121ST YEAR — NO. 10

Services to be held for business leader

Gary Pick, 51, owner of Logan Valley Equipment in Wayne, died at his home Monday.

Gary Pick

Pick was born in Yankton, S.D. and lived in the Hartington area while growing up.

He and his wife Vicki lived in Norfolk where Gary began his career as an accountant at Wetjen Implement, later becoming the owner and co-manager of Norfolk Oliver.

The couple moved to Wayne in 1970 where they purchased the John Deere equipment business from O.K. Brandsetter. In February of 1975 the dealership was moved to the east edge of Wayne where it is today.

Gary enjoyed his life-long commitment to agriculture, people, toys, white cars and some antiques. His love of agriculture took him to the international level where his success with green tractors continued.

With his hard work and dedication, he achieved the honor of Manager of the Year and with the help of the co-workers at Logan Valley, he was able to obtain a Signature Dealership.

In addition to his wife, Gary is survived by two sons and two daughters. A full obituary can be found on page 2A of today's Herald.

Late afternoon accident sends mother and infant to hospital

A traffic accident at the intersection of 7th street (Highway 35) and Valley Drive on Tuesday afternoon sent a mother and her infant to the hospital.

Shortly after 5 p.m. Wayne Police Sargeant Marlen Chinn investigated the mishap in which Garry Stollenberg, 40, of Carroll was pulling onto 7th Street when his 1990 Mercury Sable was struck by an eastbound 1977 Ford LTD driven by Sarah Todd, 19, of Wakefield.

Todd and her four-month-old baby were transported by ambulance to Providence Medical Center for treatment of what appeared to be minor injuries.

The road surface was wet and turning icy at the time of the accident but the road condition did not appear to be a major factor in the accident. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Board votes to consolidate

The Board of Directors of the Wayne County Public Power District and the Northeast Nebraska Rural Public Power District voted Tuesday night during their regular monthly meeting in Emerson to consolidate services beginning January 1 of 1998.

The "Resolution of Commitment to Consolidate" was presented for consideration of the two district boards. The resolution considers the net benefits of a consolidation to the customers of the two rural electric distribution systems.

The resolution was adopted by the NENRPPD Board on a 6-0 vote while the WCPPD Board carried a 5-1 decision with director Vernon Gansbom of Osmond, casting the only nay vote.

The plan for consolidation would include a condition that current electric rate structures and procedures for changing rates of the separate electric utilities would be maintained until December 31, 1999, unless the combined boards chose to conduct a cost-of-service study prior to that date.

The resolution also directs the president, secretary, manager and district attorneys for the two districts to prepare an agreement detailing the issues and conditions that need to be resolved by board of directors of the districts in order to enact the consolidation.

The issues and conditions to be identified in the agreement include obtaining approvals of consolidation by mortgage and bond holders of the districts and other oversight agencies.

A name for the consolidated system will need to be determined along with a decision on the official headquarters location. The negotiated agreement is to be prepared for consideration by the board of directors of NENRPPD and WCPPD prior to January 1, 1997.

The pros and cons of a consolidation were presented to the public at the townhall meetings held on November 19th and 20th at five different locations in the Dakota, Dixon, Pierce, Thurston and Wayne County combined service areas.

Four Paws offers variety of services

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

From the time she was 10 years old, Kim Lowe has been working on the care and grooming of animals. In August she opened a pet care facility west of Wayne that offers grooming and boarding of cats and dogs.

"When I was in third grade I met a lady who let me work at a kennel. I learned from the ground-up, starting with cleaning out kennels. I begged and begged and finally was allowed to apprentice," Ms. Lowe said.

She spent 10 years apprenticing and visiting other kennels, observing and learning what techniques others in the grooming business used to become successful.

Ms. Lowe then got a job at the Pet Spa in Sioux City, Iowa, where she says "the grooming is incredible, they offer very quality grooming."

During this time she also had customers in Wayne and was doing grooming here. So in 1993 she opened a business in downtown Wayne, following the policies and procedures of the Pet Spa.

As her clientele grew, Ms. Lowe saw the need to expand her business to include boarding and began working with Loren Kucera of the Nebraska Economic Development Center at Wayne State College to obtain a Small Business Administration loan.

Ms. Lowe chose a site six miles west of Wayne because she wanted space for future expansion and did not want to be a bother to neighbors or other businesses.

Her new facility provides 16 indoor/outdoor runs which would allow her to have a maximum of 32 dogs at one time, depending upon the types of dogs. Each kennel is 4 feet by 6 feet inside and 4 feet by 8 feet outside. The kennels feature isolation panels which means dogs are not exposed to other animals.

"The isolation panels reduce stress on the animals and reduce cross-contamination. The animals are not intimidated by the other animals and offer private living," Ms.

Lowe said. See FOUR PAWS, Page 3A

Allergy to Latex Products

According to a recent study over 6 percent of the U.S. population is allergic to latex. Recently there have been increased reports of allergic reactions to the latex rubber found in a number of products. In July the American college of Allergy, Asthma, and Immunology provided member physicians with information to notify persons who may be at risk of reacting to latex. Since 1988 the U.S. Food and Drug Administration has received approximately 1,000 reports of allergic reactions to latex from health care workers and patients. The latex in rubber gloves, oxygen mask strips, endotracheal tube cuffs, stethoscopes, and other emergency medical equipment may cause reactions.

Reactions can be mild (itching) or serious (anaphylactic shock). Persons who know of their allergy to latex should consider wearing a Medic-Alert bracelet to alert others, and have an epinephrine kit available in case a reaction does occur.

Christmas Tour of Homes (Fifth of a Five-Week Feature)

The Wayne County Historical Society is planning a Christmas tour of homes for Saturday, Dec. 7. Tours will be given between 1 and 5 p.m. Snow date for the event will be Sunday, Dec. 8.

Proceeds from the tours will be used for renovation and upkeep of the Historical Society Museum. A number of businesses have contributed to the decorating of the museum.

Homes on the tour will include Grandma Butch's Bed & Breakfast, Bob and Jodie Jordan's home, David and Kaki Ley's home and Carter and Nana Peterson's home.

One of these homes will be featured each week in the Herald until the date of the tour.

WAYNE COUNTY MUSEUM, 7th & Lincoln Street

The house was built in 1900 by Dr. W.C. Wigham for $13,000 and took two years to build. The family lived here until they moved to California in 1912. It was sold to a local banker, Rollie W. Ley, for $6,000. The Ley family continued to own the house until 1976 when Mr. Ley's heirs donated it to the Wayne County Historical Society for use as a museum.

