Heat takes toll on livestock

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

The recent period of high temperatures and high humidity have been uncomfortable for humans but deadly for large numbers of cattle in northeast Nebraska.

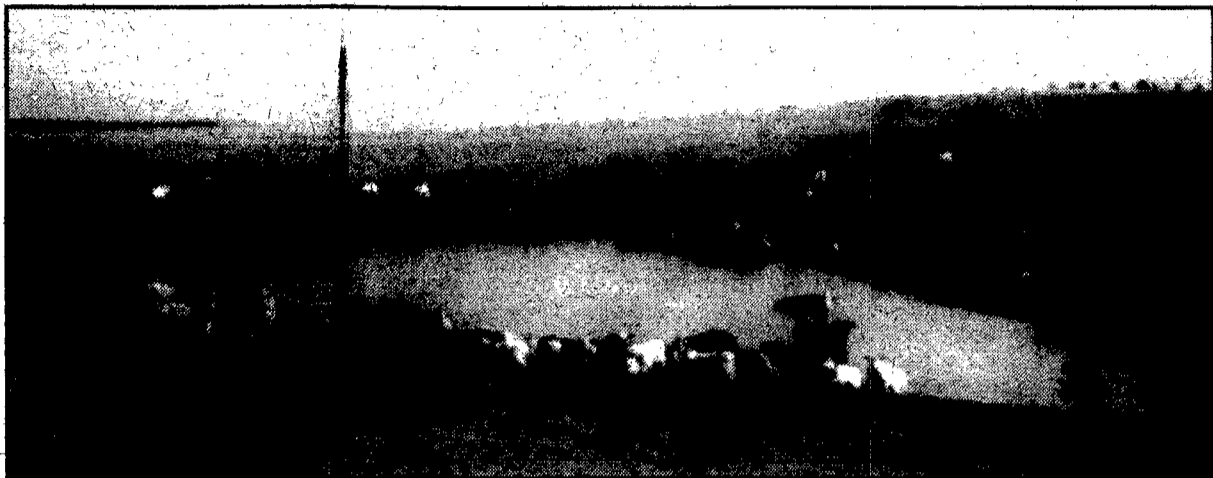

Terry Mader, Beef Specialist at the Northeast Research and Extension Center at the Haskell Ag Lab near Concord, estimates that more than 1,000 head of cattle have been lost because of recent high temperatures. Especially hard hit are feedlots in northeast and central Nebraska.

"Normally, this part of Nebraska has a severe heat episode once every two to three years and generally it is fairly short-term, from three days to a week," Mader said.

He said that trend has not held true this year, as temperatures have been above normal since July 1. However, during the early part of the month, rainfall was plentiful and there was lots of wind.

"These factors did not allow the cattle adequate time to adapt to the changes in temperature. In recent days we have had no wind and long, hot days with warm nights, causing a great deal of heat stress," Mader said.

He went on to say that the cattle that are 30- to 45-days from slaughter are most susceptible to heat stress. In addition, with high heat loads, fertility and conception rates can be compromised in cow-calf operations.

"Death loss in feedlots occurs when the preceding night hasn't cooled down, those times when the dew point and the temperatures are in the middle to upper 70s," Mader said.

"While there are no magic answers and each situation is different, there are a number of things producers can do to help prevent death loss," he added.

These include providing an adequate water supply, having good air flow and keeping pens cleaned.

"Also, during periods of high heat, don't be too concerned about the livestock not eating or consuming their normal daily amount of feed. If possible, the larger portion of the feed ration should be fed after 7 p.m. rather than in the morning," Mader said.

He also recommended having a sprinkler system away from where the cattle's water supply is to eliminate crowding around the waterers. He encourages producers to have one waterer for every 100-150 head of cattle.

"I would recommend having wet, cool ground away from the water supply but not allowing it to become muddy. The mud complicates the situation. If the mud is too close to the waterer, the animals will crowd around it and prevent the cattle from getting a drink. During the hot weather an 800- to 1,000 pound steer needs between 10 and 18 gallons of water a day," Mader said.

He added that it is vital for producers to be really careful during the hot weather and watch the animals closely.

Several studies are currently being conducted at the Haskell Ag Lab in regard to feeding and care of beef cattle during periods of high heat.

Council hears center update

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council centered on the possibility of constructing a recreation facility in the Wayne area.

Doug Carroll, Bob Keating and Rocky Ruhl, representatives of a group which has been working to see if there is community support for such a facility, spoke to the council and answered a number of questions.

Earlier this year a survey was conducted in the Wayne community which listed a number of activities and other features that residents would like to see included in the facility.

Carroll shared the results from the 343 surveys that were returned and said that through the results gathered by the group, he felt this was a "facility that Wayne is looking for and needs."

The group has looked at other similar facilities, including one in Yankton, S.D. that is connected to the school there.

Also discussed at Tuesday's meeting were the possible locations for the facility. The two areas being considered at the present time are at Wayne High School and south of Hank Overin Field on Windom Street.

Councilman Willis Wiseman made a motion to have the council go on record in favor of the facility. He did however, ask that the group research the costs of building in each of the two sites and that they attempt to find out what grant money is available for a project such as this.

City Administrator Joe Salitros questioned the group on who would operate and maintain the facility. Members of the group said that ultimately, it would be a city facility but that they have discussed a number of ways to provide for the upkeep of the facility.

In other action, the council waived the three readings and

Utility gets award for outstanding work in economic development

The Wayne municipal utility received an award for outstanding work in economic development during the Wholesale Partners Annual meeting on July 16 in Valentine.

Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) presented awards to its electric wholesale customers that performed well in three categories during 1998.

The City of Wayne received the Peak Performer Award in Economic Development.

"Wayne has a strong long-term commitment to economic and industrial development," said Dennis Grennan, NPPD Senior Vice President of Customer Service.

In 1998, Wayne officials led efforts to assist with the expansions of Builders Resources, DV Freytec, Great Dane Trailers, Heritage Homes, Pacific Coast Feather Companies / Restful Knights and Homestead Homes and Homestead Capital.

Wayne also successfully recruited Ameritas Life Insurance Corporation's dental claims processing center, which may eventually employ 200 persons to the community.

Grennan handed the award to City Administrator Joe Salitros during the ceremony. "We're proud to be an economic development partner with the City of

Arrests made in Country Club burglary

The Wayne Police Department recently arrested Anthony Mrsny, 18 and a 15-year old juvenile for the May 8 burglary at the Wayne Country Club.

As a result of investigation, officers were able to recover a large amount of money that had been stolen during the burglary.

Anthony Mrsny was formerly charged with Burglary in Wayne County Court on July 22. The 15-year old suspect was also charged and a hearing will be held to determine whether his case will be transferred to juvenile court.

Police investigate accidental death

On Friday, July 28 the Wayne Police Department investigated an accidental death.

Orin Zach, 52, was accidentally killed while working on an air conditioner in the basement of a Wayne residence.

Zach, a flight instructor and pilot, had been manager of the Wayne Municipal Airport until his retirement from that position in 1997.

A complete obituary can be found in today's Herald.

Wayne County Fair begins next week

The finishing touches are being put on both the fairgrounds and the activities for the 77th annual Wayne County Fair.

Fair dates this year are Thursday through Sunday, Aug. 4 to 8.

The Wayne County Ag Society had a new building put up for the cow-calf pens on the northeast edge of the fairgrounds. In addition, a number of clean up activities will take place on Monday, Aug. 2 beginning at 6 p.m. Members of the community are encouraged to help with the clean up. Those wishing to help are asked to bring lawn mowers, weed trimmers, brooms and cleaning supplies.

Most of the exhibits at this year's fair will be brought to the fair on Wednesday with activities beginning Thursday.

For the first time at the Wayne County Fair, Two Wild Events Bull Riding will take place on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

On Friday morning, employees of Country Nursery of Wayne will be providing a 'hands on' demonstration of landscaping on the south side of Agricultural Hall.

The annual barbecue will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday. It will be followed by the Talent Show at 8 p.m. and a teen dance with music by the Hitmen, Inc. at 9:30.

New to the fair for 1999 will be the Timberjack Series. They will have shows on Friday at 2 and 6:30 p.m., on Saturday at 9 a.m. and 1, 5:30 and 8 p.m. and on Sunday at noon, 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The group features professional competition in events such as log rolling, tree topping, chopping, cross-cut sawing, axe throwing, obstacle pole racing and racing hot saws. Prior to each show, the Timberjack events will be held for those who would like to try log rolling or cross cut sawing.

Saturday's events include a local tractor pull beginning at noon, horseshoe pitching, a horticultural demonstration by four Master Gardeners from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. The Sanctioned Tractor Pull with the Nebraska Bush Pullers begins at 7 p.m. on Saturday and a dance with Complete Music will be held in the Little Theatre begins at 9 p.m.

On Saturday and Sunday, free health screening will be provided

WSC Music Camp concert open to public

Students from northeast Nebraska and northwest Iowa communities such as Wayne, Norfolk and Sioux City, Iowa will perform on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, July 30 and 31, for the conclusion of the Wayne State College 55th Annual Summer Music Camp.

Performances will take place in Ramsey Theatre in the Peterson Fine Arts Building.

"We are pleased to present this opportunity, which allows us to introduce the public to the talented individuals attending WSC Music Camp," said Dr. Jay O'Leary, WSC professor of music and director of Music Camp.

Friday performances will begin at 5:30 p.m. and include various ensembles, jazz bands, swing choirs and vocal jazz choir.

Student performances in orchestra, concert band, wind ensemble, band, women's chorus and mixed choir are planned for the concert on Saturday at 1 p.m.

The WSC Music Camp involves students who will be entering the ninth grade through graduating high school seniors.

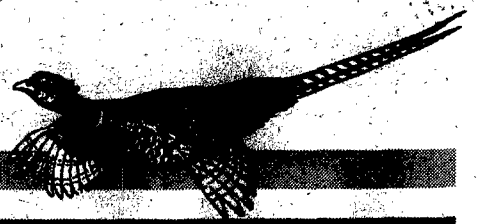

For more information, please contact the Fine Arts Division at (402) 375-7359.

Local man sentenced

On July 7, Darrell W. Piper Jr., 24, of rural Wakefield, was convicted of Attempted First Degree Sexual Assault in the Wayne County District Court.

Judge Robert Ensz sentenced Piper to four to six years in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex.

The charges against Piper resulted from the Wayne Police Department's investigation into a sexual assault reported on Sept. 18, 1998. He had originally been charged with First Degree Sexual Assault and Burglary.

Orval Brandstetter

Brandstetter is recognized

Orval Brandstetter of Wayne received recognition as a 50-year member of the Abu Bekr Shrine Temple in Sioux City, Iowa.

Orval was a member of the Harold Lloyd class of Nov. 19, 1949, along with 299 other members. He was presented a certificate and a 50-year pin along with two other men. Making the presentation was Potentate Allen Jensen of the Abu Bekr Shrine Temple.

