

College to graduate largest MBA class

Among the 173 candidates for degrees at Wayne State College's commencement ceremonies Saturday will be the largest class of MBA (Master of Business Administration) graduates since the program was established five years ago.

Fourteen new MBA degrees will be awarded by Wayne State College President Dr. Donald Mash during the ceremony, May 10, in the picturesque Willow Bowl. The event begins at 7 p.m. and the public is invited.

The College's Business Division began offering study toward the MBA degree in 1991 and to date has conferred 27 such degrees. Combined with the Winter Commencement, there have been 25 new MBA graduates at WSC this academic year.

"The MBA program was started to fulfill a regional service need," said Dr. Jerry Nelson, who advises the MBA students. "Area business owners were looking for opportunities for graduate study relative to their profession," he added. "Since most of the students in the program are full-time business professionals, many of them take up to five years to complete the degree requirements on a part-time basis," explained Nelson.

The College offers its core courses in the MBA program at four different locations throughout Northeast Nebraska: Columbus, Nelok, South Sioux City and Wayne.

Besides the MBA graduates, Saturday's ceremony will honor students who have completed, or will complete degree requirements through this summer's sessions at the College. In all, 116 bachelor's degrees will be conferred and 57 graduate degree candidates will be honored.

The college will also take the opportunity to recognize long-time faculty members who will be retiring.

The honored faculty members are:

Dr. Don Cattle, division head of the Applied Science Division, who joined the faculty in 1974 as an associate professor of industrial education. He earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Missouri in 1957, his master's from Colorado State University in 1968 and his Ed.D. from Oklahoma State in 1974.

Deryl Lawrence, director of career services, who came to Wayne State in 1974 after serving four years as principal at Wayne High School and teaching for a number of years in California. He joined the College as director of special services and assistant professor of education. He was later named Director of English and took over the career services department in 1986. He earned his bachelor's degree from Wayne State in 1956, his master's degree from California State College at Long Beach in 1964 and completed 33 hours toward his doctorate there as well.

Dr. Felloy Simpson, professor of human performance and leisure studies, joined the College as athletic director in 1968 and also served as associate professor. He was promoted to full professor in 1989. Simpson earned his bachelor's degree from Kansas State College in Pittsburg, Kan., in 1956, his master's degree also from KSC in 1961 and his Ed.D. in 1967 from the University of Arkansas.

Connie (Matthews) Webber, assistant professor of music, joined the College in 1966 as an instructor of music. In September 1974 she was promoted to assistant professor. She earned her bachelor's degree from Oberlin Conservatory of Music in Oberlin, Ohio in 1964. In 1966 she completed her master of arts degree.

Two are injured in a two-vehicle accident

Wayne Police Chief Chuck Webster reported that the department investigated an injury accident involving a cross cab pickup and a garbage truck on Monday.

The accident occurred near Eleventh and Main streets shortly after 12:30 p.m.

Officer Eric White investigated the accident. The driver of the pickup truck, Ben Rogers, 37, of Lincoln and a passenger in the truck, John Rodriguez, 41, also of Lincoln, were transported by ambulance to Providence Medical Center. Both men were treated and released.

The driver of the garbage truck, Chris Jendryk, 44, of Wayne was not injured.

The investigation indicated that the pickup, which was northbound, had stopped in the traffic lane behind another car. The above a pedestrian in the crosswalk to cross the street when it was struck from behind by the garbage truck.

The Police Department was assisted at the scene of the accident by the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department and Wayne County Sheriff Sheriff Felloy Janssen.

"Main Street is heavily traveled over the noon hour and the accident disrupted traffic for over 40 minutes. The volunteer fire fighters who helped direct traffic really helped a bad situation from getting worse," Chief Webster said.

In an incident unrelated to the accident, Ben Rogers was cited for Possession of a Controlled Substance and Possession of Drug Paraphernalia. Legal charges are pending. This incident occurred several hours after the accident and there is not indication that one of a controlled substance was a factor in the accident.

Police are investigating vandalism

The Wayne Police Department is investigating multiple incidents of vandalism to cars owned by Aron's Ford.

On two separate occasions within the last week a thief, an unknown person has caused several thousand dollar worth of damage to cars parked on Aron's lot.