Features of this home include a reception hall of oak paneling, a built-in bookcase with curved glass doors, courting corner, stained glass and beveled glass windows, a built-in breakfast room, four coal-burning fireplaces, fretwork and intricate wood carving above each door and window on the first floor.

The most unique feature of this house is the intricate parquet floors on the first floor. Two rooms are of oak and walnut and the other two are of oak and mahogany. Each room has a different border and center pattern.

The house is decorated and furnished much as it would have been at the turn of the century. The entire house is filled with donated items from present and former Wayne County citizens: first floor, family living; second floor, five bedrooms, some used for special displays; attic, clothing and photographs of early Wayne County; and basement, farm-related items and primitives.

A number of area business have contributed to the holiday decorating at the museum. They include Wayne Greenhouse, Ginny's Creations, Nebraska Floral, Carla's Gift and Decorating and Connie Endicott, Donna Shufelt and the T&T Club, all of Wayne and Puckett's Floral in Pender.

Kay is a senior at Winside High School where she is on the honor roll and the Principal's List (all A's). She is a member of the National Honor Society and is the yearbook editor.

Four Paws

The facility provides boarding for cats and dogs for any length of time.

"We have pets here overnight, for a weekend or as long as is needed. We currently have two dogs that have been here a month. The holiday season is a very busy time of year for our business as well as during sporting activities when people need a safe place to keep their pets," she added.

Ms. Lowe recommends pet owners board their pets when they need to be away from home, because with increasing technology, such as telephone and computer cords, leaving an animal in the home can be dangerous.

Four Paws also provides day care for pets and said a number of people have brought puppies to her facility to care for while they are at work.

Ms. Lowe grooms an average of seven animals per day and said the holiday season is especially busy because pet owners want their animals to look good for company.

However, Ms. Lowe said a majority of pet owners maintain their pets year-round, having them groomed every four to eight weeks, depending upon the breed.

Ms. Lowe grooms most breeds of cats and dogs and will board all breeds.

Pet owners leaving their animals at Four Paws are asked to bring the food the animal is accustomed to and any toys or other items the animal is familiar with.

Four Paws is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Because Ms. Lowe lives in a trailer adjacent to the facility she is able to provide 24 hour on-site care of animals and strives to keep animals on the schedule they are accustomed to, including giving medications as needed.

"We felt there was a need for our facility and encourage anyone who is looking for a safe place to keep their animals when necessary to come out and visit with us and see what we have to offer."

Youth coordinator is hired

Karen Shattuck was recently hired as the Wayne and Dixon Youth Coordinator under the Nebraska Crime Crime Commissions Title V Grant.

The grant consists of two phases, a Prevention Activities Program and an Intervention Program.

During the first year of the grant Ms. Shattuck will be working with the prevention portion of the grant and upon successful completion of that portion, she will move into the intervention portion of the grant.

Karen Shattuck

Ms. Shattuck's duties during the first year will be to assist the communities in Wayne and Dixon Counties in planning youth events that complement the current school and drug free youth group programs.

"I am office in the Wayne and Ponca sheriffs' offices and work with the Prevention and Policy Board as well as community volunteers and youth to plan and assist in the development of activities that are both fun and positive for all of the youth in the two counties," Ms. Shattuck said.

The goal of the Intervention Program is to treat or deal with youth and their families by keeping the youth in the community and family situation. It will also provide education and counseling for the child and his/her family that would prevent juveniles from coming into contact with the juvenile justice system.

Ms. Shattuck is a graduate of Wayne State College with a degree in psychology and a minor in sociology. While in college she worked with mentally and physically challenged children and adults. She has also worked at the Boys and Girls Home and Family Services in Sioux City, Iowa.

K & G CLEANERS

214 N. Main St. • Wayne, NE • 375-1327

Question: I didn't notice any stains when I brought my clothes in but sometimes when I go to pick-up. I'm told they're not ready because they need to be re-run

Answer: Many stains are invisible before they are processed with the cleaning cycle. One especially is hairspray and gels. Most of the time these products are not visible on light colored clothing but they will show up as dark splatter marks after cleaning and will have to be re-worked. Try to put on your hair products before dressing or drape a towel over your shoulders to protect your clothing.

Computer snafu

Wayne County is one of 93 counties paying generously into a state computer fund established to network state offices. After thousands of dollars, generated by county and district court fees, sent to the state treasurer since July 1993, the only visible sign in the Wayne county and district courts are two computers. Both machines are now out of date and basically unused.

Identified as the County Automation Project, the venture was approved and initiated by the Legislature in 1989. The project called for developing a statewide computer network linking state and county offices for vehicle titles, court administration and child-support enforcement.

State figures in 1994 noted $32 million had been spent on the system. At the close of 1996 the system remains incomplete. This system is not to be confused with the Department of Social Services computer problems.

When launched, the project was to implement a statewide network handling child support and district court functions; county court; driver licenses; passenger automobile titles, registrations, and voter registration.

State Auditor John Breslow audited the program in 1995 after officials complained the project was out of control. That was over 12 months ago.

When court costs are paid in county court, $3 of the $24 "costs" is labeled as an "automation" fee and sent to the state treasurer. Those $3 fees in Wayne County alone, first initiated in July 1993, totaled $6,852 in 1995, with the district court submitting another $414. The other 92 counties also sent in large sums. So far in 1996 the $ fee-per-case for the state network amounts to $5,586. How has Wayne County benefited? The two courts each have a 1992 computer and printer sitting idle. Data continues being filed manually.

Computer automation is only partial in the county treasurer's office after several years of assessing $1.50 per registration and $4 per operator's license for the program.

We feel Nebraskans deserve better from state planners.

Are giveaways worth the cost?

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Just when you thought the state's latest tax break for big business program had become boring, it got interesting.

That happened when the state's Quality Jobs Act Board — for the first time — failed to unanimously approve an application for income-tax credits under the 1995 business incentive package better known as the Micron Bills.

It took three months of stewing and reviewing legal opinions for board members to decide, on a 2-1 vote, that Omaha meatpacker, Nebraska Beef, should receive an estimated $7.5 million in tax breaks over 10 years.

It was a close vote because construction of the meatpacking plant had begun three months before the three Micron Bills were even introduced.

