New apartment complex to open

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The low-income housing shortage in Wayne will get a boost next month when a 16-apartment unit complex located at 208 west 13th street opens up.

The complex is a culmination of resources from Carhart Lumber Company, Carhart family members and the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation.

"There is a real need for housing of this type in Wayne," Scott Carhart said. "We started this project two years ago and construction has taken just about a year."

Carhart will be the manager of the complex which consists of eight apartment units on an upper level and eight apartment units on the bottom level. All the apartments are handicapped accessible on the ground floor with two of the apartments being handicapped equipped.

"Eleven of the 16 units are two-bedroom apartments and four are three-unit apartments with one, one-bedroom apartment," Carhart added. "All residents will have access to paved parking and all tenants will have access to laundry facilities."

Part of the financing for the project came through the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority (NIFA) and the guidelines established for qualifiers of the housing complex are formatted through HUD.

"Rent will range from $297.38 to $450.88," Carhart said. "Tenants will pay for electricity only. The square footage of the units range from 607-feet on the one-bedroom unit and 948-feet on the largest three-bedroom unit."

Rent can not exceed 30 percent of the median local income for the county and in Wayne County the median income is $32,400. The number is derived from an average of all household incomes in the county.

Maximum allowable income guidelines to qualify for living in the new complex include $14,160 for one resident, $16,860 for two residents, $18,960 for three residents, $21,060 for four residents, $22,740 for five residents and $24,420 for six residents.

The Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program is designed for individuals/families on fixed or lower incomes. The program was created by Congress in 1986 as part of the Tax Reform Act and is administered by the Internal Revenue Service.

Benefits to the residents include living in a newly constructed home with rents lower than the market rate. This program is not a subsidi-

Bands wow crowd at Band Day

High School bands from Allen, Neligh-Oakdale, Silver Creek and Raymond Central were the trophy winners in the annual Marching Band competition at the Wayne State College Band Day festivities Saturday.

Area bands from Wakarusa, Winside and Emerson-Hubbard also drew praise from the judges for their efforts in the competition. The Wayne High and Wayne Middle School Bands participated in the parade Saturday morning but did not compete in the judging.

Directed by Richard Lacy, the 52-member Allen band was judged best in Class D1. A total of 16 bands participated.

Wayne State College Director of Bands Fred Hanna, said the Allen, Wakefield, Emerson-Hubbard, Wayne and Winside bands all impressed the professional band judges and were a credit to their communities.

"Your directors and students obviously put in a lot of hard work and practice time in preparation for competitions this fall and their efforts were obviously appreciated by judges and the crowds," said Hanna of the band performers after Saturday's award ceremony.

Trophy winners in the competition, besides Allen, included the Raymond Central High School Band under the direction of Kevin Koopman, competing in Class B.

Koopman and his students accepted the trophy sponsored by the First National Bank of Omaha Credit Card Center. The trophy for the Class D2 winner Silver Creek High School Band, directed by Kerri Jones, was sponsored by Restful Knights. The Class C trophy, won by the Neligh-Oakdale High School Band directed by Jim Ingram, was sponsored by First Source Title and Escrow. The first place Class D1 trophy was sponsored by the People's Natural Gas in Wayne.

Wayne Elementary has two new teachers

By Clara Osten
of the Herald

Two new faces greeted Wayne Elementary students this fall when they returned to the classroom.

James Gagner is teaching 22 of the first graders and John McClarnen has 15 third graders in his classroom.

Gagner comes to Wayne from Mentor, Minn. He has served in the U.S. Air Force and is a graduate of Southwest State University in Marshall, Minn.

This is his first full-time classroom teaching assignment.

GAGNER SAID he chose to come to Wayne because "I knew the size of the community and knew Wayne had a good school system. I also wanted lower elementary students and the opportunity to coach."

He will be the assistant girls' basketball coach this season.

He said he has enjoyed the first weeks of teaching and says one of the biggest challenges so far has been the need to teach to a wide variety of abilities and interests.

Gagner said he knew he wanted to teach for some time and his wife encouraged him to go into elementary education.

City Council hears of disturbances at Riley's

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Complaints about noise and litter after Thursday night dances at Riley's highlighted Tuesday's City Council meeting.

John Redel of 202 South Logan Street urged council members to "shut them (Riley's) down at an ordinary time. Last week I called the police three times."

Redel said that he has picked up cans and bottles off his property and that on one occasion, people have come out of Riley's and across his lawn, breaking down a fence. He said there are cars driving by, noise and fights on a regular basis.

He said that things have gotten worse in recent weeks and "we can't put up with it any more."

GEORGE GOTTSCHALL, owner of Godfather's Pizza urged council members to sit in his store between 11:30 p.m. and 2 a.m. to watch what is happening.

He also said he has garbage bags of trash that he has had to pick up after Thursday night dances.

Gottschall said college students he has talked to are afraid to go to Riley's. He said the dances are "drawing in an outside element that could be dangerous."

Council members discussed what can be done.

Legislative forum to be in Wayne

The Nebraska Chamber of Commerce & Industry, in cooperation with the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, will present a Legislative Forum in Wayne on Tuesday.

The forum will begin at 7:30 a.m. at Riley's.

One of the key issues affecting the business community will be the fate of property tax initiative petitions on the November ballot. In addition, economic development incentives, labor law changes, product liability legislation and further debate on property taxation are issues likely to be offered by state senators in the 1997 session.

The State Chamber utilizes statewide forums each fall to hear from the business community on these legislative concerns and other important issues.

"Our annual forums provide a timely opportunity for the state's business leaders to gather for a discussion of key issues with the State Chamber Staff, community leaders and state senators," said Jack Swartz, State Chamber President.

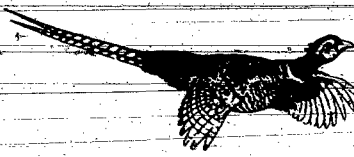

"The passage of either of the property tax petitions would mean the State would be forced to find some $420 million in replacement

Can we cross yet?

Corey Doorlag and Shirley Moore are just two of the "motorists" who are waiting patiently to cross Logan Street which has been closed to traffic for several months. According to Scott Milliken, project manager with the Nebraska Department of Roads, two weeks of good weather are needed before concrete work can be completed. The main street work is nearing Seventh Street and it is hoped that the intersection at Second Street can be opened before the rest of the project is complete. This will allow residents access to the area without having to use Seventh Street or Fairgrounds Avenue.

Wayne State College and Tribal College sign partnership agreement

The presidents of Wayne State College and Little Priest Tribal College in Winnebago signed a partnership agreement that allows students at the Winnebago college to earn credit at Wayne State.

The newly established tribal college is in the process of earning accreditation through the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. WSC is working with LPTC to provide the some 70 students there credit for the classes they are currently taking at the tribal college and to achieve accreditation for LPTC.

Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State College, and Dr. Yvonne Bushyhead, president of Little Priest Tribal College signed the agreement during a 10 a.m. ceremony Sept. 19 in Wayne.

"Wayne State will benefit from the additional enrollment when students from the two-year tribal college transfer to Wayne to complete their bachelor's degrees," said Dr. Jo Taylor, vice president for academic affairs at WSC. She added, by working with the tribal college, WSC is fulfilling its mission of fostering economic development and extending the opportunity for individuals to achieve a higher education.