Brandstetter became a member of the Abu Bekr Shrine brass band in 1958 and in 1980 and 1981 he was secretary of the band.

He has been very active in the Shrine to help young people who need the help of the Shriner's hospitals.

North Platte museum gets quilt as gift

Marvin Dunklau of Wayne recently presented the Lincoln County Historical Society Museum in North Platte with a quilt.

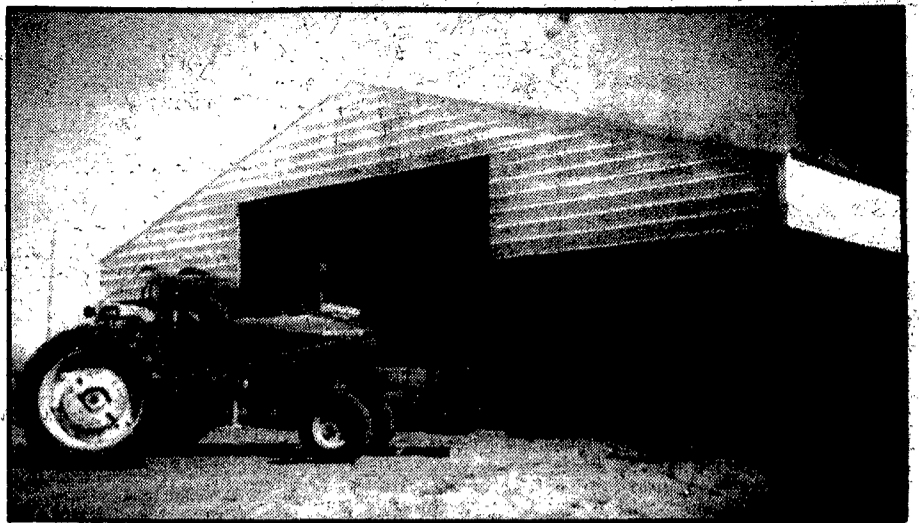

The quilt was one that Dunklau had won in the raffle in the 1960's.

Dunklau, a retired cattle buy, had frequently bought cattle in the Mullen, Tryon, Arthur and Flats areas. On one of his trips he also bought a raffle ticket for a quilt which was made by the Helping Hand Club.

The quilt features the names and brands of a number of early settlers and ranchers in the Sandhills area.

When presenting the quilt to the museum, Dunklau said he felt that this is the area where the names and brands are most familiar.

The quilt now provides a backdrop for this season's exhibit in the sewing and hand-work exhibit.

Fairgoers will see a new sight at the Wayne County Fair this year. A 50 x 120 foot building has been built by Dave Sievers and sons of Wayne with the county doing the dirt work. The project was started in June of this year and finishing touches are now being applied. The building will be used as a cow-calf barn during this year's Wayne County Fair which is set for Aug. 4-8. Open Class 'Feeder Class' will be held in the building on Saturday, Aug. 7 and 'Pen of Three' will be held there on Sunday, Aug. 8.

passed Ordinance 99.7 which will amend the municipal code relating to the electrical code. The ordinance will be adopted for use in Wayne residential projects, effective Sept. 1, 1999.

No action was taken on a resolution which would establish electrical rates for the city's electrical customers. Additional time is needed to clarify wording in the resolution. The item will be brought up again at the council's next meeting.

The council also set a public hearing date for Tuesday, Aug. 10 at 7:35 p.m. for proposed amendments of the fiscal year 1998-99 budget.

A Look at Social Security

A 1999 Perspective on Social Security (Part 4)

Last December, President Clinton convened an attention-getting White House Conference on Social Security. This year, both the president and congressional leaders have talked repeatedly about the system's problems. Still, near-term action isn't certain. Why? The principal obstacle is that the system won't be confronted with a crisis for 30 years. Tough decisions are always easy to put off.

The main problem with Social Security is that the number of retirees will expand rapidly in coming decades. Simultaneously, the number of workers providing retire benefits, cannot continue — at least at the same tax rates and benefit levels.

Although raising employment taxes by about one-third or cutting benefits by the same amount would solve the problem, neither is acceptable politically. Nor is some combination of the two. While either or both might be adjusted marginally, the solution will depend mostly on other alternatives.

Two potential major changes have received much publicity. The first would use general tax funds to provide a portion of the benefits. The other would invest a portion of Social Security taxes in the stock market.

General tax funds, mostly individual and corporate income taxes, somewhat surprisingly have become a viable alternative. That's because for the first time in 30 years, the federal government now expects a small surplus in the non-Social Security portion of the 1999 budget. More importantly, surpluses are projected for a decade or more. The congressional Budget Office pegs them at $99.6 billion through 2009. The White House Office of Management and Budget expects the total to be even higher.

A problem with this approach is that income tax revenues go up and down with the with the economy. Even the most sophisticated economic models precisely anticipate a recession. Competing claims to the potential surplus also are being voiced: Some members of Congress want to use it to reduce the federal debt or tax rates. In addition, I expect some policymakers to be philosophically opposed to shifting Social Security from employment taxes to income taxes. Employment taxes are limited to wage, salary and self-employment earnings. The income tax base is much broader and more progressive. Some who pay employment taxes pay little or no income tax and vice versa.

