Education is key to preventing violence and sexual abuse

By Clark Ostien
Of the Herald

Citing education and awareness as keys to helping prevent child abuse and domestic violence, nearly 100 persons were on hand Monday to listen to several speakers on the subject.

Sponsored jointly by Wayne AMI branch #9609, the Otoe County Child Abuse Prevention Team and the Student Council for Exceptional Children at Wayne State College, the seminar focused on the dynamics of domestic violence, especially the effect of domestic violence on children.

The seminar was designed to assist professionals and others working with children and investigating child abuse and neglect. It offered them additional skills in identifying, reporting, documenting, evidence preserving and healing child abuse and neglect.

The morning session featured Karen and Steve Werner of Norfolk. The couple are volunteers at Bright Horizon, a shelter victim of domestic abuse.

The Werners told the story of their daughter Chis who was a victim of domestic abuse. She was shot twice in the back of the head by her husband on Oct. 23, 1985.

Mrs. Werner cited a number of statistics involving domestic abuse but also indicated that "to understand the depth of the problem, we need to get faces with these numbers."

One of every four women will experience domestic violence and across the nation, 3.5 million children witness their fathers beating their mothers. Between 50-70 percent of men who batter their female partners also abuse their children.

The Werners listed several reasons those involved in abuse situations, including their daughter, did not leave an abuser. These include not knowing the signs, wanting to help the abuser through the situation, restraining out of fear for themselves or their family and the fact that leaving is often more frightening than remaining with the abuser.

Mrs. Werner told those present that domestic violence is not limited to larger cities.

"Incidents of abuse occur everywhere, in all parts of Nebraska. The only way to stop the abuse is knowledge," she said.

She presented a list of signs to look for in an abusive personality. They include jealousy, controlling behavior, quick involvement, unrealistic expectations, isolation, blaming of others for his problems, cruelty to animals or children and verbal abuse.

Following the Werners' presentation, Dr. Thomas Bennett, M.D., Iowa State Medical Examiner, told the audience what is currently being done in Iowa regarding the investigation of deaths in children under the age of seven years.

A Child Death Review Team, involving 16 trained professionals, works together to discover the "when, where, when, where, why and how" of the child's death.

The Emergency Medical Technicians, emergency room nurses, law enforcement officials, Social Services, County Attorney and funeral directors work together.

Wayne helps in disaster relief

Lois Hilton, Elaine Francis and Barb Middleton prepare coats from the Presbyterian Church Coat Closet for shipment to flood victims in North Dakota.

women from the church, Lois Hilton, Barb Middleton, and Lois Francis, came down one day to inventory and pack up the 300 coats, plus the mittens, scarves, hats and some various jeans and sweatshirts which had been previously given to the coat closet.

"What has really been wonderful is to see people from different churches, organizations, and businesses work together like this to help someone else," Pastor Hobbsell added.

Wheeler first got word that the coats could be used. Pastor Hobbsell contacted Lois Hobbsell at Faithful Knights to see if he had some boxes that could use for shipping. He did and as three men helped, Hobbsell was getting the coats and blankets shipped to Fargo. We had many people helping to sort out coats and blankets.

Eventually Lois Hobbsell of Great Dane Trailers arranged for free shipment on one of their new trailers which was being transported by a company in Canada, Pastor Hobbsell said.

Last Friday, Lois Hobbsell and his wife, members of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and Lois Hobbsell's son, a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian, transported all the blankets and coats up to Great Dane's plant and loaded them up on the trailer which left Saturday morning.

When you read in the paper about the sale of drywall on the flood, 300 coats and 119 blankets may not sound like a whole lot of clothing, but for each person who gets a coat, is blanketed. It is important to say "Many thanks" to all three who have participated. People and companies like us, that care ask what makes Wayne a great place to live. God Bless Wayne!

Fifth-grade students at Allen Consolidated School pose for a picture following the completion of a seven-week session CHARACTER COUNT! The program was taught by Amy Melchow, Extension Assistant.

Allen fifth graders complete session

Twenty fifth-grade students at Allen Consolidated School recently completed a seven week session of CHARACTER COUNT! The fifth-grade classroom teacher is Ms. Amy Melchow.

