

Medicare rights are discussed in Wayne

There will be a special presentation regarding Medicare rights on Thursday, Aug. 29. The event will be held at the Wayne Senior Center, 306 Pearl Street, beginning with a noon meal, followed by the presentation at 1 p.m. Reservations for the meal must be in by 1 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 28. Laura Ousley, I.P.N., education coordinator with the Sunderbruch Corporation Nebraska, will discuss Medicare rights, the provider payment system and general Medicare resource information. In addition, information will be provided about Medicare coverage for screening mammograms, influenza and pneumonia vaccinations and health promotion and disease prevention. For more information, call Georgia Janssen at (402) 375-1460. The presentation is a community service of the Sunderbruch Corporation Nebraska, the Lincoln-based health management company that works with physicians and hospitals to monitor the quality of health care provided to Medicare consumers throughout the state. Nebraskans with question or concerns about their hospital care and Medicare coverage and rights are encouraged to call the company's Medicare Consumer Information Helpline at 1-800-247-3004.

Red Cross to offer fall disaster classes

The Wayne County American Red Cross Chapter will be offering the following disaster classes this fall. Anyone who is interested is invited to take the classes, free of charge. The Introduction to Disaster class must be taken before any of the other classes. Each of the disaster classes is repeated to help fit into the schedules of those taking the class. Introduction to Disaster will be offered from 7-10 p.m. on Mon. Aug. 26 and Tues. Aug. 27. The class provides a fundamental overview of disasters, the community response and the role of the Red Cross Disaster Services with an emphasis on the Wayne County Emergency Operations Plan. Damage Assessment will be offered from 7-10 p.m. on Tues. Sept. 3 and Mon. Sept. 9. Damage Assessment prepares the Red Cross worker to obtain and report damage assessment information and provide operational support on disaster operations which might involve a single family fire to multiple dwellings. Shelter Operations Workshop will be held from 7-10 p.m. on Tues. Sept. 10 and Mon. Sept. 16. Shelter Operations prepares Red Cross staff to effectively and sensitively manage shelter operations as a team to meet the needs of individuals and families displaced as a result of a disaster. Emergency Assistance to Families I, Part I will be offered from 7-10 p.m. on Tues. Sept. 17 and Mon. Sept. 23. Emergency Assistance to Families I, Part II will be offered from 7-10 p.m. on Tues. Sept. 24 and Mon. Sept. 30. These two classes enable the Red Cross staff to meet the emergency needs of individuals and families on an individual basis following a disaster. This course is designed to help participants develop interviewing skills, knowledge, attitudes and relationships necessary to meet the disaster caused needs of

Students eligible for ROTC

Students at Wayne State College are now eligible for enrollment in the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) thanks to an agreement the College has signed with the Army and the University of South Dakota, Vermillion. The agreement makes Wayne State one of only three sites in Nebraska where students can enroll in a ROTC program which provides military management and leadership training, college funding and an officer's commission upon graduation. "It is basically another financial aid option available for students," said Lt. Col. William Fleser, commander of the ROTC program at Vermillion. "We are excited about the opportunity to provide enrollment and training to students at Wayne," he said. Fleser said the Simultaneous

Membership Program offered to students at WSC and USD is very beneficial to juniors and seniors who qualify. He predicted that three to five students from Wayne State would be enrolled in the program each year. They would technically be members of the USD ROTC unit while still maintaining status as full-time WSC students. He said he expects several of the "WS" students currently enrolled in the National Guard while they are in college to be attracted to the ROTC program. Under the current structure, students from WSC attend a class in Vermillion one night a week. In addition, they will attend regular drills and training with USD ROTC students. There are substantial benefits for the ROTC cadet, explained Fleser. Besides a $150 per month stipend, the cadets receive GI Bill benefits, full-time pay for drill, tuition wavers and are eligible for additional scholarships. To become a ROTC cadet a full-time student must be enrolled in the Army Reserve or National Guard and have completed basic training or equivalent. The student must also have achieved junior standing in college and maintained at least a 2.0 grade point average. Upon completion of the ROTC program, the officer has an eight-year service obligation which can be fulfilled in the reserve forces, as an active-duty Army officer or a combination of the two. The new ROTC Simultaneous Membership Program will provide additional educational benefits for Wayne State students and we are excited about being able to offer these new and rewarding opportunities to young men and women who qualify," said Bonnie Scramby, assistant vice president for enrollment management at Wayne State. Fleser said he is pleased with the agreement reached between Wayne State, USD and the Army that will give WSC students an opportunity to take advantage of benefits of Army training while in college. He said it is especially important to have another location in Nebraska where students can participate in ROTC since the University of Nebraska-Kearney canceled its ROTC program last year. The only other ROTC campuses besides WSC in Nebraska now are at Creighton University and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. As the chief administrator of the Simultaneous Membership Program, Fleser added he hopes the planned Missouri River bridge between Newcastle and Vermillion will be built soon. The new bridge will cut nearly an hour off the trip between the two campuses.

Kiwanis sponsors car seat program

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

"The safety of children is the main focus of this program," said Jennifer Phelps in regard to the Kiwanis Car Seat Program which offers car seats, free of charge, to those who need them. The Wayne Kiwanis Club has adopted the national Kiwanis program of offering car seats to area residents who need them, either for short- or long-term use. Mrs. Phelps said she has been interested in the possibility of starting a program in Wayne since attending the National Kiwanis Convention several years ago. The Wayne group contacted the Nebraska Department of Highway Safety, requesting 10 car seats which were given to the group free of charge. The car seats arrived approximately one month ago and already three of them have been loaned out. "There are no income guidelines or any other stipulations for receiving a car seat. They are available to anyone who feels they have a need for one," Mrs. Phelps said. The two general target groups for the program are young parents who may not be able to afford a car seat and persons who may have relatives with young children visiting or spending time with them. "If grandchildren are staying for a short time, the grandparents can get a car seat from us and save the parents from having to worry about the car seat," Mrs. Phelps said. She added that she would like to see the program expanded to include other items such as playpens and strollers. The car seats are located at the First Presbyterian Church and can be picked up weekdays from 9 a.m.

Jennifer Phelps, coordinator of the Kiwanis Car Seat Program, looks over the car seats that are available for loan from the group. The Wayne program is part of a national Kiwanis effort to ensure safety for young children when riding in a vehicle. Car seats can be used for a day, a week or even a year, depending upon the individual's need. The car seats that the group has available are the convertible-type, designed to grow with a toddler. "This fact also ties in with a program being sponsored by the hospital which offers infant seats to new parents. When the child outgrows the infant seat, we are here to provide additional protection for children," Mrs. Phelps said. Although Mrs. Phelps has been one of those instrumental in getting the project going, she acknowledges that the project has been a club effort. "All of the members have helped with this project, including the distributing of the flyers informing the public of our plans," she said. Plans call for members of the group to speak at a daycare provider's meeting to help inform those with children that this service is available.

Record

Darrel Heier, left, received a certificate from Rick Larsen, director of the National REAL organization after completion of his training.

Heier attends Institute

Darrel Heier of Wayne Community Schools was one of 44 educators from eight states who spent 10 days at a REAL Institute in Ellersburg, Wash.

REAL stands for Rural Entrepreneurship through Action Learning and is a non-profit educational organization dedicated to helping rural high schools and post-secondary institutions create entrepreneurship programs which allow students to create their own small-business and explore self-employment.

"The REAL Institute was a very interesting and consuming 10 days, designed to teach teachers how to teach entrepreneurship using a variety of activities applying them to different learning styles."

Wayne Community Schools is part of a growing network of REAL schools across the nation. Teachers from 18 states, as well as the United Kingdom and Eritrea, East Africa have been trained to teach REAL.

Heier and the Wayne Community Schools will offer the REAL program beginning Aug. 26 with a class called Entrepreneurship.

For more information contact the school at (402) 375-3150.

Hochstein participates in project

Dale Hochstein, a biology teacher at Wayne High School, participated in the first annual Technology in Education Summer Institute, sponsored by the South Central Regional Technology in Education Consortium.

The project is funded by the U.S. Department of Education to promote the integration of technology in K-12 education.

The Institute was held Aug. 5-7 and hosted by the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan.

Hochstein was selected based on his leadership in the innovative and exemplary use of technology to improve education and facilitate learning.

As a participant, he will continue to mentor education colleagues in the district, contribute to a collection of essays describing an application of technology in education and collaborate with SCR*TEC and the other participants to advance the use of technology to improve students' learning.

individuals and families. Both part I and part II must be completed for certification.

(The asterisk denotes that these courses have a prerequisite course-Introduction to Disaster.)

These four ARC Disaster courses will be held in the Wayne County Chapter house at Ninth and Main Streets (formerly the Smart Set).

The Wayne County ARC Chapter must provide service in times of disasters in Wayne County according to the Wayne County Emergency Management Plan (LEOP). The chapter is charged with providing mass care-feeding, sheltering, etc and with providing the same services for single family fires.

"In order for the chapter to provide these must services, it must have trained volunteers in each community in the county-Wayne, Winside, Hoskins, Carroll and Sholes," said Miron Jenness, Wayne County Disaster Chairperson.

Carroll currently has a trained ARC response team of approximately 20 persons.

Besides each community having a cadre of trained disaster response persons, the chapter must develop a disaster committee at the chapter level from the trained personnel.

The National ARC has laid new operating ground rules for chapters. A chapter will no longer be able to exist in a passive status.

Who should consider the courses?

"The chapter would like to have a broad range of persons from each of the communities that currently lack trained ARC disaster person-mergency management staff (Civil Defense), local governing persons and employees, law enforcement, city and county, fire and EMS, all levels of nursing and other interested community volunteers-churches, service organizations, American Legion, Eagles, Jaycees, Rotary, etc," Jenness said.

