Horsing around at the fair

Horses were popular during the 1997 Wayne County Fair which wrapped up Sunday. Alyssa Thies and her mother Diane (above) enjoyed a ride on the merry go round. An unidentified horseman (left) competes in one of several calf roping activities. In addition to these two horse activities, a stock horse show and draft horse show held on Saturday brought out a number of spectators. The Commanding General's Mounted Color Guard from Ft. Riley, Kan. put on several demonstrations. Beginning with Wednesday's free entertainment, Matt and Robyn and through Sunday's demolition Derby, fair goers enjoyed the cooler than normal weather last weekend. The rain held off until Sunday and did not dampen the spirits of the large crowd that was on hand for the Demolition Derby. A number of new events and exhibits, as well as the traditional activities, helped draw large crowds to the fairgrounds. A complete listing of fair events will be included in a special souvenir edition to be published in next week's Wayne Herald.

Approves hiring of technical director

School board adopts lunch prices for 1997-98

By Kevin Peterson
 Of the Herald

The Wayne School Board voted on regular session at the high school Monday night with a number of items headlining the agenda.

Unidentified staff members of the Wayne School District will be given a 2.683 percent increase in pay, which is equivalent to 20 cents an hour on the salary schedule.

The nursing contract for the coming school year was approved because of the differences in health care cost contracts and the 1997-98 contract.

In years past we have received a 4.000 percent through the Educational Service Unit (ESU) District program. Superintendent of the Wayne School District said "This year ESU has contracted to pay us about $16,000 to fund our new school supply and we will cover up with the other money, about $4,000 for a school supply to work 180 full days a year throughout the school year."

During the financial review, the school district had a surplus of $615,000 left from last year's budget prior to paying for end of the year expenses, which includes supplies for the coming school year.

"This is one of the highest balances we've had in the last five years," Jackson said. "Super-intunity has been met in the past to purchase supplies for the coming school year which helps ease the stress on the budget and to keep the levy down."

Spending of budgets, the public budget hearing is slated for approximately 7:00 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 8 at the high school. A public hearing for about 10 minutes will begin at 7 p.m. the same night concerning spending above a zero percent increase in the budget from a year ago.

"The school district might not be done by this time again, but we will have a price tag of $3,000 for the contract for one year."

"WAYNE POLICE CHIEF Lance Webster appeared before the Board and asked for help in fund-raising efforts to keep the Wayne County Probation for the Youth Services Network alive for another year."

Webster requested the Board to consider a $2,000 donation from the school's Drug Abuse Prevention Program which it allocated $4,000 a federal stipend grant. Dr. Jensen asked Chief Webster if he would be willing to give the same request to the governing committee for those funds and he said he would.

lene Utting spoke for the board about the coaches request for support in efforts of trying to raise private funds for a new track. His action was taken on the matter at a week just in a discussion phase.

"In other financial news Dr. Jensen requested the Board to hire a technology director and because of the urgency to time to hire the best candidate available for the position and present the contract to the Board at the next regular meeting."

"The person would be hired immediately in the interim before the next meeting," Jensen said. "His hiring would be subject to probationary terms and would be an annually renewable contract."

Council approves request to use revolving loan funds

By Clara Olsen
 Of the Herald

In a relatively short meeting, the Wayne City Council approved the application of a new business, approved an application for revolving loan funds and established transfer station and solid waste fees.

Christopher H. Nichols was approved as a volunteer for the Wayne Volunteer Department. Nichols is employed at Great Dane Trailers.

The council also approved an application to use for office infrastructure for the Bark and Center Project being constructed near Great Dane Trailers.

The $125,000 grant will be used for street and sewer construction and the construction of a detention area for water runoff.

Additional money for the project will come from the sale of the land to the Bark and Center. The sale of a strip of land just south of the Bark and Center and the sale of that land has come all the property.

The Bark and Center has made a commitment to add an additional 20 full and 50 part time jobs to the center within the next four years.

The council approved a request from the Wayne County Club for 1,000 street paving tickets to be used on the part of the golf course owned by the city.