"We are in full agreement with the Winnebago Tribe which has decadal higher education is essential to the cultural and economic health of N.E.Braska," said Dr. Taylor. Stressing the collaborative efforts between the two colleges, Dr. Taylor said she sees the signing of the agreement Thursday as the beginning of a long, healthy and mutually beneficial relationship.

The agreement between the schools additionally guarantees graduates of LPTC tuition-free enrollment at Wayne State. WSC has maintained a similar arrangement for students who graduate from the Nebraska Indian Community College with campuses at Macy and Walthill.

The Winnebago Tribe, under the guidance of Chairman John Blackhawk, has committed the proceeds from its Winnebegas Casino in Sloan, Iowa to establishing the Little Priest Tribal College and funding other capital investments such as a new hospital and reservation businesses that will provide long term benefits.

"We share the tribe's vision of social, cultural and economic vitality for N.E.Braska," said Dr. Mash. He added it is a vision that is attainable through collaborative agreements like the one signed Thursday between the two campuses.

"It is a vision attainable through higher education and economic development," concluded Dr. Mash.

JANE O'LEARY said the "situation isn't going to get better until we do something."

Verdel Lutt said the council has talked to the manager of Riley's in the past and was assured that steps would be taken to prevent the noise and disturbances but it hasn't worked.

He urged those who are disturbed by the noise to call Riley's owner, Rod Tompkins and voice their concerns.

Mike Pieper, the city's attorney, said there are a number of possible solutions and he and the Wayne Chief of Police would work together to come up with ideas that will be brought before the council.

On an 8-0 vote, the council agreed to that recommendation.

COUNCIL VOTED to approve plans and specifications for the Electrical and Mechanical Installation Phase of the Engine Generator for the Power Plant Addition. Cost for this phase of the project is estimated at $1,147,200. This amount includes a number of necessary requirements to make the generators operable and able to produce electricity.

Bids will be advertised in early October and plans call for them to be presented to the council at its Oct. 29 meeting.

An Oct. 29 date has been set for a public hearing regarding use by exception permit for a two-family dwelling at 110 Pearl Street.

The council approved an increase in rental fees for the Wayne City Auditorium. Rates for a rental will now be $150 per day. Rates for non-profit groups will remain at $50 per day with youth-related activities allowed to use the auditorium at no charge.

Visiting artist displays works at WSC gallery

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Determination and motion are factors that have helped Mary Ann Strandell achieve her goals of becoming a respected artist.

The South Dakota native currently has her work on display at the Nordstrand Gallery in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building on the Wayne State Campus.

"It takes a lot of determination to make a living as an artist but it can be done," she said.

Ms. Strandell is currently an artist-in-residence at the Bemis Center for Contemporary Art in Omaha. She will be teaching a class next spring at the Kansas City Art Institute in Kansas City, Mo.

She received the 1995-96 Arts Midwest/NEA Regional Visual Artist Fellowship Award and was awarded a Career Development Grant-Award by the South Dakota Arts Council.

Motion is central to both Ms. Strandell's work and her life.

She has lived in Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, New York, North Carolina, New Mexico and Vermillion, S.D. before recently moving to Omaha.

Ms. Strandell's work has three distinct areas: outdoor studio work, printmaking and studio work involving oil on canvas.

"My outdoor work is a historical study of the landscape and a study of energy."

"All my work involves the history of how ideas have culminated over time. My work is about learning and investigating," she said.

She uses the theme of a spinning top to represent human beings staying centered in the midst of change and motion.

Ms. Strandell has exhibited her work nationally and internationally for the past 15 years. Her work is handled by the Dartmouth Gallery in New Mexico.

Wayne and WayNET

Increasing numbers of residents accessing the local telephone service are contacting Wayne-Carroll Public School personnel to enroll in, study and use WayNET, a course designed to learn how to use the Internet for personal education and research. Signing up for the course at a cost of $30 each six months has proven popular as a way to enhance one's education regardless of age.

Mike Eckhoff, WayNET system operator at the school, reports 132 individuals are currently enrolled in the tech course. Faunceil Bennett, at the Middle School, says the next class will be held in October.

Those interested in accessing the Internet via WayNET must first participate in a classroom course providing participants with the necessary instruction related to operational procedures.

Literally thousands of Wayne area residents are in some type of educational program this fall: an estimated 4,000 at WSC; hundreds more enrolled in the parochial, elementary, middle, and high schools; and one must include the 132 WayNET users perusing the so-called "information superhighway" via computer technology.

Records show about 30 people are attending each introductory class held at the high school. As more and more people are purchasing home computers, interest in WayNET also seems to increase as it provides an opportunity to optimize continuing education. In addition to a computer, one needs a modem which enables the home computer to "talk" to other computers locally or around the world. There are no long distance fees.

Individuals interested in taking the course should call Faunceil Bennett at the Wayne Middle School during school hours, Monday through Friday, to sign up for the October session. As a convenience, instructional classes are held during the evening hours at the high school.

Our community is now a place where the phrase "back to school" involves a sizable number of residents.

We think that's great.

School uniforms

City and school personnel in Omaha are discussing the merits of requiring all public school students to wear school uniforms.

Those subscribing to the concept argue that uniformity in clothing would eliminate numerous problems such as students wearing gang symbols, or name-brand jackets apparently much desired by young thieves.

Though gang problems are not significantly visible in Wayne, the Wayne-Carroll Public School System does have a policy, implemented about two years ago, specifying students are not to wear items of clothing to school which communicate obscenities or profanity.

Objecting to the school uniform concept, some parents maintain such uniformity would tend to destroy individuality, personality, creativeness and the freedom of choice.

Residents in northeast Nebraska have reason to be proud of their school students, with most of them understanding the importance of societal law, customs and general ethics.

Football, basketball and band uniforms appear sufficient for the good life in Wayne America.

We salute our excellent schools, staff and teenagers

Teachers and farmers link arms

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Ever since state teachers and farmers linked arms in a petition drive to limit property taxes and guarantee "quality education," the wags around Lincoln have been predicting the ultimate breakup of this unusual alliance.

The Nebraska State Education Association is usually badgering state legislators for more money to pay for teacher retirement plans or salary increases, while the Nebraska Farm Bureau and Nebraska Farmers Union just want taxes — like velvet weeds and cockleburs — to go away.

But publicly, at least, those two factions stuck together last week as they launched a $200,000 to $400,000 advertising campaign to sell the dual ideas to voters.

All along, it was going to be a hard sell but it became an even harder proposition to sell after a judge agreed that the two ideas should be presented as separate questions on the November ballot.

Attorney General Don Stenberg had argued that quality education and property tax lids were two separate issues.

The state constitution says that ballot issues forwarded by the Legislature shall contain only one issue. Stenberg said the rule should apply to petition efforts, too.

Thus, voters in November will be asked to approve two propositions:

Initiative 411, which puts into the state constitution a guarantee of a quality education for all Nebraska school children and requires the Legislature to make up the revenue lost to schools during the first year of implementation.

Initiative 412, which puts limits on property tax levies and puts into the constitution a state rule that agricultural land be valued for tax purposes at no more than 80 percent of its market value.

A close reading of those two ideas tells me that most farmers would love to see 412 pass but could care less if 411 wins.

But last week, farmers and educators were insisting that the two propositions were linked like Siamese twins. Voters, they said, wanted property tax relief, but not at the expense of public education.

Their first radio ad utilizes famous entertainment "couples" like Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers and Johnny Carson and Ed McMahon.

"But the best couple will be on the ballot this fall — a guaranteed quality education and a property tax reduction," says an announcer.