This is plea for the survival of your Wayne County ARC Chapter.

Each community must do its part for the overall county disaster planning, preparation, responding and helping to recover should a disaster take place in the county- tornadoes, straight winds, blizzards, and rain storms that cause sewers and water systems to be breached.

These courses are open to other chapters and those persons who are in counties that do not have existing chapters such as Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Pierce.

"These courses can be offered in the individual communities as was done in Carroll if someone in the community will head the effort," Jenness added.

Jenness is also the Zone 8 Disaster Chair which includes 23 N.E. braska counties and will be offering classes in a number of locations this fall.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

You all know the old saying, "The more things change, the more they stay the same!" Or, what goes around, comes around! We came across a couple of paragraphs in searching the microfilm files of The Wayne Herald. The then city librarian, Mrs. F.A. Mildner, wrote a library column entitled In Bookland. Her comments from the Aug. 16 and Sept. 12, 1956 issues are interesting and we repeat them here.

"There is a great deal of difference between an eager man who wants to read a book and a tired one who wants a book to read. We try to serve both at the Wayne public library. That is why we try to make our book stock as diversified as possible. There are still folks who think the library is a place to get a story book. True, we have many story books but they are only a fraction of the entire number of books we have on every subject imaginable."

"While the services of the library may have become indispensable to the community it seems that the librarians are not. This week our chief librarian, Mrs. Catherine Shell, resigned to take a teaching position in Wisner. She quit the library with great reluctance because she liked the work very much but since school teaching pays three or even four times as much as a librarian's salary, with shorter hours, fewer vacations and even less education required, it is not hard to understand why people don't stay in library work. It was once suggested to your librarian that something had gone out of our American way of life since people no longer were willing to work for the love of the work like doctors and teachers used to do. The implication was, of course, that librarians should still feel that way about it. Unfortunately librarians must eat and wear clothes and, while they may be a peculiar breed, they also enjoy the comforts of life as well as other people. Possibly someday the taxpayers will understand what library work really is."

And this next really sounded familiar, although we have not been in quite this position!

"Eventually they bring them back!! We can prove that most books are returned to the library although we have to sometimes say "better late than never." To illustrate the point we had a book returned last week for which an overdue notice had been sent July 7, 1943. Yes, that's right... 1943! The people who found it and returned it had been cleaning an attic and there it was among the things left by the previous occupant. Now think carefully... do you have an overdue book lying around your house that you have forgotten... perhaps forgotten so long that you are ashamed to bring it in? This should give you the courage because surely yours hasn't been due since July 1943 and we want everyone to know that we would rather have them back late than not at all."

And to that we can only add "Amen! Right on!"

There seems to be nothing more to add, so we'll end this with a reminder that our hours are noon to 8 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday. We are here to help. Drop in.

Jammer earns degree

Bill Jammer of Jammer Photography in Wayne received the Master of Photography degree from Professional Photographer of America, Inc. during the association's annual international convention.

Bill Jammer

The convention was titled "Meeting the Challenge" and was held July 12-17 in Orlando, Fla.

Jammer has met the standards of excellence set by the Professional Photographers of America. He has been awarded the degree of Master of Photography in recognition of his superior photographic competence, demonstrated through his success in photographic competition, advanced education and service to his profession.

Founded in 1880, the Professional Photographers of America, the world's largest association for professional image-makers, is celebrating its 116th anniversary.

Fink attends conference

Kathy Fink, Family and Consumer Sciences teacher at Wayne Community Schools, attended the Nebraska Vocational Education Conference in Kearney Aug. 5-7.

"Vocational Education: Pathways and Transitions" was the theme for this annual conference co-sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Education and the Nebraska Vocational Association and its affiliates.

Robert Hughes, from Washington State, presented an overview of emerging technological and economic trends and what educators need to know as they apply them to the classroom.

Amy Barr, from Colorado, dealt with consumer trends and highlighted the societal changes that will impact families and businesses.

Janet Barger-Lux, from Creighton School of Medicine, examined the diets of adolescents and young adults using the perspectives of past physiology, present choices and future consequences.

Square dancing can be fun and is good for your health

"Square dancing is not like what you learned in school. It is much more fun and provides a good source of clean entertainment," said Deb Jensen, who has been a member of a square dance club for a number of years.

Square dancing simulates aerobic exercise through movement to music and aids physical health. It also relieves stress and muscle tightness and helps to keep joints active. Mental health is improved because one must concentrate on the square dance calls made by the caller and therefore the mind is free from worry and anxiety.

Concentration is enhanced by square dancing. Learning the response to square dance calls, allows the dancer to learn to listen, concentrate and follow commands. This has proven to be good therapy for individuals with closed head injuries.

Square dancing provides a smoke and alcohol free environment where people of all age groups ranging from 10 to 80 years gather to have fun. Part of the social time involves food at the end of the evening, usually provided by the club sponsoring the dance.

"There is no pressure in the social aspect of square dancing," Mrs. Jensen commented.

"You can be as friendly and open as you are comfortable with and there is not pressure to commit to any committees, which allows you to be as active as you personally choose."

Attire for square dance lesson is street clothing. After graduating from lessons, square dance attire is optional.

"Square dancing is especially helpful for those in recovery from alcohol or drugs. It creates a new interest and friends where alcohol is not permitted," Mrs. Jensen added.

Square dance lessons will be starting in Wayne on Sept. 3. The first two lessons are free and the cost per person is $2.50 for each lesson after that.

Lessons generally are held once a week for 28 weeks. A family can take lessons together, from children to grandparents.

A partner is not needed to take lessons or to attend dances.

"Square dancing has singles clubs and is a good activity for those who haven't found the 'right one' yet," Mrs. Jensen said.

For more information on square dancing, contact Jim or Barb Stout at (402) 287-2693; Dick or Becky Keidel at (402) 375-1142; Jerry or Deb Jensen at (402) 375-4146 or Dave or Connie Kirkpatrick at (402) 375-4703.

Scholarship being created

Descendants of the late Joe Blazek of Howells have created an endowed scholarship in his name for students of Czech descent who attend Wayne State College and study education.

Janice Connor, a niece of the former Howells mayor formulated the scholarship plans this year. Blazek, 98, died last fall while recovering from surgery.

Before retiring, Blazek had been a school teacher, office manager for an auto repair firm and insurance salesman. He was mayor of Howells for 16 years. After graduating from Howells High School in 1914, he attended Peru and Wayne State Colleges during summer sessions and began teaching.

He and his wife Alice were instrumental in establishing the Howells Historical Society Museum in 1978. He served his community in many volunteer leadership capacities including: service on the volunteer fire department (21 years as secretary), school board, cemetery association, high school alumni association, community club and more.

Dalton named as VP at CBS

Robb Dalton, son of Mary Dalton of Blair and late Mick Dalton has been promoted to Senior Vice President, Business and Program Development of CBS Broadcasting, Inc.

For the past 10 years, Robb has also been president and executive producer, of Pinnacle Communications, Inc. an award winning production company with 19 network and syndicated credits in the informational, drama, reality, sports and public service genres.

An accomplished writer, Dalton has had columns in Success, Inc. and other publications. He is also the creator and publisher of "Broadcasting's Little Black Book," an annual reference source.

He is a graduate of Wayne State College with a bachelor of arts in communications arts/journalism.

"Mr. Blazek truly was a great community leader and it will be a fitting memorial to see students encouraged and assisted in their educational endeavors in his name," said Leslie Neuhaus, director of planned giving at the College.

The first students to be awarded Blazek scholarships will be named next year. Those interested in information about the scholarship should contact their high school counselor or the Office of Financial Aid at Wayne State College 402-375-7230.

Welcome Wayne-Staters!

Once again the WSC Fall term is under way, and our "guess-ology" references indicate a likely enrollment of about 4,000 attending classes.

The Wayne Herald is pleased to voice a verbal 'Welcome Mat' to all students and staffers returning to Wayne State, and also to you arriving on campus for your first experience in higher education.

First impressions are often lasting impressions, so in behalf of all Wayne residents we welcome you to the city and area! Though not great in geographical size, our community has much to offer in business, education, work, and play.

Our "Welcome to Wayne" signs at the edges of town are but the initial expressions of how glad we are having you, other visitors, and new residents in town.

As your stay lengthens, you'll discover the numerous things that Wayne does not offer. For instance, Wayne does not offer the violence of nightly shootings, gunfire in the streets, car hijackings, and all the dangers that major population areas endure. You'll not be awakened by large jet aircraft, civilian or military, taking off or landing, with the consequence of a thundering roar overhead. We do boast, however, of a fine airport, with a new paved 4,200 foot runway for light aircraft.

You will find South Logan Street closed for replacement; the new library/senior-citizen building under construction; the overhead traffic light at Third and Pearl is gone; an active city police department and campus security on duty; area churches ready to provide you with opportunities to worship; medical facilities for your physical needs; and recreational opportunities in myriad forms.

You will not find skyscrapers, subways, passenger rail service, fleets of taxicabs, ships in the harbor, or major scandals in city or county government.

You will find drivers who wave, courteous store clerks, neighbors who know you, and newly-made friends. Every effort is made by law enforcement so you and your property will be safe while living here.

So welcome to these northeast Nebraska acres! Thanks for coming! Enjoy!

Still sorting out petition drives

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

An old friend, a cigar smoker, loved to repeat a famous saying by author Rudyard Kipling: "A woman is a woman but a cigar is a smoke."

I took that to mean that cigars must be really good and that my friend must be pretty wise, particularly to be repeating such scholarly stuff. Thus, I fired up a stogie the other night in trying to decipher what happened to the citizens' right to gather signatures and pass laws via initiative petition.

