The action has been fast and furious during recent Tuesday's as third through sixth grade rec football players have been competing against each other. The purpose of rec football for youth is for recognition purposes as to what each position is responsible for on a football team. The fall program concludes this month.

Celebration planned in Wayne

All-area Wayne County citizens will be putting on their "party hats" for the American Heart Association's "Celebrity Celebration."

The event is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 26 beginning with a 6 p.m. social hour at Kline's Congregation Center. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. and an auction will follow.

The participants will be raising money for the American Heart Association. It includes volunteers from the community, caring as walkers. Those "volunteered" will sell tickets to the event where they will eat tables and collect tips on behalf to the AHA.

The celebrity walkers include Al Atman and Nancy Sorgiess, Dave Jr. and Debbie Ewing, Bruce and Kathy Erler, Kevin and Deb Hahn, Bob and Julie Jordan, Dave and Connie Kilpatrick, Mike and Julie Klug, Dr. Karl and Jo Lake, Michael and Rhonda Lutz, Dr. Mack and Bill McCorquodale all from Wayne and Franklin and Sue Gibson from Carroll.

Anyone interested in attending or supporting the event should contact one of the celebrity walkers.

Walkers will dress in costume and literally "walk on their money hand and foot" in effort to gain the most donated home of the evening, the "Best Walker Award." This honor is bestowed upon the celebrity collecting the most tips.

The event is being sponsored locally by Heritage Hotels and Heritage Industries, First National Bank of Wayne, Farmers and Merchants State Bank and the State Mutual Bank and Trust.

Information on the event is available at the American Heart Association's website and can be found by contacting planning committee members, Greg Backstrom, Scott Beavenwood, Kevin Hill or Dorothy Miller or by calling the AHA Uptown office at (402) 424-1353.

Kugler still fighting fire after 50 years

By Clark Hansen
Of the Herald

In 1947 Paul Kugler, Wayne City Chief, recruited Bill Kugler to be one of Wayne's volunteer firemen. Fifty years later Bill is still doing that job.

"When I first became a fireman the department was using a 1946 pump that is now being used for parades. They also had one truck that was considered the real truck. Wayne's first fire fighting equipment was a 4x4 hand pulled cart which is still on display at the fire hall," Kugler said.

At the present time the department's equipment includes eight units including an aerial pump, tank, city and rural pumpers, two water tenders, an equipment trailer, command vehicle, personnel carrier and a training air supply trailer.

In the early 1950s, thanks to much hard work by Paul Kugler, Ralph Beckstrand, and many others, the Rural Fire District was formed. This was with five tenders over stock. One of the greatest assets to the Wayne Area Fire Department.

The Rural District bought their own equipment and an agreement was made, which is still in effect, that the equipment would be housed and maintained by the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department and City of Wayne.

"Through the years the equipment and fire fighting techniques have changed drastically, and it is a continual uphill climb to maintain them," Kugler said.

"It's sad to say but department expenses keep going up and the budget keeps going down. Wayne and the commercial fire district have for the most part always enjoyed a good fire rating for insurance purposes. I believe this is due to what I consider an outstanding volunteer fire department," he added.

Early year, during a fire preventing week, Kugler and members of the fire department give young children ages pre-school add up fire instructional programs tools and ideas on a fire truck.

"Speaking of fire prevention, I would like to mention a program in our department which I consider the 'apple of my eye.' Thirty six years ago Chet Sharer an F.F. under then Fire Chief Leo Schmid organized a junior fire patrol program which was adopted by the department," Kugler said.

"The only purpose of this program is for our fire fighters to teach fourth and fifth grade children in fire prevention and self preservation. We know this program has been responsible for saving at least nine in the Wayne area and we are probably never aware of all of the direct results. Fire fighters keep busy for years that our fire calls have been greatly reduced due to this program," he added.

Kugler said that in the 50 years he has been a fire fighter, the city of Wayne has had more than the share of major, devastating fires that have wiped out entire business areas.

He said that the fires that involved fatalities are the ones that are most vivid in his mind and acknowledged that he could "sit and tell war stories for years" about his experiences.

Restful Knights

Company is bought

Restful Knights has announced that the company will be sold to Pacific Coast Feather Company of Seattle, Wash.

The sale will be effective Oct. 31, 1997. Current owners Rob and Carolee Stenberg and Virgil and Jan Kardell will remain as the management team.

Pacific Coast Feather Company approached us about becoming a part of their family owned company. This was an excellent opportunity for us. The atmosphere of their company is very similar to ours," said co-owner Rob Stenberg.

The family that owns Pacific Coast Feather Company has been in this business since 1904 and Pacific Coast Feather Company was formed in 1924.

Its projected fiscal 1997 sales are approximately $145 million. The firm currently manufactures feather and down synthetic pillows and down comforters.

The plant in Wayne will serve as the羽毛 pad division. In addition, the sales force in Wayne will be the headquarters for the Preferred Products line, which includes comforters, featherbeds, bed pillows and mattress pads.

Restful Knights has been in business since January of 1983 when the two couples began manufacturing bed pillows in a room on Main Street.

Since that time, the business has grown to employ 110 persons and earlier this year was chosen as the Nebraska Small Business of the Year by the Small Business Association.

"We are working hard on plans to the next 18 months as we anticipate growth in our plant. We really expect to be able to expand to a much greater degree than if we retained ownership ourselves," Stenberg said.

Pacific Coast Feather recently signed an agreement with Sealy Corporation for the license of the Sealy name for comforters, featherbeds, bed pillows and mattress pads. Sealy is the most powerful brand in home furnishing.

"It is the intent of Pacific Coast Feather to expand the Wayne plant capacity with additional facilities, machinery and many new jobs," Stenberg added.

Herald joins Net

The Wayne Herald has joined with Millard's Net to provide Internet with a localized approach to Wayne.

Millard's Net is owned by Hooper Telephone Company of Hooper and operated by Community Communications of Omaha. Combined, the two firms operate Internet access systems in three stages, serving over 3,000 customers.

These systems bring a unique localized approach to Internet service and the Wayne Herald will eventually be offering news and community update information to the system.

"We strongly believe that using this technology to help further local, disruption and community information is just as effective as ability to connect people to the rest of the world," said Brad Hartman, of Community Communications.

"We are excited about the partnership with the Wayne Herald, which has long shown that sort of strong community commitment," Hartman added.

The Millard's Net system in Wayne offers local subscription groups free web pages for local non-profit organizations, an on-line family psychologist and other features as well as connections to the full Internet and electronic mail.

Those with a computer and modem can subscribe to the Millard's Net service for $20 per month allowing for unlimited dial-up access. Subscribers receive copy software to connect to the Internet and free e-mail support.

During the month of October Millard's Net is waiving the $15 account activation fee.

Those requesting more information can get a Millard's Net brochure at the Wayne Herald office or by calling 1-800-529-4648.

Keeping a watchful eye

Recently a youthful biker, southbound on Sherman, suddenly veered left around the corner onto West Fenth Street, appearing oblivious to the inherent danger of her high speed turn. She gave no signal of her intent to turn and was fortunate to avoid a collision with an approaching vehicle.

Both bikers and motorists in Wayne have exercised the caution needed to avoid tragic "accidents", however, with each calendar year the number of bikes and vehicles using city streets increases, as does the relative risk of collision.

Bike registrations at the Wayne Police Department are hovering at the 1,100 mark. A one time fee of $3.00 is assessed to register each bicycle. Two of Wayne's police officers are now "bike certified", and implement the use of a bike in their patrol duties.

Bicycles remain a popular mode of inexpensive transportation while simultaneously providing genuine exercise. Because they use the same streets as other vehicles, but provide a much smaller silhouette, they are often difficult to see.

Children riding bikes to and from school may not always obey traffic regulations, thereby elevating the risk of being injured.

Although Wayne has a good bike safety record, motorists are urged to be exceptionally watchful when engaging both bike and vehicular traffic, particularly in and around construction areas. A dirt pile or piece of construction equipment may momentarily restrict one's field of sight.

Remaining free of a bike accident is a basic life goal of any community.

Safety remains an ongoing priority.

Not a good idea

The Nebraska Law Research Council recently pointed out they believe substantial savings of tax money could be realized by combining police and sheriff departments into regional law enforcement agencies, or perhaps a statewide agency.

Is this a good idea? The PATT's report indicates Nebraskans are already getting effective law enforcement for the money invested.

Amidst other concerns, some worry that a new state agency consolidating current sheriffs and police departments would seriously erode local control.

Officers can readily discern that the duties of police departments, sheriffs and State Patrol, respectively all vary. The current system continues working well. Personnel problems, if and when they arise, are handled on an individual and local basis.

Duplication in government is to be avoided, but logically, if a state agency is superior to the current structure, then perhaps a national agency would serve better for that.

Thanks to the PATT for yearning to build a more accountable and our best plans at consolidation back us to do old cliché "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

Way Back When

They were once taken up the roof of the Wayne City Hospital to inspect the roof of the Wayne City High School in 1960.

