Vehicles to be taxed differently in 1998

"Beginning Jan. 1, 1998, the motor vehicle tax will be lower for most motorists," said Alvin Abramson, Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

LB 271, enacted by the legislature in 1997, replaced the old ad valorem tax. The new tax is based on the manufacturer's suggested retail price (MSRP) for all personal vehicles.

The base tax is a percentage of manufacturer's suggested retail price.

For example, the base tax is $60 for cars with a MSRP below $10,000; $100 for those below $12,000, etc. Each year the base tax goes down a percentage until it reaches zero at 14 years.

LB 271 also implements a new motor vehicle fee of up to $30. The current registration, tax and wheel tax of $8/gated will remain.

Abramson said the legislative intent was to simplify the valuation which is why the tax is based on the MSRP rather than the actual price paid for the vehicle.

Although most Nebraskans will see some savings under the new system, some Nebraskans may see an increase, as in the case of a standard utility trailer. Most trucks and trailers will be taxed according to their registered weight.

LB 271 also provides an avenue to protest the valuation, which was not an option under the previous law.

The form to protest will be available after Jan. 1, 1998 from the Legal Division, Dept. of Motor Vehicles, 101 Centennial Mall, South, Lincoln, Neb. 68509 or (402) 471-9393. The objection must state in writing why the MSRP determination is incorrect.

Area Girl Scouts begin annual cookie sales

Prarie Hills Girl Scout Council's annual Cookie Sale begins Jan. 9, 1998 and continues through Jan. 26. This is the only time of year these special cookies are available.

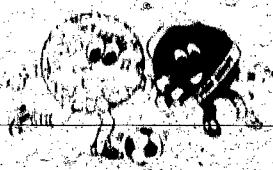

The annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale is an event that works in two ways:

It raises funds for an organization that supports girls with fun, informal learning activities and it teaches important life skills such as goal setting and money management.

Bonnie Hansen, spokesperson for Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council said that girls in Troop 6, Unit 10 which includes, Wayne, Carroll, Wahoo and Winterset, will be "striving up to win as they work together to reach their troop and council goal for the cookie sale."

This year customers will be given a "Thank You for Your Support" sticker which can be placed in a window.

dow or door, signifying their participation of the Girl Scout Cookie Sale.

Proceeds from the Cookie Sale are used by the troops for program activities they have planned and by the council to fund services and programs made available throughout the year to Girl Scouts in its subsections.

This year there are eight varieties of cookies available, including sugar free shortbread, cream and low fat jams.

Carbon monoxide dangers

The arrival of cold, winter weather brings increased danger of carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning for persons living in homes with faulty fuel burning appliances according to an air quality safety expert.

Basil Abuslyah, director of product standards for Unocal United, says that improperly operating appliances that use natural gas, kerosene, oil, coal and wood can produce deadly amounts of CO. These appliances include many furnaces, stoves, fireplaces, clothes dryers and space heaters.

Carbon monoxide poisoning from fuel burning appliances claim the lives of more than 200 people each year and sends about 10,000 to the emergency room for treatment, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). These deaths and injuries can be avoided by proper appliance maintenance and use of an effective CO detector.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas produced by the burning of any fuel. The initial symptoms of CO poisoning are similar to the flu and include headache, fatigue, shortness of breath, nausea and dizziness. The CPSC recommends that home owners have a qualified person test by a plumber, heating contractor or gas company technician perform an inspection of appliances each year. This inspection should include chimneys, flues and vents for potential blockage.

Abuslyah, an electrical engineer involved in air quality studies since 1984, urges home owners to install a CO detector approved by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. (UL). UL approved detectors are recommended by the CPSC. It estimates that effective CO detectors have saved thousands of lives from CO poisoning within the past few years.

UL approved CO detectors are designed to sound an alarm before most people would begin experiencing symptoms of CO poisoning. Valid testimony before purchasing a CO detector make sure that the UL mark is on the package.

If the CO detector starts sounding, home residents should immediately open windows and doors for ventilation. The buyer should be educated and the fire department contacted if anyone is experiencing symptoms of CO poisoning. Abuslyah advises:

• Ventilation of the existing wall of the black knight was completed. The building was destroyed by fire on June 26, 1995.

