Road work plan laid out

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The Highway 35 widening project managers for the Nebraska Department of Roads and Dobson Brothers Construction hosted a public meeting last week at the high school.

Scott Brummond along with Rad Dobson told a group of about three dozen residents about the plans for the project which is slated to go into high gear May 11.

"We went with a May 11 date because the college graduation is the weekend before and that would eliminate some traffic," Dobson said. "We know there is still school left on the high school and middle school level but we need the time to complete that portion of the project prior to the beginning of the 1998-99 school year."

Brummond said the purpose of the meeting was for people to find out who to call with questions, a tentative work schedule for 1998 and detour routes.

"One thing people need to remember is the project will affect everyone, not just the businesses along the site of the construction," Brummond said. "Trucks coming into town for deliveries will be detoured like everyone else."

The project which is four kilometers or just over three miles in length, will start just west of the fair county road and continue to just east of Industrial Drive.

"As far as drainage work, tree removal, water main work and storm sewer work, we are ahead of schedule," Dobson said. "When this project is complete, there will be three lanes from the west end of Pac-N-Save to the east end of town."

The road will be completely closed to traffic from May 11 to Aug. 22 from the west end of Pac-N-Save to Seventh & Main Street.

Seventh & Main itself will only be closed from May 11 until approximately May 30, weather permitting.

Work on both ends of the project will be ongoing simultaneously with work being done on the east end of the project proceeding with traffic shifted south while the north side is being worked and vice-versa.

The highway portion of the project is to be completed according to contract by Nov. 29, 1998. "At that time highway traffic will be open completely," Dobson said. "There may be some incidentals that need to be done into 1999 with the overall project contracted for 220 working days."

When the project is completed it is estimated that Seventh & Sherman Street will be raised between three and four feet.

Dobson urged property owners to have underground sprinklers along the project removed before May 11.

The detours slated for traffic will be gravel. New lighting will be placed along Main Street when the project is completed.

"Seventh & Main Street will be well lit with four signal poles, one on each corner," Dobson said. "Then, light poles will be placed every half-block on alternate sides of the road."

The detour for trucks coming into Wayrie from the west will be as follows:

At the KTCH corner go one mile north, go east two miles to highway 15 to 14th street (while Seventh & Main is closed), go east one mile to Centennial Road, head back to highway 35 and continue eastward.

Car traffic will follow the same instructions except they will continue south on highway 15 to Eighth Street, head west on Eighth to Pearl Street, proceed two blocks south to Sixth & Pearl, proceed east on Sixth Street to Logan Street before going back north—one block to highway 35.

Of course the detour is the same for traffic going from east to west with the exception of car traffic.

The west bound car traffic will come in on highway 35 to Seventh and Logan Street. They will proceed one block to Eighth & Logan, go west one-block to Eighth & Main, go on northward and continue on same route.

When the Seventh & Main Street construction is complete the detour for the remainder of the summer will be as follows: At the KTCH corner go one mile north, go east two miles to highway 15. Continue until you get to Seventh & Main Street, go left and continue eastward on highway 35 for car and truck traffic.

All detours will be well-marked for day and night drivers.

Both Brummond and Dobson urge people to call them with questions when they have them. Brummond can be reached at 375-7071 while Dobson's cell phone number is 430-1069.

Providence receives donation

Spring of 1998 has brought an extra-special gift to Providence Medical Center and the entire northeast Nebraska community.

Mary Y. Benthack of Wayne have given $50,000 to the Providence Medical Center Foundation.

The Foundation has in turn established this gift in the Endowment Fund form. A portion of the gift will be invested and will remain intact, with only the earnings to be used annually to meet hospital health care needs.

The Foundation's Board of Directors will determine each year, working with the hospital, what the most pressing needs are, and the Endowment Fund's earning will be used for that purpose in that year.

The same process will be used each year into the future.

The fund has been named the "Robert B. and Mary Y. Benthack Endowed Health Care Needs Fund." Although it has been started with this initial gift, other persons wishing to enlarge this Fund may donate to it in the future, thereby growing the base of the Fund to generate an ever larger amount of earnings that can be channeled into the community through the hospital to help achieve and maintain good

Creation of new jobs has economic impact on entire community

What do 100 new jobs mean to a community? According to Martin Lefkowitz, different kinds of jobs ultimately mean different kinds of things to a community. This publication of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce examines issues concerning measuring the economic impact of new jobs on the community, demilitarization and what communities need to do and determining the value of a job.