The suspect is using a key or other similar tool to scratch the paint on the cars. The first incident involved scratches to the car's right side mirror being scratched into the trunk lid and sides of some of the vehicles.

To date, over 10 cars have been damaged, including 1997 models.

The Wayne Police Department and Aron's Ford are working together to solve the series of crimes. Aron's is offering a $200 reward for information that leads to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for these crimes.

Anyone with information about these crimes should call the Wayne Police Department at (402) 735-2676.

Commissioners hear proposal on ditch seeding

A proposal by members of Pheasants Forever to plant prairie grass for cover in ditches where the county has done road work was presented to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners at its regular meeting on Tuesday.

Quane Schneider and Connie Matthews, members of Logan Valley Chapter of Pheasants Forever, told the commissioners that they would be willing to do the seeding of a mixture of grasses in the ditches to provide cover for pheasants.

They would work with the county and the landowners on these projects.

The commissioners approved a three-year contract with the Boys and Girls Home in South Sioux City. The county can house juveniles in the home if necessary, Sheriff Felloy Janssen said. In the past the county has sent one or two persons there per year.

The commissioners reviewed an amendment to the Juvenile Services Agreement with Northwest Nebraska Juvenile Services, Inc.

The board discussed a proposed 10-year contract NWJS is seeking for the building of a facility in Madison. No action was taken on the agreement.

An informal quote of $7,300 submitted by Barry Howitt for a 1980 FWD snow plow truck was accepted. A bid submitted by Shouster Mack for $67,000 for a 1987 Mack CH 11 truck was also approved.

May Days

Those in the greeting card business should do well in May as the new week opens with Mother's Day next Sunday and ends with Armed Forces Day on Saturday. Schools, colleges and universities are in the process of graduating their seniors. Then May closes with Memorial Day activities.

By the time families include birthdays, anniversaries and other special days, many may consider using the "May Day" distress call popularized in aviation.

Others celebrating in May will be those of you who farm getting a day you can get into the field to plant. Weather thus far hasn't been overly cooperative. According to agricultural officials, area farmers continue facing a late planting season. Trouble is, we don't as yet know just how late it is going to be. A few prayers might be in order.

After seeing the disastrous consequences of what flood waters did up north, destroying everything in their path, perhaps we have, after all, a pretty good month going for us.

Murphy's law does seem a bit more applicable this year for some reason.

Ah! Graduation!

Conditions of "Pony" and "Circus" fill the air this time of year with family members gathering in every city and village to congratulate their offspring for completing another step in their education.

Parents, grandparents, and other proud relatives present hearty hugs, congratulatory cards, gifts and best wishes to another crop of youth heading into an unknown future to expose their learning to the challenges and hazards of the work force.

Each community recognizes their contribution to the challenges of the future by supporting their local school on that special day of graduation.

The Herald joins in the chorus of "Congratulations" to each graduate. And "Best Wishes" enjoy the moment!

Legislature mired in debate

By Melvin Paul, Statehouse Correspondent, The Nebraska Press-Association.

How bad do you want property tax relief? Do you want it even at the expense of your small town schools?

Nebraska legislators are mired in a school finance debate on legislative bill 806, that some have said could wound the death knell for as many as 113 small kindergartens through 12th grade districts.

Gov. Nelson has offered a ray of hope to small schools. He says he doesn't like long LB 806 plus schools against one another as "have" and "have-nots." He said the formula needs more work so that it recognizes small schools that provide quality education.

At least two state senators, Sen. Tom Wickert and Sen. Bill Weyerhaefer of Hastings, and State Sen. Tom Brown of Wahoo, want to adjust the formula to give more recognition to the smaller schools. The Legislature is awaiting the Department of Education's opinion before taking further action.

Legislators are like deer caught in the headlights in this issue. They've promised property tax relief — but raising money might which in small towns that are already economically floundering is not nearly something to drag about in the hometown cafe.

State Sen. Doug Kesterman of Minden keeps the term of debate in the news in one of the "Block" magazines where the legislature by changing a chicken.

Last week's debate resembled that of a chicken with its head cut off, trying to get hold of an elusive solution to their dilemma. All they could come up with was a handful of legislators.