The stock market may seem an attractive alternative because the real inflation-adjusted return from common stocks has averaged about seven percent annually since 1926. This is roughly three times the return from U.S. Treasury securities in the Social Security Trust Fund. However, stock prices are much more volatile than treasury securities. Moreover, critics worry about problems that could develop with either government or individuals choosing investments. If the government invests, charges of favoring to certain companies could occur. But many individuals have neither the experience nor inclination to make stock market decisions.

In the end, the response to Social Security's funding problems will likely be multi-faceted. Bottom line: Changes should be the least painful to as many people as possible.

Close-Up program deemed a success for another year

Dear Editor,
Democracy is not a spectator sport: for it to survive and flourish, must all become involved. This is the message I heard from 775 Nebraska high school students representing 60 area high schools who recently participated in the Close Up Foundation government studies program in Washington, D.C.

For a full week, these students had the opportunity to develop a better understanding of our democratic process. By observing Congressional proceedings, questioning journalists, and meeting with government advisors, the abstracts of history and the process of governing were transformed into concrete experiences. In addition, students were able to share their views with their peers from other areas of the country.

Participants can't help but return home with a deeper awareness of their responsibilities as citizens and the realization that a single individual can make a difference. Their enhanced enthusiasm for involvement in the democratic process is to be lauded and admired.

The Close Up experience was made possible through the strong support of parents and educators. Also, various companies and organizations make Close Up fellowship funding available to students in financial need. These sponsors include The David and Lucile Packard Foundation and Union Pacific Corporation.

On behalf of Close Up, I would like to thank all those who helped in the coordination and funding of this year's program.

Congratulations given to teams

Dear Editor,
On behalf of the Baseball Association of Wayne, I would like to congratulate the American Legion and Midget Baseball teams.

Both teams brought home second place trophies from the District Tournament held in Blair. The City of Wayne can be very proud of their performance.

Both teams competed very well

Capitol News

Good and bad news given

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Good news and bad news from Lincoln these days.

There was good news for those who can afford to breathe the exotic air in one of those hot-sytotsy Memorial Stadium skyboxes.

Those folk will get a tax write-off that would be at least as impressive to most of us as a skybox view of the refurbished Tom Osborne Field.

The tax benefit comes in because the price of a skybox is counted, in part, as a contribution to the university. It has been ever thus. For some reason, when Nebraska got into the big bucks for big comfort business, the feds decided to question whether the tax break should apply.

The bad news landed far from Memorial Stadium, and directly in the lap of Rod Bates, head of the Nebraska Educational Television Network.

It seems that NETV was among the PBS affiliates that parted with lists of its contributors. The lists went to a variety of groups that also solicit money. Coincidentally or otherwise, it appears that most of the groups, which got the list, tend to lean more to the political left than the political right. The situation led to the usual finger pointing on the Potomac.

The worse news, for NETV honcho Bates, was that he initially announced that the Nebraska station had not been involved in the list trading scenario, for which other stations around the country were criticized. Bates' misstatement was an honest one; he corrected the record immediately upon learning that NETV had done what 50 or so other stations did — traded lists with other organizations. Sources say Bates' face was a livid, living color.

There is a silver lining in Bates' cloud, however. The Legislature has already approved the $60 million NETV needs to go to high definition technology. One could count on the debate being a very extended one if the issue were up in 2000.

Disclaimer: Some of you know that I have for years hosted the Nebraskans Ask program for NETV. Believe me, there is no conflict in my writing about the station's faux pas. For one thing, Bates no doubt wishes that people would stop writing about it. For another, I have no idea if I will be back on NETV this fall. I'm usually advised a few days before the season starts!

Some more of what is probably bad news for Attorney General Don Stenberg (Republican), whose wish is to be U.S. Sen. Don Stenberg.

Incumbent U.S. Sen. Bob Kerrey

(Democrat) went his own way (which is not a bulletin) and voted for the tax cut proposed by Senate Republicans.

Kerrey's independence in such matters has deprived political opponents of a ton of what would otherwise have been partisan fodder.

You know. The old: "My opponent voted in lockstep with his party to deny the taxpayers blah, blah, blah..."

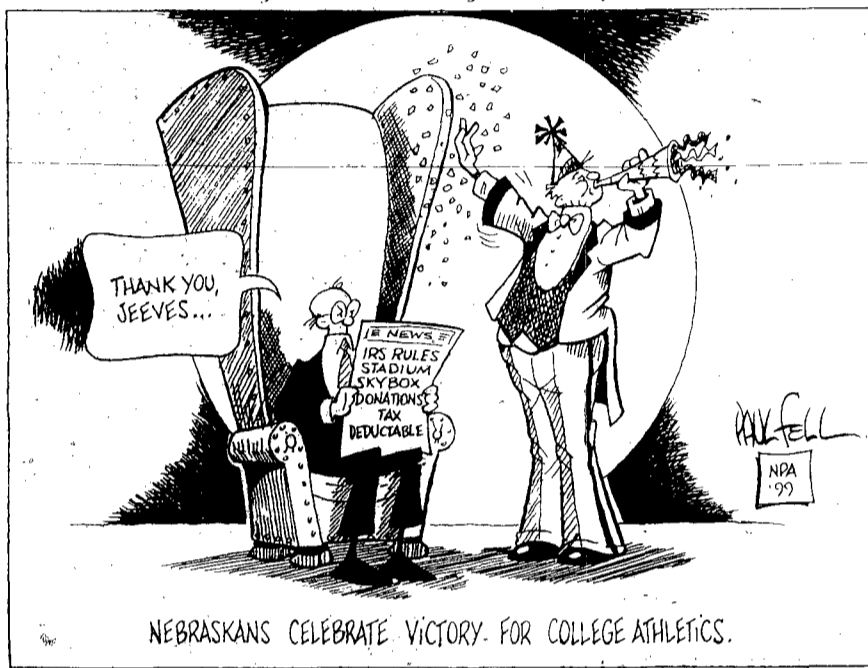

Kerrey voted in committee for a GOP plan to cut taxes by $792 billion over a decade.