Steve Jorgensen, representing the Wayne Adult Football

Association, spoke to the council regarding assistance from the city in paying the utility bills at the Wayne Adult Center.

After considerable discussion as to the amount of those spent at the facility by the various groups who use the complex, the council voted to cut those the utilities with the Adult Association paying two-thirds of the bill and the city paying one-third.

Police Chief Lance Webster spoke to the council on the status of nuisance property in the city.

Webster told the council that during the first week in July 12 nuisance letters were sent out and there has been 100 percent com-

Wayne Police Investigate early morning hit and run

The Wayne Police Department is investigating a pedestrian hit and run accident that occurred in the early morning hours of Aug. 8.

According to Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster, 19-year old Michal Montana of Wayne was rollerblading in the Carhart lumber parking lot shortly after 1 a.m. on Aug. 8.

When Montana was near the entrance to the alley behind the Carhart main store, a vehicle that was driving north in the alley struck him. The impact knocked him into a dumpster.

Montana suffered abrasions and contusions to his left knee and forehead and hurt his neck and upper back. He was taken to Providence Medical Center by ambulance several hours after he was struck by the car.

The car involved is a light colored four door sedan, possibly 1992 or newer. It did not have a front license plate and may have suffered damage to the right front fender area.

Chief Webster said his department is investigating this accident but so far has no suspects.

Michael Bolson scholarship fund established in Wayne

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

A special scholarship fund has been established for the youth that took his life in June.

The Michael Bolson Scholarship Fund will pay tuition for LaCrosse Blue Stars members who can't donate to join otherwise.

Those from the area wishing to donate may do so by writing to Community Credit Union, 625 1/2 Street, Orlando, Wis. 54450.

Bolson moved to Wayne last December to spend time with his father, Dennis Bolson and his step-mother, Judy.

He had lived with his mother, Elizabeth Agular and his stepfather in Orlando, Wis. prior to moving to Nebraska.

"I had been divorced for about 10 years from Michael's mother and he and I didn't see a lot of each other," Dennis said. "In December, Michael decided to move in with us to get to know me a little better and vice-versa."

The young Bolson had an appreciation for the drum corp, being a member of the 1st LaCrosse Blue Stars.

Dennis, however, said when Michael moved in with him that he wanted to take some time off from the drum corp.

"I knew that Michael had bouts of depression and he had threatened suicide in December," Dennis said. He was an obsessive who decided to quit taking his medicine.

"Still, he seemed to be just fine in his Nebraska surroundings. He was going to school, (something he quit doing in Orlando) and he was involved with the band."

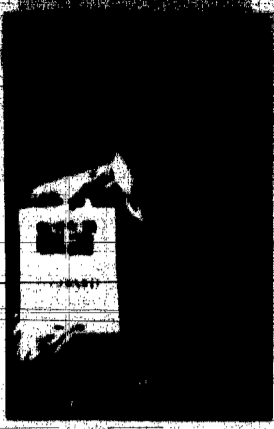

Bolson was confirmed on the morning of June 8. That afternoon he took his life with the aid of a gun.

"This was a real tragedy that didn't need to happen," Bolson said. "I'm calling for all parents to please listen to your kids, no matter what the situation."

Dennis added that being open with your child(ren) whether it be through your own ears, through church or school counselors can go a long way.

Bolson said the hardest part about accepting the loss of his son is the fact he seemed to be coming out of his shell while living with him.

"He had new friends by Wayne and spoke of how happy he was to have made the move from Wisconsin to Nebraska," Bolson said. "School became a priority for him for the first time in quite a while."

Mike Bolson

His wife will never know the exact reason Michael Bolson took his life but both his mother and father believe through the scholarship fund his name will never be forgotten.

Students tour Europe

A group of Wayne High School students spent several days this summer touring Europe and observing historical sites.

Seven students from Cindy Peterson's Spanish classes, Ms. Peterson and Shelly Malcolm spent 10 days in Spain, France and England. The group toured as part of the E.L. Educational Tour Agency.

