Heated debate highlights council meeting

By Clara Osten

Nearly two hours of debate on one resolution highlighted Tuesday's Wayne City Council meeting.

An overflow crowd was on hand to voice disapproval for a resolution that would have increased the area involved in the Wayne West Planning Study.

A number of home owners in the area that would have been affected by the study expressed disapproval to the adding of additional area to the original study

Before comments from the public, Mayor Sheryl Lindau recounted the process the council has gone though in preparing for the study, beginning in September of 1997 with a presentation by Linda Anderson of the Wayne Corporation on the development of the western. Wayne area and a proposal from the planning commission for a study

In January of 1998 the council accepted a Community Development Block Grant for a planning study of the area. In March of 1998 the firm of Kirkam: Michael was hired to do the study A public hearing was held during the council's June 30 meeting:

Duane Schroeder spoke to those present and told the council he felt that projects in the area should be done "on a piece by piece basis. We don't need to take free money just because it is offered.

He added that the owner of the land west of Greenwood Cemetery is not interested in developing her land and "the citizens are not in favor of the study. It is a foregone conclusion as to the outcome of the plan if it is done by the planner. We are being planned to death."

Maureen Kingston, who lives at council that she would not have purchased a house in the area had she known there was any possibility that it could be declared 'blighted and substandard.'

"We (home owners) are being used as a sacrificial lamb to allow for the city to receive the fund ing," she said.

Dale Miller of Kirkam:Michael was present to answer questions and stated that having the blight and substandard designation does not give, the city authority to condemn or acquire any property. He added that the blight and substandard designation could prove to be an asset to landown ers in obtaining funding for projects to benefit the area. Home owners could also challenge the conclusions of the plan.

Council person Patty Weiland told those at the meeting that until the study is completed and the determination made on the "it is a mute point."

Wil Wiseman said that he had spoken to a number of members of the planning commission who had not been involved in the

"There are some points that need more inquiry or explanation. The original area included 160 acres and had been expanded three times because the original area on Highway 35 doesn't meet the blight and substandard defini-

"We should develop our own Master Plan and involve our own planning. There are other ways to get proper planning and this is stretching the law," he added. "This is a sensitive issue that has been poorly explained. I recom-mend that we not proceed in this manner and that we drop the blight and substandard designation," Wiseman added.

He added that he would ap prove spending $25,000 for "our own study.

Councilman Doug Sturm said. that he felt "this is a good project, but if the community is not in favor of it and we represent them, we need to vote what they want.".

Resolution 98-66 died because a lack of a motion. This means that the expanded area will not be included in the study but that the original study will proceed.

In other action, the council approved the application of Terry Sievers to the Wayne Volunteer request to prohibit parking on Windom Street between Third and Fourth Street from July 31-Aug. 4 the State Baseball Tournament.

Council listened to a request from Deb Allemann for more storm sewers in the Sunnyview Addition to held alleviate drainage and siltation-problems on Hillside. Drive.

Mrs. Allemann said that she represented a number of home owners in the area who were concerned with the mud that runs down Hillside Drive. She stated that something needs to be done but felt home owners should not be responsible for paying for it.

The council said that more siltation and erosion control is possible while more permanent solutions are sought.

A request by Jeremy Calhoon to have a pet ferret was approved as was Resolution 98-72 which allows for a redevelopment agreement and other matters relative to the Wayne East Project.

Russ Gifford of Jones Intercable was present to discuss the possible of lones Intercable TelePartners. A resolution on the issue will be put on the agenda for Barkely Asphalt of Sioux City, lowa for laying of asphalt and a bid of $3,560.40 from Rutjens of Tilden for milling work were accepted for projects to be completed at Henry Victor Park, the Wayne Municipal Airport, a number of alleys and several projects on the Wayne State College campus.

Council also gave approval on a cost share for repairs to connect to the city sewer from Randy Pick.

The agreement is subject to Pick's signing of a waiver of liability for School Board hears of change in ballot

By Lynn Slevers Of the Herald

Approval of proposal from RAMBO and Associates to conduct a bond election on Sept. 29, 1998 was put on hold by the Wayne Community School Board at their meeting on Monday night.