Wayne State Auditorial Hall was also under inspection during its 1960 renovation.

Wayne Road 129, which was reorganized in 1961, had a road surface of asphalt in 1970.

Through 1970, the police and August 1970, the highway department, the 1960 construction of the Wayne City High School was completed.

The 1960s brought many changes to the town, most notably the opening of the first shopping center in 1965.

Hundreds of feet of paved roads were built in the 1960s, and the town grew rapidly during the decade.

LOCKER TO RE-OPEN

Since the devastating fire on Feb. 28, 1997, the community of Winside has been without one of its main business', the Winside Locker.

Known as the former Ray's Locker for many years, the locker had been under the management of Jim and Kelly Wozny for only four months before a fire in the smoke area closed it down. Since then the Wozny's have been working long hard hours trying to rebuild it.

"We have to completely rebuild most of the inside of the locker," said Mr. Wozny. "Now we mostly have plumbing and wiring left to do. We've added a new slate of the art smoker and a large dry storage area. Our plans are to be up and running within a month in time for deer season. Well only be doing board out deer this year though."

Mr. Wozny said a new sign for the outside of the locker has been ordered and when time permits they will be giving the front a face lift. They have a full time butcher on staff and will be hiring several more employees.

Anyone wanting more information about the locker can call the Wozny's at 402-521-6246.

Winside High School Industrial Technology junior class students have been busy the past six weeks removing and replacing windows around the Sam Buds residence.

The students under the guidance of their instructor, Thomas Meyer, have spent about an hour each day weather permitting on this project.

"The boys have been doing everything," said Mr. Meyer. "They've sanded and dug up the old sidewalk, laid the fence, did the digging and jostled the poured pre-mixed cement."

This is Mr. Meyer's first year of teaching at Winside High School. He is a graduate of Wayne State College and spent three years teaching in Colorado and two years at Peru High. He also taught auto mechanics, manufacturing, welding, OCA (arts and crafts) and high grade introduction to technology.

The next project planned will be converting a hand-dug accessible bathroom in the woodshop building.

If anyone is considering future construction or remodeling projects in Winside and would be interested

families in town with children in Wayne High would necessarily devote their time and loyalties to the High School. There are however, an awfully lot of people out there, just in Wayne, who might consider giving up an occasional evening of "Must See TV." The possibility exists that they might discover that life outside "the rut" is not only fun, but the athletes appreciate the support too.

Diane, my wife, and I are not originally from Wayne, and since our children are grown and gone, we had no particular loyalties when we moved to this area. We started attending Wildcat Basketball games simply because we have a love of sports, but that is only one of the reasons that we now attend. We found that the team, although totally different than we are, share some things that are important to both of us.

Just as Diane and I are transplants to the area, so are the majority of the athletes. While we had no one to cheer for, many of the young adults playing these sports, have families that live far enough away that they have a need of support, other than the Wayne State students. I guess that's where we come in.

In addition, we often tend to think of the college as somewhat isolated from the rest of Wayne, making it further from the truth. I am sure there are a lot of us who might be a little less prosper out if our business or the business of Wayne State were to fail. I realize that what I am saying is probably going to fall on mostly deaf ears, but I gotta tell you, you won't be able to pay me out of my seat at the games unless there is a real good reason. You see, this letter isn't a pity party for the Wildcats, they don't need it. All I am saying is, wake up sports fans and get yourselves away from the TV. Come round here, get involved, and when the Cats are winning with the big lead, go out and buy a ticket. There is no better place to be than the North end of Main Street with your ticket in hand.

Winside footballers defeat Homer after sluggish first half

Randy Geler's Winside Wildcats football team needed the entire first half to remind them that any body can beat anybody on any given day last Friday as 13-13 Homer led the 4-2 Wildcats 13-6 at the intermission. In fact, Homer ran 42 offensive plays compared to just 14 for Winside in the first two quarters.

"The cream, however, rose to the top in the second half as Winside wore down the under-manned visitors and scored the game's final 21 points for a 22-13 victory."

"We definitely came out flat in the first half," Geler said. "Homer is much improved over last year. We made some adjustments at the half and played much better in the second half."

Winside's first half score came on a 31 yard pass from Aaron Hoffman to Rick Bussey. In the third quarter the host team took the lead for good on a Hoffman to Cory Brummels strike that covered 41 yards. The two-point conversion was converted off an extra point by Trent Schild for a 14-13 Winside advantage.

Jay Rademacher recorded a Homer fumble in the endzone for the third score of the night for the winners and Ryan Krueger darted in from four yards out in the final stanza for the 22-13 final margin. The Winside win guaranteed the Wildcats a tie for the Lewis & Clark Conference championship. "Our seniors have played on three conference championship teams," Geler added.

The Wildcats gamboled for 199 yards on the ground led by senior Landon Grothe with 126 on just 12 attempts. Krueger gained 45 yards and Hoffman 32. The signal caller was 4-6 through the air for 103 yards and two scores with Brummels catching two balls for 46 yards and Bussey, one for 31 along with Grothe's one catch for six yards.

Defensively, Winside was led by Krueger with 12 tackles and Brummels with 16. Hoffman had 12 tackles and Brook Shatto 11. Landon Grothe and Jay Rademacher each garnered nine tackles. The Wildcats will play Randolph on Friday. "They (Randolph) is 3-4 but they could easily be 4-3," Geler said. "They lost to 6-1 Pleasanton in overtime and lost to 6-1 Bloomfield by just two points."

Winside's defense stretches out the Homer ball carrier during action last Friday in Winside. Here, Landon Grothe and Cory Brummels make the play.

Wayne golf team 11th at State

The Wayne girls golf team competed at the annual Nebraska State Golf Tournament in Grand Island last Thursday and Friday with Dave Heier's team placing 11th of 12 teams with a two-day total of 847.

Holzberg was crowned state champ with a 225 while Columbia Lakesview placed runner up with a 780. Beatrice was third at 781 and Lincoln fourth with a 781. Ogallala was fifth at 783 followed in order by Colby 791, Curtis 797, Omaha DuBois 797, McCook 809, Omaha Skutt 812, Bennington 820, Wayne 837 and Superior 841.

The stage was set but we just didn't perform to the level we wanted. Heier said. "The girls seemed a little nervous but we will use this as a learning experience and build on it for next year."

The Wayne mentor said he felt putting was the number one killer for his team at state.

We're very proud of the girls for qualifying for the state tournament and it's one of those situations where it is the best team in state competition because of them.

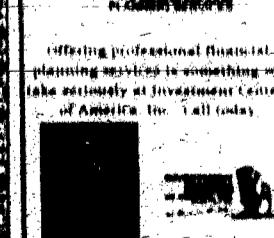

Heier added it was nice that Brady Everett was able to finish her high school career at the state golf tournament.

Curtis' Jerry Danner was a twin hole playoff with McCook's Christopher Knoll to win the individual state championship with a 777 over 46 holes of play.

Wayne's top finisher was Haley Daubke with a 206 on rounds of 103 and 103. Abbie Daubke was next with a 207 with a 109 and 102 while Kristen Thibault was third on the team with a 210. 104, 106. Tracy Hults was fourth for the Blue Devils with a 214, 103, 110 and Brandi Everett earned a 236, 146, 122.

Dunking good time

The Wayne State men's basketball team held a slam dunk contest as part of the tip off night held last Sunday. Tyler Johnson won the slam dunk contest and brought the crowd to its feet with this classic. The Wildcats also held a scrimmage and a three point shooting contest with the women's team. WSU will open the season on November 14 against the UNO Mavericks in Rice Auditorium.

The first kick

The Wayne State women's soccer team took to the field for the first time ever in Wayne Monday afternoon against the University of Sioux Falls. The Wildcats fell 1-0 and are still looking for their first goal of the year after three contests. Above Cindy Anderson and another Wildcat try to play defense while at right, the Cat attempt to defend against a head ball.

Tekamah-Herman spoils Wayne's Homecoming

Tekamah-Herman scored two out-of-the-ordinary touchdowns in the fourth quarter against the Wayne Blue Devils last Friday night and it proved heart-breaking for the host team as Wayne fell to 1-6 on the season with a 20-17 setback on Homecoming.

Wayne did everything they had too to earn the victory, outgaining Tekamah by a convincing 148 to 117 total yard margin including a 209-yard passing night while holding the visitors to just 79 yards through the air. However, a 25-yard return for a second-half an interception return for a touchdown made the difference.

"It was a tough loss," Wayne coach John McLaughlin said. "Anytime we put yard our opponent three-to-one we expect to win the game." Wayne trailed 7-0 after the first quarter but gained 10 second quarter points to trail 10-7 at the break on a 28-yard field goal by Josh McLaughlin and a one yard run by the junior fullback who also converted the point after kick.