After flying from Omaha to Barcelona, Spain and spending three days there, visiting the Mediterranean Sea and La Sagrada-Familia (the Holy Family Church) which was started in the early 1900's and is not yet completed.

Next, the destination of the church completed eight towers higher than the one designed but did not leave plans for the completion.

The group also visited the palace where King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella lived and a number of other historical places.

They saw the Eiffel Tower, the Palace of Versailles.

"We also got acquainted with the Metro and learned how to get around the city," Ms. Peterson said.

With the Wayne students were students from Dubuque, Iowa and Salem, Ore. The group of 43 spent time together during the stay and Ms. Peterson said the experience from Dubuque had been to Europe a number of times and was able to make a few good friends for the Wayne group.

From Paris, the group went to London via a ferry ride across the English Channel.

They stopped at Canterbury before getting to London.

In London, they visited Buckingham Palace, witnessed the changing of the guard, City Westminster Abbey and Big Ben and the Tower of London.

During the last night in London the group attended an Elizabethan banquet where they were served a seven-course meal. They were also entertained throughout the meal.

Andy Wright and Almoe Biffers were chosen as the Lord and Lady of the Table the group was seated at.

"This was the first time I had ever been to the place we visited. It was exciting to see places we had only read about before," Ms. Peterson said.

She added that it was interesting to see how other cultures live and added that Europe has been fairly Americanized with food and clothing similar to that of the U.S. A number of American chain restaurants are also in the places visited by the students.

However, many things in Europe were more expensive than they are here. For example, a Coke costs 1.20 in Paris, Ms. Peterson said.

She said that while the trip was fun for the students, she took the impact of what they saw and felt upon their spiritual lives as they grew older.

"I think that 10 years from now, the things they did and the places they saw will be more important to them when they can look back and say 'I did that'."

Board

The Board voted 6-0 in favor of the Jensen's report.

In other budget discussions, Jensen said the bid set by the Department of Revenue allows the Wayne School District the flexibility to have the general fund budget at more than $5.78 million because based on the schedule in the state the size of Wayne, we under-spend our budget as related to cost per student.

At the current time, and it will change, the proposed budget is at $5.187 million which is 1.9 percent above last year," Jensen said. "Conceptually, what the Board wrestled with is a full realization that the 1998-99 school year and the 1998-99 school year and the levy will be dropped to $1.10 so should we ask for full bid of $5.248 million and get ahead or prepare ourselves to begin downgrading to $5.187 million."

Jensen added that because of retirement and increase of a program cut in the sinking fund, we could approximate a loss to the next levy election.

"What's really unique of this report is the effect of valuation," Jensen said. "We have no debate over what the increase in commercial and residential property tax will result in the levy bid. We do know that the vehicle tax that generated $22 million last year from Wayne County will be reduced to about 70 percent of that mark because of the drop in tax rate on certain vehicles."

"Distance education as a service was discussed at Monday's Board meeting. The distance education project that is being considered is a totally digitized service via the internet and not an analog system like microwave or satellite. The benefit of this system would be the cost," Jensen said. "There will be a more in depth discussion at next month's board meeting."

A new parking lot was discussed to be put south of the existing weight room building. The reason we need this parking lot is because the Highway 45 widening project is taking away our existing parking lot for the city," Jensen said. "Bids are being requested at this time and the project which consists of 180 feet in length by 22 feet in width will start very soon. Once completed, about 10 parking spaces will be in existence."

"The Board also adopted the school lunch prices for the 1997-98 school year and they are the same as last year. Elementary students will pay $1.25 per meal, middle school and high school students will pay $1.55 per meal and for $1.75 per meal. Adults will pay $2 per meal or $1.80 per week and reduced priced meals based on income guidelines will be 40 cents per meal or $2 per week. All other fee adults will pay $1.20. Bids will be 40 cents per meal and 20 cents per carton if you can produce a 10 pounds and for $2.

Also at Tuesday's meeting the council set rates for use of the transfer station.