Reasons for the wait included the absence of two members plus the introduction of information from Angelo Passarelli, RAMBO representative, that Bond Counsel had proposed going to an advisory type bond issue from a two ballot issue. In the advisory bond plan the voters will be given two ballots; the first asking if they want to spend up to $7.5 million and the second part asking how they want to spend that amount either with new construction for $ 7.5 million or renovation for $ 7 million.

Both plans include a master plan which calls for relocating four modular units to Carroll Elementary: building a small addition at the high school; completing Wayne Elementary renovations; furniture, equipment, etc. for Middle School, High school and Elementary: and for new construction, the demolishing of the middle school.

Duane Schroeder was present to represent the citizen group studying the Middle School renovation Schroeder discussed community feelings toward the project and reminded the board to keep the ballot unbiased and to keep the architect position open.

Marion Ameson, heading the facility board committee, reported on the latest community meeting. He said there was a good turnout of residents at the last public meeting and too priority voiced by the people was to get the facts out on both renovation and new construction

Blighted designation unfair

Dear Editor,
Would you like to live in a neighborhood that was designated "blighted" or "substandard?". Would you knowingly buy a house that had been so designated? Probable not.

In order to procure federal and state aid to develop 160+ acres near the fairgrounds and Pac 'N Save in western Wayne, the City Council needs to designate the Oak Drive-Third Street to Eighth Street area blighted is it a

"blighted" community? Hardly. This designation is part of a shell game in grant writing; it's a bureaucratic ploy to get money. The consequences of such a ploy, however, are anything but child's

The City Administrator assured concerned citizens at the July 14 meeting that a "blighted" designation would not affect the "assessed" value of homes in the area. And he's right, but is that really the issue? My husband and I recently bought a house on Third Street and have definite plans to remodel, add an addition, build a new retaining wall, etc. The county assessor will increase the value of our house and raise our taxes with each new improvement. But what about the fair market or real estate value of our home? What if we or our neighbors desire to sell our homes? What will be the penalty for living in a "blighted"

Say you could sell your house today, for $100,000, Would a buyer be as willing to pay this amount tomorrow if the neighborhood were labeled "blighted?" Perhaps, but at a discount. Maybe $75,000 instead of $100,000. It's not logical, but it's how the real estate_game works. (LOCATION, LOCATION,

Some Council members expressed concern about the $25,000 already spent on development studies and the taxes that might have to be levied to remunerate such expenses. I don't want to denigrate this bill, but it amounts to chump change in comparison to what the hundreds of property owners in the affected area would lose if they tried to sell their property. Moreover, a "blighted" designation, even if it is only a ruse on paper, has a pasty way of becoming a self-fulfilled prophesy. I've seen it happen in other places.

Those who can afford to eat real estate losses move out of the neighborhood; those who can't shred their improvement plans and cease all repairs. What wasn't "substandard" or "blighted" becomes so.

I understand the Council's impetus and larger vision to develop western Wayne for the greater good of her residents. But the risks, if there are any to be borne, ought to be spread around fairly.

Resolution 98-66 was effectively killed last night and I'm glad, but I wonder how this concept proceeded this far. Maybe be cause none of the council mem bers live in our neighborhood

PROTECTING YOUR HOME WHILE ON VACATION

The summer vacation season has arrived across Nebraska. Unfortunately, the burglary season has arrived, also. According to the Nebraska Crime commission, July, August, and September are the most popular menths for burglary offenses in Nebraska, with most involving residential Uniform Crime Reports show that nearly $5.5 million in property was reported stolen in burglary offenses in Nebraska during 1996 The average loss was $858 per offense. Total burglary losses nationwide are over $3 billion each year!