Guard proposes change

Nebraska City Falls City O'Neill and Omaha

1-198th Armor Nebraskas, Broken

Neck, Ogallala, McCook, Lexington,

Seward, Curtis and Grand

Island.

67th Forward Support Battalion:

Lincoln, Omaha and York.

Nebraska's proposal is a result of the Army National Guard's Division Redesign Study, which was conducted to develop alternatives for the use of the Army Guard in order to enhance Guard relevance to the national military strategy.

The conversion proposal calls for the 67th Brigade to become an Area Support Group, an element that would command several battalion-sized and smaller combat service support units. The exact type of mission the organization would receive is to be determined.

Heng says the brigade has a long and proud tradition by the nation's defense needs are changing and the Nebraska National Guard must learn forward to meet those needs. "Our proposal gives us a chance to get in the front row, if you will, to be on line to receive more units with more relevance to the needs of the Army."

Because of the organization's increasing relevance in the total Army it would also become a higher priority unit, which will improve its levels of staffing and funding. Lower priority units are not staffed at 100 percent of their authorized strength and are becoming surplus to the military's needs. Higher and more modern units are the higher priority units.

Major Gen. Heng has advised Governor Ben Nelson, who serves as commander-in-chief of the Nebraska National Guard and received his concurrence on the proposal. Heng said that, as has been the case with previous Guard structure changes, soldiers may have to undergo additional training but there will still be jobs available for all Nebraska National Guard soldiers. He added that the Guard does not anticipate any army change because of the mission change. Heng said the state's armories are critical to the Guard's state mission of providing emergency services throughout the state.

Another positive feature of the proposed conversion is that it would open many more jobs for females and will provide training that is more closely related to civilian occupations.

"It provides a better menu of job opportunities outside of the combat world, we could be talking about medical, transportation, chemical defense, fuel transport, or communications occupations; those are all skills that could relate better to people's civilian work as opposed to the infantry or artillery," Heng said.

Financial planning has simple meaning

College, Career, Marriage. The responsibility of raising children considered from a point in time before you've plunged into them, these "life experiences" may seem especially challenging. And yet many Americans successfully embrace them all and more. Many things in life seem complicated until you do them—mainly because the "doing" of them unfolds over time. Long-term success is built on the "small" achievements of steady, day-to-day living.

Education funding. Some of the relevant issues here are easy to know—and how that protection must be adjusted according to your changing circumstances are planning basics.

Emergency funds. Does financial planning accommodate "today's real life?" You, because "real-life" as we all know includes the "emergencies" (everything from car repairs to out-of-pocket medical expenses) that require liquid cash reserves.

Education funding. Some of the relevant issues here are easy to know—and how that protection must be adjusted according to your changing circumstances are planning basics.

Planning for retirement. The kind of living standard you want in retirement is all important. It's combined with "where you are now" in terms of age, current and anticipated resources, and other factors. Here's the basic for an effective approach to this most popular of long-term financial objectives:

Income during retirement. Arriving at retirement well prepared is one thing; maintaining adequate "resources" throughout retirement is quite another. Officially leaving the working world and its stream of income behind presents a new set of financial risks to consider.

All three issues are probably important at some level. Most significant though, is to identify and prioritize the issues that are most important in your situation. A financial planner/professional often can provide insight into issues that aren't readily obvious.

There's no time like. Whatever your professional financial objectives, Wilson and Reed likely point of their base to the art of "risk-management." At the same time, it's often easy for people to start the planning process because they already know the answers to key questions: How much do we make? What do we plan for the kids? How long to retirement?

Planning, timely to complete. Everybody's different, no two personal financial situations are exactly alike, but a process of long-term planning typically would include considering some or all of the basic life cycles. Considering a wide range of "what-if" scenarios will probably help "start in" to the process with carefully planned priorities based primarily on what's planned for the future.

Risk investing. With financial goals in place, planning helps you estimate how much you'll need when you need it. How to put this into the financial equation you already have, and a general approach to making your financial future happen.

EditorialsFarewell 1997

Construction and building are the two words that best describe the most prominent overall activities in Wayne during the preceding 12 months. There may never have been a previous year to match the tearing down, remodeling and/or erecting of new structures. Much of the activity is changing the geographical face of the community. Not only the widening of Seventh Street, necessitating the removal of trees, but new structures materializing throughout the city, rapidly changed the way the "old home town" appears.

