Commissioners hear about remodeling

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

A step-by-step listing of officesuto be moved during the Wayne County Courthouse remodeling and elevator installation was pre-sented to the Board of Commissioners during the Tuesday meeting.

Several of the elected officials had previously met to develop a plan to move offices in preparation for the construction that will take place when the elevator is installed in the courthouse. The plan will eliminate more than one move for any of the offices affected by the construction.

Jerry Berggren, of Berggren & Woll Architects, was at the meeting to discuss the scheduling and the time frame involved with the installation of the elevator.

Berggren told the commissioners that it would take approximately two months until the plans would be ready to go to bid. His plans call for approving the final plans at the commissioner's April 1 meeting, advertising for bids for three weeks and opening of bids on April 29.

The commissioners can accept or reject bids during the May 6 meeting and construction could begin in early june. Construction would begin after that date, with no specific start or completion date set due to time need to acquire an elevator

"Our biggest challenge is not the construction in this project, but rather the scheduling of the moving of the offices," Berggren told the commissioners.

The present plan calls for the moving to begin by moving the Superintendent of Schools secretary in the room with the Superintendent and preparing that office for the Veterans Service office. The Veterans Service office will move in the school's secretary office and that office will be prepared for the County Court. The County Court office will then be prepared for the County Assessor. The Highway Superintendent and Superintendent will then move into the vacated Assessor's office.

The next step will be to pre-pare the office of the Superintendent of Schools for the Clerk of the District Court.

The current office of the Clerk of the District Court will become a conference room. A number of details will be worked out between the archi-tects and officials via phone calls prior to the beginning of any of the moves.

Phone lines will be adjusted for the new offices and electrical work will also be completed during the step-by-step move.

The Extension office and the Sheriff's office will switch locations during the process

After back-to-back blizzards, the weekend's warm weather brought many people, and dogs, out to get rid of dirt and salt on their vehicles. The thermometer climbed to 50 degrees this week, causing streets and roads to become muddy. The weekend forecast calls for temperatures to return to more seasonable and snow is possible.

Chamber sponsors day-long agriculture seminar

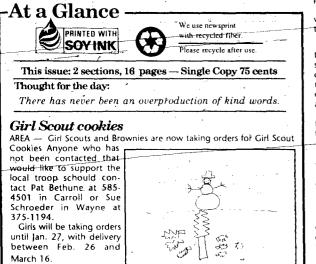

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

Approximately 30 people at-tended the day-long agriculture seminar sponsored by the Agri-Business Council of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce on

Area Chamber of Commerce 2. Wednesday, Larry Sitzman, head of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture spoke to the audience about the responsibilities of his department. department

"We are approximately 85 percent regulatory and 15 percent promotion. We have a $10 million budget, but I won't let the bu-reaucrats spend the money. In the six years that I have held this posi-tion, my department has gone from 188 to 161 employees,"

Sitzman said. Sitzman went on to describe the different areas his department is responsible for including envi-ronment and health concerns, the Bureau of Dairy and Food and Weights and Measures.

"It is our duty to insure the public that agriculture is producing a safe product. We also check out all scales in the state of Nebraska, at sale barns, grocery stores, gas pumps' and scanning devices, to ensure accuracy," he said.

The remaining 15 percent of the department's budget is geared toward promotion, especially for promoting Nebraska ag products to foreign countries.

"We work with international visitors and bring buyers and sellers together," Sitzman said.

"Agriculture brings $9 billion to the Nebraska economy. In the state of Nebraska we have more cattle than we have people, so we need to export our product to other areas of the world," he added.

"As in the past, many Wayne residents, businesses and institutions have been very generous toward our cause. A number of organizations in the community have had 100 percent participation by their employees," Miller said.

