Road work on Highway 35 to begin Monday

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The time has finally arrived. Construction crews began arriving this week and the official start to the Highway 35 widening project is Monday.

Dobson Brothers Construction Company of Lincoln is in charge of the project and foreman Red Dobson said the first order of business will be tree cutting.

"We have been topping the trees this week and come Monday we'll start cutting them out," Dobson said. "There are about 80 trees which will be removed and the contractor had estimated about a two week time frame for it to be completed."

Dobson said there will be temporary detours set up while the trees are being cut down on the respective blocks but the detour will only be for a couple hours until the tree is removed after being cut down. Then, traffic will be allowed for cars only.

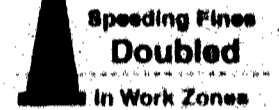

Detours for trucks will be as follows: Truck traffic will be rerouted when trees are being cut down on the east half by going north on Centennial Road and west on 140 Street and back south on Highway 35.

Traffic for trucks while trees are being removed on the west half will consist of using the 190R detour which is north one mile on Highway 35, west two miles on county road and back south one mile to Highway 35.

The tree removal will begin on the east side of Highway 35 but slowed by tree removal on the west side of Highway 35.

While trees are being removed, there will be construction beginning on the west end of the project by Dec. 28.

There will be utility construction and grading on the south side of the road and there will be utility relocation going on the east end of the project around Centennial Avenue.

Box culvert work will also begin on Monday around Centennial Avenue.

Phone scam in area

Wayne Police Chief Lance Wehner reports that his office has received numerous complaints by citizens a telephone scam.

Wehner reports that residents will get a telephone call from someone claiming to be an international long distance operator who is making the call. All from a hospital. The operator says there is an emergency involving the resident's family and they ask for a telephone bill number to complete the call. The hope of the scam artist is that the person called will be so concerned that they give out the information.

He advises residents not to give out any information and to ask questions of the caller, such as what hospital is what relative.

Anyone who has received one of these calls is asked to report it to the Police Department or the Wayne County Sheriff's office.

New rules at post office

Wayne Postoffice. These Kirkpatrick has announced a new plan to handle increased mail volume resulting from the United Parcel Service strike.

"We are taking instituting new procedures to handle the increased volume resulting from the volume of parcel mail resulting from the interruption of UPS Service," Kirkpatrick said. "The customer bringing parcels to the post office should be aware of new guidelines brought on by the strike."

The number of parcels taken across the window at the post of ice will be limited to four per one hour per slot.

Mailing with the original parcel post boxes in front, Mail parcels will be required to make appointments at specific parcel drop facilities in the area. The location of Wayne parcel drop facilities is at Norfolk.

A customer bringing a parcel drop should be lined up at the Parcel Service window. Customers can also contact the Wayne Post office at 335-2405 for details or 1-800-485-8522 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. EST.

A FAX security guidelines are still in effect. Any stamped mail weighing at least one pound must be pre-metered over the counter to a postal employee in person.

Letters of register First Class Mail, Priority Mail letters and flats will not be affected, but there will be no restrictions on Express Mail.

These procedures, which are effective immediately, are short term measures designed to help manage a short term situation. They establish new rules for customers sending parcel post mail and will ensure the operational efficiency and cost-effectiveness of providing this expected short term surge in parcel post volume," Kirkpatrick said.

He also pledged that the increased mail volume will not cause peak waiting mail service.

The Postal Service is committed to maintaining service quality, Kirkpatrick said.

He noted that more mail can be accepted if business customer's pre-barcoded parcels and transport their mailings as close as possible to the delivery point office.

The practice of intact dilation and extraction, better known as partial-birth abortion, is now prohibited in Nebraska since LB271 was passed into law and signed by Gov. Ben Nelson. However, the new law is being challenged in the U.S. District Court for Nebraska.

Questions raised about hogs

By Melvin Paul, Statehouse Correspondent. The Nebraska Press Association. LINCOLN I like hogs. My dad likes hogs, too. He's always kept a few and at times they had a great impact. He had a farrowing in his operation when I still lived at home, so pigs contributed a lot to my being fed and clothed while I was growing up.