[That all sounds well and good but many folks besides Stenberg have big concerns about that "quality education" clause. No one knows exactly what it means. (No one was very sure, either, if passage of 411 and 412 would lower our tax bills overall or just shift the kind of taxes we are paying.)

Last week, farm group officials said it would mean that educational funding for rural schools would be fairer and more equal with their city cousins. NSEA folks, meanwhile, said it would mean that public education would not be "hurt" by property tax reductions.

Expect a flurry of lawsuits over what "quality education" means. This state already has some problems with its state aid to local education formulas. The "quality education" clause promises to provide an even more potent headache — until the courts sort it out.

State business groups — groups with big money — plan an all-out campaign to defeat Initiatives 411 and 412. They fear that the quality education plank will cause income and sales taxes to rise to replace the expected $400 million loss in property taxes.

The only sure thing here is that advertising firms, campaign managers and lawyers are going to make out like bandits this fall. Meanwhile, it will take several years before Nebraskans find out if these two ideas were profitable or not.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

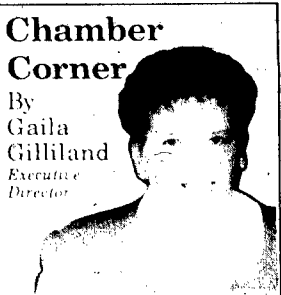

'Good News Indeed' to appear this week

The first issue of Good News Indeed, a supplement to Country Magazine, will be arriving in the home and offices of 800 subscribers in 18 zip codes, including Wayne, this week.

A couple of things make this issue particularly special.

Chamber Corner

By Gaila Gilliland
Executive Director

First, this premiere issue features good news all about the community of Wayne America. The supplement, being brought to subscribers courtesy of advertising by Chamber members, will spread this good news and recognition beyond the Wayne area.

Be sure to thank those who advertise the good news about your community. If you do not subscribe to Country Magazine, check with one of the advertisers about a complimentary issue of Good News Indeed.

Second, each issue will feature a local 'Good Deed of the Month' winner. You could nominate the next winner!

This good deed could be something which happened last week or as long as within the past year. Consult the magazine for further instructions on submitting your nomination. Contact either Bea Kinslow or me with your nominations for this contest by calling the Chamber office at 375-2240.

And the very first winner of this contest is... Ted Johnson of Wayne, the man who not only knows the meaning of the word CARING, but also practices it each day! As a shining example of volunteerism since his own retirement to Wayne in 1987, Ted has generously given the gift of his time to the community of Wayne through his actions, attitude and ideals. He reflects caring, compassion, optimism, patience and putting others first without any thought to receiving special recognition.

A frequent volunteer at the Wayne Care Centre, Ted, quietly goes about his daily volunteer work. In 1990, shortly after his own cancer was diagnosed, Ted became an active hospice volunteer by completing a hospice volunteer training course and is always available to sit with patients in the nursing home, hospital and in their own homes.

No task is too small for Ted's consideration. He assists with inventory and office tasks at the Care Centre, transports patients to and from doctor and dentist appointments by either riding in the van or using his own car and keeps the residents' name board up-to-date.

This extraordinary man does all these things with great love and the Wayne Area of Chamber of Commerce is delighted to recognize Ted Johnson for sharing his love with the community of Wayne and the surrounding area.

Thanks, Ted, and congratulations on being selected the winner of the 'Good Deed of the Month' contest!

Auxiliary honored

Leah Jeanne Miller, left, President of the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary, accepted a plaque from Sister Kevin Hermesen of Providence Medical Center in appreciation for the services the auxiliary has provided to the hospital since its beginning in February of 1960.

What is really mean-spirited?

Let me see if I understand this extreme, mean-spirited thing. Nowadays, if you dislike your opponent, it is very fashionable to call him an extremist, or claim he is mean-spirited.

Sit back in your chair a moment and let's try to figure out the meaning of being extreme or mean-spirited.

Workers who want to keep the money they earn are called extreme and mean-spirited, but legislators who want to take it from them in taxes are not.

Expecting citizens to work for welfare is extreme and mean-spirited, but making people addicts of entitlements is not.

Executing a convicted murderer is extreme and mean-spirited, but killing a developing human fetus is not.

Cutting the amount of tax dollars spent on education is extreme and mean-spirited, but promoting students unable to spell, read or write, is not.

Slowing the growth of Social Security and Medicare, otherwise headed for bankruptcy, is extreme and mean-spirited, but the Clinton administration's passing the biggest tax increase in history is not.

Increasing America's defense budget is extreme and mean-spirited, but dodging the draft, and going to Europe, is not.

Training and correcting a child according to Biblical ethics is extreme and mean-spirited, but allowing a baby sitter to rear your child on a diet of video violence is not.

Families who inherit a farm and want to keep it are extreme and mean-spirited, but the federal government, in swallowing it via taxation, is not.

Merlin Wright

Conservatives would like to see America return to solid family values, but liberals still want to emphasize that Dan Quayle misspelled 'potato'. Isn't that mean-spirited?

Appointing a self-confessed murderer a taxpayer-supported attorney is not extreme or mean-spirited, but when a victim asks for the same right, it is.

The U.S. Secretary of Transportation has awarded $1,000,000 to UNL for "transportation research", but the feds turned down Gov. Nelson's request for $1.6 million for disaster aid in Northeast Nebraska. Isn't that extreme and mean-spirited?

Elders provided good school buildings for us in yesteryear, but as taxpayers we are hesitant to do the same for our grandchildren. Isn't that mean-spirited?

Is it any wonder we adults are poor role models for the next generation? Do we speak with a forked tongue? Perhaps it is time we really become extreme and review personal perceptions.

Might be good for us all. (For other literature by Merlin Wright please visit his home page at: <http://www.wayne.edu/1.k12.ne.us/~mwright>)

New teaching methods introduced

Constant change. That is what today's college students will face when they begin their careers according to members of the Wayne State College business faculty who are changing the way they introduce students to computer technology.

When more than 200 freshmen who enrolled in the Introduction to Computer Information Technology course arrived at the first day of class last week, they were greeted by a team of t-shirt-clad professors with upbeat attitudes and a new approach to teaching.

"The whole presentation is developed around the word 'change'," said Cheryl Waddington, assistant professor of business who is sharing the teaching responsibilities for the large number of students enrolled in the computer literacy course.

Rather than teaching students how to operate a specific version of software on a specific brand of computer, both of which might be long outdated by the time they begin their careers, the WSC professors are preparing students to deal with the constant changes in the world of computers.

Software changes and new hardware releases are a weekly occurrence in the modern computer industry and users must constantly adapt to those changes to remain the most competitive, said Jean Lutt, business instructor who is sharing teaching responsibilities in the new college course.

"Adaptation is something you are going to have to accept to deal with the constant updates," said Mrs. Lutt.

So, shouldn't college instructors adapt their teaching methods to address the changes in the industry? both Waddington and Lutt asked.

Team teaching is an adaptation that both say will benefit the student. All of the students who were previously enrolled in several separate sections of the computer literacy course meet together for special class lectures now. They do computer lab work on their own.

The concept allows more time for the student to be working in the lab with a computer and even more one-on-one time with the instructors.

"Under the team approach (to teaching) several inputs are better than one," said Waddington. "It reflects more what is happening in the real world," she added explaining that the team approach to computing work assignments is growing in popularity in the business world.

Making the class enjoyable and emphasizing the fun of computer learning are also crucial elements of the new course.

