Chicken Show will hatch out this weekend

To begin the celebration of Henoween and the 19th annual Wayne Chicken Show, all community residents are invited to attend a special Chamber Coffee on Friday, July 9 at 10 a.m. at the State National Bank Park in downtown Wayne. Announcements will begin at 10:15.

According to Gaila Gilliland, Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Director, "The Chicken Show Committee wants everyone to wear a favorite chicken show shirt from a previous year or the new 1999 edition! A group photo will be taken of all those wearing a chicken shirt. Our youth champion in the National Cluck-Off, Marissa Rooney, will be on hand to help get everyone in the spirit of the Chicken Show!"

More food vendors, both commercial and local non-profit organizations, are expected for this year's Henoween and Chicken Show. The 1999 line-up also includes new vendors of arts and crafts. A cook-off contest is set for 7 p.m. on Friday. A Chicken Dance will take place on Main Street, also on Friday at 7 p.m.

Several streets in downtown Wayne will be closed on Friday afternoon to permit committee members to erect a stage and seating on East Second Street. Games, a car show and cruise and musical and dancing entertainment will be among Henoween activities.

Vendors will set up their wares on Tenth Street on the north side of Bressler Park which will be closed on Saturday morning. Members of the Wayne Rotary Club will operate a shuttle service on Saturday with shuttles making regular stops at Bressler Park, Wayne High School, downtown and Wayne Airport.

Attendees are encouraged to park vehicles at the high school parking lot or downtown.

Concerns voiced in Middle School building project

by Aubrey Parson
for the Herald

Numerous concerns over the middle school renovation project were expressed and addressed at a special Board of Education meeting last week.

Board members, middle school faculty and staff, and community members had the opportunity to ask questions, voice concerns and present ideas related to the project. Representatives from Bahr, Vermeer and Hækker were also present at the meeting.

Lonnie Ehrhardt, middle school physical education teacher, addressed physical education and health concerns in the middle school renovation project.

Ehrhardt stated that the proposed 780 square foot locker rooms were too small to meet space requirements. A proposal was made to make the space 1200 square feet, which would meet space requirements for classes, lockerrooms and athletic programs.

The addition of a weight room, an athletic store room, a training room, an office for the Athletic Director and dressing rooms for officials were also proposed.

Ehrhardt also asked the Board to consider purchasing bleachers, scoreboards and a public address system for the new gym.

Additional classroom and storage space for Health Education classes was also considered.

Dr. Sheila Stearns

Stearns begins her duties at Wayne State

Dr. Sheila Stearns has taken office as the 10th president of Wayne State College. Stearns, who comes to WSC from Western Montana State, takes over following interim president Ken Halsey.

"I am delighted to be in Wayne and to have the opportunity to serve here at Wayne State College," Stearns said. "I am very eager to begin working with the many people, both on campus and in the surrounding region, who have connections to Wayne State," she said.

Stearns noted the rich heritage the college has and the feeling of community on the campus and in the area.

Among Stearns' first priorities will be to replace some key administrators who have accepted positions at other institutions.

"This is a time of transition and change at Wayne State College," Stearns said. "Thus far, thanks to Dr. Halsey, and the tremendous support of faculty and staff, it is progressing smoothly," she said.

Former fire chief dies

Kenneth "Dutch" Sitzman, 62, died Sunday, July 4 at Providence Medical Center following a brief illness.

Sitzman, who had served as a volunteer firefighter in several Nebraska communities for 45 years, was Wayne's fire chief from 1980 to 1985 and again from 1989 to 1998.

"Dutch" was a fourth generation of firefighters, joining the Peru department in 1957.

Sitzman recently received the 1999 Instructor of the Year award from the Nebraska Society of Fire Service Instructors. He was a fire training officer for more than 20 years and had taught classes throughout northeast Nebraska.

In the nominating letter for this award, those who worked with Sitzman said, "Ken 'Dutch' Sitzman has always been dedicated and devoted to firefighting, rescue, teaching and investigating. Many times throughout the years, he dent gets needed hands-on experience throughout the course."

In commenting on receiving the Instructor of the Year Award, Sitzman said, "we have been real fortunate, we have had no fatalities in recent history and no major injuries. I have enjoyed all my years of service."

In May of 1988 he received the Ak-Sar-Ben Award for Outstanding Firemanship.

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department is working on several benefits to help defray medical and funeral expenses.

A vehicle wash will be held Saturday, July 10 beginning at 1 p.m. at the Fire Station at Second and Pearl Streets.

Canisters have been placed at numerous businesses in Wayne. The three banks in Wayne are also accepting donations.

A complete obituary can be found in today's Herald.

Pull to be held in Carroll

By Diane Jaeger
Winside Correspondent

Saturday, July 17 is the date for this year's annual Northeast Nebraska Truck and Tractor Pull in Carroll.

"I wanted to put Carroll on the map," said Dennis Rhode, Carroll resident, who has been organizing and hosting the event since 1986. "I feel this year's pull will accomplish that as it's billed a Regional National Outlaw Pull."

"The first pull we had was when Carroll held their 1986 Centennial celebration. We've had a pull every year but one since then."

Surveys to be conducted on several area highways

The Nebraska Department of Roads is currently sponsoring a Corridor Study in northeast Nebraska to determine the need for and feasibility of making roadway improvements within three corridors in the region.

A key element of this study is to estimate the number of people who will use the roadways. To assist in developing these estimates, travel surveys will be conducted at various locations within the corridor, beginning the week of July 12.

These surveys will require that traffic be stopped along the highway where drivers will be asked a series of questions about their trip. The entire survey will take approximately one to two minutes per vehicle from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Locations outside of Norfolk and Niobrara, Neb. and Yankton, S.D. will be surveyed the week of July 12 and locations outside of South Sioux City will be surveyed the week of July 19. These dates are subject to change due to inclement weather.

Summer reading program holds closing party for participants

The Wayne Public Library held the closing party for the summer reading program on July 1 at Bressler Park.

Games for the party, based on the program's theme, "Treasure Your Library," were a Mermaids and Mermen relay race, locating the sunken treasure on a world map and searching for treasure in wrapped packages.

Refreshments of cake, candy fish and ocean blue Kool-Aid followed the games.

Prizes and awards were given to participants in the summer reading program. All active participants were given certificates along with gift certificates for free ice cream cones.

Four gift bags were given to participants ages four through six. These children were able to put their name in the treasure chest each time they completed a book in order to be eligible for the drawing.

The second drawing was among those children who were able to attend the opening kick-off as well as each of the three weekly activity times.

The third category of awards presented was to those children in each grade who read the most books.

They were presented to: Read to Me (ages four through six) — Ben Bruflat (209 books) and Zachary Moje (157 books); first grade — Anna Osten and Jordan Alexander; second grade — Ambre Ruzicka and Amber Nelson; third grade — Maddie Jager and Eric Carstens; fourth grade — Elizabeth Baier, Amy Anderson and Emilie Osten and fifth grade — Emily Bruflat and Brittini Sprouls.

Each award winner was given a children's book as well as various theme-related prizes.

Each year the summer reading program is developed around an exciting theme with neighboring states participating together.

The purpose of the program is to encourage reading throughout the weeks away from school in order to maintain interest and skills among students.

During this summer's program, a total of 2,998 books were read by those children participating at the Wayne Public Library.

A total of 131 children were registered at the library for the program and there were 124 active participants.

Many adults volunteered their time as storytellers and guest presenters sharing their hobbies and collections. Several students in grades six through eight volunteered their time to shelve books, prepare craft items and help at the story hours for the younger children.

The library staff and the Library Page volunteers are very busy during June assisting the children find and return the many books read.

Area businesses support the program as they make donations for the closing party. This year donations were received from Pac 'N' Save, Quality Foods, Pamida, Dairy Queen, Wayne East, Runza and Udder Delights.

Each of these entities have served a vital role in communicating to children that reading is fun and so important to their lives.

The Library staff urges everyone to keep reading throughout the summer. Lots of new books are arriving for summer enjoyment.

Library hours are Monday through Friday, noon to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Housing program shares over $1 million in funds

Gov. Mike Johanns announced that three nonprofit housing organizations and two public housing authorities will share $1,369,418 in HOME and Nebraska Affordable Housing Trust Fund (NAHTF) monies during the second and final round of 1999 funding.

The state's Affordable Housing Program is administered by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

"Affordable housing is a priority in Nebraska, both as a key ingredient of a growing economy and as an essential need for Nebraska families," Gov. Johanns said. "We've heard the call and we're continuing our efforts to work as a partner with federal, state and local organizations to help meet the demand for affordable housing across Nebraska."

The efforts are aimed at helping low-to moderate-income Nebraskans. A total of 19 applications requesting $5,590,752 were reviewed before the following applicants were selected. The awards:

*Lincoln Action Program—$80,000 of NAHTF funds to construct eight rental housing units for homeless families in Lincoln that are participating in a transitional program; and $346,706 of HOME funds to construct 16 units of affordable rental housing in Wahoo.

*Syracuse Housing Authority—$275,000 in HOME funds to construct 12 units of affordable rental housing for elderly residents.

*Blue Valley Community Action—$250,000 of NAHTF funds to construct 17 single family homes in Beatrice for lease and subsequent purchase.

