event is being held to celebrate Wakefield's 115th anniversary.

Beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday and running throughout the day will be a Memorabilia Display at the Legion Hall.

A grand parade of pre-WWII era entries will be held at 10 a.m. at Main and Third Streets.

An omelet feed will begin at 11 a.m. at the Firehall. Charge for the feed is $1.

Throughout the afternoon a number of crafters will be displaying their skills including basket weaving, corn shelling and grading, leather crafts, quilting, woodcarving and working wheel wright/buggy restoration.

A melodrama will be presented at 1:30 and 3 p.m. at the Little Red Hen Theatre.

A wooden bat tournament will be held both Saturday and Sunday.

Brown's Arena will be the site of 2 Wild Events Bullriding at 8 p.m. on Saturday.

The final Saturday event will be a street dance featuring Aces High.

A community church service will be held at 8 a.m. at the park. The Community Choir will provide music.

Jackpot roping will begin at 2 p.m. at Brown's Arena.

New speed limits are announced

A number of changes in the state speed limit were approved by the Nebraska State Legislature and are now law.

Effective June 1, the speed limit on freeways was increased from 65 miles per hour to 75 mph. The law involves all freeways except in Douglas County, Interstate 129 in Dakota County and Interstate 180 in Lancaster County where the speed limit is now 60 mph.

There was no change in the 40 mph minimum speed limit on the interstate.

Also, effective June 1, the speed limit on four-lane state highways or expressways was increased from 55 mph to 65 mph.

Beginning Sept. 1 the speed limit on two-lane highways or expressways will be increased from 55 mph to 60 mph, except where the Department of Road would raise the limit to 65 mph on roads where design and traffic allow.

As part of LB 901, new fines for exceeding the limits went into effect June 1. They include: $10 for one to five mph; $25 for six to 10 mph; $75 for 11 to 15 mph; $125 for 16 to 20 mph and $200 for 21 or more mph over the limits.

Burglaries investigated

A burglary and an attempted burglary are being investigated by the Wayne Police Department.

Wayne Grain and Feed reported that sometime after 12:30 p.m. on Saturday someone broke a window with a rock and entered the building.

A small amount of petty cash was taken.

Fletcher Farm Service reported that sometime after Saturday someone broke out a window with a rock. Nothing appears to have been taken.

There are no suspects in the cases, which appear to be similar. The investigation continues.

Four awards are presented to students for case studies

The Nebraska Business Development Center's Small Business Institute has presented awards to four Wayne State College students involved in the preparing case studies for area small businesses.

The undergraduate case of the year honors were awarded to Derek Christiansen and Donna Verschoot, both of Omaha. Their award winning case report involved a computer analysis, recommendation and set up for a small business in the area.

Their faculty advisor was Tim Garvin.

Winning honors for the graduate case of the year was the team of David R. Schipporeit and William Gustafsson, both of Norfolk.

They were also advised by Garvin and their case involved preparing a layout analysis and recommendations for an area manufacturing plant.

The Small Business Institute program is offered to upper-level students at colleges around the state. Students work with businesses to help solve problems in a variety of areas.

"Students in turn receive college credit and valuable real-life experiences while proving expertise to businesses at low or no cost," said Peg Schlichtemeier, Wayne State's SBI director.

Human sculpture

Students strike a pose and create a human sculpture as part of F.U.N. camp activities at Wayne State College. The camp is open to students in grades 5-8 and offers the campers the opportunity for creative learning not ordinarily possible in the regular classroom. The week will conclude with a dinner and program on Friday evening. The students above are part of Julie Burney's Creative Theatre class. Cyndi Swartz is the director of the camp which has 110 campers this year.

Schneider is named new director-curator at John G. Neihardt Center in Bancroft

John Schneider, former head of the Department of Religion at Calvin College in Michigan, has been appointed by the Neihardt Foundation to the position of director-curator at the John G. Neihardt Center in Bancroft.

John Schneider

Dr. Schneider assumed his duties on June 1 and replaces Lori Utecht of Wakefield, who had directed the activities of the Center for the past six years. Mrs. Utecht resigned in order to have adequate time for her Neihardt-related doctoral studies at UNL, for writing and for teaching at Wayne State College.

The principal speaker at the annual spring conference held in April at the Neihardt Center, Schneider has for a number of years been interested in the works of Nebraska's poet laureate, and he has devoted considerable research to the philosophical and religious concepts expressed in Neihardt's writings.

A native Nebraskan from York, Schneider and his wife, the former Winona Peterson of Wayne, are happy to return. "It seems that we have come full circle," Dr. Schneider remarked, "and we are glad to be here again. We look forward to helping the Neihardt Center continue to be a living voice that speaks to people within the context of Nebraska."

The Schneiders have two sons, Sol, 14 and Tom, 11. They will be moving soon to Nebraska.

Orientation is held at Northeast Community College for fall

A number of area students participated in orientation/registration activities at Northeast Community College in preparation for the upcoming fall semester.

Those in the diesel technology program include Brian Nelson of Wayne and Jason Koepke of Hoskins.

Students are inducted into honor society

Ten students at Wayne State College were inducted into the Wayne State College chapter of kappa Delta Pi International Honor Society in Education.

They are: Candra Guenther, West Point; Jennifer Brockman, Norfolk; Joyce Lehn, Niobrara; Jill Klaver, Wayne; Amy Altman, Wisner; Pamela Vogle, Omaha; Sally Jo McCallum, Norfolk; Marlene Uhing, Wayne; Kristine K. Svehle, Clarkson and Carrie Hansen, Wayne.

Students considered for induction in the WSC chapter must maintain at least a 3.9 grade point average on a 4.0 scale and exhibit educational leadership traits.

"These students exhibit the scholarship, service and fidelity to humanity that are the basic ideals of the honor society," said Dr. Frank Adams, counselor for the WSC chapter.

Those attending the automotive technology program were Nathan Simpson of Wayne and Scott Fredrickson of Carroll.

Those in the auto body technology program include Joshua Swanson and Jon Pick of Wayne and Jesse Swanson of Laurel.

Architectural drafting students attending orientation were Christopher Glassmeyer of Wayne and Kyle Macklin and Steven Keil, both of Laurel.

Nichole Deck of Winside participated in the early childhood program orientation.

Local DAV holds meeting

The Disabled American Veterans, Wayne County Chapter #28, met Tuesday, June 11. They opened with a 6:30 p.m. dinner at Geno's Steakhouse.

Special guests were Department Commander Douglas Meeks and his wife and past Department Commander Donald Gallagher and his wife, all of Bellevue. Each reported on the most recent changes in Veterans benefits and the most recent member program.

Chapter Commander Elmer Wachter reported on the food cart that he and Adjutant Chris Bargholz presented to the members of the Norfolk Veterans Home. Norfolk Veterans Home volunteer service coordinator Virginia Grim offer many thanks for the gift.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

"On the road again! dum de dum de dum" Willy Nelson has nothing on us! Now that the Western books are all integrated with fiction, the empty space left just clamored to be filled. So, the Large Print books are on the road and have traveled to that empty space. We needed more room in the Large Print section to comfortably shelve those new Eagles Auxiliary acquisitions. They will be more accessible and easier to find in their new home. Well, we have to qualify what we have just written. All non-fiction and fiction LP's have been moved. The mysteries, westerns and humor books are still in the old LP section where they will remain until they, too, are relabeled and settled into LP fiction.

When you come into the library, do you stop to see the free brochures displayed on the counter where books are returned? We want to remind you that those may be yours without even asking! One new booklet from the Division of Travel and Tourism of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development will give you lots of vacation ideas. The 1996 Nebraska Catalog of Events lists dates and places for all sorts of celebrations, fairs and activities throughout Nebraska. (Wayne Chicken Days is prominently listed). The United States Department of Education has sent us a packet of information of a national initiative to improve reading and writing skills of children from pre-school to sixth grade. The program is entitled READ*WRITE*NOW! All materials needed for your participation in the program are included in the packet.