The instructors, who are joined by Teresa Feyerherm, Sandra Dorcey and Stacy Strawn, lab assistant, plan to "spice the class up" with nontraditional teaching methods to make it interesting.

Turning students on to the enjoyment of constantly learning new technologies is not just fun and games, however, said Lutt and Waddington.

"Computer literacy will be crucial to their future success," said Lutt. "It is absolutely a must."

DEQ issues transfer station permit

The Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality has announced its intent to issue a permit to the City of Wayne for a solid waste transfer station.

DEQ has reviewed the city's permit application and has made a preliminary permit determination to issue a draft permit with conditions under which the transfer station must operate.

The transfer station is owned and operated by the City of Wayne.

Waste brought to the transfer station is dumped onto a tipping floor, sorted and then transferred on trailers to the L.P. Gill landfill.

Persons may comment on the proposed permit or may request a public hearing by writing to Joe Francis, Department of Environmental Quality, Suite 400, The Atrium, P.O. Box 989222, Lincoln, Neb. 68509-8922 by Oct. 12, 1996.

A request for a hearing should state the nature of the issues proposed to be raised at the hearing. After the public comment period and any public hearing, the DEQ Director will publish a notice of his decision.

Copies of the draft permit, fact sheet and administrative record are available for viewing at the Wayne Public Library and at DEQ's offices in Lincoln.

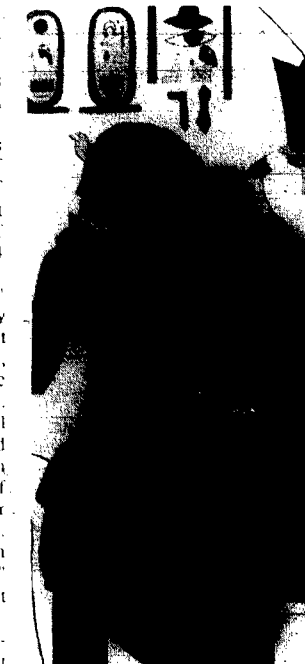

Quilt show is held at Winside

There were 167 quilts and wall hangings on display at the quilt show held in Winside Sept. 14 and 15. Theme for the event was "Family Treasures — Old and New."

The oldest quilt on display was owned by Elsie Weible Halfner of Vista, Calif. Her quilt, a rose leaf design, was made by her great grandmother, Charlotte Schacht of Missouri, sometime between 1864 and 1870.

Many other "family treasures" were on display from area family members, including several that belong to the Winside Museum, whose committee members were responsible for hosting the show. Besides old quilts, some were still in their completion stage or had just recently been finished. Marian Iversen, a life-long resident of Winside and a quilter since her youth, featured 15 she had made. Her oldest quilt on display was an orange and yellow "Broken Star" pattern which she pieced in 1934. It was quilted by the late Cora Brodd.

Marian's king size green multi-colored "Star of Bethlehem" quilt was selected on Sunday as the people's choice winner. She received a box of quilting supplies, donated by Omnigrig Inc.

Saturday's people's choice award went to Lois Krueger of Winside, who displayed a king size brown and beige "Candle Wicking" quilt. She received a hand knitted doily donated by Leona Backstrom of Winside.

One appliqued wall hanging on display came from Egypt. The owner is Virginia Holtgrew of Nokomis, Fla. who received it as a gift from her employer.

Delta Holtgrew Warner of Punta Gorda, Fla. demonstrated different quilting techniques during the event.

The quilts were displayed on 24 huge wooden frames, as well as on various sized and shaped rocking chairs and quilt racks. Some of the frames were rented and some had to be built to accommodate the large number of quilts volunteered for display. Anyone interested in renting these frames can contact Bill Burris, president of the Winside Museum Committee.

Dorothy Marshall of Neligh won the quilt that was given away. There were many other door-prizes given away.

Funding boosts Allen's economy

In 1991 Allen officials applied for and received an $80,000 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) to help low-to-moderate-income residents become home owners.

The grant was made as part of an ongoing program directed by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development (DED) which encourages and assists with the development and vitality of businesses and communities throughout the state.

In July of this year Rob Bock, president of the Allen Development Group, attended the governor's weekly news conference in Lincoln to share his city's success story and to hear the governor award $8,048,550 in 1996 CDBG funds to 48 communities and two counties.

"That initial CDBG grant really stimulated Allen's economy and challenged us to do more with less," Bock said.

The city formed the non-profit Allen Development Group to administer CDBG funds, along with $367,000 in local funds for initial down payments.

During the next three years, 16 families purchased four new existing homes through the down payment assistance program, sparking a building boom that is still going strong.

To date, five more homes have been built, 25 lots developed and a day care center established, said Bock, who added that when all lots are occupied, the city's tax base will increase by 25 percent.

"The 16 home owners are now repaying portions of their down payments, which has helped us create a revolving loan fund for other to achieve their dream of owning homes," Bock said.

Dragons put out fire in Wayne State

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The Wayne State football team suffered a disappointing setback to Moorhead State in the home opener at Cunningham Field last Saturday, 28-21.

The loss left WSC with a 1-3 record heading into Saturday's contest at Minnesota-Duluth—a team looking for their first win of the season.

The 'Cats got off to a slow start against Moorhead State, trailing 13-0 in the second quarter before quarterback Jarrod DeGeorgia darted in from two yards out, capping a six-play, 75-yard drive to make it a 13-7 score at the intermission.

The Dragons got a one-yard score in the opening quarter by Pat Elmes on a fourth-and-goal call and Grover Moore scored on a nine-yard run in the second quarter to account for all the visitors' points in the first half.

Moorhead State opened up a 21-7 lead in the third quarter after a 19-yard scoring strike but WSC roared back to tie the game after three on a one-yard run by Marcus Bishop and a 16-yard pass from DeGeorgia to Erich Smith.

The final points of the contest were scored by the Dragons, however, on a 15-yard run by Elmes which culminated a 52-yard drive in six plays.

"We're just not putting things together offensively right now," Wayne State head coach Dennis Wagner said. "I thought we played well at times on offense but we were too inconsistent."

WSC also suffered five turnovers and Wagner said you won't win many games with that many turnovers. "They (Moorhead State) scored on four of our five turnovers," Wagner said. "If we learned one lesson from this game it has to be protecting the ball. We had some turnovers that resulted from being aggressive and I don't want us to stop being aggressive but we have to protect the ball."

Wagner's will to win has a rushing ball clause in it which states that anytime the 'Cats rush for 200-plus yards per game, they will win. In fact, during his tenure at WSC, his squad has never lost a game in which they ran for 200 yards or more. Saturday, the 'Cats rushed for 186 yards—and lost by a touchdown.

Marcus Bishop returned to the WSC backfield after sitting out last week with an injury and he rushed for 112 yards on 35 carries while DeGeorgia was 25-41 with two interceptions through the air for 265 yards and a touchdown.

Dameon Porter was the leading receiver with eight catches for 77 yards while Andy Follett had four catches for 13 yards. WSC's counterparts were led by Grover Moore with 164 yards on 21 carries. Moorhead state passed the ball just five times, completing one for 19 yards but the Dragons ran for 322 yards.

WSC out-gained the visitors by a 451-341 margin. Defensively, Wagner credited the play of Kevin Armstrong, Steve Lüdtke and Bruce Foumat, allowing Gabe Toft and Rick Kusken to have outstanding games with 16 and 15 tackles, respectively. Toft also had two fumble recoveries. Trevor Templar also was in double figures in the tackle charts with 13. Game time for Saturday's contest in Duluth is 1:30 p.m.