City records show 53 building permits were issued in 1997. Those figures, for a community the size of Wayne, represent a great amount of dollar activity, which in turn reflects positively on the community's financial health. Additional growth and building is anticipated again in 1998.

Goodbye to a terrific year of productivity, and "welcome" to a new year promising continued advancement.

All the hustle and bustle emphasizes once again that Wayne is a good place to live, work and shop.

Welcome 1998!

Public forum slated

Enjoying a government "of, by and for" the people necessitates all residents becoming involved in government affairs.

Regardless of agenda items before the Wayne City Council, Council members appreciate hearing opinions prior to voting on any issue.

Too often Council members hear comment on issues that have already been decided. Obviously, the tardy opinion is ineffective.

Renovation of the city auditorium is a forthcoming and important project, one which is likely to draw the interest of all residents. Consequently, Council has set Thursday, January 29, 1998, for a public forum at 7:30 pm.

Citizens will gather inside the auditorium to join Council in a period of discussing the issues involved in updating the building.

At the hub of numerous activities, the auditorium is an important facility, serving the entire community. Renovation is recognizably overdue, but now that the time is here to get the job done, interested citizens can and should voice their concerns as a spearhead to the much-needed project.

Omaha meeting planned

According to the latest Nebraska Monthly Report on Labor Force and Unemployment, the statewide unemployment rate is 2.3 percent.

For Wayne County, the figure is slightly higher at 3.0 percent. In October, there were 1,280 unemployed persons in our County.

Business in Nebraska has been good. Businesses have been relocating and expanding within the state in recent years, putting more people than ever to work. Reports indicate that starting wages are at higher levels.

Looking at these numbers and considering these positives and employment fact, the state recognizes the dilemma we're currently experiencing. Let me add.

While "unemployment" is listed availability will be the focus of a Jan. 7 meeting at the Peter Kiewit Conference Center, 13th and Farnam Streets in Omaha, all business and interested persons will benefit by attending the meeting. It will run from 8:30 a.m.

Terriane "Butch" Lengen, commissioner of the Nebraska Department of Labor, Sue Miller, deputy director of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development (DED) and Charles Lampman, director of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research will direct the focus. Discussion will include ways to address labor availability problems, as well as other participant feedback on new programs targeting labor needs.

Carly Becht of the Nebraska Job Service will demonstrate American Job Bank and American's Step right up, ladies and gentlemen. You're just in time for 1998!

It's political carnival time featuring our top 100 political whip-ups down and they're up! And over here you see Spectacular White House Electricity Walk into the House of Mirrors, ladies and gentlemen, and see Virtual Reality Incarnate, Virtual Illusion.

Watch people left for federal moonlight before they could get it's dunking for dollar folks to start the breakfest. Step right up and see a kooky world with no one trying to stuff the radio.

You folks, watch inflation ways that checkbooks wanting overgrowth in the Tigris bed mixed. Even the congressional show in 1998 for new plans for taking your money and making it disappear.

Football - 1997 bringing end of an era in Nebraska football, with the death of long-time coach Bob Devaney and Coach Tom Osborne announcing his retirement. Will Frank Solich be able to carry on the tradition?

Agriculture - the USDA forced a recall of a record 25 million pounds of beef processed at the Redwood Food plant in Columbus, resulting in the plant's sale and raising lots of questions about the modern meat industry. Meanwhile, plans for more hog confinement operations in the state prompted calls for the legislature to do something to balance the environmental and economic issues raised by the mega-pork producers.

The state of matrimony - First State Sen. Ernie Chambers of Omaha introduces a bill to sanction marriage between people of the same sex. Their State Sen. Jim Jensen offers a bill to ban it.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Jimmy Creach, a United Methodist minister in Omaha, is suspended for performing a lesbian union ceremony. Will the legislature be bold enough to overturn the knot?