In his introduction, Lefkowitz states his "publication is a study of change." He asks the reader to consider what occurs in a community when economic changes happen, or to consider what happens when another business opens.

How are existing businesses affected? He says that "the economy of a local community is a complex dynamic system; that is, a system that is undergoing constant change. The community will adapt to change or die."

The study seeks to answer the question, "What happens economically in my community if a new auto plant or steel mill or restaurant opens up?" Looking at the number of jobs created in a county or region to produce $1 million of output, the job multiple includes both directly and indirectly created jobs, both primary and secondary demand.

Take a look at what the creation of just one new job actually means to a county:

New construction--2.86 new jobs; textiles--1.72 new jobs; primary metals--1.93 new jobs; motor vehicles and equipment--2.36 new jobs; wholesale trade--1.78 new jobs; retail trade--1.40 new jobs; finance--1.90 new jobs; hotels and amusements--1.76 new jobs; health services--1.56 new jobs; eating and drinking places--1.34 new jobs and business services--1.45 new jobs.

Let's take a closer look at what happens when 100 new jobs are created in the Motor Vehicle and Equipment category.

In addition to those 100 jobs, there are 328 new jobs in Construction, 34.42 new jobs in Manufacturing, 8.20 in Transportation, 34.42 in Wholesale and retail trade, 9.83 in Finance and 45.89 in Services for a total of 236.02 newly created jobs.

and I am convinced that he will continue to work just as hard here at home as he did for our interests in Washington. He will serve us and serve us well as our governor.

His blend of common sense, moral integrity, down home work ethic and fiscal conservatism make him an excellent choice as our next governor.

I believe that a vote for Jon Christensen is a very wise vote for the future of our great state. Please vote for Jon Christensen on May 12.

School funding debate continues

By Leslie Boellstorff Reed
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

For modesty's sake, I considered letting Ed Howard, my partner in this column-writing enterprise, handle the $70 million school aid brouhaha that occurred on the last day of the session.

Thanks in part to a story I wrote for the Sunday Omaha World-Herald, lawmakers spent more than three hours debating whether or not they intended to cover the revenue gap to be created when school property tax rate limits drop in 2001. After several days of being told, jokingly and not-so-jokingly, "so you're the one that caused all the trouble," I decided to take the prerogative and talk a bit about Legislative Bill 1175, the Wickersham amendment and state aid to schools.

Let's turn back the calendar to April 6. It was second-round debate on LB1175, a so-called "clean-up" bill offered by the Education Committee. Typically, committees introduce such bills every year or two to make fairly minor changes—clarifying wording, eliminating obsolete wording, etc. However, for a number of reasons, the Education Committee had been unable to get a "clean-up" bill passed in the last several years, and this year it absolutely had to be done.

Meanwhile, 1998 had developed into the year of the "Christmas Tree." Because of the likelihood it would pass, LB1175 became an attractive target for lawmakers trying to find a way to move proposals that would not otherwise survive the session.

I was monitoring the debate that night, watching for an amendment from State Sen. Bob Wickersham of Harrison. It wasn't the amendment. This Wickersham amendment dealt with changes to "freeholding"—a provision allowing landowners in certain instances to transfer their land out of a school district that voted to override the property tax rates.

But Wickersham withdrew the freeholding amendment before it was debated. I left, thinking that a potentially bitter school-aid fight had been averted. I paid almost no attention to the other amendment offered by Wickersham, the one that changed the way school aid is calculated and, some now say, establishes state aid as an entitlement.