Wayne blanks Ponca despite adversity

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

It was a strange week for the Wayne Blue Devils football team. All week they prepared for their home opening football game with Ponca after starting the season with two road contests at Schuyler and Logan View.

Thursday afternoon, Wayne had to re-focus its game plan as the game was moved to Ponca after inclement weather soaked the football field at Wayne State College.

Wayne coach John Murtaugh's was pleased that his team overcame the adversity as they posted a 20-0 shutout, improving the Blue Devils record to 2-1 on the season including two shutouts.

"I was extremely pleased the way we reacted to playing a third straight road game to start the season," Murtaugh said. "Some of the credit has to go to our defensive coordinator Dan Fehringer and Aaron Schuett who had a great game plan."

Wayne scored two touchdowns in the second quarter as the offensive line began to take control. The first came on a 21-yard pass from Paul Blomenkamp to Paul Zulkoski with Tyler Endicott kicking the point after. The second score came on a four-yard run by Niek Vanhorn.

The Blue Devils added to the 14-0 lead in the fourth quarter on a 77-yard pass from Blomenkamp to Zulkoski as the receiver out-jumped the defender for the ball and then ran un-challenged to the endzone.

"I thought our offensive line was a key," Murtaugh said. "The play of David Boehle, Jeremy Lutt, Eric Hefti, Tony Hansen and Jesse Rethwisch was solid."

Murtaugh also said he was pleased with the individual performances of Zulkoski and Brian Fernau. Vanhorn led Wayne's ground attack with 79 yards on 22 carries while Fernau added 46 on a dozen carries. Blomenkamp was 5-9 through the air for 120 yards with Zulkoski catching two balls for 98 yards while Kurtis Keller caught two three passes for 22 yards.

Defensively, the shutout performance by the team was led by Brian Fernau's 11 tackles while Jeremy Lutt and Jeremy Meyer had 10 each. Hansen tallied nine total tackles.

Wayne will return home for its second home opener on Friday against undefeated Utica-Centennial—34-13 winners over Wymore Southern last Friday.

Allen football team is beaten for first time

The Allen Eagles were defeated on the gridiron for the first time in 1996 at the hands of Wausa last Friday in Allen, 60-18.

Doug Schnack said his Eagles just simply failed to show up for the game mentally. "They blew us out of the water," Schnack said. "We just weren't ready to play."

Allen only trailed by six at the half, 18-12 but Wausa scored three touchdowns in a five minute span to start the third quarter to put the game away.

Allen's three scores came on a one-yard run by quarterback Jeremy Kumm, a 17-yard run by Brett Sachau and a 47-yard pass from Kumm to Michael Blohm in the third quarter.

The visiting Vikings racked up 353 rushing yards with Shane Anderson rushing for 187 yards and Ryan Clausen, 116. The Eagles were led by Sachau's 119 yards on

Winside spikers fall to 1-7

Lisa Schroeder's Winside volleyball team was defeated by highly touted Wausa in Winside, Tuesday 8-15, 10-15 leaving the Wildcats with a 1-7 record.

Mandi Topp and Amy Riley each had eight set assists with Topp at 18-18 while Riley was 12-12. Jess Miller was 13-15 in hitting with nine kills and Jodi Miller was 8-10 with six kills and each of the Miller's had three ace blocks.

Jodi Miller paced the serving corp with three aces on eight-of-nine attempts. Mandi Topp was 8-9 and Rachel Riley was 4-4.

"Overall, I thought our hitting and blocking was outstanding," Schroeder said. "Our strength this season had been serve receive but we really struggled with that against Wausa. Each time we started our offense with a good pass we recorded a kill spike because the hitters can put the ball away but we need to work on passing consistency."

Winside will travel to play Newcastle on Tuesday.

Blue Devils to play at Wisner Tourney, Saturday Wayne upset by Knights

The eighth-ranked Wayne Blue Devils volleyball team was surprised by Norfolk Catholic in action Tuesday in Norfolk, falling two-games-to-one, 15-6, 14-16, 12-15.

Despite the loss coach Joyce Hoskins felt this match would be one the Devils look back at in the future so as not to put any opponent less equal than any other.

"We have to go out and play every match from start to finish and not let up," Hoskins said. "We can't take any opponent lightly which is what I think happened at Norfolk Catholic."

The Wayne mentor said her team just had an off night and that it was a good learning experience. Wayne dominated the first game but struggled in the second game. "We were tied at 14 and serving and we fell on the short end of a controversial call which resulted in a side out," Hoskins said. "Those are the breaks. We can't sit back and hope we get all the calls."

In the third game Wayne was tied at 12 with the Knights, then missed some crucial serves. The 8-3 Blue Devils were led by Katie Lutt with 19 kill spikes on 35 of 40 attempts while Gayle Olson was 39-46 with a dozen kills. Molly Linster was 17-22 with four kills followed by Jenni Beiermann with two kills and Katy Wilson with one.

Melissa Weber was 109-111 in setting the ball with 35 aces and the serving was led by Lutt's four aces on 13 of 14 attempts. Linster was 13-15 with three aces and Brooke Parker was 18-18 with two aces. Olson and Weber had two ace blocks each while Linster had one.

LAST THURSDAY in Wayne the Blue Devils disposed of Pierce in quick fashion, 15-3, 15-5 in the home opener. "We just went out and played," Hoskins said. "The girls just focused on our side of the net and did a nice job."

Weber was 43-45 in setting the ball with 18 assists while Lutt was 29-30 in hitting with 10 kill spikes. Gayle Olson was 10-12 with five kills and Linster was 3-4 with three kills.

Katie Lutt was 7-7 in serving with two aces and Brooke Parker was 12-12 with one ace. Olson, Weber and Katy Wilson each had one serving ace as well. Lutt and Wilson led the defense at the net with two ace blocks each.

The Wayne reserve team won, 9-15, 15-11, 15-11 as Megan Meyer, Carol Longe and Alycia Jorgensen each scored 10 points to lead the winners.

The "C" team also won, 15-4, 15-9, 15-13 with Brittney Frevert leading the way with five points and two service aces while Mandi Hansen had four points and two serving aces.

Wayne will play in the Wisner Invitational on Saturday with a round-robin format with Pierce, Madison and Wisner-Pilger.

Wayne setter Melissa Weber returns a serve during the Blue Devils straight games win over Pierce last Thursday.

Trojans even mark

Wakefield split a pair of volleyball matches last Thursday and Tuesday, falling to Wausa, 2-15, 15-11, 3-15 but rebounding to defeat Harrington, 17-15, 15-9.

Marty Slaughter's team evened their record at 6-6 after the two outings and will host Wynot on Tuesday.

Susan Brudigam led the team in setting with 13 assists against Wausa while Alison Benson and Bree Oswald each had seven kill spikes to share team honors. Kristin Preston was a perfect 9-9 in serving with two aces and Rachel Dutcher was 10-10 in serving to lead the Trojans. Preston also paced the defensive effort against the Vikings with four ace blocks while Brudigam had two solo blocks and two assists.

"This match was a huge disappointment for us," Slaughter said. "We felt we had a great opportunity to come back and win that third game. Our girls need to realize that teams like Wausa are at a higher level and in order to compete with them we have to eliminate our mistakes."