The Nebraska lawmaker was quoted as saying: "We've got $3 trillion more coming in over the next 10 years than we need. If we had a net balance over the next 10 years and I proposed a $3 trillion tax increase, people would think I'm crazy. I just can't make a case that we can't afford to cut income taxes by $800 billion. I think we should."

Perhaps a good news angle for Stenberg can be found in reports that Chuck ("I hit where they sit!") Sigerson is going to finish out his term as head of the state GOP.

From a strictly nonpartisan view, reporters (especially the hairspray and microphone crowd) have a darling in Sigerson, who pops off entertaining one-liners at the drop of a Democrat's name.

Korean vet to bring display to county fair

Jack Guthrie of Odessa, a veteran of the Korean War, will have a display of material from the Korean War at this year's Wayne County Fair.

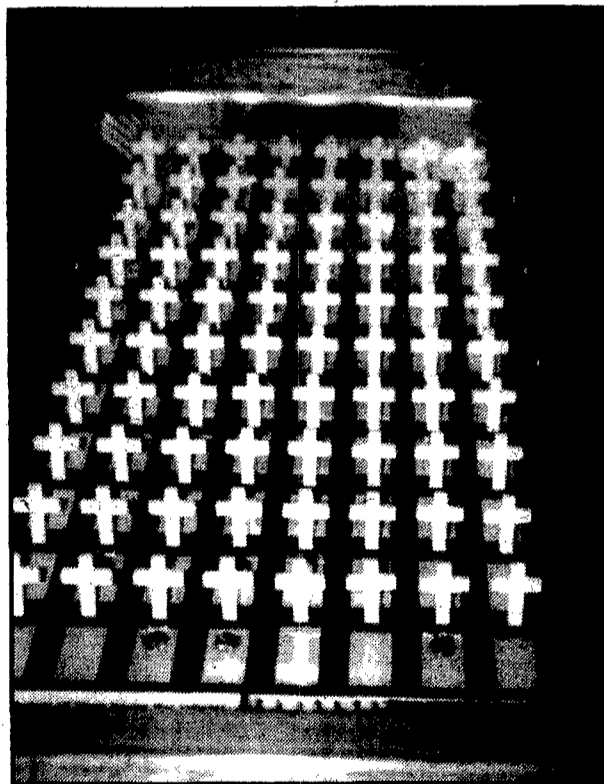

Guthrie was a member of the only Nebraska platoon to ever join the U.S. Marine Corps as a group. He served three years, achieving the rank of sergeant and returned to Nebraska following the end of the war.

Several years ago, after being forced to take early retirement for medical reasons, he got the idea for the Korean memorial exhibit.

He then located the platoon members and family members of those fellow servicemen who had died.

The display he created includes an oak display case. The name of each of the 75 platoon members from Nebraska is shown on a gravestone in the display case. Guthrie has placed a miniature gold wreath with a tiny red rose and blue ribbon on the gravestone of the 23 deceased members. He plans to add a gold star to the grave of each Marine who died in action.

Recently Guthrie began working to acquire a military photo of each man who served in the First Platoon.

Jack Guthrie has put together a Korean War memorial that will be on display at the Wayne County Fair.

Local musicians participate in marching band

Scot Saul, son of Elaine and Roger Saul of Wayne and a student at Wayne High School; Melinda Fleeer, daughter of Jane and Robin Fleeer of Hoskins and a student at Winside High School; and Alaina Lynn Bupp, daughter of Vicki and Richard Bupp of Allen and a student at Allen Consolidated High School all participated in the fifth Masonic All-star Marching Band recently.

These three area students joined over 220 other high school students from across Nebraska, who on the weekend of July 24, were members of the fifth Masonic All-Star Marching Band.

Following four days of practice, the Masonic All-Star Marching Band led the Shrine Bowl Parade on July 24 in downtown Lincoln, played at the reviewing stand during the parade, and presented a half-time show during the Shrine Bowl Football Game in Memorial Stadium on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus.

Hosted by the Nebraska Masonic Grand Lodge, the band was directed by John DeStefano, Neal Schnoor, and Brad Weber. Saul received a scholarship from Wayne Masonic Lodge No. 120; Fleeer received a scholarship from Wayne Chapter No. 194, Order of the Eastern Star; and Bupp received a scholarship from Golden Rule Masonic Lodge No. 236 of Allen.

"The past week was a rewarding experience for the youth," commented Dwight Smith, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Nebraska. "The students received four days of excellent instruction from the band directors, and will return to their communities with some very good marching band training which will serve them well in their high school bands. In addition, they spent a very enjoyable time interacting with fellow band members."

Besides their parade and half-time performances, the band members were treated to a dance, "jamming" with members of the Shrine Band, a pool party, a picnic at Centennial Mall and a movie.

The Grand Lodge of Nebraska represents approximately 18,000 Master Masons in 164 lodges across Nebraska. Freemasonry is a benevolent, educational and charitable organization, which provides $2.1 million per day in charity through its appendant bodies. Vows of morality, belief in God, and freedom of choice in religion and political persuasion bind Master Masons together.