*Wayne Housing Development Corporation—$150,000 of HOME funds and $65,000 of NAHTF funds to construct 12 units of affordable rental housing for elderly residents.

*Central City Housing Authority—$202,712 of NAHTF funds to construct 16 units of affordable rental

AVOID THE OPPOSITES

Here are five sure-fire ways to insure that your home will NOT sell. They are the opposite of normal selling procedures.

Overprice your home. This allows buyers to compare, then buy the other homes offering greater value for the dollar.

Forget "curb appeal." Leave mowing, leaf raking, entrance improvements, and flowers on the front porch for later. After all, serious buyers won't notice things like that - they'll just buy another home.

Insist on being present for every showing, making it uncomfortable for buyers to discuss their concerns and objections. This will make it easy for them to move on to other homes.

Insist on a cash sale. It's a sure way to eliminate 19 out of every 20 potential buyers who require financing.

Take your time responding to purchase offers. Serious buyers will stop coming around when they realize you aren't serious about selling.

Want to sell your home? Work closely with your agent to develop an effective marketing plan, avoid the pitfalls presented here, and enjoy an early sale.

I'd be happy to discuss a marketing plan to sell your home.

"We first became a member of the Nebraska Bush Pullers Association but in 1990 we decided to affiliate with the Iowa Tractor Pulling Association. The Iowa Association had different rules and regulations so we could expand our pull. We are still an Iowa member but this year we also joined the Outlaw Truck and Tractor Pulling Association which has over 400 members from over 20 states."

"We're expecting pullers this year from as far away as Texas and Louisiana. Our event normally brings between 2500-3000 spectators so we're expecting even more this year. We feel our pull helps promote tourism in northeast Nebraska as well as brings in more revenue to area restaurants and motel/hotels."

The pull this year will include 5500-7500-9500 Super Stock; 5800-7200 Modified; 9000 Super Farm Stock; Two-wheel drive pickup and 10,000 Pro-stock.

"We expect around 70 hooks this year compared to our usual 35-40," said Rhode. "However, we never know for sure how many will be here till the day of the pull as there's no pre-registration."

Rhode has never done any pulling himself, but got interested from friends who pulled. Rhode has serviced and painted some pull trucks and tractors at his Body Shop in Carroll, run by himself and his son Ryan. "Our Carroll pull and one in Ravenna are the only sanctioned Nebraska pulls. I start working on the track each year as soon as the pull is over. It's a year-long project for an annual event but we really enjoy doing it."

Exchange students to attend Wayne High

Wayne High School will host two foreign exchange students during the 1999-2000 school year.

Bartosz Kuback is a 17-year old from Norway. His father is a psychiatrist and his mother is a dentist.

His activities and interests include basketball, soccer, table tennis, piano, internet and reading. He has lived in Norway for 10 years, however, his heritage is Polish and he continues to study both Polish and English.

Gary and Carla "anMeter will be Bartosz's host parents. His sponsoring agency is the Program of Academic Exchange (PAX).

Ingrid Simoes is a 15-year old from Promissao Sao Paulo, Brazil. Her father is an attorney and her mother a teacher.

Her academic interest include science, math and English. She lists swimming, basketball, listening to music and watching good movies as her hobbies. Ingrid is considering a career in human sciences and tourism following graduation.

Her host parents will be Dan and Kyle Rose. She is being sponsored by the Rotary International Youth Exchange.

Funds

housing for elderly residents.

Nebraska receives an annual allocation of HOME funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The funds are available to nonprofit housing organizations, local governments and counties in the state. Combined with HOME dollars are funds from the Nebraska Affordable Housing Trust Fund (NAHTF).

Signed into law in 1996, NAHTF is expected to provide $4 million in 1999 for new affordable housing for Nebraska residents in all cities and towns, regardless of population size.

NAHTF is funded by taking a portion of the funds generated from the state's documentary stamp tax which is assessed on every home sold in Nebraska. NAHTF funds increase in proportion to the revenues and interest generated monthly through home sales and tax assessments.

Concerns

wrestling program addressed the Board in regards to adding a wrestling room to plans in the high school or middle school.

The room was proposed to be multi-purpose, holding wrestling practices, physical education classes and other activities.

Currently wrestling practices are held in the elementary, with mats being transported between the elementary and high school on occasion.

Board members discussed the conflicts that could arise if wrestling practices were held in the new middle school gym. Wrestling and basketball practices could still possibly conflict, resulting in shortage of practice space and early morning practices. Advocates stressed that building a separate wrestling room would alleviate these problems.

*Richard Metteer, middle school principal, and Cathy Sump, middle school science teacher, presented renovation plans designed by middle school faculty and staff.

The teachers proposed extending the newer portion of the building further to the east. The addition would provide more space on all three levels for physical education, library and music curriculum.

The commons area could be enlarged by keeping the preparatory kitchen in the elementary and making the service kitchen in the middle school smaller. With the additional space, a permanent stage could be constructed, keeping middle school activities separate from the high school lecture hall.

Elimination of several walls and old bathrooms on each floor would provide more classroom and locker storage space. Open space above the commons area was also sealed off to create more space for the computer lab and library on the second floor and music classrooms on the third floor.

A majority of the teacher planning spaces were eliminated, but the teachers stated they approved the plan because classroom space was much more adequate.

Bahr, Vermeer and Hacker representatives reported that the main parking lot would be on the north side of the building with the bus loading area on the west side. The architects had verified the information in a meeting with city officials.

*A BVH structural engineer discussed planning and cost implications associated with removing load-bearing walls. The engineer discussed the difficulty of removing walls on a single floor, and stated that the elimination of any north-south bearing walls would cost an estimated $15 per square foot.

Board members and BVH representatives also discussed where a mechanical room could be placed. One option was to capture attic space to store boiler and heating equipment. The second option was to place the air handling units on the roof of the school, minimizing the space needed for equipment inside the building.

BVH representatives concluded the meeting by discussing cost factors. Eliminating load-bearing walls and adding more space to the middle school would result in higher costs, with project plans already exceeding the allotted budget.

Representatives will present new plans for the renovation and addition projects at the next regularly scheduled Board meeting on July 12, held at the high school.

Students visit Germany

On May 31, three high school German students, Becky Brumm and Mark Finn of Wayne and Sonia Treptow, a 1999 graduate of Laurel, and their teacher, Edith Zahniser, traveled to Germany, thereby inaugurating a partnership between Wayne High School and Städtisches Gymnasium Steinheim in North-Rhine Westphalia.

This project, approved by the Wayne Board of Education in 1998, included a number of after-school preparatory meetings between the students, their families and Mrs. Zahniser.

The Wayne group enjoyed the hospitality and generosity of their German hosts and are hopeful that Wayne families will open their homes to a student group scheduled to spend two weeks in Wayne this fall.

The Wayne group flew into Frankfurt and then went by train to Kassel where they were met by their host families for the two-hour drive to Steinheim, a small town surrounded by fields, forests and picturesque villages with half-timbered houses.

During the first two weeks the group attended classes at the consolidated high school, had chances to attend end-of-the-year festivities, including graduation and experienced something of everyday German life with their host families/ brothers and sisters.

While learning about Germany, they shared their knowledge of the United States, especially their life in Nebraska.

Also, students went on a number of field trips to historically significant sites, such as the monument in Detmold celebrating the defeat of the Romans in 1 A.D. by Arminius and the Germanic tribes. They also toured the residence of Charlemagne in Paderborn and the Pied Piper town of Hameln.

During the third week, the group traveled first to the large northern sea-port city of Hamburg, where they again stayed with families. This visit included a day trip to the island of Sylt, the northern-most tip of Germany off the coast of their journey then took them south to Nurnberg, the popular tourist town in Bavaria famed for its Renaissance art and architecture and for the Nuremberg Trials after World War II.

Once again the students stayed with host families, thus experiencing German life in another distinctly different regional setting.

The group ended their tour in the Bavarian capital Munich, a stay that included lunch at the Hofbrauhaus, an afternoon of art at the Lenbach-Haus and an evening at the movies to see an American film in German.

The group returned home on June 23.

When asked what they would have liked to take home with them, the students answered, "the delicious ice cream," "the freshly picked strawberries," "the abundant roses," "the discos" and "the pedestrian zones."

Anyone interested in helping with the partner school project should contact Mrs. Zahniser at Wayne High School at 375-3150.

WORK AT HOME SCHEMES NOT ALWAYS MONEY MAKERS

The Consumer Protection Division has received inquiries from Nebraskans concerning work-at-home schemes. Persons considering such offers should be cautious about sending up-front fees in response to these offers.

Work-at-home schemes are one of the oldest kinds of classified advertising fraud. Now these offers are being made on the internet, too. The offer to make a $1,000 a week stuffing envelopes at home is probably not the easy income it appears to be. You may not find that out, however, until you have sent in the requested fee, usually between $20 and $50, to receive the information on starting your work-at-home job.

What your fee will bring you is not the pile of envelopes with materials to be stuffed for mailing as you expected. What you most likely will receive is a packet of information about how you can place the same ad in newspapers or magazines at your own expense. The only way you will earn money is from the people who respond to your work-at-home ad.