Wakefield improves to 3-0 with win over Tigers

Wakefield improved to 3-0 with a 14-6 gridiron victory over Osmond last Friday in Wakefield in the home opener for the Trojans.

The game was as close on paper as it was on the field as the visiting Tigers edged Wakefield in total offense, 263-218.

Wakefield maintained a 7-6 lead through most of the fourth quarter before Justin Mackling put the game on ice with a 12-yard run with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

Quarterback Jim Rusk scored the game's first points on a one-yard run in the first quarter while Osmond's Scott Schultze scored on a seven-yard run in the second quarter.

Mackling led all ground gainers with 163 yards on 36 carries while Schultze led Osmond with 126 yards. Rusk was 4-14 through the air with three interceptions for 35 yards with BJ Hansen catching two balls for 15 yards.

Defensively, Wakefield was led by Tyler Peters with 17 tackles while Mackling recorded 13 and Heath Keim along with Shaun Hammer had 10 tackles each.

Eric Beacom, Hansen and Hammer each recovered a fumble and Hansen also picked off a pass. Wakefield will seek its fourth straight win to start the season on Friday when they play at Homer.

Laurel shuts out Neligh-Oakdale

Tom Luxford's Laurel Bears blasted Neligh-Oakdale, 21-0 last Friday night in Neligh, improving the Bears record to a perfect 3-0 heading into Friday's home game with Crofton.

It was Laurel's defense that keyed the offense in the first two scoring drives and in particular, Mark Patefield.

Patefield intercepted a Neligh pass and returned it 15 yards to the five-yard line where on the next play Vince Ward sprinted into the endzone for a quick 7-0.

On the next possession, Patefield recovered a fumble and two plays later it was quarterback Ryan Kvolts hooking up with Chad Jorgensen from 24 yards out.

Laurel's final score came seconds into the second quarter on a three-yard run by Kvolts. "We jumped on them early by capitalizing on their mistakes," Luxford said. "I thought are kids did a good job on defense all night."

The Bears were led on the ground by Ward with 99 yards on 21 carries while Kvolts was 7-12 with one interception and 152 yards. Chad Jorgensen had two receptions for 34 yards and Andy Bose, two for 27 to lead the winners.

Defensively, Laurel was led by Seth Harder and Kvolts with 11 tackles each while Travis Stingley had 10 and Ryan McCoy, nine. Patefield finished a stellar defensive night with eight tackles, a fumble recovery and an interception. Chad Jorgensen notched two interceptions.

"We're nearing a very pivotal game in our season this Friday," Luxford said. "Crofton will be a tough team and they're a prelude to the final three games with Plainview, Tilden-Elkhorn Valley and Bloomfield."

Allen spikers win four straight matches to even season record

Scott Kneiff's Allen Eagles have soared to four consecutive victories to even their season record at 5-5.

Allen defeated Emerson-Hubbard last Thursday, 15-8, 15-13 then played at Beemer on Tuesday and notched a 11-15, 15-2, 15-12 victory.

In Allen, Amanda Mitchell paced the hitting crew with 12 kills on 16 of 20 attempts while Jaime Kluser had 26 set assists. Amy Sullivan was 7-7 in serving with three aces and Mindy Plueger notched one ace block.

"We played pretty well," Kneiff said. "Once again we had a nice home crowd which fired the girls up."

Tuesday the Eagles got out to a slow start but came on strong to defeat the Bobcats. Amanda Mitchell was 12-16 in hitting with nine kill spikes while Kluser had 24 set assists. Kluser was also the leading server at 14-14 with one ace.

"I thought our team showed some character with the way they fought back after not playing well in that first game," Kneiff said. "Jaime Kluser really did a good job of getting the ball where she needed too and she made some good decisions."

Allen will compete in the Newcastle Tournament on Monday and Tuesday. Kneiff's crew will play the winner of Emerson-Hubbard and Homer on Monday night. The other bracket has the Newcastle-Coleridge winner squaring off against Ponca.

Winside downs Pirates

By Lee Koch
For the Herald

The Winside football team shook off their early season struggles with a 20-13 win over previously unbeaten Emerson-Hubbard last Friday in Emerson, 20-13.

The Wildcats spotted the Pirates to a first half lead for the third-straight week but Ryan Krueger's five-yard scoring run late in the fourth quarter put Winside ahead by five points at 18-13 before quarterback Robert Wittler connected with Jamey Holdorf for the two-point conversion.

The host team took their opening drive in for a score with Josh Hassler doing the honors from five yards out and the Pirates built a 13-0 lead when Ed Vraspir scored on a four-yard run but Winside rallied late in the second quarter, scoring with just 13 seconds remaining on a 10-yard pass from Robert Wittler to Jamey Holdorf.

While the first half belonged to the Pirates the second half was all Winside as Landon Grothe needed just 10 seconds to return the opening kickoff 75 yards to paydirt to pull the Wildcats with in one point at 13-12. Late in the fourth quarter Ryan Krueger darted in from five yards out for the game winner.

It was a total team effort and a great win for us," coach Randy Geier said. "Our offensive line really took charge in that last scoring drive in the fourth quarter."

Geier added that he felt his team did a nice job of avoiding mental mistakes. Wittler finished the game with 104 yards passing on 11 of 19 attempts while Landon Grothe led a balanced rushing attack with 56 yards on 14 carries. Holdorf caught four passes for 45 yards to lead the receiving corp.

Defensively, Winside was led by Brock Shelton's 13 tackles and Joe Schwedhelm with a dozen. Corey Brummels tallied eight tackles. Holdorf and Chad O'Connor each notched an interception in the final minutes of the fourth quarter.

Winside will play host to Osmond on Friday.

College student raises money to build house

Many college students spent their summers earning money to help with college expenses.

Broch Muhs had a summer job too. But the Wayne State College student wasn't working to raise money for college. The proceeds from his summer work, all $30,000 worth, will provide the materials to build a new house in the Habitat for Humanity program.

When all the pledges are in, that is the amount Muhs hopes to have raised for the humanitarian aid program by riding his bike from Phoenix to Norfolk in August.

The industrial technology education major serves on the board of directors of the Habitat for Humanity chapter in his hometown of Norfolk. He is the son of Wendell and Wanda Muhs of Norfolk.

Muhs has been active as a fund raiser for the organization, has participated in construction projects and has made plans to help form a new chapter of Habitat for Humanity on the Wayne State College Campus.

In previous years several Wayne

State Students have organized volunteer efforts to provide construction manpower during their spring break for humanitarian housing projects and Muhs said he hopes to capitalize on that benevolent spirit as the proposed WSC chapter takes shape.

There is a tremendous need for adequate housing for families in this region who are living in substandard conditions. Muhs said the Habitat for Humanities program builds new houses for these families in need as well as remodeling older homes. He said there is currently a family with seven children on the waiting listing in Norfolk.

Muhs said he got the idea for the cross-country, fund-raising, bike ride after participating in a bike-a-thon last year that covered 300 miles and raised $1,200. The plan to ride his bike from Phoenix to Norfolk evolved after he completed a course of study and earned a degree in architectural drafting from a technical school in Phoenix.

He enrolled at Wayne State this fall and plans to earn a degree in industrial technology education. He said he has a lot of admiration for his high school drafting teacher Burgess Powell and would like to follow in his footsteps.

Muhs said he finds the volunteer work as part of Habitat for Humanity very satisfying and plans to continue efforts for the organization.