CHARACTER COUNT! is a program that teaches six pillars of character. The pillars include trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship. A lesson that is also included is ethical decision-making which contains each of the six pillars in making appropriate decisions.

The pillars are not religiously, politically, or ethnically based or based in presented.

The program was developed by the Josephson Institute of Ethics and is endorsed by the CHARACTER COUNT! Coalition.

The CHARACTER COUNT! Coalition is a national partnership of leading education and youth organizations dedicated to strengthening the character of America's youth. Nebraska 4-H, which is a component of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and youth in Doane and Wayne Cooperative Extension Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources has adopted the program.

The goal of the CHARACTER COUNT! program is to strengthen the character of young people today and thereby tomorrow tomorrow for all. Currently over 10 states in the United States are participating in the CHARACTER COUNT! Program.

The fifth-grade class in Allen participated in various activities which reinforce each of the six pillars of character. The class concluded its CHARACTER COUNT! session with a decision-making activity. Each of the seven lessons were taught by Amy Melchow, Extension Assistant 4-H and youth in Doane and Wayne Cooperative Extension Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Other schools in the area which are also participating include: Gretna Public Schools, Prairie Public Schools, Wayne Middle School and Winside Elementary School.

Looking good

Wayne County Juvenile Court records for 1996 show a total of 13 cases processed. Although a report where not one youth violated the law would be better, such is hardly realistic in current society.

The figures reveal fewer juvenile cases in Wayne County than in most neighboring counties where totals are nearly double that number. Madison County, with its larger population, had over 100 juvenile proceedings.

Many variables enter the picture when it comes to processing juvenile cases, and gathering data such as does the county have a program for working with wayward youth, giving them a chance to correct their error before actually taking them into court.

County statistics also vary due to population, aggressiveness of law enforcement officers, and posture of the county attorney's office. Not every offender is never identified and caught. Not all offenders are solvable.

Even though some Wayne County youths may have broken the law in another county, the 1996 figures of 13 cases in Wayne County are impressive when compared to the numbers of areas with less population. The 1990 census records show Wayne County's population at 17,727, however this does not include the Wayne City, Dodge population.

For simplicity let's assume the total in the county number cited (10,000) has 10,000 teenagers. If we believe do not know that average age looks at it having but 13 juvenile court cases in 1996 can lead one to believe that parents, schools, churches, role models and other influential agents are doing some things right and a round of applause for them and particularly for all teenagers in the county who chose to do the right thing at the right time.

Good law enforcement also figures into the equation as does an active county attorney's office and court system.

Teenagers, where looking good takes a second best.

Rural area being 'picked on'

By Melvin Paul

Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association

Rural schools and cities have a right to feel like they're being picked on in the fight to lower property taxes.

It's because they are.

Whether it's in the estimated changes in state aid to local schools or a corporate-funded tax research group's push to eliminate counties and cities, it's the folks on the state's backroads and byways that are taking it in the shorts.

The assault has started in senators and lobbyists quietly talking the F word — inflation — in the legislature's negotiations to help to cut off a better than fair subsidy, originally of the state's population centers. It will be an uphill battle.

Rural senators just don't have the clout they used to in the 49-seat Legislature. As the state's population has shifted from the farm to the big town, 10 have the chairs in the legislative chamber.

Plus, many so-called "rural" senators not only serve centers of little towns and ranches, but big population centers, like Kearney, North Platte, Alliance or Norfolk.

It's not hard to guess where most of the votes in those districts come from, and where such senators' interests are when it comes down to voting in the legislature.

Let's call them rural/urban senators, the "urban" senators. They'll likely be the swing voters in the school aid debate that begins this week.

It may be tough for them to swing to the rural side in the debate since school districts in the Panhandle, York and Hastings, of the state are winners under a proposed school aid bill while school districts in the big towns

According to an analysis of a new school aid plan, LB 808, that would provide an extra $100 million in state aid, the Lincoln and Omaha school districts would get state aid increases of 30 percent and 33 percent, respectively, while Kearney and Hastings would see about a 37 percent hike each.

On the other end of the scale are schools like Atchison County, which would see an 89 percent drop in state aid, while Farman loses 82 percent of its state aid.