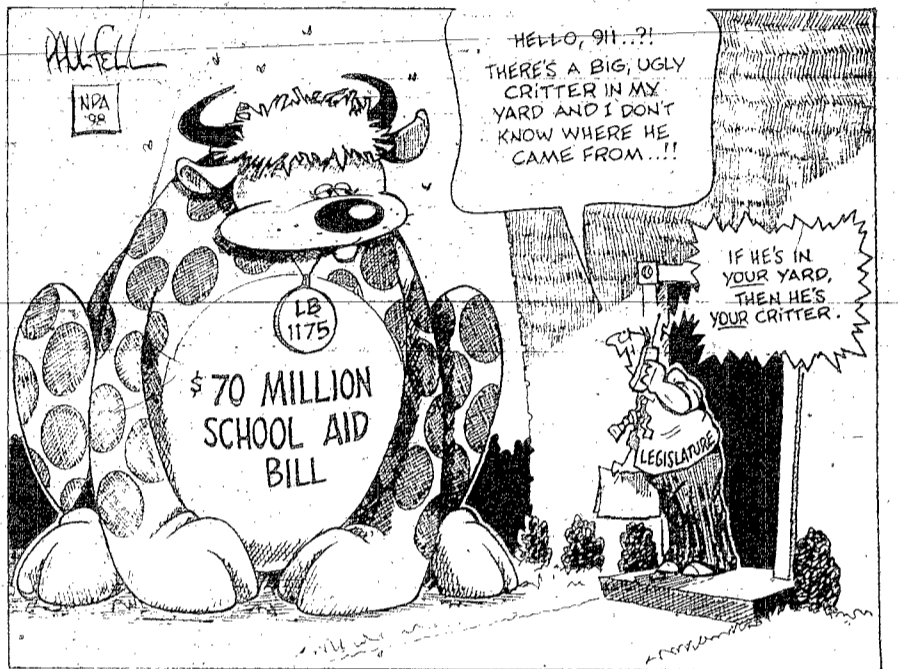

On April 10, I got a tip about that amendment. I won't reveal the identity of my tipster because I do not want to discourage others from giving me such valuable help in the future. But I will tell you that it was not the World-Herald's publisher, John Gottschalk, as some have implied.

Gottschalk's name has been included in a published list of business leaders who are interested in a petition drive to put a lid on state spending. Articles in other newspapers quoted Nebraska State Education Association lobbyists as saying the school-aid issue was manufactured by the World-Herald to prompt a petition drive.

I find that pretty irritating. After interviewing Wickersham at least three times at length about what he intended with this amendment, I believe him when he says he viewed the amendment as a procedural change and that the $70-million policy was adopted by lawmakers last year. But I also believe lawmakers and other legislative observers who say they didn't realize the state made that commitment with last year's vote on Legislative Bill 806, the funding formula that's causing so many small-town schools so much heartburn. I covered the LB806 and remember the intent-language discussion but, like many others, believed it was only good intentions—the kind that pave the way to hell.

Ah, the power of the press. If it weren't for my story, maybe lawmakers wouldn't have discussed the issue. That's a pretty heady feeling. But I also maintain that if it weren't an issue of importance to Nebraskans, our Legislature would have given it short shrift, regardless.

Dear Editor,
Within a few weeks, we will go to the primaries to elect our parties' candidates. While the Republicans has several good candidates in this year's races, I feel that one does stand out—Jon Christensen.

His outstanding leadership credentials put him a cut above the rest. Jon has accomplished a great deal in Washington in a very short period of time and I have every reason to believe that he will continue to do the same as our governor.

Jon is not afraid of hard work

Ryun Williams accepts job to coach Wayne State gals

Ryun Williams has been named the new head women's basketball coach at Wayne State College, WSC director of athletics Pete Chapman announced on Tuesday.

Williams comes to WSC after serving three years as head women's basketball coach at Sheridan College, a junior college in Sheridan, Wyoming.

During that time, Williams has turned Sheridan into one of the top programs in the region.

In three seasons as head coach, he owns a 54-38 mark. After a 7-21 record during his first season, Williams guided the Lady Generals to a 19-12 mark in 1996-97 and 28-5 record this past season.

The 1997-98 Wyoming Conference and Region IX Coach of the Year, Williams led Sheridan to the Wyoming Conference title and a runner-up finish at the Region IX Tournament. The Lady Generals were ranked 14th in the final junior college national rankings.

"My wife (Lyndi) and I are both very excited and grateful for this opportunity," the 29-year-old Williams said after he was named the program's ninth head coach.

"We felt like we were a fit for the women's basketball program and Wayne State College as a whole, from the athletic administration to the coaches, the players and the community. Plus, the dedication towards athletics and the support from the administration and community is so strong. That really excites us."

According to Chapman, Williams will bring a great deal of excitement to the athletic department and community as well.

