City of Wayne goes on the web

Computer-connected people around the world can now visit Wayne without leaving their keyboards People, who browse the internet are able to learn about the community through the city's new home page on the World Wide Web (WWW).

The web site for the Wayne County seat went live this week; following a joint effort by officials of Wayne Industries, Inc.; 'City of Wayne; Chamber of Commerce; Wayne County and Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD).

NPPD Web Team member Jenny Overhue will attend the Nov. 6 Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce coffee and present a certificate recognizing the community's venture onto the Information Super Highway. The presentation ceremony will be held at 10 a.m. at Papa Jug's Pizza. "The city's official Web site can be accessed by anyone with a computer, modem and Internet service "Web provider," Overhue said. pages can be used to post public information, to boost economic development, to preserve local history and to support civic organiza-tions. The information about the community, economy, schools and services is available to prospects all over the world."

The community's Web address of "http://www.ci.wayne.ne.us" lowercase sensitive and registered with the U.S. Domain Registration Service.

"We see this home page as a means of making our economic development Facts Book accessible online for potential prospects," said Wayne Industries/Chamber Executive Director Gaila Gilliland. The Facts Book is developed through NPPD's Economic Development Department and the state: "This Web site has expanded information, is more quickly updated and contains links to other information about Wayne."

HHC also provides physical therapy and occupational therapy which can help people regain strength and walking skills. Speech therapy is also available through home health care. As part of the observance of which is not affiliated with the HMO, the HMO will not pay the Q: Is the agency approved for participation by the Medicare / Medicaid program?

HHC month, PMC HHC would like to answer some questions you might have regarding HHC. Q: Do I have the right to choose my HHC agency?

A:, Medicare inspects home care-agencies every year to assure they meet these standards. Providence Medical Center HHC is an approved agency and since af-filiation with Providence Medical Center has had four deficiencyfree surveys. Medicare will only pay for HHC services provided by a HHC agency that meets Medicare quality standards.

Q: How long has the agency been serving the community? Providence Medical Center HHC was affiliated with Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk from 1980 through Sept. 1995. PMC HHC became a service provided by PMC in September of 1995. The average length of time the same staff has been with this community is nine years.

Main Street program application submitted

A Lied Main Street Program application was submitted to the Nebraska Lied Main Street Program by the Wayne Community Economic Community Économic Development Association to meet the Oct. 16 deadline.

The association is currently composed of 11 individuals who started meeting in order to ex-amine the feasibility of becoming part of the Lied Main Street Program. Much of the work that the association's members did in the feasibility study time was to research fied Main Street Program information from a variety of sources around the country, visit-ing, with, successful Lied Main Street Programs, attending various workshops and seminars and visiting with various Lied Main Street officials. After it was decided to make an application, the group continued to meet weekby to agree the application. All association members were involved int he writing process which helped each member better understand Wayne and its business community, and the demographics and make-up of the community. Early in this process members selected the current association name and discussed common association purposes. The associa-tion decided that its purpose would be to improve the retail and service business climate of Wayne, especially downtown Wayne, the major reason for making application to the Nebraska Lied Main Street Program was to get their, technical, and professional assistance and expertise in the process of making the business climate in Wayne better.

The association also felt that the Lied Main Street's four points and economic restructuring provided the most reliable organizational structure for working on improving Wayne's business climate. Reggie Yates, chairman of the association; said, "we are making a long term commitment to improve Wayne and we want people to understand that this is something that can't be done overnight.

According to Lied Main Street iterature, the first year of pro gram involvement is devoted to program planning and organizing a manager must be hired and trained, board members and committee members must be selected and trained and funds must be raised to make the program operational

Many of the associations members will be attending a collabora-tive community development conference in Sidney on Nov.19-21-where the new Lied Main Street communities will be named. The association's members are op-timistic that Wayne will be seected and that work can be started to reach the goals of the program. Chairman Yates extends an invitation to any community mem-ber to join the association and to obtain a copy of the program ap-plication. Yates can be reached at the Edward Jones office at Third

The Wakefield Trojans football team nearly pulled the plug on the top district seed in the Class C-2. State Football Playoffs last Thursday night in Plainview

Justin Smith's team fell by a point, 26-25 to Plainview, thus ending the Trojans season at 5-4.