More than one state senator wondered how tax breaks passed in February of 1995 could have acted as an "incentive" for a project that began four months earlier?

Good question. Actually, very good question.

Gov. Nelson and State Investment Officer Dennis Jorgensen justified their support of the project based on assurances by Nebraska Beef that their project had actually stalled by February of 1995 and would not have restarted with new investors except for passage of the Quality Jobs (or Micron) Act.

The project was "dead in the water," according to Nelson. Then, magically, investors became interested in completing the South Omaha packing plant when the possibility of gaining even more state tax breaks became a reality.

Remember, this was a plant that had already garnered significant tax breaks already from the City of Omaha and state to erect their $60 million steak factory — breaks that were estimated at upwards of $17 million.

That's a lot of hamburger. But Nebraska Beef wanted a double Whopper.

The Legislature created the Quality Jobs Board so that businesses didn't automatically get state tax breaks (like the much discussed LB 775).

Companies have to apply for credits under the Quality Jobs or Micron Act, proving that they are providing quality jobs and big numbers of them — at least 250.

Nebraska Beef folks argued that they created 1,100 jobs that pay an average of $22,000 a year, and buy enough cattle and corn from the state to qualify as a pure-bred, quality business. Heck, they even named their company after the state.

This didn't set very well with some neighbors of the mid-city plant. Nebraska Beef has violated assurances that they wouldn't park their cattle outside overnight. Plus the plant kicks up noise, traffic and odors. Local contractors don't like the company either — seems they have a habit of not paying them.

State Sen. Don Wesely of Lincoln — who thinks normal folks pay too much taxes so that big businesses can get corporate welfare — questioned Nebraska Beef's salary figures and whether meatpacking work qualified as "quality jobs."

But in the end, only State Treasurer Dave Heineman voted against giving Nebraska Beef more tax credits.

Wesely called the panel "the easy money board" after its 2-1 vote.

He joined the dean of tax policy, Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, in calling for a review of the guidelines for the Quality Jobs Act tax breaks.

The Legislature was already in a mood to question such tax breaks (they have a cost-benefit study underway). But the vote on Nebraska Beef will put some added sizzle in the debate over whether such giveaways for business are really worth the millions of dollars they cost.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Dedicated readers

Students in both Wayne Elementary School and St. Mary's Elementary School participated in National Children's Book Week. Students at Wayne Elementary celebrated with a red, white and blue theme: Elect to Read. Throughout the week a number of book and reading activities were planned including fourth graders reading to their Kindergarten Pals and Celebrity Readers in some of the classrooms. Over 2,000 books were read by students, including the fourth graders in Mrs. Benshoff's class, pictured above. Third and fourth graders at St. Mary's followed the theme of "All the Places You Can Go" during the week and "visited" a number of capitals and states. Nine students read over 1,000 miles (pages) read. The students and their families read a total of 17,687 pages/miles, which is equivalent to six and one-half trips across the United States. All 17 students in Mrs. Boehle's class met the classroom reading goal.

Enjoying seasonal 're-runs'

Television has its re-runs so why not reach into one's own memory and play there again for awhile?

Christmas used to be a one-day celebration. Then people got into the Christmas spirit for the week preceding Christmas Day. Because it's a good time for most folk, we now celebrate all of December. People appear to move into a more kindly spirit. We're likely even to smile more.

Yours truly grew up on a farm in southern Iowa. There isn't any place else in the world more wonderful for a growing lad. That is, of course, my prejudiced opinion, but nevertheless, one I treasure.

What sport it was to have had the fun with Old Nel, our pony. She and I may never have traveled more than a mile or two away from the farm but believe me we traveled a lot of "my world" together. As with all animals the day came when the truck had to transport her off to the rendering plant. Death changes a lot of things and my sisters and I learned that lesson as every child must. But it was tough as we lost our pet dogs, cats and birds. We wept for them all.

Did you ever stick your hand into a wagon load of oats and enjoy the sensation of running your fingers through it? Might sound a bit corny to city types, but I even liked to feed ear corn to the hogs and listen to them crunch their lunch. More than once when I was at the ripe old age of eight I'd sit on a wooden gate near the big barn and listen in stereo to the evening grunts and groans of hungry hogs.

Dad didn't have a tractor in the 1930's. Not many farmers did. Times were tough. He did have some good horses, however, and it was always amazing to my youthful curiosity that dad was able to throw all that tangle of harness onto "Jum" and "Prince" without getting kicked.

Just as clear as a video, my memories are a personal treasure, as are yours.

Celebrating Thanksgiving and Christmas has a way, perhaps more than any other, to remind us of who we are and where we came from.

Christmas decorations have changed radically, specifically now with all the eye-catching electric lights.

Time again to start traditions and "re-run" the old ones.

Why people migrate to Nebraska

Why do people migrate to Nebraska? What compels a business person to "come back home"? What major factors would persuade someone who had never previously lived here to relocate in the state?

While the answers to these questions are personal and varied, some patterns developed when study results were analyzed.

A study titled "New Residents to Nebraska: Who Are They and Why Are They Here?" was recently conducted by the Partnership for Rural Nebraska, with funding and assistance provided by Nebraska Rural Development Commission, the Nebraska Department of Economic Development and the University of Nebraska's Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Focusing on new resident who had "subsequently surrendered their previous driver's license for a Nebraska driver's license," the study necessarily did not include those too young to have a driver's license.

What ages were those who migrated into Nebraska's Small Trade category? Sixty-one percent were under 40; 29 percent were 40-59; and nine percent were 60 and over.

Chamber Corner

By Gaila Gilliland
Executive Director

The study recognized a five category typology generally used by Nebraska policy makers and researchers. Of particular interest for this article is the category identified as "Small Trade." Included here are 19 non-metro counties. The largest city within each county has population ranging from 2,500 to 7,499. Wayne County is in the Small Trade category.

The following were given by respondents as being very important reasons, or "pull factors," for moving to Nebraska.

The percentage in the total column reflects that reason as a statewide percentage while the Small Trade column reflects the percentage only within the category.

To be closer to relatives	38%	48%
Looking for a safer place to live	26%	37%
Quality of local grade/high schools	18%	20%
To lower cost of living	13%	17%
Quality of the natural environment	13%	14%
To obtain training/education	10%	9%
Outdoor recreational opportunities	6%	8%
More cultural opportunities	3%	2%
Desirable climate	3%	2%
To get more affordable healthcare	3%	4%
To lower cost of operating a business	2%	1%

Looking at the reasons from both the state-wide basis or from the category point of view, all respondents gave the most significance to the first five reasons.