Some rural schools do benefit. For instance, Valentine would get more than three times its current aid if, but by and large, the rural areas are big losers. One rural school official told the Omaha World-Herald that a federal law will be the only recourse.

In another front, the Nebraska Tax Research Council issued a report recently that urged the state to eliminate 14 county seats so that counties had at least 3,000 residents each and to make towns with less than 200 people dissolve their village governments. And, oh yes, they said Omaha and its suburbs might be in that mix.

And, oh yes, they said Omaha and its suburbs might be in that mix.

The council rightly points out that Nebraska has the 10th largest number of local governments in the country but only the 16th highest financial resources to support them — that's why property taxes are so high.

But you've got to wonder about the motives of the tax council, which is financed by some of the largest corporations in the state.

These folks want income tax cuts so their executives have more money for country club memberships. They aren't concerned about whether towns like Gandy, Grafton, Brownville or Lexington have their long-term stability.

This idea, espoused in Capitol News, is three of the wiser and most ingenuity. Hopes of the Nebraska Press Association

Playing in the 'Q' section of the dictionary

Is Washington rule modeling a new language?

Are they quidling, quavering, quenching, quibbling, quiting, quitting, quivering, quizzing, quizzing, quod pro quo, quod pro quo, quod pro quo? Playing in the "Q" section of Webster's Dictionary provides exactly the right words for questions about quirkiness, quirky, that means fraudulent practices. Backhand, finished off the check!

We now expect we are seeing and tolerating the formation of a new language much like a fraternity of quirksters.

Doesn't playing with other members of the "Bible of Justice" fit? Not an enviable genealogy. Big American are now caught in a quandary by questionable quirk stopping pillars of Christianity.

The open ledger, not of Washington's political offices, probably this question do we believe them true, or do we believe them lies? This isn't to put all politicians down, because collectively they represent the greatest system of government and one is forced to ask are we asking to increase in government by what is apparently true today, but not true tomorrow. Whether we hold a kindergartener in high regard, the truth.

Perhaps a simple and test. By a D.C. wide comprehensive claim are we trying to gather around the world to make our country a better place? We are, especially in government, but not necessarily in government by what is apparently true today, but not true tomorrow. Whether we hold a kindergartener in high regard, the truth.

Wayne State College Business Competition Day

Over 600 students attended

Over 600 students from 41 area Nebraska and Iowa high schools competed in the Wayne State College Business Competition Day, Wednesday, April 16.

The annual event, organized by the Division of Business and the Omega Pi business education honorary, as well as Phi Beta Lambda, Delta Sigma Pi, Marketing and Advertising student business organizations, is the largest academic competition on the Wayne State Campus, according to event coordinator Dr. Patricia Arneson.

Students participated in 14 areas of competition: Accounting I and II; Advertising; Business Communications; Business Comprehensive; Knowledge; Business Law; Computer Literacy; Billing; Printing; Calculating Machines; Payroll Processing I and II; Billing; Sales; Presentation; Business Entrepreneur Plan; and College Bowl.

Plainview High School received the first-place trophy for top team points in the competition. Lyons Township was awarded the second-place trophy and Stanton was third place, winning school Plainview will receive a $300 WSC scholarship to award to a competing student planning to major in business next year at WSC, while Lyons Township and Stanton will receive $200 and $100 scholarship awards, respectively.

Omaha City East defeated Creighton to capture the College Bowl title. Twenty seven schools entered the preliminary college bowl competition.

Saturday Hamill and Brent Schieren of Nebraska were recognized as "Outstanding Entrepreneurs" in the Business Plan event.

Jolene Jager, of Wayne, received "Top Honors" for her outstanding Sales Presentation. The Advertising "Be True To Your 'Brand'" contest was won by the Hamill team of Heather Hamill and Terri Springer.

Wayne State's Kathy Dalton and Stefanie Senn break track marks

Kathy Dalton and Stefanie Senn shattered two Wayne State College school records to pace the Wayne State College men's and women's track and field teams at the 33rd Annual Sioux City Relays over the weekend.

On Friday, Dalton placed fourth in the 1000-meter run, turning in a time of 3:08.88, which is a school record and personal best time by more than 20 seconds. It is only 15 seconds from the NCAA provisional qualifying mark.