It seems rather ironic that a bill that envisions an extra $100 million a year in state aid — a total of $562 million in total state aid — will be putting so many schools in dire straits. The bill, however, does a far greater share of dollars to schools with larger enrollments, and smaller property tax resources to pay for services.

Another ironic proposition of the new formula say that if small schools want to continue to spend high they can vote to increase the property tax limits. Some property tax relief.

The argument is that the state can no longer afford to subsidize school spending at $7,000 to $8,000 per pupil when "efficient" school districts are educating students for $4,000 or less.

The problem is, $7,000 to $8,000 per pupil doesn't go all that far in a school with 100 or fewer pupils. There's no economy of scale.

State Sen. Ardyne Bunkle of Hastings and State Sen. Don Williams of Papillion, two of LB 806's chief supporters, say those schools have three options: cut spending, vote to override the levy limits so that they can raise more money through property taxes, or consolidate or cooperate with other school districts.

They're all hard choices. But they depend upon the Legislature first making some hard choices of its own: does it want property tax relief? Does it want it bad enough to close rural schools?

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Nebraska Press-Association.

Turkey shooting success

Cliff Johnson of Wayne still enjoys turkey hunting, especially when he's successful like he was recently near Homer. The 92-year-old shot this turkey with a 10-gauge he's been using for 75 years. The shell he used was 43 years old and was purchased at the hardware store in Concord. He was hunting with grandson Mike Luff who shot turkey on the same trip with a bow & arrow.

Wayne golfers place near top at invites

The Wayne High golf team competed at the Cedarburg Invites held last Thursday and they traveled to play at the Oakland Craig hosts on Saturday.

The Blue Devils played third at Cedarburg's invite held at the Oak Country Club with a 137-14 stroke behind second's 121 which was its best score of the season by nearly 20 strokes.

Lakers edged Wayne by three strokes and fourth place with a 149 followed by Oakbrook's 151. The Blue Devils placed among the 12 team field.

Wayne's Brandon Adams was medalist with a 38 with Wayne's Kurtis Keller placing third with a 72.

Ryan Storm placed eighth with an 81 and Nick Ryan was 14th with an 85. Ryan Dight and Clinton Keller each carded 90's.

Keller fired a 19 on the front nine and appeared to be on line shape but a rule violation ended up hitting him for the next several holes which led to a surprisingly high score of 54 on the back nine.

Keller joked up big ball while it was on the fringe of the green. Coach Jerry Johnson said "The tournament was being played with a play everything down format and he was called on it by one of the players in the tournament."

Johnson said Kurtis Keller is playing really well and consistently leading the team as of late.

Kurtis had one birdie and three pars while buying eight holes. He hit eight greens in regulation and had 11 putts in the 18 holes.

Storm had 11 pars and five bogys along with two double bogys. He had just 10 putts and hit seven greens in regulation.

Saturday in Oakland the Blue Devils won a playoff with Blue to take sole possession of the runner-up trophy with a 137. Valley won the team title with a 110 and Oakland Golf was fourth with a 130 followed by Stanton with a 135. There were 10 teams in the meet.

The conditions were kind of tough with the greens being recently ploughed and mowed, Johnson said.

Wayne's Justin Vogel was medalist with a 72 with Wayne's top hole scoring team Clinton Keller who won a playoff to claim third place honors with an 81.

One of the players he defeated in the playoff was his brother Kurtis who settled for sixth place with an 81 while Ryan Storm fired an 81 for fifth place.

The young man's original intention had a 72 with Wayne's top hole scoring team Clinton Keller who won a playoff to claim third place honors with an 81.

Clinton on the other hand shot a 44 on the front and fired a 37 on the back for an 81. He had three penalty strokes, Johnson added.

The putting was difficult at first and Ryan Storm's 84 was a direct result of that. Storm had 12 greens in regulation but struggled on the early greens putting 38 times.

The normal putting, Ryan most likely could well have come out on top of the field, Johnson added. He had five 1 putts which is normal for him.

Wayne State closes out baseball season with three victories

After a season dominated by Klufter Hufner, John Mangano's Wayne State baseball team closed out the season with three consecutive victories including a sweep of highly ranked Northern Iowa on Saturday.