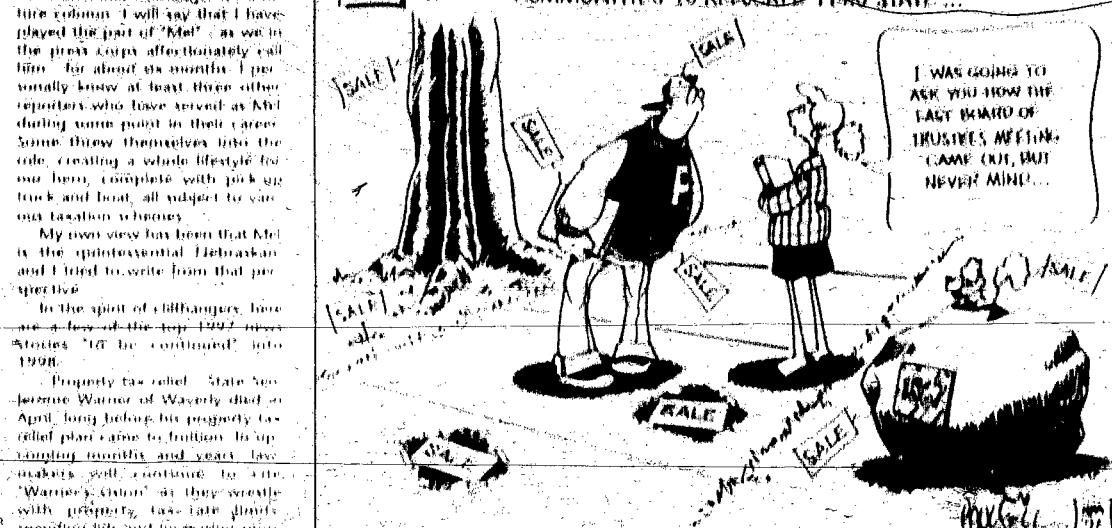

Death penalty - Robert Williams is put to death after spending 19 years on death row for a murder he committed in 1977. Those on both sides of the issue raised questions about the purpose served by capital punishment after such a long wait. Death penalty proponents want the 1998 legislature to enact a limit on appeals.

The governor's race - More fun than a barrel of Republicans! John Beslow spends wads of cash, Jon Christensen proposes to Miss America, Mike Johanns stands to the side trying to look virtuous and sane. On the other side of the ticket, Kim Rubak says no, Jim McFarland jumps in and Bill Stoppard's looking better and better all the time, but wait until campaign season begins!

The views expressed in Capitol News are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Nebraska Press Association.

Are we now a "government of the cash" by the cash and for the cash? Can government be bought? Or need we only ask "How much?"

Watch out for the leads in the ship of state. An unusual mix of stalks from authorized witness.

All citizens need colorful clown. And America has them. But how do they get elected?

Circus! Perhaps but a healthy complexion by the electorate will keep politicians jumping through split-leg hoops. For some will say anything at anything to please the kids for a vote.

Step right up ladies and gentlemen. Watch 1998's greatest show on Earth!

Get your tickets early for the judgements and trials!

Watch out for a repeat!

The Annual Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout got underway on Monday at Wayne State College with eight games.

Due to deadlines and the Jan. 1 Holiday, the Wayne Herald was only able to get the first day's results in this week's paper with second and third day results appearing in next week's edition.

Only one of the Wayne Herald's area teams was victorious on Monday in six contests.

Ricky Ruh's Wayne boys won a 77-52 decision over Lyons-Dekatur-Northeast in the final game of the day.

The Blue Devils used a 16-0 run in the first quarter after trailing by a 6-5 margin to surge ahead of the Cougars for good.

Wayne left 23-0 after the first quarter and 41-25 at the intermission.

Justin Thiele paced the winners with 26 points while John Magnussen posted in a career-high 17 points including a pair of 3-pointers.

Ryan Dahl followed with nine points with Matt Meyer, Clinton Kellee and Chris Dyer scoring five each. Nick Mum and Lygian Stolberg rounded out the attack with three and two points, respectively.

Thiele and Magnussen also led Wayne on the boards as each hauled down six rebounds.

The WAYNE GIRLS were edged by Lyons-Dekatur-Northeast, 42-40 in a closely-knit game throughout.

The Blue Devils left 15-10 after one-quarter of play and 20-19 at the intermission. The Trojans were still a one-point tilt after three-quarters of play at 31-30 in favor of Wayne.