Other work-at-home schemes reported to our office involve at-home assembly work. You may be asked to purchase expensive equipment from the company and to pay for the materials to be used in the products you assemble. When you submit your finished product, it may not be "up to standard", and therefore the company may refuse to pay you for your hard work.

Most legitimate work-at-home offers will come from local businesses. However, the offers for jobs to be done in your home are few. Be wary of the classified ad that entices you to purchase a directory of businesses in your area which offer at-home work. We have had reports from consumers who found out that the businesses listed had no work, nor did they know that they were listed in the directory.

If you are considering a work-at-home offer here are some questions you might ask:

- What is the total cost of the work-at-home program, including supplies, equipment and "membership fees"?
- What tasks will I be required to perform?
- Who will pay me, and when will I be paid?

If you have questions concerning a work-at-home scheme or if you believe you may have been the victim of a fraudulent work-at-home scheme, contact Office of Attorney General Don Stenberg, Consumer Protection Division, 2115 State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509, (404)471-2682, Consumer Protection Line - 1-800-727-6432

Capitol News —

Legal question raised

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent

The latest ruckus in Whiteclay over the selling of beer to residents of the Pine Ridge Indian reservation seems to raise questions that government might not be equipped to answer.

What does government do when the issue centers on the legal sale of a legal product that is too often abused?

In most cases, a simple rule applies to exceptional government intervention in free enterprise, in the lives of citizens generally.

The state is required to show a legitimate, as opposed to merely political, compelling interest in the situation. For example, the state can mandate that those who operate motor vehicles pass a standardized test. The compelling interest being that such a test is for the safety of all.

There reportedly are four stores in Whiteclay that sell beer. Interestingly, it was one of two stores that DOESN'T sell beer which was victimized by looters. News reports said the grocery store was targeted because the proprietor tends to be abusive to those from the Pine Ridge who do business with him.

In these days of the Politically Correct, it is somewhat risky to ask the obvious question: If beer consumption by people in South Dakota (who buy the stuff in Whiteclay, Neb.) is a problem, wouldn't the first solution be found among consumers. You know, if you're concerned that consumption of the stuff is a problem STOP BUYING IT!

The march on Whiteclay and the subsequent, unpleasant goings on have roots that go much deeper than the sale of beer.

The name of Raymond Yellow Thunder, an Indian who was beaten to death by three white people in 1972, has been invoked recently. The invocation includes an argument that Indians are still being abused, by civilians and law enforcement agents, and that some preventative action is needed.

Some of the reporting which summarized the Yellow Thunder case was accurate. Some was not.

For the record, the Yellow Thunder case was first reported by the Omaha bureau of the Associated Press in 1972. It made national headlines. The journalist who actually brought the case to light was then a reporter for the Scottsbluff Star Herald, J.L. Schmidt.

Yellow Thunder was actually assaulted three times in one evening by the same crew, led principally by two brothers: Mel and Les Hare.

When I wrote the original story the thing that seemed most appalling was this: After he had been beaten, he went to the local jail and asked for a place to sleep. It was given to him. However, no one inquired or made an issue of the fact that, whilst walking about minding his own business, he had been attacked and beaten three times.

It is NOT true that he was stripped naked and shoved onto a local dance floor. Only a few people at the dance saw Yellow Thunder with his tormentors. It is also true that no one endeavored to intervene sufficiently on his behalf.

What the latest reports didn't note that, at the behest of Russell Means, Yellow Thunder's body was exhumed amid allegations he had been tortured with lighted cigarettes and/or mutilated. The allegations were false.

It was the horrendous death of Raymond Yellow Thunder that led to the takeover of the trading post at Wounded Knee, S.D., some subsequent disturbances in other South Dakota towns, and an eventual slew of federal prosecutions against Indians who had allegedly participated.

I covered a couple of the trials, in which the defendants were acquitted in the wake of prosecutorial efforts that would have been funny if the spirit behind the ridiculously inept presentations by the feds hadn't been so venal.

That very first AP story on Yellow Thunder's death has stayed in my mind for two reasons.

First, the local prosecutor, Michael V. Smith, was completely forthcoming and he promised to get the convictions which he eventually secured from a white jury.

Second, the last paragraph of that story quoted a Panhandle resident who talked about the way Indians were generally treated in northwest Nebraska. His comment: "I'd rather be a dog than be an Indian in that part of the country."

What the state can do about beer sales in Whiteclay remains a tough legal question.

It would be well for the government and others to consider the phenomenon of unintended consequences. Take away legal beer sales and, it seems to me, the first entrepreneurs to go enjoy an economic boom will be bootleggers.

The spirit of Crazy Horse deserves to survive.

The spirit of Al Capone does survive and needs to be kept in a tightly sealed bottle to the greatest extent possible.

Wayne's 14 and under B team competed in three tough games last week. On Tuesday, Bancroft defeated Wayne, 13-1. Cari Sturm had one base hit for Wayne.

Wayne A defeated Wayne B back to back in a doubleheader on July 1.

Amy Kemp, Jess Thompson, Jamie Backstrom and Sara Stauffer had singles in Wayne B's first loss, 12-0.

Wayne A defeated Wayne B 19-9 in the second game. Kari Hochstein led the B team with a triple and Allie Hansen had two base hits. Amy Kemp, Jess Thompson, Jamie Backstrom, Karissa Dorcy and Staci Hoeman also had base hits.

Sara Stauffer pitched all three games for the 14-B team.

The girls 12 and under team lost two games and won one over the past week.

In a home game last week, Wayne lost to Pender, 13-1. Jenny Raveling and Jill Schramm provided the Wayne offense with a base hit each. Micaela Weber threw seven strike outs from the mound.

On June 28, Wayne defeated Wisner, 5-4. The offense was paced by Sarah Jensen with two singles, followed by Jenny Raveling and Autumn Thomas with one single each. Tiffany Gagner threw five strike outs in her pitching debut.

Bancroft defeated Wayne 10-7 on June 29. The offense was led by Rachel Jensen with two doubles. Sarah Jensen and Ashley Carroll each had a double, while Jenny Raveling, Marissa Roney and Jessica Jammer had one single each. The 12's now have a 3-4 record.

Wayne 18-under fast pitch hurler Beth Sperry rifles a pitch toward home plate during Wayne's game with Hooper last Thursday. Wayne captured a close contest with the visitors by a 13-12 score.

Wayne catcher Tina Ruwe puts the tag on a Hooper player for the out during second inning action of the locals one-run victory over the visitors. Wayne will compete in the league tournament this weekend before making up some contests that were previously rained out. The local team will compete in the annual state tournament next weekend in Ogallala.

Wayne golfers to compete in national event

Wayne high school golfers Klinton Keller and Mike Varley will compete in the Optimist International Junior Golf Championships in Palm Beach, Florida, July 20-25.

Both Keller and Varley qualified by placing in the top three of Nebraska's state-wide Optimist Golf Tournament in Holdrege.

The event will take place at the PGA National Resort and Spa with competition taking place on two of the resort's premium courses—Champion and Haig.

Winners of the tournament as well as many other participants will appear on ESPN as well as gaining valuable golf experience along with scholarship exposure through the many college coaches who attend.

Past winners of the tournament include Amy Alcott, Ernie Els, Justin Leonard, Nancy Lopez, Davis Love III, Michelle McGann, Phil Mickelson, Corey Pavin, Nick Price and Tiger Woods.

Each state sends three representatives for a total of 150 golfers.

Keller and Varley will arrive in Palm Beach on July 20 and will play a practice round on July 21. Tournament play begins on July 22 and continue through the 25th.

This year's honorary chairperson is Phil Mickelson.

Winside Juniors improve to 8-1 on season

WINSIDE—The Winside Junior Legion baseball team improved to 8-1 on the season with a 15-2 thumping of Bloomfield, recently. Dustin Wade tossed a five-inning no-hitter with eight strikeouts to his credit. Offensively, Aaron Hoffman provided the fireworks with a grand slam home run in the second inning.

Ben Lienemann and Jason Longnecker each had two hits while Dustin Wade tripled and Justin Koch doubled.

The upcoming Elkhorn Valley All-Star game to be held in Creighton on Thursday night will have three Junior Legion members from Winside including Aaron Hoffman, Dustin Wade and Ryan Krueger with Jason Longnecker as an alternate.

The Midgets all-star game will have three players from Winside including Adam Hoffman, Justin Koch and Ben Lienemann with Eric Vanosdall as an alternate.

Wayne wrestling coach to be inducted

WAYNE—Wayne wrestling coach John Murtaugh will be inducted into the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association Hall of Fame on Saturday night in Columbus. Murtaugh has coached at Wayne for 13 years. He has won 23 tournaments and his dual record stands at 71-32-1. He has helped with Youth Wrestling 14 years, coached the NSWCA All-Star Classic in 1991-92, is a member of the NSWCA Board and been in the top 10 at State three times. He has coached three state champs and two All-Americans.

Winside Midgets end baseball season

WINSIDE—The Winside Midgets baseball team ended their season with a 5-3 record. Winside fell to Randolph, 11-10 as Justin Koch was tagged with the loss. Shane Jaeger and Jared Jaeger had two rbi each with Adam Hoffman belting a double.

Winside edged Randolph in the second game, 5-4 as Ben Lienemann earned the win with a one-hitter. Jared Jaeger had two rbi with Justin Koch, Eric Vanosdall and Justin Bleich notching one rbi each.