Wayne A. Bunker's will set rates to create from $14.50 a cubic yard to $14 and residents will pay $2.75 per bag, up from the current $2.50. The rate increase is effective Sept. 1.

A public hearing was held Sept. 9 on a zoning use by except their application of Roger Van der Sarned from apartment at 773 1/2 Main Street.

Capitol News

Back to school

One week from today on August 21-22 staff and administrators of the Wayne Community Schools will gather for orientation...

Motorists are urged to proceed with caution particularly during those hours before and after school EB91 raises fines for speeding or illegally passing another vehicle in a school crossing zone.

Mulling over new laws

Gov. Nelson vetoed $187,897 to fund increased state probation officer salaries, but approved $290,000 for a life skills program said to benefit incarcerated criminals.

The state's new budget includes $1.1 million for "court automation". This doesn't mean an offender can put a quarter in a robot and get a judgment.

Evidence of this bumbling can be seen at the Wayne County Court in the form of an expensive computer, now technologically outdated, which for five years has been basically useless.

Senators passed LB529 which increases the minimum wage from $4.25 to $5.15 per hour effective September 1.

Perhaps all law enforcement agencies should have more bling capability or a new computer since LB529 now requires such facilities to maintain records of domestic abuse "incidents".

Exemption modified

Certain Wayne County property owners will want to take notice that with a vote of 45-0 the legislature modified the statute providing property tax relief.

Those eligible for homestead exemptions include the elderly, people with disabilities, certain veterans, and spouses of soldiers who died on active duty.

Property Tax Law 1297, due in 1998, will be the first to reflect the change.

Wayne County Fair is a pleasure!

Dear Editor: The 1997 Wayne County Fair was a pleasure to attend. The music, food, and fun was all fantastic.

Brothers to bow out

By Melvin Paul Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Statehouse gadflies Kent and Craig Bernbeck announced their departure from the political scene the other day.

In a speech worthy of Nixon, "you won't have us to kick around anymore," the Bernbecks blamed political apathy for the failure of their initiative petition rights crusade.

The brothers made their announcement outside a Lincoln County courthouse where they were scheduled to appear before a judge in a civil lawsuit over their failure to keep up with the rent on their offices in a tiny building near the Capitol.

The Bernbecks said they faced potential garnishment of their future earnings for the debt of $13,900. They described the law suit as a kick in the seat of their pants on their way out the door.

But when Bernbeck stepped up to take his oath before a judge in a civil lawsuit over their failure to keep up with the rent on their offices in a tiny building near the Capitol.

It was a claim, Bernbeck charged, that he had advanced against a title for his and his wife's property in Lincoln County.

Those two brothers have written checks to a county school district for more than $1 million.

The Bernbecks said they faced potential garnishment of their future earnings for the debt of $13,900.

passing petitions and urging voter activism, faithfully attended public hearings, and generally stood up for the state Constitution and the initiative petition process.

But the Capitol crowd's patience with "the brothers Bernbeck" has been wearing thin in recent years. The two men, with their passion for direct democracy, at times seemed disdainful of elected officials, representative government and honest differences of opinion.

Some expressed concern that the Bernbecks' activities were becoming destructive.

Kent said once that he had been twice arrested in 1993 and 1994. He got out in 1992 when the Legislature voted to retract the mandatory seatbelt law that had been repealed by voters in a referendum.

Kent said he did not think the Legislature should be permitted to overturn a vote of the people.

The petition process was the Bernbecks' first goal. Their Citizens Committee focused on constitutional amendments that would prevent the Legislature from re-enacting a law after it has been voted down by the people.

Some expressed concern that the Bernbecks' activities were becoming destructive.

Some expressed concern that the Bernbecks' activities were becoming destructive.

political successes came when they were distracted from that mission. Kent received $2,000 a month to run campaigns to elect term limits and to oust David Lathrop from the Supreme Court.

Both campaigns were successful and Kent talked of building upon the successes to create long-term political influence.

It was not to be. A mass mailing to 4,000 supporters of the Lathrop campaign seeking contributions generated a response from only 25 people.

