120TH YEAR — NO. 39

One year later ... another major fire

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Exactly one year after the Black Knight restaurant was destroyed by fire, the Wayne Volunteer firemen were fighting a major fire in Wayne.

Wednesday evening at approximately 6:30 p.m. a fire was reported at 214 Nebraska Street, at a home owned by Alma Weiershauser.

Fire Chief Dutch Sitzman said when he arrived at the scene fire was coming out of the east side of the house and the porch was engulfed in flames.

Sitzman said the blaze was brought under control by 8:30 p.m. but some of the firefighters remained on the scene until 1 a.m. this morning to make sure there were no hot spots left.

The home was occupied by six tenants, several of whom were at home at the time of the blaze. Everyone got out safely and no injuries were reported.

Firefighters were hampered in their efforts to put out the blaze by stored furniture in the attic that kept feeding the fire. Firefighters also needed extra response time due to the Logan Street project which prevented them from going directly to the scene.

"There were also wood shingles under the asphalt shingles and any time there are multi-layers, it is difficult to get to the hot spots," Sitzman said.

The house received extensive damage and whether or not it can be repaired will be determined after Sitzman evaluates the house to determine the cause of the fire.

Wayne firefighters spent Wednesday evening fighting a blaze at 214 Nebraska Street. The fire was reported by Miron Jenness at 6:30 p.m. Jenness, in the center, lives across the street from the site of the blaze. He is also a member of the Red Cross who provided drinks to the firefighters at the scene. The cause of the blaze or the extent of the damage was not available at press time. No one was injured in the blaze which took approximately an hour and a half to bring under control.

School receives lottery funding

The Wayne Public Schools were awarded $114,943 from Nebraska lottery funds as announced Tuesday.

This was the district's third attempt at receiving the grant money.

The grant was written by Dr. Robert Uhing, Mary Ann Lutt and Dr. Dennis Jensen to "institute a program to use technology to enhance the K-8 Math curriculum."

According to the grant proposal the money will be used to "develop the 'Hands on and Authentic Learning Experiences in Mathematics Model' (HAMM).

The model actively involves students individually and in groups in exploring, conjecturing, analyzing and applying mathematics in Mathematical and real-world context.

"Upon completion of this project, the Wayne Schools will have written a new Math curriculum including the development of a new teaching model, utilizing a mathematics software package and Internet access in solving real world problems in mathematics," said Dr. Jensen.

The educational environment developed will provide opportunities to construct integrated systems in different subject area, thus developing student problem-solving and critical thinking skills.

"With the grant money we will be able to purchase Math software targeted for K-8 students in the Math discipline," Dr. Jensen said.

Of the total $114,943 grant, $19,000 will be spent for staff development, $51,000 for software and $44,000 to be used to purchase 20 computers for the K-4 building and 20 computers for the Middle School.

"We are very happy to have received the grant and feel really fortunate to have received the entire amount we requested," Dr. Jensen said.

The original grant had been cut from nearly $300,000 on the first attempt to the $114,943 that was received.

Committee to evaluate air quality

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

A committee of 10 people will evaluate the air quality at the Wayne Middle School and make a recommendation at the July Board of Education meeting.

During a special meeting Monday, the board voted to form a committee to look at air quality at the Middle School and make recommendations as to what needs to be done. The committee will consist of two members of the Board of Education, two members of the administration, two faculty members, two parents of Middle School students and two members of the community who do not have a direct connection to the school.

The committee is a result of concerns raised at the June board meeting concerning health problems encountered by students and staff at the Middle School.

Dr. Dennis Jensen, Superintendent of Schools, told the board that since the June meeting, a number of steps have been taken to determine the source of the problem and possible solutions.

The firm ATC Environment has been contacted. They propose to do a fungus study at a cost of $1,500.

Honeywell, Inc. has scheduled a walk-through of the building for later this week.

The Terminix Company presented an estimate of $5,600 for bat control for Carroll Elementary and the Middle School. The company would plug the holes and remove the visible bat droppings.

Ann Luce with the Department of Health was contacted regarding what procedures are necessary in determining what a sick building is. Her recommendation was that the steps the district is taking is what is encouraged.

Sidewalk project approved, traffic signal is eliminated

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Traffic lights and sidewalk replacement highlighted the Wayne City Council agenda at Tuesday's meeting.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster reported to the council that the traffic signal at the intersection of Third and Pearl Streets is not working and attempts to obtain parts to fix it have not been successful.

Webster said a traffic survey indicated that a stop sign at the intersection was effective. He added that the street department will paint crosswalks in the intersection that will require motorists to stop when pedestrians are in the area.