Of the 1,500-mile bike ride Muhs said he didn't find the 15-day-trip through rugged terrain overly stressful. He said he enjoyed the beautiful scenery and the friends he met along the way, including a group of 20 cyclists from Belgium who were riding cross country as a multiple sclerosis fund raiser. He started the trip on Aug. 3 and arrived in Norfolk Aug. 18, averaging about 80 miles a day.

Pledges can still be made to benefit Habitat for Humanity on behalf of Muhs' ride. Those interested may contact Joan Zanders, WSC financial aid director, 375-7230 and may pledge a flat amount or an amount per mile.

Educators attend conference

Judy Zobel, a science instructor at Wayne High School, and Betsy Maryott, director of the Northeast Nebraska Math and Science Coalition and a science instructor at Wayne State College, attended a seven-state regional conference in Denver, Colo. entitled "Making Connections."

Representatives from Ball Aerospace, Bureaus of Land Management, Celestial Seasoning, U.S. West, Coors, Eastman Kodak, ETC w/cti, Hewlett Packard, IBM, Kaiser Permanente, Lockheed Martin and the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration made presentations to math and science education leaders on the applications of math, science and technology in their respective industries.

Following the presentations, educators visited these businesses to gain first-hand knowledge of how math, science and technology are used.

The conference was organized by the Eisenhower High Plains Consortium for Mathematics and Science (HPC) at the Mid-continent Regional Educational Laboratory, based in Aurora, Colo.

The group of more than 150 educators from the seven-state region worked with representatives of businesses and industries to gain an understanding of the roles that math, science and technology play in solving real-world problems.

Many adults are at-risk in our advancing technological society because they possess the barest of mathematics and science skills. Responding to the gap between new employees' skills and entry-level position requirements, businesses and industries invest millions of dollars in training programs to produce entry-level employees with skills in creative problem-solving, teamwork, data analysis and communication the same skills developed through a solid mathematics and science education.

As a result of the conference, education leaders were encouraged to connect to businesses and industries in their states to examine potential changes in the K-12 curriculum that could better prepare students with the skills necessary to enter a constantly changing workplace.

They are looking at ways to enhance the existing curriculum to ensure that students develop creative problem solving, teamwork, data analysis and communication skills.

The other connection made through this conference was between technology and curriculum. Conference participants had a number of opportunities to see technology as a support tool for making changes in the teaching and learning mathematics and science. They also learned how to effectively plan for school districts to acquire, access and apply technology to support curricular changes.

The conference was supported by funding from the U.S. Department of Education and the Eisenhower National Mathematics and Science Programs.

How do you view materialism for kids?

Q: My wife and I disagree strongly about the role of materialism in our children's lives. She feels we should give them toys and games that we never had as kids. At Christmas time, we stack gifts knee-deep around the tree. I feel this is a mistake, even if we could afford to do what we are doing. What is your view on materialism in the life of a child?

A: I also have concerns about giving kids too many things, which often reflects our inability to say "no" to them.

The child's lust for toys is carefully generated through millions of dollars spent on TV advertising by toy manufacturers. Their commercials are skillfully made so that the toys look like full-sized copies of their real counterparts. The little buyer sits open-mouthed in utter fascination. Five minutes later, he begins a campaign that will eventually cost his dad $14.95 plus batteries and tax.

Suppose the parents are courageous enough to resist the child's urging. He is not blocked. Grandparents are notoriously easy to "con."

Some would ask, "Why not? Why shouldn't we let our children enjoy the fruits of our good times?" I would not deny a child a reasonable quantity of things he craves. But many American children are inundated with excesses that work toward their detriment.

It has been said that prosperity offers a greater test of character than does adversity, and I'm inclined to agree. There are few conditions that inhibit a sense of appreciation more than for a child to feel he is entitled to whatever he wants, whenever he wants it.

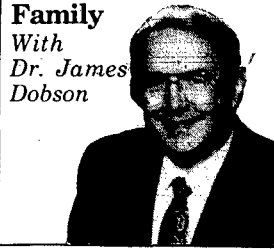

It is enlightening to watch as a child tears open stacks of presents at his birthday party or perhaps at Christmas time. One after another, the expensive contents are tossed aside with little more than a glance.

The child's mother is made uneasy by this lack of enthusiasm and appreciation, so she says, "Oh, Marvin! Look what it is! A little tape recorder! What do you say to Grandmother? Give Grandmother a big hug. Did you hear me, Marvin? Go give Grams a big hug and kiss."

Although it sounds paradoxical, you actually cheat a child out of pleasure when you give him too much.

Pleasure occurs when an intense need is satisfied. If there is no need,

Focus On The Family With Dr. James Dobson

there is no pleasure. A glass of water is worth more than gold to a man dying of thirst. The analogy to children should be obvious. If you never allow a child to want something, he never enjoys the pleasure of receiving it.

If you buy him a tricycle before he can walk, and a bicycle before he can ride it, a car before he can drive and a diamond ring before he knows the value of money, he accepts these gifts with little pleasure and less appreciation.

How unfortunate that such a child never had the chance to long for something, dreaming about it at night and plotting for it by day. He might have gotten desperate enough to work for it. The same possession that brought a yawn could have been a trophy and a treasure.

I suggest that you and your wife allow your child the thrill of temporary deprivation. It's more fun and much less expensive.

Q: What is the source of self-esteem itself?

A: Feelings of self-worth and acceptance, which provide the cornerstone of a healthy personality, can be obtained from only one source. It cannot be bought or manufactured.

Self-esteem is only generated by what we see reflected about ourselves in the eyes of other people or in the eyes of God. In other words, evidence of our worthiness must be generated outside of ourselves. It is only when others respect us that we respect ourselves. It is only when others love us that we love ourselves. It is only when others find us pleasant and desirable and worthy that we come to terms with our own egos.

The vast majority of us are dependent on our associates for emotional sustenance each day. What does this say, then, about those who exist in a state of perpetual isolation year after year? Such people are virtually certain to experience feelings of worthlessness, accompanied by deep depression and despair.

These questions and answers are excerpted from the book "Dr. Dobson Answers Your Questions." Pain may be eliminated for millions (SPECIAL) A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis" and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis® relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis® is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work.

Rose marauder

A thoughtful "mysterious rose marauder" sent a red rose to every faculty and staff member in the education division at Wayne State College at the start of the college year. This is the third straight year the staff members have been so treated. Investigative efforts to determine the identity of the anonymous perpetrator of this "random act of kindness" have been thwarted. Angie Ellis, left, and Sandra Koenig were two of those who enjoyed the roses.

THE WELCOME HOUSE

Sr. Jeremias, left, is the new Newman Minister. She is pictured with this year's officers in front of the present Newman Office at the WelCoMe House.

Club to have new start

The oldest organization on the Wayne State College campus is starting a new beginning.

Newman Club is not only starting a new school year but they have a new minister.

Missionary Benedictine Sisters decided to appoint Sr. Jeremias Lec, OSB as a new Newman Minister despite personnel shortage in their community.

Sr. Jeremias graduated from UCLA in 1986 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics. She is getting on-the-job training and learning the importance of this ministry to Wayne State and the community.

The campus ministry is not only ministering to each other or to college students on campus, but also to the faculty and staff, the parish, the town and the world.

Sr. Jeremias hopes to reach out to more people by bringing in more speakers, not only in the spiritual aspect, but also the issues concerning young adults and our society today.

"Hopefully, these activities and people in this group will have an effect on everyone's daily lives. Newman Ministry has to be concerned with the people they serve today and also have to consider the future generations," Sr. Jeremias said.