"Kathy had an incredible race," head coach Brian Kavanaugh said. "Usually she lets up during the middle mile, but this time she pressed the pace."

On Saturday, Dalton placed fifth in the 1500-meter run in 4:45.37, a five-second personal best for her. Only All-American Janet Lee has run faster for Wayne State (4:41.26) at the 1982 NAIA National Championships.

"Before the race I wondered how thought Kathy could match that personal record," Kavanaugh said. "Once she gets in the right race, she could qualify for nationals. The NAIA provisional standard is 4:41."

Also on Saturday, Senn clocked 10:25.47 for fourth place in the 1000-meter run. This was well under the old school record of 10:40.64 (set by Dalton in 1986), and it about 15 seconds from the NCAA provisional mark.

"Stef really has improved in the last month," Kavanaugh said. "She ran 10:30 just two weeks ago, and that was her third-best time ever before today."

Other outstanding performances by the women's team included Martha Kriener's five-second season best time in the 800-meter run, 2:11.92 (fourth all-time for WSU); and Michelle Baetz's two-second personal best effort for 800 meters, 2:26.6. Anne LaBryant ran a two-minute personal best for 10,000 meters, 44:53.8. Amy Witztum returned from injury to clock 21:00 for 5000 meters, only 10 seconds from her best. Angie Kment set two personal bests in the shot put and discus, throwing 36 feet, 3 inches and 119.7, respectively. Kristi Hoeffner set two season bests in the 100- and 400-meter hurdles races, clocking 14.84 and 51.49, respectively. Kelly Borch set a season best time of 41.9 seconds for 400 meters, and Jennifer Olson jumped 10'3" in the triple jump.

In the relays, the distance medley team of Baetz, Baetz, Kriener, and Senn placed fifth in 3:17.63. Dalton, Hoeffner, Kavanaugh, and Olson placed 13th for the 400-meter relay and 1:46.5 for the 800-meter relay. Finally, the 1000-meter medley team of Hoeffner, Baetz, Baetz, and Baetz clocked 4:17.24.

For the men, James McGowan returned from an injury to place fourth in the 1000-meter run, clocking 13:27.02.

"I was surprised at how well he ran," Kavanaugh said. "He's only been running for about two weeks, and has only half even quality work out so far."

Right behind McGowan was Mark Merritt, who improved his personal best time. By seven seconds to 13:10.52 for sixth place, Brandon Moore took fifth place in the 1000-meter dash, clocking 11.48 seconds into a 100 wind. Moore also ran a season best of 51.8 seconds for 400 meters.

Other notable performances included Mark Begay's 34.37 for 10,000 meters, his first race since coming back from an injury. Tim Hoffman improved his personal best by 15 seconds, clocking 17.43 for 100 meters. James McGowan had a pair of personal bests, 1:59.2 and 417.8 for 800 and 1500 meters, respectively. The distance medley relay team of Lippman, Moore, Brad Houck and Merritt placed ninth in 10:58.3.

Finally, jump coach Andrew Orenius broke the long jump meet record by nearly two feet, leaping 25.1.

The track teams travel to the Nebraska Wesleyan Open on Sunday.

WSC baseball team ties for first at Sioux City Classic

The Wayne State baseball team went 2-2 at the Sioux City Classic over the weekend, which left the team with a 13-16 record on the season.

John Manzanares' team lost the first contest to Bear Cliff, 6-1 but rebounded to defeat Morningside by an 11-8 margin and Midland Lutheran by a 7-6 margin.

In the final "D" contest, WSC scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to tie the game at three but the Cards gave up three unanswered runs in the eighth inning and could not score in the bottom of the stanza, thus ending the game.

Brian Gorman pitched the entire game and took the loss despite giving up just two earned runs while striking out nine bats and walking out seven.

WSU's scoring was aided by a flat-out "big day" by Mike McElroy, Mike Vandeveer, Jeff Baetz, and Scott Ballinger.

WSU tied 2-2 with Morningside in the third and final contest, 7-7, which left the Cards Morningside and Bear Cliff with identical 2-1 marks.

Based on early season WSC finished third with Bear Cliff placing first and the Cards second.

Todd Meier earned the pitching victory over Midland in relief of Pat Mueller, who went the first two innings.