"We weighed the value of installing a traffic signal, which would have cost several thousand dollars with the installing of stop signs and felt this was the intelligent decision," Webster said.

The council gave approval for the removal of the traffic light and the installation of stop signs on Third Street. The option is still open for having a four-way stop at the intersection.

The council also voted to award a bid of $69,338 to Starostka Construction Company for sidewalk replacement in the district from Seventh to 10th Streets and from Main to Walnut Streets.

City Administrator Joe Salitros told the council he had contacted others who had had work done by the firm and "their work is of a quality nature."

A meeting of the residents in the district is possible before work begins.

The city council re-activated the Work continues on project

Work is continuing on the Logan Street project, with the removal stage nearing completion.

Through the weekend, the intersection at Fifth and Logan Streets will be closed to allow utilities to complete their portion of the project. After July 8 the intersection will be closed for the remainder of the project.

Beginning July 1, crews will be stripping the sod on the east side of Logan street to do water main work.

"Things have been going fairly smoothly so far," said Scott Milliken, project manager with the Nebraska Department of Roads.

Now that the removal phase of the project is complete, the city of Wayne will be selling the nearly 200,000 bricks that were removed.

The bricks will be sold for 25 cents each, with a maximum order of 5,000.

Payment is required before the bricks can be picked up. Those interested in purchasing the bricks should stop at City Hall to make the payment and contact Vern Schulz, Superintendent of Public Works or Harold Reynolds at 375-1300 to make arrangements for pick up.

WSC library has new director

A visit to the largest library in N.E. braska should not of necessity require any travel. Residents all over the region should be able to access on-line Wayne State College library information services from their personal computers.

The college's new director of library services, Dr. Stan Gardner, wants to make it possible for the public to log into the library to see what is available and he wants to make more of the library's resources available electronically.

Dr. Gardner came to Wayne from Missouri, where he was former acting state librarian and assistant commissioner of libraries. While in Missouri one of his responsibilities was to set up a statewide telecommunications network to provide libraries with connection to the Internet.

His background also includes international service. He spent three years in Oman from 1986-89 helping set up the library system and directing media services for the new Sultan Qaboo's University.

Much of his career has been devoted to developing share information resources and he said he intends to work on developing greater library networking within the region. As the largest library in the region, Gardner said he intends to visit public and school librarians in other communities to develop outreach services from the college and to familiarize his colleagues in the field with the services and curriculum available through the college.

Sharing resources between agencies to give the public better information services is basically a sound philosophy according to Dr. Gardner.

"Our library resources come from the taxpayer and we owe all those taxpayers availability to the best service we can give them," Dr. Gardner said.

"We're not a public library, per se," he said, adding Wayne State's library will always be academic. But, he added, that doesn't mean it would not have resources that would benefit public or other school libraries.

Likewise, he said he would like to see the WSC Library build on its academic approach by offering students a popular reading collection.

"We need to offer at least a small amount of materials that can be read for pleasure," he said. "Students need to have access to popular literature. It reflects what is happening in our culture."

While the WSC library's main focus will still be to support the academic curriculum on campus, encouraging a life of reading for pleasure should be the role of every library, whether academic or not, he explained.

He said he wants to upgrade the materials and build on what is already a "pretty good library" but one that needs to improve. Developing a system of contracting for library acquisitions, thereby saving money; making full text journals available on-line; working with other libraries and addressing the understaffing for the number of services provided and students served are all on Dr. Gardner's "to do" list.

"I am a great believer in the team approach to doing things," he said. "I want to work with the library staff and the faculty and staff as a team to develop a better library for Wayne State College and the region it serves."

Gardner also added he will be working to convince public and school librarians in the region that the WSC library is a resource they can use.

Dr. Gardner has degrees from Central Washington State College, University of Michigan and University of North Texas.

He and his wife Kathy, who is also a professional librarian and has taught Internet courses at the University of Missouri, have two children, Genelle, five and Christopher, two.

Jaycees plan fire works display

The Wayne County Jaycees are planning a fireworks display of the Fourth of July.

The display will be at Hank Overin Field on Windom Street, beginning at dusk (approximately 9:45 p.m.).

The $5,400 display has been made possible through a fireworks raffle and solicitations from the area business community.

The licensed pyrotechnicians for this year's show are Scott Brummond, Mike Nozicka and Tim Schmeits.

The 35 minute biannual event is free and open to the public.

The Jaycees encourage everyone to thank the local businesses and the city for the support of this event.

termine both the cause of the blaze and the extent of the damage.

Sitzman praised the efforts of a number of people who assisted in the fighting of the fire. Nearly 30 Wayne firefighters responded to the fire which allowed those who had arrived on scene first to be relieved. "With the temperature and the fire fighting, equipment, it gets pretty warm and it is nice to be able to see a break," Sitzman said.