One of Gene Kelly's greatest dislikes as a child was dancing. From the age of seven, when his mother insisted he take tap dance lessons, other children would taunt him. By the end of his career, Gene Kelly felt quite differently. He said, "I wish I had done more dances. I had more ideas in me."

Midgets bow out in finals

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The Wayne Midget-Legion baseball team had their season ended sooner than they had planned after falling to Pierce in the championship game of the Area Tournament last Friday in Blair.

The Midgets jumped out to an 11-3 lead on Pierce only to fall by a 14-13 margin.

Brad Hochstein was tagged with the loss after pitching one inning in relief of Adam Jorgensen who went the first 3 2/3 innings. Eric McLagan pitched the final 2 1/3 innings.

"We ended up walking eight batters and six of those crossed home plate," coach Chad Metzler said. "We can't afford those kinds of mental mistakes in big games."

Metzler felt his squad shot themselves in the foot for giving Pierce the opportunity to climb back into the game after being down eight runs in the fourth inning.

Pierce cut the gap in half in the fourth inning but Wayne still held an 11-7 lead. The visitors on the scoreboard however, scored seven times in the fifth inning to take a 14-11 lead—aided by a grand slam home run.

Wayne scored twice in the bottom of the sixth inning and had the tying run on third base with two outs but could not get him home. Wayne went down in order in the bottom of the seventh inning, ending the season with a 23-7 record.

Wayne out-hit Pierce by a 13-11 margin led by Brad Hochstein with a double and two singles while Craig Olson had three singles.

Shane Baack tripled and singled and drove home four runs while Ben Meyer doubled and singled. Adam Jorgensen singled twice and Eric McLagan had one base hit.

For the season Wayne had six batters over the .300 plateau with Brad Hochstein leading the way at .434. Craig Olson had a solid season with a .402 batting average while leading the team in runs batted in with 30.

Ben Meyer netted a .392 batting average in the lead off position and he set a new unofficial Midgets record for stolen bases with 62.

He was on base more than any other batter as he was walked 35 times during the season—15 more than his closest teammate.

Adam Jorgensen sported a healthy .386 batting average and Jason Gangwish was at .359 while Shane Baack finished with a .354.

Jorgensen led the team in total hits with 34 while Hochstein and Olson had 33 each.

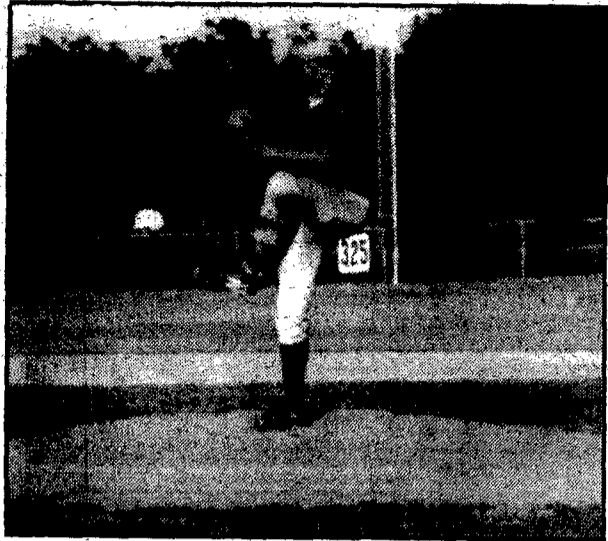

Baack led the team in triples with five while Jayme Bargholz had three homeruns to lead Wayne. In fact, Bargholz was the only player to knock a ball over the fence. Ben Meyer led the team in doubles with seven.

Adam Jorgensen was 8-2 from the mound and Eric McLagan, 6-2 while Brad Hochstein was 5-1. Jorgensen struck out 83 batters and McLagan, 77. McLagan had a team low earned run average of 2.10.

"These guys had a great season," Metzler said. "One of the best in recent Wayne history."

Adam Jorgensen pitches to a Pierce batter during the championship of the Midgets Area Tournament in Blair last Friday. Wayne was upset by Pierce, 14-13 after leading the contest at one stage, 11-3. The Midgets finished the season with a 23-7 record and Jorgensen closed out the season with an 8-2 record from the mound. He struck out a team high 83 batters while notching an earned run average of just over three.

Wayne Midgets pitcher Eric McLagan led the team in earned run average this season with a 2.10 ERA.

The Wayne Junior Legion baseball team closed out season play in the finals of the Area Tournament in Blair last Friday night.

Wayne fell to Pierce by a 14-4 margin. Had the local team defeated Pierce, it would have forced a second championship game since Pierce had gone through the tournament unbeaten in the double elimination format.

Dan Nelson was tagged with the loss after pitching 2/3 of an inning. Ryan Dunklau pitched for 2/3 of an inning before Darin Jensen threw the rest of the contest.

Wayne managed to tie the game at four after an inning and a half but Pierce responded and took the lead for good in the bottom of the second inning.

Wayne was out-hit by a 12-6 margin with Brent Tietz and Dan Nelson each netting two singles while Cody Niemann and Rob Sturm had one base hit each.

"We ended the year with a 27-9 record which is pretty remarkable," coach Jeff Zeiss said. "Five of our nine losses were to Pierce, a very good ball team which no doubt proved they were the best team in our district."

Zeiss however, was very proud of this year's team which received some valuable pitching from Ryan Stollenberg with an 8-2 record while Darin Jensen went 9-3. Rob Sturm had three pitching victories as did Dan Nelson while Ryan Dunklau and Dusty Baker had two each. Stollenberg however, led the team in earned run average with a 1.46.