Meier pitched the final five innings and scattered three hits while allowing one run while striking out three.

WSC trailed 0-3 in the bottom of the seventh inning before a two-run comeback.

Adam Rothe belted a bases-loaded single to drive the tying and winning runs.

The Cards actually trailed by a 6-1 margin at one point in the contest before scoring four runs in the third inning.

WSU finished with seven runs on nine hits while Midland had six runs on nine hits and one error.

Pat Mueller and Scott Ballinger started WSC with three hits each while Beagle, Mike Vandeveer, and Dusty Dilbeck had one hit each.

WSU defeated Midland in relief of Mueller in the third and final contest, 7-7, which left the Cards Morningside and Bear Cliff with identical 2-1 marks.

Couple wed in Wymore

Sara Kay Elliott and Adam Paul Mirey, both of Lincoln, were married March 15, 1997, at Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Wymore. Pastor Greg Bouvier officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Sandra Elliott and the late Ronald Elliott of Wymore and Steve and Jill Mirey of Wayne.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Mark Ewell of Lincoln and Arivere Philipp of Blue Springs. Musical selections included "The Day That You Came," "Me," "Praised Be," "Prayer," and "Me and You."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mark Elliott, the bride chose sheath-style gown of white satin. The fitted gown had long sleeves with illusion appliques of aloncon lace and pearls. The bodice was appliqued with lace, beaded aloncon lace. The hem featured cascading embroidered corsets of aloncon lace and the entire hem of the train was beaded with scalloped aloncon lace.

The bride's bouquet featured yellow roses and ivy.

Matron of honor was Pam Rangell of Raymond.

Bridesmaids were Leslie Miller

of Wymore, Amy Jackie

Walkwick of Cresco and Monica

Carry and Tessa Reithrone, both of Lincoln.

The women wore navy blue, floor-length gowns of velvet. The dresses had open backs and a satin blue sash in the back. The carried bouquets of lichen-like and ivy.

Flower girl was Christiana

Whitlow Elliott of Omaha, cousin of the bride.

Ringbearer was Brett Epp of Blue Springs, cousin of the bride.

Candles were lit by Ryan

Michaels of Wymore and Katie

Philipp of Lincoln, cousins of the bride.

Jared Mirey of Lincoln, the groom's twin brother, served as best man.

Groomsman were Mark Elliott

Tony Mirey of Wayne, brother of the groom and Jared Woodard and Kurt Mattson, both of Omaha.

Ushers were Kelly Mirey of Wayne, uncle of the groom, Josh

Rowlan of Kearney and Scott

Fantozzi of Lincoln.

A reception was held at the

Patrick Kanskiophot in Beatrice

following the ceremony.

Travis and Diana Michalek and

Bill and Jon Arganbright arranged drinks.

Hatty and Jristess are Bob and Diane Ronge of Lincoln and

Roger and Barb Hendrie of Blue

Springs, uncles and aunts of the bride.

Assisting at the reception were

Wendy Hough of Grand Island,

Rev. Philipp of Lincoln, Claudia

Arganbright of Iowa City, Iowa and Any Voigt of Omaha.

Following a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, the couple is at home at 221 North 44th Street,

2311 in Lincoln.

The bride is a 1989 graduate of

and a 1991 graduate of Ryan

Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. She is a registered nurse at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Lincoln.

The groom is a 1989 graduate

Faith

Wright to become Eagle Scout Love One Another

Andy Wright, son of Gary and Peggy Wright of Wayne, will receive the highest honor in Scouting during an Eagle Scout Court of Honor on Sunday, April 27.

The 2 p.m. ceremony will be held at St. Mary's Church in Wayne, followed by a reception in Holy Family Hall. Included in the program will be vocal music selections, remarks and presentations by Scout officials and an Eagle Challenge speech given by Mary Harper, high school Youth Ministry director at St. Mary's Church.

The public is invited to attend.

Andy began his Scouting career in 1987 by joining Cub Scout Pack #74 in Wayne. He joined Boy Scout Troop #74 in 1991 and has held troop offices of patrol leader and instructor. Currently Andy has earned 28 merit badges, including 21 merit badges needed to achieve the Eagle rank.