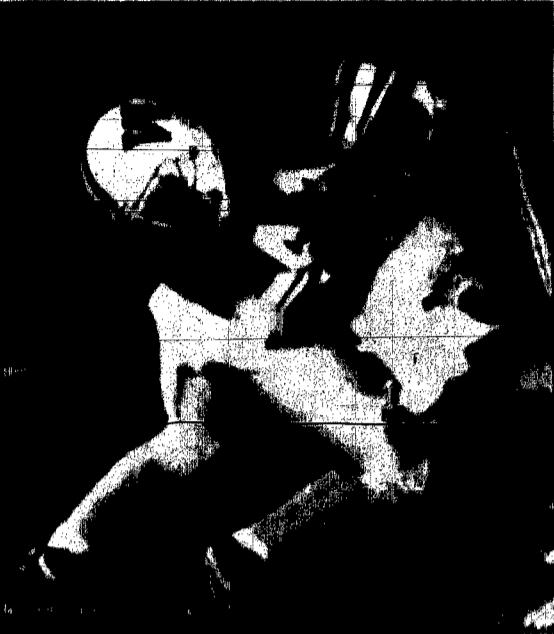

McLaughlin would go on to score all 12 of Wayne's points as he scored on a three yard run in the fourth quarter to give Wayne a 17-7 cushion before Scott Hartman ran the opening kickoff back 25 yards to paydirt. Nick Marion also converted a Clinton Fuller pass and rammed 46 yards for the game's final scoring with a 10-yard TD in the fourth quarter.

Wayne tallied 14 first downs in the game compared to eight for Tekamah. The Blue Devils were led on the ground by McLaughlin with 77 yards on 16 carries while Tim Ziehl added 65 yards. Clinton Schmitz was Fuller's top receiver with four catches for 67 yards.

While Adam Endicott had three receptions for 33 yards and John Magnussen, two catches for 41 yards.

Defensively, Wayne was led by Wes Steverns and Jesse Rathwisch with 11 tackles each while Danil Jensen and Tim Ziehl added nine each. Wayne had four turnovers in the game while the visitors had none. The Blue Devils will close out the 1997 season on Thursday night at 7:30 against Pierce in Wayne.

Wayne's Josh McLaughlin stretches for additional yardage during the Blue Devils game with Tekamah-Herman last Friday in Wayne. The host team fell by a 20-17 margin, leaving Wayne with a 1-6 record.

Wayne boys upset at districts while girls earn state berth

By Kevin Peterson
of the Herald

All good things must come to an end at least for a little while.

The Wayne boys' state country team was surprised at the district tournament last Friday at Logue View and then suffered a sharp painful fourth falling to qualify for the annual State Boys' Country Meet.

It is the first time in 11 years the Blue Devil boys failed to qualify either a team or individual for state. On the other hand, senior runner Tony Kinner, assisted by his friend Ethan Canning, won an eighth place finish in the 15-3A stocking.

Country boys won the sprint team event with 31 points while Logue View placed runner-up with 16. Wayne did edge past Logue View 140-138.

The girls did edge qualifying for state, coach Vicki Bush said. "We had another great year and the rest of the team responded and did a third place we can advance and see what happens."

Logue View placed 12th in 14-3A while Hixton was 17th in 14-4A. Valley Brothers placed 10th in 14-4A followed by Crystal Range 17th, Logue View 17-2A, and Lake Hart 20th in 14-2A.

Logue View Michael emerged as the boys team champion with 14 points while Pierce was second with 12. Hixton edged Wayne by five points for the third and final state qualifying spot. 13-60.

Arlington was fifth with 96 points.

Laurel edged by Creighton, 28-22

The Laurel prep football team fell short on the road following a 28-22 victory over Creighton last Friday.

Laurel started strong and gained the lead again with a 14-yard TD. At 7-11, the Bears recovered a fumble in the second stanza and scored on a 20-yard pass from Sean Smith to Wyatt Lewis and they closed out the half on a 15-yard pass from Smith to Chad Jensen. At the break the Bears trailed by a 22-14 margin.

Jensen plunged over from a yard out in the fourth quarter to chip into a 14-point deficit but it proved not enough.

Kenny Gabbard paced the offense with 16 yards rushing while Gabe Gabbard and Matt Dwyer added 26 each.

Smith had 7-14 in passing for 112 yards and Jensen was 1-1 for 33 yards. Wyatt Lewis caught three balls for 139 yards and Jensen had three receptions for nine yards. Sean Hartung had one catch for 31 yards and Tyler Hyde one catch for 11 yards.

Defensively, Laurel was led by Sean Barnes with 21 tackles and David Figg with 19 while Brad Herring added 9.5 and Matt Dwyer 10.

The Bears will close out the regular season Friday night when they host Omani.

Whinside volleyball team wins tourney

The Whinside volleyball team defeated Allen last Thursday in Allen in straight games, 13-14, 13-9.

Then, the Schroeder's Wildcats traveled to compete in the Hartington Invite on Saturday where they went 3-0 and won the championship.

In Allen, Whinside struggled early according to Schroeder but settled down and got the job done.

"I was pleased with our scrappy mix, defensively," Schroeder said. "We are getting a lot more balls than we were earlier in the year."

Mandi Topp was 13-13 in serving with four aces while Rachel Deck was 8-8 with one ace. Mindy Janke was successful on all six of her serves and Shannon Bowers was 5-5.

Jess Miller led the team in hitting with nine kill spikes while Sara Maritz had five. Topp finished with eight set assists and Bowers, five, while Miller had four blocks to lead the defense.

"I was happy with the way Abby, Abby and Rachel Deck came off the bench to boost our defense," Schroeder added.

Allen's defense came from the serving line where the Eagles were just 25-18.

Stacy Martensson did notch three aces serves while leading the hitters with seven kill spikes.

Brett Blum was the top setter and led the team with two aces blocks. Martensson led the team in hitting with 11 points.

"Our girls have really come together the last couple of matches," coach Dennis Hingst said. "They communicated and played well overall."

Whinside defeated Ponca in the first round of the Hartington Invite, 13-15, 13-14 before downing Wynd, 6-13, 13-2, 13-10. In the final they defeated the host team, Hartington, 14-16, 13-8, 13-8.

"Overall, I would have to give all 12 girls who suited up for us, credit," Schroeder said. "Everyone played their roles extremely well. Our net play was outstanding as we racked up 10 kill spikes and 42 aces blocks. Our bench support was super. I can't say enough about these girls. It's great to have the athletes that I have, but it's even greater to have athletes who are disciplined and work as hard and as well together as they do. That's very satisfying to itself."

Whinside was 35-37 in visiting against Ponca with Mindy Janke leading the way, 13-13, while Shannon Bowers and Rachel Deck were each 10-10. Mandi Topp was 7-7.

Sara Maritz had 11 kill spikes for team tops and Jess Miller, eight kills while Bowers notched 10 set assists for team tops. Miller and Mandi Topp were defensive leaders at the net with seven and five blocks respectively, and Janke recorded 11 digs.

Janke was a perfect 12-12 in serving and Bowers, 13-11 while Mandi Topp recorded three aces aces.

Bowers notched 12 set assists and Topp, 11 with Miller dishing 20 kill spikes to lead the winners. Maritz had 10 kills and Janke, six.

Miller also had four blocks to lead Whinside and Bowers had 11 digs followed by Maritz with 10 and Topp, nine.

In the finale Rachel Deck was 16-16 in serving to lead the way while Janke was 13-14 and Topp, 13-13 with five aces.

Sara Maritz notched 17 kill spikes and Jess Miller, 13 with Topp recording 10 set assists while Bowers finished with 10.

The defense was powerful again as Miller had six blocks while Janke and Maritz netted three each.

HARTINGTON - In Hartington, the Wildcats dropped a straight games' match to Hartington, 12-13, 9-13.

The Wildcats fell to 10-6 on the season. We notched seven aces total, Dennis Schroeder said. "We missed three consecutive sets in the second game with the score 12-8."

Mindy Janke and Jess Miller were each 5-5 in serving to lead Whinside while Sara Maritz and Jess Miller each had eight kill spikes with Mandi Topp netting five kills.

Shannon Bowers had 10 set assists and Topp tallied four while Miller had six blocks and Janke eight digs.

Whinside's Shannon Bowers tries to set the ball to one of her hitters, blindly during action against Allen last week.

Allen's Tiffany McAfee returns a Whinside serve and passes to her setter.

Sports Briefs

Laurel thumps Nelligh-Oakdale

(AP) - The Laurel-Concord volleyball team breezed past Nelligh-Oakdale in action last Thursday at Nelligh, 13-6, 13-4. Both Cunningham team vars hit in serving by Katie Marzona, 12-12 with one ace and Michelle Wilfry, 4-4 with an ace. Caigie Schroeder, vars 5-5, and Megan Adkins, 6-7, while Jessie Lewis was 3-6, and Danielle Beckman, 4-4.

Adkins was 13-13 in setting the ball with 12 aces and Wilfry was 5-5 with two aces as Schroeder led the hitters with 10 kill spikes while Lewis had six kills and Lewis 10. Beckman had four dig for team tops.