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Me and my computer

Various computer users, though, are still faced by 15 years' worth of dated, uncompatible software.

That's because, claiming to know more about it than most, I've been working on a system and a constantly updating one. It's the only way to stay current.

My goal is to have a computer that can do anything I want it to do.

EASY MONEY!
Advance-Fee Loan Schemes

Beware of advertisements for "advance-fee" or "guaranteed" consumer and small business loans. Ads that promise loans generally appear in the classified section of local and national newspapers and magazines. They also may appear in mailings, radio spots, and on cable TV.

Some companies claim they can guarantee you a loan for a fee paid in advance. The fee may range from $100 to several hundred dollars. But whether you are a consumer or a small business owner, the result is the same: once the con-artists have your money, they disappear and you never get your loan.

Do not confuse advance-fee loan schemes with legitimate offers of credit from mortgage brokers, banks, savings and loans, and credit unions. Legitimate credit grantors may charge fees for processing your loan application, but they will not guarantee that you will qualify for a loan.

Illicit advance-fee loan schemes, on the other hand, either promise or strongly suggest that a loan will be provided in exchange for an up-front fee. Salespeople for such companies also may verbally promise that some or all of your advance-fee will be refunded if the application is unsuccessful.

Although Nebraska law prohibits a loan broker from collecting any advance fees from the person seeking the loan, some fraudulent companies may claim that your advance fee will be credited toward repayment of the loan. Usually none of these claims are true.

Before responding to ads for advance-fee loans, we suggest the following precautions:

- Be wary of advertising that claims bad credit is no problem in getting you a loan.
- NEVER give credit card, checking account, or Social Security number over the phone unless you are familiar with the company.
- Ask to review the company's offer in writing, and make sure you understand the terms of the agreement before completing the transaction.
- Always read and thoroughly understand any contract before signing.

For more information on "advance-fee" loan scams, contact the office of Attorney General Don Stenberg, Consumer Protection Division, 2315 State Capitol Building, Lincoln, NE, 68509, or call our Consumer Protection Line toll-free in Nebraska at 1-800-727-6432.

Rico Burkett returns to WSC as assistant

Wayne State College head men's basketball coach Greg McDermott will have two new assistant coaches for the 1997-98 season.

McDermott announced recently that Rico Burkett and Paul Sather have joined his staff. Burkett will be McDermott's full-time assistant coach, taking over for Mike Finger, who recently accepted a head coaching job in England.

Sather replaces Sam Phillips as a graduate assistant coach. Phillips is now an assistant coach at Lake Superior State University, where former WSC assistant Elmer McDermott is the head coach.

This marks Burkett's second stint at WSC. He was an assistant coach with the Wildcats during the 1994-95 season, before spending two seasons as an assistant at Stetson University in Florida. It

Burkett was a standout point guard at the University of North Dakota from 1989-91. As a senior, he averaged 10 points per game and was named the North Central Conference's Most Outstanding Player of the year. During his senior year, he set UND single-season records for assists with 212

During his two-year North Dakota career, the Fighting Sioux made two trips to the NCAA Division II national tournament, finishing third in 1989-90.

Before attending North Dakota, Burkett played two seasons at Iowa Central Community College, where he helped the Trojans to a regional title and a berth in the national tournament in 1986-87.

Burkett began his coaching career as an assistant coach with the North Dakota women's basketball team following his playing career there. He is a 1993 UND graduate.

Sather joins the Wildcats after three years at the Division II level, coaching at Valley City High School last season. Sather began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Washington State University.

Sather enjoyed a stellar playing career at Washington State as well. A two-year starter, he helped the Wolves to two appearances in the NAIA national championship, including two appearances in the semifinals.

After completing his eligibility, Sather played professional basketball in Bialystok, Poland, for one year before returning to Northern State to complete his undergraduate degree in 1996.

"This is going to be a great learning experience for me," Sather said. "I am going to be working with some quality people and a quality program."