It's been pretty messed up in recent years. Thanks to another court ruling, the system is in flux again and smoking a cigar didn't help me make any sense of it.

The Nebraska Legislature tried to fix the mess left by a Nebraska Supreme Court ruling in 1994 but didn't do a very good job.

That ruling, as you recall, said that a forgotten clause of a new law had served to significantly raise the number of signatures required to put initiatives before state voters.

The ruling knocked some issues off the ballot in 1994.

The Legislature could have just lowered the signature requirement down to the original amount, but senators got tangled up in a debate over paid circulators.

Those are the folks that pretty much attacked us as we walked to the local courthouse or shopping mall this summer.

They didn't know much about what was on those petitions, but at $1 to $2 each, they sure wanted your signature.

Many state senators think paid circulators are just plain bad. Like the carpetbaggers of the Civil War era, they just move into town overnight, gather up a bunch of signatures, and then take off. That's not the ideal picture of a petition drive, where an inspired group of citizens work to right a horrible wrong by putting an issue on the ballot.

So legislators adopted a requirement to discourage paid circulators from coming to Nebraska. It required them to register to vote in Nebraska and wait 30 days before circulating petitions.

That's an awful long time to be waiting around to go to work. In 30 days, a professional petition circulator can make a few thousand dollars (heck, one Lincoln woman was paid more than $100,000 for lining up circulators).

A nice idea, but a federal judge ruled last week that the 30-day rule was also unconstitutional.

People have the right to free speech. However, if you're trying to get something on the ballot and your circulators have to cool their heels for 30 days, that limits your ability to speak freely, or in this case, get your ideas before voters.

So it's back to the drawing board for state senators. They have already formed a "special" committee for this task.

Meanwhile, tossing out the 30-day rule means that thousands of signatures will now be valid. I'm betting that four initiatives will qualify for the November ballot. One, the property tax-elimination measure pushed by Atkinson rancher, Stan Dobrovolsky, will fall just short.

Two things are certain. Paid circulators, like paid political campaign workers and ads, are here to stay. Money talks, it's as simple as that, in petition drives and in political campaigns.

Setting the signature requirement unreasonably high encourages the hiring of paid circulators. Paying unemployed folks $1 and $2 a signature would not be as essential with a more reasonable limit.

Let's hope this citizen right is again put on solid ground.

This endless string of lawsuits and nullified laws can drive a guy to smoke.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Back on campus choosing a course

Larry Looslips enjoys razzing his old campus buddy Bill Blabberjaws.

"So we're back on campus for another shot at TV journalism, are we Bill?"

"Yip, Larry, got in yesterday! 'Spose you're still pursuin' that doctorate in chatter-ology?"

Yeah, that's better than your course in dissecting the truth over there in file-osophy!

"Whoa! I have to vent my loquacity so I've switched to TV info-logy myself!"

You switched! Ha! Wait 'til the home folk watch you get your Doctorate Ignorati!

"That's better than a degree in wonder-ology...and you wonder where you're going to work!"

O.K. point taken. The way you dress your insults in a suit and tie, you'd be good as a TV political analyst. Politicking would be easy the way you dilute a two-minute idea using a two-hour vocabulary!

Actually, Washington caused me to switch majors. After listening to them I'm convinced it would have been better if Plymouth Rock would have landed on the Pilgrims. I must get into persuasive TV news!"

Sounds like you've got an itching sensation caused by inflammation of your wishbone.

"Hey, Bill, being a TV journalist is easy! You only have to remember two questions!"

Those are?
"Regardless of the story, disaster, crash, hurricane or election, you just stick a mike in front of your victim, er, sorry, I mean story source, and ask 'How do you feel?' Or 'What were your thoughts'...you know...like 'How did you feel when your husband was shot?', or 'What were your thoughts when you saw your son run over by a car?'. See how easy it is!"

I think your mind just sprung a leak! You really think you have enough snoopidity for such meanness?"

"You betcha! And in TV news you keep advancing according to your lie-ability."

But TV anchors suffer from chronic indiscretion! I've also heard they get delusions of glamour!

"You can't dissuade me, man, because I'm blessed with perpetual emotion."

Sure, buddy, you're public en-ergy Number One! I can see it now; you're going to earn more degrees than a thermometer.

"Friend, in this age of chisclry, there's always goin' to be TV jobs talk'n about people who lead their private lives in public."

You've convinced me. I'd better get over and register for alibiology.

"Hey, you're a gyp off the old talks-icologist block!"

Right. I was sabotaged as a baby.

A landmark on the Wayne State campus for the past four decades will soon be moved to a new site. The brick portals located currently at the Main Street exit need major repairs. In addition, the state highway has requested removal of the portals for traffic safety. The portals will be dismantled and rebuilt in front of the shelterhouse north of Conn Library. The portals were erected as a memorial to the Wayne State veterans of WWI.

Writer wants a show of support for annual nationwide Life Chain

Dear Editor,

Once again, we are coming up to the first Sunday of October, when the annual Life Chain is held across the nation.

This year, as for the past six years, we will be lining up Norfolk Avenue and 13th Streets with THOUSANDS of fellow Christians to show our UNITED and DETERMINED OPPOSITION to the killing of our pre-born babies.

It is time for us as caring and loving human beings to show our communities, show our state and show our entire nation that we will not allow for the senseless murdering of our babies-our future-to continue.

In our nation, the number of abortions performed since January of 1973 stands at approximately 34,000,000. However, this figure is for surgical abortions only and does not include the chemical abortions that are also performed.

And, in previous years, I have felt hope when informed that our state's number of abortions had been declining; however, this year, it is up by several hundred!

Since 1973 there have been 120,877 future Nebraskans murdered in our state. In June alone, there were 380 abortions performed; there are yet counts to be made on individual counties within our state, but we are working on it.

You know, each year those of us who live are granted, by God, 8,760 hours of LIFE. Can we not spend just ONE of those hours standing on the streets of Norfolk, in prayer for our tiny aborted little ones?

We need, as a community of Christians, to spend this one hour, out of our entire year, in prayer to God, asking for his intervention in the abortion issues facing our nation; we need as a community to stand up, united, to show the entire state, the entire nation, that we will no longer condone this killing of our babies; we need as a community of voters, to let our elected officials see that if they don't stop this madness, they will no longer have their positions in our government.

Please, I implore you, each and every one of you, to come join us in the streets of Norfolk on Oct. 6 from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. I ask you to come and help us to STAND UNITED, in God, to oppose abortion; I invited you to come and spend just one hour out of your entire year, in prayer to our Father, for the sake of these little ones....

Come help us to make this one hour a TRUE HOUR OF PRAYER!!

Charles Thone to speak at Rotary meeting on Aug. 28

Charles Thone, governor for the western Iowa/eastern Nebraska district of Rotary International, will speak to the Wayne Rotary Club at the 7 a.m. meeting on Wednesday at Riley's Convention Center.

Rick Burleigh, president of the Wayne Rotary Club, said Thone will outline goals for the current Rotary year which began July 1.

Thone was the governor of Nebraska from 1979-83 and for the previous eight years represented Nebraska's First District in the U.S. Congress.

He is presently a senior principal in the Erickson and Sederstrom law firm with offices in Lincoln and Omaha. He serves as president-elect of the Nebraska State Bar Foundation and as a director of the Nebraska State Fair Board.

There are 48 Rotary Clubs in the district Thone heads.

Burleigh said Rotary is the oldest and largest of the service clubs, with more than 1.2 million current member in 27,500 clubs in 150 nations.

Institute trains professionals and volunteers

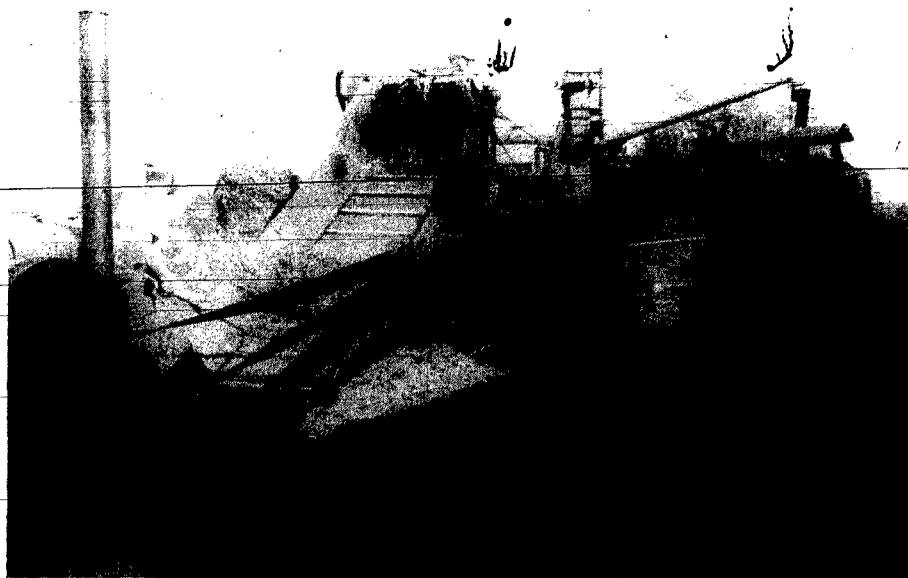

The first ever Institute for Rural Development was held July 2-26 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln.

Three of the featured speakers were from N.E.braska. Kathy Evert, executive director of NNEDD, Norfolk, gave a presentation on "Creating and Sustaining Partnerships." Rob Bock, assistant vice-president of the Security National Bank in Allen, shared "Strategies for Rural Development" in a panel discussion. Dennis Lauer of the South Sioux City Chamber of Commerce presented techniques on "Exiting Business Retention and Expansion."