The same industry has been slower to develop in Nebraska, perhaps because of our limited 100 ban on corporate farming. At any rate, the answer for the Nebraska farmer was disappointing. It would take an act of the Legislature to impose a moratorium. State Sen. Jerome Robak of Columbus, who organized the meeting, had things in attendance that such a moratorium would be highly controversial and difficult to pass.

Ken Dahl wins Club Tournament

By Kevin Peterson
Of The Herald

There's an old adage that says, "You're never too old to learn." Wayne's Ken Dahl proved Sunday in the annual Wayne Country Club's member only tournament that you're also never too old to teach.

The course superintendent held off a furious charge from Jim Shanks to claim the championship in the club tournament after firing a final nine hole score of three under par 33.

"I wanted just one more championship," Dahl said with a smile afterwards. "I wanted to prove that this old guy could still play with the young guys."

It was 12 years ago, late summer of 1965 that Ken Dahl won his first club title. Of course that year will live in infamy for Dahl not just because it was his first club tournament championship but also the year he got married.

"This year's tournament was a bit of fun," Dahl said. "It's been a tough year for me on the course. Dahl and his handicap had jumped nearly two full strokes this year after collecting back points last year."

"I can really enjoy the game when I'm out on the green when I'm winning the club," he added. Dahl shot an impressive 10 hole score of one under par 24 with rounds of 35, 40, 39, 40 and 38 in his five rounds. He was trying to put the tournament out of reach after the first hole when he pulled a perfect chip under par 3.

"Shanks would finish with the same score of 23 for the opening 10 holes. However, he's not the stroke artist that Bob Sweetland two strokes from Bob Sweetland (Doug Rose finished the first 10 holes three strokes back with a 26).

This afternoon was perfect for the final nine holes. Dahl started off very quick with birdies on holes one and two and he finished with a one foot tap in for birdie on number nine for a 33 and a 27 hole total of 106 (two under par).

Shanks actually had four birdies in the final nine holes (holes two, four, five and nine). He finished with three birdies, however, which proved to be the difference.

Shanks put himself in position to win Dahl by launching a 310 yard drive down the right center of the fairway on number nine and heaved a 5 iron from 181 yards and put it on the green in two with about a 20 footer for eagle.

The eagle putt was just on the edge of falling. Dahl was near the green in two and chipped up with in one foot. He should go on to edge Bruce Merchant for third place with 112's and Bob Sweetland placed fifth with a 113 followed by Rose at 114.

In flight action it was Phil Greiss claiming top honors in the first flight with a 75 while Tim Keller fired a 79 for second and Val Finney at 82 for third.

Lee Stegmann won the second flight with an 81 followed by Jack Aukery and Mark Caspofrom with 82's. Lee Richter was the champion in the third flight with a 78 followed by Craig Sharp with an 82 and Jerry Dugan with an 83.

The fourth flight was captured by Gary Haseberg with an 85 at the top of Bob Backman and Brian Alonson with the same score. Ed Evers was the champion of the fifth flight with an 87 followed by Jim Miliken with an 89 and Dan Bowers with a 90.

The sixth flight was claimed by Rusty Parker and his 92 while Ed Hubbe finished with a 93. Lowell Heggimyer finished with a 94. The final flight was figured by out handicap with Don Lindroth matching the championship with a 99.4 net after a 92 scratch. Mac Kluse was second with a 64.9 and 25 scratch and Lowell Sebald was third with a 70.4 net and 105 scratch.

MUCH LIKE KEN Dahl, Casey Hansen has also suffered with back problems much of this season but the club's championship is responsible with a scratch score of 78 to take the crown upon the season.

"I played very relaxed golf today," Hansen said. "I didn't let the course dictate my play but vice versa. Hansen also credited some reading material for his play.

"I was reading the new book titled 'Golf Is Not A Game Of Perfection' and it really opened my eyes on how I was approaching the game," she added. "It is a very good book and I do recommend it."

Hansen's net score was 69.5 after taking off her handicap of 6.5. Anne Volk was second in net scoring at 73 following her scratch score of 95.

Second place in scratch scoring went to Sandra Gutter with an 86 while Maria Nelson was third with a 92. Vicki Pick was the champion in the first flight with a 90 while Jim Casey was second with a 74.1 net score.