"We were down 26-13 with five minutes to play," Smith said. "Kurt Thompson caught a 70-yard touchdown pass from BJ Hansen but our extra point attempt was blocked, making it a 26-19 score.

"Our defense held Plainview on its next possession and when we got the ball back, Hansen connected with Justin Paulson on a 58-yard scoring strike. We decided to go for the two-point attempt but our pass fell incomplete," Smith added.

Wakefield's defense held the host team again on the next possession and when the Trojans took over they had little time remaining but still managed to drive to the Plainview 26-yard line with two seconds remaining We decided to kick a long field goal but it was blocked," Smith said. "I am very proud of these kids. Nobody thought they could get this far or play this well. Plainview held a 12-6 halftime lead and went up 19-6 in the third quarter before Wakefield scored its second touchdown of the game to stay with in striking distance The Trojans compiled 372 yards of offense led by Hansen's arm as he connected on 15-of-31 passes for 234 yards and two touchdowns

Thompson caught eight balls for 144 yards with Paulson netting four receptions for 91 yards

Hansen led the rushing attack with 57 yards while Shaun Hammer had 41 yards and Chad Mackling, Matt Benson led the defense with 21 tackles with Hansen recording 13. Mackling and Hammer each had 12 tackles and each had an interception Lindy Anderson and Viola Thoendel are long time members of the A-Teen club.

A-Teen club observes its 60th anniversary

A-Teen Club; a homemakers extension club of Wayne County celebrated 60 years of friendships fun and learning at a dinner served at the Country Kitchen in Norfolk on Oct. 21. The one charter member, Mrs.

Lindy Anderson, was honored on this occasion. Her daughters, Jerine Kohloff and Karen Matteo and daughter-in-law Diane Anderson, were special guests, representing the multi-genera-tional women who have belonged to the A-Teen Club. Also honored was: Mrs. Bill-(Viola) Thoendel. Viola has been a member of A-Teen since 1941.

A-Teen Club was organized in 1938 b a group of 18 neighbors in a community near the Zion Lutheran Ghurch north of Hoskins. Six of these charter members were Mrs. Andersons'.

Through the years A-Teen members, have taken their turns.

going for lessons in homemaking skills provided through State Extension and then presenting these lesson to the club members. They have been active in county fair activities, community celebra-tions; state conventions, the Norfolk: Opportunity Center, Juvenile Diabetes Camp, Bake and Take Days and Get Out and Vote efforts.

Their attendance at the monthly meetings has been out-standing. Spring time has seen A-Teen members sharing rides in the back of a pickup equipped with tire chains. Winter time meetings have been attended by members coming in farm wagons pulled by tractors over snow-closed roads. Summer picnic have been held in spite of rain.

Carroll Indoor air quality is very important

Indoor air quality is important for children with allergies or asthma. Maintaining the quality of indoor air means balancing several factors such as ventilation, control of contaminants and cleanliness.

The following discussion should help bring more awareness to the subject of indoor air quality.

Biological contaminants-including mold, mildew, dust mites, funci. roach allergen, bacteria, viruses and other pests- can spread infectious disease and aggravate allergic response. They are one cause of indoor air problems for an asthmatic child.

Biological contaminants are carried indoors by people and pets, or air handling and ventilating systems. These contaminant's settle on indoor surfaces and become airborne again when dust is disturbed by walking and moving about.

One key to removing and controlling biological contaminants in the home is to have a cleaning process aimed at keeping the indoor environment healthy. The potential impacts of deep cleaning and dust control with typical household and family care products has been documented in one study sponsored by the Environmental Protection Agency.