Wayne 14-under softball teams compete

WAYNE—The Wayne girls 14-under "A" softball team defeated West Point in five innings on Tuesday, 8-0 as Erin Jarvi pitched a no-hitter while striking out 11.

Wayne scored all eight of its runs in the bottom of the fifth inning. Heather Zach scored the first and last runs of the inning. Missy Nissen, Amber Nelson, Erin Jarvi, Amanda Munter, Rachel Robbins, and Leigh Campbell each had a base hit.

The A's defeated Wayne B's last week in a double-header, 12-0 and 19-9. Erin Jarvin was the winning pitcher in game one while also netting the win in game two in relief.

Wayne's A team fell to Norfolk Golden Girls twice last week, 6-1 and 10-0. In the first game Amanda Munter and Tamara Schardt had base hits with Erin Jarvi taking the pitching loss.

In the second game Tamara Schardt took the loss on the mound. Amanda Munter had two base hits to lead the offense while Leigh Campbell and Ashley Loberg had one single each.

Midgets, Juniors sweep Lyons and Tekamah Sluggers win twice

The Wayne Midgets and Junior Legion baseball teams played a pair of games during the past week with both teams beating Lyons and Tekamah in action on Monday and Tuesday night.

Monday in Lyons the Midgets garnered a 15-0 shutout as Adam Jorgensen scattered three hits and struck out eight while earning the win.

Wayne pounded out 13 hits led by Craig Olson with three singles and five rbi while Adam Jorgensen tripled and singled and drove in three runs.

Jason Gangwish and Jayme Bargholz each singled twice with Shane Baack tripling. Ben Meyer, Eric McLagan and Dan Roebber each singled.

The Juniors completed the sweep in shutout fashion, 8-0 as Ryan Stoltenberg went the distance and allowed just two hits while striking out five.

Wayne managed 10 hits led by Cody Niemann's double and single with three rbi while Rob Sturm and Ryan Stoltenberg singled twice. Jeremy Dorsey had a double with three rbi and Brent Tietz, Ryan Dunklau and Dusty Baker had a base hit each.

Wayne's Midgets blasted Tekamah on Tuesday night, 13-5 as Shane Baack earned the win with Brad Hochstein pitching the final inning in relief.

Wayne blasted 13 hits in the game led by Adam Jorgensen with three singles and three rbi while scoring three runs.

Shane Baack aided his pitching cause with a triple and single and Eric McLagan singled twice.

Ben Meyer, Brad Hochstein, Jason Gangwish, Craig Olson, Anthony Sump and Eric Sturm had a single each.

The 20-5 Midgets had four qualifiers for the Ralph Bishop All-Star Game to be played on Sunday at 4 p.m. in Wayne.

Ben Meyer, Eric McLagan, Adam Jorgensen and Shane Baack will help comprise the North team.

Wayne's Midgets also earned the number three seed for the coming Area Tournament to be played in Blair.

Wayne will play West Point in the single-elimination format on Sunday, July 18 at 2 p.m.

If Wayne should win the game they would play the winner of Madison-Arlington on Tuesday, July 22 at 8 p.m. with the championship game slated for Friday, July 23 at 5 p.m.

The Wayne Juniors blasted Tekamah on Tuesday, 10-3 with Darin Jensen earning the win, scattering four hits and striking out nine.

Wayne had seven hits with Matt Clausen leading the way with a triple while Rob Sturm and Darin Jensen each doubled.

Brent Tietz, Jeremy Dorsey, Scott Reinhardt and Cody Niemann each singled for the 18-6 Juniors.

Wayne's Legion also had four players selected to the Ralph Bishop All-Star Game to be played Sunday in Wayne at 7:30 p.m.

Darin Jensen, Rob Sturm, Matt Clausen and Ryan Stoltenberg will comprise the North Squad with Jeff Zeiss among the coaches for the team.

Wayne's Junior Legion baseball team earned the second seed of the Area Baseball Tournament which gets underway on Friday, July 16 in Blair.

The locals will play West Point in first round action of the double-elimination format at 5 p.m.

A Wayne victory would pit them against the winner of Madison and Platte Center on Saturday, July 17 at 8 p.m.

The finals of the Area Tournament will be Friday, July 23 at 8 p.m.

25 years of service

WIC clinics boost family nutrition

Brenda and Michael Finley of Wayne recommend that families with young children enroll in the Goldenrod Hills Community Services-WIC program.

"The foods provided are a huge benefit," Brenda said, stating that it is easy to attend the clinics and that the people in charge are helpful. She attends the Wayne clinic with her one-year-old son, Jacob.

WIC is an educational and nutritional program which enables parents to properly feed their children during critical early years of growth and development. The program assures normal growth, reduces levels of anemia, increases immunization rates through neighboring GHS programs, improves access to regular health care and improves diets. The primary goal of the WIC program—Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children—is keeping children healthy.

The WIC program has been building a healthier America, success story by success story, for the past quarter of a century. Nationwide, more than 32,000 women who are pregnant, postpartum or breast feeding, and infants and children under five have better nutrition and health each month thanks to WIC.

Today, nearly 49 percent of all infants born in the United States, one in five children under five years old, and one in five pregnant women receive WIC benefits.

In Wayne County, WIC clinics are equally beneficial. In Wayne, a clinic is held at the National Guard Armory with 184 participants enrolled. There are 13 similar clinics held monthly throughout the Goldenrod Hills 12-county service area.

In addition to serving the needs of children, WIC programs also reach women before and after their children are born. There are numerous studies of the WIC program that have concluded that pregnant women who enroll in WIC: have longer pregnancies leading to fewer premature births, experience fewer fetal and infant deaths, seek prenatal care earlier in pregnancy, and consume more of such key nutrients as iron, protein and Vitamin C.

The program has been so advantageous, in fact, that it has been in place for 25 years. "We are very proud of the WIC program's documented success in improving the health and nutrition of our communities," said Jan Donner, WIC Director at Goldenrod Hills. "We are hoping that the program's 25th anniversary will provide an opportunity to spread the word about just how important this program is to ensuring a healthy future for our nation."

The WIC program's silver anniversary has been observed across the country. May was designated as the official WIC 25th anniversary month, with celebratory events held in Washington, DC and throughout the nation. June was named WIC awareness month.

The WIC program was established in 1972 as a two-year pilot program under the United States Department of Agriculture. WIC was designed, in part, to address the 1969 White House Conference on Food, Nutrition, and Health which concluded that nutritional deficiencies posed a health threat to low-income women and children and increased medical costs.

To be eligible for WIC, participants must have an income level at or below 185 percent of the Federal Income Poverty guidelines, and have a documented nutritional risk. Anyone interested in learning more about the program may call Jan Donner at (402) 529-3513.

In addition to the WIC program, other Goldenrod Hills Community Services programs include the Commodity Supplemental Food Program, Weatherization, Head Start, Kids Connection Enrollment, Early Intervention Services, Coordination, Immunization Clinics, and Family Services, addressing the needs of low-income population. Goldenrod Hills Community Services also provides referrals to local and state agencies, working together to combat poverty, promote confidence and improve quality of life for residents in the Goldenrod Hills Community Services area. The Goldenrod Joint Housing Authority is also located in the Goldenrod Hills offices.

Scholarships awarded

Jessica Raveling, daughter of Larry and Linda Raveling, and Eric Thomsen, son of Krista Thomsen, have each received $750 in scholarships from US WEST Pioneers.

Raveling is a graduate of Wayne High School and is attending Wayne State College.

Thomsen is a graduate of Wakefield High School and is attending Northeast Community College.

A total of 10 academic scholarships totaling $7,250 were awarded in honor of former employee Mildred Lothrop in an awards ceremony held recently. These scholarship winners were selected from over 30 applicants from across the state of Nebraska.

US WEST Pioneers are active and retired US WEST (formerly Northwestern Bell) employees committed to the spirit of community voluntarism. The Pioneers raised the scholarship money from proceeds of sales at the Omaha Pioneer Store and by selling raffle tickets to fellow employees.

Mildred Lothrop was two-time Vail Gold Medal recipient for her bravery and commitment to providing telephone service during two Nebraska floods early in the century.

Named to list

Elizabeth Ann Lindau of Wayne has been named to the Dean's List for the 1999 spring semester at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

The Dean's List is limited to the top 20 percent of a student's college class or curriculum.

Lindau is majoring in Fine and Applied Arts at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Agent completes training

Lanie Schwank, travel agent at Trio Travel in Wayne, has completed the training necessary to become a certified Sandals Specialist.

She recently attended an intensive two-day Sandals and Beaches Seminar in Omaha, focusing on each Sandals property throughout the islands of the Caribbean.

In addition to learning about these Ultra All-Inclusive properties, Lanie is now also knowledgeable about scuba diving regulations and the programs offered by Sandals on each island. Lanie has been employed at Trio Travel for three years.

Remove Ear Wax Carefully

Glands in the outer ear make wax (cerumen) that protects the ear canal. The amount of wax produced varies from person to person. Some individuals produce so much wax that the ear canal becomes blocked from time to time. Hardening of the wax may be accompanied by partial hearing loss, ringing in the ears, and earache. Impacted wax can trap water in the ear canal and lead to swimmer's ear (otitis externa).