"These people are the ones who really give a boost to the funding for the local United Way. Many of them use the convenient payroll deduction plan to spread their giving out during the whole

"The drive is a little behind last year's pledges at this time, and therefore, we haven't reached our goal yet. We hope those who haven't had an opportunity to pledge or contribute yet will do so soon so we can continue to help the 15 agencies the Wayne United Way Board has chosen to support this year," Miller said. Donations can be dropped off at any one of the three banks in Wayne by writing "United Way" on the e envelope. If anyone would like more information or would like to be contacted, they may do so by calling Miller at 375-4770 during the day. All of the agencies we support provide services to a large number of the Wayne area citizens," Miller added. A. . ---

The Wayne United Way is supporting the following agencies, at various levels, in 1997:

Commissioners hear about remodeling

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

A step-by-step listing of offices to be moved during the Wayne County Courthouse remodeling and elevator installation was pre-sented to the Board o of ^B ťo Commissioners during the Tuesday meeting. Several of the elected officials had previously met to develop a plan to move offices in preparation for the construction that will take place when the elevator is installed in the courthouse. The plan will eliminate more than one move for any of the offices affected by the construction.

Jerry Berggren, of Berggren & Woll Architects, was at the meeting to discuss the scheduling and the time frame involved with the installation of the elevator.

Berggren told the commissioners that it would take approximately two months until the plans would be ready to go to bid. His plans call for approving the final plans at the commissioner's April 1 meeting, advertising for bids for three weeks and opening of bids on April 29.

The commissioners can accept or reject bids during the May 6 meeting and construction could begin in early June. Construction would begin after that date, with no specific start or completion date set due to time need to acquire an elevator

*Our biggest challenge is not the construction in this project, but rather the scheduling of the moving of the offices," Berggren told the commissioners.

The present plan calls for the moving to begin by moving the Superintendent of Schools secre-tary in the room with the Superintendent and preparing that office for the Veterans Service office.

The Veterans Service office will move in the school's secretary office and that office will be pre-pared for the County Court.

The County Court office will then be prepared for the County Assessor. The Highway Superintendent and Superintendent will then move into the vacated Assessor's office.

The next step will be to pre-pare ... the -) office - of -- the Superintendent of Schools for the Clerk of the District Court.

The current office of the Clerk of the District Court will become a conference room. A number of details will be worked out between the archi-tects and officials via phone calls prior to the beginning of any of the moves.

Phone lines will be adjusted for the new offices and electrical work will also be completed during the step-by-step move,

The Extension office and the Sheriff's office will switch locations during the process

Chamber sponsors day-long agriculture seminar

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

Approximately 30 people attended the day-long agriculture seminar sponsored by the Agri-Business Council of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday.

Larry Sitzman, head of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture spoke to the audience about the responsibilities of his department.

"We work with international visitors and bring buyers and sellers together," Sitzman said.

"Agriculture brings $9 billion to the Nebraska ecohomy. In the state of Nebraska we have more cattle than we have people, so we need to export our product to other areas of the world," he added.

Sitzman explained the impoi tance of the international market to agriculture in Nebraska. "Government opens the doors

Campus recognized for safety program

When Wayne State College students return for the start of the Spring term this week they will walk the halls of a campus which has been recognized as one of the safest college communities in the nation.

Wayne State College and the student volunteers who helped implement a new campus watch and escort program last year have received recognition from the the Wayne State program which involves trained student volun-teers--in teams of two--providing escort services to students who request it. Keeping our eyes open

Are our state senators really listening? Nebraskans have on various occasions used the ballot box to give an emphatic "No!" to the Legislature. But somewhere along the line the message gets lost. Members of the Revenue Committee, led by Chairman Jerome Warner, introduced LR-45 last week. It appears to be a restructured version of a similar proposal rejected by voters last Fall

The new proposal allow a merged city and county government to have different tax rates outside of city limits; change the property tax collected on vehicles to a fee and allow it to be distributed to cities, counties and schools using a formula different from the one used for distribution of property-tax revenue; provide that government property be taxed if it is not used for public purposes; and remove references to townships from the State Constitution.

Maybe the ideas in LR 45 are valid in promoting-city-county mergers, but many Nebraskans object.