The second flight was claimed by George Lindroth with a 90 and a net score of 82.4. Second place went to Fred Dahl with a net score of 70.0 and a scratch total of 111.

Of the Herald

The Wakefield Junior Legion baseball team went 0-2 at the Class C State Baseball Tournament, hosted by the two-time defending state champs over the weekend.

He reached third on a balk from the Crusaders pitcher and stole home in a wild pitch.

Lincoln took a 1-1 lead in the fourth inning on two hits and two

Wakefield errors

Wakefield, however, bounced back to tie the game at three in the fifth inning.

Chief Mackling led off the inning with a walk and reached second on a balk. With one out, Justin Mackling singled to advance Chad to third base.

Bj Hansen poked a run-scoring single which was followed by a Josh Hasler base hit which scored the tying run.

Wakefield appeared to be in position to have a big inning before Austin Lueth hit a line drive to the pitcher who caught the ball and threw to first for the double play.

Wakefield's defense struggled in the fifth and sixth innings as they gave up eight runs on just five hits, five errors and five walks.

Offensively, Wakefield was led by Josh Hasler with a pair of home hits while Bj Hansen, Austin Lueth, Justin Mackling and Josh Tompeman each singled once.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON
Wakefield took a 2-1 lead after three innings of play and the game was tied at three in the sixth inning before St. Paul scored four times.

With one out, Wakefield walked three. St. Paul batters including a forced walk to Jesse Rudolf who had homered twice in the game.

Jeff Kozner ripped a two-run double and a Wakefield error added another pair of runs to account for St. Paul's four runs.

Wakefield's line score went four runs on four hits with one error while St. Paul had seven runs on four hits and three errors.

Bj Hansen led the 20-18 local with a double while Mike Hasler, Josh Tompeman and Shaun Hammer singled.

Josh Hasler was the losing pitcher, once again in relief of Josh Tompeman.

Lincoln's Crusaders went on to capture the Class C State Championship with a 10-8 win over Home on Tuesday night.

The Crusaders fell to Wakefield in last year's state championship game in Wynona by a 10-0 score.

Wayne trio of All-Stars go 1-2 in baseball tournament

A trio of Wayne 14-under baseball players who were chosen to play with a group of 14 under all stars from Northeast Nebraska, competed over the weekend in a national tournament in Arkansas.

Shane Beck, Adam Jurgensen and Eric McLagan represented the Nebraska All Stars.

The team defeated Mississippi in the first round, 1-2 on Saturday. Shane Beck hit a home run and advanced to second on an error pickoff move and Riley Anderson's (Stanton) infield single. He scored the game-winning run on a wild pitch.

Mitch Blum (Howells) pitched the first four innings, scattering two hits and two walks with seven strikeouts over seven innings behind a strong defense led by second baseman Nathan Kalin (Columbia).

Mike Schmidt (West Point) belted a two-run single to right field for Nebraska's first scoring in the first inning.

The local team lost a 13-12 heart to Missouri on Sunday. The All Stars used three walks, a hit batter, a sacrifice and five hits including two Clint French (Bancroft) singles to build an 8-0 lead in the first inning.

Waka, however, hurt Nebraska as four pitchers walked 13 batters and Missouri took advantage of errors to win, 13-12.

Riley Anderson had three hits and three runs batted in while Shane Beck had two hits with two runs scored. Adam Jurgensen also scored after straying a base on balls.

Mike Schmidt singled and Andy Service (Waterbury) singled. Anthony Yarger (West Point) scored two runs.

Nebraska was ousted from tournament play on Sunday by Kansas, 7-6.

Nebraska led 4-0 in the first inning and the locals led 6-4 heading to the bottom half of the final inning but Kansas scored three times to earn the win.

"We had 12 very dedicated and talented ball players that I feel can play with any 14 year old team in the country," manager Roger Hoels said. "We beat a very good Mississippi team that has come back to win three ball games. The other two teams are also doing very well. We put forth a great effort."

Nebraskans offered more choices

Residents in Nebraska will get the opportunity to receive additional services from the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) under a bill that will require utility law by Governor Ben Nelson, last month. The law allows expanded services to be provided by public power districts in the state, which could help local communities save money by consolidating a number of utility payments (water, gas, electric) into one monthly bill. The law also allows public power districts to provide communities with joint metering, another potential cost saving measure for towns throughout Nebraska.