"I just really fortunate to have a quality person like Rico with my experience at a time when I wanted to take a full-time assistant," McDermott said. "He was involved in recruiting our junior and senior class, so he has already developed a relationship with most of our team."

"Paul brings a wealth of playing experience and success to the program," McDermott added. "He is a very enthusiastic and knowledgeable. We are excited to have him on board."

McDermott also announced that former Wildcats standout Erik Fitzner will also assist the team this season. Fitzner, who averaged 14.4 points per game last season, is the school's career three-point leader, with 307 made in 737 attempts.

Random acts of kindness of style

It's raining, pouring, the birds are chirping around all weekend and finally got started this morning. This was the perfect opportunity for me to go to the store in a hurry. Remember the "Random Acts of Kindness" movement? It's alive and well. I'm happy to report I stopped at our church during VBS and got my windshield washed. My brother told me about a colleague of his who was hit by a car while on a bicycle. He was paralyzed, had blood clots hospitalized for weeks and very depressed. Who would do that? One day he got a phone call from Jerry Faust, former Little League football coach, reminding him that he was a "Big Red" and that the "Fighting Red" would get up.

Some friends from Louisville left for an annual vacation at Okonjig last month. They had reservations for the week, but none for Sunday night. Sure enough, when they arrived, there were no vacancies. They drove into Minnesota and found none. They had tracked to "Spokane, Iowa. Nothing. Someone gave them the name of a local Bed and Breakfast. By this time it was 10:45 p.m. An older lady came to the door and said the room was full. The friend said she guessed they would have to sleep in their car. At this, the B & B lady said, "No, don't do that. I at least have hardwood floors."

So, they tramped in. One got a cot, the other, the couch. The rest spread blankets and pillows on the floor. In the morning she provided towels for a shower in the basement and had them wash their clothes. Here's the kicker: She refused any pay. Simply told them to do a kind deed for someone else. A short time later, the father of the family came across a woman having stopped along the highway who had run out of gas. He doesn't know why, but he had filled his spare car that day. When the lady tried to pay him, he told her a story about a B & B in Spokane, Iowa. Keep it going, folks!

Hayes House staff also attended the training.

The trainees were sponsored by the Nebraska Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Coalition. The material was Aug 13-14, a two-day training with the Lincoln Police Department and a nationally recognized expert in the field of domestic violence.

Chief Webster, whose department has received a state grant to fund a Candidate Response Team for domestic violence, said the training was excellent and will be implemented by the Wayne Police Department. The victims of domestic violence will be better served.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

Welcome from your new library! It has been very exciting to see and hear the reactions of our patrons as they enter the library. Yes, we like working here. Yes, we think the library is impressive, airy, attractive and easy to get around in. In short, we love it!

Although this is a new building, our library hours remain the same: Monday-Friday noon-8 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. The library is closed on Sundays until after Labor Day. Our front door has been open this past week in the mornings even though we are not open for business until noon and that has caused some confusion. The workers are still doing last minute painting and wiring which means we have to keep the doors open for them. But business begins as usual at noon. One other rule has not changed. We ask that you do not bring food or drink into the building or onto roller-blades, please.

We closed the old building to the public on July 4 and immediately started the task of packing books with the help of volunteers. They worked with great enthusiasm on the morning of the 4th and we completed packing up all the children's books in about an hour! (We ran out of boxes more than once, much to our surprise.) It took one evening to bring the books to the new library and place them on the shelves. We worked two more evenings packing the adult collection and trucking them over to the new building. We had the help of the girls scouts, boy scouts, families and individuals of all ages. We are greatly indebted to all who helped. All in all, we logged about 750 man hours to move the books. What a job! Thank you one and all.

Our basic computer needs are up and running. The circulation computer, our word processor in the workroom and the catalog computer for the public are on line. The other computer stations are expected to be up and running soon.

We now have a book drop located between the two windows on the north wall of the building, that allows material to be dropped inside our workroom from near your car. Because of this internal bookdrop, it is now possible to drop off sidery without concern for wet weather or heat.

Come in and visit us. We know you will be impressed.