The Wakelind Fire department also responded to the mutual aid call.

Providence Medical Center provided an ambulance on the scene should any of the firefighters have needed to be transported to the hospital.

The Red Cross provided drinks for the firefighters and Godfather's Pizza donated pizzas to those who were on the scene.

1996 Ag Transition signup progresses

"Enrollment in the 1996 farm program is now in full swing at Farm Service Agency (FSA) offices across Nebraska. Nebraska farmers are reminded that Friday, July 12 is the final date to enroll farms in the 7-year Agricultural Market Transition Program (AMTA)" noted FSA State Director Frank Johannsen.

Program signup began on May 20. The program is designed to transition producers to market oriented planting decisions. For 1996 and later years, there are no planting restrictions or set-asides. There are limitations on fruit and vegetable plantings under the new program.

Advance payments are available to program participants after signup. Fifty percent of the projected 1996 payment may be issued after signup requirements are met. Final 1996 transition payments will be issued Sept. 30, 1996.

"Nebraska farmers and landowners who have not made a signup appointment at their county office should do so immediately," recommended Johannsen. "This will ensure that we enroll the farms in the 7-year AMTA and issue advance payments due Nebraska's farmers."

Solid Waste Management/Recycling Committee for an additional 12 months during the time the city is working on a grant for the transfer station and establishing a garbage collection contract.

Jeff Zeiss, Recreation-Leisure Services Director, presented the council a program plan by which his department is developing a strategy to offer more leisure and after-school activities for the community.

A year ago the council had instructed Zeiss to attempt to allocate 25 percent of his budget to leisure activities.

After Tuesday's discussion, the council indicated that the goal was more toward 25 percent of the programs, rather than the budget because some of the leisure activities could be provided by volunteers in the community.

Granberg gets scholarships

A local student has been awarded scholarships from Mankato State University in Mankato, Minn., for the 1996-97 school year.

Erin Granberg of Wayne received a $750 President's Honor Scholarship and an In-State Tuition Scholarship. She is a 1996 graduate of Wayne High.

The In-State Tuition Scholarship allows the student to pay Minnesota resident tuition costs at the university. It is estimated that it will save the student about $3,000 for the school year.

The council also held a work session Tuesday for the purpose of working on a Solid Waste Collection Service plan.

The council went through a draft of a plan that is in effect in Bellvue and discussed changes that would be necessary for Wayne.

Discussion centered on types of containers for solid waste, collection sites, complaints and the pick up of recyclables.

Salitros informed the council that the county will present a preliminary levy to the city on Sept. 10 which will give the tax payer some idea of what the tax asking will be.

The council will be given the city's proposed budget on approximately Sept. 5 so they will be able to discuss it at the Sept. 10 meeting. A public hearing will be held during the last council meeting in September.

Dale Pokett receives his letter of commendation.

Service Station

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Dale Pokett, son of Nila Pokett of Wayne, was recently selected as Youth Programs Coordinator of the Year and received a Letter of Commendation while serving at Navy Recruiting District, Omaha.

Pokett was chosen as the unit's top performer and was cited for outstanding professional accomplishment, proficiency, leadership, initiative and military bearing.

The 1988 graduate of Wayne Carroll High School joined the Navy in June 1988.

Forty 4-Hers participated in the annual Wayne County BB Gun and Air Rifle Invitational held at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

Sharp Shooters sponsor invitational in Wayne

Forty shooters from five counties competed at the third annual Wayne County BB Gun and Air Rifle Invitational held June 23 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.
The event was sponsored by the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club of Wayne County.
The 4-Hers shot their BB Guns and Air Rifles from the prone, standing, kneeling and sitting positions. Each position's targets were worth a possible 100 points, for a total of 400 points possible.
Winning the Junior BB Gun Division, ages eight to 11, was Adam Dvorak from Holt County with a score of 355. Placing second was Kalli Asher, also from Holt County. Third place was earned by Kari Wullschleger from Stafton County.
In the Senior BB Gun division, ages 12 to 15 Becky Kudara from Stanton County scored 366 points. Brian Kudara, also from Stanton County, placed second and Kerry Kopecky from Holt County was third.
In the Air Rifle contest Scott Kudara from Stanton County placed first with 320 points. David Thomson from Pierce County placed second and Heidi Wullschleger from Stanton County placed third.
The top three finishers in each division earned a medal for their efforts. These medals were donated by Doeschers Appliance, Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency and State Farm Insurance. Fourth through 10th place received ribbons. The shooter with the best score in each position in each division also earned a medal.