We sometimes hear requests that go something like this. "I have read all of Danielle Steel's books. Can you recommend another author who writes books like Steel?" Well, you came to the right place. Yes, we can. If you like books written by Danielle Steel, you might find Elizabeth Cadell, Janet Dailey, Anne McCaffrey, Grace Livingston Hill or Dorothy Eden to your liking. If you read Jackie Collins, Judith Krantz or Sidney Sheldon, you might find these authors interesting: Shirley Conran, Judith Michael or Jacqueline Briskin. If you like Mary Higgins Clark, Susan Howatch or Barbara Michaels, Mary Stewart, Phyllis A. Whitney, Norah Lofis, Helen MacInnes, Madeleine Brent or Evelyn Anthony. If you like Barbara Taylor Bradford or John Jakes, you might try Philippa Carr, Howard Fast, Jacqueline Briskin, Catherine Cookson or Janet Dailey. And if you are Stephen King addicts, try Dean Koontz, Marlys Millhiser, Michael Palmer, Whitley Streiber or V.C. Andrews. Lots of good reading from these authors.

One more word about our road show. Soon Young People's books will be occupying space left by the Large Print Books. No empty shelf goes to waste in your library!

Library hours are Monday-Friday, noon to 8 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. No Sunday hours during the summer.

UNK announces spring deans list

The University of Nebraska at Kearney recently announced the names of students who have earned a place on the Deans' List for the spring 1996 semester.

"Students whose names appear on the list have demonstrated superior academic achievement," said Dr. Michael Schuyler, dean of the college of Natural and Social Sciences. "The award is given to recognize the development of the student's intellectual skills, and the discipline and work habits that are necessary to excel in the classroom."

Post chosen as host

Amy Post, Wayne, is one of only five students at Wayne State College who were chosen to serve as summer registration hosts to work with new students and their families during registration activities.

Post is a sophomore majoring in chemistry with a minor in biology. She is the daughter of Terri and Larry Post, Naponee. While in college she has been involved in Alpha Lambda Delta national honor society, has worked part time as a dental assistant and has been on the honor roll.

As part of the summer registration host team, Post is responsible for welcoming new students and their families, answering their questions, leading informative small-group sessions, performing informational skits and giving campus tours. When not working as a campus ambassador, Post also

Student earns scholarship

Chris Janke of Winside is the first recipient of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Wayne annual scholarship to continue his education at Wayne State College.

The senior majoring in secondary education is a 1991 graduate of Wayne High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Janke of Winside. While in college he has served as vice-president of the Economics Forum and has served as a coach's aid for the Wayne High wrestling team.

Farmers and Merchants State Bank in Wayne established the scholarship program this spring for students who have graduated from Wayne High and have earned at least 60 semester credit hours while majoring in business at WSC. The $500 scholarship is available for both traditional and non-traditional students who have maintained at least a 2.7 grade point average on their college coursework.

Service Station

Marine Staff Sgt. Lenard Hayford, son of Lenard Hayford Sr. of rural Hoskins, has returned to Camp Pendleton, Calif., after completing a six-month deployment to the Persian Gulf with the ground combat element of the 15th Marine Expeditionary Unit (15th MEU) as part of the USS Peleliu Amphibious Ready Group (ARG).

Hayford is one of nearly 2,000 Marines embarked aboard the three-ship ARG, which includes the amphibious assault ship USS Peleliu, the amphibious transport dock USS Denver and the dock landing ship USS Anchorage.

While on deployment, Hayford and fellow Marines and Sailors participated in several multinational exercises with forces from Kuwait, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates, which included landing Marines ashore.

The 1986 graduate of Bon Homme High School of Tyndall, S.D., joined the Marine Corps in July 1986.

City and sounds

Officials in charge of making plans for the new juvenile detention center met again recently. Architectural plans are drawn. Accommodating about 34 youths, the new building is to be constructed on an 8.2 acre site north of the Restful Knights at the east edge of Wayne.

About 14 court entities will be able to use the center for young offenders. The public wishes such institutions were not a necessity, but they are, and mandated by law, as juveniles cannot be held in adult jails.

Wayne's geographical location is advantageous to the participating counties. Beginning construction is planned for Fall. Another sign that our city continues its diversified expansion in providing services to Northeast Nebraskans.

A report from a neighbor on North Sherman advises a resident recently woke up the neighborhood at 6:30 a.m. by mowing her lawn. Day sleepers didn't seem to appreciate it much. So in order to be good neighbors, maybe residents should wait until after 8:00 a.m. before firing up those grass cutters. Rodney King said it, "Can't we all just get along?". Noise complaints usually center around loud parties, barking dogs, tires squealing, and loud mufflers. Now add a loud lawn mower at sunrise.

Sounds of construction echo across town. Sounds that are good for the economy. Workers are getting the foundation in for the new Library/Senior Citizen building. Logan Street replacement provides onlookers a chance to see how it's done. Completion of the new airport runway is nearing. New housing going up. County commissioners are examining the possibility of adding on to the courthouse. Great growing pains!

Accessing the Internet, by enrolling in a WayNET education class at the local high school, is proving popular. Area residents online are discovering new adventures in studying items of interest on databases scattered world wide. In other news this week, plans for making college courses available online are in the making. Higher education may rise even higher when classes are delivered by satellite.

Commission is in trouble again

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Sometimes, wierd situations just get wierder and wierder.

Take the Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission, for instance.

Last year, we suffered through a summer-long battle over the resignation of their embattled director, Larry Myers.

First he resigned and the commission agreed to pay him $37,000 in severance pay. Then the deal was off, then it was back on again, then he went to court.

Myers finally quit—without the severance pay—but it was like watching a ping-pong match that never ended and had no winner.

This year, that wacky state agency—which is supposed to resolve complaints about sexual, racial and age discrimination—is at it again.

Only this time, they can't seem to keep an executive director on the job.

Roberta Stick submitted her resignation recently, barely four months after taking the helm of the crippled agency that has become well known for huge backlogs of complaints and personnel wars.

Then last week, the chairwoman of their appointed governing board, Deb Gilg of Paxton, quit in disgust, calling the agency "dysfunctional" and chiding fellow board members for failing to support Stick when she really needed it.

The direction of the Equal Opportunity Commission was plenty strange last summer. It's even stranger now.

Stick, a former Legal Aid lawyer, and Gilg, a sharp county attorney out of Keith County, were brought in to try and straighten out the mess at the agency.

Their resignations leave things even more unsettled.

Insiders say Stick was forced out because she was a white female running an agency some see as the defender of minorities.

Some people, which reportedly include LaVon Stennis, the former chairwoman of the Equal Opportunity Commission, felt the job should have gone to an African-American.

State Sen. Ernie Chambers of Omaha, the state's only nonwhite legislator, put it more diplomatically. He said the agency was created to protect against racial discrimination and it needs to understand the concerns of black people.

Gilg saw it otherwise. She said the NEOC should be an advocate for all persons who face disaffirmation.

"It is not an exclusive agency for one group or another" she said.

That stand put her in conflict with Stennis and others inside and outside the commission. The Omaha chapter of the NAACP was among those complaining about Stick and the revamping work that was underway.

Stick and Gilg finally decided it wasn't worth the trouble.

Gov. Nelson, who had appointed Gilg, accepted her resignation with regret. Nelson, who tried unsuccessfully to revamp the agency through the Legislature, said he sympathized with her concerns.

What's so bizarre here is that the chief of the state agency set up to guard against discrimination quits because of pressures caused because she is the wrong sex and wrong race.

Meanwhile, while all this infighting is going on, the agency is distracted from doing its real job. No wonder people question whether government can accomplish anything.

Gilg said the only way to get the agency back on its feet was for the Legislature to enact Nelson's plan to make the Equal Opportunity Commission a code agency under the governor's control.