Lynda Cruickshank, UN-L Extension Educator in Wayne County, attended.

This institute was designed primarily to serve the needs of development professionals working in rural areas. Future institutes will serve both professionals and community volunteers. The course offers a rare opportunity for practitioners from different organizations to exchange ideas and become familiar with different programs and activities.

The institute is the first of its kind in the country. Completion earns certified economic developers two "A" points toward maintenance of their professional certification.

Threshing demonstration

An antique tractor and grain thresher were put into service during the Wayne County Fair. A crowd gathered to watch the threshing of oats, similar to the way it was done during the 1940's.

CRP bus tours N.E.braska

More than 100 N.E.braska land-owners and producers met at Northeast Community College in Norfolk on Aug. 13 for the first Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) bus tour.

The tour focused on a variety of alternative uses for CRP land. Four buses stopped at eight N.E.braska sites. At each stop, the land-owner(s) explained his/her experiences finding and implementing alternative uses for CRP.

Doug Hall, a producer outside of Tilden, centered his efforts on returning switchgrass to soybean.

At another site north of Tilden land-owner Rick Sirek used former CRP acres for wildlife tree cover and food plots. The tour continued to the farm of Craig Braunsroth, north of Bloomfield. Braunsroth explained his experiences returning his acres of mostly switchgrass to production-through haying and grazing cattle and buffalo.

The fourth stop was Kevin Kube's land, southwest of Crofton. Kube interseeded his CRP switchgrass with legumes. Northeast of Colderidge, at Craig Ebersson's the tour bus had its last stop before supper. Ebersson explained his experiences returning CRP land to corn production.

Larry and Rose Mason's farm was the site for supper and the Mason showed participants former CRP acres currently being used for buffalo grazing. Participants also toured the Tarbox Living Prairie, another of the Mason's projects following expiration of their CRP contract.

The tour continued to Steve Anderson's land outside of Concord. Anderson showed participants around his place, while explaining how he returned his CRP acres to drilled and row soybeans.

Randy Dunklau's farm northwest of Wayne was the final tour stop. Dunklau explained how he replaced cool season grasses with soybeans. Tour participants also had the opportunity to view some of the CRP research plots at the Northeast Research and Extension Center (NEREC) in Concord.

Bob Emmick, director of Clay County Conservation Center in South Dakota, was one of the tour participants. With many of the contracts expiring, Emmick explained, people need to know what their options are. In addition to his duties at the Conservation Center, Emmick owns more than 1,000 acres of land currently enrolled in CRP.

"Demonstration sites give people concerned about CRP a chance to view different management techniques," said Melinda McVey McCluskey, NEREC CRP research coordinator and tour co-coordinator. She explained that the purpose of the tour was to allow people to see the alternative uses for former CRP acres.

"People learn more by visually seeing this change than through discussion only," said McVey McCluskey.

The CRP bus tour was co-sponsored by the Lewis and Clark and Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource Districts, the Natural Resource Conservation Service and the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension.

Three things every woman should know about finances

In 1919, women gained the right to vote in national elections. Today, women hold some of this nation's most esteemed offices, including attorney general, Supreme Court justice, U.S. senator and U.S. representative.

Whether you help establish the laws that govern our nation or the rules that govern your household, there are three things every woman should know about her finances.

What Do I Have?

The first question you should ask yourself is, "What exactly do I have?" Over the years, you've probably accumulated a number of insurance policies and investment and retirement accounts, not to mention a mountain of legal papers. Make it a priority to organize that information.

Draft a list of bank accounts, safety deposit boxes, credit card accounts and numbers, loans, mortgages, insurance policies, retirement plans, investment records, wills, trusts, etc. For each item on the list, include where the document is located as well as the name and phone number of the professional who helped you with the document.

Your Net Worth

After you have organized your records, you can determine your net worth. This is simply your total assets (everything you can and would sell if necessary) minus your total liabilities (what you owe).

The easiest way to determine your net worth is to divide a sheet of paper into two columns. On one side, list everything you own of value: your home and other real estate, investments, retirement funds, life insurance, your car. On the other side of the paper, list everything you owe. Include your mortgage, education and auto loans, any credit card balances, and so forth.

If your net worth is positive, congratulations. If not, how much debt do you have? One rule of thumb states that your debt should never exceed 20 percent of your take-home pay.

Next, take a hard look at what types of debt you have. Certain debts, such as a mortgage or business loans, can be good equity builders. However, if a majority of your liabilities are credit-card debts, you need to develop a plan for reducing that debt. To determine how best to do this, you should establish a budget.

Your Cash Flow

To develop a budget, you first crease from last year's 1,394 total.

First-day figures for part-time credit students are up 20 percent from last year. In 1995, Northeast had 535 part-time credit students on the first day of classes compared to 642 on the first day this year.

Full-time semester credit hours for the first day of classes are up 6.8 percent from a year ago. Students are enrolled for 23,900 full-time semester credit hours compared to 22,371 in 1995.

Northeast also has an increase of 11.86 percent in part-time semester credit hours for the first day of classes with 3,221 this year compared to 2,880 last year, which marks a 7.4 percent increase in total semester credit hours for the first day of classes from 1995.

must examine your cash flow. Pinpoint how much money you earn and how much you spend each month. To be accurate, track every penny you spend for at least one month. If you're having trouble estimating your income and expenses, take out your checkbook for a historical perspective. Other places to look are receipts and bank statements. At the end of the month, determine which of these expenses can be eliminated or reduced.

Even small savings can add up. Sticking to a budget requires discipline, but over time, it will become habit. Also, you shouldn't think of your budget as set in stone. Occasionally, unexpected expenses will crop up. When this happens, don't get discouraged. Return to your budget as quickly as possible. Doing so will help you not only stay out of debt, but it will enable you to begin working toward meeting some financial goals.

Setting Goals

After you've developed a budget, review it at least once each year. Soon you may discover you have some extra money each month. Your first goal should be to accumulate three to six months' worth of after-tax salary. This money should be kept readily available in a checking, savings or money-market account for emergencies.

Next, consider additional goals. Set short-, medium- and long-term goals. For instance, these may be to buy a new car, to put your children through college or to save a specific amount by retirement. Seek the advice of a professional on how best to obtain these goals. When determining whom to deal with, ask friends and colleagues for recommendations.

If you're tempted to assign this fact-finding mission to your spouse, please don't. Statistics show that 80 to 90 percent of all women will, at some point in their lives, be solely responsible for their own financial decisions. PAID ADVERTISING

Poehlman attends planning workshop

Judy Poehlman of Wayne Public Schools recently attended training by the Nebraska Department of Education on USDA's new Food-Based Menu Planning System for Child Nutrition Programs.

The purpose of this new menu planning approach is to offer meals that are lower in fat, serve more breads and grain-based foods and offer a variety of fruits and vegetables. Meals lower in sodium and cholesterol are also encouraged, with an overall emphasis of offering meals that are appealing to students and meet the Dietary Guidelines for Americans.

The goal of the school food service department is to become a partner in nutrition education with school administrators, staff and the community.

Changes that can be expected this year and in the future include more grain and bread products offered, an increased variety of fruits and vegetables offered, use of healthier cooking techniques, more student involvement in menu planning and nutrition education activities.

Eagles Auxiliary plans fall craft show

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary met Aug. 19 with Cec Vandersnick presiding.

The Auxiliary voted to have a bake sale table at the Wayne County Women of Today Craft Festival on Nov. 2.

The District meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. on Sept. 8 at the Wayne Aerie home. Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Doris Gilliland and Jennifer Cole requested donations of prizes for the Ways and Means Committee raffle for the District meeting.

It was decided to have a Craft Fair at the Aerie home on Oct. 5. Interested persons may inquire at the Eagles Club after 5:30 p.m. or contact Jennifer Cole. Members were asked to wear light blue denim skirts or jeans with a white or purple blouse for the District meeting.

Due to the Labor Day holiday, meetings in September will be Sept. 9 and Sept. 23.

Linda Gamble and Carol Brummond served lunch. The lunch committee for Sept. 9 will be Amy Bliven and Carol Brummond.

Wildcats hope to set a higher standard

By Korey Berg
Of the Herald

Hundreds of football teams around the nation would be happy to finish the season with a 6-4 record, but the Wayne State College Wildcats and Head Coach Dennis Wagner were not. Expectations in Wayne have grown to the point that fans are not satisfied with merely a winning record.

"They [the players] were disappointed in their season last year and I expect much better than 6-4," said Wagner. "It's great when players and coaches here are talking about being disappointed about being 6-4, because those used to be high standards here and that isn't the way it is anymore."

Wagner hopes that this year's team has the right mix to set a higher standard—a trip to the NCAA Division II play-offs.

"Right now, our team and our coaching staff is very excited about the season," said Wagner. "This might be the best chemistry that we've had as a group since I've been here. In 1993 (when the Wildcats were 9-1), those guys were pretty close, but even then it took them a couple games to realize that bond was there. This football team has high expectations, but we're not going to talk about those until we get to that point. All we have to worry about right now is our first game against Emporia State."

Wayne State returns 24 letterwinners, including 13 starters from last year's squad.

"We have a number of returning starters on offense as well as number of players who played and gained valuable experience. Defensively, we only have four starters back, but we have a lot of kids that played and have experience. I really feel at this point that we're a better defensive football team than we were a year ago."

OFFENSE

The Wildcat offense will be under the direction of new offense coordinator Kevin Haslam. WSC ranked second nationally in total offense last season, averaging 470.1 yards per game. Expect more of the same in 1996 under Haslam's guidance.

"We're not going to change anything," said Wagner. "We're doing a lot of things the way we did before, it's just under the direction of Coach Haslam now."