The ensuing basket came with 1:13 remaining in regulation from Kristina Rango. Wayne had a chance to tie the game in the final seconds but Heidi Johnson's shot with six seconds remaining rimmed in and out.

Mabry Finsler led all scorers with 15 points with Johnson adding nine and Leah Schreiter, Brooke Parker added five points and Kristina Rango scored four while Jenny Rasmussen grabbed out the attack with a free throw.

IN THE TOURNAMENT opening Wakeland's girls were defeated by Norfolk Catholic, 19-16.

Wakeland had a chance to tie the game late, but Erin Salton's 3-pointer with 17 seconds remaining drew blank.

The Trojans got a 19-point performance from Maggie Brownell which was game high. The two teams had identical scoring periods in all but the third when Wakeland Catholic outscored Wakeland, 44-11.

Suzanne Bradigan added eight points for the Trojans with Kristie Preston scoring five. Jenny Sandahl and Jennifer Simpson each added two.

Freshman Shannon Pukelman led Norfolk Catholic with 11 points while Katie Merchant scored six.

THE WAKEFIELD BOYS were blasted by 40 points by Norfolk Catholic, 80-48.

The Trojans fell behind 21-11 after the first quarter and didn't do much from there with Mike Clay clean trailing 40-21 at the half and 66-45 after three quarters.

Aaron Kullhoff led all scorers with 20 points to lead the Knights. He also hauled down nine rebounds, dished out eight assists and recorded four steals. Dusty Kever posted in 14 points and Paul Hughes added 10 to go along with six assists.

RJ Hansen tossed in 18 points to lead the Trojans while Brett Gardner added eight and Jim Bush, six. Nick White and Heath Kelm tallied five points each and Kevin Johnson added four with Austin Brown and Zach Hight each adding one.

RODIE THE LAUREL CINCINNATI girls and boys suffered first-round losses to Manteno as the girls fell by a 55-45 margin while Taylor Steele's boys team lost a heart-breaking 51-48 contest.

The Lady Bears fell 13-9 after one-quarter of play and trailed 10-20 at the half before being outscored 25-14 in the second half.

We came out flat offensively and defensively. Coach Leslie Romana said. "We need to come out aggressive and play with emotion for 42 minutes of every game."

Wakeland senior Kristin Preston is intent on getting to the hoop as she drives around a Norfolk Catholic defender. The Trojans fell to the Knights, 19-16.

and Kari Stewart each added two. Schneider hauled down seven rebounds to lead Laurel and the bears. See TEAM, Page 7A

The Laurel boys fell victim to red-hot shooting by Stanton's Jason Doliver in the final eight minutes as the Bears were out-scored 21-7 down the stretch to fall by three points, 51-48.

Doliver scored 13 of his 25 points in the final stanza including 11 straight with a run of three 3-pointers and a short jumper.

Laurel led 13-6 after one quarter of play but trailed 22-19 at the half. The Bears went .000 x 14-0 run toward the end of the third quarter and into the beginning of the fourth quarter to lead, 40-31, before Stanton rallied.

Nick Krols led the Bears with 10 points while Andy Brine and Wyatt Evans scored nine each. Chad Jorgensen and Nathan Beckman each added four points and Eric Smith added two.

THE FINAL TWO CONTESTS not mentioned was Hartington-Cedar Catholic's victory over Madison.

Tragedy struck Cedar Catholic's team late last week when Tim McTaggart, a junior on Bob Geary's boys team was killed in an automobile accident.

The Trojans showed tremendous courage in their performance after attending their classmate and teammate's funeral, Monday morning.

In a show of complete sportsmanship and kindness, Madison offered to forfeit the girls and boys contest to Cedar Catholic to give the Trojans the day off.

Cedar Catholic officials showed appreciation for the gesture but decided to play the contests.

The Trojans girls team under the direction of Joe Schreder won, 42-34, while Geary's boys captured a 49-42 decision.