Before leaving on your family vacation this summer, consider the following security precautions

- Arrange for a friend or neighbor to bring in mail, newspapers and other deliveries. Or, arrange to cancel all deliveries.
- Arrange to have your pet fed, watered and walked at home rather than kept at a kennel.
- 0 If you have a second car, arrange to have it moved occasion
- Schedule to have your lawn work done during your absence. Arrange for safe storage of furs, jewelry, and other valuables
- outside the home while your are away
- If you have an alarm system, have it checked before depart-
- Leave shades and drapes in the positions they would nornally be in if you were hom
- If a neighbor is not available, use a dependable and trustworthy house-sitter. Leave a trip itinerary with someone so that you can be
- notified in case of an emergency. Consider organizing a neighborhood patrol service for use
- during your absence. Agree to return the favor to neighbors while they are away. Notify police or sheriff of your absence, providing them with
- the names of house-sitters or neighbors who will be helping and those who have possession of keys to your home. Last item before departure, check to see that all doors and
- windows are locked and that you have taken all necessary

Change of mind causes division

By Leslie Boelistorff Reed tatehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association neighbor stopped my husband while he was walking our dog the other night.

What does Leslie really think about this petition drive to cut taxes?" he asked Bob. "Her stories have been so balanced."

That's the kind of comment that warms a reporter's fleart. Especially on this rough-and-tumble issue. For awhile there, it seemed like I couldn't write anything on the petition without tick ing somebody off. Even long-term sources on both sides of the issue, that I'd worked long and hard to build a relationship of mutual respect, acted angry and suspicious

Just last week, Republican governor's candidate Mike Johanns said he had decided to change his position on the tax limit proposal. Developed by a group of business leaders from across the state, the proposal is for a constitutional amendment that would prevent state-and local government from increasing taxes by more than the rate of inflation plus population growth each year. There would be certain exceptions, of course, for unfunded federal mandates, temporary emergencies, etc.

Two weeks ago, organizers the group "Citizens for Nebraska's Future" submitted 185,000 initiative petition signatures to Secretary of State Scott Moore. Although the signatures still have to be verified as those of bona fide registered voters in Nebraska, the number appears to be well more than sufficient to meet the 105,000 signature requirement to get the measure on the ballot this fall.

The issue appeared well on its way to becoming the flagship is-sue for the governor's campaign between Johanns and Democratic candidate Bill Hoppner. Early on, Johanns had said he would support the petition. Hoppner said he was opposed It looked as if the governor's race would be where pros and cons of the petition would be explored in detail.

That changed Wednesday when Johanns said "oops, changed

Johanns said he thought the measure was becoming too divisive for the state.

"This proposed constitutional amendment is in fact tearing our state apart," he said. "It's pitting" east against west, rural versus urban, big business against family farmers. It's not healthy for our state."

To me, the comments were a striking echo of what State Farm Bureau Federation President Bryce Neidig had told me only days be-fore, when he explained why the Farm Bureau hadn't yet signed onto a coalition opposing the tax limit, even though Farm Bureau leaders had said they believed the tax limit would prevent further efforts to cut property taxes in Nebraska.

Neidig said that the opponent's rhetoric was too harsh. He said the Farm Bureau wanted to avoid turning the issue into a "class warfare kind of thing.

I asked him if he knew at the time that Johanns was about to-change positions. Neidig swore he about it until the next day.

Johanns' sudden about-face raises plenty of questions: Did he ever believe in the petition or did he just say he did to win a contentious primary against two candidates viewed as more conservative than he? What's his explanation for the shifting around he's done in the past few weeks? In an interview right before the signature deadline, he distanced him-self from the petition, then he publicly said he supported. Then, once the signatures were submit ted, he said he opposed it after all. Did he hope that petition circulators wouldn't gather enough signatures and the issue would just go away? One thing was obvious: The happiness of the dozen moderate Republican state senators who stood behind Johanns as he an-nounced his switch. State Sen. David Maurstad of Beatrice -Johanns's running mate as the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor - was practically

In interviews after the announcement, State Sen. Roger Wehrbein of Plattsmouth, who is Appropriations Committee chairman, and State Sen. Curt Bromm of Wahoo, who is Transportation Committee chairman, admitted that they "discussed" the issue at* length with Johanns.