Family and safety are at the heart of those reasons-reasons given by more people than any other-as to why they migrated to Nebraska.

Look for more on this subject in next week's Chamber Corner.

Area teachers learn classroom applications from NASA

There's a science to making and flying paper airplanes and even spitwads.

Introducing young students to the scientific principles involved in aerodynamics, force, motion and applicable mathematics, even those principles as applied to paper airplanes and spitwads, is the goal of a group of Northeast Nebraska teachers who attended a National Aeronautics and Space Administration, (NASA) teacher's workshop at Wayne State College last week.

Gordon Eskridge, aerospace education specialist with the Johnson Space Center in Houston, worked with 22 elementary and middle school math and science teachers from throughout Northeast Nebraska during a two-day hands on training session to provide them with classroom exercises and materials.

Getting teachers and the young minds they mold excited about the world of science and math is a goal of the NASA workshops, which are sponsored in part by the Northeast Nebraska Math and Science Coalition, directed by Betsy Maryott of Wayne.

The NASA space program and the excitement of space exploration has always generated interest among young people and the Aerospace Education Program is seen as a way to foster excitement in math and science using NASA as a conduit, explained Mrs. Maryott.

"Most people don't realize how many things in our lives have been touched by the space program," said

Eskridge. From electronic miniaturization used in the computer industry to components in tennis shoes, there have been more than 30,000 documented secondary commercial uses of products developed for the space program, he explained.

"Understanding the products we take for granted that were developed as part of the space program, really brings space down to earth," said Mrs. Maryott. In addition to her duties as director of the Northeast Nebraska Math/Science Coalition, she is a faculty member in the Math/Science Division at WSC.

The pacemakers used to treat cardiac patients as well as the remote monitoring devices used for intensive care patients were derived from telemetry systems that first monitored astronauts in spacecraft, she explained.

Quartz timing crystals used in most watches today, household smoke detectors and computer bar coding used in retail stores were technologies originally developed for NASA.

Teachers in the NASA workshop held Thursday and Friday at WSC learned to introduce students to these applicable technologies through interesting classroom projects. They made and fired rockets with Alka-Seltzer tablet engines, they learned how to apply aerodynamic principles in making paper airplanes and they learned how students can tap into NASA educational services through Space Link on the Internet.

The NASA workshops are a hot ticket around the country, explained Eskridge. He has been traveling the country for more than 10 years teaching teachers how to excite children about science.

Mrs. Maryott said WSC has been on the waiting list as a workshop host for over a year. Some schools have to wait as long as two years for a workshop Eskridge said. Mrs. Maryott added there has been sufficient interest in future NASA workshops to try to host one in Wayne on an annual basis.

Teachers who attended the NASA workshop at WSC included: Jason Stanley, Wayne; Monica Stevens, Winside; Julie Hart, Laurel; Betty Lawrence, Winside; Janyce McQuistan, Wakefield; and Hillary Blair, Allen.

Gordon Eskridge, an education specialist with the Johnson Space Center, spoke to teachers at WSC.

Dear Editor,

City of Wayne Resolution 96-55! It appears once again we have a garbage in-garbage out situation at city hall. For some reason there seems to be a thing at city hall to "take over," control and regulate as much as they can get away with.

It's not surprising to me that only one of seven solid waste collection bids were returned. After reading the bid proposal, it is very easy to see that six of those seven were smart enough not to get involved. That surely should have told the council something!!

It also appears that the city has become another one of those "out of town shoppers." That's good for the hometown economy.

Why any small town authority would even think twice about putting ridiculous restrictions against two hometown businesses is overwhelming to me. Are they for real? They have eliminated competitive service, pricing and choice for us and business growth for two local haulers. Just wait until the city starts in on the commercial accounts.

Yes, both Mrsny's and Lueders' had the "opportunity" to bid for a city controlled contract. They, and four others, chose not to for good reasons, as I see it.

I would invite everyone to go to city hall and ask to see a copy of the "Bid Documents." I have a copy and you are welcome to see it. When a small town can come up with something like this, it's no wonder that the Pentagon buys $400 toilet seats.

For starters, it's forty-one (41) pages long. It starts with an enormous forfeitable bid bond. Who would trust that? It goes on to four pages of just "Instructions to Bidders."

Turning more pages, there are 21 defined "terms." This gets interesting. It took 59 words to describe "bags," 98 words to describe "containers," 78 words to define "garbage," which is different than "rubbish"-77 words. We have lost our status as customers (or citizens) and become nothing more than "producers." We got only 13 words, as quoted--"Producers" shall mean an occupant of a residential unit who generates solid waste. We sound like a ball and chain on the big foot of city hall!!

Disabled and elderly producers MUST provide to the "contractor" two written statements, one from a doctor, about their infirmities. Do you do that now? The "city" gave themselves special attention with two weekly pick-ups, where ever they choose. Fines may be assessed the "contractor" by the city, but are not refundable to the "producer." We do, however, get to deal with "Yard Waste" (only 17 words) on our own. But "Any material to be collected by the Contractor must be in place by 6 a.m. on the day of collection."

Our trash will soon have to be within a certain size and weight limit or the hauler has the right to pass it by. They can also leave it if you trim a few flowers and sneak the trimmings in with your (see defined terms) as specified. But, the "contractor" does have to put a "Red Tag" on it when this happens, which means you are stuck with your (defined terms) for another week. Boy, that red tag will solve all our problems.

The "City" will have to approve where your pick up items can be put (four paragraphs, 376 words). If you live on a corner lot you may have to drag your (see defined terms) around the corner to make it convenient for the hauler to pick it up. Do you do that now?

The "Contractor" must clean and scrub his equipment both inside and out and spray it with a deodorant (Right Guard, I'm sure), approved by the city administrator, at least once a week. Their employees must wear proper attire, including a shirt, carry identification and be courteous at all times. I think they have to use deodorant, too. (More $400 toilet seats).

The "City" can request that any "contractor" employee be fired if he/she isn't up to snuff (deodorant violation?). The "contractor" must fill out monthly reports all about Wayne's solid waste for the city administrator to "waste" his time on. There is also a quarterly "waste analysis" by the "contractor" and "city personnel" to see if we (producers) are complying with rules and regulations yet to come. Here come the Garbage Police.