Our point here is that only about 75 days have passed since Nebraska voters said "no" to LR 292, a similar bill, but the powers that be are already thinking of sending an LR 292 clone back to the ballot. Either our senators don't understand the constituency or perhaps they've been inspired by the story of the little train, which mounting a steep incline, kept chugging "I think I can, I think I can!'

Be sure to make your senator aware of your opinion on any issue, That's why we're in the driver's seat

Nurses deserve to be ackhowledged

Dear Editor

January 22 is National School Nurses' Day.

In ESU #1 (Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston and Wayne Counties) there are three full-time and eight part-time ESU #1 School Nurses serving approximately 10,500 students.

Each of us is proud of the service we provide for these students and our worth has been validated by being consistently rated the #1 service of ESU #1 for many years.

School nursing has been subsi-dized to the schools approximately 80 percent by the taxes that supported your ESU unit. LB 1114, which passed during the last legislative session, cut the taxing authority for ESU #1 approximately 57 percent, to begin with the 1998-99 school year. Nebraska state law required that schools provide screens for vision, height, weight, teeth, scol-iosis, blood pressure and insure _adequate immunizations through a yearly report

Your school nurse provides these services. In addition, she provides nursing judgement and guidance in health care situations from the communicable diseases such as head lice and chicken pox to delegating, training and super-vising auxiliary personnel on how to perform daily catheterizations administer solutions by feeding tubes, provide diabetic and asthma management and other health care situations that our students are confronting us with while in schools.

By law, only RN's, doctors, physicians assistants and nurse practitioners can do this.

Our ultimate goal is to have each student in his/her best physical health so that he/she may learn to the best of his/her ability

When budget cuts are dis-cussed, a question you might want to direct to your administrators and school boards is who will provide these services for your children?

School Nursing is a speciality area within the nursing profession. ESU #1 has an experienced staff with the ability to provide efficient and quality nursing services for children

Capitol News —

Running for office is expensive

By Melvin Paul Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Amid all the talk of naming a state fish (the handsome channel catfish is the candidate) and des ignating a state crop (to no one's surprise, it's proposed to be corn), some real news popped up last week in Lincoln – John Brestow has a lot of money. Well, that really isn't a news flash. Breslow was a well-heeled business owner when he invested $320,000 of his own money into becoming State Auditor in 1990. The latest bulletin is about campaign fund-raising for the 1998 race for the governor's mansion.

Even though that campaign is two years off, Breslow has already taised nearly $500,000 in contributions and pledges.

And, talk around Lincoln is that he is willing to pour about $2 million of his own funds in the race.

Breslow told reporters the big bucks so early show how many friends he has and how popular his political views are.

Political observers, however, saw a different message: such a big war chest discourages other potential candidates from entering the race since, presumably, they won't be able to match that kind of spending. This whole idea of the "richest man wins" has become sort of a trend in major campaigns in Nebraska in recent years. So too has the idea of putting some kinds of limits on campaign spending.

Bob Kerrey, Ben Nelson and Chuck Hagel all had considerable wealth and all won their first statewide campaigns, thanks to good messages, good campaigns and a goodly amount of their own bucks

More than a few folks think it takes a rich person, with substantial disposable income, to win a major election in the state. That's a sad commentary on a state with a political tradition of populism and representation of the com-mon man. Normal folks need to be in the elected offices, too few years ago, state legislators tried to get a handle on cam-paign spending. Under the 1993 Campaign Finance Limitation Act, state senators can sign agree-ments to voluntarily limit their to--ments to voluntarily limit their to-tal campaign spending to $50,000 during the election year (candidates...tor: governor are capped at $1.5 million) in ex-change for the right to obtain state funds if their opponent does not agree to adhere to the limits. That scheme anneared to work

That scheme appeared to work pretty well during the 1996 leg-islative elections. Most senators agreed to abide by the limits and none exceeded them, although a handful had to return donations from political action committees. In the end, no public funds were needed.