It wasn't a case of them trying to muscle Johanns into changing his mind, they said. They would have supported him no matter what he did. But both lawmakers said the issue was becoming increasingly divisive in their own districts and that Johanns' change of position sure makes it more com-fortable for them to go out on the campaign trail to muster support for Johanns.

Whatever Johanns' real reason for changing his mind - whether he was "doing the right thing," as he maintained in the press conference, or whether he was bowing to serious political pressure as some cynics maintained - I can't dispute his contention that this tax limit proposal is becoming increasingly divisive.

"Dad ran the processing end of the business and Edid the slaughter. At that time we slaughtered twice a week and processed between 7-900 animals...each year,"

In the early days of Johnson's Frozen Foods, meat that needed to be cured was taken to Laurel. In the early 1950's the business built its own.
"I have been very fortunate.

During the 40 years I have been in business, I have had only six stitches, because of an animal," Larry said.

Johnson's frozen Foods was state and federally inspected, mudising that they could buy and sell meat.

Johnson stressed the need for inspection in the meat processing industry, but said, that enforcement laws varies:

"We have inspectors here on a regular basis, especially on slaugh ter days. They are here to patrol our our business, "he said.

The number of locker plants has dwindled through the years:

"It used to be that there was a locker in every town. That is not true today. At one time therewere 12 meat markets in the town of Wayne alone," Johnson said. Johnson said his was one of only a handful of business that have remained in business this long, in the same location. Other longtime - Wayne businesses include Fredrickson Oil, Carhart Lumber and Discount Furniture".

the ultimate goal. Also present to voice his concerns was Wayne Chief of Police Lance Webster. He noted that there is a potential for traffic safety problems with both the renovation and the new building plans.

Webster said that if there is new construction then the present plans don't allow for adequate traffic-flow in the area. He said that Sherman Street can't handle the increased traffic and there are two open intersections in the area, one at 6th and Douglas and one at 6th and Lincoln.

Bus parking hasn't been addressed properly in the new school proposal, dirt needs to be removed on the south side of the school and there is a vision problem at the stop sign on Third and Douglas Streets.

Webster noted that the final project needs to address these prob-

Another big issue of discussion at the meeting was a problem in school bussing routes. Gary Bennett Bennett and Bennett Management Corporation spoke on the current problem of too many students for present routes.

He noted that five years ago vhen their firm took over there were 168 children needing to be picked up and now there are 302. There are 30 percent more children in the rural areas than before. He said that some routes are taking over an hour to complete and something needs to be done.

Offered for options by Bennett are 1) have no in town transportation 2) Add one in town route with stops at Muhs Acres, Sunny View and the Ball Park. The cost of this route would be $122.69 per day. 3) Add a route around Wayne which would allow all routes to run under an hour. The cost of this route would be $163.58 per day or 4) leave routes as they are.

The board approved the hiring of new faculty members Robin Marlowe as a high-school Spanish instructor and Jean Dorcey as a Middle School special education instructor. They also approved the 1998-99 school phycologist contract of Michael Nesbit.

Accepted were the resignations of June Koester as the district's administrative-secretary and also of Mary Stoakes as school cook due to retirement.

Summer Hazard: ect blies a sungs

During the summer months the risk of exposure to insect bites and stings increases. Stinging insects (bees, wasps, yellow jackets, ants, and hornets) can be a nuisance or a deadly threat depending on whether or not a person is allergic to such insects. For example, a recent report in U.S. Pharmacist indicates that up to 60 percent of persons living in areas infested with fire ants are stung each year. Over fifty deaths ar reported annually from such stings. Insect stings typi-cally cause an immediate burning pain and skin inflammation.
More serious reactions (in those who are allergic) include extreme swelling, tightness in the throat, wheezing, and life-threatening

Topical nonprescription medicines that are recognized as safe and effective for insect bites include *benzocaine, diphenh*ydramine, and hydrocortisone. Since stinging insects may be attracted to sweet odors, do not wear perfume when working

Gang/crime seminar scheduled at NECC

A gang/crime awareness and educational seminar will be held at the Lifelong learning Center at Northeast Community College in Norfolk on Monday and Tuesday,

Sessions will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. each day with a general in-formation program on Monday night at 7 p.m. Thomas Babicky, a certified gang/crimes specialist will conduct the seminars.