If we have a complaint, we get to call the contractors answering machine (not the city). The next step will be to call a lawyer to get the situation resolved according to contract regulation, between you, the city administrator and the contractor, while your (see defined terms) smolders out on the (see pickup location).

This goes on and on. This whole proposal is a slap in the face to common sense and a federal court ruling in a City of Hebron case. In that case Judge W.K. Urbom ruled that the city could not designate an exclusive landfill site and that it could not enter into an exclusive contract with a private trash hauler.

This mess does both.

A few questions I would like to have answered. How many of the council members bothered to call a reasonable portion of households about this issue. (I can't find anybody in favor of it.) What if I don't want to use this service? What do I do with the trash cans I have now if I am forced to use this service? (What we have now aren't good enough.) What if I don't choose to recycle? What if I don't like their containers in my yard? Who provides a replacement container if theirs blows away or gets stolen? Will I have to plan a week ahead of time for that sometimes "extra" trash and have to call the answering machine for that extra container. What will we be called if the city decides to "take control" of another viable business in town? (I suppose "occupant" will do!!) What if I decide to go south for six months, or come back early and become a "Producers" again? What if I only fill the smallest container one-half full or don't set it out every week? (I don't mind paying the local haulers, but I hate sending extra money to out-of-towners via city government.)

What happens if this contractor gets into a fight with city hall and pulls out? While the city is resolving this problem, is Vern Schultz going to haul the trash, or will we have to drop it off at city hall? Remember that six of seven possible contractors don't want anything to do with this.

Let's take a look at the 50 or 60 cent collection fee for the city. Let's see...60 cents times 1,530 guaranteed "producers" equals $918 per month times 12 months equals $11,016 per year. Just to add a line to our utility bill???

My utility card currently has eight lines on it, not counting the cute little Happy this or that message at the top. Using that same mentality--60 cents per line times eight lines equals $4.80 times 1,530 (see defined terms) equals $7,344 per month times 12 months equals $88,128 per year. To bill just residential utilities???(I'll bet we hire another employee.) Why isn't the contractor doing the billing??

This fee can be increased on the whim of the city administrator. It's no wonder we can afford four percent pay raises to the highest paid city employees.

This does not end here. Can you just imagine what the rules and regulations will be for us lowly "producers." It's going to take another city resolution to resolve that situation.

A lot of this seems to hinge on getting a $150,000 grant to help in the repair of the transfer station. Just more political nonsense. If the administration can justify $30,000 (probably more) just for appearance sake of the new generating facility and God knows how much more for the new maintenance facility, they can figure out a way to fix the transfer station with existing money.

My applause and thanks to the three council members who saw through this issue. For the others, I am reminded of how Dick Morris described his down fall in the Clinton Administration. This is taken from an Omaha World Herald AP news article. "My sense of reality was just altered," he said. "I started out being excited working for the president. (insert city) Then I became arrogant, then I became grandiose and then I became self-destructive."

Believe me, this is a very brief overview of the actual document. It's easy to see why six contractors threw it away and makes me wonder about the seventh.

It's not too late for all of us to call and/or write a note to the city administrator, the mayor and any or all of the council members and voice your opinion. It's your money and you will not have a choice if you just let it ride.

Steve Gross

WSC men extend home win streak to 11 in rout

A tenacious defense propelled the Wayne State men's basketball team to their 11th-straight home victory with a convincing 79-61 win over North Central Conference foe Augustana, Tuesday in Rice Auditorium.

Greg McDermott's crew rattled the Vikings into 25 turnovers with a dozen steals in a game they never trailed. WSC led Augie by 14 at the intermission at 39-25 and they never saw the lead trimmed below 10 in the second half.

A very balanced Wildcat attack had Jason Diaz and Mike Fitzner sharing team honors with 14 points each while Jon Dolliver and Tyler Johnson each tossed in a dozen. The fifth Wildcat in double figures was Craig Philipp with 10.

The only area the 'Cats really struggled in was free throw shooting where they were a dismal 50 percent, hitting 29 of 58 attempts as Augie was whistled for 36 personal fouls.

WSC was out-rebounded by a 54-45 margin with Dolliver and Philipp each hauling down seven to lead the winners and Johnson dished out a team high four assists while Curt Woodin had three to go along with a team high three steals.

The 'Cats hit 40 percent of their shots from the field, 22-54 while Augustana was 20-65 for 30 percent.

WSC will remain at home to entertain a strong Huron College team on Saturday night at 7:30 in Rice Auditorium. Huron fell to UNO in overtime by one point, recently.

WSC, 79-Augustana, 61; (WSC SCORING) Jason Diaz, 14; Mike Fitzner, 14; Jon Dolliver, 12; Tyler Johnson, 12; Craig Philipp, 10; Eric Henderson, 6; Matt VanVoorst, 5; Chad Nelson, 4; Curt Woodin, 2. WSC RECORD: 3-2.

Tyler Johnson beats his Augustana defender off the dribble en route to the hoop during the 'Cats victory, Tuesday night.

Wildcats defeated by South Dakota State despite rally

Wayne State's men's basketball team nearly completed a heroic comeback in Brookings, S.D. just before Thanksgiving but Greg McDermott's squad fell shy in their bid to upend the defending North Central Conference champs, 94-86.

The visiting 'Cats found themselves down by 17 points at the break and the deficit climbed above the 20-point mark in the second before a strong comeback.

"We rallied and had the deficit cut to five points with the ball and two minutes left in regulation," McDermott said. "Unfortunately, we couldn't complete the comeback."

The 'Cats out-scored the host team, 32-14 during their comeback. Wildcats senior Mike Fitzner set the tone in the scoring column for WSC, pouring in 26 points including a seven-of-10 performance from behind the three-point arc.

Jason Diaz drained the nets for 22 points and Craig Philipp tossed in a dozen while Tyler Johnson was in double figures with 11. WSC out-rebounded the Jackrabbits, 44-41 with Matt VanVoorst leading the way with eight caroms while Fitzner hauled down six.

Johnson dished out seven assists and Curt Woodin, five and WSC had just 12 turnovers while forcing the same. The visitors put up 22 more shots than SDSU and hit nearly 40 percent but the Jackrabbits nailed 32 of 59 from the field for 54 percent.

Another key to the game came in the fouls category with WSC suffering 28 while the host team was whistled just 15 times. SDSU was 27 of 40 from the charity stripe while the visitors got just 12 attempts, hitting eight.