A team competition was also held in conjunction with the shoot. Teams were made up of 4-Hers from each county shooting BB guns. Their individual scores were combined to form team totals. Winning the trophy donated by Discount Furniture was the Stanton County Team #1. Holt County was second.

The 4-H shooting sports project teaches youngsters about gun safety and helps show that shooting can be a lifetime sport. Those involved in the 4-H program start out shooting BB guns and advance to air rifles and .22 caliber rifles. They learn about shooting sports that are both recreational and competitive.
Other areas included in the 4-H shooting sports project include archery, air pistol, shotgun, muzzle-loading and high power rifles.
For more information on this and other 4-H projects, contact the Wayne County Extension Office at (402) 375-3310.

Nebraska to impose ultimate penalty

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Nebraska is once again on the verge of imposing the ultimate penalty.

Barring a last-minute court order, John Joubert will be put to death in the state's oak electric chair on Friday.

It will be the first time the death chamber will be used since Walkin' Willie Otey was put to death two years ago. He, of course, was the first convicted killer to be executed since Charlie Starkweather in 1959.

For plenty of reasons, this execution—if it comes off, as most people expect—will likely be a much quieter event than when Otey was put to death.

The chief reason is that there's little sympathy for Joubert. Even death penalty opponents admit that he is a poor poster child for ending capital punishment.

Joubert, then an Offutt airman, stalked, kidnapped, molested and murdered two young Sarpy County boys in 1983.

The crimes terrorized the suburban Omaha area. Children were not allowed to walk to school. Parents nervously eyed strange vehicles. Composite drawings of the monster who killed kids were as common as auction bills in store windows.

He told an Omaha World-Herald reporter recently that he still battles dreams of abducting and terrorizing kids.

Joubert is what death penalty supporters say the electric chair was designed for: to rid society of its worst criminals. Criminals for whom death is the only way to stop them from killing.

The mother of Danny Joe Eberle, Judy, wanted to make doubly sure that Joubert would not do again what he had done to her son: she made an unprecedented inquiry about becoming an official witness to his execution. She later dropped the matter, but the emotion behind the request was obvious.

Death-penalty opponents have long said they don't want executions to become so commonplace that Nebraskans take them for granted and let them proceed without pause.

That will be a tough argument to make, however, with John Joubert awaiting his date with the electric chair.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Wakefield Heritage Days

How do you play the game?

World athletes, network cameras, and thrill seekers will be heading for Atlanta next month.

Media pundits will likely exhaust their vocabularies explaining the thrill of victory, and agony of defeat.

What about the philosophy of the games?

Who was it, a losing coach perhaps, who first said "It isn't whether you win or lose, but it's how you play the game"? Those usually aren't the words of winners.

Who would be so foolish as to believe athletes would enter a contest believing they were going to lose: competing merely to show spectators "how" they could play the game!

Are we talking top level "spin" control?

"It isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game" smacks of half-way determinism which has crept over the American scene. Can any of you war veterans imagine yourselves saying, while fighting overseas, "It isn't whether we win or lose, but how we fight the war!" If it weren't so serious, it would be hilarious.

When one competes with the best of one's ability, it should mean having a single intent, defeating the opponent. If bringing the opponent to defeat is offensive to a player, even after observing all the rules of sportsmanship, then it would be best for that player to get into some noncompetitive enterprise, if such exists.

Even some educators embrace the concept that graduating classes should no longer honor a valedictorian or salutatorian because it causes the non-honored student to feel inferior. That same logic could also assume to do away with titles such as "teacher", "coach", "principal", or "superintendent", since such might make others feel less important!

Pardon me, but watch the Atlanta games and note this old world doesn't hand out medals and awards to the defeated. Gold, silver and bronze get star billing. Non-winners need not be ashamed as they had the fun of competing.

Should you be the type of competitor harboring secret hopes, then hope your next opponent believes "It isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game." Because if winning isn't the number one priority, the participant will likely lose.

Desire gave the Bulls another NBA championship. Or can we say with a straight face, "It wasn't important to them whether they won or lost, they were just showing us how to play the game!"

And rue the day when we substitute "pay" for "play"

Encountering rural intersections

Alternating rain and sunshine have given the crops a big boost. Will the corn be "knee high by the Fourth of July"? Good possibility, but we'll have to wait and see.

Weeds continue to thrive, so visibility at some rural intersections may become a genuine hazard.

The rural motorist is mostly on his own with few traffic controls to assist. Approaching traffic may be easily hidden, which calls for utmost caution.

Tall corn, poles, uncut weeds and heavily foliated trees may block a driver's vision of vehicles approaching the same crossroad. Such intersections are a normal part of our rural environment, but sometimes we need to be reminded.