But with Breslow filling his coffers already, no one expects that will be the case in 1998. Tax dollars, $500,000 or more, may be necessary to help gubernatorial candidates that abide by the $1.5 million limit match the spending of Breslow, who is not likely to abide by the limits.

The Legislature will have to ap propriate those tax funds during this session and several senators and the Republican Party philosophically, oppose such expendi-tures of tax funds. They say that it's unfair to use their tax dollars to help a candidate that might diametrically oppose every political view they hold.

That's not a bad argument. But neither is the view that campaign spending, has gotten out of hand, and it takes a millionaire to win elections these days.

It's a tough balancing act. pit ting. the rights of free speech against the rights of fair play. But Breslow's plentiful war chest shows once again that running for office is becoming an expensive, and maybe exclusive game.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Is it because Hollywood and MTV role models, rap singers and rock music clamorize the illegal babit. glamorize the illegal habit?

Or perhaps the teenager watches mom and dad pop pre-scription and non-prescription pills for every ache, pain, and bit of stress, until it is a small step for the youth to try popping a pill for "kicks"?

Schools have tried their best to guide, warn, and guard students in educating them about the dan-gers of drug abuse. Yet the in-creased abuse of drugs abounds.

Recycling is up to the community

Dear Editor,

I'd like to let the people of Wayne know something. The NDEQ is not going to put anyone in jail or fine or tax anyone for not meeting the 50 percent reduction in materials going to the landfill. The 25 percent and 50 percent are just guidelines.

I'd also like the people to know that Frank Mirsny is doing a lot for recycling. He's spending his time and his gas to collect plastic oil bottles and card board from different places in Wayne. For this, I say Thank you!

Recycling is up to the people no matter what system you have. The people have to do it. You can't force them.

Wayne has a good program Let's give it a chance.

As recycling grows, Pierce Recycling will change to meet Wayne's needs. Thank you.

Wayne boys win streak snapped at five by Norfolk Catholic, 50-47

The seventh-ranked Wayne boys basketball team had their five-game win streak halted by Norfolk Catholic, Tuesday in Wayne, 50-47. It was the Blue Devils first home loss since February of last year.

Both teams notched nine firstquarter points but Wayne went on an 18-10 scoring spree in the sec-ond period to take a 27-19 lead at the break.

The lead, however, was 12 late in the first half before Norfolk Catholic sank a pair of 3-pointers including a buzzer-beater by Mike Vrbicky to cut the gap to eight but at the same time, lift the Knights and chane the momentum.

The third quarter belonged to the visitors as Norfolk Catholic used a 17-10 scoring advantage to make it a one-point contest heading to the final stanza.

Wayne took a 47-44 lead with just under two minutes to play and the Knights took a 48-47 lead with 15 seconds to go when Vrbicky sank a pair of free throws

LAST FRIDAY Wayne upended the defending Class C-2 State champs, Stanton, 69-64 in Wayne.

The Blue Devils jumped out to a 16-11 lead after one quarter of play but were out-gunned, 23-13 in the second quarter to trail 34-29 at the break.

Wayne stepped up its defensive. intensity in the second half and outscored the visitors 40-30 in the second half.

During that stretch the Blue Devils used a 21-5 scoring spurt to erase Stanton's eight-point-advantage at that time, 51-43 to lead, 64-56 with just over 90 seconds to play.

Stanton, however, did not give up and cut the eight-point lead down to just two and then with a threepoint lead with 15 seconds remaining, Paul Blomenkamp pretty much iced the game with a pair of free throws.

Kurtis Keller blocked a Stanton shot with under 20 seconds remaining and with Wayne leading by just three.

Wayne's defense proved to be key all game in holding prolific scorer Zak Kennedy below his season average of 22 points to just nine.

"I thought we came out and played very intense basketball right away in this game," Ruhl said. "Then in the second quarter we got a little bit impatient and didn't run our offense with any efficiency."