"As the towns and cities of Nebraska move through the coming years of changing tax bases and stresses on infrastructure, it will become even more important to find new ways to do business," said NPPD Vice President of Retail Mary Bird. "We plan to work with communities to find the ideal package of additional services which meet their needs."

The city of Belleville, Neb., is one of the first communities in the state to take advantage of these new services. Recently, Belleville contracted with NPPD to consolidate its monthly water and sewer billing into one package. Under this contract, NPPD will customize a comprehensive utility billing system to meet the needs of the city, moving to a "one stop shop" for water, sewer and electric services.

Strong-willed child turns out well

Q: What are the long-range implications of raising a strong-willed child? What can we expect as the years go by?

A: Well, I can give you a few encouraging conclusions from our study. The tendencies of strong-willed children (SWCs) are to return to parental values when they reach adulthood. Parents told us that 83 percent of their grown SWCs (24 years of age and older) came back to what they had been taught, either in at least "somewhat" that is, good ways. Only 13 percent were so rebellious that they rejected their family's core values in their mid twenties. In those exceptional cases, I'll suggest that other problems and sources of pain were involved.

What this means, in effect, is that these tough-minded kids will argue and fight and complain throughout their years at home, but the majority will turn around when they reach young adulthood and do what their parents most desired. That should be reassuring. Furthermore, if we could have evaluated these individuals at 35 instead of 24 years of age, even fewer would still be in rebellion against parental values.

Second, raising a strong-willed child (or a heavy ball of them) can be a lonely job for parents. You can fight to feel like yours is the only family that has gone through these struggles. Don't believe it. In another study of 1,000 parents, we found that 83 percent of families had at least one strong-willed child. The it is normal. This is human nature.

Third, I urge you as parents of strong-willed children not to feel "what if" or depressed by the requirement of raising such individuals. You are not a prescription or the butt of some cruel comic joke. All human beings must arrive with a generous assortment of flaws, including the very complex child. Yes, it is more difficult to raise an independent little fellow or girl, but you can do it! You can, through prayer and supplication, be sure the child, being born or her to that period of harmony in early adulthood that makes the effort worthwhile. I also believe that you can recognize the baby of harmonizing your values to those individuals by following some basic human principles found in scripture. So hang in there! Raising a value in life comes easy anyway.

Hold tightly to Solomon's encouraging words, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it (Prov. 22:6 KJV).

My husband is a good man, but he gets angry at the kids and says things that he later regrets. Help me convince him to be careful about these off-the-cuff comments.

A: Psychologist and author Abraham Maslow once said, "It takes nine affirming comments to make up for each critical comment we give to our children." I believe he is right. All normal human beings respond negatively to criticism and rejection. Conversely, some of us crave affirmation to such that we'll do almost anything to get it.

Children are especially vulnerable to those who use affirmation to manipulate them. As someone said, "Whoever gives you kids praise and attention has power over them." That could be a drug dealer, a gang member, or anyone who could manipulate. People with self-interest know how to use praise to get what they want from lonely kids. This is, in fact, the technique routinely used by pedophiles to abuse their victims sexually.

The average pedophile abuses 150 children in the course of a lifetime. Each sexual exploitation lasts for seven years, typically, before the truth comes to light. And how do they accomplish that? A highly skilled pedophile can enter a room full of children and instantly spot those who are vulnerable to affirmation. They can have those needy kids under their control in ten minutes or less. All human beings have deep psychological needs for love, belonging and affection. If you don't meet those longings in your children, I can assure you someone else will.

Conference to be in Kearney

Women statewide will sharpen their skills September 11-12 at the Women in Agriculture: The Critical Difference conference.

This year's 13th annual farm/ranch management conference for women will be at the Kearney Inn in Kearney. Women return year after year to celebrate their roles in agriculture with others across the state. More than 400 women gather annually to support each other, hear the latest marketing and record-keeping techniques and learn more about the psychology behind people's behavior.