Ear wax sometimes can be removed with an ear syringe and warm water. The water should flow along the ear canal, bounce off the ear drum, and flow out along the bottom of the canal. Over-the-counter products containing carbamide peroxide may be used to soften the wax. Never attempt to remove wax with a paper clip, pencil, or other object that could damage the ear drum. Ask your physician for help when unsure about the wax removal.

Bridge played at Country Club

WAYNE — Seven tables of bridge were played following the Wayne Country Club ladies luncheon held July 6, with 30 attending. Hostesses were Norma Backstrom and Jerry Sharpe. Guests included Pauline Merchant, Rae Kugler, Dorothy Stevenson and Eva Nelson. Winners last week were Clara Sullivan, high, Judy Peters, second high and Phyllis Hix, third high. Hostesses next week are Norma Janke and Dottie Wacker. For reservations call 375-1346 or 375-5427.

Organization recognized

Great Dane Limited Partnership of Wayne, was a recipient for safety achievement in the Safety Achievement Category at this year's Nebraska Safety Council, Inc. annual awards luncheon. The Safety Council recently recognized organizations that have achieved new heights in their safety efforts. Organizations are selected based on criteria that includes injury and illness rates, training activities, special emphasis programs and community involvement in promoting safety. The Nebraska Safety Council, Inc., is a chapter of the National Safety Council, it is a not-for-profit, non-governmental organization promoting safety and health throughout Nebraska.

Cowles featured in Navy newspaper

Chief Petty Officer Cowles

Chief Petty Officer Vicki Cowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Ellis of Wayne, was recently featured in the Navy's newspaper, the "Navy Times." The article discussed Battle Efficiency Awards. The award is given to a command and crew that out-scored competitors in dozens of measures, inspections, tests, evaluations and performances of each department throughout the year during training, deployments and real-world operations. Chief Cowles was chosen for the article due to the rarity of her having more than five awards. Most sailors have only three at the most. She is currently stationed in VS-35, home based at Naval Air Station North Island, San Diego, Calif. as the night shift Maintenance Control Chief in charge of eight S-3 Viking aircraft and its maintenance crew members. She recently returned home from a six month deployment on board the USS Abraham Lincoln. Her career spans 15 years and she has worked on C-130's, SH-2F Sea-sprite helicopters, CH-46 helicopters and instructor duties. She is Wayne High graduate. She and her husband Steve, a retired Navyman, live near San Diego, Calif.

The Golden Years

Dr. Leita Denmark got her medical degree in 1928 and specialized in pediatrics. At age 100 she is the oldest active U.S. physician. Parents bring their children to her sparse office in Alpharetta, Georgia, near Atlanta, without an appointment. She has no secretary, no nurse, no computer or fax machine. Her fee is $10.00 per visit. Parents adore her concentration on the well-being of the children, despite her oldtime attitude that mothers should stay home and devote full time to the family. When to retire? "When I can't see right or don't hear right or think I'm getting to where I can't think right."

Hoskins Centennial activities kicked off with a trail ride from Wayne to Hoskins on Friday. In the evening, a flag raising was held in front of the new Community Center after the horse riders arrived in Hoskins. There were several activities slated for Friday evening. Saturday's events included a Grand Parade, a Tug of War, and Centennial clothing being judged. The Centennial theme was 'Precious Memories.'

PRECIOUS

Children, as well as adults, enjoyed the Hoskins Centennial activities held Friday through Sunday. A Grand Parade was held on Saturday morning with 103 entries. Nearly a thousand people were in attendance for the hour-long event. Parade participants had a good time showering the audience with candy, koozies, and frisbies, as well as water from a fire truck. With temperatures being warm, the water sprayed was a treat, too. Beard judging and Centennial clothing judging were held Saturday evening. There were stories attached to many of the old outfits worn. Ongoing activities during the Centennial included an information booth where centennial souvenirs were sold. A small antique display and antique tractor and engine display was held on East Second Street.

Attends centennial celebration events

We're about drowned out; Weeping Water had five inches last Sunday, and more on Wednesday. There have been flood warnings along the Missouri, and water out of the banks of all the local rivers.

Today, it's muggy and humid, and predictions are for heat. What else? It's the Fourth. And, we are headed to Hoskins for the Centennial, and for only the third ever Hoskins high school reunion.

When I met Mike, I asked where he was from; and when he said, "Hoskins," I asked, "where's that?" Once, I called him person to person from Lincoln; and the operator asked if Hoskins was in Nebraska!

Now I know I should have told her it was a very small town with a very large heart. At one time, it was also a well-kept secret. Not any more, as Norfolk grows and families look for small communities in which to raise children.

The theme for the celebration is 'Precious Memories,' and I love it. Memory is the power to reproduce or recall what has been experienced. And, they truly are precious.

A reunion is coming together again after separation. We can go home again, because "home is where the heart is."

At one time, there were more than 800 high schools in the state. Now, there are fewer than 300.

Four to eight families lived off a section of land. Today, it takes several sections, and the family is probably smaller, too. Of course, I hasten to add that the standard of living is quiet different, too! I remember acquiring electricity and indoor plumbing. There was no central heat, and certainly no central air.

A senator from Hoskins introduced the bill to gravel all rural mail routes; an I've been eternally grateful, though the gravel gets a bit thin in certain kinds of weather.

When I see the equipment used by the young farmer who tills the land around the Farm House, I'm amazed. I don't even want to calculate what he has invested.

And, when he's in the field at midnight, I remember Uncle Carl Wittler saying, "They never should have put lights on tractors!"

Speaking of uncles, Uncle Reuben called from Orlando this week to say his grand daughter is Miss Florida! That was very exciting news. I wonder how the pageant producers will pronounce Meierhenry when they introduce her?

Deadline approaches for WSC Music Camp

Jazz band, swing choir, madrigal groups, women's or men's chorus, vocal jazz choir and small ensembles will take the spotlight during the Wayne State College 55th Annual Summer Music Camp on July 25-31. Pre-camp events are scheduled for July 22-24.

Camp events are planned for students who will be entering the ninth grade through graduating high school seniors. Registration deadline for all WSC music camp events (including pre-camp) is July 16.

"We offer music instruction in every area of music that is taught in secondary schools. Our hope is to give students an advantage when they return to school in the fall. Parents tell us they have appreciated our organization, supervision and high quality musical experiences," said Dr. Jay O'Leary, WSC professor of music and director of Music Camp.

O'Leary has been involved in making Music Camp available to students for the past 25 years.

"I think we have gone through years of growth, years when we expanded offerings, however one constant is the really great students that attend. It's fun to hear from past campers about how much they enjoyed their experiences with us and how they continue to include music in their lives. We hope to have contributed to that achievement," O'Leary said.

Attaining achievement at Music Camp is possible through a number of opportunities which O'Leary points out.

"Music instruction includes not only participation in groups, but also in composing music, using computers in music and a course in band instrument repair. Private instruction is also available as an option to help students achieve on any instrument or through voice lessons," O'Leary said.

Three days of pre-camp events will include instruction in flute, show choir and jazz band. These are separate and must be registered for on an individual basis. There are three options to the pre-camp-flute, jazz band, or a show choir camp. Students may attend one of the pre-camps or the regular camp or a pre-camp and the regular camp.

Designed especially for flute players, pre-camp instruction is available for all levels from beginning to advanced. Show choir pre-camp instruction will involve development of show choir vocal and choreographic techniques. Jazz band pre-camp activities will include improvisation.

The WSC Music Camp provides opportunities for the public to enjoy several performances. "O'Leary said. The public is encouraged to attend the Music Camp concerts in Ramsey Theatre, in the Peterson Fine Arts Building on the WSC campus.

"I think due to all the classes offered, this will be more than a play or sing camp. Students can really get into the finer points of music," said Michael Gillan, one of the camp instructors and also a WSC faculty member.

"There's a great deal of innovation going on during these WSC Music Camp classes. The Camp has some added variety and improvisation. Students always appear to enjoy the jazz band section and one innovative session this year will be the STOMP class. I will be teaching this class using percussion with street beats. Another popular class is always the computerized music session," Gillan said.

Students receiving 1 ratings as soloists in a state or regional high school music contest in spring 1999 will be awarded part-tuition scholarships to the camp.

For more information, please contact the Fine Arts Division at (402) 375-7359. Students interested in enrolling may write to Dr. Jay O'Leary, c/o Music Camp, Wayne State College, 111 Main Street, Wayne, NE 68787.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

We would like to thank all those who helped to make the Wayne Public Library's 1999 "Treasure Your Library" Summer Reading Program a smashing success. The kickoff on June 2 featured a special program on Aquatic Life presented by the Henry Doorly Zoo. Children ages four to 12 were treated to an adventurous sea film and such real aquatic wonders as a polished two-foot wide turtle shell, amber sea sponges and ferocious shark teeth to name but a few of the ocean marvels on display.

On successive Wednesdays throughout the month of June, children enjoyed listening to stories and creating crafts of seahorses, lobsters, octopus, buried treasure and pirates.

