Bomb threat received at Winside

By Clara O'Brien
Ed the Herald

The Wayne County Sheriff's office continues to investigate a bomb threat called to the Winside Public Schools Tuesday morning.

The Wayne County Sheriff's deputy, the Helvanka Fire Patrol and a patrol dog from English, assisted in the search for a bomb after a call was received at the school indicating a bomb would explode in 10-15 minutes.

Also assisting with keeping the area clear were the Winside Fire and Rescue Department personnel, the Winside school staff and Village of Winside employees.

Students were transported to the Winside Middle School before being allowed to their parents.

A search of the building failed to turn up any type of bomb.

Don English, Winside Schools Superintendent, said the school has no written policy for this type of event.

Building staff members blocked off entrances to the school and asked students to pack away from the school. When the school buses arrived, they were directed to take students to the Winside Auditorium.

"We'll tell students handled themselves well," noted an older student, who noted that this could be happening and none of the younger students were aware of which it applied," English said.

When it was learned that it would take several hours to the bomb dog to search in Winside, the decision was made to call all school for the day.

"We didn't send the buses out with students because we didn't want any of the younger students to get home and not have any adult supervision. All the students were required to check out with a staff member before leaving."

"We had great cooperation from everyone involved in the incident," said English for the Winside Volunteers. "Ever-

Department." They did a fantastic job. Some of them graduated on the scene until after 1:30 p.m.," English added.

In talking with our students this week, most are not pleased with what happened and say it shouldn't have happened," English said.

He added that this was the first time in his 38 years in the school system that an incident such as this has occurred.

Wayne County Sheriff Jeffrey Jansen said the bomb threat was the first of its kind since a report of a bomb occurred at Wayne State College in the 1960's.

Winside women feed crowds at auctions

By Dianne Jaquet, Winside Correspondent

Have you ever thought about how many play dates in backlogs or how much hair brush, comb, to be borrowed by one child in a day?

Just along with the ladies who operate it and it's from lunch sales and they can tell you. The 11 is for the Holy and Holy Helen of Wayne and the 11 is for Helen Holmgren of Winside. The three of them have been in business together for almost 30 years and have worked 275 sales since 1978.

The first sale is our own business and Sept. 14, 1978 but back then there was another couple in the business with us. Helen and Phyllis both said they thought

"If there is a bit of my wish-list, it will probably be a better job and more time to do."

"We consider this sale a 400 sandwiches at a special sale day. We're preparing for a smaller sale we make one to ten chick pots (12 to 15 pounds) of turkey. For a large sale we would make 400 sandwiches. We also have hot dogs, french doughnuts, homemade pie, crock pot beef, candy, coffee, hot chocolate or ice tea, brownies and pop."

Dorothy and I share the job ahead of time and divide up the cooking and baking. We usually make coffee, cream pie, cinnamon rolls, whole pie, apple pie, peach and cherry. During certain months we have pumpkin and chocolate. We make anywhere from 10 to 15 pots for a sale. Helen's cream pie is to eat hot, jelly and butter with hot sauce, you'll."

We had our first sale when it was for years and always wanted pumpkin pie to be made for me to have some for him. We once only found out the man is a diabetic and this was the only place he could eat pie without his wife knowing it.

When we're getting prepared for a sale, we bake pie crusts ahead of time to use for the cream pies and can even bake the fruit pies ahead and freeze them. If a sale begins at 10 a.m., we either have to get up very early or do a lot of things the night before, as we need to be at the sale at least an hour early to set up.

We don't always have real nice places to serve from. We've been in bars, wash houses, in back porches.

Jazz Clinic planned at Wayne State College

An all-day event for area high school jazz bands, Jazz Clinic Day will be held on March 13-14, by Wayne State College in Ramsey Hall, Detroit. Peterson Fine Arts Building, on the WSU campus.

As many as 10 to 20 bands from area high schools are expected to attend the event.

Organizing the event is Michael Callan, Wayne State College assistant professor of fine arts, with the program assistance of David Bohner, an instructor of music at Wayne State College and assistant band director.

"The festival will be non-competitive, but we will have two guest clinicians who will provide feedback and work with each band," Bohner said.

Participants are Dr. James Bullard, professor of music at Hartington Community College and Terry Hutchins, director of bands at Lincoln Park High School.