"I am impressed with Ryun's enthusiasm, his organization and his plan for taking the Wayne State College women's basketball program to a high level of competition," Chapman said. "I believe there are qualities he will bring to the overall athletic department which will enhance its growth over the next few years."

Williams has been at Sheridan College since 1993. Prior to becoming the head women's basketball coach, he served as an assistant men's basketball coach, and was the head women's volleyball coach for four years, compiling a 117-66 record.

Williams guided the Lady Generals to a 33-14 record and a number 14 national ranking in 1994. In 1995, Sheridan went 42-8, won the Region IX title and finished fifth at the junior college national tournament. In both years, Williams garnered Wyoming Conference and Region IX Coach of the Year honors.

Before coaching at Sheridan, Williams was an assistant at the University of South Dakota during the 1992-93 season. That year, the Coyotes went 25-5, won the North Central Conference title and advanced to the Division II Elite Eight.

Williams played two seasons at Sheridan College, where he was an All-Region IX player as a sophomore.

In addition, he was a two-time All-Wyoming Conference performer and a two-time academic all-conference selection.

He then transferred to South Dakota, where he earned All-NCC honors after leading the nation in free throw percentage at 91.2 percent. He also was named academic all-conference as a junior and senior. Williams earned his associate's degree from Sheridan College in 1990, his bachelor's degree from USD in 1992 and his master's degree from USD in 1997.

Williams inherits a WSC program which went 8-21 last season. The Wildcats return nine letterwinners including five players who started at least 10 games. That group includes the team's top six scorers and six of its top seven rebounders.

"We want to build," Williams said. "It is going to be a challenge, we understand that. But Wayne State College has a lot to offer. I see nothing, but better things for this program in the future."

Wayne State pitcher Aaron Garmong stares down his opponent while throwing his pitch during the Wildcat contest with Midland last Friday in the Wildcat Classic.

Wayne golfers win Plainview tourney

The Wayne golf team captured championship honors at the Plainview Invitational last Saturday, carding a 317 to win by 13 strokes over runner-up Pender.

Laurel-Concord was third with a 333 followed by Atkinson West Holt at 337 and Pierce, 344.

The rest of the 16-team field finished in the following order: Oakland-Craig, 347; Stanton, 349; Creighton, 350; Randolph, 356; O'Neill JV's, 357; Plainview, 358; Lyons-Decatur, 383; Orchard, 388; Bloomfield, 388; Plainview B, 404; Plainview A, 426.

The top 20 golfers of the field of 82 received medals including Creighton's Shane Bums with a 73 for gold medal honors.

Laurel-Concord's Jason Penlerick carded a 74 for second place with a Wayne trio of Klinton Keller (78), Ryan Sturm (78) and Jason Parks (79) placed fourth through sixth.

Ryan Dahl placed 13th with an 82 and Laurel's Jon Erwin was 19th with an 85.

Wayne's fifth golfer, Joel Munson finished with a 96. Laurel's other three varsity players each fired 87's including Chad Jorgensen, Sam Recob and Evan Smith.

"The balance of the top four players was again key to this championship," coach Terry Munson said. "Jason Parks had the most consistent round of the day with rounds of 39-40 with 11 pars and seven bogies. He had no double bogies or three-putts the entire round."

Munson said Ryan Sturm had an even par 36 on the front nine before struggling home with a 42. "Ryan Dahl hit the ball well but had four penalty strokes and one mental error that led to a double bogey which kept him from scoring in the 70's," Munson added.

Keller went out in 42 on the front but fired back with an even par 36. "He had nine pars on the back nine and a total on those nine holes of 12 putts," Munson said.

Wayne will be competing in the O'Neill Tournament on Thursday with the reserves playing in Wakefield's varsity tournament on Saturday.

Wayne's varsity will play at the Columbus Lakeview Invite next Thursday.

Wayne State men's golf squad second at own invitational

Wayne State's men's golf team competed at the Midland invite in Fremont last week with the Wildcats placing second—five strokes behind Northeast Community College's "Black" squad.

WSC shot a 312 as a team. Matt Ruehling was the low golfer for the Wildcat's with a 76, and a third place tie.

Sam Loewe and Erik Burns both shot 78's for the Wildcat's and a tie for sixth. Chris Shultz had an 80 and Rich Kortum had an 82.