City driving requires numerous skills, but there are ample traffic control devices. Rural drivers, likely some of the country's best, encounter hilltops over which one can not see oncoming traffic, gravel surfaces in need of grading, livestock crossings, narrow grades and blind corners. Popping over the top of a graveled hill at 50 mph only to confront a slow moving farm vehicle, or a road maintainer, is a dangerous situation for everyone involved.

Just a timely reminder for us all to practice exceptional caution.

Car wash good for environment

Those wanting to protect the environment are encouraged to take their cars to a professional car wash where they use less water and dispose of waste water properly.

As surprising as this may sound to those who have always washed their cars in the driveway, home car washing wastes water. A driveway car wash uses approximately 100 gallons per car, according to an independent study by Lycott Environmental Research. The study also found that, in some cases, up to 148 gallons of water were used.

According to International Carwash Association (ICA), a non-profit trade association representing 3,000 professional car wash owners who operate more than 12,000 individual care washes around the world, the average self-serve car wash uses only 30 gallons of water per car—about half the water needed to wash one load of laundry.

State environmental authorities are discouraging car owners from washing cars in their driveway. Experts point out that the soapy discharge from driveway washing enters storm drains, where it flows into nearby lakes, streams and ponds.

The detergents, which often contain phosphates, encourage rapid growth of algae and plants. This, in turn, accelerates Eutrophication, a process by which ponds eventually fill in and die.

An unpleasant odor and taste, as well as fishkills are the result of phosphorous overload, causing the pond to become less attractive to swimmers and boaters.

Wayne Community Theatre Board of Directors thanks area for support

Dear N.E.braska,

We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone in the area for all the support you have given to the Wayne Community Theatre. Because of your enthusiasm, the Wayne Community Theatre has been able to bring wonderful productions to our area for over two decades.

Regretfully, we have had to cancel this year's summer musical due to renovations that are being made at the Wayne High School Lecture Hall. We are truly pleased and thankful that the school board and community are addressing the pressing safety concerns of the stage lights.

As the years have passed and usage of the lecture hall has increased the lights have deteriorated now to a point of truly no return. We commend the school for addressing this vital concern. Your children and ours will now have a safer place to demonstrate their talents-vocal, instrumental and theatrical.

Since an alternative facility, appropriate to our needs for producing the musical, was not available, we will instead be doing "Charley's Aunt," a hilarious comedy set at the turn of the century.

We have a cast and the work has begun. We hope you will come to the Carriage House Theatre August 15-18 and see this outstanding performance by some of the best talent in N.E.braska.

The Wayne Community Theatre is also again sponsoring a children's theatre workshop this summer for first through eighth grades. Kim Imdieke is providing the leadership and the kids will perform a show to culminate all their work. We are grateful to Kim for sharing her love of theatre with the kids.

In closing, thank you to Wayne and surrounding communities (Laurel, Concord, Dixon, Carroll, Winside, Wisner, Pilger, Wakefield and Pender) for your patronage and

Goodwill says thanks

Goodwill Industries/Wall Street Mission in Sioux City thanks the citizens of Wayne for their support during the recent community-wide drive.

"We appreciate all of the good usable donations," stated Fred support. With your help we will continue to bring quality experiences and entertainment to N.E.braska.

Wayne Community Theatre Board of Directors

Pilecki, vice president of industrial resources for Goodwill.

A total of 20,000 pounds of clothing and small household items were donated. The donations will help handicapped and disadvantaged individuals and training they receive.

Wayne legion baseball team improves record to 10-8

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

The Wayne Junior Legion baseball team improved to 10-8 on Monday with a 11-9 win at Tekamah. Ryan Junck hurled a three-hitter with seven strikeouts to get the win. Wayne pounded out 11 hits including three each by Junck and Jamey Holdorf. Holdorf also scored three times.

Last Friday, Wayne defeated Hartington 10-4. Jeremy Lutt struck out nine and allowed just one hit to get the win in relief of Cody Stracke. Holdorf, Stracke, Josh Starzl and Robbie Nelson each had a pair of base hits.

On Wednesday, June 19th, Wayne beat Oakland 10-5. Junck struck out a dozen to record the pitching victory. Lutt was 2-3 at the plate with a grand slam and five RBIs. Holdorf was 2-2 with a homer and four runs scored.