"This will give the high school jazz musicians an opportunity to perform the music that they have been working on for a different audience and get helpful comments from the adjudicators," Bohner said. "By bringing these bands together, the teachers as well as the students may see new things or gain insights into different approaches they may want to try in their own band."

The public is invited to attend. No admission will be charged. Call (402) 375-7562 for more information.

Real Solutions - The Johanns Plan

In my campaign for governor, you will hear me speak often of my "Real Solutions" and "Johanns Plan".

My record

While other candidates will talk about their government record, I am not telling you I think I did a good job. I am telling you I have already done it. I am telling you I have already done it.

The year I began the health budget it was a year when actually not the property tax bill for city services. In real dollars, the property tax burden of our budget this year is $200,000 less than last year. (If that is not a maximum change in taxing automobiles is recognized, the property tax this year is $2.0 million less than last year.) As part of my father's commitment to lowering property taxes, I do not allow the city to take advantage of the windfall created by economic revival.

Here is the deal: I simply drop the property tax levy further.

 on, in corn crib alleys, hog barns, chicken houses, cattle sheds, garages and machine sheds. There's even been a couple of times when we had to sweep out and clean up a few sheds but usually the person having the sale has a place ready for us.

"We take our own tables and seating planks which sometimes we've had to strap to the tops of our vehicles to transport. We also take our own generator and heaters to keep warm. One unusual item they carry is a hot chocolate machine that continually stirs the chocolate so it doesn't burn or all settle at the bottom."

"A lot of people comment when they see this machine switching back and forth. Auctioneer Orville Page found it at a sale for us."

"They also carry an enclosed pig display case. It takes a while to pack everything up and we're very loaded down. The Makers have a pickup which helps a lot."

The partners have had some interesting experiences over the years.

In February of 1984, after the snow had melted, the mud was so deep you couldn't get in or out of farmers' lanes. The Holtgrows' son, Ron, was having a farm sale so their vehicles had to be pulled up the lanes by tractors. Tractors pulling flat beds were used to haul the potential customers from the road to the sale.

Mrs. Holtgrew says, "It's a lot of work, you have to work a day or two before the sale as well as a day or two after the sale. But it's worth it. There are some men who say they come to the sales just to get our pie!"

Help Riley's No Alcohol Teen Dance Stay In Business

The city council is proposing to require that our dance or any other entertainment activity in Wayne stop at 1 a.m. This dance, attracting mostly college age people, many under age 21, has been very popular because it is held from 11 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. rather than 9 to 1. It has also been a place for guys but patrons to go when the bars close, rather than driving around looking for a house party or other activities. It draws an average of 175 young people on Thursday nights, and is an important part of our business. If the amendment passes, the "no alcohol allowed" dance will end because of the closing time, and Riley's will lose well over $10,000 per year, or income. This money helps keep the business in Wayne providing many good services to the community. Your help is needed. Please let your mayor and city council know if you think they should help this company, rather than attack it. Call Please

Road plan approved

Several people were involved in the negotiations during the Wayne County Board of Commissioners public hearing regarding the county's road and bridge fund plan.

Building Committee Chairman, Superintendent continued the work to be done in 1998 and early in budget for 1999.

The feasibility of the proposed included by the completed in 1998. These include four bridges that are to be completed with the assistance of federal money. Superintendent stated that because of the uncertainty of this money, several projects may not be completed in 1999.

Following the presentation, the board voted to accept the plan.

In other action, the board approved the payment of $12,933.17 to Olin Construction for a portion of the contractor's services and materials project.

Also approved was a contract for a road and bridge fund plan approved by the board on March 10.

Superintendent also presented and approved a proposal for a road and bridge fund plan for a road and bridge fund plan.

Commissioner also presented a proposal for a road and bridge fund plan.

I am also impressed that the contractors and leaders who have been working on this project have been responsible enough to do a lot of research, self-education, and planning.

I think this plan is very forward thinking. It takes into account things that will occur in five years, 10 years and beyond. They have been prudent in considering the "cost per user" not just the "total available cost." I think they have planned your future, flexible, "flexible" type of facility that will stand well for a long time, rather than a one stand alone building that will soon be spread over ground.

Comments published that by the year 2000 (not say for myself) that as much as 50 percent of our work force will be spent in education, training or research. That will make a local site to fill up on education and research almost equal in importance to the gas station.

There are you going to attract new families to move to this community if you don't have public access to that kind of "think tank"?