Children in grades four to six in particular took pleasure from a visit to the Wayne County Museum as well as an interactive "Hobby Collections" exhibition held at the Library showcasing Fred Webber's collection of coins, Russell Moomaw's stamp collection and Charles Maier's collection of watches. On the final Wednesday of the program, children were fascinated by Beth Milligan's rural life paintings on giant sawblades and Steve Schumacher's wood-carvings on cowboys, birds and other western wildlife.

The Summer Reading Program would not have been successful without the support of the community of Wayne. Parents donated their time to act as volunteer readers; students from the Wayne Public School, St. Mary's and Wayne State College acted as Library Pages, assuring that each program day ran smoothly; sponsors such as Dairy Queen, Pac 'N' Save, Pamida, Runza, Quality Food Center, Wayne East and Udder Delights also generously donated supplies for the program and prizes for the final party on July 1 at Bressler Park. A tremendous thank you to our community supporters as well as the library staff and Summer Reading Coordinator Leah Agler.

The Library is on-line! The Library now has four computer stations open to the public for Internet and word-processing use. Patrons may visit their favorite on-line sites, write e-mail letters, explore databases, do genealogical research and much more. Children age 16 and younger must gain parental consent before going on-line. Come join the technological revolution at the Library.

The Cadet Girl Scouts are planning to exhibit a "History of Wayne Girl Scouting" in the Library's display case in September. Other interested organizations are invited to call the Library to inquire about placing their special exhibitions on display.

Summer Library hours will be in effect through Labor Day weekend. They are as follows: noon to 8 p.m., Monday - Friday; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and closed all Sundays. Our phone number is (402) 375-3135; fax number (402) 375-5772 (fax charge is $1 per page).

LADIES AID

The St. John's Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML of Wakefield met July 2 with Berniece Hogan and Lucille Bartels as hostesses.

Lois Victor conducted the opening devotions with readings entitled "The Fork" and "The Ten Commandments." Pastor Bruce Schut led the Bible Study entitled "Angels: The Inside Story" taken from the LWML Quarterly.

President Martha Prochaska presided at the business meeting and welcomed guest Tori Allemann. All joined in reciting the LWML Pledge.

Martha Prochaska reported on the monthly sing-along she led at the Wakefield Care Center. The friendship committee reported sending two get-well cards, one sympathy card and making eight visits. Lutheran World Relief sewing met June 1 with five members present.

Guest Day was discussed. It will be held in September. The International LWML is being held in Minnesota this week. Twenty-one members answered roll call.

July birthdays honored with the birthday son are Lila Barner, Wilma Bartels, Imogene Samuelson, Lois Schlines and Marie Vander Veen. Anniversaries honored with the anniversary with the anniversary song are Gladys and Raymond Brudigam, Berniece and Ray Hogan, Harriet and Marvin Stolle and Pastor and Jan Schut.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and table prayer led by Pastor Schut. The next meeting will be Friday, Aug. 6 with Gladys Brudigam and Margaret Turner as hostesses.

Mrs. Joyce Ritchey of Creighton, Donna Roeber and Edna Hansen were June 30 guests in the Cliff Baker home. Katie Echtenkamp of Wayne spent the past week in the Baker home.

Supper guests in the Kirby Mousel home for Lindsey's fourth birthday, July 3, were Gertrude Ohlquist and Lindsey's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mousel of Edison.

Mrs. Bob Rhodes of Orlando, Fla. and Marcee Muller of Tecumseh were visitors of Alice Muller and were guests in the Edna Hansen home.

July Fourth supper guests in the Edna Hansen home were Cliff and Leoma Baker, Ed and Mary Lou Krusemark, Roger and Lynette Hansen, Eugene and Delores Helgren of Wayne, Edna Mae Frey of Thurston, Marcee Muller of Tecumseh and Phyllis Rhodes of Orlando.

Toastmasters celebrate 15 years in Wayne.

The Wayne Sunrise Toastmasters recently received recognition by Toastmasters International for their club being in existence for 15 years.

The club currently has 16 members.

Toastmasters is a group that helps its members improve public speaking and communication skills as well as develop leadership qualities.

The Wayne Sunrise Toastmasters recently changed the dates and times of their meetings. They meet on the first and third Thursdays of the month at 7 a.m. at Tacos & More. The meet on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month at noon, also at Tacos & More.

This change was made to accommodate more people's schedules and has been a positive change. Visitors and new members are always welcome to attend any meeting.

The group recently elected new officers for the year beginning July 1.

New officers include Jennifer Phelps, president; Tim Powell, vice president education; Darrell Miller, vice president membership; Cal Kroeker, vice president public relations; Janell Scardino, secretary; Molly Ludwig, treasurer and Marie Powell, Sergeant of Arms.

For more information, contact Darrell Miller at 375-4698 or Jennifer Phelps at 375-3868.

Credit and finances Discuss things before marriage

Marriage is a big step, and so are the responsibilities that go along with it. Finances and credit are high on the list.

Money is one of the top reasons for divorce. Conflicts often occur from how a partner spends or handles money, even though another problem may be causing the tension.

Determining how to manage finances, credit and debt should be discussed before tying the knot. Couples should agree how they will handle their money, their spending style, and their feelings about money. They also should make sure each know what their debt, income and expenses are, as debt can be an unpleasant surprise.

Marriage brings together two families of different backgrounds and different spending habits.

Couples should determine if debts will be paid off individually or jointly. If each spouse is paying off individual debts, separate checking accounts are practical. Who pays for what household expenses needs to be decided.

Some couples getting married assume they will have joint checking accounts, but this is not always better. A couple can decide to have one joint account; two separate accounts; or two separate accounts, and a third, joint account. There isn't a right or wrong way, but the couple should be comfortable with the decision. The couple also should look at each others' checkbooks to decide what style of record keeping is best.

Sally Ebmeier
Cedar County

Savings accounts can have the same problems. Spouses may decide to each have individual savings accounts, joint accounts or both. Having a joint savings account will increase the couple's commitment to one another, and the family they are creating. There should be a savings account for short-term things such as emergencies, and a goal-related account for things such as cars or education. It is a good idea to have a short-term and a goal-related fund because money may be spent that should be saved. Monthly savings also need to be determined.

Along with savings plans, there needs to be spending plans. Budgeting should be part of a couple's life. Couples need to agree where and how money should be spent, and how much personal cash each will have.

Each partner should have one credit card in his or her name only. This can serve as a resource to that person only because in a worse-case scenario or divorce, a spouse can run up debt on a joint card.

Before purchasing that first major gift, determine how often and when to give gifts. In a new marriage, one may think their family traditions and habits are the best. This is one thing people usually don't think about, but it will come up at the first birthday or holiday. Couples also need to decide on an amount when making purchases or when they will have to consult with each other.

Couples who can't come to an agreement about finances and credit should seek outside help such as a financial counselor or therapist.

For more information on personal finances, contact your local University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension office.

Dedication ceremony held

Mason Michael Forsberg, son of Mike and Kim (Damme) Forsberg, was dedicated to the Lord on Sunday, May 30 at Evangelical Free Church in Concord. Pastor Bob Brenner officiated and Mason's mother sang "I Want to be Just Like You." A noon dinner was held in the church basement and a special cake was decorated by Kim Forsberg.

Those attending included Mike and Kim Forsberg, Denny, Donna and Becky Forsberg and Mabel Johnson, all of Laurel, Craig Forsberg of Norfolk, LeRoy, Eileen and Kay Damme, Kent Damme, Ella Berg and Jeremy Keenan, all of Winside and Pastor Bob and Judy Brenner of Concord. Mason was born Jan. 25, 1999.

Kelton to be guest organist

Harrison Kelton, formerly of Wayne, will be the guest organist for the dedication of the recently installed pipe organ at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. The organ dedication will be held on Sunday, Aug. 1 at 3 p.m. A reception will follow the dedication performance. The congregation of Our Savior has invited the community to attend this dedication and reception. Dr. Kelton is Associate Professor of Music at Suffolk University in Boston. He also serves as the music director and organist at two Boston area congregations. Harrison is the son of Wayne residents Ray and Barbara Kelton. The Schlicker Organ Company of Buffalo, N.Y. recently installed the pipe organ which is a 2 manual and 22 rank organ with 1202 pipes. The 22 ranks are divided into 19 stops. For more information, contact the Church Office at 375-2899.

Grant is awarded to provide counseling

The Gardner Foundation has awarded a $10,000 grant to Lutheran Family Services to provide the Wayne community with the opportunity to receive quality counseling at a reduced fee. The grant specifies that fees for four to five counseling sessions each week will be made available to those people unable to pay full fees for quality mental health counseling through Lutheran Family Services. "The Gardner Foundation's grant allows Lutheran Family Services to expand the base of people we serve to those who may need reduced fees," said Ruth Henrichs, president and CEO of Lutheran Family Services. "I want to publicly thank the Gardner Foundation for their commitment to building and strengthening families in the Wayne area through this grant." Lutheran Family Services' office in Wayne is located at 112 1/2 West Third Street. To schedule an appointment, call (402) 375-5566. Lutheran Family Services offers quality counseling services including pregnancy counseling, individual and family counseling, marriage counseling, gambling addiction treatment, and adoption services.

Youth groups travel to Minnesota

In June the youth groups from the Presbyterian Churches in Wayne, Wakefield and Clarkson joined together for a mission trip to St. Peter, Minn. to help with the relief efforts from a tornado which struck St. Peter in 1998. The following is the report of one of the youth who attended.