The Wayne mentor was pleased with the way his team responded in the second half,

Paul Blomenkamp led the winners with 22 points despite scoring just two free throws in the final eight minutes.

Justin Thede tallied 11 points and Matt Meyer added nine. Wayne out-rebounded the visitors, 34-30 led by Blomenkamp's 14 boards Wayne will host Class C-1's top Katle Lutt gets tripped up by a Crofton player while chasing down a loose ball during the Blue Devils contest with Crofton, Tuesday. The contest was played in Rice Auditorium prior to the Wildcats contest with York College.

Winside boys improve to 4-6 while girls fall to 3-8

The Winside boys basketball team won a pair of home contests on Monday and Tuesday to improve the Wildcats record to 4-6 on the season

Jim Hoyt's crew earned a narrow 69-68 win over Beemer on Monday before defeating Clarkson, 72-60, Tuesday

In. Monday's contest the host team found themselves down big time in the first quarter as the Bobcats sprinted to a 27-11 lead.

The Wildcats could only trim two points off that lead in the second quarter and trailed 42-28 at the intermission.

Both teams scored 15, third quarter points before the rally began. "We just put things together in the fourth quarter after playing three sub-par quarters," Hoyt said.

"We out-scored them 26-11 over the final eight minutes to earn the win

The game, however, was not decided until the buzzer sounded. Chad O'Connor hit a shot with 12 seconds to go in regulation to give Winside its first lead of the game

Beemer came down court and could not get off a decent shot before the buzzer sounded to end the game.

O'Connor paced the winners with 23' points while Jaime Holdorf tossed in 17 and Brock Shelton added 14. Four Wildcats finished in double figures as Jay Rademacher added TO.

Winside was out-rebounded, 38-24 with O'Connor and Rademacher leading the winners with six caroms each and Holdorf dished out nine Things were not as dramatic for the Wildcats on Tuesday as Winside led pretty much throughout the entire contest over Clarkson.

The Wildcats led 30-25 at the half and 46-40 after three before outscoring the visitors, 26-20 in the final stanza for the 12-point win.

Aaron Hoffman poured in a career-high 18 points to lead Winside including a 7-9 outing in the second quarter from the free throw line.

Jaimey Holdorf added 15 and Chad O'Connor scored 11 as Winside surpassed last year's total wins in the season of three.

Sexual differences discussed

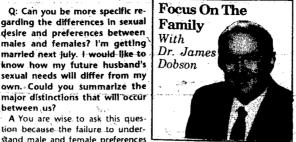

First, men are primarily aroused by visual stimulation. They are turned on by feminine nudity or peek-a- boo glimpses of semi-nudity. Women, on the other hand, are much less visually oriented than men. Sure, they are interested in attractive masculine bodies, but the physiological mechanism of sex is not triggered, typically, byowhat they see. Women are stimulated primarily be the sense of touch.

often produces a continual source of marital frustration and quilt.

Thus, we encounter the first source of disagreement in the bedroom; he wants her to appear unclothed in a lighted room, and she wants him to caress her in the dark.

Second, and much more importantly, men are not very discriminating in regard to the person living within an interesting body. A man can walk down the street and be stimulated by a scantily clad female who shimmles past him, even though he knows nothing about her personality, values or mental capabilities. He is attracted by her body itself. Likewise, he can become almost as excited over a photograph or an unknown nude model as he can a face-to-face encounter with someone he loves.

In essence, the sheer biological power of sexual desire in a male is largely focused on the physical body of on attractive female. Hence, there is some validity to the complaint by women that they have been used as "sex objects" by men.

This explains why female prostitutes outnumber males by a wide margin and why few women try to "rape" men. It explains why a roomful of toothless, old men can get a large charge from watching a bur-lesque dancer "take it all off." It reflects the fact that masculine selfesteem is more motivated by a desire to "conquer" a women than by becoming the object of her romantic love.

These are not very flattering characteristics of male sexuality, but they are well documented in the professional literature

Women, on the other hand, are much more discriminating in their sexual interests. They less commonly become excited by observing a good-looking charmer, or by the photograph of a hairy model. Rather, their desire is usually focused on a particular individual whom they respect or admire.