If you give time it could be more efficient and cost effective to keep our libraries as "information" to be updated up to date and maintained if they are collected at a site where papers and news will help local state that.

Another excellent point related to education is that currently residents who drive to Omaha, Omaha or Des Moines have to take some of their retail dollars to those communities. I think out of town shopping will that you could direct much more money changing the location of the library within the town.

What for the goal and mission of the library been in the past? Have it been to serve the whole community with a variety of age appropriate, educational, I think they should they be good for that kind of goal.

they are moved and the community won't have to worry about the cost of that becoming a threat toward younger people.

In fact the city library might be expected to work together with the school and to make to a multi-faceted effort to reduce the amount of youth materials purchased with city funds.

What has done moving in the school plan? The only thing that is really different about the fact of involvement of my generation in the whole process. We should actually use a 100 percent response from the parents and the teachers that will benefit the most from the city library project and the school board.

A very small percent of the county family residing in the age group of 25 to 45 years is responsible for the community's tax base and a public library.

All of our residents so that a program should be continuing a program and for the library board they can only provide 150 or 180 a year. That would be a good to provide a good program. They should also make sure that they are supported by the city and start educating them about the school board.

The young citizens of today are called the "Builder" generation because they have done a number of things that have demonstrated their interest and understanding. The generation that have followed called the "Builder" and "Builder" generation. I often hope that these things they have to be thankful for.

Doesn't you think it's time for the "Builder" and "Builder" generation to get on with their lives? They have to be "Builder" and "Builder" generation. I often hope that these things they have to be thankful for.

Wayne knocks off Ainsworth for state bid

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The Wayne Blue Devils boys basketball team used an aggressive man to man defense to shut down Ainsworth's potent offense in the Class 2, 1-5 district championship Monday night in Detroit.

Wayne claimed a 45-32 victory over seventh-ranked Ainsworth and thus earned a trip to next week's state basketball tournament in Lincoln.

Rocky Bull's team fielded the Bulldogs more than 10 points under their season average of the low 20's. Defense is something Wayne stressed all season, Bull said. I know it's an old cliché, but offensive work you can't see and defensive work you can't hear.

Headline team coach Bob Bohl credited the defense for the win. The team played well in the first half and Bohl credited that to good defense on the part of both teams as well as a little tightness at both teams were playing not to lose instead of playing to win.

Wayne trailed 9-0 after one quarter of play but the Blue Devils held Ainsworth scoreless for more than half of the second stanza while taking a 13-9 lead mostly on the successful 4-pointers by Clinton Keller.

Wayne, however, gave up the last six points of the half and trailed 17-11 at the intermission.

Wayne came out much better in the second half and again held Ainsworth scoreless for several minutes while building a seven-point lead.

Ainsworth rallied again and trailed by just three at the end of the third quarter, 27-24.

The Bulldogs tied the score up in the fourth quarter but Wayne went on a run of its own and forced Ainsworth center Bryce Baker to foul out the 6-9 Baker finished with a game high 18 points.

Despite forcing the Bulldogs into foul trouble the Blue Devils didn't help themselves a lot from the foul line as they were just 9-24 for the contest and 6-17 in the fourth quarter.

But the fouling was constant throughout the entire 32 minutes for Wayne. P.F.F.N.S.A.

It was a very intense game, Bohl said. For very proud of the team for what they've achieved.

Bohl said the defensive play at post forward was especially noticeable as he held one of the top players in the state, Clinton Keller, to just three points.

Wayne was led by Justin Hodge, 13 points, 12 of which came in the second half while Ryan Dahl scored all nine of his points in the second half.

John Magnuson tried to get eight points and Matt Meyer had while Clinton Keller and Adam Lindquist added three each. Magnuson finished out the attack with two points.

The 16-6 Blue Devils out rebounded Ainsworth, 28-24, as Magnuson hauled down a team high eight rebounds and Magnuson, as Magnuson kept the momentum in Wayne's advantage late in the fourth quarter as he crashed the boards on a missed free throw and tied up an Ainsworth player for the ball with the possession strategy pointing Wayne's direction.

The Blue Devils would score on that possession on a lay-in by Hodge to push the lead back to a three-possession advantage.

It was not all glory, however, for Wayne as Ryan Dahl was hit in the mouth by a flying elbow late in the contest with under a minute remaining while mounding down a loose ball and the result for the junior was a lost tooth.