The program will be a compre-hensive analysis of the emerging street gang/crimes phenomenon facing communities and correctional facilities. "The local community is very fortunate to have a man of Thomas Babicky's stature, background, and ability making a pre-sentation in our community," said Loretta Ludemann, Norfolk housing director.

Babicky's lecture is designed to address gang and crime problems from a historic perspective coupled with up-to-date information for control and elimination. A part of the awareness focus by Babicky will be on the emergence of gangs and crimes in communities where they have never been before; the accelerated development of gangs and crimes in communities where they have never been before; the accelerated development of gangs in rural areas; the direct correlation between drug trafficking and violence, as well as recruiting and using communities' young people.

The specialized three-hour sessions will include seminars for law enforcement, youth, service organizations, educators, and various agencies dealing with public

The Monday evening general information session for the public will include a question and answer

Region IV has new name of NorthStar of Nebraska

Region IV, which is comprised 20 counties in Northeast Nebraska, has adopted the new name of NorthStar of Nebraska effective July 1, 1998. Region IV was created as a political subdivision in the mid 1970's. It entered into interlocal agreements with counties to provide services to people with developmental disabilities.

The change to NorthStar of Nebraska is part of a move that also includes the creation of Region IV Inc. and the continued operation of Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities.

NorthStar of Nebraska, a 501 (c) 3 non-profit corporation, will be the entity that provides services to the 316 people that currently are served by Region IV. NorthStar of Nebraska will also be the employer of the approximately 500 people that worked for Region IV. NorthStar of Nebraska will adopt the mission statement from Region IV "Supporting people in reaching their goals.

Region IV Inc., a 501 (c) 3 nonprofit corporation will manage the physical assets that Region IV has accumulated over the years. Region IV will continue to operate as a conduit for the long established interlocal agreements.

NorthStar of Nebraska will continue to operate in Bloomfield, Columbus, Norfolk, Oakland, O'Neill, South Sioux City, and Wayne, in addition to services provided in numerous other locations throughout Northeast

According to Region IV spokesperson, Alan Zavodny, Director of Agency Services for NorthStar of Nebraska, "the change may take some time to totally transition from the one organization to the three distinct entities, but we are moving forward on the process."

NorthStar of Nebraska expects families and people receiving services will continue to experience quality support from the agency.

WHEN YOUR AIR CONDITIONER QUITS WORKING, REPLACE IT WITH A HEAT PUMP.

A heat pump does double-duty. In summer, it cools your home like an air conditioner. And in winter, it works with your electric or gas furnace to heat your home...for less money. To find out more, contact NPPD, your local power supplier, or your heating and cooling dealer.

Eva and Clarence Hoemann have recently sold the Homer's Plumbing and Well Works. At the time of his retirement, Clarence was the oldest businessman in Hoskins as well as having been in business longer than anyone in the community

Hoemann retires after nearly 50 years in well business

In 1949 Clarence 'Homer', Hoemann began working for H.C. falk Plumbing and Heating in Hoskins. Now, 49 years years later, he is officially retiring.

 Clarence and his wife Eva moved to Westbranch, Iowa in 1955 where he was employed with D.E. Edwards. He did plumb-ing and well work. Hoemann, who was born near Winside, then returned to Hoskins in 1960 and bought out Falk Plumbing and Well Works and re-named the business Homer's Plumbing and Well Works.

During the time I was in the business, we dug wells, sold supplies and did pretty much anything pertaining to the plumbing business. I would estimate that I have had between 15 and 25 employ-ees working for me throughout the years," Clarence said: In December of 1995 Clarence had a heart attack and underwent four-way bypass surgery. Since that time he has been working on only a limited basis.