"These kids did everything we asked of them and then some,"

Zeiss said. "We won a lot of close games and the guys really had a lot of confidence in themselves."

Zeiss credited his assistant Brian Lentz for his work with the pitchers as well as the 13 members of the squad:

Rob Sturm, Ryan Stollenberg, Ryan Dunklau, Dan Nelson, Darin Jensen, Scott Reinhardt, Cody Niemann, Matt Clausen, Erick Lutt, Brent Tietz, Jeremy Dorsey, Dusty Baker and Mike Sturm.

On the season Wayne had four players over .300 in batting averages led by Rob Sturm—an Iowa Western baseball recruit with a .426.

Dan Nelson belted a .366 average and Matt Clausen, .351 while Ryan Dunklau was at .326.

Sturm led the team with runs batted in with 30 as well as total hits, 46. He shared team honors with Matt Clausen and Darin Jensen with six doubles and had one of the three home runs hit by Wayne with Ryan Dunklau and Matt Clausen also belting one homer each.

Longest Day of Golf to be held Aug. 6

WAYNE—The annual Longest Day of Golf will be held on Thursday, Aug. 6 at the Wayne Country Club as four high school aged golfers play as many holes as they can from sun-up to sun-down to raise money for the American Cancer Society.

American Cancer Society programs serve patients, support cancer education projects in Wayne and further cancer research conducted in Nebraska according to Wayne event chairman Rod Hunke, a member of the local Jaycees.

"We urge anyone concerned about cancer to support the golfers in this event by signing a pledge card or by contacting the country club at 375-1152," Hunke said. "Those wishing to donate a flat fee are encouraged to do so."

Hunke said those wishing to donate can also call him at 375-2541.

Don't overlook the impact of federal income taxes on your savings.

Healthy May Benefit from Cholesterol-Fighting Medicines

Reuters News recently interviewed Dr. Richard Pasternak, a member of the Prevention Committee of the American College of Cardiology. Dr. Pasternak indicated that healthy persons may benefit from cholesterol lowering medicines. He noted a study of Dr. Antonio Gotto at Cornell University who tested lovastatin (Mevacor[®]) in 6,605 men and women with average cholesterol levels and no evidence of heart disease.

Lovastatin use was associated with 35% reduction in unhealthy LDL cholesterol and a 6% increase in beneficial HDL cholesterol. Persons given lovastatin reduced their risk of first heart attack or unstable angina by 37%. According to the interview, "Exercise and diet can also bring cholesterol down, but Americans tend not to exercise or eat as well as they should, so drugs may be their best option."

Local students participating in summer cooperative training

Justin Davis of Wayne and Chris Nelson of Carroll are participating in Northeast's cooperative internship education program this summer. Both are automotive technology students at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

Davis will be working at D & N Service in Wayne. He is the son of Will and Sue Davis of Wayne. Nelson will be working at Tom's Service in Pierce.

Cooperative education, which is a partnership between the student, business and industry, and education, provides on-the-job training for students in a position related to their major field of study and career goals.

Students are not relegated to just summer internships, and businesses in Norfolk. They can work throughout the year, and with any employer wishing to participate in the program. Northeast students are currently interning with employers throughout Northeast Nebraska, and various other states.

Internships are usually done after a student's first year of college. Several benefits are available to employers who hire cooperative education interns.

It gives employers an opportunity to preview candidates for permanent employment, train potential employees, reduce their costs of recruiting and training employees, create closer ties between the business world and the educational community, and increase their company's visibility in the community.

Students receive on-the-job experience prior to graduation, exposure to employers in their field of study, exposure to career alternatives before graduation, access to facilities and equipment not available on campus, college credit, and a salary while learning. Students are usually paid at a wage rate corresponding with their training and experience.

The cooperative internships are a requirement for Northeast's technical programs.

When it's possible, summer cooperative education students work 40 hours per week. However, arrangements can be made for fewer hours if necessary. Students who do their on-the-job training during the fall and winter semesters need to work a minimum of 10 hours per week.

Employers interested in participating in the cooperative internship education program, or students wishing to enroll in Northeast programs, should contact Northeast Community College at 1-800-348-9033, or (402) 371-2020.

Meyer joins U.S. Army Reserves

Jeremy A. Meyer has joined the United States Army Reserve under the Delayed Training Program at the U.S. Army Recruiting Station in Norfolk.

The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay reporting for basic military training for up to 270 days. An enlistment in the Reserve gives many new soldiers the option to learn a new skill, serve their country, and become eligible to receive more than $7,000 toward a college education and $20,000 for repayment of college loans.

After completion of basic military training, most soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career specialty.

The recruit qualifies for a $5,000 enlistment bonus.

Meyer, a 1997 graduate of Wayne High School, will report to Fort Knox, Ky., for basic training on Aug. 16.

He is the son of Margie K. Meyer, and Robert A. Meyer.

NO BLUEPRINTS? NO SALE!

Imagine trying to build a new home without a blueprint. When completed, if ever, the home is likely to represent somewhat less than an architect's dream. Selling your home requires a blueprint too - something called a marketing plan.

The initial steps include a careful evaluation of the home's condition, followed by a market analysis to determine the most likely sale price range.

Advertising and promotional activities soon follow, with each targeted to attract the most likely buyers. These activities may include newspaper and magazine ads, open house events, mailing campaigns, and direct contact with qualified "prospect lists."

Qualification of buyers to determine their ability to complete the purchase falls in the category of "quality control." Follow-up by the agent insures a completed transaction with an on-time moving day.