That seems like a drastic step. Such an agency should probably be insulated from the politics associated with the governor's office. But nothing, it seems, could be worse than the situation now at the NEO.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Flag Day observance

Sons, guns and jaw bones

"Dad? Can we talk?"

Sure.

"We've hunted and had so much fun, I'm wondering if you would buy me a gun like yours? Be more fun if I had my own!"

Possibly. You're 13 and need to learn the responsibility sometime. What causes you to ask right now?

"My birthday and several things. At the gun show last week, I saw all the rifles, and all those dads buying. I guess it's sort of a guy thing."

Guns have been important in world history, but a gun is a killing device, you know. Nothing to just play around with.

"I don't want to kill anybody! But they killed in the Bible. Moses killed a man, and David was a teenager when he killed Goliath.

What I really wish I had was Samson's biceps!"

Did you learn that in Sunday School?

"Sure! And how Joshua fit the battle of Jericho! He didn't just sit in the church choir and sing "peace on earth"! He was a real man!"

A real man?

"Yeah, dad, like Samson and David! Uncle Bob has told me lots of stories about some of the stuff he did in Vietnam too. And in movies the law chases the bad guys with guns! I'll bet there has to be over 4,000 bad guys buried in Dodge City! Shot by the sheriff! FBI agents, they've all got guns! They convinced the Freeman!"

Son, there is a big difference between the way guns are used in movies and television, and their purpose in real life. If we buy you a gun, it will have to be registered.

"Back in the Bible times, do you suppose David had to register his slingshot, and Samson his muscles? Those dirty Romans crucified Jesus, and I'll bet they didn't register their hammer and nails!"

I'm sure you're right, and on the western frontier I'm sure there was no requirement to register bows and arrows.

"Dad, do you suppose registration would have lessened all the killing?"

Good question. Registering guns doesn't seem to keep criminals from using them.

"In the book of Judges, Samson said he killed 1,000 men with the jaw bone of an ass! He was neat! I'll bet after he did that the politicians decided they wanted every jawbone of an ass registered!"

I doubt they required registering all the jaw bones of asses.

"Why not?"

Too many media pundits would hate having to sign.

State budget for 1996-97 is approved

By Roy Frederick
Public Policy Specialist
Department of Agricultural Economics
University of Nebraska-Lincoln

It was not necessarily a headline-maker, but it was important nevertheless.

In the waning days of the 1996 session, the Nebraska Legislature approved spending an additional $16 million for the year beginning July 1, 1996. This will be added to the $1.870 billion previously approved, bringing the state General Fund budget for fiscal year 1996-97 to $1.886 billion. The state budget reached $1 billion for the first time less than 10 years ago, in fiscal year 1987-88.

The General Fund is a good proxy for taxes being paid to state government in Nebraska. Income and sales taxes account for over 80 percent of General Fund revenues. The remainder comes from miscellaneous taxes and fees.

How is this money being spent? Perhaps some Nebraskans will be surprised to learn that most of it is not going to pay the salaries of those who work in state offices in Lincoln. Nor is much being spent on new buildings.

Instead, 60 percent of the total is distributed as state aid to political subdivisions (local governments) and individuals. The remainder is split this way: 20 percent for state government operating costs; 19 percent to pay a portion of the operating costs of the University of Nebraska and state colleges (tuition, fees and other sources of revenue also are important); and 1 percent for construction.

With regard to state aid, the single largest amount will be channeled through the Department of Education for use by individual school districts. In fiscal year 1996-97, state aid to education is budgeted at $362 million. In contrast, operational costs for this agency will be less than $13 million.

Another important agency for distributing state aid, this time primarily to individuals, is the Department of Social Services. About $377 million in state money plus an even larger amount of federal funds will be spent on a variety of programs, including Medicaid, Aid to Dependent Children and Food Stamps.

The Department of Public Institutions also offers programs to individuals in need, especially in the areas of mental retardation and mental health care. Their state aid budget is $48 million for the year ahead. It turns out that this agency is one of the larger users of operating dollars, as well. The regional mental health centers at Lincoln, Norfolk and Hastings plus the Beatrice State Developmental Center will account for most of the projected $71 million in operating costs for fiscal year 1996-97. Other big users of operational funds are the Department of Corrections ($73 million) and the Supreme Court, which has administrative responsibility for the state court system ($39 million).

The point of this brief overview is twofold: First, without the $1.140 billion state aid to local governments and individuals, property taxes levied by local governments probably would be much higher than they already are. Second, much of the operational money goes to higher education or services that many say are essential in a civilized society.

Obviously, the Legislature could decide to spend less from the state general fund. But whether or not Nebraskans, on balance, would benefit from such a policy is an open question.

Wakefield joins the NCIP

Wakefield was among the 75 communities and four counties that have signed up for the Nebraska Community Improvement Program (NCIP), which culminates in a statewide ceremony in November.

NCIP is the state's longest-running community betterment program. Since its beginning in 1963, NCIP has helped community leaders and volunteers with their improvement efforts by providing technical assistance and information on programs and resources, and recognizing outstanding community and economic development efforts.

The program is offered in partnership between the Nebraska Department of Economic Development and the University of Nebraska and sponsored by 12 investor-owned natural gas and telephone companies.

This year's NCIP is emphasizing a "blueprint for success" for its communities, which involves volunteer and leadership development, a strategic planning process and project accomplishment. These same criteria are used in judging communities' overall achievements for the Community Development Awards.

"NCIP volunteers have profoundly impacted Nebraska's economy," said Pamela Mulder, NCIP coordinator. "In 1995, the projects submitted totaled 558,000 hours of in-kind contributions toward community and economic improvement activities. When multiplied by $10 per hour, this equals nearly $5.6 million in community investment."

Student interns at Wayne State

Jenny Tramp of Wynot is working this summer on an internship with Wayne State Campus Security.

The junior criminal justice major has been active at WSC as the president of ASAP (Alcohol and Substance Abuse Prevention) organization and has been active in intramural volleyball and tennis.

During her internship she will be working with Jeff Ottens in preparation for the Nebraska Crime Prevention Association Conference and preparing presentations for the McGruff program. She will also be working on campus security/community relations and assisting with the creation of brochures and programs related to crime prevention and reporting.

MY MONEY'S GOOD ANY PLACE!

So true! You have so many choices when it comes to places to shop and you, the customer, can make any choice you wish. You're the boss! If you've had a bad experience in a large store where the service is poor (or even non-existent) you can take your hard-earned money and find the same merchandise and services elsewhere.

Local business firms recognize the fact that you have a choice, and they're willing to work harder to get you to shop in their stores and then hold your patronage. Try them. You'll save money, your own personal energy, gasoline and learn again just how satisfying local shopping can be.

Wayne Midgets boost record to 9-3

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

On Friday, Wayne improved to 9-3 in Midget baseball play with a forfeit win over Hooper.

The Midgets split a doubleheader with Pierce on Wednesday. Wayne won the first game 9-4. Darin Jensen (1-0) threw a complete game six-hitter with eight strikeouts to earn the win. Chris Dyer tripled and singled, while Jeff Stodola recorded a double and a single and drove in one run. Robbie Sturm, Ryan Dunklau and Ryan Stoltenberg each picked up base hits.

Pierce took the second game of the twinbill 9-6. Pierce broke open a scoreless game in the third with two runs and added six in the fourth and one in the fifth. Wayne scored one in the fourth, three in the sixth and two in the seventh. Justin Thede (3-3) took the loss, allowing seven hits and five runs in three innings. Robbie Sturm relieved Thede and allowed four runs on six hits in four innings. Offensively, Wayne had seven hits. Brad Maryott tripled and singled, while Robbie Sturm singled twice. Adam Endicott belted a double and drove in a run, while Ryan Sturm had a single and one RBI and Jensen had a single.