By Sarah Holstedt

Recently the joint youth group of Wayne, Wakefield and Clarkson went on their annual mission trips. In the past the group has gone to Allen Park, Colo., St. Louis, Mo, and Juarez, Mexico. This year our need to help those in need led us to St. Peter, Minn. Last year (March 29, 1998 to be exact), a tornado struck the town wiping out over 20,000 trees, destroying some 150 homes, and damaging 400+ homes around the scenic town. After a year of unbelievable amounts of outside help and service, interest in this town's problems had begun to wane.

We came in and the local Lutheran Disaster-Program gave us several pages of jobs we could help with. In the rest of this article, I will try to tell you as many of the jobs we did, the experiences I had and anything else that comes up because I love to talk about mission trips.

When we arrived in St. Peter on Sunday night, the Country Kitchen managed to find room for all 28 of us. They had two tables of 10 kids and two tables of four sponsors (I would call them adults, but most of them are still kids at heart anyway.)

Other than the occasional spill and the ever so scarce broken tooth, we had already begun our adventure as one group ready to attack all the problems of this part of the world.

Getting ready to head towards our headquarters, we started to notice just how much of an impact the tornado had had on the town because we were driving through the area where almost every house was a replacement or was in the process of being replaced.

We also realized that the people in St. Peter had retained their sense of humor when we passed a sign that read, "This is the Future Road to the Future Site of the Future Catholic Church."

They also played a small joke on our courageous crew by informing us that we would be staying in dorms. We all immediately thought of the Gustavus Adolphus facility. Oh no, we were lead straight to the State Mental Hospital!

We were housed on the second floor of an abandoned mental facility that had been replaced by minimum and maximum security buildings. Once the excitement of being in a building that was so secure, we were only given one key to get in, we settled down and were split into our work groups for the next day.

There were the roofers, the painters, the rock diggers, the basement builders and another group of painters.

On Monday, everyone split and went their separate ways. We had packed lunches so we could work straight through the day. When we returned to the "looney bin" we discovered that some of the groups had also cleaned out a crop field that was filled with debris.

Tuesday brought many of the same jobs. Wednesday brought a short morning and then Valleyfair. Valleyfair was our big fun outing to an amusement park.

We didn't realize that we would be going on the same day that Members of the combined Presbyterian youth work together in St. Peter, Minn. to cut and install forms for a new basement for a home to replace one which had been completely destroyed.

Rev. Earl Underwood of Clarkson, Sarah Holstedt of Wayne and Andy Hickson of Wakefield work to complete the shingling of a new roof for a home in St. Peter, Minn.

many of the area schools were having their Fun Day. Around five o'clock we were just about to get the park thinned out considerably, so my group headed toward the main roller coaster we had been waiting to ride.

As we stood in line, a thunderstorm rolled in and they shut the ride down. Impatient people that we are, we decided to go to the Imax instead and there we found 15 people from our group, a fairly good percentage!

Thursday was our last full day of hard work. The cement came for the basement builders, the shingles came for the roofers and the chain saws arrived for the rock digger/ debris picker-upper landscaper/ loggers.

Everyone came home satisfied with their hard efforts and ready to finish the projects off the next morning. That night we were given the option of going to one of various movies, or relaxing in our overly secure surroundings. By this time the group had jelled very well and everyone seemed to enjoy the night in their own little way.

face made us realize that we were also a special kind of therapy for her.

Small things can mean an awful lot in a lifetime.

I guess Lisa Potter of Wakefield summed it up best when she said, "When I went to St. Louis, I thought 'It can't get any better than this.' Then it did. I went to Mexico and thought, 'It definitely can't get any better than this.'

Then we went to St. Peter and I am thinking, 'there is no way it can get better than this.'

That is why I keep going on these trips. They are so addicting.

First Presbyterian Church continues its celebration

First Presbyterian Church of Wayne, continuing its Centennial celebration of the completion of the church sanctuary, will host Christian artist and singer, Justin Hill in concert on Sunday, July 25 at 7 p.m. in the church's sanctuary.

Hill and his accompanying musicians have been touring churches in the state of Iowa for three years with a growing reputation for excellence. This year they are touring the mid-west region, including Nebraska.

The songs used in the concert are various, from the more standard hymns to the contemporary hits of Sandi Patty, Steve Green and Michael O'Brien, as well as a few original pieces by Justin Hill and co-writer Jennifer Hopwood.

There will be no charge for the concert, but a free-will offering will be received.

Searching for a treasure

Those involved in this year's summer reading program, "Treasure Your Library," were treated to a party last week following the completion of the program.

Favorite Foods revue held

Five 4-H'ers from Dixon and Wayne Counties participated in the 4-H Favorite Foods Revue on June 25.

The 4-H'ers were asked to prepare one favorite recipe and set up an appropriate table setting to accommodate their favorite food. They each also planned a complete menu to go with their Favorite Food.

The 4-H'ers were interviewed and had the opportunity to share with the judge things they learned in this project such as meal management, nutritional value of the food and food preparation.

Medicaid is expanded

A law passed by the Legislature earlier this year allows individuals with disabilities who work but whose income is below a certain level to continue to receive Medicaid.

LB 594 allows Medicaid-eligible individuals who meet the Social Security Administration's definition of disability and who have a family income of less than 250 percent of the federal poverty level ($1,718 a month for an individual) to receive Medicaid.

The change allows individuals with disabilities who want to work to do so without worrying that they will lose their Medicaid coverage, said George Kahlandt, administrator of the Public Assistance Unit of the Nebraska Health and Human Services System. Medicaid is the state's health insurance for low-income persons.

RECEIVING GRANT
Wakefield's firefighters and rescue squad are receiving an $800 grant from the Siouxland Foundation.

The grant will be used to help replace old hand held radios, according to Dallas Roberts, president of the firefighters.

Don Kuhl, secretary of the Wakefield Rescue Squad, and Roberts applied for the grant. The local units are one of seven non-profit organizations and three Sioux City colleges receiving funding from the Foundation, which recently approved distributions totaling $33,682 in grants and scholarships from the Airlines Trust Fund.

The Foundation, which is a publicly supported, non-profit corporation, was established in 1998 to enrich the quality of life in Siouxland by receiving and administering endowed and special purpose gifts to carry out the charitable objectives of donors for the benefit of those within the greater Sioux City tri-state region.

The commemorative Siouxland response to the United Flight 232 incident in 1989, United Airlines donated $600,000 to the Siouxland Foundation to establish an endowed community grant and scholarship program known as the United Airlines Trust Fund.

The Goodwill Trailer will be in Wakefield from July 20 through July 26 to accept donations. The trailer will be on the lot with the recycling trailer.

Citizens are asked not to take donations to the location before the trailer arrives.

BEST AWARD IN EDUCATION
Jennifer Goos was recognized as one of Business Education's BEST in Nebraska at the Nebraska Department of Education's INVEST Conference held June 8 at Kearney.

The ninth annual BEST awards were presented to individuals whose professional activities have had an impact and influence on business education in Nebraska during the past year by being actively involved in professional associations, community and school activities, professional leadership development, and/or service to the business education profession.

BLOOD MOBILE IN ALLEN

The Blood Mobile will be at the Firehall from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Allen-Waterbury Fire and Rescue Building.

According to an article in the Omaha World-Herald, "blood donations are decreasing about one percent every year and demand for blood is increasing by one percent every year. The National Blood Data Resource Center predicts that next year Americans will donate under 11.7 million units of blood, but hospitals will need 11.9 million units."

So to ensure that everyone who needs blood is able to receive it, please be sure to donate on Tuesday. You'll never know when it could be someone you love that needs it.

METHODIST CHURCH PLANS TO BUILD

At a charge conference in 1998, it was voted to build a new facility, repair the old structure, or do nothing to the United Methodist Church in Allen.

To build a new building, it was estimated, would cost around $250,000, the cost of repairing the old structure would cost around $150,000, and to do nothing, the building would deteriorate and eventually the door would have to be closed. That would mean the end to almost 110 years of tradition for many members.

On April 25, a vote was taken, the last option eliminated, and a majority voted in favor of a new building. Now the task on hand is developing a way to raise the needed funds.

The new structure will be built in the southeast corner of the Village Estates in the new housing addition where land has been donated. Anyone who would like to make a donation to this project can contact the members of the Methodist Church.

Remember, this is not just a project for the needs of the church today, but will serve the needs of the church and community for years to come. Community is the "key" word as everyone has to work to keep the community growing for those who are already here and for those to come.

Youth participate in bike rodeo

The Dixon/Wayne County 4-H Bicycle Rodeo was held at Allen Consolidated Schools in Allen on June 29.

Thirteen 4-H'ers from Dixon County participated in the event. Those in the Junior and Senior Divisions had the opportunity to demonstrate their safety skills in various bicycle obstacles and safety rides.

Deputy Bruce Hokol and Deputy Roger Peterson of the Dixon County Sheriff's Office administered the bicycle safety inspections.