Nebraska Wesleyan "Gold" finished third with a 315. Other teams competing included: Briar Cliff 326; Hastings 330; NECC "Red" 333; Northwestern "A" 333; Midland "A" 340; Nebraska Wesleyan "Brown" 340; SECC 340; Doane 344; Union College 344; Concordia 346; Northwestern "B" 355 and Midland "B" 379.

The WSC invite was held last Saturday at the Country Club. Ryan Vlasin, from Northwestern shot a one under par 71 for first place. Chris Shultz shot a three over par 74 for a tie for third. Rich Kortum and Ryan Borer each had 75's for the Cats and a tie for fifth.

New Daily Calcium Recommendations

The National Academy of Science Institute of Medicine has issued new recommendations for certain vitamins and minerals. More calcium and vitamin D were recommended to reduce the risk of osteoporosis (porous bones). Vitamin D is needed to enhance calcium absorption. Recommendations for calcium did not change very much for persons up to the age of 25, except children ages 6 to 10 are now encouraged to get up to 1,200 mg of calcium every day.

The previous recommendation for adults (age 25 to 50) was 800 mg of elemental calcium daily. The new recommendation for this group increases the amount to 1,000 mg. Persons over age 50 and women 51 to 65 who are taking estrogen should also receive 1,000 mg. If women in this age group are not taking estrogen, the daily recommended intake is 1,500 mg. Calcium supplements should be taken with food to improve absorption.

WE'RE STICKING WITH KN.

"Choice? We think it's great. If you didn't have choice, you'd have to eat hamburgers all day long. You couldn't go to a different movie. Couldn't buy a different car. There'd be one style of clothing. As far as my natural gas supplier goes, it's great to have a choice. Choice brings competition. Competition brings better pricing and better deals. How do we feel about KN? The people there have been really great. When we want something done, they just come right over and do it. They fixed us up with a smaller, more efficient furnace than the one we had. The house is cozy. And we're comfortable with our decision to stay with KN."

Volunteers are backbone of 4-H Engagements

By Amy Malchow, Extension Assistant 4-H and Youth

April 19-25 has been slated as National Volunteer Week. What better way to maintain a healthy and happy heart than by volunteering to help others, especially our country's young people?

It's certainly true that volunteers are the backbone of the 4-H program in our community and across the state. As National Volunteer Week is celebrated, each volunteer should know how important he or she is.

Without the dedicated time and support of adult and teen volunteers, the broad scope of the 4-H program would be limited. Volunteers create a multiplier effect: ten trained club volunteers can organize 10 clubs of 10 children each, thus reaching 100 local youth. Chances are, each volunteer will train at least one other volunteer along the way. It takes this effort to make things happen.

But it is not just club leaders who make the 4-H program work. It is also parents and adults who help with specific projects and share their time and talents. The 4-H program's success depends on a lot of individuals to create the learning that takes place.

To everyone who works so hard to build future leaders from the youth of today, we salute you this week and always.

May Fellowship Day to be observed in Wayne

May Fellowship Day will be observed on Friday, May 1, at 9:30 a.m. at the First Baptist Church in Wayne.

This annual event unites Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women in a common worship experience for the purpose of building helping relationships within their communities.

This year's service is entitled "Widening the Circle of Hospitality" and encourages participants to widen their circle of awareness and hospitality to people in their own area, those living in their geographical "neighborhoods."

The service is written by Marie Cirillo, staff for Appalachia Community Development who invite us to "widen our minds, our hearts, our attitudes to people around us."

The officers will present the program, along with speakers from the community representing Hospice, Tower School and Rainbow Riders. Maria Brown will also perform a solo.

The 1998-99 officers, recently installed by Fern Kelley, past president of Church Women United include: Bette Ream, president; Dorothy Grone, vice-president; Bess Baier, secretary; Helen Goblirsch, treasurer and Julie Claybaugh, Board member.

Churches represented by the officers are First Baptist, Our Savior Lutheran, United Presbyterian, St. Mary's Catholic and United Methodist.

Prom breakfast is planned

An "After-The-Prom Breakfast" will be hosted at the Wayne Country Club on Sunday, April 26, at 4:30 a.m.

All high school youth going to Saturday night's prom are invited to attend the free breakfast.