The Blue Devils will go into the Class 1 State tournament as the sixth seed with a first round contest against Norfolk Catholic, the state's current top-ranked squad at 21-3.

Wayne defeated the Knights in Norfolk on Jan. 8. Some time is set for 5 p.m. at Perching Auditorium.

THE BLUE DEVILS earned a trip to the district finals by notching the school's first sub-district championship last Thursday night in a game with a 52-30 victory over Crofton.

Once again our defense keyed the win as we held Crofton way below its season average, Bull said. They ended up hitting just 10 shots in 52 attempts for 19 percent.

Wayne shot the ball just 18 times and connected on 10 for 42 percent and the Blue Devils hit clutch free throws down the stretch including a 10 of 13 during in the fourth quarter.

Laurel advances to state tourney

By Wes Luth
Of the Herald

Laurel's comeback earned a trip back to Lincoln for the State Basketball tournament with a win over Perce by the district finals on Monday night at Wayne High School, 61-48.

The last time the Bears qualified for the tourney, they won it all in 1995.

The Bears and the Indians squared off before a packed house at Wayne High for the Class 2, 1-4 title.

Laurel's comeback pumped out to an early lead behind the shooting of Logan Smith and Vidal Legas and led 15-9 after the first period.

Perce stormed back in the second by scoring 23 points and the game was knotted at 30 at the intermission.

Bears led all scores with 40 points, 12 coming from behind the three-point line.

The Bears started to pull away from the Indians in the third by building a nine-point lead going up 40-19, with eight minutes to play.

Laurel's comeback quickly kept the defense proved too much for Perce and with 15 seconds to go in the game Andy Rose put away the Indians for good with a two-hand jump that put an exclamation point on the Bears victory.

We jumped out to a 11-7 lead for Perce and did a nice job of fighting back to be the score at 30 by half time, Steele said. We managed to get the lead back to 10 on a couple layups in the second half but Perce came back again and kept with it to 40-40.

Steele said his Bears held the Indians scoreless over the final three minutes while scoring the game's final 11 points.

Smith finished with 17 points, Dick Wade had 11, Kirk Magnuson added nine, and Andy Rose had eight with 11 foul possessions coming off the bench during with Rose.

Laurel's comeback will play West Point 10 p.m. Thursday, March 17, at 11:30 a.m. at Lincoln Christian High School.

The Bears will take a 19-1 record to state on Friday, March 18, and will play 10:30 p.m. after knocking off the sixth-seeded Indians.

Laurel is seeded third in Class 2, 2 with West Point Catholic's Catholic guarding the fifth seed. If the Bears advance the first round title they would likely play Lincoln in the semifinals to be held at 9:30 a.m. on Friday at Perching Auditorium.

Lincoln is at 19-13 seeded second with the Cardinals playing three-seeded Lincoln in the first round.

Count in the number one seed at 19-1 and they play Hebron at 16-7 at 1:30 p.m. at Lincoln Christian with the number four seed at 12-5 playing independently at 10:30.

The championship game is slated for Saturday morning at 9:30 at the Bob Devaney Sports Center.

Bears and Wakefield's reason for the sub-district championship the Bears needed Wakefield's season 1st seed 58-53.

Laurel's comeback. Head coach Clayton Steele credited Logan Smith's foul possession and Dick Wade for matching up and playing great defense to get the Bears the win.

The Indians were held to only four second quarter points as the Bears began to pull away.

Laurel's comeback controlled the boards but rebounding Wakefield 40-20. Andy Rose led the Bears with 10, and Dick Wade added eight. The Indians were led by Steve Cardwell with seven boards.

Steele also pointed out that Rose either tipped or attempted 17 shots in the contest.

Our scrappy defense was the difference, Steele said. We held their leading scorer B. Hannon to just four points.

Wyatt Brown led the scoring attack for the Bears with 19. Tracy Knight had 10. Kirk Magnuson finished with nine. Dick Wade led us Andy Rose with five. A lead jump over Dase, and Matt Schweitzer capped off the 18-point scoring with two.

The Indians were led by Billy Gardner with 14. Jim Rush played better. Gardner led us 11. Gardner scored with a career high four points, and Josh Datta had four for Wakefield while scored the game with a 12-11 record.

Last week my four-year-old daughter was watching Cinderella and she got a little confused mid-way through the show as to just what was going on.