Through the years, Homer's Plumbing did business within a 40mile radius of Hoskins, drilling domestic wells. He noted that finding water in certain areas was difficult and noted that the deepest well he dug was approximately 400 feet deep.

Clarence noted several changes in the business during the past 49 years. Among them are the fact that wells are now drilled using four-inch plastic casings rather than the steel casings using in the past: Steel casings last approximately 20 years, while the life of plastic casings is much

Government intervention has also increased throughout the years, as all wells dug today must meet certain standards and pass inspections.

would like to thank all my customers during the past years and would also like to thank my family for understanding that business had to come first—even be fore family gatherings and holi-days," he added.

Clarence has no immediate plans for retirement other than playing cards and working cross-

The business has been sold to Central Pump and Drilling, Jim Kneifl of Newcastle and Dennis Buchanan of Osmond, who will be re-opening the business in the Sun Protection critical

The ozone layer shields the Earth from harmful UV radiation. Ozone depletion as well as seasonal and weather variations causes different amounts of UV radiation to reach the Earth at any given time.

The UV Index is a daily forecast of the UV radiation levels people might. experience. The Index-products the next day's levels on a 0 to 10+ scale, helping people determine appropriate sun protection behaviors.

0-2 Minimaj-A UV Index reading of 0 to 2 means minimal danger from the sun's UV rays for the average person. Most people can stay in sun for up to one hour during the hours of peak sun strengths, 10 AM to 4 PM, without burning. However, people with very sensitive skin and infants should always be protected from prolonged sun

Snow and water can reflect the sun's rays: Skiers and swimmers should take special care. Wear sunglasses or godgles, and apply sunscreen with SPF of at least 15. Remember to protect areas that could be exposed to UV rays by the sun's reflection, including under chin and nose.

3-4 Low- A UV Index reading of 3 to 4 means low risk of harm from unprotected sun exposure. Fairskinned people, however, might burn in less than 20 minutes: Wear a hat with a wide brim and sunglasses to protect your eyes. Use a sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15 and wear long-sleeved shirts and long pants when outdoor.

An easy way to tell how much UV exposure you are getting is to look for your shadow. If your shadow is taller than you are (in the early morning-and late afternoon), your UV exposure is likely to be low. If your shadow is shorter than you are (around midday), you are being exposed to high levels of UV radiation. Seek shade and protect your

Summer

5 to 6 Moderate - A UV Index reading of 5 to 6 means moderate risk of harm from unprotected sun exposure. Fair-skinned people might burn in less than 15 minutes.

Apply a sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15. Wear a wide-brim hat and sunglasses to protect your eyes. Use sunscreen if you work outdoors and remember to protect sensitive area like the nose and the rims of the ears.

Sunscreen prevents sunburn and some of the sun's damaging effects on the immune system. Use lip balm or lip cream containing a sunscreen. Lip balms can help protect some people from getting cold

7 to 9 High- A UV Index reading of 7 to 9 means high risk of harm from unprotected sun exposure. Fair skinned people might burn in less than 10 minutes. Minimize sun exposure during midday flours, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Protect yourself by liberally applying a sun-screen with a SPF of at least 15. Wear protective clothing and sunglasses to protect the eyes. When outside, seek shade

Don't forget that water, sand, pavement, and grass reflect UV rays even under a tree, near a building, or beneath a shady umbrella. Wear made from tightly woven fabrics. UV rays can pass through the holes and spaces of loosely woven fabrics.

Be careful during routine outdoor activities such as gardening or playing sports. Remember the UV exposure is especially strong if you are working or playing between the peak hours. Don't forget that spectators, as well as participants, need to wear sunscreen and eye protection to avoid too much sun.

10+ Very High- A UV Index reading of 104 means very high risk of harm from unprotected sun expostire Lair-skinned people might burn in less than 5 minutes Outdoor workers are especially at risk as are vacationers who can receive very intense sun exposure. Minimize sun exposure during the midday hours –

Apply sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15 liberally every two hours. Avoid being in the sun as much as possible

Wear sunglasses that block 99 to 100 percent of all UV rays (both UVA and UVB). Some reduction in blue light also might be beneficial but colors should not be severely distorted. Wear a cap or hat with a wide brim, which will block roughly 50 percent of UV radiation from reaching the eyes. Wearing sunglasses as well can block the remainder of UV rays...