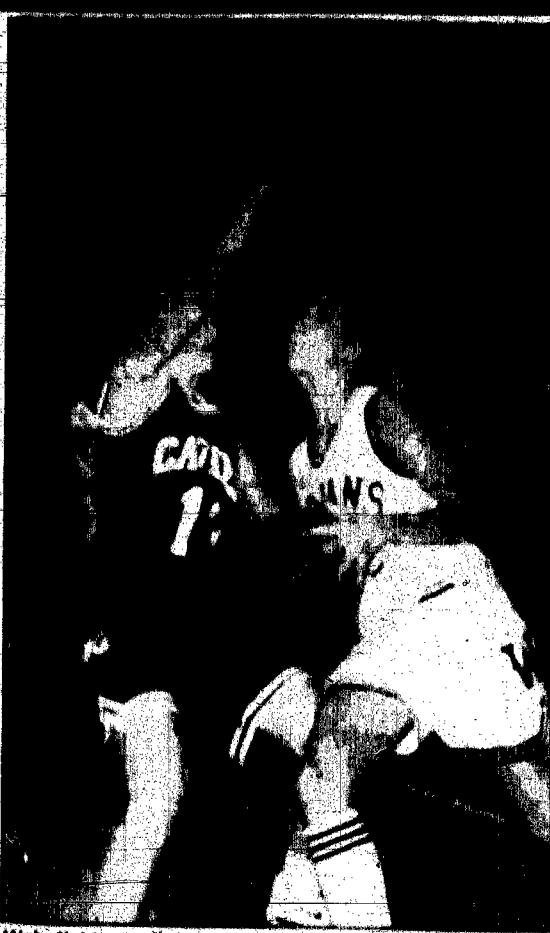

In the girls game the Trojans overcame a 12-15 deficit at the half with a 27-17 scoring run over the final two quarters of play.

Karen Horstbun pointed in 21 points to pace the winners while factoring in seven of Budget Area's 16 points.

The Cedar girls overcame a 26-18 halftime deficit to post the seven point win.

Cedar outscored Madison, 31-16, in the second half led by freshman Matt Hansen and Neil Wiedemann who combined for 22 points to lead the winners. Klondike Sutherland also added 10 points.

Brad Wolverton led Madison with 11 points while Ross Romney had nine.

Wakefield's Maggie Brownell drives to the hoop during the Lady Trojans contest with Norfolk Catholic.

Laurel Central senior Nick Krols shoots over an Stanton defender for two of his team high 20 points during the Bears first round game, Monday afternoon.

Wayne's Heidi Johnson drives baseline to score two of her nine points during the first round of the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout. The Blue Devils were defeated by Lyons Doctor Marteau in first round action, 42-40.

WSC cagers lose to San Francisco

The Wayne State men's basketball team was surprised by San Francisco State University, Monday night in California, 50-52.

Craig McHerron's team fell to the Gaels the season of 50-30 lead with a minute remaining in regulation.

WSC's Ethan Murphy hit a steal, passed to cut the gap to two points before free throw. Bouldin hit the lead back to trail 50-54.

Murphy hit a long jumper to make it a 50-52 lead but WSC never got the ball back for a last-second shot.

The game was tied at 28 at the half but WSC had shooting problems, shooting on just 11 of 33 field goal attempts from the floor.

The Gaels would connect on four free throws for the contest in 26 attempts.

Murphy led WSC with 19 points while Johnson added 11, and Craig Phillips 10.

Antihistamine Does Relieve Cold Symptoms

For many years the medical literature has stated that antihistamines taken for the common cold are of little value. However, a study just recently published in the medical journal Clinical Infectious Diseases shows that a commonly used antihistamine relieves minor cold symptoms.

In this study, 280 individuals were given cold medicine either via nose drops. Half took 12 mg of the antihistamine Azelastine nasal spray or 40 mg of Benadryl. The other half took a placebo. Individuals who took Benadryl had less nasal irritation, sneezing, coughing, and runny nose. The most common side effect reported with Benadryl was drowsiness.

One of the major uses of Benadryl is treatment of allergy symptoms. The medicine has been available on prescription for decades, and without prescription for years.

Miss Green is the granddaughter of Mrs. Harold Wagner and the late Mr. Wagner of Tilden and the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Giese of Wayne. She received her B.S. in Education and her M.S. in Speech-Language Pathology from the University of Nebraska Lincoln, where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. She is presently employed by Lexington Medical Center Extended Care in Lexington, NE.