Midgets split pair of games at South Sioux

On Sunday, the Wayne Midgets played a pair of games in South Sioux City. In the first game, the Midgets came away with a 12-11 victory over Vermillion, S.D. Wayne trailed 11-10 going into the bottom of the seventh. Brad Maryott and Robbie Sturm each singled to put the winning run on base. Adam Endicott drove in the tying run with a sacrifice and Ryan Sturm drove in the game-winner with a base hit. Maryott was 5-5 at the plate with five runs scored and four stolen bases, while Ryan Sturm collected three singles and three RBIs. Area athletes rank high

The Sports Medicine Center, an affiliate of Methodist Health System, has recently completed the second semester session of the National Athletic Testing Program (NATP). A total of 9,938 athletes were evaluated at 126 high schools throughout Nebraska.

The NATP assists in predicting an individual's raw athleticism and provides a baseline for future achievement. Each athlete receives a personal profile and NATP Index Score which is calculated by computing four testing component scores (upper and lower body power, agility and acceleration) and then factoring in the size of the athlete. The Index score allows athletes of unequal size to be compared equally.

Wakefield's Alison Benson and Wayne's Katie Lutt each finished among the top 25 females in Nebraska. Benson's score of 807 tied her for 10th in the state, while Lutt ranked 19th with a score of 778. Jeremy Beckenhauer was Wayne's top male athlete with a score of 1528, while Ryan Hoffman led Wakefield with a 1408. Jaimey Holdorf (1485) and Wendy Miller (723) ranked as Winside's top athletes, while Jeff Wattier (1259) and Megan Adkins (700) paced Laurel-Concord.

Thompson signs with Padres

Joe Thompson

Joe Thompson, a left-handed pitcher on the Wayne State College baseball team the last two seasons, has agreed to a contract to play with the San Diego Padres organization. Thompson reported on Wednesday to Peoria, Arizona where he will play with the Padres' Rookie A squad.

Thompson, a native of North Platte, led all Wildcat pitchers in nearly every statistical category this season. He was the team leader in wins (8), ERA (2.88), complete games (5), innings pitched (72) and strikeouts (52). WSC opponents had just a .201 batting average against Thompson. Following the 1996 season, he was named All-Central Region by the American Baseball Coaches Association.

Prior to attending WSC, Thompson played at Bellevue University and Iowa Western Community College. The Wildcats, coached by John Manganaro, finished the 1996 season with a record of 24-20.

COMMUNITY CLUB

Eighteen attended the June meeting of the Allen Community Club. Following the meal and exotic animal swap meet report by guests Mike and Valerie Isom, president Judy Olson called the meeting to order.

Sheila volunteered to clean the caboose and the paint is here. The group decided to call members later to let them know if the caboose will be painted at the next meeting. A thank you will be sent to Donna Schroeder's father for his assistance in the caboose project. It was decided to get estimates for the gazebo supplies, get the supplies and plan a work night.

It was suggested to invite president Mash from Wayne State to speak at a future meeting. It was brought up that Allen is working to obtain in-state tuition for Allen graduates attending Western Iowa Tech. It was decided to draft a letter from the Community Club in support of this effort.

The club will make the tea and lemonade for the family fun-run. They will also pay for the pens each runner will receive.

Jack Kavanaugh asked the club to provide breakfast for the River City Roundup riders in September. It was decided to do this and a committee was set up.

It was reported that the proposed site for the sand volleyball court may be sold, so alternate suggestions are needed. Contact Judy with ideas.

Following the meeting, members toured the caboose.

VETERAN'S MEMORIAL

According to Legion Commander Willie Hagstrom, a new Veteran's Memorial will be placed at the east side of the school parking lot. A sample of the memorial is there now. The event is made possible by a variety of sponsors. Security National Bank will be buying the medals and trophies this year. The Cash Store will provide fruit for the runners. Allen Community Club will bring tea and lemonade along with giving each participant an "Allen Family Fun Run Finisher" ink pen. The Dixon County Sheriff's Dept. will help with traffic control. Various volunteers also assist the night of the race. Contact Dale Jackson if you would like to help.

Those planning to run need not preregister, but arrive before 7 p.m. to get numbers.

Freezing is a simple and easy way to preserve fruits. They will keep up to a year without losing their quality.

Containers for Freezing
Good containers keep frozen foods from drying out and preserve food value, color, flavor and texture. A good quality wrapping material or container is moisture-vapor resistant to prevent loss of liquid and flavor. It does not give a flavor of its own and is clean and durable.

Tempered glass, plastic and heavily-waxed cardboard containers are suitable cartons for liquid packs. Heavy plastic bags, specifically developed for use in the freezer are best for dry-packed vegetables and fruits. Over-wrap thin plastic packages with another plastic bag to prevent tears.

Packing
Pack food tightly to cut down on the amount of air in the package. Air draws moisture from the food, containers, leaving 1/2-inch headspace.