On Tuesday, Wayne lost to Schuyler 18-10. The game was tied at eight after five innings, but Schuyler scored nine runs in the sixth to seal the win. Wayne pitchers walked 12 batters in the game. Justin Thede was the losing pitcher. Ryan Sturm doubled, singled and had three RBIs. Maryott tripled, while Robbie Sturm singled and had one RBI. Thede doubled and had an RBI and Jeremy Nelson drove in two runs with a single.

Wayne LL/Pony teams continue to win

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

Wayne's Little League Blue team improved their record to 4-1 on Tuesday with a 7-1 win over Laurel. Adam McGuire struck out nine to get credit for the win. Cody Onnen belted a pair of hits and had two RBIs, while Tanner Niemann tripled and Nick Lipp singled.

Wakefield wins two against Homer

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

Wakefield's Junior baseball team upped their record to 18-8 with a doubleheader sweep of Homer on Tuesday. Wakefield won the opener 14-4. Mike Hassler picked up the win, allowing just two hits and two earned runs over five innings. He struck out five and walked only one. Cory Coble was 2-2 at the plate, while Wes Blecke, Mike Hassler, Justin Hegge, Justin Mackling and Josh Snyder each registered base hits. In game two, Wakefield won 3-2. Travis Birkley earned the win by scattering eight hits over seven innings. He struck out eight, walked one and didn't allow an earned run to score. Mackling and Blecke each were 1-3 at the plate, while Justin Hegge was 1-2.

On Monday, Wakefield topped Pierce 9-3. Cory Coble struck out nine, walked one and allowed just one earned run and four hits in seven innings to win the game. He also drove in four runs with a 2-3 performance at the plate. Justin Dutcher was 2-4 and Michael Blohm was 2-3.

Wakefield competed in tournament play on Saturday in Sioux Falls, losing two games to the hosts. Sioux Falls won the first game 9-0. Josh Snyder took the loss. Dutcher and Blohm were each 2-3 offensively.

Sioux Falls won the second game 6-3. Dutcher was the losing pitcher. He allowed eight hits and three earned runs in six innings, while striking out eight and walking two.

Last Friday, Wakefield defeated Oakland 4-1. Justin Hegge struck out 11, walked three and allowed just four hits in four innings to earn the victory. Blecke was 2-3 at the plate.

Last Thursday, Wakefield beat Neligh 8-3. Mike Hassler tallied the win, while Blohm recorded a pair of hits in three at-bats.

Birkley tossed a five-inning no-hitter against Laurel on June 12th as Wakefield won 11-0. Mackling and Snyder were 2-4 at the plate, while Blecke was 2-3.

Midgets rally to win; improve record to 8-4

Wakefield's Midgets improved to 8-4 on Wednesday with a 4-3 win over Pierce. Pierce led 3-1, but Wakefield scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth and held the visitors scoreless in the seventh to seal the win. B.J. Hansen drove in two runs to tie the game, while Justin Paulson knocked in the eventual game-winner. Josh Templeman allowed just three hits and two earned runs over seven innings to notch the victory.

On Friday, the Midgets lost a 9-8 decision to Oakland. Tom Sailors was 2-3 at the plate with a home run, while Templeman was 2-3 and Eric Haglund was 2-4. Brett Sailors was the losing pitcher.

Last Thursday, Wakefield pounded Neligh 10-2. Eric Beacom picked up the win, while Hansen was 2-3 with the bat.

On June 12th, Coleridge beat Wakefield 6-4. Templeman suffered the loss. Heath Keim was 3-3, while Hansen was 2-3.

June and Richard Carstens were presented a gift for their 40th anniversary. The club will host a 25th wedding anniversary party for Evelyn and Eldon Herbolsheimer on Aug. 10 at the couples home.

Meeting closed with the club song and The Lord's Prayer. Next meeting will be Sept. 12. Cards were played with prizes going to Evelyn Jaeger, Helen Muehlmeier and Lorraine Denklaue.

TOWN AND COUNTRY

Carol Jorgensen hosted the June 11 Town and-Country Club meeting. The birthdays of Greta Grubbs and Loretta Voss were celebrated.

Ladies Aid group meets

St. Paul's Lutheran Church Ladies Aid, Winside, met June 11 with 16 members, Pastor Patrick Riley and one guest, Sandy Riley. Bev Voss, president, opened the meeting with the League Pledge. Evelyn Jaeger opened devotions with the group singing "Faith of Our Father," accompanied by Bev Dangberg. Topic of her devotions was "Blessed to be a Blessing." She closed with a father's day prayer.

Pastor had the Bible lesson, "Like A Child," taken from the LWML Quarterly, Daisy Janke and Elsie Janke visited at the Meadows and BelAir Nursing homes. Norma Janke and Margaurite Janke are the June committee.

A thank you was received from the Martin Luther Home for soup labels. Bev Voss reported a float for Old Settlers is being planned. An invitation from Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne was read for their July 10 guest day brunch at 9 a.m.

Cards were played, with prizes going to Pat Miller, Greta Grubbs and Lorraine Prince. There will not be a July meeting. Next meeting is Aug. 13 with Pat Miller.

CHURCH WOMEN

Four members of the Trinity Lutheran Church Women met June 12 with Lois Krueger, president, presiding. She also gave the Bible lesson. Dorothy Jo Andersen was hostess. Next meeting will be July 10 at 2 p.m.

TOPS

Members of TOPS No. 589 met June 12 for the weekend meeting. The flower contest continues. An article on "cutting fats" was shared.

Meetings are held Wednesdays at 5:30 p.m. at the Marian Iversen home.

LEGION

Commander Dan Jaeger conducted the June 4 Roy Reed American Legion Post 252 meeting with 10 present. Tickets are available from all Legion members for the Old Settlers drawing. The Legion Color Guard will lead the Old Settlers parade on Sunday, June 30.

The outside concrete work has been completed. Next meeting will be July 2 at 8 p.m.

PINOCHLE CLUB

Laura Jaeger hosted the June 7 G.T. Pinochle Club with Bertha Rhooff as a guest. Prizes went to Henrietta Jensen and Ella Miller. Next meeting is June 21 with Henrietta Jensen.

NEWSPAPERS

The Winside Museum committee will pick up newspapers on Saturday, June 22 at 9 a.m. instead of on June 29 because of Old Settlers. Have them on the curb and bagged or tied by 9 a.m.

COTORIE CLUB

Irene Ditman hosted the June 13 Cotorie Club with two guests, Lorraine Prince and Irene Kant. Prizes went to Rosemary Mintz, Yleen Cowan, Jane Witt and Twila Kahl. Next meeting will be July 25 with Twila Kahl.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Twenty-three Winside area senior citizens met June 10 for an afternoon of cards. Free blood pressure checks were done by rescue captain VerNeal Marotz. Snacks were served.

Visiting in the John and Helen Jones home recently was Marjorie Calvechia from North Palm Beach, Fla. She was here for a week and attended the 60th anniversary of Howard and Marian Iversen.

BIBLE SCHOOL

Sixty-six children attended the Allen community Bible school at the Methodist Church last week. There were 26 pre-schoolers and 40 first through sixth graders. This year's theme was "Welcome Aboard the Vacation Bible School Ship." Crew leaders led multi-age level groups through various learning centers which included preparing snacks in the galley. The week-long morning lessons ended on June 1 when parents came to pick up the children and joined in a sharing and singing time.

DRIVERS EDUCATION

Seventeen drivers are practicing basic driving skills with drivers education instructor Glenn Kumm. They have finished their classroom sessions and will be on the road more.

SENIOR CENTER

The Allen Senior Center board has decided not to have potluck dinners over the summer. Individual pizzas will be the main course June 21 instead of potluck.

Legal Aid will be at the center on June 27 at 10:30 a.m.

NEW FAMILY

Maria and Mickey Kraatz and family have recently moved to the Allen area. Maria is an experience babysitter and is willing to sit 24 hours a day including weekends. You may call her at 635-9415.