Beat the heat. If possible, stay indoors on days when the UV Index is very high. Take the opportunity to relax with a good book rather than risk dangerous levels of sun exposure. Try not to pursue outdoor activities, whether at work or at play, unless protected with sunscreen, hat and sunglasses.

For more information about the UV Index, check the UV Index web site at www.epa.gov/ozone/uvindex/uvover/html

The youth will also be having a pie and ice cream social Thurston on Sunday, July 26 from 2:30-4 p.m.

Another aspect the youth have discovered is the fact that the Presbyterian Church of Wayne will be celebrating their sanctuary's 100th anniversary this fall. One hundred years ago the members of that congregation came up to build the present building with absolutely nothing in the bank.

They raised $5,000 to construct sanctuary and building. Inflation has caused the youth of today to need nearly the same amount for a building nowhere near that caliber.

"We are using the same mission that those members used so long ago, that everyone needs a chance to get to know God, so we are building a church now in Juarež to spread our mission," Miss Holstedt added.

Activities abound in July Livestock Market Report

Sunday evening, the end of an other sticky day. The Big Farmer reading the Sunday paper and has pointed out that the Wayne Chicken Show made the Midlands

A gal from the Weeping Water bank and her two sisters were there; I'll have to check with her tomorrow. They like to take weekend road trips, so I encour aged them to do this one. They've done the bridges in Winterset, lowe, among othersthings Sounds to me like a fun trio.

We frequently have groups of guests who are all female friends or relatives. One bunch was a mom, her daughters and daugh-ter-in-law: Men don't seem to do the bonding bit, unless it's a golf trip. Dilbert's been at a convention with Wally this Week and I've been chuckling, at the male hang-ups about sharing rooms....Women will put two in a regular bed, four to a bathroom, to save money. But not

Tlearned this with the pheasant hunters who used to take over my farm in Wayne County, and when the Swer Bullet basketball team came to play in the Winside tour-

We went to Platte River Park alter church and had buffalo loaf. The fellow in charge of food there is from Beemer and is currently starring in the Lafte Theater production of Carouseli- If you haven't seen our local theater group, you should come see this. They do one musical a year and made it into the pool at the park today. Every July I seem to be too busy to take advantage of its proximity, and I'm determined to change that this year Even 30 inches cools you way down and relaxes tired muscles.

And my muscles get tired.

I actually cleaned the ceiling tans today, so I'm feeling ex-tremely virtuous. And I pulled the wild cucumber away from the evergreen trees last evening: But, I haven't been in the perennial bed for weeks. I just don't enjoy getting all sweaty, dirty and grubby. I doubt if I can put it off much länger, though. This is great comgrowing weather, but that's all it's good for

I'm' also not sitting on the front borch much because of mosquitoes. I can see the fireflies out the window. I have ironing to do and the Sunday night movies choices are so bad, $1 guess 1% watch my Little House on the Prairie video. The Ingalls family seems pretty mild compared to today's offerings.

Time to get his in the envelope.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH WAYNE COUNTY

Thank you very much for the many cards, letters, phone calls well wishes and gag gifts that I received upon my early retirement from the Wayne County Sheriff's Office. My wife and I really did appreciate the many acts of kindness shown to us in the last month. I will certainly miss the many close friends and contacts that I have made, both in and out of law enforcement over the past twenty two years. All of you will be missed, but you will never be forgotten. I look forward to someday once again proudly serving the fine people of Wayne County and Northeast Nebraska in law enforcement. Special thanks to Bob McLean, Ron Surber, Marlen and Jan Chinn, Doug Muhs and Dee Fallesen for making my retirement parties very memorable. Again thank each of you very much for all of your heartfelt well wishes.