This year's conference offers 18 workshops that attest to the various roles and challenges as women face. New workshops include risk management, funding of schools and local government, business opportunities, marketing decisions, two-generation farming, the public image of agriculture and dealing with life's changes.

Three keynote speakers will enlighten participants with their experiences. Lynette Brown of Oxford will kick off the event with her whimsical look at the past, present and future. Mary Kay Muller of Omaha will share 12 habits of happiness for women to take better care of themselves. Dave Thurlall of Lexington will wrap up the conference with his look at growing up on a farm near Omaha, Neb.

The early registration fee of $85 for conference materials and meals is due Sept. 5. After then, registration is $60. Checks should be made payable to: Women in Agriculture, Room 303C, Filley Hall, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE, 68583-0922. Lodging reservations should be made directly with the Kearney Inn by calling 1-800-248-4460. Rates are $47 per room until Sept. 1.

For more information, call 1-800-535-3456. The conference is presented by the UNL Department of Agricultural Economics and Cooperative Extension in NEU's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Youth leadership session held

Using youth leaders to help teach and motivate other teens is not a new concept to UNL Extension and 4-H Youth programs. Last week twelve area youth attended a special planning and training session to prepare for the October 7 Youth Leadership Conference in Norfolk. These twelve youth will present two of the workshops on decision-making skills during the conference. They are: Becky Fiser of Husker, Karl Wegener and Lori Preisler of Humphrey, Amanda Hinrichs of Lindsay, Jessie Sharpnack of Wakefield, Maureen Gubbels of Carroll, Tina Pinkleman and Sara Watershauser of Pender, Rachelle Wandersbeck and Eric Blower of Colleton, Kris Hinrichs of Stanton and Shannon Jaeger of Winfield.

Each Northeast Nebraska school that brings a team of youth will be challenged to have their team go back to the community, plan and complete a leadership project. Mini-grants from the UNL Extension office will help these teams fund part of their project. Newspaper collecting becomes malady

Last blessed days of relief from heat and humidity, it was no time to bury all the AC and open the furnace.

It was even time to do your which is how I spent my time this week. My neighbor asked if it's the best anything sweet ever. I've eaten in a long time. I thought of eating at the picnic table under a big old tree. We've also had the first fresh tomatoes.

There had been absolutely no progress on the remodeling project. The black layer told us a month ago it would be a couple of weeks. It was here the other day with the same song, "Oh, and I got unexpected!"

Meanwhile, the big cabinet in our bedroom and the pretty little of "wall" the drawers in the

she was teaching me in my eighth grade that was a year old.

The me, she doesn't read them for news. She reads for the stories, the human interest items, medical reports and bits and pieces. Like me, she has two children and dogs and likes to throw the dog and finally, "Gee, my husband miffed," "It's a sickness."

As you can imagine, we've thoroughly enjoyed his company. Not for about half an hour at breakfast today. We've had quite a steam, hot egg, pan kuchen, pancakes and french toast. For doing a strata in the morning, I guess I could get out the waffle iron too. But that's it. She's going to have to go home then.

How is time to start on today's Sunday paper? Wonder what Dave Barry has written about?

Character training offered by UNL

Teachers, parents, day care providers, youth activity coordinators and other educators are encouraged to attend the Character Counts training being offered by UNL Extension staff on Tuesday, August 12 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Norfolk Middle School.

A new third within educational institutions is character education. A new curriculum called "Character Counts" is being used for grades K-12 nationwide. The principles being taught include the six "pillars" of good character - respect, responsibility, caring, trustworthiness, fairness and citizenship. The goal is for all people in a child's life to be promoting these same traits and expectations. The more consistent to live by these six pillars a child gets, the more likely he/she is to make them a part of who they are as an individual. Moral and religion are not taught in this program.

The free four training helps participants understand what the program is. The training also qualifies the participant to purchase the "Character Counts" materials and a license to duplicate and use the student materials in school, day care, pre-school, church or other youth organizations.

Registration can be made by calling Extension, 4-H Youth Specialist Vickie Cress at 402-384-2806 or mailing your name, address and phone number to her office at Goodland Research and Extension Center, P.O. Box 111, Goodland, NE 68832. The $5 registration fee will be collected at the training and does not include lunch. Enrollment costs will depend on what the participant wishes to order.