High school youth who wish to attend the After-The-Prom Breakfast, are asked to sign up at the school so that enough food can be prepared.

"In order to give students an option to driving out of town early in the morning after being up all night at the Prom activities, we are offering this free breakfast which we hope all Prom participants will feel welcome to attend," said Pastor Paul Judson of Our Savior Lutheran Church.

The After-The-Prom Breakfast is sponsored by Our Savior Lutheran Church.

CRAFTERS

Nine Creative Crafter members met April 14 at the home of Jane Rademacher. Wire angel pins were made.

The group will not meet again until September in the home of Marie Janke.

SENIORS

Eighteen Winside area Senior Citizens met April 13 for an Easter Party at the Winside Legion Hall. Almost all wore Easter bonnets.

First place winners were Marian Iversen, Henrietta Jensen and Ivan Diedrichsen.

Other prizes were also awarded and everyone received an Easter treat.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 27.

YOUNG AUTHORS

Two Winside Elementary students were selected to participate in this year's Young Authors Festival held at Wakefield.

Third grader Susan Lessmann and fourth grader Colby Langenberg were chosen to attend because of short stories they wrote for class assignments.

Susan is the daughter of Lynn and Gloria Lessmann and Colby is the son of Chuck and Gina Langenberg.

Susan attended the Festival with students from approximately 25 northeast Nebraska schools.

Guest speaker was Kristi Holl, children's book author from Iowa.

The event was sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Reading Council. Laura Straight, Winside kindergarten teacher is the president of the group.

UNITED METHODIST WOMEN

Eight members of the United Methodist Church Women's group met April 14. President Helen Holtgrew conducted the meeting.

The April 18 Spring event was moved to the South Sioux City Presbyterian Church. An invitation was read from the Laurel United Methodist Women for an April 30 brunch beginning at 9 a.m.

There will be a brunch in Winside on May 3, after church for the congregation.

The lesson was given by Bonnie Wylie and Audrey Quinn was hostess.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, May 5 because of the election. Helen Hancock will be hostess.

SURVEY COMING

The Village Board of Winside will be soon sending all village residents a "community attitude survey" similar to the one done several years ago. The survey will be used to seek future grant money for village improvements.

All information in the survey will be kept confidential. It is very important surveys be returned because the village will not be able to apply for grants if a specific percentage of surveys are not returned.

Also, it is very important that the surveys be filled out completely.

Collection boxes for the surveys will be placed at Oberle's Market and in the village clerk's office, or by calling Board member Lori Hansen at 286-4301 to make arrangements for picking them up.

Assisting with the survey is the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development office in Norfolk.

NEIGHBORING CIRCLE

Evelyn Langenberg hosted the April 9 Neighboring Circle Club with 10 members and three guests, Vera Brogie, Dolores Tüebche and Virginia Langenberg present.

Club President Erna Hoffman called the meeting to order by welcoming the guests and everyone singing "Long, Long Ago."

Roll call was 10 cents for each grandchild members had and 50 cents for those who had none.

Five point pitch was played with prizes going to Evelyn Herbolshjemer, Gene Rohlf, Evelyn Jaeger, Lavla Voss and guests Vera Brogie and Virginia Langenberg.

The next meeting will be Thursday, May 14 at Helen Muehlmeier's home. Roll call will be to name a May flower.

HEALTHY LIFESTYLE CLUB

Members of the Healthy Lifestyle Club met April 13. The bingo contest was updated and still continues.

Chemical awareness is stressed 4-H News

Health hazards as a result of handling pesticides and herbicides are of special concern in the area this time of year.

Providence Medical Center would like to remind farmers and others involved in handling these chemicals to be particularly cautious and heed the following safety guidelines:

1. Always have respect for the chemical being used and follow directions on the label for its safe use. In reading the label precautions, be aware of the hazards before using the chemical.

2. Wear appropriate protective equipment when handling the chemical. With many chemicals, it is prudent to wear safety glasses/goggles, rubber gloves and clothing which will cover area which may become exposed to the chemical (such as long-sleeved shirts.) In some instances, particularly when a dry chemical is used and the production of dust is a possibility, a mask to filter out these particulates would be advised.

3. Look for safer systems, for applying chemicals. Many new products have recently been introduced onto the market which reduce the chance of exposure during application.