The Newman Ministry has begun thinking of fund-raising ideas to provide space to have the office of a director and to house Newman activities.

At the present time, through Evangelical Lutheran Church of America's (ELCA) generosity, the group is renting an office at WelCoMe House located behind the Student Center.

"It is time to think about a project to raise funds to relocate since we do not know how much longer we will be able to use this space," Sr. Jeremias said.

"This project will definitely affect the future generations. It almost seems too big to even think about, but someone has to start somewhere. Perhaps this year, with a lot of new things in hand, it is time to start," she added.

The officers who will be working with Sr. Jeremias during this school year are Tad Pfeifer, Spalding, president; Jennie Swoboda, Elkhorn, vice-president; Ruth Helen Aschoff, Osmond, secretary; and Jeremy Eschliman, Ericson, vice-chairperson for Cooperative Campus Ministry.

"The officers are working hard to organize committees so that more students can actively participate in Newman Club and will comfortably calling Newman their own," Sr. Jeremias said.

"The Newman Club asks for your generous assistance through prayers." Also, we would welcome financial assistance in our building endeavor," she added.

For any information or to provide financial assistance to the Newman Club, contact Sr. Jeremias, Newman Ministry, Wayne State College, P.O. Box 142, Wayne, Neb. 68787 or call (402) 375-1155.

Final service to be at Allen church

Sunday, Sept. 29 is the final service for Springbank Friends Church in Allen. The service will be held at 10:30 a.m., followed by a catered noon meal at the Allen Fire and Rescue Building.

The Ambassador Quartet performance at the church will be at 7 p.m. that evening. This time is a change from earlier publication.

The Springbank Friends Church played an important part in the history of Allen. The first settlement at the Springbank two miles east of Allen began in the late 1860's. By 1886 more than 200 people were on the church roles. As the congregation grew, a series of meeting houses were used to house the assembly. The current building was built in 1916 and has served the congregation since then. In recent

The Ambassador Quartet from George, Iowa will present a gospel concert at the Friends Church on Sunday at 7 p.m. The group has been singing for 32 years.

Mystery guest at B&B

First day of Fall, crisp, clear, sunflowers turning, corn drying, sunflowers fading. We're a little depressed about football today, but the sun did come up.

We had the ultimate mystery guests this week. A Mrs. Sullivan called early in the week, and made a reservation for Thursday. She asked if they could check in about 1:30.

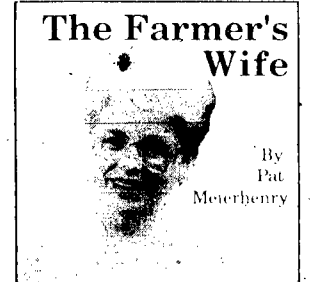

I knew I had to be in Plattsmouth at 2:00, so Mike agreed to come home from the office at that time.

He hung around until 2:00, and no one came, so he left a note on both doors and left. When he arrived after 5:00, there was a $50 bill on the table, with a note saying they had gotten lost. A pickup with Iowa plates was on the yard.

Joyce, our Monday through Friday guest this month, ate supper with us, and we cleared the dishes quickly because the Case County Tourism committee was meeting here at 7:00. (Mike invited them, I didn't).

Joyce went upstairs to study. I went for my walk. None of us noticed that the pickup was gone. After the meeting, I locked the doors, and we went to bed.

Apparently, the Sullivans went into town for supper and stayed for music. They were a little shocked to find the front door locked. Fortunately for them, I did not get

Oct. 1 set for sheep referendum

On Oct. 1, 1996 the Department of Agriculture will conduct a second referendum on the sheep and wool promotion, research, education and information order. This referendum is being carried out under the authority of the sheep promotion, research and information act of 1994.

The order will go in to effect if it is approved in this referendum by sheep producers and feeders, and importer of sheep and sheep and sheep products. If the order is approved, it will become final, and a nationwide program will go into effect to collect assessments from the sheep and wool industry to carry out research and promotions activities to benefit the industry.

A referendum on this same issue was conducted Feb. 6, 1996 but the Secretary determined that the results were invalid because the procedures were applied incorrectly and inconsistently.

In-person voting will take place in the County CES (County Extension Service) Office that serves the voter's residence or, if the voter is a business entity, the office that serves the entity's main office or headquarters.

To be eligible to vote in this referendum, you must have been a "person" engaged in the production, feeding or importation of sheep or sheep products during calendar year 1994. In this referendum, the term "person" means an individual or legal entity (for example, a corporation, partnership, estate, etc.) or group of individuals with a joint ownership interest in sheep (for example, a family, a cooperative, an association, etc.).

In this referendum, each eligible "person" has one vote. Spouses who jointly own sheep are considered to be a "family" (i.e., a "group of individuals"), and are not entitled to two votes even in community property states. No one is authorized to register or to vote on behalf of an individual voter. Raw wool is exempt from assessment, and importers who imported only raw wool are NOT eligible to vote.

Questions about voter eligibility (who can and cannot vote), verifying volume of production, challenges (the process by which a voter's eligibility is officially questioned), the challenge resolution process, appeals of eligibility determination, ballot counting, reporting and related topics should be made to the County FSA Offices.

Questions about voting procedures (e.g., absentee voting, how to obtain ballot materials, where and when to vote) should be made to the County FSA Office. Any other questions about the referendum should be referred to Kenneth R. Payne, at the Agricultural Marketing Service, Washington, D.C., at 1-888-265-8110.

If approved, the program would be funded by a mandatory assessment on domestic producers, feeder and exporter of live sheep and greasy wool of a 1 cent-per-pound on live sheep sold and 2-cents-per-pound on greasy wool sold. Importants would be assessed 1 cent-per-pound on live sheep, the equivalent of 1 cent-per-pound of live sheep of sheep products as well as 2-cents-per-pound of degreased wool or the equivalent of degreased wool for wool and wool products.

Sievers shows grand champion

Vaughn Sievers, 17, of Randolph, won the 4-H Market Beef grand championship Sept. 2 at the 1996 Nebraska State Fair.

Vaughn is the son of Jack and Lori Sievers. He showed Josi, a Chianina-Angus cross. The heifer weighed 1,185 pounds with a hip height of 52.5 inches and an average daily gain of 2.66 pounds.

Sievers said he thought Josi was the "best made heifer at the show."

Doyle Wolverton, 4-H beef show superintendent, said that Nebraska is unusual in that it has a large 4-H market beef heifer program. Steers are usually leaner and meatier animals, so the tradition has been to show only steers in the market beef show.

In the 17 years Wolverton has been involved with the state fair, he said this is the first time a heifer has received the top honor.

Sievers received a $1,000 cash award donated by the Johnson family, representing Arby's of Lincoln and Beatrice. He plans to put the money toward college.

Vaughn is currently a freshman and Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk, majoring in livestock production.

The Exposition also includes tours for 2,500 metro area fourth grade students to acquaint the urban youngsters on proper care of farm animals and observe displays of farm grains and by-products.

Sherman Berg, Ak-Sar-Ben Vice President, has announced that a total of 1,930 exhibitors will participate in the 1996 Exposition. The Expo will run from Sept. 25 to 30, with the Ak-Sar-Ben Buyers club Purple Ribbon Auction at 6 p.m. on Sept. 30 in Ak-Sar-Ben Hall.

All the 4-H Exposition events are free and open to the public.