Quarterbacks - Senior Jarrod DeGeorgia returns after starting six games a year ago. He passed for 1,773 yards with 12 touchdowns and only six interceptions. He completed 63 percent of his passes and his 141.6 passing efficiency rating ranked 14th in the nation.

"Jarrod finished the season on a very positive note and proved that he's our quarterback," said Wagner.

DeGeorgia's back-up will be redshirt freshman Jaime Jones.

"We have a great luxury here," said Wagner. "We have two quarterbacks that are ready to play right now. Jaime Jones is an outstanding quarterback. I would imagine that we have the best 1-2 quarterback combination in the country. I wouldn't hesitate to argue with anyone on that."

Running Backs - Senior Marcus Bishop had an excellent year in 1995, rushing for 1,031 yards and scoring a school-record 14 touchdowns in 10 games.

"When you stop and think that Marcus carried the ball only eight times in the first two games because of an injury — what will he do if he gets an opportunity to play in all 10 and hopefully more games," said Wagner.

Providing strength off the bench are senior Jason DeMartile, who rushed for 504 yards last year, and freshman Josh Sikes, who rushed for 1,718 yards and 24 touchdowns as a senior in high school, despite missing two games.

Receivers - Kevin Swayne is the only returning starter at receiver. The senior led the 'Cats with 65 receptions and 818 yards last season.

"Kevin Swayne is healthy," said Wagner. "He's put on 15 pounds, hasn't lost any speed and is getting interest from NFL scouts. I think, if he's healthy, he can prove that he's a great receiver like he did early in the season last year. The great part is now we've complimented him with other kids that are going to be able to take some pressure off him."

National Football League prospect Kevin Swayne returns for his senior year at Wayne State. Last season Swayne led the Wildcats with 65 receptions for 818 yards.

Defense shines in initial scrimmage

The 1996 Wayne State College football team concluded its first week of practice on Sunday with an 80-play, 70-minute intra-squad scrimmage. The Wildcat defense, led by the first-teamers turned in an outstanding effort.

"Our intensity was very high and we had good enthusiasm," said Head Coach Dennis Wagner. "The defense played very well while the offense still needs to be more consistent. Overall, I was happy with the scrimmage and feel we are off to a good start."

Defensively, Wagner said he was pleased with the play of senior linebacker Gabe Toft, junior defensive lineman Steve Luedtke and sophomore linebacker Jesse Wavrunek. Offensive standouts included senior receiver Kevin Swayne, freshman quarterback Jaime Jones and freshman running back B.J. Helmstadter.

The Wildcats will hold their next scrimmage on Friday, August 23. WSC opens the season on August 31 at Emporia State in Kansas.

mention All-State kicker at Madison High School.

Boe will also compete for the punting job, which was held by Fitzke last season.

Wayne State's schedule this season includes some tough competition and features six road games. WSC's road games include battles against Emporia State, Morningside, Minnesota-Duluth, division I-AA Drake, Western New Mexico and nationally ranked South Dakota.

"It's always more of a challenge when you have to make road trips," said Wagner, "but away or at home, you have to perform. Even though it's not on our field, South Dakota and Morningside are really in our backyard. We're very fortunate to have a great following of fans from the Wayne community, so I know we'll have great support at both of those games."

Back on the 'Cat carpet, WSC hosts Moorhead State, Southwest State, Northern State and cross-state rival Nebraska-Kearney.

"I don't think there's anyone on the schedule that has an upper hand on us," Wagner said, "but I think every team on the schedule is capable of beating us if we don't play well, so we're going to have to play hard, stay injury-free and hope the ball bounces our way a couple times."

If the Wildcats do play well, a play-off berth may be in the cards. WSC has three teams from the Western Region (Western New Mexico, Nebraska-Kearney and Emporia State) on its schedule and if they perform well against those teams it may open the eyes of the post-season voters.

"I think our schedule is in favor of that scenario," said Wagner, "but we can't worry about that right now. We can only be concerned with what's directly in front of us."

Wayne State opens the season on the road against Emporia State in Kansas on August 31. Game time is 6:00 p.m.

Wayne State quarterback Jarrod DeGeorgia, who completed 63 percent of his passes for 1,773 yards and 12 touchdowns a year ago, will have plenty of targets to throw to this season. A trio of junior college transfers join Kevin Swayne to shore up the receiving corp.

Parents: Did You Know?

Dr. Donald V. Zeiss, Principal

Guidelines: Noon Hour Driving for Lunch.

School policy requires all motor vehicles to remain parked in the proper areas during school hours, unless permission to move the vehicle is obtained from the principal or superintendent.

Hot lunch is served daily at the cafeteria. Students are encouraged to utilize the hot lunch program or bring a sack lunch.

Should circumstances require a student to use a vehicle to drive home for lunch, the following guidelines must be met:

1. Student must reside six or more blocks from school.
2. No passengers (other than brothers or sisters) may be transferred.
3. Driving only to a parent or guardian residence. (Aunt or uncle, older brother or sister or grandparent do not qualify!)

4. All permission for use of a vehicle at noon hour must be gained through the principal's office.

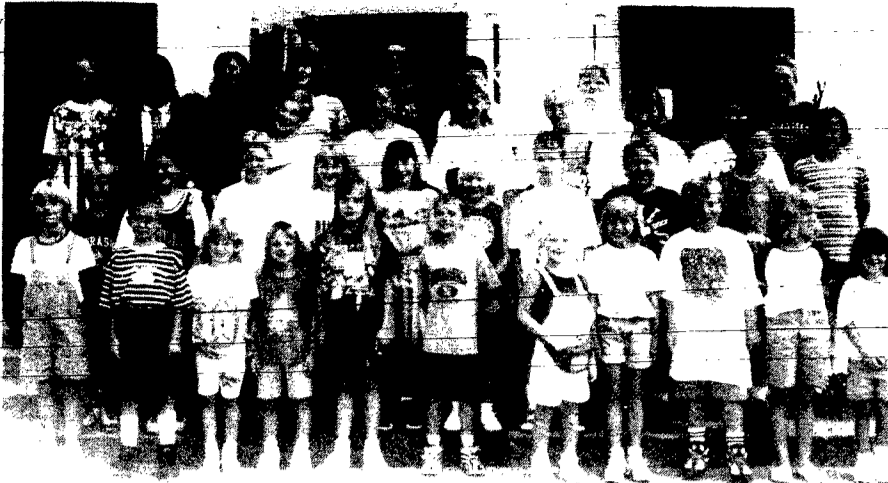

5. Students requesting use of a vehicle to drive home for lunch must confer individually with the principal.

6. Parents will be notified of the decision regarding permission to drive home for lunch.

7. Driving to downtown eateries is not allowed.

8. Violation of any of the above guidelines will result in:

- (a) first violation-warning, letter to parents;
 - (b) second violation-in school suspension, letter to parents;
 - (c) third violation-in school or out-of-school suspension (three days), letter to parents and loss of parking privileges at school.
9. Direct questions to the high school principal's office.

Area piano students take tour

Several piano students of Mrs. Marcile Uken visited Lincoln last week for their annual summer tour.

Parents who accompanied the group were Madge Bruflat, Marsha Chapman, Mark and Carrie Christensen, Larry and Cathy Echtenkamp, Audrea Klassen, Kathy Lutt, Kathy Mitchell, Larry Peterson, Matt Polhamus, Karen Smith, Mary Temme, Millie Veto and Karen Zach.

A Keyboard Computer Lab at the University of Nebraska was enjoyed by the students. They were given an opportunity to create their own songs and work with some of the latest software. They also toured the stadium at the University, the Weaver Potato Chip Company and the Governor's Mansion and finished the afternoon at the Children's Museum.

Following the tours, the group finished the day with a meal at the Country Buffet.

Engagements

Larson-Riddle

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Larson of Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riddle of Lincoln announce the engagement of their children, Cathi and Jason.

The couple will be married Oct. 5, 1996 at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Wakefield.

The bride-to-be is a 1990 graduate of Wakefield High School and a 1995 graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Her fiance graduated in 1988 from Lincoln East High School. He is currently employed with State Farm Insurance Co. in Lincoln and attending Doane College in Crete.

Carr-Parsons

Christi J. Carr and Todd C. Parsons, both of Denver, Colo., will exchange marriage vows Oct. 6 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Omaha.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Larry and Linda Carr of Wayne. She graduated from Wayne State College in May and is currently employed with Commercial Federal Savings Bank in Denver as a Customer/Service Representative.

Her fiance is the son of Ross and Sharon Parsons of Omaha. He is a May graduate of WSC and recently completed an internship with the U.S. Marshals Service in Denver.

Blecke-DeBoer wed in Wakefield church

Buffany Blecke of Wakefield and Mitch DeBoer of Hawarden, Iowa were married June 29, 1996 at Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

Dr. Mark Wilms and Rev. David Tellinghuisen officiated at the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Bill and Rhonda Blecke of Wakefield and Ron and Pat DeBoer of Hawarden.

Music for the ceremony was provided by pianist Brenda Monson and soloist Mat Monson who sang "He Has Chosen You for Me" and "The Lord's Prayer." The groom surprised the bride by singing "I Will Be Here" at the beginning of the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white satin gown with elbow length sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The bodice front was adorned with lace overlay and the full skirt fell from a V-waist to a chapel-length train. She carried a bouquet of white lilies, white roses, baby's breath, ivy and white ribbon.

Matron of Honor was Lisa Meyer, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Angela Shupe, Ingrid Woods and Jennifer Gustafson.

The women wore street length black dresses with short tulip sleeves. Each carried a single white rose with baby's breath and greenery tied with a gold bow.