4. Have a plan to follow if an exposure does occur. Water should be readily available to dilute the chemical immediately. The key to dealing with an exposure is washing the chemical off as quickly as possible. Jump into a horse tank, spray off with a hose or get to a shower immediately upon exposure. St. Luke's Poison Center in Sioux City, Iowa recommends at least a 15-minute dousing and washing each exposed body part three times with soap.

Although these emergency shower procedures can be provided at Providence Medical Center, it is recommended that chemical exposure victims initiate this procedure at home to save time. A trip to the hospital may be warranted after the chemical has been washed off to check for any side effects which may occur from the chemical exposure.

5. Any clothing which may have been involved with the exposure should be discarded, as residual chemical may remain in the fabric, even after numerous washings. Leather boots act like a sponge for chemicals and it is basically impossible to rid them of chemical residue.

Have emergency phone numbers available. St. Luke's Poison Center — 1-800-352-222 and Providence Medical Center (402) 375-3800.

The staff at PMC wish all of the farmers in the area a safe and productive growing season.

COUNTRY CLASSICS 4-H CLUB

The Country Classics 4-H Club met April 19 at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. The meeting was called to order by Derek Schardt, vice president.

Roll call was taken by answering where we would like to have our summer vacation.

Announcements were given about summer day camps and activities. Community service project ideas were discussed. Theme booth ideas were discussed.

Speeches were given by Leah and Alissa Dunklau, Greg Schardt and Casey Daehnke. Needle books were judged.

Pretzels and cookies were made as a club cooking project. Aaron Daum, news reporter

Accumulating information Animals provide therapy

At last, sunshine and no wind. I have one six foot window washed, only 29 to go.

I've been accumulating information on pet therapy. I knew that some nursing homes have resident dogs or cats, or programs that brought them in on a routine basis. Most have aviaries, containing unusual birds that are fun to watch. In Japan, the latest relaxation fad is watching jellyfish in huge aquariums.

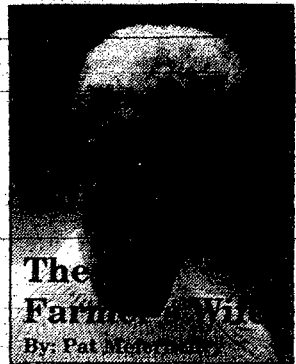

An octogenarian whose insurance assessment I was doing had a cat who was obviously the queen of the house. Her padded basket was in the middle of the dining room table, under an antique hanging light fixture. The lady assured me that cat owners do not have hypertension and she certainly doesn't.

We have actually kept a cat around for a year now. She's one of the kittens born here in October of '96, transplanted with its mother and siblings to McCabes across the road. They have a warm wash house and are home most days.

This one wandered back over here last spring, we we had her spayed and got her shots. Now, the Big Farmer calls her 95 because the total bill was $95 and he's never spent that much on a farm cat before!

But I prefer dogs. Of course, I knew about Seeing Eye dogs and have seen some in action. Then I saw a TV program about training dogs to sense when a child who is prone to seizures is about to have one. They alert parents or caregivers so they can prepare and avoid injury. It was amazing.

Now they are training them for Parkinson's patients. There are drugs for some of the symptoms — tremors, rigidity, stiffness — but not for the phenomenon known as freezing. They walk along and suddenly can't move. They often lose their balance. Dogs will recognize freezing and just by tapping the person's foot with a paw, can break the cycle and prevent a possible fall. They also help with stumbling by being along side so the owners can grab the harness and regain their balance.

I heard a speaker last year who has had two bouts with lymphoma, the first when he was in college. He came back to his parents' home and spent a lot of recuperation time with his dog. The recurrence was many years later, and he researched alternative therapies, including Lakota Sioux medicine. They told him to acquire a "four legged," a coyote or dog.

Finally, a friend and dog lover tells me DOG is GOD spelled backwards. She was joking, of course, but I'm looking for one good dog, one who won't bark at night and won't get out on the road. I doubt if I'll find it.

LEAD graduation held

Thirty LEAD XVI (Leadership, Education, Action, Development) Fellows graduated from the two-year program and new Nebraska Agricultural Leadership Council Inc. officers were elected recently.