Career, children hard to balance

Q: You've talked about being a full-time mother versus having a full-time career. Give us your view of a woman handling both responsibilities simultaneously. Is it do-able, and is it smart?
A: Some women are able to maintain a busy career and a bustling family at the same time, and they do it beautifully. I advise them for their discipline and dedication. It has been my observation, however, that this dual responsibility is a formula for exhaustion and frustration for many others. It can be a never-ending struggle for survival. Why? Because there is only so much energy within the human body, and when it is invested in one place it is not available for use in another. Consider what it is like to be a mother of young children who must arise early in the morning, get her kids dressed, fed and heated for the day, then drive to work, labor from nine to five, go by the grocery store and pick up some stuff for dinner, collect the kids at the children's center, and then drive home. They're tired by that point and need to get her feet under a few minutes. But the car's not. The kids are hungry, and they've been waiting to see her all day.

The most difficult aspect of this lifestyle is the consistency of the load. Most of us could maintain such a schedule for a week or two, but the working mother must do it month after month for years on end. On weekends there's housecleaning to do and clothes to be ironed and packed to be mended. And this is the pace she maintains when things are going right. She has no reserve of time or energy when a member of the family gets sick or the car breaks down or marital problems develop. A little push in any direction and she could go over the edge.

Read me a story, Mom! says the eight-year-old. The eight-year-old system then begins another hour to two hours of very demanding, unrelenting that will extend into the evening. She must be doing "reads" to the baby, bathes the baby, help with homework, and give each child some "quality time." They come the task of getting the kids to bed, making the prayers, and helping us glasses of water to quenching kids who want to talk. I get tired just thinking of a schedule like this.

Prescription and over-the-counter drug use by the elderly is significant and on the increase. Older adults take an average of four different types of medications per day.

Medications can affect the absorption of some nutrients as well as appetite. In order to reduce some of the nutrient/drug interaction, it is important that older adults carefully read the warning labels on their medication.

Another problem that occurs with some medications is that they can cause an increased need for some nutrients. For example, diuretics can cause an increased loss of potassium, magnesium, calcium, and sodium.

Water is an important nutrient for the elderly. Taking many antihypertensive drugs may inhibit the ability to work properly.

Water is an important nutrient for the elderly. Taking many antihypertensive drugs may inhibit the ability to work properly.

Cooperative Extension. At least two liters per day. This suggestion is to fill a two-liter water bottle in the morning and make sure it's completely gone at the end of the day.

1. Talk to your doctor or pharmacist about all medications being taken, including over-the-counter drugs and nutrient supplements.
2. Take medication as directed.
3. Read the warning labels and other instructions on the medicine bottle.
4. Drink plenty of fluids.
5. Avoid any nutrient/drug interaction.
6. Eat a healthy and well-balanced diet. Follow the Food Guide Pyramid.

Write each checkup, review your medication plan with your doctor to ensure that it's still right for you. Ask others: are any fluids or nutrients being withheld?

Education addition to be consecrated Sunday

The first United Methodist Church of Wayne will consecrate their new Christian Education addition on Sunday, Aug. 17. Nebraska Area Bishop Joel Martinez will lead the special service of consecration which begins at 9 a.m. on the east side of the building (Main Street). The bishop will preach at the 9:30 worship celebration which follows. A large audience will be held at noon. Although a community open house is being planned for a later date, the public is invited to share in any of the day's activities. Ground for the addition was broken in June of 1996. The addition, which contains 11 classrooms, a nursery and an elevator, will help the growing congregation meet the Christian education needs of the church and the community for many years to come. Use of the new building will begin on Sept. 7 when Sunday School classes resume following summer break. The basement of the current church is being remodeled to house the church library, youth room, a community use area, a kitchenette and meeting rooms. Members of the building committee who have guided the congregation in the fulfillment of this long-standing goal include Dick and Wacky Keldel (co-chairs), David Carter, Dave Headley, Keith Javi, Ken Klassen, Pastor Gary Main, Ken Murphy, Bill Porter and Phyllis Spethman.