That study, conducted in a daycare center, reported that improved housekeeping reduced total fungi by 61 percent, airborne dust by 52 percent, volatile organic compacteria by 40 percent.

contaminants in the indoor environment. Other actions include changing or cleaning air filters and air filter bags, maintaining filtration and air handling systems and equipment, using extensive quality matting inside and outside frequently used doors, using quality vacuum systems, and wet cleaning surfaces. Another study of children's bedrooms in Boston- area homes showed that mopping or vacuum ing the floor at least once a week resulted in lower levels of fungi pe gram of dust on hard floors than did less frequent cleaning.

Use of sanitizers and other cleaners on accessible parts of the air handling systems in homes, along with regular maintenance to remove microbial growth and changing filters, attachathe biological contaminants that infiltrate the

ay: Macaroni & cheese, League Fall Rally is held

The Wayne Zone Lutheran Women's Missionary League Fall Rally was held on Oct.11 at Immanuel Lutheran of Laurel from 1:30-5:30 p.m. The theme was Living God's Mission.

Sixty-six ladies and pastors attended this event.

Pastor William Engebretsen led the hymn singing and a Bible study on the theme. Pat Janke, Zone president, greeted the ladies and pastors and led the LWML Pledge. Janke opened the business meeting and introduced Monica Ebmeier, the Young Women's Representative to the District Convention, who thanked the zone for sending her to the convention.

The Christian Growth Committee, Rhonda Sebade and Connie Schutte, presented the skit, 'Let Your Light So Shine."

The Mission speaker was Pastor Jeffrey Warner, Missionary at Large to the Omaha reservation in Macy. He spoke about our living which is God's mission.

Rhonda Sebade, District Recording Secretary, gave the District report.

The newly elected officers, President Nila Schuttler and treasurer Deb Morlok, both of Wayne, were installed. The LWML song, "Lutheran Women One and All" was sung in closing.

402-287-2728 HEARING WELL ATTENDED

A public hearing concerning the conversion of nursing home beds to assisted living beds was held on Oct. 15 at 4:30 p.m. in the West Lobby at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

There were 52 people present for the hearing. Administrator: Terry Hoffman opened the hearing with a brief overview of the proposed project and introduced Fred Wright from the Department of Health.

Wright presented an overview of assisted living and the state grant program for conversion of nursing home beds to assisted living Brochures provided information about Wakefield Health Care Center's proposal were also provided to those present

Administrator Hoffman showed some slides giving statistics con-cerning the changes in the elderly population over the next 20 years and provided information on slides that gave detailed information about what Medicaid paid for nurs ing home services to the Care Center compared to what Medicaid would pay for assisted living. He defined the approximate levels of care that would be provided with the proposed converted beds. Hottman also provided information on what would happen to existing residents if the proposed project was implemented if census would not change significantly However, if it did increase, ther some residents may have to be temporarily placed in facilities in adjacent towns. When the project was completed, all displaced residents would be able to return to the facil-

Slides showing the present floor plan and the proposed changes to assisted living were presented. Hoffman told those at the hearing that these were only proposals and that architect and engineering views would have an effect on the final plans. At this point, the meeting-was opened up to public comment-concerns and questions

Hoffman added later that the number of beds to be converted would also change in the final proposal. He presented information on how staffing needs would change if

Fall weather is great LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Halloween, 1998: Every day of sunshine is a gift, especially after the ice storm of 1997. The marigolds and mums, geraniums and impatiens are all the more glorious because they are still blooming.

The folks with sinus are wishing it would freeze; the rest of us think we could handle this . untif Thanksgiving:

With the weather cooperating, harvest is winding down. And that gives the farmers more time to concentrate on football. So, the Big Farmer is watching KU-K State right now. Since the Jayhawks upset Colorado last week, it could be an interesting game.