Those 4-H'ers participating in the Junior Division who received purple ribbons included Whitney Smith and Samantha Bock of Allen and Becky Hoelsing of Laurel. Blue ribbons were awarded to Michael Bock, Alicia Gregerson and Carla Rasted of Allen, Brielle Koch of Laurel and Stephan Garland of Newcastle. Receiving red ribbons were Kyra Garland of Newcastle and Michael Gregerson of Allen.

Those participating in the Senior Division and receiving purple ribbons were Justin Moore and Kelli Rastede of Allen. Kami Roberts of Allen received a blue ribbon.

Receiving first place overall in the Junior Division was Becky Hoelsing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hoelsing of Laurel. She received a trophy sponsored by Schlickbernd and Associates of Emerson.

Kelli Rastede, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Rastede of Allen was the overall Senior Division Winner. She received a trophy donated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post #5435 of Martinsburg.

Both girls received a Champion Dixon County 4-H Bicycle Rodeo T-shirt sponsored by Lee Brudigam Construction of Wakefield.

Scheels Sports Shop of Sioux City, Iowa donated water bottles and Albrecht Cycle Shop in Sioux City also donated two water bottles and a bike flag. Participants draw for and received these as prizes.

The main objective of the 4-H Bicycle Rodeo is to help 4-H'ers become aware of bicycle safety and demonstrate these skills while riding their bicycles.

Those involved with the event wish to thank all of the 4-H volunteers and donors who helped make the event a success.

4-H group takes part in trip

A number of 4-H'ers from Dixon County participated in a 4-H Exchange trip to Columbia County, Wisc. on June 16-21.

The group left June 16 and traveled to Dubuque, Iowa. On the 17th they toured a cheese factory in Darlington, Wisc. before heading to The House On the Rock near Green Spring, Wisc. After a tour, the group traveled through Madison and were able to take in the sights of the capital. They then departed to meet their 4-H host families near Portage, Wisc.

Each of the 11 teenagers was paired with 4-H'ers from Columbia County for the remaining days of the trip. They were able to adapt to the life that each of their host families lead.

On Friday, the entire group went to Noah's Ark Water Park at the Wisconsin Dells. The group spent their day on water rides and getting to know one another. Saturday and Sunday were spent with each individual family. The families had special activities planned and also included the 4-H'ers in daily routines in their households. Many of the 4-H'ers stayed on dairy farms and had an opportunity to learn about the dairy industry.

Because June was dairy month, there was a Moo Day Brunch held at a dairy farm in Columbia County. Many of the 4-H'ers took part in this activity. The youth were able to visit many of the sights of the Wisconsin Dells. Some of them took duck rides, while others took boat rides along the Wisconsin River.

While in Wisconsin some of the 4-H'ers were also able to attend a 4-H dairy judging contest.

The group departed for home on June 21 after having brunch at the McKenzie Environmental Center.

These 4-H'ers were able to make friendships with 4-H'ers in another part of the Midwest. Next summer, the 4-H'ers from Wisconsin will visit their 4-H friends' home in Nebraska.

Angela Abts of Dixon and Amy Malchow, Extension Educator, 4-H and Youth were sponsors for the trip.

Tale of 2 Biddies

"Of all the nerve...."

"Well I never...."

Welcome to the 1999 Wayne Chicken Show

Wayne Chicken Show history told

The Wayne Chicken Show, sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, is a fun event held annually on the second Saturday in July.

The first Wayne Chicken Show was held in 1981 and was intended to be an arts and crafts show. It was a project of the Wayne Regional Arts Council and its purpose was to generate grass roots interest in arts by demonstrating that art can exist around everyday objects or situations.

The theme of "chickens" was chosen because of the potential for art materials (feathers and egg shells) because nearly everyone has knowledge and familiarity with chickens, and because chickens can be considered with humor. Some contests and a parade were planned in order to make the arts and crafts show an event.

The Chicken Show Committee acquired a yellow 1967 Cadillac Coupe DeVille in 1993. The car, which is mounted with a 12-foot fiber glass rooster, has been part of the yearly event since that time.

Previous years Cluck Off winners have appeared on the Tonight Show. The Chicken Show has been featured in nearly all of the larger Nebraska newspapers, on radio interviews heard in every state of the United States, all provinces of Canada, and the B.B.C. originating from Dublin, Ireland; in television news segments each year on Lincoln, Omaha, and Sioux City stations, and on NBC, ABC, CBS, and CNN; appearances on Good Morning America, the Mickey Mouse Club and a syndicated quiz show; and in articles in USA Today, and Wall Street Journal, stars and Stripes, regionals magazines, national newspaper syndications through the Associated Press and UPI.

In addition, English, Japanese, and Saudi Arabian newspaper clippings have been sent.

Chicken Show information can be accessed on the Internet at <http://www.thenetpages.com/chicken-show>

The primary source of funds for the Chicken Show is the sale of Chicken Shirts. Pearl Hansen, a local artist, designed the first three years' Chicken Shirts. Designs after that were by Marla McCue, another local artist. Each year's shirt is unique, depicting the theme for that particular year. Thousands of shirts are sold each year; calls and orders are taken all year. The 1996 Wayne Chicken Show received the Nebraska Outstanding Tourism Award.

There are around 12 people who plan the show each year with planning going on all year. Around 1,000 people volunteer their time to help in the yearly event, especially as the Chicken Show date draws near. Last year there were nearly 80 chickens in the show and around 15,000 people attending.

Wayne Chicken Show-Something worth crowing about.

Henoween activities planned

Henoween will be located in downtown Wayne near 2nd Street on Friday, July 9, starting at 5 p.m. People are invited to stop downtown for the activities and also to stop into the Main Street office at 208 Main from 6-8 p.m.

Some of the activities planned for Henoween are: Children's Games, Ice Cream Social, Car Show and Cruise, Street Performers, Cook-Off Contest, Face Painting, Dancing, Talent Show, Beer Garden, Craft/Food Vendors, and Clowns.

There will be many arts and crafts booths in this year's event located downtown on Friday and at Bressler Park on Saturday.

'Nest-algia Car Cruise' is sponsored by MidAmerica Cruisers. People will be given clues to find the first egg and clues to find the next egg will be found with each subsequent egg. The hunt will take the group around town, past the Henoween activities, and back to the roost after finding all the eggs.

An 'Ice Cream Social' will start at 6 p.m. and is sponsored by the Order of the Eastern Star. The price is $2 per pie and ice cream served.

Homemade pie and ice cream will be featured with all money going to charitable Wayne area projects. Some of these projects include: scholarships for Wayne and Winside Seniors, and music students attending the Masonic All-Star Marching Band Clinic at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The Order of the Eastern Star is the largest fraternal organization in the world to which both men and women belong.

There will be a 'Cook-Off Contest' at 7 p.m. Recipes must be either chicken recipes or must include four or more eggs. People need to pre-register at the Chamber office. Anyone interested can call the Chamber at 375-2240.

A 'Cluck-A-Long,' sponsored by the Wayne Kiwanis will be held at 7 p.m. People can 'cluck-a-long' to golden oldies at this time.

There will be a 'Chicken Dance' held on Main Street at 7 p.m.

A 'Teen Dance' will be beginning at 7 p.m. in downtown Wayne. The 'Drug Free' dance is sponsored by the Youth Activities Coalition and is for all middle and high school students.

The cost is $3 per teen. For more information on this event or any Chicken Show activities contact Karen Shattuck, Chair Hen, at 402-375-1256, or the Wayne Chamber of Commerce at 375-2240.

Also planned for that evening will be an adult dance at Riley's from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music by 'Ivory Star.'

David Headley paints the face of a little girl during face painting activities at last year's Henoween. Face painting is just one activity planned for the Friday night event. There are many things for people to do at this year's Chicken Show.

Open 7 Days A Week — 7:30 AM - 10:00 PM

Many of the different activities scheduled each year at the Chicken Show take place in the Bressler Park in Wayne. The park has been the central place for these activities for many years to accommodate the increased crowds each year. When the show first started 19 years ago many of the activities were held downtown.

A long line of contestants were on hand for last year's "Chicken Flying Meet." People holding their feathered friends, sometimes two at a time, wait patiently in anticipation that their chickens will be deemed the best at flying.

New and different Chicken Show shirts are featured every year. Several of the past shirts have now become collectors' items. Here, part of the Chicken Show committee model this year's new shirts. 'Just Fowling Around' is the 1999 theme.

It's a tough job trying to win in the 'egg eating contest'...but someone has to do it! Water is a necessity in this contest or one might get 'all choaked up!'

More than 100 entries are part of each year's Chicken Show Parade. An estimated 15,000 people line the streets to watch the chick-related floats and other participants.

The cartoons found throughout this Chicken Tab were taken from a calendar provided by Deb Schaffer of Citgo. The Wayne Herald would like to thank Deb for sharing them with us and our readers.

Bressler Park is a nice, shady place to gather for Chicken Show activities. There are many trees growing in the park which offer shelter from the sun and quite often 'warm' weather that Nebraska has to offer the second weekend in July.

Every year there is a variety of events going on at Bressler Park. No one should ever be at a loss for something to do at the Wayne Chicken Show. Other scheduled activities include a number of contests being held at Bressler Park, vendors selling their wares, omelet feed, BBQ chicken feed, a softball tournament, a bike ride, a parade, and so much more.

A 'Hat Contest' is held every year where contestants can use their imaginations and adorn their creations.