The team dominated throughout the match, Cunningham said. "Our outside was a strength and middle hitters contributed greatly. Heidi Javitz and Caigie Schroeder, Katie Marzona also did a nice job of serving the zones and Megan Adkins ran the offense soft with support from Michelle Wilfry as the secondary setter."

Wakefield downs Coleridge

(AP) - The Wakefield spiders defeated Coleridge last week in Coleridge, 13-6, 10-13, 13-2. Jason Brudagom piled the covers with three aces on 10 of 16 attempts while Jerry Sandefur was 12-12 with one ace and Kristin Preston, 11-11 with one ace. Brudagom was 41-43 in setting with 19 aces while L. Pottier was 15-16 with four aces while Preston led the way with seven kill spikes while Jerry Sandefur had six.

Preston led the defense with eight total blocks and she emerged 16 digs with Kristin Preston recording five digs. The girls played a solid match, coach Mary Slaughter said. "We tried some different combinations in the second game and the consistency just wasn't there."

Wayne junior High gridders end season

(WAYNE) - The Wayne eighth grade football team ended the season on a disappointing note last week with a 14-0 shutout at the hands of Cedar Catholic. "The boys made much improvement throughout the season which will carry over to their high school careers," coach Greg Lehner said. Brad Hefner and Matt Webb led the defense with eight tackles each and Webb also had an interception and fumble recovery.

The over-the-grade team lost by the same 14-0 score as each team finished with identical 1-3 records. William Karr and James Davis led the defense with seven tackles each and Davis added an interception.

Lions to host football skills competition

(WAYNE) - The Wayne Lions club will host its annual football skills competition this Sunday, Oct. 26 at the practice field behind the Wayne Elementary School. The event features punt, pass and kick for youth from the ages of 8-12.

Rewards will be awarded for the top three places in each of four age groups as follows: 8 under, 9-10, 9-10 and 11-12. Contests may register on the day of the competition but should arrive by 1:45 p.m. to sign up for the appropriate age category.

WSC quarterback earns MVP honors

(WAYNE) - Wayne State College's Jamie Jones was named the Nebraska Division II Football Player of the Week for his play during last Saturday's win over Northern State.

The 6-3, 225-pound sophomore from Hartington was 10-48 for 127 yards and three touchdowns in the Lions' 28-14 victory.

Baseball donation

The Old Timers Baseball Game held last summer was used as a fund-raiser for the base ball field. $1,604.15 was raised on or before the day of the game and another $700 was matched by AAL Branch 1470. Because of the success of the event, plans are underway to make this an annual event. Those helping included from left: Dave Leboeck, Golen Wieser, Leon Moyer (AAL Branch 1470), Ray Nelson, Marty Summerfield, Jeff Zales and Paul Otto.

WSC men's basketball team earns 21st spot in NCAA-II

The Wayne State College men's basketball team received its first-ever NAIA Division II national ranking when the Wildcats were tabbed number 21 in the Division II Bulletin Preseason Top 25 Poll, released this week.

"It is my understanding that this will be the official poll for Division II basketball for the 1997-98 season," WSC head coach Greg McDermott said.

Cal State Bakersfield, the 1996-97 national champion, are the preseaon top team. Wayne State is one of four teams from the North Central Region ranked in the top 25.

South Dakota State, last year's regional champion, is ranked sixth. Northern State opens the season at number 18, followed by Wayne State at 21 and Fort Hays State at 25.

"Although preseason polls have little meaning, this does bring national respect to our basketball program," McDermott said as he meets his fourth year with the 1998.

"My current and former players and coaches have worked very hard to rebuild the Wayne State basketball program. They deserve the recognition."

Four starters return for Wayne State which went 21-7 last year and ended the season with an 11-game winning streak. The Wildcats also were 14-0 at the Auditorium during the 1996-97 season, concluding their home winning streak at 22 games.

Among the returning starters are the team's top two scorers, senior Craig Philipp and junior guard Tyler Johnson.

Philipp averaged 17.5 points per game while also leading the club in rebounding at 5.7 boards per outing.

Meanwhile, Johnson averaged 16.0 points per game while handling out a single-season school record 150 assists.

WSC begins the regular season on Friday, Nov. 13 at home against the University of Nebraska Omaha.

The men will play three games against the previous top 25 including a home date on Jan. 21 and in Aberdeen, S.D. on Feb. 11.

WSC also plays (united) 18 Northern State twice during the season including a home date on Jan. 21 and in Aberdeen, S.D. on Feb. 11.

Wayne State senior Craig Philipp throws down a dunk during tip-off festivities last Sunday. Philipp leads the Wildcats into the season at the leading returning scorer and rebounder. WSC is ranked 21st in the country.

Investment group has anniversary celebration

ENTRAL Nebraska Investment Club celebrated its fifth anniversary with dinner at Marilyn's Tea Room in Reeds.

There are fifteen members on the roster. Current club officers are Mae Grove, president; Phelps and Nancy Jo Powers.

The club was organized in October of 1992 by a group of women interested in learning more about investing in the stock market.

The club meets monthly to study and discuss stocks to hear professionals speak about finance and to plan investment strategies.

The group has invested in state, national and international firms.

Shop accepted into Artisans gift Market

The Quilt Shop of Wahoo has been accepted into the non-profit Artisans Gift Market, the first wholesale trade show of this kind.

The show will be held Oct. 10-19, 1997 at the Buffalo County Expo Center in Kearney.

The two-day show sponsored by Central Plains Development Center in Holdrege will feature specialty and wholesale trade shows of this kind.

The Quilt Shop will be showing its officially licensed University of Nebraska product line.

A wide variety of products and mediums will be represented, including pottery, ceramic glass, fabric and metals.

Cheryl Bartzell of Tiny Wooden Treasures in Otoe manufactures wooden products and has crafted items for the show.

"I'm just getting started, in wholesaling and Kansas City and some of the other markets are so large. This will be a nice opportunity for me to reach out to stores in many states without having to travel so far."

Gift store owners are pleased at the chance to purchase Nebraska-made products.

"With two retail stores, it's difficult to get around to all the shows. By looking forward to seeing a lot of Nebraska-made products under one roof," said Connie Maloney, owner of Cabin Nebraska Store in Lincoln and Omaha.

There is still limited space available for the show and artisans should request a call for entry by calling toll-free 800-940-WHFB the next day preceding Nov. 11.

Buyers and exhibitors can contact to Fall-June Anderson, Central Plains Development Center at the same number for more information.

QUESTION: I always worry about setting laundry. Are there any preventative measures I should take?

ANSWER: Avoid delayed cleaning and heat drying. Spills or stains should be laundered or dry-cleaned at the earliest convenience. When washing, it's a good idea to hang dry any clothes you think may have a problem stain. The heat of a dryer can be a big contributor to setting a stain that didn't come out in the cleaning process.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 28 at St. Mary's Holy Family Hall.

SHARE, which stands for Neat Help and Resource Exchange, is part of the World SHARE nation-wide, non-profit program that asks people to help someone in their community by doing two hours of volunteer service. In return for their efforts, they are able to buy a $10 food package for only $14.

"We hope to find a core team of interested people to establish a Host Site in Wayne. This would be the 50th SHARE site established in Nebraska," said Tom Kuehl, SHARE Iowa & Nebraska Community Developer.

Each month over 4,000

Nebraskans give of themselves to help individuals or community groups. Most find a true spiritual reward in volunteering and do much more than the hours required to get their food.

Over 63,000 hours of community volunteering has been done by SHARE participants in 41 east and central Nebraska counties thus far in 1997.

SHARE's goal is to be a positive community resource and donations are averages to local non-profit groups. The program is not government sponsored and is a self-help assistance program.

People of all income levels may and do participate. It is especially beneficial for families with young children, college students and senior citizens.

There is no limit to the number of packages an individual or family purchase, as long as they do two hours of volunteer work and pay $14 per package.

The SHARE packages are a great way to add variety to a person's diet and free up money for other purposes, Kuehl said.

Volunteer efforts can include any help done for free for someone who lives outside the participant's household.

For instance, driving a neighbor to the grocery store or doctor's office, mowing a person's yard, teaching a Sunday School class, visiting a Foster grandparent, volunteering at a local hospital, making quilts or mittens and delivering them to a church or school.

Participants find not only personal and personally rewarding to help someone, Kuehl added.

Those unable to attend the meeting can get an informational brochure at St. Mary's parish office.

A Touch of Brass will perform at Our Savior Lutheran Church on Sunday.

Reformation celebration planned at Our Savior

A Touch of Brass will be doing its worship at Our Savior Lutheran Church as part of the Reformation Day observance at Reformation Day on Sunday, Oct. 26.

A Touch of Brass is a principal outstanding brass ensemble.

Reformation Day recalls the time when Martin Luther called the church to take note of the findings of reformation through the efforts of independent theologians in Germany.

The actual day of the event Oct. 26, 1517 is celebrated on the anniversary closer to that day.