SATURDAY NIGHT in Wayne the Wildcats got back on the winning track with a convincing 94-71 thrashing of Dakota State. WSC sprinted to a 17-point halftime cushion at 48-31 and then out-scored the visitors, 46-40 in the second half to post the 23-point win and even the record at 2-2.

"I wasn't entirely pleased with our slow start but we got things going and turned in a nice performance," McDermott said. "The offense did a nice job of hitting their shots and we dominated the boards."

The 'Cats connected on 37 of 74 shots from the field and they out-rebounded Dakota State, 52-24. Redshirt freshman Jon Dolliver led the winners with 20 points after hitting eight of 11 shots from the floor.

Craig Philipp and Jason Diaz each were in double figures with 13 points in a game in which 11 Wildcats broke into the scoring column. Diaz and Matt VanVoorst each had nine rebounds to lead WSC while Dolliver hauled down eight.

Mike Fitzner dished out six assists for team tops. The only category the host team lost in was turnovers as they had 17 while Dakota State finished with 16.

Wayne State women split two games at UND tournament

The Wayne State women's basketball team split a pair of contests at the North Dakota Tournament on Thanksgiving weekend in Grand Forks, N.D.

In the first contest the Wildcats lost to Cal-State Chico by a 70-59 margin. WSC fell behind by nine points at the intermission, 32-23 and could not make up ground down the stretch, losing by 11.

In the consolation round the 'Cats bounced Colorado School of Mines by 11, 73-62 putting Wayne State's record at 2-3 and snapping a three-game losing streak.

As cold as WSC was in the first contest in North Dakota, they were nearly as hot in the second game, hitting nearly 50 percent from the field, 26-54. Included in that shooting spree was four, 3-pointers in just seven attempts with Jenny Thompson hitting both of her attempts from bonus range while Tonya Porter and Megan Murphy each draining one from long range as well.

Brodersen was the scoring leader once again for WSC with 20 points while Carla Schultz poured in 18 and Thompson, 10. The winners were edged on the boards, 42-38 despite a nine-carom outing from Schultz.

Brodersen dished out a team-high five assists and WSC forced 23 turnovers while suffering 21. Schultz was also the team leader in steals with four.

'Cats fall to Augie

Jeff Goldstein's Wayne State women's basketball team fell to 2-4 on the season following an 83-59 setback to highly ranked and unbeaten Augustana, Tuesday in Wayne.

The Library Card
 This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.
 Welcome to Wayne Public Electronic Library! Let us introduce you to our catalog on computer. It stands across the room from the circulation desk and is very user friendly! The icon bar across the top of the screen gives several choices of ways to access the information you are looking for — author, title, subject, keyword, call number for each item in our collection. If it seems daunting or you are having problems, please ask us for help. It will only take a few minutes for you to feel comfortable with the system.
 Many of you are familiar with the CD Rom computer near the circulation desk. This is a reference system on CDs. Ask at the desk for Grolier Multimedia Encyclopedia or Compton's Multimedia Encyclopedia. (Multimedia includes animation of illustrations as well as sound). Sitting beside the CD computer is a word processor which is available to the public. Print outs from your copy costs 10¢ a page. All we ask is that you please do not save your copy on the hard drive! Bring your own IBM compatible (3.5") floppy for that use. Thanks.
 The computer located behind the circulation desk is our work computer and is not available to the public. We use it for electronic book orders, Interlibrary loan requests, word processing and a link to the Internet which we use to access online library and reference information. For the present time, any reference questions needing an Internet search must be done by staff.
 The circulation computer at the main desk holds our collection and patrons numbers and names. It also keeps records of books circulated, monthly and yearly reports, bibliographies and lots of other statistics for library use.
 The Santa Clause Story Hour will be held on Saturday, Dec. 14 at 10:30 a.m.
 Remember we are still holding our fabulous book sale! Adult books may be found on the first floor and in the back room downstairs. Children's books are downstairs in the front room. Hardback books are $1 and paperbacks are 50¢. Not bad prices for books these days!
 Library hours are 12:30 to 8:30 Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Junior Cats
 The Junior Cats clinic was put on by the Wayne State men's basketball team this year as coaches and players worked with many area youth on the basics of passing, dribbling and shooting during three Saturdays in November. Pictured are those who participated.

Seniors, parents show interest in WSC
 "Sellout" crowds have been showing up for Senior Preview Days at Wayne State College this fall and administrators believe that the sessions not only foretell increases in student enrollment, they also are indicative of the College's effort to help incoming freshmen plan for the start of college next fall.
 The second in a series of Preview Days for high school students will be held this week, Nov. 22 and has the maximum number of enrollees (150) signed up—similar to the number that attended last month's capacity preview day session. Additional Preview Days are being planned in coming months.
 "We really see these events as defining moments for the college and future enrollment trends," said Bob Zetocha, admissions director at WSC. He said the college has been pleased with the interest level shown in the Preview Days.
 The Preview Days provide a great opportunity for high school seniors and their parents to meet and interact with faculty members in the various academic divisions on campus. Plus, they get a chance to visit with housing officials, student service providers, counselors, financial aid specialists, administrators and fellow students, Zetocha explained.
 "From what the students and parents tell us, their comfort level goes way up following the Preview Day because they get their questions answered before the rush of activity next fall," said Zetocha.
 He said the students who attend Preview Days have said they especially appreciate the access they have to faculty from the various academic divisions on campus and student service administrators.
 Each Senior Preview Day is limited to approximately 150 students and parents because that is the amount the college can effectively assist in each session. Students and parents who attend also have an opportunity to sample the various food service options available on campus and take guided tours of the entire campus.
 The Senior Preview Day session this Friday begins at 9 a.m. with an information fair in the Student Center. Those interested in future Preview Day activities may contact Zetocha at 375-7236.

How to cope with the busy years?

Q: My wife is a full-time homemaker, and we have three children under 6 years of age. She often gets depressed, especially when she can't keep up with everything expected of her. But I have my hands full too, and am required to put in a lot of overtime. What can I do to help my wife cope with these busy years?

A: Let me make two suggestions to you:

1. For some reason, human beings (and particularly women) tolerate stresses and pressures much more easily if at least one other person knows they are enduring it. This principle is filed under the category of "human understanding," and it is highly relevant to homemakers.