WSC played at IHB against a team that was tied for first place in the Missouri Valley Conference (MVC Division II) with a 10-17 record. The Cats won the opener by a 3-0 margin. In that game, senior and Aaron Lanning continued to hit a six hit double.

The senior budge Cronan struck out 10 and walked just one while Aaron Lanning pitched the final two innings and allowed two hits and struck out four.

The game was a pitchers duel with WSC striking the game open with five runs, eighth inning. WSC pounded out nine hits with hit going for extra bases including Mike Vardanyan's home run.

James Maxwell tripled and scored while Adam Beale and Pat Carey each doubled and singled. Daryl Dungey doubled and Tony Craves singled to round out the hitting attack for the Warriors.

WSC won the nightcap, 3-1 in seven innings with Pat Muller earning the pitching victory while Bill Meyer earned the save. Muller allowed five hits and four runs while striking out six and walking three with Meyer allowing just one hit in his one inning of relief.

WSC led 3-2 after four and a half innings of play and allowed single runs in the fifth and sixth to snuff WSC. WSC matched eight hits in the game led by James Maxwell with a home run and single and Mike Vardanyan with a home run.

Daryl Dungey doubled while Chad Vastok singled. Benj. Stat-ballinger and Cory Linscomb hit a base hit.

Last last week the Cats defeated Mt. Marty by a 14-0 score in Yankton, S.D. The game was won by WSC despite being out hit by a 11-7 margin.

"It was a strange season," WSC coach John Mangano said. "We finished up 18-18 but we lost a large portion of our season to bad weather."

The Cats missed 13 games and only played a total of 13 games in the month of April. "We had the potential to be a very good team all season," Mangano said. "We obviously showed that with some quality wins at the beginning of the season and at the end by beating a very solid Northern Iowa team."

The WSC schedule said by 1-11 only had one streak where they really hit the play well. "We really have some quality players on the this team," Mangano added.

The play of Brian Cronan and Daryl Dungey are up to example Cronan was 5-6 but we should have seen every game he pitched in and Dungey has started every game for 6-6 by sophomore and senior.

Mangano said he was proud of the way his team kept their focus throughout the season despite the lack of playing time due to Mother Nature.

WSC softball team falls, 9-8

The Wayne State softball team closed out their season with a 9-8 setback to Grand at home last Thursday.

The Cats fell behind by a 7-0 margin before working five in the fifth inning.

SURPRISE PARTY
 Clifford and Elsie Rasmussen and Francis and Ruth Mattes were honored at a surprise party at the Waterbury fire hall on April 30. Their friends and neighbors gathered to congratulate them on winning the AR-YAR-BEN Good Neighbor Award.

Coffee and cake were served and each couple was presented with a bouquet of flowers. Kenny Burcham gave a brief speech on how much the Rasmussens and the Matteses do for their friends and neighbors and expressed how much they all appreciated them. In order to get Ruth Mattes to the party they had her car towed. Ex. Hardware, as is typical of Ruth fashion, Ruth brought a cake. The day before the party a group cleaned up the fire hall including Elsie Rasmussen, who they realize she was clearing for her own party.

One two couples will be honored again with a coffee at the Allen Senior Center on Saturday, May 17.

ARRIVAL DAY
 The 1997 Arrival Day Assembly was held on April 25 in the Allen School gymnasium. Students in grades 7-12 attended along with the public. Maria Bastedo welcomed everyone and announced that Allen has been named a "Lesser City USA" for the fourth year in a row. Two additional trees have been ordered and will be planted as part of the United Tree Project. The trees are 5' Norway Spruce, Oak in memory of Kathryn Mitchell by the Bud Mitchell family and an American Chestnut Apple tree by Duane and Jackie Mitchell.

The village of Allen and the Tree Board are currently planning to plant additional trees in the Allen Park area. They reviewed what progress has been made in the Alternative Center. Last spring the classes of 2002, 2003 and 2004 planted 50 evergreen trees. Last fall the class of 2002 put out 200 plastic ground covers, windbreaks and protective covers around each tree. This year the classes of 2004 and 2005 will plant native grasses and sedum. In spring the classes of 2006 and 2005 will plant the hardwood trees. The guest speakers Clayton Stalling and Sara Bauer from the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission gave a short summary of Nebraska's native grasses and wildflowers. They then took the classes to the Nature Grove and did hands-on identification of wild grasses and wildflowers already at the site.