Todd DeBoer, brother of groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Wes Blecke, Jason Klemme and Phil McMillan.

Ushering guests were Brian Kruse, Travis Meyer and Mike Dimmick.

The men wore Pierre Cardin Dream Full Dress black tuxedos with black vests and bow ties. The groom wore a white vest and bow tie.

A reception was held at Pzazz Ballroom in Sioux City, Iowa.

Allyce Schlecht registered the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. DeBoer

Chuck and Rita Pfening and Colette and Nora Schlecht were host couples.

Linda VanEgdom and Orlene VanNoort served the cake.

Justin DeBruin and Kelli DeBruin were at the punch table with Marcia Olson pouring coffee.

Waitresses were Mandy Kapp and Tonia Schlecht and kitchen supervisors were Joann Kots and Linda Kruid.

Following a honeymoon to Orlando, Fla., the couple is at home in Wayne.

The bride is a 1990 graduate of Wakefield High School and a 1995 graduate of Wayne State College. She is currently employed at the Wakefield Health Care Center in the physical therapy department and is pursuing her master's degree at Wayne State College.

The groom is a 1991 graduate of West Sioux High School and a 1996 graduate of Wayne State College. He is currently employed by Barnes and Noble College Bookstores and is the manager of the Wayne State College Bookstore.

Stone-Book

Michelle Stone of Overland Park, Kan. and Tim Book of Liberty, Mo. are planning an Oct. 12, 1996 wedding at Emanuel Lutheran Church in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Parents of the bride-to-be are Rick and Jan Stone of Council Bluffs. She graduated from Abraham Lincoln High School and the University of Northern Iowa with a degree in management.

She is currently a branch manager at American General Finance in Overland Park.

The future groom is the son of Gary and Jan Book of Manson, Iowa, formerly of Wayne. He is graduate of Wayne High School and Buena Vista University with a corporate communications degree.

He is a marketing specialist with Ciba.

Meyer-Waddington

Kimberly Meyer of Norfolk and Joel Waddington of Wayne are planning a Sept. 7, 1996 wedding at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Norfolk.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Karen and Dean Meyer of Norfolk. She is a graduate of Norfolk Catholic High School and Wayne State College. She will be student teaching at Randolph Public High School this fall.

The future groom is the son of Bill Waddington of Wayne and Coralic Bygness of Tempe, Ariz. He is a graduate of Neligh High School and is currently attending Wayne State College. He will be student teaching at Laurel-Concord High School.

Teen wants to know about growing up

Q: I'm a teenager, so what should I know about growing up?

A: Many young people worry about their bodies unnecessarily during this time. These kinds of questions plague them:

- Are all these changes supposed to be happening?

- Is there something wrong with me?

- Do I have a disease or an abnormality?

- Am I going to be different from other people?

- Does this pain in my breast mean I have cancer?

- Will the boys laugh at me? Will the girls reject me? (It's very common for people to feel they're not going to be attractive to the opposite sex.)

- Do some people fail to mature sexually? (Any system of the body can malfunction, but this one rarely fails.)

- Will my modesty be sacrificed? (It's common during the early adolescent years for you to become extremely modest about your body. You may worry about being in a doctor's office and having to take off your clothes in front of other people.)

Let me say it one more time: These kinds of fears are almost universal during the early years of adolescence. Your sexual development is a normal event that is being controlled inside your body. It will work out all right, so you can just relax and let it happen.

However, you will have to control your sexual desires in the years ahead, and that will require determination and willpower. But if you can learn to channel your sexual impulses the way God intended, this part of your nature can be one of the most fascinating and wonderful aspects of your life, perhaps contributing to a successful and happy marriage in the years ahead.

Q: Do you think happily married husbands and wives should be able to live together without fighting with one another?

A: No. The healthiest marriages are those where the couple has learned how to fight—how to ventilate anger without tearing one another apart. There is a difference between healthy and unhealthy combat, depending on the way the disagreement is handled.

Focus On The Family

With Dr. James Dobson

In an unstable marriage, the hostility is usually hurled directly at the personhood of the partner: "You never do anything right; why did I ever marry you?" "You are incredibly dumb and you're getting more like your mother every day." These personal comments strike at the heart of one's self worth and produce an internal upheaval. Obviously, such vicious combat is extremely damaging to a marital relationship.

Healthy conflict, on the other hand, remains focused on the issue around which the disagreement began: "You are spending money faster than I can earn it!" "It upsets me when you don't tell me you'll be late for dinner." "I was embarrassed when you made me look foolish at the party last night." These areas of struggle, though admittedly emotional and tense, are much less damaging to the egos of the opposing forces. A healthy couple can work through them by compromise and negotiations with few imbedded barbs to pluck out the following morning.

Q: Do you believe real love can easily be distinguished from infatuation?

A: No, I do not. I must stress this fact with the greatest emphasis: The exhilaration of infatuation feels like love at its best, but it is never a permanent condition. If you expect to live on the top of that mountain, year after year, you can forget it! Emotions swing from high to low to high in cyclical rhythm, and since romantic excitement is an emotion, it too will certainly oscillate.

How, then, can real love be distinguished from temporary infatuation? If the feeling is unreliable, how can one assess the commitment of his will? There is only one answer to those questions: It takes time. The best advice I can give a couple contemplating marriage (or any other important decision) is this: Make no important, life shaping decisions quickly or impulsively, and when in doubt, stall for time. That's not a bad suggestion for all of us to apply.

These questions and answers are excerpted from the book Dr. Dobson Answers Your Questions. Infections and Antibiotics

A news report from the World Health Organization warns of the possible spread of a growing number of untreatable infectious diseases in many parts of the world. Recent examples include AIDS and a deadly infection resulting from the Ebola virus.

A study by the Centers of Disease Control evaluated all deaths in the U.S. between 1980 and 1992. It was found that infections, as a cause of death, increased 58 percent (from 41 to 65 per 100,000 population). Around the world, an estimated 17 million people die each year from infections. The biggest killers are infections of the lungs (including pneumonia). Deaths occur in spite of the availability of new and more powerful antibiotics each year. Many experts place part of the blame on the uncontrolled and inappropriate use of these medicines. If you receive prescriptions for any infection-fighting medicine, be sure to take it as instructed, and until gone!

Cook-Olmer are married in double ring ceremony

Dawn Cook and Doug Olmer, both of Norfolk were married July 20, 1996 at St. Francis Catholic Church in Humphrey.

Fathers Vernon Olmer and Doug Scheinost officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Diane Glassmeyer of Norfolk and Eugene and Marjorie Olmer of Humphrey.

Miranda Glassmeyer of Norfolk, the bride's sister, was Maid of Honor.

Bridesmaids were Mary Nelson of Norfolk, friend of the couple and Kate and Helen Olmer, both of Humphrey, sisters of the groom.

The women wore Tinasatin dresses in amethyst featuring a sweetheart neckline and open key-hole back accented with criss-cross straps. The full, short sleeves were heavily gathered at the shoulder and a full skirt flowed to intermezzo length.

Dan Olmer of Humphrey, brother of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Mark Olmer of Humphrey, cousin of the groom, Jim McKay of Humphrey and Tim Hille of Norfolk, friends of the couple.

Ushers were Steve Eckeren of Yankton and Pat Wemhoff and Tim Hamling, both of Humphrey, all brothers-in-law of the groom.

A reception was held at the St. Francis High School Gymnasium following the ceremony.

Host couples were Brain and Heidi Rohwer, both of Norfolk, registered guests.

Other couples were Brain and Jean Sullivan of Norfolk and George and Marilyn Olmer of Lincoln.

Marina Eckeren of Yankton, sister of groom and Ann Rathman of Grand Island, cousin of groom, cut cake.

The bride is a graduate of Battle Creek High School and Northeast Community College.

The groom is a graduate of St. Francis High School in Humphrey and Southeast Community College in Lincoln.

Following a wedding trip to Alaska, the couple is at home in Norfolk where the bride is employed at Cornhusker Auto Center and the groom with Oberg Industrial.

Mr. and Mrs. Olmer

The bride is the granddaughter of Gilbert and Eleanora Rauss of Wayne.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Pam Pfeifer and the St. Francis Men's Choir.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Dennis Rauss of Norfolk, the bride appeared in a white satin gown accented with schiffli lace featuring a Victorian neckline with a sheer illusion yoke. Delicate hand beaded schiffli lace highlighted the bodice and long, slender sleeves.

A full skirt flowed from the basque. Narrow, scalloped lace edged the entire hemline, including the semi-cathedral train. Lace motifs dotted the skirt's front and back.

She wore a tier-a-style beaded headpiece with a flowing, below-the-waist veil.

Doctor is studying role of self-esteem in raising healthy children

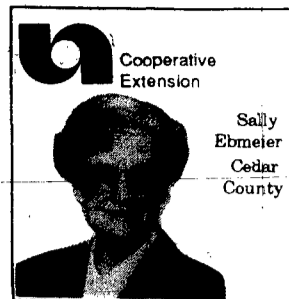

Low self-esteem has been linked to various emotional and behavioral problems, including unsafe sex, criminal behavior and the abuse of alcohol and other drugs. People with low self-esteem are also more anxious, lonely, shy and depressed than those with high self-esteem. Several treatment and educational strategies have long been based on the theory that by elevating patients' self-esteem, they will "get better."

According to Mark R. Leary, PhD, psychology professor at Wake Forest University, this is not necessarily true. Dr. Leary, in studying the role of self-esteem in raising health, caring children, suggests that behavioral manifestations of low self-esteem are, not consequences, but symptoms, of real or imagined rejection, and that self-esteem is not a casual mechanism psychologically.

Then why do we have it at all?