Reflecting on the significance of the Reformation, Pastor Martin Kuehl of Our Savior Lutheran Church said, "Of all that we celebrate on that day, the most important is God's constant invitation that we must always stand firm on the foundation of our faith which is Jesus Christ and him alone."

The Savior Lutheran Church invites the community to share in worship this weekend. Worship services are Saturday evening at 6 p.m. and Sunday at 8 and 10:30 a.m. The church is located at the corner of 5th and Main Streets.

Women attend convention

The Elkhorn Club met Oct. 14 at the home of Betty Beam with 11 members present.

President Betty Beam opened the meeting with a reading from "God's Chalice of Friendship."

Following the business meeting, Betty Beam presented her choice from her bookshelf. She chose history as her special interest and reviewed "The Book of Mormon Bibliobibliology" by Ralph Bell.

The book is a story about a Jewish family living in Germany that had to find a way to escape or perish during the holocaust.

The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 27. Arlene Dierendorf will be director and there will be a potluck following.

For more information, call 375-2000.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

Presbyterian Women gathered on Oct. 14 with 30 members present.

Deanne Ferree and Jacqueline Ovens planned to attend the fall meeting at Carroll First on Oct. 29.

A new article about the Federated Branches of Continuing Young Women was read by Jacqueline Ovens.

The annual Thanksgiving dinner will be held at the church on the evening of Nov. 22.

Each member contributed to the offering program and the amount of $1,140.00 was given.

Deanne will send the check and half of members.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 5 with Charlotte Jones as hostess and conference director of the program.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Carroll Woman's Club will Oct. 29 at the Lutheran Church Social Room with 11 members and one guest, Dorothy McNamee present.

Bethany Froehling, recipient of the scholarship, called the meeting to order, followed by the singing of three hymns.

Bethany was selected the scholarship recipient.

The first portion of the meeting was spent in the singing of hymns.

The second portion of the meeting was spent in the singing of hymns.

Include safety in Halloween

It's that time of the year when thoughts turn to ghosts, witches, goblins, black cats and trick or treating. All Hallow's Eve, or Halloween as it's known, is actually the combination of Celtic and church customs which have evolved to become an annual tradition.

The most popular activity within this tradition is "trick or treating." Often parents put a lot of thought and work into their kids' costumes, but safety precautions should be considered as children prepare for their "haunting" night out.

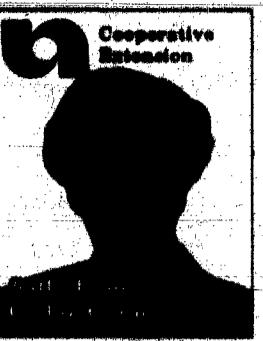

Costumes should be roomy enough that warm clothing can be worn underneath and so children should be able to walk in them easily without tripping or entangling their feet. Comfortable shoes or sneakers should be worn for walking on a variety of surfaces. Additionally, it's a good idea to use light colors or reflective tape or decals in the costume, so that children are visible to motorists.

If kids want to paint their faces, be sure that makeup contains ingredients that are labeled "laboratory tested," "meets federal standards for cosmetics," or "non-toxic." Small children may need help having makeup applied, and should always be supervised.

Children should be encouraged to wear their masks or caps over their heads while walking and then pulled down at the destination.

Masks should have holes cut large enough for the nose, mouth and eyes. Make sure wigs and bands are securely attached so they don't interfere with a child's vision. Sharp objects shouldn't be part of the outfit, but a flashlight should be. Children need to be able to see where they are walking. Accessories on the costume should be made from flexible materials.

Additional tips for making this a safe trick-or-treating Halloween include:

1. Make sure kids stick to familiar neighborhoods.
2. Establish a time that the child will return or check in.
3. Affix the name, address, and phone number to the sleeve of costumes, in case they get lost.
4. Arm children with change so they can call home if there is a problem or they need a ride.

Cookbooks abound with unused recipes

I'm sure every cook has too many recipes. I know I do. And too many recipe books.

Trouble is, I only use one or two recipes from each book. Kristi gave me a cookbook with blank pages a couple of years ago. I've been gallantly filling it with old standards, and recently even started an index to it.

Of course, there are fails in foods as well as in fashion. Like it's been raw fat in the kitchen. Many of my old favorites are definitely not low fat.

I wrote a tribute to Aunt Dora several years ago. Even though we had many family meals at her home, they were plain cooking and I didn't expect her to have a large collection of recipes. But it seems she was just like the rest of us. Cousin home has been going through her things and there are cook books, recipes clipped from magazines and a stack of 3 x 5 cards with directions for every thing from stuffed eggplant to million dollar picnics.

I chose a cookbook published by the women of the Holton UCB church in 1930. This cover no longer stays dry. Many of the contributions are in heaven, I cherish their memories.

When cousin Addy was here over Labor Day, I asked her to sort through Dora's recipe cards and she chose a few to hand-me-downing. But she left too many recipes to go.

We quit a kick-out of reading them. One was for apricot pie jelly. It says to mix apricot pits from apricot tree in water. Pour a large kettle of water and water until the water line is one inch below the level of pits. Boil for 10 minutes. Strain through jelly bag and use same jelly directions for mint jelly.

One says it's for dippes. Put as many pimento in your love into a jar and cover with olive oil. It will turn green. One day liquid turned bitter and sour again.

Think it's for rhubarb? No, it's for more rhubarb. You can get out of reading my 1930 Betty Crocker book in a click of a button. Seeing though it's page to hang on to.

Now to the kitchen to try the recipe for hamburger soup in the paper today.

WORKING WOMEN OF WAYNE

A Celebration of American Business Women

Woman working for 60 years

By Clara Osten
of the Herald

Even before women in the work force were common, Rose Fredrickson was involved in business.

The 86 year old was born on a farm near Pleasant, the second oldest of 10 children.

"We lived on a farm and there was always work to do. I helped with the younger children and did chores, stocked grain and picked corn," Mrs. Fredrickson said.

In 1930, she married Bill Fredrickson and the couple moved to a farm northwest of Carroll.

"We continued to farm through the 30's. However, at that time, the crops that survived the drought were eaten by grasshoppers. I continued to help on the farm, doing whatever needed to be done, in addition to the housework," she said.

During this time, the Fredricksons farmed without the aid of electricity. They also had three children, Hulie, Swede and Cleone.

"In the 40's there was not as much travel. We visited neighbors and everybody made due with what they had because everyone was in the same position," Rose said.

"In 1937 we decided we had to do something. We had nothing left on the farm so we went to the bank and after discussing it with the banker, we got a loan to buy the station and tavern from Joe Haberm," she added.

The couple and their children lived in a one room trailer that had a door connecting it to the station. Later, a kitchenette was added.

"During that time, we put in lots of hours. The station opened at 7 a.m. and the tavern didn't close until midnight. We took turns taking care of the children," she said.

Because of a shallow well, the water at the station was not suitable so drinking water had to be carried in from a farm north of the station.

In the late 1940's a house was moved in just south of the station. This is still where Mrs. Fredrickson lives.

"I was involved in all parts of the business. I pumped gas by hand, worked in the tavern and kept the books. At that time a tele-plant provided us with electricity," Rose said.

Because of the water situation, laundry was taken into town to be washed. However, all the other work of housekeeping was left for Mrs. Fredrickson to do when she was not working at the station.

"I remember that we were even open on Sundays. We put in a lot of hours and sometimes when I look back on it now, I don't know how we did it, but we managed somehow," she said.

During the 1950's when she continued to work along side her husband, Rose recalls very few women who worked away from home.

In 1958 after his return from the service, Swede became a partner with his parents and a number of changes were made to the business. In 1965 he bought the business and Bill became semi-retired. However, Rose continued to serve as the company's bookkeeper.

When she was 65 years old, Mrs. Fredrickson retired from the station.

"I was going to get all the work done that I hadn't had time for before, but I found myself looking out the window to see what was going on," she said.

Throughout the years, the Fredricksons did nearly all of the work at the station themselves.

"Because the tavern was so small, we served people in their cars. They would pull up and knock their horn and we would wait on them. Finally, in 1964 we leased the bar to Alice Mays who had worked in the bar for 11 years," Rose said.

"Our income was always dependent on the farm. If the farmers didn't have a crop, they couldn't buy anything. If they weren't spending money, others in town didn't have money either," she said.

In addition to her three children, Mrs. Fredrickson has 10 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren. She now keeps busy with Bible studies, visiting for her grand and great-grandchildren and going to the Wayne Senior Center.

Since retirement, Mrs. Fredrickson has been able to do some traveling and went on trip to Hawaii with a friend.

"I have seen lots of changes in the 60 years we have been in business. When we first came here all the businesses were on Main Street. I have met a lot of people through my place in our business," she said.

Mrs. Fredrikson was a working woman for many years, both as a farm wife and as a partner with her husband Bill while the couple operated Fredrikson Service Station and Tavern just north of Wayne.

You and the law

Have you got a case?