PLANTING DAY
 The fifth and sixth grade classes and their teachers Doug Schnick and Waffan Jensen, and Allen Tree Board members Janice Taylor and Marcia Rasteda, joined by haljers Jay Birk, Rick Chase, and Gary Philbrick, planted wild flowers and native grasses in the Nature Grove. Seeds were donated by Pleasant's Forever.

Clayton Stalling noted that several varieties of wildflowers should bloom this summer, although it will be several years before the native grasses will be a good stand.

The Allen Nature Grove sign was also erected by Rick Chase and Gary Philbrick at the student's planting and stamped in the seeds.

Area residents are asked to respect the work done in this cooperative effort by the school students, the village and community members. Please drive only on the road which leads to the former dump site and please do not remove dirt from the bank south of the dump site and east of the dump site where grasses and flowers have been planted.

Odyssey of the Mind team members participate in regional, state competition

Odyssey of the Mind, an academic, problem-solving competition, has been a part of the Wayne school system for three years. Teams of five to seven students begin with a selection of given "long term" problems to solve. These range from theatrical to mechanical in nature and require the team to create solutions over a period of time.

Each year the problems change, giving the students a variety of challenge in the spring. Competitions take place on a regional, state and then world level. The actual competition can be compared to "The Arts" except the OMM teams must solve a problem and write their material in only on their own, said Mary Ann Latt, a teacher at Wayne Middle School, director of the OMM Program at Wayne.

Coaches are needed for the younger groups (kindergarten through eighth grade) but high school and college levels can compete on their own. Coaching and judging is on a voluntary basis with training available for those interested.

The competition also includes a "short term" problem-solving contest. This year Wayne entered 10 teams in competition both at the high school level.

The team of The Classics Problem, which is a theatrical problem was made up of Cathy Blaser, Catherine Spahr, Anna Elyse, Jill Klade, Tyler Bayless and Bobby McCue. Their coaches were Rachel Blaser, Piyali Dahal and sponsor Ted Wenderman.

This team was required to write and perform a play about archeology and artifacts. The second team entered in the problem called Qmerdroid where they were required to write and perform a play which included the operation of an android built by the team members. This team was made up of D. Clay Sierken, Melanie Mittel, Jennifer Johnson, Wade Carmichael, Missy Baier, Angie Mittel and coach Vicki Mittel.

The teams competed at the Regional level in Lincoln earlier this spring. The Classics team placed third and the Qmerdroid team placed first. Both teams also competed at the state level in Kearney.

"The OMM teams would like to thank all those who supported them, especially parents," Mrs. Latt said. "We would also like to thank the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department for the use of the auditorium and Carol Wilcox for her hospitality work."

The students also extend thanks to Mrs. Latt for directing the Wayne Schools program. OMM provides teamwork and creative problem solving, giving the students valuable skills they can use throughout their lives. It is a worthwhile program that deserves and needs the support of the school and community," Mrs. Latt added.

Anyone who is interested in the OMM program should contact Mary Ann Latt for further information.

The power of prayer does work

For once, the phrase "bliss was just a word" for May Day. I didn't give or receive any May baskets, but everyone of the residents at the Tabitha Home is called one and many of the area nurses and physician's offices did too.

I overheard mothers talking about them in grocery stores. So, I guess the old tradition is alive and well.

I almost hesitated to turn over the calendar page because I knew almost every day has something written on it. Some have several items. May's always like that.

It began with the National Day of Prayer. I didn't participate in any organized "prayer meetings" but had $1.00 in my car and heard many inspirational speakers. It was the 46th annual day, and I'm for it. Prayer can't hurt and there's pretty good evidence it can help.

I attended a spiritually for nurses workshop in February. One of the speakers reported on an interesting study done in San Francisco in a cardiac care unit. Patients were assigned to folks in the community to be intercessors. The patients did not know they were being prayed for. The prayers didn't know the patients. Results were impressive. In fewer deaths and complications in the group prayed for.

Godness knows, our country and its leaders need all the help they can get.

While we're at it, we can pray for success because that week is our week. It begins on May 12, which is Florence Nightingale's birthday.