Her fiancé is the grandson of Mrs. William Scott and the late Mr. Scott of Columbia, NE and Mrs. Eugene McCoy and the late Mr. McCoy of Dakota City. He is employed in Business Administration from The Citadel in Charleston, SC. He is currently employed as an underwriter with Colonial Life and Accident Insurance Company in Columbia.

Griss Scott

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Griss of Wayne announced the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Jane and Robert Raymond Scott Jr., both of Columbia, NE. Robert

Getting a bargain out of after-Christmas sales requires some planning and effort. Sometimes the promise of bargain prices or one day only sales may not yield any better buys than regular priced merchandise. In fact, the excitement of a sale may encourage unnecessary purchases.

Consumers should avoid additional shopping. Shopping with a list, or some purpose in mind, takes some self-discipline but will help avoid impulse purchases. Merchandise buying is constantly before consumers these days, with new store openings, mail-order catalogs and new opportunities to buy by telephone, television or Internet.

Credit cards that delay payment make it easy to ignore the effect of new purchases on a bank account already strained by Christmas as the drive from one location to another doesn't eat up savings. In making comparisons, shoppers should consider supplemental costs as well. For example, a washable outfit may be a better bargain than less expensive one that must be dry-cleaned after each wearing. Extra accessories may not be bargains if they don't meet family needs. For example, an ice-making refrigerator may be cost ineffective for a family rarely using it.

A great sale just obscures the fact that a sweater or blouse doesn't blend into a shopper's wardrobe. Check store policy about returning garments, especially if they're bought to check a color with something hanging in the store at home. Such sales items may be non-returnable.

After Christmas might be a good time to make some major purchases, if planned in advance. Planning for major purchases allows families to save for them. That reduces their price by adding interest to the money saved, rather than adding interest to the purchase cost. Sometimes a major appliance fails without warning, upsetting the purchase plan, but small amounts saved regularly can help cover such unexpected expenses.

Finally, saving receipts allows for returning merchandise when store policy permits. It also provides for an accounting of purchases if something turns out to be defective.

Survey discusses financial habits and offers ideas for next year

For most Americans, ringing in the new year means maintaining the status quo when it comes to their personal finances.

Few Americans (16 percent) say they made financial New Year's resolutions last year, according to a Lutheran Brotherhood nationwide survey conducted in November among 1,004 adults by Yankelovich Partners.

However, of those who resolved to improve their finances last year, nearly three quarters (73 percent) followed through with their financial resolutions.

"People who take time to think about their finances are often impressed by how easy it can be to make improvements," said Todd Gillingsham, Lutheran Brotherhood manager of individual planning.

"Looking at the new year with a new financial perspective can be a great first step toward improving your financial situation."

Generation Xers were five times more likely to make financial resolutions last year than seniors (21 percent versus four percent). People in middle income brackets ($35,000-$50,000 annually) were nearly twice as likely to make financial resolutions as those with incomes of less than $20,000 (71 percent versus 11 percent).

When asked what they would choose if they could make one financial resolution for 1998, Americans' top goal was saving more money. Responses included:

- 18 percent would save more money;
- 18 percent would put more money toward retirement;
- 17 percent would reduce debt;
- 12 percent would spend less money.

"Planning and commitment can turn one's financial goals into reality," Gillingsham said.

"People don't necessarily need to begin this process on Jan. 1, but they do need to take action for their hopes to be realized."

Lutheran Brotherhood is represented in the local area by Lynette Kue.

Assessments available

Oasis Counseling International of Norfolk now offers a comprehensive career assessment and consulting service in addition to free personal budget counseling.

Bob Zetocha, Director of Development at Oasis, provides the Career Direct assessment from Life Pathways. The Career Direct is designed to help them in their careers.

"The Career Direct is a valuable tool for individuals who experience dissatisfaction at work or will be displaced from their jobs or are just wondering if they are in the right type of work. It's also a great investment for high school seniors and college students who are either unsure or unaware of the qualities that contribute to job satisfaction and career success or are undecided about which major to study in college," Zetocha said.

Career Direct will also be available to agencies, schools, businesses, church and various other organizations to establish teams for problem solving and improving work relationships," he added.