It was very clear, extremely clear. Their bid... We determined that Fort Hays State had beaten more teams that were ranked ahead of them in the region and we gave them the bid.

Had they said they picked apart Southern Colorado and Wayne State to form up with the South and bid based on the fact Southern Colorado had defeated Metro State and finished the year with a 2-1 record, they got the bid.

February at Head Start

We started out the month of February by learning about shadows and how they work. We had shadow puppet shows and we made lots of our own shadows. We learned about the groundhog and other animals that live underground, then we designed our own "underground houses."

The second week of February we talked about hearts and emotions. We learned about how our heart works and why it is so important. We made a big heart collage of magazine pictures of all kinds of people to hang in our room with the caption "Love One Another."

We talked about all different kinds of emotions during the week.

We did a special thing with our books at the Janina Center where they read some stories to us and helped us distribute for our Goodie Book Exchange books.

Our books were given to Head Start children because of a grant from the state and the Department of Education.

The Wayne County Veterans of Today also helped contribute money to make the BE program a success. The books were enjoyed by all.

The third week in February we celebrated how good we are. We having a birthday week. We learned about the months of the year and what day our birthday is on.

We had some fun and colorful activities with balloons, string, and pipe cleaners to get our pipes. We decorated cupcake liners and made special birthday cards for our next birthday.

The last week in February we learned our Dental Health because February is National Dental Health Month.

We visited Dr. Mayer's Dental Practice where the children got to see all the different instruments in the office and everyone had a visit to the chair.

We learned our learning how to care for our teeth all week. We did an experiment with eggs where we took toothpaste on the egg and then left it in a glass of pop all night.

The next day everyone had to try to brush all the stain and sugar on the egg with toothbrush and toothpaste to make it white again. It was messy but fun.

We have been enjoying all the beautiful weather and you may have seen us at the park or for walks, dog walks.

Lifestyle

Good nutrition requires planning

According to the American Dietetic Association, good nutrition does not come in one size fits all. Individual needs and preferences are what uniquely defines good nutrition. People can achieve a healthful eating style by being realistic, adventurous, flexible, sensible and active. It's about providing easy and manageable ways for consumers to change behaviors.

A recent study by ADA, the world's largest organization of food and nutrition professionals, shows that nearly eight in 10 Americans believe nutrition is important to health, yet only half as many say they are doing all they can to eat healthfully.

Sally Johnson, Dietitian

Misconceptions about food and nutrition often create the gap between people's attitudes and their behaviors. For example, people often think healthful eating means giving up favorite foods, or that a balanced eating plan takes too much time.

The perceived obstacles to good nutrition can be conquered with a few practical changes that fit individual lifestyles, tastes and preferences. Here are a few tips:

A healthful eating plan can include foods you like. Think of the big picture of total food intake. Eat higher fat and higher calorie items less often or in smaller portions. Small changes in your eating style can make big differences in your overall health.

Plan ahead. By grocery shopping casually or impulsively, you might bypass foods that can add variety and needed nutrients. Also, expand your horizons and try new foods.

"Get to know the Food Guide Pyramid. It is a flexible framework that allows you to eat healthfully while enjoying a variety of foods."

Regular physical activity is also important to overall health. Most Americans (61 percent) believe physical activity is as important as a nutritious eating plan to good health. However, only 43 percent say they make an effort to get regular physical activity.

To all those couch potatoes, America's dietitians say "get up and get moving." Experts note that your activity is better than none and regular physical activity doesn't have to be rigorous. Small bits of activity add up over time. Walk around your home or office, inside or outside during your lunch hour or coffee break whenever time allows.

Don't eat while watching instead of a movie. Importantly, choose enjoyable activities that you can do on a regular basis.

March is National Nutrition Month. Sponsored annually by the National Center for Nutrition and Dietetics of The American Dietetic Association and its Foundation, the campaign is designed to provide the public with the basic nutrition knowledge needed to make informed food choices and develop sound eating habits.

The slogan for 1990, "Make nutrition come alive. It's all about you," reinforces the importance of nutrition as a key component of a healthy lifestyle. It is designed to communicate the flexibility of nutrition recommendations, dietary guidelines and the Food Guide Pyramid as the framework for daily food choices that can be personalized to each individual's food preferences, nutritional needs, health status and lifestyle.

It is a call to action that challenges Americans to take responsibility for their food and nutrition habits.