A woman is stimulated by the romantic aura that surrounds her man and by his character and personality. A woman yields to the man who appeals to her emotionally as well as physically

Obviously, there are exceptions to these characteristic desires, but the fact remains: sex for men is a more physical phenomenon; sex for a woman is a deeply emotional experience.

Campaign is launched

American Society for Microbiology has launched Operation Clean Hands, a campaign to educate Americans about health risks associated with poor hand washing habits. Infectious diseases remain the leading cause of death and illness worldwide; in the United States, they are the third leading cause of death. According to the Centers for disease Control and Prevention (CDC), hand washing is one of the most important means of preventing the spread of infectious diseases, including respiratory infections and gastrointestinal disorders.

They should also be washed after playing with or touching a pet, particularly rep-tiles and after tending to someone who is sick or injured. In order to eliminate germs, hands should be washed thoroughly. This means using warm or hot running water and soap. All surfaces, including wrists, palms, backs of hands and fingers, should be washed. If possible, a nail brush should be used to get under fingernails. Hands should be rubbed together for at least 10 to 15 seconds. When drying, begin at the fore arms and work toward hands and fingertips. To avoid chapping and cracking, pat the skin dry rather than rubbing. Use hand lotion to Cooperative Extension Sally Ebmeier Cedar County

In case you haven't figured in out, I admire folks with a sense of humor. Further, I maintain it does not have to raunchy to be funny. The comedians I enjoy can make us laugh without off-color jokes

Hence, Erma Bombeck was a favorite. I think I have all of her books. I read her column faithfully. I miss her very much. I was among the large group of people who prayed they would find a kidney for her; and when they did, I could not believe it failed.

Kay had given me a calendar by her a few years ago; my Sis gave me a new one this Christmas. So she keeps me chuckling, even when not around.

when not around. Another one I've always appre-ciated is Bill Cosby. He's one of the most talented guys in the business. His books on parenting and aging cause deep belly laughs; as do his monologues describing Fat Albert, or his trip to the dentist or cute things kids do. He got to hear him in person at Nebraska's big birthday party.

Now, he's experiencing the greatest sorrow a parent can ever have. Murders and robberies occur in our country everyday; and each leaves a grieving family. It just makes me realize what a waste it really is, and my heart aches for them today.

Driving a Mercedes advertises money; but it's sad we can't drive what we can afford, or wear real jewels if we own them or live in nice homes without security. When we were in Las Vegas last town has grown and how many new homes were being built. They are being built in gated communities, with high cement walls and gates that can only be opened by owners.

in that situation. I think of my first patient in hospice with AIDS; a 30-year old hemophiliac. His mother has since lost two more sons; half of her family.

I'm not sure how one survives this; I just know that people do? And they are in my prayers. Please remember the Cos in yours.

The deadline is Jan. 31 to sub-mit entries to the 22nd annual Nebraska Feeder Pig Show to be held in Columbus. The show is held in conjunction with the Nebraska Pork Industry Exposition.

The feeder pig show begins at p.m. on Feb. 6 at Platte County Ag. Park, It is open to bonafide Nebraska pork producers. Pigs must be farrowed on a Nebraska farm or firm of the exhibitor. A limit of two pens-of-five may be entered per individual, farm or firm. Each pen must average from 35 to 60 pounds per pig. The entry fee is $10 per pen and should be mailed to Wendt at Route 1, Box 90, Leigh, Neb.

Stringent health requirements for entries, as well as entry forms and other details, are outlined in a brochure available at Cooperative

Extension offices, Nebraska Pork Producers Association, PlaCo Pork Producers Association or Expo

"Although they won't be shown and judged on Feb. 7; an experimental Segregated Early Weaning (SEW) division also will be offered for the first time this year," said Mike Brumm, University of Nebraska swine specialist at the Northeast Research and extension