I did some research on Florence for a Florence Day talk I gave once. She's quoted as saying, "If I had my way, nursing care would be in the home. But I suppose it will be the year 2000 before that happens." Well, she was a prophetess.

I just wish we could make more there was a capable caregiver in each home. There's the rub. So many who need care are live alone. In their spouse is aged too. We in the next generation are all working 40 hours a week.

Anyway, it's time for me to leave to see my patients or their homes. For the way, I'll pray for them and for their and for the family, whose father, bless the weekend and for all my colleagues.

Then it will be Mom's Day and Nursing Home Week andaglia. Don't get confirmation. In between it all, the corn and beans need to get planted. Hope we survive until June!

Landowners can apply for money

Nebraska landowners can initiate a preapplication starting May 15 for nearly $3.5 million in USDA dollars for soil and water conservation practices in the new Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP).

Farmers or ranchers can apply for these dollars at the local USDA Farm Service Agency or Natural Resources Conservation Service office.

"It is important for producers who have conservation work to do" to come in early in the application period," said Steve Chick, State Conservationist for the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRS). "An official sign-up period will not begin until the Secretary of Agriculture announces the final rules, but we can start now to fill the landowners' application and conservation plan together ahead of time," he said.

"We intend by mid-June to begin ranking the applications and start approving some of these contracts. We will continue taking applications until the end of September," added Chick.

The Environmental Quality Incentive Program was part of the 1996 Farm Bill. It combines four former individual conservation programs into one. EQIP provides technical, financial, and educational assistance for natural resource protection.

"The money is offered in 5 to 10 year contracts that can include some incentive payment for management practices and some cost share dollars for installing or holding the practices," said Chick.

Contracts have a $50,000 maximum payment. Incentive payments may be used for actions like pesticide and nutrient management. Cost share practices may include actions like terracing, building planting trees, installing wells and fences for livestock, or updating animal waste structures.

Nearly $3.5 million of the EQIP dollars will go to 23 priority areas around the state. Most of the remaining dollars can be used for natural resource protection outside of these priority areas. The priority areas were selected by an NRS advisory group of farm and ranch groups, ag businesses, other local, state and federal agencies, and other organizations.

"Many farmers and ranchers have liked the longer term contract because it helps them to plan and budget their portion of the costs," said Chick.

Producers who apply for these dollars will receive points for the conservation practices. The more conservation work being done that protects the whole farm or ranch, the more points the producer will receive," said Chick.

For example, a producer who is installing trees, making changes to their irrigation system, and improving their animal manure management will receive more points for treating several concerns than a producer who just wants a single fence installed.

Funding for EQIP comes from USDA's Community Credit Corporation, which funds several other USDA conservation programs.

More information on EQIP is available at the local NRS, or Farm Service Agency office.

Coop program offers opportunities

Brett Sachau

Melissa Weber

Area students receive scholarships to WSC

Brett Sachau of Allen and Melissa Weber of have have received Cooperating Schools Scholarships to attend Wayne State College this fall. The awards are valued at over $1,500 each over a four-year period.

Sachau is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sachau and is scheduled to graduate from Allen Consolidated School this month. He plans to major in elementary education.

In high school he participated in FFA, the A-Club and has been a member of the football team.

Miss Weber is the daughter of Brad and Deb Weber and will graduate from Wayne High School in May.

Her high school activities include National Honor Society, band and W.I.C. She is a peer tutor and a member of the Spanish Club and the volleyball, basketball and track teams.

Cooperating Schools Scholarships provide full tuition for five years of college and may be awarded to graduates of high schools where Wayne State students have completed their student teaching requirements. Recipients must rank in the top one-half of their senior class.

All learning that takes place at Wayne State College is not from text books.

The Cooperative Education program offered by the college places students in actual jobs to help develop a better understanding of the relationship between education and the working world.

The program was implemented in the fall of 1986 and is similar to an internship in that students gain work experience while attending college. The difference between the two, however, is that a CO-OP student is paid for his or her work.

To obtain CO-OP course credit, a student must be employed at least six hours per week in a job directly related to his/her major course of study. The student must also be able to accomplish meaningful and measurable learning objectives.

At the present time two students, Rachel Thielon and Sarah Flood, are employed at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Providence Medical Center is one of a number of area business participating in the WSC CO-OP education program which allows the students the chance to gain experience in their chosen field of study.