How can you tell if you have a valid personal injury case? For a personal injury case to exist, there must be liability or negligence, at fault and damages, including bills from the doctor or hospital.

Whenever someone decides to sue for personal injury, he or she needs to bring the lawyer in or his doctor, bills, hospital release forms, accident reports and photos of the accident scene. Prospective claimants should also be able to discuss what happened and assess the damages.

Most personal injury cases are taken on a contingency basis so there are no initial legal costs. The lawyer is paid based on how much he or she collects for the client.

State and local bar associations offer lawyer referral service nearest you. Check your Yellow Pages or call your state or local bar association. You can also visit the American Bar Association's Web site at <http://www.abanet.org/pubs/> for more information.

What she says

She really means

I don't really need a big diamond ring.

And you don't need to fishtail and golf.

We really can't afford this jewelry.

Please give your spending money on your hobbies.

Big diamonds are just so pretentious.

I can't wait to flash
the ring in his face.

Oh, you really shouldn't have!

It's about time, honed!

Accessorize a wardrobe

It can pay to start at the bottom — especially when it comes to your fall wardrobe. Endless options exist including mini-skirts, hooded dresses, many-year-inspired "suits" and knits. Falling Through the Trends to determine what works for you is hard enough, but where does one go from there? Completing a look with the right accessories is as important as selecting the items in the first place — and in many cases, can make or break the outfit.

So how does a woman incorporate accessories into her wardrobe for fall? Legwear, a key fashion accessory, is a great place to start. There are a few guidelines. For one, yes, black opaque tights do work for fall; yet switching to a new shade such as Mallard or Bordeaux will tie the look together. The new Flirtex Silk Reflections Opaque Collection, for example, includes a host of opaque textures in varying levels of opacity and rich fall shades which enable a woman to fall right into one of the season's fall looks. An added tip — try to match any thing this fall as it's the color of the sea — coral.

Another hot accessory, black silk stockings look beautiful when paired with the right sheer pantyhose. This fall, Hanes Hosiery is launching a new hosiery collection called Hanes Silk Reflections Irresistible Collection. This product offers a revolutionary new type of spanders by exceptionnal sheerness, combined with an all-course spanders contraction for exceptional comfort. With micro mini back in style, there's only more and more leg to show off so it is imperative women make the right choice when it comes to leg wear.

Speaking of skirts, one of the easiest is the knee length skirt with a side slit. Again, this look calls for showing lots of leg so women looking to take advantage of the opportunity might want to show off one of the season's fantastic textures. At work, a tailored rib tight professionalizes what can turn into a deck-look for night with one of Donna Karan Hosiery's cutting edge fall styles such as the Arthur Burnout. Or, make a strong fashion statement with DKNY's Cyclic Rib or Ruffled Cross Cross Tight.

Hanes offers women Sheer Comfort Pantyhose featuring a comfort waist band, an invisible seat band and an enhanced toe for added protection so women can look relaxed yet pulled together. By a fitted sweater paired with an adorable plaid pleated skirt (just like a high school uniform), fallowing the look with wavy sheer hosiery and footless creates the perfect look for casual day. Remember, relaxed not ruffled.

Whatever fashion styles you choose for fall, know that suitable options do exist in hosiery. So as you fall into the season, step it up by investing in both function and fashionables legwear to complete the season's hottest, hippest styles.

Hanes Hosiery is available at fine department and specialty stores.

Help your child feel like a winner

Do you feel it's hard being a good parent and raising a child in today's fast-paced society?

You can be a great parent, and your children can feel like they are "winners" in the biggest game there is — "the game of life."

John Croyle, who has raised over 1,100 children in the past 25 years, says anyone can be a great parent. He has found that there are four basic things parents must give their children:

1. Unconditional Love — That says to your child, "I love you, no matter what."

2. Trust — By sticking to your words, "I will never lie to you."

3. Security — Being there for your child, "I will always stick by you."

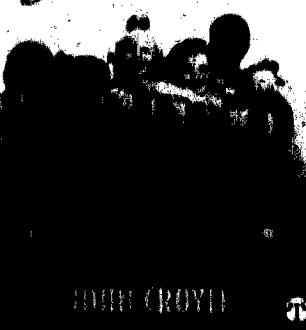

4. Responsibility — There will always be consequences for wrong actions. "If you disobey me, I will have to discipline you."

John Croyle is founder of Big Oak Ranches for Boys and Girls. Most of the children at the Ranches were rescued out of homes of abusive situations, and needed a chance in life. Croyle is convinced that any child will become a "winner" if they are given a positive foundation in life.

For more great parenting tips, read John Croyle's book, "Bringing Out the Winner In Your Child", available in most bookstores, or to order call 1-800-564-2481.

Convenience foods help at home

Bring home your favorite restaurant menu items with a little help from today's convenience foods.

The wide range of new foods in supermarket shelves today make it possible to recreate a variety of ethnic dishes, including the now popular "Wraps." Here combine eggplant, hummus, and tzatziki.

Look for "Bistro" restaurant-style items saving you time to make any night easier in minutes.

• Garlic Mashed Potatoes — Available in the freezer case, this standby side dish for any meal (chicken or turkey) cuts preparation time with the addition of roasted garlic, creamy mashed potatoes, and a head of garlic.

• Precooked Polenta — Ready-to-eat polenta from the refrigerated section can be served hot or cold with or topped with either broiled Italian sausages, onions, and red pepper slices or served in an oven.

• Mouthwatering Blackened Wraps — A complete meal bag found in the freezer case from the Bistro Restaurant Favorites line include a strip of blackened grilled chicken, spicy salsa, chipotle-style dressing, Spanish flavor rice, jicama and diced vegetables, and tomato tortilla.

Be aware of warning signs

CHARACTERISTICS OF A BATTERER

1. Abuse as a child - 70 percent of batterers have either abused as children or have grown up with a family with domestic violence.
2. Frequently loses temper.
3. Commit acts of violence against objects.
4. Batterers will often damage, break things that are important to their victim. This is done to intimidate and control.
5. Abuses drugs/alcohol. The use of drugs/alcohol does not cause violence; it does cloud judgment, diminish defenses, hinder effective communication, reduce inhibition, and is used as an excuse.
6. Extreme jealousy. The use of "I love you so much, I can't bear to be without you" is used as an excuse to control where a partner goes, who they see, what they do, when they do it, and is used as a means of control in the name of "love".
7. Rapid de-masculinizing behaviors: making all the decisions, and acting like the "Master of the Castle" are examples of using male privilege to control.
8. Dual personality - The Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde phenomena. The victim of violence may very well be the only person who sees the "gentle side" of their abuser.
9. Overkill of kindness or cruelty. After a battering episode, it is common for the abuser to promise it will never happen again; they may also have split, and act very much like the person the victim fell in love with.
10. Do you fear the anger? A victim knows what the abuser is capable of and may walk on egg shells to keep the peace.

11. Become enraged when you don't listen to advice.
12. Follow you where you go, when you are.

what you do, what you say; there are ways to isolate and control.

13. Fail to accept responsibility for their own actions. This is a way of denying and blaming.
14. Dictate how you dress.

15. Abuse animals - Often an abuser will blame the pets of their victim; this is a form of intimidation. The victim of domestic violence knows all too well that it could just as well be them and not the pet who is getting abused.

16. Putting you down, the activities and things that are important to you. This is a form of emotional abuse; it humiliates the victim and makes them feel bad about themselves.

17. Pushes you into doing things you aren't comfortable with and do not want to do. This is done by coercing and using threats.

18. Slaps, pulls hair, teeth, bite, shove or throws you. These are forms of physical violence. If they happen once, you can be very sure they will happen again and will most likely be more violent.

These are all things that batterers use to gain and maintain power and control over their victims.

CHARACTERISTICS OF A HEALTHY RELATIONSHIP

1. A healthy relationship takes work, compromise, and understanding from both partners and we all have a right to expect it.
2. Listen non-judgmental.
3. Value each other's opinions and do not try to impose your ideas.
4. Be emotionally affirming and understanding.
5. Each other are safe and comfortable expressing their feelings.
6. Support each other.
7. Respect the right to have friends, feelings, activities individually.
8. Admit when wrong.
9. Share responsibility.
10. Realize people make mistakes.
11. Do not patronize.
12. Allow and encourage individual growth.
13. Do not attempt to change or control each other.
14. Make joint decisions.
15. Seek mutually satisfying resolutions to conflict.
16. Trust.
17. Allows each partner to be responsible for themselves.
18. Promote good self-esteem.
19. Encourage spontaneity.
20. Welcome differences, risks, and vulnerability.
21. Affirm equality.
22. Encourage each other to be comfortable with needed solitude.

Small business scores big

With more than 23 million small business owners in America and 30 percent of the U.S. population considering starting a business at any given time, competition is fierce.

Entrepreneurs can get a jump on the competition by having a financial management plan in place to maximize profits and minimize costs.