He has also been active in several community service projects, including monthly paper drives, Picnic picnic foods and Wayne County fair footers.

He has assisted many other Eagle Scouts on their service projects and has participated in one

Andy Wright

he twice earned the 30-mile award.

This summer, with other troop members, he is planning to take part in another backpacking trip to New Mexico covering more than 90 miles.

For his Eagle Scout service project, Andy inventoried the LaPorte Cemetery, a pioneer cemetery southeast of Wayne. In this work, supervised by Steve Gross of the LaPorte Cemetery Association, Andy measured, mapped and located graves, noted boundaries and eradicated trees at the cemetery.

After the field work was completed, he transferred the information via computer onto a large map drawn to scale which shows the location of the grave rights headstones and foot stones included on the map are the names and dates of the deceased.

"Some of the grave markers have deteriorated with age and have weathered quickly," Andy said. "Foot stones are especially being taken over by trees and are losing the engravings on them. My project will make it easier for families to find their buried relatives when they visit the cemetery."

Andy, a junior at Wayne High School, has been involved in band, jazz band, Spanish Club, golf, track, football and Catholic youth group. He is employed at Bar 11 Cafe in Wayne.

Andy and his family would like to thank St. Mary's pastor Chuck Butterback (past) and Randy Capo (present), other troop leaders, teachers, fellow Scouts and friends who have helped and encouraged him on his path to becoming an Eagle Scout.

The Bible's 1st John described God as love. That still stands as the best and most useful description of God.

Many people experience God's love. Maybe you have felt it, too.

Express that love back to God and to others this Sunday in church.

God is Love.

Joan Zanders

Zanders named director of Financial Aid at Northeast

Joan Zanders has been named director of financial aid at Northeast Community College.

Zanders will be responsible for promoting and coordinating all activities related to awarding and the accountability for federal, state, institutional and private funding programs for eligible students.

Zanders comes to Northeast from Wayne State College where she served as director of aid since 1991.

Prior to Wayne State, Zanders served as the director of financial aid at Nebraska Christian College in Norfolk from 1987-1991.

Zanders earned her bachelor's degree from Midland Lutheran College and she is currently pursuing a master's degree in counseling from Wayne State College.

She and her husband, Lee, have three children, Shawn, Kelsie and Heidi.

Congeniality winner

Teresa Kay, an employee at the Diamond Center, was recognized as the Wayne Ambassador's Congeniality Award Winner for the first quarter of 1997. Rowan Wilcox presented the award to Teresa during Friday's Chamber Coffee at the Wayne Herald.

Talent show winners

Fylia performed a piano solo which she composed herself. Emily performed a vocal solo. In the center photo McEvoy congratulates the Division A (ages 8 and under) winners Adam Rudin, left, and Emily Bruffat. Adam presented a cello solo and Emily a piano solo. Division C was for groups of performers ages 11 and under. Adam Rudin, Denis Rudin and Andrew performed a viola, cello and piano number during the competition. The first place winners will now compete at the District level on Saturday, April 25 at Westside High School in Omaha. Winners at this competition will advance to state level for competition at Grand Island on May 30. Pictured below are the three boys performing their selection for the audience and judges.

Making casserole causes frustration

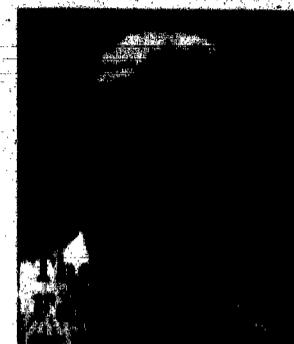

I'm planning to write a letter to the folks who make canned corned beef because I've had it. Why does it have to come in these odd shaped cans with the key?

I only buy them when I'm making Reuben sandwiches, but I can't seem to get the blamed things open without breaking the key. There have been two recent bad lucks, and I chose to bring the bad dish. I love it and it's much easier to eat than a sandwich bun, but I'm making it with ham tonight just once.

The key usually breaks before the meat half-way around. Then I start with a pliers, but it's very tough. The last one, I stuck it in my mouth, I ended up biting the meat with a hole in it. A hole. I have no choice now; it's hard to be a regular can that can be opened with a can opener.