Leary suspects that self-esteem has something to do with monitoring the feedback we get from the significant people around us, that it is a gauge for keeping track of how well we are doing socially, calling it "a socio-meter model" or self-esteem. When this sociometer detects real or perceived rejection, it alerts the individual. Just as hunger motivates us to eat, the loss of self-esteem motivates us to get back in the good graces of others. And, just as eating is necessary survival, so is belonging to supportive social groups. In fact, self-esteem may similarly have evolved as a way of conferring a survival advantage on primitive human beings.

Several theories of substance abuse, risky sexual behavior, violence and eating disorders fit the sociometer model. All of these behaviors may start as a way to seek inclusion in a social group; or, conversely, to blunt the negative affect that comes from low self-esteem. The sad irony is that the plan often backfires: Alcoholics may lose their jobs; violent husbands may lose their families; aggressive children may be excluded from play by their peers.

Cooperative Extension

Sally Ebmeier Cedar County

An interesting exception: Gangs. Although people who join deviant groups often have low self-esteem, once they are in, their self-esteem is as high as anyone else's. Membership may actually raise self-esteem by providing a sense of belonging.

This model has far-reaching implications for education and clinical work, including a thorough re-examination of therapeutic techniques. Leary states that it's not that people are seeking only unconditional positive regard, but they are also seeking a certain level of social inclusion.

AAL discusses activities

The AAL Branch 1470 August meeting was held Aug. 18 at Grace Lutheran Church with four members present.

The meeting was conducted by Vice President Stuart Rethwisch.

A thank you note was read from the Evening Circle rummage sale committee for matching Helping Hands funds for money raised at the sale.

The Nebraska Federation convention will be at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City on Sept. 13-14. First-time attendees may attend at no cost. Previous attendees will receive a meal ticket from the branch.

Any branch member wishing to attend must contact the secretary by Sept. 6 so tickets can be ordered.

The Annual meeting was discussed. It will be Oct. 20 at 6:30 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church. Door prizes will be ordered and the educational program "Shaping Character is Everybody's Business" will be presented.

The "Just Say Thanks" program was discussed but no definite plans were made.

The next meeting will be Sept. 15 at First Trinity Lutheran Church at Altona at 11:45 a.m. All members are encouraged to attend.

August Brunch is held at Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid

The August Brunch of the Grace Ladies Aid and LWML opened with devotions led by Pastor Merle Mahnken. Forty-one members and guests Sandra Nichols, Jeanette Swanson, Marcelle Skelton, Elaine Saul, Orvella Blomenkamp, Pastors Anderson and Mahnken and children were in attendance.

Hostesses were Ruth Victor, Phyllis Nolte and Ellain Vahkamp. President Ellen Heimemann presided at the meeting.

Committee reports were given. The silverware has arrived and six dozen trays will be purchased by the kitchen committee.

The Sewing Committee will resume quilting Aug. 22 at 1:30 p.m. The visiting committee sent cards and visited Grace members at the Wayne Care Centre.

A letter from the seminary student was read. Bonnadell Koch will write this month.

Bernita Sherbahn, Clara Echtenkamp and Ethel Johnson will serve the dinner for the Pastors' Conference Sept. 3.

The Aid will sponsor the Lutheran Hour on KTCH and pay half of the purchase price for bulletins for LWML Sunday on Oct. 6. Highlights of the Executive Board meeting were read. A member of the Zone Auditing Committee will come from Grace Aid.

The basement drapes will be cleaned. Esther Brader and Leora Austin volunteered to be the committee.

The dedication of the new addition to Grace will be Sunday, Sept. 15. The Aid will coordinate a potluck for the congregation.

Correspondence was read and mite the offering was taken.

A donation will be given to the Nebraska District Pastors' Wives Retreat.

Seated at the birthday table were Maria Ritze, Dorothea Schwanke, Joann Temme and Irma Hingst.

Pastor Mahnken led the Quarterly Topic, "Like a Child" which included hymn singing and closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Methodist Women hold luncheon

Twenty-two members of the United Methodist Women met Aug. 14 for a catered luncheon.

Pauline Merchant gave the Missionary Minute and Doris Stipp conducted the business meeting.

A thank-you was read from Tessa Main.

Nancy Sorenson will be co-chairman of the Christmas Fair.

Ruth Reed celebrated an August birthday. She was presented with a corsage for Missions and the birthday song was sung.

Hallie Sherry reported on the School of Mission which she and Julie Claybaugh attended at Kearney in July.

Eliene Jager gave the devotions. John and Lori Carollo presented the program entitled "What Are Our Young People Thinking?" They made a video especially for this meeting. John narrated and the young people from the church taking part were Carrie Sorenson, David Ensz, Brooke Parker, Ryan Sturm and Brandon Gunn.

The next meeting will be a potluck salad luncheon on Sept. 11 at noon.

DIXON DAYS

The annual Dixon celebration was Aug. 9, 10 and 11. Activities started off with a street dance on Aug. 9, sponsored by Euni's Palace.

The Dixon Alumni held their banquet at the Dixon Auditorium on Aug. 10.

The Sunday, Aug. 11 activities began with a girls (12 and under) softball tournament sponsored by the Dixon Recreation with Chuck Peters as coordinator. Four teams participated, Wakefield, two Emerson teams and Dixon. Wakefield took first place with Emerson 2 winning second. Trophies were donated by Abts Dozer Service of Dixon. Around 30 entries took part in the parade, with the Laurel VFW flag bearers and color guard leading the procession. St. Anne's Catholic Church and Dixon United Methodist Church had lunch stands and games in the auditorium while children's games took place in the tent area outside.

The closing event was a free-will supper sponsored by the Dixon Community Improvement Committee.

DIXON ALUMNI

Dixon High School Alumni met Aug. 10 in the Dixon auditorium with 130 alumni and spouses attending. Registration, renewing acquaintances and visiting preceded the dinner, which was catered by a group from St. Mary's Catholic Church in Laurel. Committee in charge was Vincent Kavanaugh, Norma Warner and Mary Gredys. A welcome was given by Vincent Kavanaugh, followed by the flag salute and an invocation by Norma Warner.

Following the dinner, a business meeting was held. Officers for another reunion were elected and Mary Gredys read the names of those deceased since the last gathering in 1993. There was a moment of silence for Maurice Kavanaugh, Bernice (Erwin) Reynolds, Ruth (Davidson) Kvols, Melvin Knoeff, Milton Stanley, LaVerne (Ehlers) Thessanga, Luther Lingner, Darrell Stone and Eldon Murray.

Word was received from several absent members. The classes of 1944, 1945 and 1946 were honored. Humorous readings were given by Norma Warner.

Guest speakers were Mrs. Dorothy Hanson, a former English teacher; Larry Mason, representing Tar Box Hollow, the buffalo ranch; and Frank Sailors, a former superintendent and coach. Others from the audience spoke of their remembrances of high school or sports events. The school song was led by a group of former cheerleaders.

Booklets giving the history of the school, graduation pictures of all the classes and addresses of all the graduates were available.

The committee elected for the next gathering in three years, 1999, is Loryn Park, Norma (Eckert) Penlerick and Yvonne (Briney) Lichtenberg.

METHODIST WOMEN

The Dixon United Methodist Women sponsored a tour on Aug. 8 of the Goodwill Industries in Sioux City. Attending were Dorothy Huetig of Laurel, Kenny and Muriel Kardell, Wilma Eckert, John Young, Phyllis Herfel, Adeline Prescott, Janice Hartman, Helen Abts, Florene Jewell and Lois Ankeny.

Sixty people surprised Naomi Quist at her home on Aug. 10 to help her celebrate her 50th birthday. Friends attended from Concord, Laurel, Wayne, Randolph, Oakland, Wynot and Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stantley of Blue Springs, Mo. were Aug. 8-11 visitors in the Gerald Stanley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Davidson of Anchorage, Alaska and Verlene Troth of Sequim, Wash. were Aug. 10 afternoon visitors in the Garold Jewell home.

After spending several days in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Noe, Dr. Paul Noe returned to his home in Olympia, Wash. on Aug. 8.

Bessie Sherman and her son, Charles of Tucson, Ariz. visited friends, Corky and Dorothy Thornhill in Galva, Iowa on Aug. 8. They attended the Sherman reunion in Ponca State Park Aug. 10-11.

Doris Johnson and Martha Walton took Beau Franz to the Omaha airport on Aug. 10 to fly back to Texas where his mother met him. He had spent the summer with his grandmother, Martha Walton.

Larry and Mary Lindahl and Michael of Dumas, Texas and Brian Lindahl of Amarillo, Texas were Aug. 8-12 guests in the Don Peters home.

Aug. 8-10 overnight guests of Marie George were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Evans of Garden City, S.D. Thursday evening supper and Sunday morning breakfast guests of Marie were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Davidson of Anchorage, Alaska and Verlene Troth of Sequim, Wash.

BIBLE STUDY

Morning Bible study was held in the Martha Walton home Aug. 14 with seven ladies present. Reading of Psalms continued. The next meeting will be Wednesday, Aug. 28 in the Janice Hartman home and begin reading Psalm 19.

John and Ann Meyer returned Aug. 7 from Narragansett, R.I. where they attended the wedding of their granddaughter, Michelle Ann, to Michael Loges of Boston, Ma. Michelle is the daughter of Roni Ann Meyer Force. She is a graduate of the University of Rhode Island with a degree in civil engineer.

Several Dixon friends and old neighbors of Lola Rahn attended a 90th birthday party for her in the Senior Center in Ponca. Those attending from Dixon and Laurel areas were Myrtle Quist, Hazel Peterson, Ruth McCaw, and Mable Knoell of Laurel and Mr. and Mrs. Don Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stanley, Wilma Eckert, Phyllis Herfel and Hildegard Thomas from Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Noe's 57th wedding anniversary was observed with a family supper Aug. 16. Telephone greetings were received from friends and family in Utah, Washington, Minnesota, Texas and Nebraska.