According to the S-CORP Association (Service Corps of Retired Executives), a non-profit organization dedicated to the formation, growth and success of a small business entrepreneurs often overlook two important areas: financial planning and cash flow. To help small businesses succeed, S-CORP and Visa U.S.A., S-CORP's financial management experts,

- 1. Research your industry and identify your market size. By determining the cost of entry into your field, you can develop a more accurate budget for operating your business.

- 2. Prepare a business plan. The business plan is a written description of what you want to do and will help you determine what funds you need to generate. It should include a financial plan, a marketing plan, and how you are going to sell your product or service.

- 3. Seek professional advice. Consultant can help you shape your overall financial picture. More than 12,000 S-CORP consultants nationwide can review your business plan, cash flow projections and supporting documentation proper to applying for conventional loans or small business Administration guaranteed loans all free of charge.

- 4. Establish your personal credit history. Lending offices often look at your personal credit and repayment habits when considering a loan for your business, so use your personal credit cards responsibly.

Also, consider using the Visa Business card offers a source of credit that can be paid off in full or resolved, helping you gain better control over your available capital.

- 5. Identify all sources of financial assistance. When seeking either short term or long term capital consider all possible sources for funds, including personal loans

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

The state's survey on the prevalence of major health risk factors among adults indicates Nebraska has achieved the Healthy People 2000 Objective for breast cancer screening.

"The Good Life keeps getting better and the rapid increase in mammography screening demonstrates the commitment to preventative health and public wellness in our state," said Jessie Baumgartner, Director of the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services.

"Two years ago, Nebraska ranked second in last nationally for mammography usage. Today, we celebrate the achievement of the Healthy People 2000 breast cancer screening goals - four years early."

The Year 2000 Objective sets a goal of 60 percent as "the proportion of Nebraska women 50 years and above who will, in the year 2000, report having had both a mammogram and a clinical breast exam within the past two years."

The 1996 Nebraska Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (NBRFSS) data indicates this goal was met. The NBRFSS is a random telephone survey developed by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and used in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and three territories.

Coordinated efforts of public health programs, health care providers, community agencies and nonprofit and private sector organizations have resulted in the increase of mammography usage. The collective efforts of the Nebraska Medical Association, the American Cancer Society, the Sundbergh Corporation/Nebraska (the Medicaid contractor), and the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services have helped achieve the Healthy People 2000 mammography objective.

We are pleased that the trend for increased breast cancer screening continues and that the message about the importance of early detection has reached many Nebraska women who are in their prime of life," said Dr. Antje Piskow, principal clinical coordinator for the the Sundbergh Corporation/Nebraska. "However, there are still many women we call mother, sister, daughter and neighbor who have not gotten the message or do not have adequate access to quality breast cancer screening."

The 1996 NBRFSS data reveal that the frequency of breast cancer screening varies considerably by demographic and socioeconomic factors. Women who are not as likely to have had both a mammogram and a clinical breast exam in the past two years are older, less affluent, less educated and live in the rural areas of our state.

The percentage of women within different demographic groups who report having had both a mammogram and a clinical breast exam in the past two years are as follows:

67 percent of women 50-64 years

54 percent of women 65+ years

80 percent of women 50 years and above earning $15,000/year and higher

60 percent of women 50 years and above earning $15,000-$15,000/year

34 percent of women 50 years and above earning less than $15,000/year

77 percent of urban residents 50 years and above (defined Douglas, Sarpy and Lancaster counties)

55 percent of rural residents 50 years and above (defined as the remaining 90 Nebraska counties)

67 percent of women 50 years and above with more than a high school education

80 percent of women 50 years and above with a high school diploma

45 percent of women 50 years and above who have not completed high school

"In the past five years, our organizations have coordinated and combined resources to increase awareness among Nebraska women for regular breast cancer screening. Our age medical providers to refer their important exams for their clients and improve access to quality breast cancer screening exams," said Dr. Allen Dworkin, president of the Nebraska Medical Association. "In a time when the word partnership is often spoken, our organizations have demonstrated that not only can public-private partnerships work, they achieve results and improve the health of our neighbors and our community."

The most recent collective project is the distribution of the coping resource Straight Talk About Breast Cancer. Beginning in December, a copy of the book Straight Talk About Breast Cancer will be available free as a coping resource to every Nebraska woman newly diagnosed with breast cancer.

Straight talk was written by an oncologic physician who was diagnosed with breast cancer and was determined to help others in their quest for immediate information about breast cancer. A guide for the entire family, Straight Talk offers easy-to-understand answers to complex questions. Nebraska primary care physicians, radiologists and surgeons can help their clients newly diagnosed with breast cancer obtain a copy of this resource at no charge.

Over the past five years, the groups have also organized the annual Pink Ribbon Week Awareness Project which is recognized in the full community, a special issue of Nebraska Medical Journal devoted entirely to breast cancer issues which was nominated for the National Medical Authors Award and public awareness media campaigns to promote mammography.

"We celebrate the improvement in public health and preventive wellness, but we are still concerned about the women in our lives who are not getting regular breast cancer screening," said Terri Minow, breast cancer specialist with the American Cancer Society Hoffman, Every Woman Matters, program administrator at (402) 473-0929.

Heartland Division

"We actively seek and openly call for other organizations and agencies, groups and individuals to join us at the table, help us reach the thousands of Nebraska women who have not heard our message, reduce the barriers and increase the access to quality breast cancer screening for all Nebraska women," said Minow.

To join the combined efforts of the Nebraska Medical Association, the American Cancer Society, the Medicare consumers' advocate, the Sundbergh Corporation/Nebraska and the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services to increase mammography utilization, please contact Terri Hoffman, Every Woman Matters, program administrator at (402) 473-0929.

Cooking for holidays

California...Style Wild Rice And Walnut Dressing

1/2 cup each chopped onions and chopped celery
1 clove garlic, minced
4-1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups cooked brown rice (cooked in chicken broth)
1 cup cooked California wild rice (cooked according to package directions)
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 teaspoon sage
1/4-teaspoon seasoned salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 cup beef or chicken broth

In a small skillet over medium heat, cook onions, celery and garlic in butter until tender. Combine with remaining ingredients in a buttered 2-1/2 quart baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Note: For a festive flair, add 2/3 cup dried cranberries or cherries to the mixture and bake as directed.

For more wild rice recipes, send a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to California Wild Rice Advisory Board, 135 Foothill Street, Yuba City, CA 95991.

New attitudes dispel menopause myths

Millions of female baby boomers are taking a new approach to menopause and disregarding the old wives' tales and conventional wisdom of "act in their ways, physician." Menopause doesn't change a woman's life, but it prevents physical manifestations that require treatment. Here are some natural ways to cope with the most prevalent symptoms.

The Inside: Most menopausal women experience "hot flushes," thermal eruptions. Physicians prescribe estrogen replacement therapy, or you might try plant derived estrogen or other natural alternatives - including Vitamin E, 30:30 Complex or CoQ10. Try tofu. Japanese women rarely experience hot flashes, and doctors say eating tofu is the reason. A balanced diet, Yoga and regular exercise can also help.

Emotional rollercoaster: For some women, menopause brings irritability, depression and mood swings. These changes are relatively short-term. To cope, try natural stress relievers: Vitamin B Complex or 1,300 mg of calcium daily.

Still Sexy After All These Years: There's no reason why a woman can't have a terrific sex life after menopause, but physical changes can make intimacy uncomfortable. A personal lubricant is the answer. New water-based, water-soluble lubricants such as Astroglide, are designed to mimic nature and, unlike petroleum products, don't interfere with pH levels and are clean and natural feeling.

For more information, please send a fax to Astroglide, c/o Biofilm, Inc., 1121 Scott Street, Vista CA 92084.

Exercise at work

Get to Work! The best place to work at preventing and treating repetitive stress injuries, such as carpal tunnel syndrome, may be at work.

Simple strengthening and stretching exercises, which can be performed "at a desk," may do the job for workers suffering from painful repetitive stress injuries.

Here are a few exercises to stretch out your work day. Before starting any exercise program, be sure to discuss it with your doctor.

* To stretch your hand, start with the palm flat down on the table, fingers spread. Arch the hand by pressing down with the thumb and little finger (almost like a mini-pushup for the hand). Count to five, then release. Repeat 10 to 15 times, two or three times a day.

* Place the palms of your hands together and push, raising your elbows to increase the stretch. In the beginning, five to 10 seconds may be the longest you can hold this position without strain. Repeat five times.

* Make a fist, keeping the thumb out-side. Bend your wrist forward, without forcing as far as it will go. Rotate your wrist in the widest circle possible. Allow 15 to 20 seconds to complete each circle. Complete two circles in one direction, then repeat in the other direction. * To stretch your arms and shoulders, face your fingers together above your head, palms facing up. Stretch your arms up and slightly back.

* To release tension, slowly shrug your shoulders as high as you can, hold for a count of five, then release. Repeat five times.

* To rotate your shoulders, clasp hands behind the back. With arms extended straight, slowly lift arms upward.