I suppose you're wondering how Reuben sandwich is made. You know that it's not a simple cold cuts. But it's easy and tasty, just mix a large can of rye bread, drained, a sliced ham sandwich, sauerkraut and Swiss cheese.

It's made in a 3 1/2 quart bread, top thought cows were big mice with teeth.

The last few weeks he couldn't figure out why everyone he met seemed to be going for the big bowl of eggs. He figures it's because it's just a Nebraska thing.

The other thing he had difficulty with was mealtime. Of course he soon learned that dinner was at noon and supper was in the evening. He still has problems with lunch because it happens any time.

Hestie rode with one of his often in his pickup and asked why he was carrying a mattock in the back. The farmer explained it was a corn knife and he used it to walk beans. The "preacher" said he walked his dog, but he could not imagine walking beans. Again, of course, he knew from how it's done.

It will be admitted that some of the previous visitors wanted to go to the beach, either Texas or Florida, was better than that.

Go West, young student writes essay

Mark Hickey, a senior majoring in Diversified Agriculture at the University of Nebraska Omaha has been awarded $1,000 by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture for his writing the most outstanding essay.

He will receive his award Saturday morning at the Nebraska State Fair.

"I am honored to receive this award," Hickey said. "I am grateful to the Nebraska Department of Agriculture for this opportunity to express my views on agriculture."

Hickey is a junior interested in agriculture and animal science.

FIRST RESPONDER CLASS

Hoskins Woodland Park Rescue will be having a First Responder Class beginning May 14 at the Hoskins Fire Hall starting at 7 p.m. At the first night of class it will be decided as to when the class will meet. It will probably be a rotating schedule due to the Instructor's work schedule and possibly two meetings a week as the class does not run through all of the summer months.

One of the prerequisites of the class is to be certified in CPR. A class will be set up for that also.

Anyone interested in taking the class can contact one of the following for more information: Stacy (402) 371-6517, Kevin (402) 371-6142, Bud (402) 565-4343, Jeannie (402) 371-5111 or Rocky (402) 565-4590.

SENIORS

The Hoskins Seniors met at the firehall on April 15 for an afternoon of cards. Prize won by Pete Spokane, Norm Witter and Frieda McLeheney.

Gaye Fauske was coffee chairman for the early in March. Mary Johnson will be in charge of arrangements for the next meeting on Tuesday, April 29.

GARDEN CLUB

Eight members of the Hoskins Garden Club met at the home of Shirley Mann of a noon meal luncheon on April 17.

Vice president, Hildegard Fenske presided and opened the meeting with a reading "The Song of Solomon," 2:11 followed by the singing of "America the Beautiful." Christine Lucker had the poem for the month "Music's Handmade Brazil."

Roll call was "A Spring Month" especially temperate.

The club will send a donation for premiums for the Wayne County Fair.

A discussion was held on where and what kind of flowers to plant in town this year. The members conducted several queries for entertainment.

The comprehensive study on the Morning Glory was given by LaVern Walker. Norm Witter had the lesson on the Maple tree. Members were reminded to try and plant a tree on Arbor Day.

The monthly closed with "Waterwheel for the month. The biggest moon in the world is the moon for independence."

The next meeting will be with LaVern Walker on May 22.

A-TEEN CLUB

Nine members of the A-Teen Club and two guests, LaVonne Heen and Blanche Anderson went to Wayne on April 16 to buy the Wayne Craft Market.

Following the tour they returned to the home of Arlene Heer for a short business meeting. Roll call was "Something special you plan to plant this year."

The next meeting will be at the home of Donna Krueger on May 14.

GET TOGETHER CLUB

The Get togethers Club met at the home of June Klemming on April 17. Following a dinner lunch, the afternoon was spent playing 18 hole pitch.

Others were with the Ann Nathan, Shirley Wagner and Doris Walker.

For the next meeting on May 13, plans are to meet at the Bigg Cabin in Bluffton for a picnic lunch and a social afternoon.

PICTURE SHOW

Tonya Gethers helped children and teachers Utey Lueger and Connie Korteweg attended the Wayne State College Children's Theatre Production "Cinderella" on April 17.

Mothers who accompanied them and drivers were Pam Grunke, Kim Buffin, Cindy Buffin and Madeline Bruggeman.