RECYCLING

The amount of trash taken to the landfill has been reduced somewhat because of the recycling containers placed across from the fire hall. People are doing a good job recycling their papers and cardboard — although it would be helpful if people would flatten the cardboard as much as possible — this is the bin that fills up first. The glass, plastic and cans are filling more slowly.

QUILT CLUB

9-Patch Quilt Club met June 3 at the Allen Senior Center. "Card Trick" blocks for the Senior Center were turned in to Joanne Rahn. The group has scheduled a workshop on Saturday, Sept. 14. Sandra Wriedt will teach machine quilting. An invitation was received from Sandra concerning a tour of Country Threads in Garner, Iowa with stops at various points along the route. The tour date is June 22. For more information contact Mary Jean Jones.

Members are to complete "Jenny's Block" for next month. Next meeting will be at the Allen Senior Center on Monday, July 1 at 7:30 p.m. Visitors and new members are welcome.

SEEKING INFORMATION

A descendent of John M. Ginther was in Allen recently seeking information about the family. John Ginther, who was married to Rosanah Stocker, was buried in 1876 in Eastview Cemetery at Allen on land donated by his family so that he could have an east view of his farm. If you have information about John or his son Joseph John who married Mary Waylan Stewart, contact Kathy Boswell.

50 YEAR REUNION.

Allen's class of 1946 will hold its 50 year reunion at the Allen-Waterbury fire and rescue building Saturday, June 22. They will be touring the school in the afternoon, then eating a catered dinner in the fire hall. Friends of the class are welcome to stop by and visit after 7.

Couple are united in Texas ceremony

Marcia Rethwisch and James E. Brown, III, both of Orange, Texas, were married May 18, 1996 at the First United Methodist Church in Orange.

Pastors Malcolm Monroe and Eddie Scheler officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Dwaine and Carol Rethwisch of Wayne and James E. and Ann Brown, Jr. of Houston, Texas.

Music for the ceremony was provided by soloist Sarah Mohundro, flutist Barbara Rives and organist Donna Rogers, all of Orange. Musical selections included "Somewhere in the World," "And on this Day" and "In this very Room."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an ivory full-length gown with a train.

Matron of Honor was Darci Slama of Wakefield. Bridesmaids were Mary Rethwisch of Fort Dodge, Iowa and Dana Rethwisch of Parker, Ariz.

They wore floral embossed tea-length dresses.

Candelighters were Linda Brown of Houston, Texas and Lauri Brown of College Station, Texas.

Best man was Toney Miller of Orange. Groomsmen were Jerry Brown of College Station and Bob Brown of Houston.

Ushers were David Brown of Longview, Texas, Tom Brown of College Station, Michael Rethwisch of Parker, Steven Rethwisch of Fort Dodge and Stuart Rethwisch of Wayne.

A reception was held at the Brown Center following the ceremony. Tiffane Brown registered guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown III

Betty Brown of Fort Worth, Texas and Darlene Johnson and Marilyn Rethwisch, both of Wayne served cake.

Following a wedding trip to Fredericksburg, Texas the couple is at home at 2801 Dunromin Road, Orange, Texas 77632.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Wayne High School. She graduated from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1985 and 1989 and is currently the Division Chair of Business and Technology Division at Lamar University in Orange.

The groom is a 1979 graduate of Gar-Field High School and a 1987 graduate of Texas A & M University. He served in the United States Marine Corp from 1979-83 and 1990-91, attaining the rank of sergeant. He is presently employed by the Sabine River Authority.

Do rewards have to be money or toys?

Q: I worry about putting undue emphasis on materialism with my kids. Do rewards have to be in the form of money or toys?

A: Certainly not. When my daughter was 3 years of age, I began to teach her some pre-reading skills, including the alphabet. By planning the training sessions to occur after dinner each evening, bits of chocolate candy provided the chief source of motivation. (In those days I was less concerned about the effect of excess sugar consumption than I am now.)

Late one afternoon I was sitting on the floor drilling her on several new letters when a tremendous crash shook the neighborhood. The whole family rushed outside, where we saw that a teenager had wrecked his car on our quiet residential street. The boy was not badly hurt, but his automobile was a mess.

We sprayed the smoldering car and called 911, but it was not until the excitement began to lessen that we realized our daughter had not followed us out of the house. I returned to the den where I found her elbow deep in the two-pound bag of candy I had left behind. She had put at least a pound of chocolate into her mouth, and most of the remainder was distributed around her chin, nose and forehead.

When she saw me coming, she managed to jam another mouthful into her chipmunk cheeks. From this experience, I learned one of the limitations of using material, or at least edible, reinforcement.

Anything that is considered desirable to an individual can serve as reinforcement for behavior. The most obvious rewards for animals are those that satisfy physical needs, although humans are further motivated to resolve their overwhelming psychological needs.

Some children, for example, would rather receive a sincere word of praise than a $10 bill, particularly if the adult approval is expressed in front of other children. Children and adults of all ages seek constant satisfaction of their emotional needs, including the desire for love, social acceptance and self-respect.

Verbal reinforcement should permeate the entire parent-child relationship. Too often our parental instruction consists of a million "don'ts" that are jammed down the child's throat. We should spend more time rewarding him for the behavior we do admire, even if our "reward" is nothing more than a sincere compliment. Remembering the child's need for self-esteem and acceptance, the wise parent can satisfy those important longings while using them to teach valued concepts and behavior. A few examples may be helpful:

Focus On The Family With Dr. James Dobson

Mother to daughter: "You certainly colored nicely within the lines on that picture, Renee. I like to see that kind of neat art work. I'm going to put this on the bulletin board in the hall."

Mother to husband in son's presence: "Jack, did you notice how Josh put his bicycle in the garage tonight? He used to leave it out until we told him to put it away. He is becoming much more responsible. don't you think?"

Father to son: "I appreciate your being quiet while I was figuring the income tax, son. You were very thoughtful. Now that I have that job done, I'll have more time. Why don't we plan to go to the zoo next Saturday?"

Teacher to high school student: "You've made a good point, Juan. I hadn't thought of that aspect of the matter. I enjoy your original way of looking at things."

Mother to small son: "Kyle, you haven't sucked your thumb all morning. I'm very proud of you. Let's see how long you can go this afternoon."

It is unwise for a parent to compliment the child for behavior she does not admire. If everything the child does earns him a big hug and a pat on the back, Mom's approval gradually becomes meaningless. Inflation can destroy the value of her reinforcement. Specific behavior warranting genuine compliments can be found if it is sought, even in the most immature youngster.

Healthy reasons to take a vacation

With summer here, thoughts turn to vacationing. Getting away from it all can bring a new perspective to old dilemmas and spark a positive charge in your mental outlook. You will get to know yourself (and other family members) a little better. Upon returning home, you'll be happier, healthier, and much more effective in coping with stress. Here are some reasons why vacations can be beneficial.

Sally Ebmeier
Cedar County

1. Relaxation. By changing pace your batteries are recharged so you return feeling refreshed and renewed.

2. Stimulation of new sights. "You get a new perspective on your own world if you visit a different place," according to Edward Heath, professor of recreation at Texas A&M University.

3. Meeting new people. "A vacation gives us the opportunity to form new friendships — or just to satisfy our curiosity about how other people live. This gives us a broader perspective on our own lives," Heath says.

4. Fellowship and camaraderie. Sharing an adventure with other people allows us to share their enthusiasm, too.

5. Adventure. "Travel returns a sense of adventure to your life — pulling yourself off your native turf is going to make demands on your resourcefulness to find suitable lodging and food. You're allowed to experiment with your personality and lifestyle," says R. Curtis, author of "Taking Off."

6. Surprise. "It is the unexpected in life that we learn from. We gain the most when we put ourselves on the line and remain open to new experiences," Curtis states.

7. Beauty. When you open your eyes in the middle of a beautiful environment, you start to feel tuned in. You can actually begin to feel beautiful yourself.

8. Anticipation. "Anticipation is pleasurable. The trip is too, because you reap the rewards of extensive preparation," Heath said.