Syrup Pack - Wet Pack with Syrup: A 40 percent syrup (3 cups sugar in 4 cups water) is recommended for most fruits. Lighter syrups are desirable for some mild flavored fruits; heavier syrups may be needed for very sour fruits. It takes 1/2 to 2/3 cup of syrup for each pint of fruit. To make syrup, dissolve sugar in hot water and chill before using. Place the prepared fruit in sturdy, leaf-proof containers and cover with syrup, leaving 1-inch headspace for expansion. Fruit has a tendency to float to the top where it changes color when exposed to the air. Therefore, to keep the fruit under the syrup, place a small piece of crumpled freezer paper on top and press the fruit down into the syrup before closing the container. (Substitutions: 1/4 of the sugar may be replaced by light corn syrup. For different flavors - use honey or maple syrup for 1/4 of the sugar.)

Unsweetened Pack - Dry Pack: Some fruits such as raspberries, currants, figs, blueberries, gooseberries, cranberries, pineapple, rhubarb and strawberries freeze successfully without sugar. Crushed or sliced fruit can be packed in its own juice or covered with water containing ascorbic acid (vitamin C), available in pharmacies or grocery stores.

Fill containers to within 1 inch of the top. Fruit may also be dry packed - that is packed without added sugar or liquid. Fill containers to within 1/2 inch of the top.

You may also dry pack fruits by first freezing them on a cookie sheet and then put them in a container. This method allows you to measure amounts as needed throughout the year. Tray frozen fruit is not as likely to stick together.

How to Keep Fruit from Darkening

Ascorbic acid (vitamin C), can be added to prevent the darkening of light-colored fruits. Dissolve 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon of crystalline ascorbic acid in a little cold water. In the syrup pack, add the dissolved ascorbic acid to 1 quart of cold syrup shortly before using. In the sugar pack, sprinkle the dissolved ascorbic acid over the fruit just before adding the sugar. In the unsweetened pack, sprinkle the dissolved ascorbic acid over the fruit and mix thoroughly just before packing. If fruit is packed in water, dissolve the ascorbic acid in the water. Six vitamin C tablets of 500 mg each can be crushed (equal to 1 teaspoon) and added to 1 quart of water. Vitamin C is used most often with apples, apricots, nectarines, peaches and pears.

There are special anti-darkening preparations on the market. If you use one of these, follow the manufacturer's directions or steam-bleach for 3-5 minutes, depending on the size of pieces. Plain lemon juice may also be used to prevent fruit from darkening, but is not as effective as ascorbic acid and may add its own flavor to the fruit.

Specific fruit instructions are in NebGuide G76-57, "Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables." Contact your local Extension Office for a copy.

resulting in a poor quality product. Allow ample headspace (1/2 to 1 inch) because food expands as it freezes. Seal carefully.

Loading the Freezer
Freeze fruits as soon as they are packed and store them at 0° F for best quality.

Put no more unfrozen food into a home freezer than will freeze within 24 hours. This is usually two to three pounds of food to each cubic foot of freezer capacity. Overloading slows the rate of freezing, so foods may lose quality or spoil.

Preparation
All fruits need to be washed in cold water, a small quantity at a time. Do not let the fruit stand in water. Drain fruits thoroughly. Prepare enough fruit for only a few containers at one time.

The intended use helps decide whether to freeze the fruit whole, in pieces, juiced, crushed or pureed. Small fruits and berries can be frozen whole. Large fruits are usually halved or sliced. Most fruits and berries can also be frozen crushed or as puree for use as fruit toppings or fillings. Good parts of less perfect fruits are suitable for purees. Juice pressed from fruit or berries can be sweetened slightly before freezing.

How to Pack
Most fruits have a better texture and flavor if they are packed in sugar or syrup. Some can be packed without sweetening. Fruits packed in syrup are generally best for dessert use, those packed in sugar or unsweetened are best for use in cooking.

Sugar Pack or Wet Pack: Cut fruit into a bowl or shallow pan. Sprinkle sugar over the fruit. Use a large spoon or pancake turner to mix. Mix gently until the juice is drawn out and the sugar is dissolved. Put fruit and juice into

Sleep not been bothered by stormy weather

It's Monday morning, the 24th, and we've survived several days of "stormy weather." We've not only survived it, we've slept through it.

Memorial Day weekend, while we were in Waco, we lost some big branches. In fact, one was hanging in the drive way and had to be moved before we could drive in.

Thursday evening, three gals from the Norfolk arrived mid-afternoon. They went into Omaha to dinner and "West Side Story." I settled in front of the TV about 9:30 to watch the 80th birthday salute to Sinatra. (I think my mom looks and acts younger!) The program kept getting interrupted with tornado alerts, the wind was blowing, and it was raining. The news told of flash floods and a tornado near Arlington. That's not far from us. It got to be 11:00 and the ladies were not home. The weather had moved into Omaha.