The frustrations of raising small children and handling domestic duties will be more manageable for your wife if you will let her know that you comprehend it all. Even if you can do nothing to change the situation, simply your awareness that she did an admirable job today will make it easier for her to repeat the assignment tomorrow.

Instead, the opposite usually occurs. At least 8 million husbands will stumble into the same unforgivable question tonight: "What did you do all day, dear?" The very nature of the question implies that she had been sitting on her back-side watching television and drinking coffee since arising at noon! She could kill him for saying it.

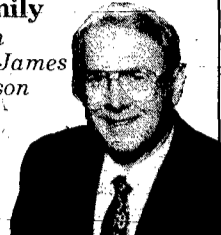

Everyone needs to know that he is respected for the way he meets his responsibilities. Husbands get this emotional nurture through job promotions, raises in pay, annual evaluations and incidental praise during the workday. Women at home get it from their husbands—if they get it at all. The most unhappy wives and mothers are often those who handle their fatigue and time pressure in solitude, and their men are never very sure why they always act so tired.

2. Husbands and wives should constantly guard against the scourge of over commitment. Even worthwhile and enjoyable activities become demanding when they consume the last ounce of energy or the remaining free moments in the day.

Though it is rarely possible for a busy family, everyone needs to waste some time every now and then—to walk along kicking rocks and thinking pleasant thoughts. Men need time to putter in the garage, and women need to pluck their eyebrows and do the girlish things again.

But as I have described, the whole world seems to conspire against such reconstructive activities. Even our vacations are hectic: "We have to reach St. Louis by sundown or we lose our reservations."

I can provide a simple prescription for a happier, healthier life, but it must be implemented by the individual family. You must resolve to slow your pace; you must learn to say "no" gracefully; you must resist the temptation to chase after more pleasures, more hobbies, more social entanglements; you must "hold the line" with the tenacity of a tackle for a professional football team.

In essence, three questions should be asked about every new activity that presents itself: Is it worthy of our time? What will be eliminated if it is added? What will be its impact on our family life?

My suspicion is that most of the items in our busy day would score rather poorly on this three-item test.

Q: My unmarried daughter recently told me that she is three-months' pregnant. What should be my attitude toward her now?

A: You cannot reverse these circumstances by being harsh or unloving at this point. Your daughter needs more understanding now than ever before, and you should give it to her if possible.

Help her grope through this difficulty and avoid "I told you so" comments. She will face many important decisions in the next few months and she will need a calm, rational mother and father to assist in determining the best path to take.

Remember that lasting love and affection often develop between people who have survived a crisis together.

Holdrege is site for Aug. 17 wedding

The First United Methodist Church in Holdrege was the site of the Aug. 17, 1996 wedding of Anne Marie Liska of Elwood and Thomas Conrad Lambert of Holdrege.

Pastor Onamae Waddel officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Donna and the late Dr. J.J. Liska of Wayne and Lois and the late Bernard Lambert of Wilcox.

Honored guests attending the ceremony were Alex and Stella Liska of Wayne, grandparents of the bride and Evelyn Jerman of Wayne, great aunt of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. Kenneth Liska of Wayne. She wore a white satin gown with a sweetheart neckline edged with pearls. Chantilly lace with pearl scrollwork and sequins enhanced the shoulders and bodice which fell to a Basque waistline.

The gown featured slightly puffed sleeves which tapered to a heavily beaded lower arm and ended with satin button closure wrist points. Large embellished motifs edged the full skirt with pearls.

A wide band of jeweled lace edged the hemline of the full cathedral length train. Multiple strands of pearls cascaded downward from the back neckline into the open back. A trio of satin roses were at the back of the waistline and caught the self fabric loops.

Angela Karsky of Rapid City, S.D., friend of the bride, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sara Liska of Omaha and Stephanie Liska of West Branch, Iowa, sisters-in-law of the bride, Marilee Malcom of Eustis and Sue Maurstad of Lexington, friends of the bride and Becky Lambert of Holdrege, sister of the groom.

The women wore tea length iridescent deep purple colored taffeta. The two piece dresses were styled with a scalloped open back, sweetheart neckline and princess lines ending in a jacket with soft peplum.

Heather and Brook Lambert of Holdrege, daughters of the groom, served as junior bridesmaids.

They wore fuchsia brocade dresses with sweetheart necklines and self fabric rosettes which caught the short puffed sleeves.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert

Kristin Liska of West Branch, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Devin Carmichael of Holdrege, friend of the bride, was ringbearer.

Personal attendants to the bride were Karen Wolford of Omaha, Bridgette Ohrt of Atlanta, Kara Crowell of Holdrege and Marla Parks-Shell of Batavia, Ill.

Best man was Dennis Fuik of Atlanta, friend of the groom.

Groomsmen were Greg Swanson of Holdrege, Matt Meier of Elm Creek and Mike Papas of North Platte, friends of the groom and Bill Liska of Omaha and Bob Liska of West Branch, brother of the bride.

Ushering guests were Kim Shepker of Wilcox, John Robinson of Yale, Okla., Brent Ehlers of Theftford, Travis Samuelson of Atlanta and Travis Lindsay of Holdrege, friends of the groom.

Candles were lit by Justin Liska of Houston and Stephanie Reiner of Holdrege.

A reception and dance was held at the Holdrege Elks Club.

Tammi Sturgis of Holdrege was guest book attendant.

Becky Gibbens of Cozad, Melissa Thompson of Eustis and Kim Looft of Omaha were in charge of gifts.

Host couples were Dr. Richard and Lori Reiner, Dick and Connie Hickenbottom and Mike and Melinda Vaughn, all of Holdrege.

Servers at the reception included Jan Liska of Wayne, Denise Liska of Houston and Ardis McMechan of Amers, Iowa, aunts of the bride, Vickie Meier of Elm Creek, Susan Fuik and Gina Jensen of North Platte.

The bride is a graduate of Wayne High School and a graduate of Iowa State University where she earned a bachelor of Science degree in zoology. She studied graduate immunology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and graduated from the University of Nebraska Medical Center with a Bachelor of Science degree. She is a physician assistant at High Plains Family Medicine in Holdrege and Mid State Family Health in Lexington.

The groom is a graduate of Wilcox High School. He is employed by the city of Holdrege and the Elwood division of Liska Angus Farms.

Following a wedding trip to Yellowstone and Jackson Hole, the couple is at home near Elwood.