9. Memories. Pleasant past memories provide happiness and a motivation for the future.

10. Freedom. "A vacation gives us the freedom to do what we want to do. You'll see the mundane world can be transcended at will. You're not a prisoner if you choose not to be," reflects Heath.

11. Self-discovery. A vacation can be a great opportunity for sorting out life's experiences by letting the soul talk to itself.

12. Appreciation of things taken for granted. Curtis comments, "When you get home, you will get more from life. You'll see the miracles where you live."

13. Time stands still. "When time is standing still for you, that's good. There's evidence that happy people are those who can give full attention to what's good at that moment," Heath said.

14. Happiness. "The major goal of a vacation is happiness," says Heath. "Your leisure makes up a large segment of your life and it can and should be a valuable force for good."

Engagements

Wohlers-Beeson

Brenda K. Wohlers and Jock D. Beeson, both of Crawford, are planning a July 13, 1996 wedding at the Wohlers Family Ranch northwest of Crawford.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Eldon and Janet Wohlers of Crawford. She is a graduate of Crawford High School, Casper College and a 1996 graduate of the University of Wyoming with a Bachelor's degree in Animal Science.

VFW Auxiliary plans annual pillow cleaning

The Llewellyn B. Whitmore Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary to Post 5291 met June 10 in the home of Neva Lorenzen with senior vice president Neva Lorenzen presiding.

Seven members answered roll call.

A thank-you letter was read from Kaiser Slautern Military Community Coupon Room in Kaiser Slautern, Germany. The letter thanked the auxiliary for the box of coupons they had mailed. The approximate value of the coupons was $1,780 and were greatly appreciated and needed.

Raffle tickets for Cancer Aid Research were purchased.

Neva Lorenzen read an article concerning a proposed Health Care Clinic in Norfolk for area veterans.

Auxiliary members participating in the Memorial Day Services held at the High School were Evelyn Thompson, Fauniel Hoffman, Neva Lorenzen, Ruth Korth, Verna MacLonge, Mardella Olson, Leona Klug, Lillian Granquist, Frances Doring, Verna Mae Baier and Darden Draghu.

Verna Mae Baier, Mabel Sommerfeld and Fauniel Hoffman helped to serve the dinner at the Vets Club.

The location of the annual pillow cleaning will be changed to Neva Lorenzen's address at 111 East 8th Street. The date of the cleaning will be Sept. 6, 1996.

Delegate fees will be paid for two new books. Discussion and ideas on observing the Auxiliary's 50th anniversary was held.

The July meeting will be a picnic supper at Neva Lorenzen's home on July 8 at 6:30 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish and your own table service.

Mardella Olson and Ruth Korth served lunch after the meeting.

Guest Day held at Grace

Eighty-three members and guests gathered at Grace Lutheran Church on June 12 for the Ladies Aid annual Guest Day.

Opening devotions were given by Pastor Merle Mahnken. The guest speaker was Joyce Stark from Fremont. She and her husband operate Kent's Flowers Shop with a specialty in growing African violets. Mrs. Stark compared violets to the Christian life.

President Ellen Heinemann welcomed the guests and also read a letter from seminarian student George Naylor.

Evening Circle meets to discuss future projects

President Lorraine Johnson called the June 11 Grace Evening Circle meeting to order with 12 members and Pastor Mahnken present.

Christian Growth Chairman Lanora Sorensen opened the meeting with a meditation about fathers. Pastor Mahnken led the Bible study from the Lutheran Women's Quarterly publication entitled "Dress for Success" based on the message that God's Word gives us some ideas on how we should "dress" spiritually. Leola Larson closed the program with a devotion.

Mardella Olson, Project Chairman, reported that some sales had been made from the card and napkin project.

Mission Project Chairman Kathleen Johs reported that all Nebraska North Mission projects have been paid for. Mrs. Johs will purchase two more bottles of aspirin so that the group can turn in 14 complete medicine kits for the Orphan Grain Train project.

Mrs. Johs will also be assisting in sorting clothes for the Orphan Grain Train during mission project time at the District Convention.

District Convention is in Norfolk June 21-22. Alternate Kathleen Johs will become a delegate in place of Elsie Echtenkamp. Delegates Kathleen Johs and Lanora Sorensen asked for assistance from the members in choosing the five mission projects they should vote at eh convention.

Marilyn Rethwisch and Gloria Koplun, rummage/bake sale chairmen reported that the annual sale was successful. It is recommended that Lutheran Campus Center be used again next year and that the group continue to be a part of the city-wide Garage Sale Day.

From the proceeds, $50 will be given to the Campus Center as a Mission Project gift. President Johnson will contact Grace Campus Center Committee to offer help in doing a fall house cleaning of the Center.

Bea Kinslow will chair the committee to serve the Rethwisch wedding July 6. Kathleen Johs, Gloria Koplun and Leola Larson will assist.

The group will sell note cards illustrated with the church and new addition. The note cards will be single fold on light-ivory linen. One hundred dozen will be ordered from Copy Right. The cards will go on sale this fall.

Members were reminded of guest day June 12 at the Methodist Church and at 2:30 with the Grace Ladies Aide.

1996 war has begun on the corn borer moths

European corn borer moths have been captured in several counties in Nebraska, and the 1996 battle against these insects has begun.

John Witkowski, UNL Extension Entomologist, explained that "the next several weeks of scouting for live larvae and plant whorl damage are critical as you approach making insect treatment decisions."

Larval survival is correlated to plant height, Witkowski said. He advised that producers pay close attention to all corn, but particularly to taller corn since the pests prefer taller corn for egg-laying. Also, taller plants generally have lower concentrations of DIMBOA, a plant aglucone that results in death of the borer after feeding. DIMBOA is ineffective after tasseling.

However, research has shown significant differences in whorl feeding native resistance traits among hybrids. "Some hybrids are highly susceptible to borer damage even when plants are quite small, while other show excellent resistance throughout their vegetative stages," Witkowski said.

Other factors that will influence first generation horn borer infestation include weather and the presence of beneficial insects. Over the next few weeks, these considerations could greatly influence the magnitude of infestation.

Warm, mild temperatures and high relative humidity, combined with the absence of violent rainstorms, favor corn borer survival, high populations of the day beetle, an egg-mass predator, may assist in keeping the number of first generation corn borer larvae low. Two parasitic wasps are also effective larval parasites that can have a negative impact on populations.

Even though late planting and cool, wet weather have been the norm for 1996 so far this spring, Witkowski advises producers to "get geared up to begin scouting" as conditions may change rapidly.

Treatment decisions can best be made after producers are fully aware of the potential problem.

Here's to the Merry Widows

I grew up in a card-playing family.

Every birthday and holiday we played cards. You borrowed card tables and folding chairs, bought high and low prizes and made sure you had a complete deck for each four-some.

Mostly it was pitch. The men liked 500, and a lot of folks played pinochle.

My mom likes to play cards. Sometimes, when she is bored, which doesn't happen very often, she even plays solitaire.

She has some very good friends at her church. We call them the Merry Widows. They sit close to the front, on the right at the 8 a.m. service. They quilt together, have Bible study, go out to eat together and just generally support each other.

When we celebrated her 80th birthday, Henrietta, Alice and Arlene were the only people invited who were not immediate family. Alice had a grandchild being confirmed, but Henri and Arlene rode along in the limo from the church to Mahoney.

They are role models for friendship, and they helped me feel secure in the certain knowledge that one of them will call me if something is amiss.

They don't always see eye-to-eye, but they forgive each other, as friends should, and appreciate each other for the positive qualities they have.

When I'm in Lincoln I try to stop at my mom's before I leave town. Not long ago, I rang her bell and could see through the glass storm door. She was at the table in her dining area and she had cards in her hand. I thought she was doing some solitaire.