I left the porch light on and the door open and went to bed at 11:30, they drove in. The driver, Vonnie was frightened and could not believe I was in bed. We visited for awhile, and watched the lightning. I told them this house was one hundred years old and went back to bed: So did two of the guests. Vonnie sat in front of the TV and tracked the weather. I told them that under no circumstances could they go in my basement!

I learned on Friday that the sirens went off at 1 a.m. in Seward, so Sue and Monte had their TV on and learned of warnings in Cass County and almost called. And, my Mom had her radio on and almost called. Fortunately, neither did, and I slept through it.

On Sunday, we were at a family reunion in York. Stopping in Seward at 3:30, Sue informed us of another warning in Cass County. Since we were going to an anniversary in Mead, we kept the radio on. When we arrived home at 6:30, we found that Kay had slept through, oblivious to any weather warnings. There was damage 3 miles north of Weeping Water, we learned later.

I went to Norfolk on Friday afternoon and was saddened by all the water along 275, at Beemer. Coming home from Mead, north of Ashland, more fields are flooded. North of Valparaiso is obvious hail damage. All the center pivots are sitting idle. We are at the mercy of the elements. Farmers do not have to go to the casinos: every day is a gamble for them.

Incidentally, I sat opposite another farmer's wife at a convention in Norfolk on Saturday. She sounded as discouraged as I did 10 years ago. Something like 90 percent of current farm income is off-farm. That makes no sense to me.

Anyway, if I don't get blown away, I'll be back next week. Stay cool!

4-H News

BLUE RIBBON WINNERS 4-H CLUB

Seventeen members of the Blue Ribbon Winners 4-H Club answered roll call at the June 17 meeting held in the Winside park. There were 15 parents also present. Ken Hall, adult leader, opened the meeting with the flag salutes. A brief report was given on last month's animal grooming demonstrations done at the Brad Roberts farm.

Fair books and passes were handed out. Each member was instructed to pick up their own fair entry tags at the extension office around the first of July. They need to be returned by July 15. Reserve stall sheets for animals will be mailed to each family soon and will need to be sent back to the extension office.

Work schedules for the 4-H stand were discussed. The club will ask for the Thursday and Friday afternoon shifts. All adults are to bring a pic when they work their shift.

Members decided not to hold a club tour in July. They will however have an afternoon picnic on July 21 at the Carroll park at 1:30 p.m. Each family should bring their own table ware, beverages, hot dogs and one covered dish. Afterwards, there will be ball games and horseshoes. Those who wish to rest should bring ideas and maybe materials to work on a club theme booth for the fair.

Jon Jaeger, news reporter.

HELPING HANDS 4-H CLUB

The Helping Hands 4-H Club met June 10 at the Brad Schaller home. Lindy Fleer was elected secretary to replace Julie Schaller who resigned to work at a summer camp. Steven Fleer will be the new flag bearer. Members decided to make a banner for the county fair.

Perry Schaller gave a presentation on handling a rabbit. Lindy Fleer gave a demonstration on the importance of smoke detectors.

Guest speaker LaVerle McDonald, deputy State Fire Marshal was unable to attend but will speak about fire safety at a later date.

Next meeting will be July 2 at Robin Fleer's home at 7:30 p.m. Members are to bring a completed project.

Rails to Trails... Taking shape across Nebraska

The longest rails-to-trails conversion in the nation will soon be boosting tourism and the economy in the Norfolk area. The trail, linking Norfolk and Chadron, will span 320 miles on the bed of the former Chicago and North Western railroad route.

Ken Berney, Lower Elkhorn NRD Assistant Manager of programs, commented that nationwide interest in recreational trails is booming right now. "Those of us who live here will be amazed at the number of people and the distance they travel to use the Cowboy Trail," Berney added.

Salvagers have already removed most rails and ties across the 320-mile trail. In Madison county, salvagers are removing the rock ballast and the area will be graded in preparation for surfacing next year.

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission has been approved for a grant from the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) to cover 80% of the cost of laying a surface on the 25 miles of trail between Norfolk and Neligh. The trail will be surfaced with crushed limestone or concrete, and could be open for use sometime in 1997.

Julie Schmit, LENRD Information and Education Coordinator, commented that the trail will be an exciting addition to the recreational options in Norfolk. "I know it will benefit the community and feel strongly that the trail will be put to good use."

Berney stated that businesses in other areas are already planning tour packages for the Cowboy Trail.