Free and confidential personal budget counseling will be provided by Zetocha also. He has been providing this service to area residents as a referral counselor of Christian Financial Concepts for

Rural Power Districts to merge

Of local interest on the agenda of the Nebraska Power Review Board's (NPRB) regular monthly meeting held on Dec. 19 in Lincoln, was the discussion and vote on the joint consolidation/merger application of Northeast Nebraska Rural Public Power District (NNRPD) in Emerson and Wayne County Public Power District in Wayne to form Northeast Nebraska Public Power District (NNPPD).

A hearing on the consolidation application was held during the Nov. 14 meeting of the NRPB. Because not all of the board members were present for the hearing, the discussion and vote on the application was carried over to the Dec. 19 meeting to allow review of the material and testimony presented at the Nov. 14 meeting. No one testified in opposition to the consolidation at the hearing.

At the Dec. 19 meeting, a motion was made by NRPB member Ray

Hojek of Columbus authorizing NRPB Executive Director Gary

Gustafson, to issue an order which would authorize the consolidation/merger of NRPD and Wayne County Public Power District into NNPPD effective Jan. 1, 1998.

It is expected that by combining the availability of specialized equipment and skills of highly trained personnel, customer access to utility specific services will be enhanced.

The general office and customer service center of the newly formed NNPPD will be located in the current office of Wayne County Public Power District in Wayne.

The Emerson office of NRPD will continue to be staffed by the same personnel to also provide customer services and will be the central processing location for monthly billings.

According to Edward "Sam" Schneider, manager of both rural electric districts for the past three years, the consolidation will provide benefits to the combined 5,600 customers in cost savings, projected to be in excess of $2,500,000 over a nine year study period.

In addition, it is expected that by combining the availability of specialized equipment and skills of highly trained personnel, customer access to utility specific services will be enhanced.

The general office and customer service center of the newly formed NNPPD will be located in the current office of Wayne County Public Power District in Wayne.

The Emerson office of NRPD will continue to be staffed by the same personnel to also provide customer services and will be the central processing location for monthly billings.

Maintenance and operation crews located in Wayne, Emerson, Carroll and Ponca will continue with no changes.

Thoughts on Tom Osborne's career

It's Sunday evening and the Big Farmer and I are watching the sports wrap for the week. It's a recap of the accomplishments of the week, with lots of flash-backs. When T.O. gets featured, I do too. I didn't think his resignation as headcoach needed to be a national day of mourning, but it has given me pause. As a friend said last night, "For a man who means so little, he certainly has affected many lives."

The claims, like bought him back, got halfway through and couldn't even finish it. I did finish it. I find this quote, straight-out-of-hindsight, for the third time this week. I saw Tim become headcoach after he begged his wife. I decided that Tim would be a saint. When he dedicated his work week, I stood silent. And then I began to wonder, for a very long time, that those folks who interviewed him must have been their hearts.

One fellow at my table on Saturday had a different version of that. It could cost him $50. Well, he did not have the money so he didn't call.

The next week, he was visiting Penn State. There was a gold phone on Coach Paterno's desk, too. Same connection, same change. Again, he decided not to call his son, $50 is a lot to spend on a phone call.

Otherwise, nothing that bad. In fact, he finally came to Nebraska to and behold, the same phone, still on Coach Osborne's desk. But this time, he was told the change was only 25 cents. When he asked how it could be less, they explained it was a local call.

Another story was floating around the office last week. These NCAA coaches were on a plane that crashed and all were killed. They found themselves in front of God sitting in a large chair. God, by the way, they were to approach the chair, and tell who they were, what they had done, and what folks thought of them.

The first said, "Tim Bill Snyder. I've taken a team that was at the bottom and turned the program around. We won nine games consecutively and go to bowls. Kansas fans love me." God told him to stand at his left.

The second coach said, "You Steve Spurrier. I'm the coach of a very successful team. We were national champs last year and Florida fans think I'm great." God put him right.

The last coach, same forehead, Tim Tom Osborne. Tim the current, winningest coach around. I had back-to-back championships in 1994 and 1995. I've just had my 250th win, have been head coach for 24 years and the folks in Nebraska believe you are sitting in my chair!"

And at one point, Tim also served as I passed that story off to him. "Tim would never say that."

I wish him well and thanks for the memories!