But when I got inside her lovely townhouse, I saw the rest of the Fearless Foursome, playing pinochle. Turns out it was Arlene's birthday. They'd been to the Old Country Buffet for lunch and had been here since 1 p.m. (It was now 6 p.m.) They were breaking for a light supper and then resuming their game.

There was much teasing, laughing and wild bidding going on. Arlene, who has had two bouts with cancer, informed me that this was much better than sitting at home complaining of aches and pains and I agree. I told them it was probably keeping them out of the casinos!

A lady named Dee Brestin has written a book called "Women and Friendships." She says women need friends. We need otherwomen to share with, to support us, laugh with us and cry with us.

She says we make a mistake when we expect our husbands to meet all our emotional needs, and I believe it.

When women tell their husbands what they are worried about, the male tries to come up with a logical solution. Other women only listen and sympathize. Besides, these gals don't have husbands anymore.

So, here's to the Merry Widows. May they play pinochle for many days yet. And to Friendship, a beautiful gift.

LEAN GENERATION CHOW

IT PRODUCES LEANER PORK.
FOR LEANER PEOPLE.

Lean Generation™ Chow® is so advanced it's not only good news for pork producers, it's good for the entire pork industry. It's a better way to feed that also produces a better end product for the meat case.

Only Purina® shows you how to feed so much more precisely. The Lean Generation concept enables you to fine-tune your program by adjusting your rations to genetics, facilities, management and specific health situations. It's unique. It's better. And it's right for almost every hog operation.

NEW BUSINESSES

Pam Frahm held a grand opening at Pam's Barber Shop on June 8. She recently moved into the north side of the Hatchery Building. She has been working in Wakefield for four years and just recently moved into her own shop.

Mike and Carmen Tello recently opened a family restaurant on Main Street, in the former Uncle Smurf building. The Tello's feature Mexican and American dishes. They are open six days a week, Monday through Saturday, serving breakfast, lunch and supper.

Timeless Treasures, located at Fourth and Main in the former cleaners building, is also planning a grand opening for June 22. They have collectibles, handcrafted and unique gift items and also offer custom stitching.

SCHOOL BOARD

A special budget hearing was held by the Wakefield School Board on June 10 to discuss the need to amend the 1995-96 general fund budget. The budget needs to be amended to allow for more preschool special education expenditures and the purchase of a new van to transport special ed students. Approximately three-fourths of the amended amount will be recouped from the state.

Joining the regular meeting were Kathy and Kelsey Skinner, Chris Salmon, Pastor Reed and Lynda Cruickshank. The group was there to discuss the possibility of using the school after hours (3:30-6 p.m.) for school-age child care. The request was approved, providing the main program be housed at the Day Care Center and the school be used on a limited basis. It will be re-evaluated after six months.

Mrs. Surface reviewed staff extra duty assignments for the 1996-97 school year. She also reported on the number of participants on internet and some of the problems being encountered.

Mr. Hartman reported that regular bus routes accounted for 71.5 percent of the transportation miles for the year. Mike Benson's annual bus maintenance report was given.

Marty Slaughter gave an update on renovations being made in the vocational trades area and a tour was given.

Lyle Brown, chairman of the labor relations committee, reported that the WEA representatives met with his committee June 4 and that the board offered the teachers a two year package. The teachers association will meet to consider the offer.

The board approved a contract with Mike Nesbit increasing his time to 1 1/2 days per week. Also approved was a science teaching contract for Shevaun Nelson for next year.

As the last item, Hartman said he is working on the budget and will attempt to increase Shannon Dunning to a full-time 12-month contract, as well as adding one more full-time elementary staff member.

ACCEPTED AT YALE

Johnny Swagerty of Roseburg, Ore. has been admitted into Yale University this fall. He is the son of Terry and Ann Swagerty of Roseburg and the grandson of Calvin and Bonnie Swagerty of Wakefield.

WINS ART AWARD

Kevin Nicholson of Gretna was among the award winners in the Nebraska Aviation Art Contest. He is the son of Tom and Donna Nicholson and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bricie Nicholson, rural Emerson. Great grandmother is Alta Pearson of Wakefield.

Kevin received third place trophy in the competition.

BANNER PROJECT

The family of Eugene Neutleton has donated memorial money to the "Welcome to Wakefield" banner project. Five banners have been purchased in the late city police officer's honor.

Allen to hold bike rodeo

All 4-Hers in Dixon and Wayne County are invited to participate in the 1996 4-H Bicycle Rodeo, which will be held Saturday, June 29 at the Allen Public Schools parking lot.

The event will begin with check-in at 8:30 a.m. Individual events will start at 9 a.m.

The objective of this activity is to help establish bicycle safety while obeying laws, having fun and being safe.

Pre-registrations are due in the Extension office on June 21, 1996. The participants are required to wear a safety helmet and 4-H emblem during the contest.

Anyone needing a registration form or more information should contact the Dixon County Extension Office at (402) 584-2234.

Netleton was a former Wakefield city police officer and chief of police in Wakefield for 13 1/2 years. He died in January at the age of 58.

When the banner project is complete, there will be a series of four designs, one for each season. The summer banners with bright butterflies will soon be completed and hung on the newly painted light poles.

LIBRARY PROGRAM

The Graves Public Library's summer reading program was held recently. Theme was "Peer-Amid the Books." Librarian Nancy Fredrickson said 112 took part in the various activities each day.

The library will continue to sponsor a reading hour through the summer. Guest readers will be at the library every Tuesday morning for an hour long session.

Coordinating the reading program were Karen Klute and Amy Swalve. Group leaders were Mary Rastede and Anne Berns, 3 year olds; Paula Erickson, 4 year olds; Carlene Bodlak, 5 year olds; Desiree Kneifl, kindergarten; Teresa Soderberg, first grade; Julie Rose and Jamie Olsufka, second; Pat Lunz and Karen Witt, third; Carol Gustafson, fourth and up.

Also helping were Denise Kramer and Shelly Schultz. Amy Slaughter helped with crafts. Assisting with registration and book check out were Elvera Borg and Cathy Schroeder. Other helpers included Kassi Anderson, Amanda Wirth, Jennifer Puls, Jessica Schroeder, Melissa Turney, Jennifer Victor, Erin Boeckenhauer and Erin Bartels.

Costumes for Cleopatra and her sister, Arsinoe, were provided by Betty Rouse and the Little Red Hen Theatre. The theatre also donated admission tickets to the Heritage Days melodrama to all the youngsters who attended the reading hour and all the helpers.

Craft supplies were donated by the Waldbaum Company (eggs), the Wakefield Drug Co. (eye liner pencils) and Eaton Greenhouse (potting soil). The Presbyterian and Christian Churches provided additional space for the reading groups.

RECEIVES GRANT

Graves Public Library in Wakefield has received a $250 grant from the Nebraska Library Commission to be used toward the purchase of a fax machine. The machine is at the library and available for public use.

RED RIBBON WEEK

JUNE 16-22, 1996

A Special Edition to *The Wayne Herald

Kevin Modrell, 6th grade essay winner

D.A.R.E made this semester go by fast. I learned that I don't have to do something because someone wants me to. The ways that I will stay drug free are to stay away from people that do drugs or drink, chew, or smoke all the time. I also learned that my life doesn't have to be controlled by friends. When we talked about making choices it is hard to decide what you want to do with your life. If you want a good life don't use drugs and alcohol constantly. When it's time for me to choose what I want to do with my life I will choose to be a good person on the inside and a good person on the outside. Ways that I will try to be a teacher in trying to make people stay drug free are to get the message and have them pass it on to their friends. I also think it is important to stay drug and violence free because you will have more friends and better friends than I would if I did drugs and alcohol.

I felt that the D.A.R.E. program taught us something. I also felt that if you want to stay drug and alcohol free then you are going to have to make that decision by yourself because nobody is going to tell you that if you do, then you're grounded. You have to make decisions on you own.

I've stayed drug and alcohol-free for 13 years and I'm not just about ready to throw my life away and do drugs and drink for the rest of my life. I'm actually going to go do something with my life.