* To stretch your chest and upper back, face your fingers behind your head. Stretch back, trying to make your elbows touch.

* Another way to help hands and fingers feel limber is a pair of gloves designed especially to fight hand and wrist pain.

Internet can make business productive

A growing number of small businesses use the Internet to increase productivity. Today, more than 60 percent of adult Internet users are small-business customers, according to the 1997 American Internet User Survey conducted by IBM/SWP.

Getting your business connected to the Internet isn't as complex and expensive as you might think. The benefits to your business can be enormous, including:

E-mail

E-mail is the most popular feature of the Internet. E-mail can dramatically speed written communication and unlike overnight mail or fax messages, it can be transmitted worldwide and be received by customers via their desktop or laptop computer.

Research

The Internet is an invaluable research tool from on-line catalogs to competitive research. The Internet contains a wealth of information that can help your business maximize research capabilities via popular search engines such as Netscape Navigator.

Marketing and Sales

By creating your own Web site, your business can expand its customer outreach worldwide. Your web site gives your customers instant access to your company's profile, products and services minimizing telephone and mailing expenses.

Getting Started

It's easy to get on the Internet. You probably already have a computer. To get connected to the Internet, you simply need a modem and an account with an Internet Service Provider.

An easy way to get connected is to purchase a Hewlett-Packard LaserJet 6L or 6P printer. These printers combine reliable, crisp laser printing with a powerful suite of Internet software. Since more than 60 percent of the information printed from the Internet is text-based, a laser printer is ideally suited for Internet printing. HP LaserJet printers include the LaserJet Internet Publishing Kit, which enables your business to:

- Connect to the Internet and all it has to offer.

- Update Web sites that are useful for small businesses.

- Create your own presence on the Web.

- Print information quickly and reliably.

HP LaserJet printers retail for $399, and can help get your business on the Internet in a matter of moments. For more information, call 800/752-0900, or borrow someone's Internet connection and type <http://www.hp.com/gp/print/>.

New answers are given to an old health problem

Thanks to recent research, doctors may be able to provide relief to millions of women who have been too embarrassed to seek treatment.

Their condition is more common than many women realize. It's that of incontinence. It can affect athletes, pregnant women, young mothers, multiparous women and women who have had gynaecological surgery among others. Fortunately, in about 80 percent of cases simple procedures can make a substantial difference.

The most common type of incontinence, said to occur when a woman sneezes, coughs, laughs, exercises or even changes position. It leads to avoidance to withdraw from social and physical activities. Many women are surprised to learn the problem is not a natural part of life that they just have to put up with.

The non-surgical treatments for this condition range from exercise and medication to collagen implants that can improve or even cure incontinence.

Exercise can help build up pelvic floor muscles.

Medication can include hormone replacement and nitrate contractor.

Biodegradable electrical stimulation and vaginal plugs as well as surgery have also been tried.

Among the latest treatments is an injection of collagen which builds up the anal sphincter so it closes tightly and stops the urine flow. It's the same sort of collagen used to smooth facial wrinkles and lines.

Dr. Christine Whitmire, chief of Urology at Graduate Hospital in Philadelphia says, "Implant treatment is especially appropriate for women with stress incontinence who want to or need to avoid invasive surgical procedures, and it produces much faster results than pelvic floor exercises."

If you have a problem with incontinence, see your doctor to learn what treatment may be best for you. For more information call 1-800-526-2687.

Getting a kick out of legwear

You may be interested in getting a leg up on what's new in fashion for your legs this season since more and more people are choosing hosiery as a way to quickly and inexpensively revitalize their wardrobe.

Whether you sport a short skirt, stiletto heel, clingy knit or a tailored pant suit, fashion experts say your legs are in the spotlight. The latest in legwear is all about options.

From rich colors and lavish textures to innovative technology, the words for fashionable fall legs are style and comfort.

Women in conference

Over 8,050 women from Nebraska and the surrounding states have already registered for the 1997 Women of Faith Joyful Journey Conference which will be held at the Pervis Auditorium located at the 22nd Century Mall North in Lincoln, Neb. The conference will begin on Friday, Nov. 7 from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. and run through Saturday, Nov. 8, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Joining more than 156,000 women who have currently signed up for the 1997 Joyful Journey and the more than 30,000 women who attended the conference in 1996, these women will be part of a women's movement that is sweeping our country.

Nationally recognized authors and speakers, Patry Clairmont, Barbara Johnson, Marilyn Meberg, Connie Neal, and Sheila Walsh will be featured at the conference. They will bring a different view of life that will challenge women to look at their circumstances and experiences from a new perspective. They will inspire women to pursue the journey of life with joy.

Here's what's in store for legwear fashions:

A Palette that Paints a Picture Transform wardrobe basics from ordinary to extraordinary with a splash of color on the legs. A sophisticated look features shades of rust, eggplant, gray, brown and autumn spice colors.

Quality Control the buzz word continues to be fashion play function. Not only do legs need to look good, they need to feel good too.

Consider Tyra Soft Body sheer hosiery for control and comfort that can shape, tone and enhance the female figure and is easy to get on and off. Tyra offers legwear that twice the usual amount of Tyra, for the gills made in smooth, comfortable fit.

Sock Market Finger socks and anklets are becoming an essential finishing touch to power pantsuits and casual wear. Look for socks with Tyra for a better fit that won't let you down.

More Sophistication Leg revealing sheer hosiery emerged as a major player this season. Sheers add romance and femininity to practical any outfit. Sheers with a touch of Tyra are more comfortable and retain their shape better.

Pattern Play Men's wear inspired plaid-striped, window pane and herringbone can add an element of pleasure to an outfit.

Decrease your risk of breast cancer

Diet and Exercise Tips To Help You Beat the Odds

Although about one in eight women will eventually develop breast cancer in their lifetime, the good news is that early detection and treatment can save the lives of over 90 percent of all breast cancer patients.

In addition to early detection practices of monthly breast self-examinations for all women over 40, diet and exercise may also play an important role in beating the odds. Following are a few guidelines from lose excess weight. While body weights vary by age and body type, a good guide for calculating a "healthy" weight is to determine your body mass index (BMI). BMI can be determined by dividing your body weight in kilograms by your height in meters squared. A woman's BMI of 22.5 or higher correlates with increased risk of certain cancers, high blood pressure, type II diabetes and osteoarthritis.

Eat a balanced diet. A diet high in fiber and low in fat can reduce your risk. Be sure to eat plenty of green leafy vegetables, such as spinach. Dried fruits, such as figs and prunes, are good because they are high in fiber, but low in fat.

Drink alcohol in moderation. Although some association of alcohol consumption and the risk of breast cancer has been observed in many studies, questions of its major significance remain. However, most physicians advise using alcohol in moderation for a variety of health benefits. Don't forget, most alcoholic beverages are high in sugar and calories, which add inches to your waistline.

ENERGIZE YOUR EXERCISE

When working out, you want...and need...a lot of energy. Glucose tablets are the easiest way to fuel up fast. As you probably know, carbohydrates give you energy, but what you may not know is that glucose tablets give you energy faster than most other foods.

The reason is simple. Glucose tablets are made with glucose, the fastest acting carbohydrate, and the tablets don't contain fat, fiber, sodium or caffeine to slow down their absorption.

Summer shape-ups into fall

Warm weather extends an irresistible invitation to be physically active. Summer is synonymous with bicycle rides, in-line skating, swimming, hiking, beach volleyball and numerous other recreational activities that get Americans moving. But what happens when the leaves begin to turn and temperatures drop?

"Your summer shape-up doesn't have to take a vacation until spring," said fitness expert Judi Sheppard Missett, founder of Jazzercise. "Summer is the perfect time to get into a routine of regular physical activity," said Missett. "The trick to sustaining that habit is making a smooth transition into the colder months."

Missett offers these tips for remaining active through the fall and winter months:

*Invest in the right clothing. Wear layers of cotton T-shirts or turtlenecks topped with water-resistant windbreakers. Exercise tights or warm-up pants are good and a reflective vest is also a good investment as the daylight hours dwindle.

*Look for indoor leagues. Look to your community recreation department for indoor options. Volleyball, basketball and roller hockey are some of the indoor sports that are popping up across the nation.

*Try a new activity. Weight training, dance exercise, or cross-country skiing are activities that can expand your exercise horizons rather than diminish them.

*Keep a workout diary. Writing down your workouts can be a great way to stay motivated, especially if you note your progress along the way. Write down what activity you did, for how long and how you felt.

*Take advantage of community facilities. Become a mall-walker, or visit professional and college sports arenas that are open during special weekday hours for in-line skating and running.

*Set a special winter training goal. If you're swimming in the winter, set a goal to swim a certain distance in a certain time. Or train for a spring or summer road race that you can train for in the winter.

"Cooler temperatures don't have to equal an end to regular physical activity," Missett affirms. "Today more than ever Americans have access to clothing, equipment, programs and facilities which allow them to keep moving all year long."