Ms. Thielon is a junior from Hamphrey, is majoring in Business Management and office administration. During this semester, she has worked an average of 12 hours a week at P.M.C. in the business office.

"The CO-OP program helps you gain more real life experiences that are not available in text books. I like the hospital setting and the fact that I can work around my schooling," she said.

She will continue working at the hospital through the summer.

Ms. Flood, a senior from Fremont Grove, will graduate this week from WSC after having worked through the CO-OP program for two years. She has been working Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in the medical records department.

The Business Administration/Office Administration major said, "I have gained a considerable amount of experience. I will be able to take with me after graduation. I feel this is a wonderful program to be involved in."

would recommend it to other students."

"We appreciate the opportunity to work with Wayne State College in bringing their students into the workplace," said PMC Administrator Marsile Thomas. "It is a real plus having these students available to us."

Both women agreed that the placement office at WSC was helpful in placing them in the positions they have.

"Students can tell the placement office what type of employment they are looking for and the office will work with them to find a job," Ms. Thielon said.

The summer months are generally the busiest time for the CO-OP program. The program allows a student to work in their home town while earning credit. There are approximately 80 students who will be involved in the program this summer.

Students are evaluated based on paperwork completed by the student including the Learning Objectives, a mid-term evaluation and the final report. The employer's evaluation of the student along with a site visit by a CO-OP staff member and/or phone conversations with the student and supervisor, are also considered.

Anyone interested in knowing more about the CO-OP education program offered at WSC should contact Janet Rasmussen, Assistant Director of Career Services.

Young children can learn to enjoy new foods

Children learn food preferences at a very young age. Often, they get through picky diets when they eat only a few select items. However, children can learn to like a variety of foods if they are presented at an appropriate time and in an interesting manner.

Children respond better to new foods presented at the beginning of a meal when they are most hungry. Keep new food portions small and attractive. Cut into animal shapes, for example. Color, flavor and texture variety also appeal to children. Young children tend to prefer moist food textures, so gravies or sauces added to dry foods may make them more appealing. Seasonings may be added but should be kept to a minimum to appreciate natural food flavor.

Foods are best served at child level at room temperature or chilled. Food served too hot or very cold is more likely to be rejected.

The best way to encourage children to try new food is to serve as a good role model. Be willing to try new foods yourself to encourage a pattern of behavior that children will mimic.

Patience and persistence are key.

SUCCESSFUL BENEFIT

Organizers of the late Otauka Benoit have termed it a "great success." A number of activities were held April 19 at the Logan Valley Golf Course.

Events included a golf/bowling tournament in which 23 teams participated.

The team of Bruce Lundell, Mike Salmor, Jim Clark, Dave Durn and Brad Panterick claimed first place. Finishing second were Kevin Peters, Dale Bell, Mike Blessing, Roger Toth and Roger Hinemann.

Prize money won in the tournament and other fund-raisers was donated back to Jada.

Roger Peterson of Ponca won the golf that was given away. The 30/50 ticket winner was Diane Magnuson.

The cookout was attended by a number of friends of the Otauka family and community members. A light shower did not hinder the bibbers as they purchased and sometimes to sold approximately 75 donated items.

Benefit organizers expressed appreciation for all the local businesses and Wakefield vendors who donated merchandise and supplies for the events. They also extend thanks to everyone who volunteered time and effort and to everyone who attended.

BOARD RETREAT

The Board of Education of the Wakefield Community School met at a day-long board planning retreat at 180-21 in March. A significant part of this planning retreat was to project the needs of the district in the coming years and one of the chief components of this process was to study the facility needs of the district.

After discussing and debating the needs of the district, the board agreed to the following statements about their vision for the pending plan for renovation and addition of the facilities.

"We can safely meet the educational needs of a growing community."

"We will have the necessary room for quality education and continue to reach out for excellence. It will improve the school climate and re-energize the Administration staff, students, board of education and community providing for more rigour and creativity in our instructional climate. The quality of education and community pride in the school will increase. The facilities will be at least as the education we give our children."

"We can concentrate on education and move forward for the children allowing the board to focus on other futuristic goals. The school will be the center of our community, improving the quality of life, uniting generations and attracting people to our community."