Keynote speaker for the event was U.S. Senator Chuck Hagel who spoke on "The Quest for Quality Leadership in America" and the opportunity LEAD participants have to contribute to leadership development in the state, nation and world.

Among the graduates was Robert Bock of Allen.

LEAD is designed to prepare spokespersons, problem solvers and decision-makers needed for the betterment of Nebraska and its agricultural industry, said Allen Blezek, director of the Nebraska LEAD Program and president of the Nebraska Agricultural Leadership Council, Inc.

Its mission is to "prepare and motivate men and women in agriculture for more effective leadership." After 17 years of operation, there are nearly 480 alumni throughout the state.

Applications for LEAD group XVIII, beginning in September of 1998 are now available by contacting the Nebraska LEAD office at (402) 472-6810 or by writing to 35 Food Industry Complex, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, Neb., 68583-0924.

Host families sought

Twenty-eight Nebraska families are needed to host Japanese students participating in a Cooperative Extension 4-H exchange program July 25-Aug. 23.

This year celebrates the 25th year that Nebraska 4-H has had a reciprocal exchange with LABO, a Japanese youth organization that emphasizes cultural education and learning English," said Kathy Potthoff, state 4-H youth program coordinator at the University of Nebraska.

Host families are being sought by May 15 so they have time to correspond with the 12-18-year old visitors before they arrive in Nebraska. Each family will be asked to host one of the 28 Japanese boys or girls. The Nebraska families must have a child at home who is the same sex and within two years of the visitors' age.

Host families don't have to be 4-H members but must attend an orientation session.

The families don't need to change their summer schedules to accommodate the Japanese students because the visitors "want to experience daily American life," Potthoff said.

Families interested in serving as hosts, can call their local Cooperative Extension office, Potthoff at (402) 472-9021 or Bill Cadwell, NU's 4-H International coordinator at (402) 482-9011. Families can also write to the state 4-H office, Room 114 Ag Hall, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, Neb., 68583-0700.

Robert Fritschen and his wife Hazel present a check for $500 to John Witkowski, Director of the Northeast Research and Extension Center.

Couple donate to NEREC

Robert (Bob) and Hazel Fritschen of Laurel donated $500 to the Northeast Research and Extension Center (NEREC) in Norfolk. The donation establishes a new General fund at the Northeast Center in which the funds will be utilized to further research and extension excellence, according to John Witkowski, NEREC Director.

Fritschen, former director of the Center, recently retired after 35 years with the University of Nebraska. He was involved in extension, research and teaching and continues to be involved with many activities concerning the university and the Northeast Center.

He was recently appointed as a member of the Nebraska Ag Builders and is currently a member of the University of Nebraska Speakers Bureau.

Fritschen was instrumental in the development of the $2.6 million fund raising campaign for the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk, which houses the new headquarters for the NEREC and several partners in education.

"Many colleges and universities have general funding accounts to help where other dollars may fall short," Fritschen said. "I just think it was time for the Northeast Center to enjoy the generosity of those who want to give."

"Wonders of Wildlife" is the 1998 Soil and Water Stewardship theme

Norfolk - To encourage backyard wildlife habitat improvements, the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District invites you to celebrate Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 26 - May 3, 1998, and to learn more about ways you can improve wildlife habitat in your backyard and neighborhood.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD works with the National Association of Conservation Districts to provide the informational materials available to communities each year. The Stewardship Week promotional materials are suited for use in both churches and schools, as well as general civic gatherings, such as garden clubs.

Organizers of this year's Soil and Water Stewardship Week observance are hoping that their "Wonders of Wildlife" theme will attract interest from the public and that individuals and families will take the time to apply basic conservation practices that will benefit the animals and birds that are their neighbors, wherever they live.

Julie Schmit, Information and Education Coordinator for the Lower Elkhorn NRD, said "Backyard wildlife improvements can be as simple as placing a bird feeder or a peanut butter-filled pine cone in a tree, to a project as major as creating a wetland or small pond to attract wildlife. Take a look at what your backyard has to offer and make improvements yearly."

Personnel at your local natural resources district or other community wildlife organizations can help you identify those practices that are best suited for your own backyard, whether it's a small urban porch or several acres in the country.

To learn more about conservation practices that benefit wildlife, contact your local Natural Resources Conservation Services or the Lower Elkhorn NRD.