I've learned through the D.A.R.E program that I'm my own person with my own personality, so if anyone wants to tell me that I am stupid then they can.

I'm sorry to say but this quarter in D.A.R.E was probably the best quarter that we ever had. Now that it is over I can share my knowledge with others. If they listen to me then they can share their knowledge with others as well.

Hi! My name is Brain. A few things that have been happening to me have me a bit confused. Let me tell you about some of these weird things. Maybe you'll understand them better.

I guess that I had better start at the beginning of my life just so you can get a fuller picture. I spent my first couple of years computing easy information like the ABC's. Then one day I was sent to a place called school where my job began to get more complicated. I started to receive much more information. Each year I had to use a few more cells as I progressed in school.

I had been going to school for about nine years when weird things began to happen. I was hangin out with a few of the more popular kids when one of them handed me a suspicious looking drink. It smelled gross and I didn't want to, but I was so curious that somehow I told the mouth to drink. Yuk! It tasted awful. Then a strange thing happened. After the drink got a ways down my esophagus I felt kind of good. Kind of. I took another small sip and then another. Pretty soon I had drunk the whole can. The kids told me that I was cool. They also said that they wanted to be my friend. I felt proud of myself.

What followed in the years after that is sort of blurry. I kept telling my mouth to stop drinking this stuff, but it wouldn't listen. In fact I began to drink more and more. After that I began to breathe through these short tube-like things. White smoke came out of them and made me cough.

And then weird things started to happen. I could hardly stand up anymore. I was dizzy and my coordination was gone. I started to lash out at other bodies. I wanted to destroy everything in my way. My memory cells became much smaller and my stomach and intestines felt weird. I had to make my heart pump much faster. I could no longer gather information. My lungs began to turn black and my gums hurt. I can't figure out

This was an imaginative little illustration about a nightmare that happens every day. To prevent this nightmare from happening to my generation along with all the other D.A.R.E. program. In this program we learned how to like ourselves, what drugs do to a person, and how to say "No" to drugs. I really enjoyed this program, and it taught me a lot. I hope that now our generation will be able to stay drug free! Because we now know that it doesn't take a brain surgeon to stay off drugs.

By Jessica Murtaugh

As I write this essay I realize actually how much I learned from the D.A.R.E. program. First of all I learned what D.A.R.E. means: Drug Abuse Resistance Education. I learned all the different types of drugs. Nicotine (found in cigarettes and chewing tobacco), cigarettes, chewing tobacco, alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, inhalants, needle type drugs, and more. There are many types of drugs but all drugs contain the same ingredients: danger, death, sickness, pain, and trouble. All drugs have consequences and alternatives.

I think the D.A.R.E. program is a great idea for kids. This gives kids an opportunity to learn about drugs and how deadly they are. Then when they have a point in their lives when they have to make a choice, then hopefully they'll make the right choice. TO SAY NO TO DRUGS!

I'm not going to do drugs because I know how they will affect me, my peers, and my family. I'll also encourage my little brother and sister and other little kids to say no to drugs. Because they're people that want to be just like you and look up to you.

As the saying goes: How you take care of yourself today, is how you look and feel tomorrow. So when you think about doing drugs, don't think twice: Say no to drugs.

We are the future. So, what kind of future do you want? SAY NO TO DRUGS!

At least everyone knows someone who drinks, smokes, or does some other kind of drugs. But getting mad at or trying to make them stop won't help. They have to make themselves the commitment and they have to want to stop for them to succeed in quitting.

I have learned quite a lot in D.A.R.E. I have learned that drugs are bad for your mind and health. There is no positive answer why people do drugs maybe they know what will happen to them if they do do drugs and maybe they didn't have a very good childhood.

Sure there are all the commercials and celebrities talking about how bad drugs are and what will happen if you take drugs, but there are two very important people that can talk and teach kids about drugs tell them how wrong it is or what will happen to them is there parents. It is a lesson most parents don't teach their children about. It is a lesson parents regret not teaching their children about. This is more important than teaching them how to throw a baseball or catch a football or ride a bike. This is a lesson that will save their lives.

It doesn't matter if you are rich or poor, drugs will hit you anyway. Most kids don't realize the consequences until it's too late. Most kids learn from what their parents show or teach them. I have learned you can't just say no. You have to have courage, strength, and self-esteem. You need friends around and that care about you. Sometimes you might feel bad if your friends are making fun of you even if it is a joke it will still hurt and it might put a chip in your self-esteem and it might drive somebody over the edge. People just look over to what just might be somebody's feelings being hurt.

No one but you can make the choice of taking drugs. But just remember you can make the choice of taking drugs. But just remember you take a sniff of cocaine and somebody finds out and you are a A student and a star in your sport no college will want you. No major team will draft you. So if you are about to do drugs you better think twice it might be your last chance.

D.A.R.E. to keep kids off drugs it's a slogan we've been hearing nearly half of our sixth grade year. But what does D.A.R.E. stand for. At the very beginning of our first class, Mr. Headley explained, "Drug Abuse Resistance Education." Every week we learned and talked about a different subject that would probably help us to stay drug free.

One of the first things Mr. Headley talked to us about is what drugs can do to you. Did you know smoking increases your chances of cancer by, like, alot? One day in science class, Mrs. Claver showed us a healthy lung and a smokers lung. The lung of a smoker was black and purple colored. (Oh, I'll take lung number 1 please.) Drinking alcohol can be totally bad for you too. It makes you all crazy and you can't think straight. You often do things you wouldn't have done if you wouldn't have been intoxicated. It's easy to get addicted to the stuff and it's easy for someone to take advantage of you. Better stay off the stuff.

We spent a lot of time talking about ways to say no to drugs. Peer pressure and low self esteem often make it hard to say no to drugs. Not only is drugs and alcohol bad for you but there are so many ways to say no to drugs, why say yes?

Peer pressure, self esteem, and stress are all alternatives that effect the decisions you make. If a friend is trying to pressure you into doing something you don't want to do, just remember, they are not your friend. Sometimes people with low self esteem or a lot of stress think taking drugs or alcohol will make them feel better or solve all their problems. Taking drugs or alcohol only gives you more problems to think about. (Think as in if your brain still functions clearly enough after all that drugs and alcohol.)

In D.A.R.E we touched a little on gangs and the media. The media influences you a lot. Everybody wants to be cool like those models in magazines, the basketball players on TV, and singers on the radio. Getting into gangs is a great way to get into drugs, vandalism, and eventually jail or prison.

Something that I especially like in D.A.R.E was talking to the high schoolers. Our class asked them a lot of questions. It was helpful to know what we will face once in high school.

I know that, because of D.A.R.E, it will be easier to say no to drugs and alcohol in the future.

"Hey you, come here. I've got a bargain for you! I've got some great marijuana, do you want some?" said Rob. "I'm sorry, I don't have enough money," said Tom. "Well, I'll be your friend and give it to you this time," said Rob. "Gee thanks!" said Tom. "All right see you next time!"

"Hey Tom, how are ya? I've got some great marijuana, how about trying some?" said Rob. "No thanks man, haven't you heard what that stuff can do to you?" said Tom. "Oh, that's not true, that's just garbage. You can have a great time with this," said Rob. "I have other things that I can do to have a good time, instead of smoking that junk! Marijuana can leave you with short attention spans, slow reflexes, and be unable to think," informed Tom. "Well if you believe that," said Rob, "then you're a chicken!" "I'm leaving," replied Tom. "See ya next time!" said Rob. "There won't be a next time," said Tom.

D.A.R.E. taught me to be like Tom, and not like Rob. I know two ways to say no to drugs, broken record, which is when you keep saying no over and over again, and just plain walking away.

I hope that when more people grow up they become just like Tom. I really don't want them to be a Rob because they won't live as long, and their lungs get all black and full of smoke. So, to help people in life I will try to make more people drug-free!