Allen students participate in Character Counts! and Talking with T.J. Program

Forty-two, first, third and fifth grade students at Allen Elementary School participated in a seven-week Character Counts! Program.

Character Counts! is a program adopted by Nebraska A-E, which is the youth component of the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension.

Character Counts! focuses on six pillars of character. The six pillars include: trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring and citizenship and the decision-making process. A fourth pillar, honesty, was developed by the University of Nebraska Institute of Ethics.

Character Counts! focuses on six pillars of character. The six pillars include: trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring and citizenship and the decision-making process.

While participating in the activity, students were able to identify emotions about each pillar and referred back to them over the seven weeks. They realized that no one pillar is more important than another, but they are important to include all of them in making decisions. What was learned by the students in Character Counts! will be reinforced by these classroom teachers. Kelli Egle, Linda Hander, and Amy Muehl are the teachers.

the shares with students various ways in which they vary in certain situations.

The first two lessons focused on "keeping one's cool." This dealt with helping students take a first step toward managing anger by learning to spot the signs and the results of anger and violence. The third and fourth lessons dealt with "taking a new look."

In these lessons, students learned to feel sympathy for others, even when sometimes it is hard to understand why people do not all see things the same way.

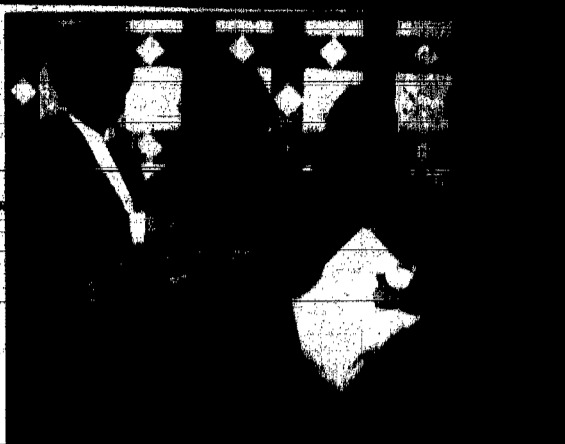

These lessons helped fifth graders to recognize and respect other points of view. The fifth and sixth lessons were based on the theme of "say the right thing."

Students often are not aware of how their words can hurt others and therefore make problems worse. These sessions help students learn the difference between words that hurt and words that help in solving our problems.

In each of the sessions, students participated in activities that could help them work through situations that may occur among themselves or with others. The students were able to practice keeping their cool, taking a new look and saying the right thing.

Character Counts! and Talking with T.J. are University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension A-E School Enrollment Programs.

Each of the weekly lessons were taught by Amy Muehl, Extension Assistant A-E and Youth in Lincoln and Wayne Counties.

First Fridays to feature Sand Hills study

The Wayne State College First Fridays Series will present Marian Bergmann Ingwersen at 9 a.m. March 6, in the Highrises rooms of the WSC Student Center. Bergmann Ingwersen will discuss her research on the Nebraska Sand Hills.

Bergmann Ingwersen has earned a Bachelor of Arts degree at WSC, a master of science degree at the University of Nebraska-Omaha (UNO) and has a PhD pending at the University of South Dakota.

An eighth year instructor at Wayne State College, Bergmann Ingwersen began her teaching career with junior high science for three years in Lincoln and Omaha. Following her junior high instruction experience she was a graduate assistant at Creighton University and UNO.

"I am an ecologist and my interest is in community ecology," Bergmann Ingwersen said. "My research concerns a particular type of wetland called a fen that is found in the Sand Hills of Nebraska. I have been primarily interested in the environmental factors that determine the distribution of plants on these fens."

"I copy my research because I love the Sand Hills and I love being outside working," she said. "The complexity of natural habitats is very interesting to me and I try to make some sense of this complexity. Also, wetlands such as the fen of the Sand Hills are important indicators of the 'health' of our natural world. The future of the human race depends on the world being a healthy place to live. Everything is connected and these fens illustrate the connectedness of the water, the soil, the plants, the animals and the ability of humans very well."

The first Fridays event is sponsored by the Center of Cultural Outreach and organized by Beverly Sadl.

A free continental breakfast will be served. Although designed for senior citizens appeal, all ages are welcome to attend.

During each First Fridays event, a special guest of honor is honored, birthdays are acknowledged and a talk in performance by a member of WSC's faculty or staff completes the evening.