Aug. 16 evening guests in the Charles Peters home to celebrate Dan's birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mattes, Rita Mattes, Andy and Travis and Andrea McGrath of Allen, Donna Durant of South Sioux City and Mr. and Mrs. Don Peters.

Adeline Prescott and Jim joined others Aug. 17 in the Brad and Michelle Prescott home in Sioux City, Iowa to celebrate Cole's third birthday.

Bessie Sherman and son, Charles Sherman of Tucson, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Herfel of Ponca and Phyllis Herfel were Aug. 14 evening visitors in the Larry Herfel home in Sioux City.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Borg attended the 42nd annual reunion of 3818 Quartermaster Gas Supply Company at the fire hall in Allen on Aug. 11. Twelve World War II veterans and their families attended. Hosting were Martin and Virgie Gensler of Martinsburg. The event will be hosted next year by Harry and Bertha Carlson of Aurelia, Iowa.

Velma Dennis of Dixon accompanied others, taking Lori Spahr and Anthony of Scottsdale, Ariz. to the Omaha airport for their return flight Aug. 11 after spending two weeks visiting in Nebraska.

Horse Show winner

Brad Johnson was a top winner in the 4-H Horse competition at this year's Dixon County Fair. In a photo in last week's Herald, Johnson was incorrectly identified.

OPEN HOUSE

The Housing open house and street dedication was held on Aug. 18. Development Group members were on hand to cook hamburgers and hot dogs for the crowd.

Several members of the Ellis family attended the street dedication of Ellis Avenue, the street which runs north and south in the subdivision. Summit Drive, running between the subdivision and Summit Hill Housing, was also dedicated.

Town Council president Dale Strivens welcomed the crowd. Allen Development Group president Rob Bock gave a history of the Village Estate Subdivision and mentioned the four houses open for viewing.

Allen publicity chair Kathy Boswell helped dedicate the streets to the pioneering spirit that first brought families, including the Ellis family to Allen in the 1800's, to the families that continue to come here to build their homes, and to the pioneering spirit of the Development Group members who continue to work hard to keep Allen a family town on the grow, branching out to welcome others.

Deadline nears to report CRP and crops for 1996

"The deadline to report crops other than small grains for 1996 is Aug. 30, 1996," according to Deb Pieper, County Executive Director of the Wayne County Farm Service Agency.

The provisions of the Production Flexibility Contract (the 7-year program) do not require producers to report acres, unless they want Price Support benefits, NAP or have CRP. "We are encouraging producers to report their acres regardless of program requirements in order to ensure acreage protection for any possible changes in future programs."

For further information, or to make an appointment to report your acres, call the Wayne County FSA at 375-2453.

DAV Auxiliary meets Aug. 13

Unit #28 of the Wayne County Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary met Aug. 13 at the home of Neva Lorenzen.

Commander Eveline Thompson presided with six members present.

Chaplain Carole Nordby gave the open prayer followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

A thank you was read from the state adjutant Rosemary Gallagher.

Communications from the national organization were read. They included the Mac Holms report titled "Happenings at Headquarters."

The DAV plans to hold and to furnish angel food cakes for the bingo party at the Norfolk Veterans Homes at 2 p.m. on Sept. 16, 1996.

Some plans for the annual veterans' supper were discussed. It will be held on Sept. 23, 1996 at 5:30 p.m. at the Norfolk Veterans Home.

Carole Nordby gave the closing prayer.

The next meeting will be on Sept. 10, 1996 at 8 p.m. at the home of Neva Lorenzen.

Lunch was served by Carole Nordby.

Olympic visitor thinks price gouging not needed

To continue "my Olympic story," and I promise this will be the last installment. The price gouging was the part that invalidated the "Atlanta Welcomes The World" logos, seen everywhere.

On an escalator from a Marta station, a native told me she was embarrassed by it. Hot dogs were $3, beer $5 and Coke $3. Bottled water was $1 or $2, depending upon where you were. No wonder our "free cold water" stands were busy.

On the subject of water, I remember arguing with some coaches 30 years ago who were trying to limit the amount of water my kids were taking in during an athletic activity. That had been the and Ted Turner. No wonder you see all the Brave games on the Turner network! You have to forgive me, I a little slow.

Incidentally, the Braves were on a 17-day road trip because their home field was being used. Of course, they will soon have a new field, the Olympic stadium, reshaped.

I bought a $22 ticket for men's volleyball from a kid from San Diego. I sat between two ladies from Brazil and two young men from Holland. I was surprised how many young people were there. I don't know how they can afford it.

The last event I got to was equestrian, because my hostess wanted to see it. We had no tickets. Her husband found scalper tickets that ranged from $66 to $300. We decided to drive to the horse park and take our chances.

Going into the parking lot, three lanes of traffic, Carolyn spotted someone waving two out of a back seat. "How much?" I yelled. "Forty," was the reply. That was three dollars above face value. We nodded, she ran across traffic, and we each gave her two twenties.

And it was quite a show. Georgia horse farmers built this park. The riding was English style, to music; and German and Dutch fans were enthusiastic, to say the least.

I did not try to tickets to closing ceremonies. Face value was $636. I did read of one lucky lady who waited outside long enough to get one for $130. Still out of my league, especially by then!

philosophy in the 50's, but was definitely out by the 70's. Everywhere in Atlanta, and in Athens, where we worked the soccer venues, people carried water bottles. And drank from them, sometimes refilling at our containers, with our blessings. The Georgia Health Dept. handed out paper sun-shading caps. People really were smart about the heat.

Back to prices: the Underground was charging an entrance fee of $5 until they realized noone was coming. They lowered it; and by the second week, they had removed it completely.

Hanes had exclusive T-shirt rights; and they were usual prices, going down as the days went by.

I was vaguely aware that Emory Univ. was considered a prestigious medical school. I had not realize how much Coke had to do with Emory. The Woodruff Brothers, co-owners of Coca-Cola, celebrated birthdays by building dorms and classrooms on the Emory campus.

The CDC? In Atlanta because one of the Woodruffs was a close friend of Eisenhower. We didn't have cable, but I'm aware of CNN

Arboretum hosting work day

Members of the Northeast Arboretum, located one and one-half miles east of Concord will have their summer work day/potluck. The work will begin Tuesday, Aug. 27 at 4 p.m. and involves some light weeding and pruning.

At 6:30 p.m. participants will have the opportunity to enjoy food and conversation with Northeast Arboretum members and friends. Those who are not members are welcome and encouraged to attend these events to find out more about the Northeast Arboretum and enjoy an evening outdoors before brisk fall temperatures set in.

Membership in the Northeast

Arboretum helps support the planting, labeling and evaluation of new tree species for N.E. braska. In addition, members will be informed of and encouraged to participate in tree planting and care work days and tours of other statewide arboreta.

Members also receive copies of board meeting minutes and have the chance to become involved in the direction of the Northeast Arboretum.

For more information about the work day/potluck, membership or the Northeast Arboretum in general, contact Steve Rasmussen, arboretum curator, at (402) 584-2261.

SCHOOL BOARD

The Wakefield School Board took formal action to adopt the budget for 1996-97 during the Aug. 12 meeting. Even though the district general fund expenditures increased, the total property tax requirements to fund the entire 1996-97 budget will be reduced by a little over 1%.

In other business, the board held hearings and approved proposals to amend the 1995-96 lunch fund budget and permit a 1% increase, approved recommended revisions to board policy, the student handbook and the faculty handbook, approved the contract with Principal Surface and offered contracts to Shelly Schultz for the 4/5 combination elementary teaching position and Shannon Carroll for the secondary math position.

Breakfast and lunch prices will remain the same as last year. They are breakfast: students 35¢, reduced 20¢, adults 60¢; lunch: elementary 90¢, secondary $1, reduced elementary 30¢, reduced secondary 40¢, adults $1.30. Milk is .70 per carton.

Amy Swalve visited with the board about the limited access that the after-school day care center was granted to the school and that the necessary license from the State Department of Social Services was being pursued. It will be discussed again following the licensing procedure.

The principal's report highlighted the revisions to the student and teacher handbooks that were recommended by the board policy committee.

Student enrollment is rising. There were 398 students in 1994-95, 419 students last year and this year there will be 438.

Mr. Putman reported that the Nebraska Association of School Boards will host a fall meeting in Norfolk and that board members Marcia Kratek and Lyle Brown will receive recognition for their participation in professional development activities.

RIBBON CUTTING

Lefty and Sylvia Olson have been collecting Wakefield memorabilia for several years. They have purchased the building next to their office to expand. A ribbon cutting was held at the Main Street Memorabilia Shop.

The building is full of all types of mementos of Wakefield businesses past and present, plus many other Wakefield items.

BYRD SCHOLARSHIP

Michael McQuistan was one of 126 renewal applicants, along with 49 new applications selected from high school seniors, designated by the Nebraska Department of Education as winners of the Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarships. McQuistan will be a sophomore at UNL and is the son of Bill and Janey McQuistan of rural Pender. He is a Wakefield High School graduate.

Top producers don't settle for second best...

Farm Credit Services sets the standard for ag lending, and we're very much in the market for good, new loans.

Farm Credit Services offers what top producers demand. Fixed, adjustable or variable rate programs let you manage risk. You'll deal with an experienced, knowledgeable staff who knows production agriculture and ag financing. Insurance, leasing programs and related services provide "one-stop" financing that lets you spend more time on the farm and less time in town working with several different companies.

If you're ready to move up to Farm Credit Services, stop in or call one of your local lending offices.