How your time is spent

How do you spend your time? A recent report from a national study gives estimates about how time is spent on a variety of activities. Across a lifetime, the average person spends:

- five years waiting in lines;
- six months sitting at traffic lights;
- eight months opening junk mail;
- one year searching for misplaced objects;
- two years trying to return telephone calls;
- six years eating;
- six years watching television; and
- 22+ years sleeping

Many people spend relatively little time on things they say they value.

Most people say their families are important, but they don't live that way. It is estimated that the average married couple spends four minutes a day on meaningful communication that doesn't involve work, kids, sports or the weather.

Perhaps we need to reserve time in our hectic lives for things that are important to us. For example, schedule a dinner with your family or a night out with your partner and commit to it as if it were the most important work appointment of the week.

Awareness of how your time is spent can be the first step in making more creative use of time that is ordinarily wasted.

You are invited to find three ways in which you waste your time and turn it into good use for yourself and your important relationships.

'Trees for Tomorrow' available through local your Natural Resource District

Each year the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District makes available low cost tree and shrub seedlings to landowners through their conservation tree sales program. The state of Nebraska has a long history of encouraging landowners to plant trees; Early programs encouraged landowners to plant trees by offering real estate tax relief through exemptions on forested acres. Other programs such as the Timber Culture Act of 1873 provided additional land for settlers that planted trees.

Our present-day Conservation Tree Program has its roots in the Clarke-McNary Act. The Federal Government, in an effort to encourage tree planting for conservation purposes, passed into law the Clarke-McNary Act of 1924. The Clarke-McNary Act allowed states to sell tree seedlings and seeds for conservation purposes and directly reimbursed states up to 50 percent of their losses for operating a conservation tree program. Although, the Federal Government repealed the Clarke-McNary Act in 1978, Nebraska, like many other states, continues to provide low cost tree and shrub seedlings for conservation practices through their Conservation Tree Program.

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District's Conservation Tree Program offers a variety of services to landowners interested in planting windbreaks, woodlots, or wildlife habitat on their property. These include the sale of conservation tree and shrub seedlings, tree planting and chemical weed control spraying service, weed barrier mats and water conservation mulch and installation.

The costs of these services are as follows: Tree and Shrub Seedlings - 44¢/seedling. Each species must be ordered in lots of 25 ($11 for 25 seedlings). Tree Planting by NRD Contractor - 18¢/seedling. There is a minimum planting charge of $75 per project. Chemical Weed Control by NRD Contractor - $0.0175/linear foot of tree planting row. The NRD offers the chemical weed control service as a part of their tree planting service. Water Conservation Mulch - 31¢/linear foot. Installation by NRD Contractor costs an additional 17¢/linear foot. Weed Barrier Mats - 80¢/mat. Weed barrier mats must be ordered in lots of 25 ($20 for 25 mats). The NRD does not offer an installation service for the mats.

Last year the Lower Elkhorn NRD sold more than 130,000 tree and shrub seedlings to nearly 1,000 landowners throughout the district for conservation purposes. District Forester John DuPlissis said, "We hope to exceed that number this year." He continued, "The conservation tree program is an important part of the Lower Elkhorn NRD's commitment to the conservation and wise use of our natural resources. However, for our effort to be successful we need landowners who are willing to plant trees to benefit both this generation and those to come. Plant a tree, if not for yourself, then for your children. Our parents and grandparents did it for us. Just take a look around and see."

For more information on the Lower Elkhorn NRD's conservation tree program or if you need assistance with designing a conservation tree planting project, stop by our office or contact your county NRCS office.

Happy Advent!

It's the final day of November and Advent begins tomorrow. We are watching the Florida/Florida State teams battle it out in sunshine; as opposed to the wet day in Lincoln yesterday. It's true, the teams in the Midwest cannot rely on a passing game; not with the weather they play in.

The Huskers looked a lot like the team we saw in Phoenix yesterday; but, as usual, our defense kept us in it. Those guys are amazing. Also, as usual, I didn't watch much of it; even though we were at Sue's to take advantage of the big screen TV. Just too nerve-wracking.

I read Dr. Tom's book, On Solid Ground, last month. It isn't exciting reading; he writes as methodically as he prepares for games. But it's worthwhile; and just increases my admiration and respect for the man. You know, I believe Nancy deserves some, too. It can't be easy to raise a family in that situation.

I'm now working on One Final Pass, the Brook Berringer story. This really was an unusual young man; whose life experiences matured him earlier than most these days.

It's been good to have some free time for reading. I find I really miss it when I'm not currently reading a book. And there is never enough time for reading just for fun.

If you didn't get hold of the Christmas Box last year, be sure to this month. And I picked up another delightful short story lately, called A Stranger for Christmas. Both are simple plots with heart-warming endings.

It's also the time of year for

The junior contest consists of a five to eight minute presentation and the senior contest presentation length must be eight to 10 minutes.

The presentations can include all aspects of the beef industry, based upon the packet of materials provided by the American National CattleWomen, Inc.

The packets and other contest information is available by contacting Ann Bruntz at (402) 947-8661 or An Marie Bosshamer at 800-421-5326.

music. We heard a choir perform Bach's cantata, "Wake, Awake, the Night is Flying," last Sunday and plan to attend a Don Wharton concert next Sunday. Six of us are doing a medley of fun seasonal songs for a party next Friday. Songs like Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer and Santa Claus Is Coming to Town. My sheet music for these is literally falling apart.

I thoroughly enjoyed, too, My Fair Lady, telecast on Thanksgiving night. I'd seen the stage performance several times, but never the movie.

For me, it's the season of Lights, Sounds and Stories. Gifts and food are secondary.

Happy Advent!

Allen Blezek, Nebraska LEAD program director, said that preference is given to individuals ages 25-45 who have demonstrated leadership potential.

Successful applicants for a LEAD fellowship will participate in a series of 12 monthly seminars over a two-year period, during September through April.

LEAD participants also take part in a 10-day national study/travel seminar and a two- to three-week international study/travel seminar. Seminar themes include economics, foreign cultures, international trade, government, communications, environment, politics, business, finance, labor and industry.

LEAD is designed to prepare spokespeople, problem solvers and decision makers for Nebraska and its agricultural industry, Blezek said. The program, now in its 16th year, is operated by the Nebraska Agricultural Leadership Council Inc., a nonprofit organization, in cooperation with Nebraska colleges and universities, business and industry, and individuals throughout the state. LEAD offices are located in the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) — A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work or your money back.