Are you ready for more about music therapy? When music is used in conjunction with patient-controlled analgesia, the use of the pain medicine is decreased by 44 percent

The theory is that the pathways to the brain for pain are the same as the ones for music. Also, it is known that music integrates both hemispheres of the brain

In dementia, music triggers past, long-forgotten memories. We saw a video of a man who was speaking only garbled sentences. When the music therapist played old, familiar songs on a guitar, he suddenly said, quite plainly, "Flike it, don't you?" With another man with Alzheimer's, Big Band music prompted him to stand, put an arm around his wife, and dance.

A professor of psychoneuroimmunology described a simple experiment to Deforia Lane to test the effect of music on the immune systém

That long word means the effect of the mind on our immune system. Our salivary glands stimulate immuno globulin A (IGA). Sick people have little or no IGA. The music therapists checked the saliva of the subjects before and after 30 minute music sessions. There was a significant increase of this bacteria-fighting substance.

Deforial tested teen-agers while listening to rap music. Their heart rates and blood pressure went up with just two minutes. These two indicators went down with two minutes of spiritual music.

The final story had to do with a pregnant, brain-dead woman. Music was used before the child was delivered by Caesarean section. When she played "He's Got the Whole World In His Hands," the baby's heart rate accelerated. When she played "Lullaby and Good Night," it slowed. So did the mother's

After the baby was safely here, the life-support systems were dis-"continued, and the baby's grandmother requested that Deforia sing "You Are the Wind Beneath My Wings," for her daughter. I can'teven write that without tears.

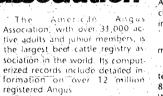

To summarize: music is powerful stuff. We need to include it in our

Miller joins association

Cory Miller of Hoskins-is a new member of the American Angus Association, according to Dick Spader, executive vice president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Mo.

The regular meeting of County the Wayne Extension Board will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 8 p.m in the courthouse meeting room in Wayne. The meeting is open to the public. An agenda is available at the Extension Office, 510 Pearl-Street in Wayne.

The Association records ances trail information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus-Association: Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and tranchers who raise high quality beef or U.S. consumption

4-H Action Team will sponsor pop tab drive

The 1998.99 University of to offset the house's operating Nebraska 4-H Action Team has decided to again sponsor a statewide pop tab drive to benefit -the Ronald McDonald House in . Omaha.

Many counties across the state helped the action team collect three million pop tabs worth $3,000. The tabs were presented to the Ronald McDonald House in Omaha during the ExpoVisions in July, said Sandra Stockall, 4-H Action Team advisor and youth specialist: at NU's West Central Research and Extension Center in North Platte. The tabs are the richest part of aluminum cans

The Rohald McDonald House, which is near the NU Medical Center, is an inexpensive home away from home for families of children undergoing medical transplant procedures. Families staying are asked to pay only $7.50 nightly. The proceeds from the recycled pop tabs will be used costs. The 4-H team has set a goal of five million tabs for the continuation of the drive, Stockall said. Annually the Ronald McDonald House receives nearly $7,000 in pop tab domations.

The Action Team would like to collect tabs from every county and every added 4-H member, Stockall

Stockall said the fab collection is an excellent public-service opportunity for junior leaders and 4-H clubs of any size and encourages them to get busy and start collecting pop tabs.

Representatives from each, 4 H club should take collected pop tabs to their local Conperative Extension office before Super Bowl week in January and ExpoVisions in july. Anyone needing more information should contact Stockall at (308) 532-3611.

However, rheumatoid arthritis, or RA, is a systemic disease di affects 2 million Americans (mostly women), with symptoms beginning between ages 25 and 50. Many researchers believe that RA occurs when the body's immune system attacks healthy tissues, producing pain, inflammation,* and deformities. The US Food and Drug Administration recently approved lefunomide (Arava) for RA treatment. Lefunomide blocks overproduction of immune cells, relieving pain, decreasing inflammation, and retarding joint damage. It is the first new RA-fighter type to be approved in more than a decade. Potential serious liver damage and birth defects require that lefunomide be used with extreme caution.