Please call to discuss a marketing plan tailored for the sale of your home.

TO PARTICIPATE IN KIEWIT INSTITUTE
Josh Henderson has been selected as one of 40 of Nebraska's high school sophomores to attend the Academy of Excellence sponsored by the University of Nebraska's new Peter Kiewit Institute of Information Science, Technology and Engineering. An Institute's Academy of Excellence held in Omaha July 25 and concluding July 30.

In addition to meeting other gifted and talented students from throughout Nebraska, participants have the opportunity to work during the week with a teacher from their school, Susan Tyler, computer instructor at Wakefield, has been invited to attend with Josh.

The Institute represents unique collaboration between the University of Omaha's new College of Information Science and Technology and business and industry. The result is an education opportunity, second to none in the nation, according to the Peter Kiewit Institute Organizers, in high demand fields that pay starting salaries in excess of $50,000 per year.

Participants attend the Institute and all activities at no cost as all is donor funded.

The week includes seven student/teacher workshops and a bus tour of Omaha and the Henry Doorly Zoo. There is a variety of evening activities including IMAX Theater, Jungle Tour, SAC Museum and Western Heritage Museum.

Josh is the son of Tom and Marcia Henderson of Wakefield. He will be a junior at Wakefield High School this fall and works part time at The Fair Store.

RECEIVES KSU SERVICE AWARD

Dennis Sherer, an alumni of Kansas State University, recently received the institutions Distinguished Service Award. He is the husband of the former Vicki Carlson and son-in-law of Elmer and Corrine Carlson of rural Wakefield.

Not only does Sherer have many professional accomplishments and a wide and varied background in his field, he is very active in community service. A couple of his projects include Pioneer Park Nature center in Lincoln, Folsom Children's Zoo and Camp Catron plan in Nebraska City. He is an advisory for the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum, on Ecological Committees and is active in a number of organizations related to his profession, in addition to other boards and societies.

NEW CAMPING EQUIPMENT

The Wakefield Boy Scout Troop has new camping equipment thanks to a donation from the M.C. Waldbaum Company and an Omelet Feed fundraiser last fall.

Present recently at Wakefield Park to inspect the equipment was Dave Sty, a representative of the Waldbaum Company. Scoutmaster Cheryl Roberts, who expressed appreciation to the company for the $500 contribution towards the equipment.

Also present were scouts Donald Odens, Joe Brown, Daniel Oswald, Daniel Simpson and Clint Roberts. Other members not present were Josh Soderberg and Brian Schwarten who were at a ballgame.

Also purchased were two larger leader tents.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS

The Wakefield Board of Education met in special session on July 12 in the boardroom. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss personnel issues.

In addition to the board members and administration, a large group of community members were also present. Guests on the agenda were: Keith Boeckenhauer, Bob Clough, Jan Johnson, Kevin Kai, Larry Athey, Bob Uhing and Gary Hansen.

Boeckenhauer addressed the board in regard to student grades, school morale, and the Wakefield Institute.

Clough spoke on substitute teaching in Wakefield and surrounding communities, the Wakefield Institute and the behavior and demeanor of Wakefield students.

Johnson shared with the board items from her recent trip to Washington to received the 1998 Award for Excellence in the Teaching of Mathematics and Science. She said the $7,500 check the school will be used for the improvement of science and or mathematics education in the class or at the school.

Kai presented observations of Wakefield's National Honor Society and proposed changes to raise the status of NHS. In addition, he told of speaking to students and teachers concerning school punishment and morale.

Athey, of ESU 1, advised the board of on-the-job vocational training for seniors. He explained the grant, employer and transportation issues.

Uhing came to the board meeting at Mr. Moody's request to answer questions on special education early childhood. He explained the federal reimbursement and advantages to early help for children.

Hansen addressed the board concerning the student handbook and specific policy in it. He requested that parents and students be allowed to assist in revising the handbook.

Torczon presented the board with coaching assignments and scheduling for football through track for 1999-2000. He told of progress toward, and planning for lockers and team rooms.

Principals report: Mrs. Widner advised the board of proposed teaching positions in the elementary. She is currently interviewing for the ESL placement.

Mrs. Widner stated that six people from the school attended the Full-Day Kindergarten Conference "Planting Seeds for Success" held July 20-21 in Kearney.

Mrs. Surface reported that the high school schedule is ready for publication and the student/parent handbook is available for examination.

In addition, Mrs. Surface updated the board on the Vocal Music and Industrial Technology positions.

Superintendent's report: Moody stated that the school has received the grant money from the Gardner Foundation and the lease purchase-money for the building remodeling project. The completion of the project continues ahead of schedule.

Lastly, Moody reported on staffing and lunch and milk prices.

Committee reports: Labor relations: Kratke stated that the committee has been working on classifies staff name and duty changes.

Policy: Keim reported that policy committee has completed four sections: Board, Administration, Classifies Staff and Certifies Staff.

Building and grounds: Johnson presented specifics of the proposed community recreation center, possible financial burdens and upkeep, and the feasibility of a town meeting or a flyer to citizens.

Old business: They voted to allocate special education funds, in an account with the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, for services to be offered to Wakefield students through ESU 1, in the amount of $3,000.

New business: They approved to waive the option enrollment deadline to allow Bailey Echtenkamp to attend Wakefield Community School, contingent on the Emerson-Hubbard School Board's approval.

They approved to postpone the recommendations concerning students absenteeism until further information and documentation is reviewed.

They approved to table the approval of the student handbook's planner for the 1999-2000 school year.

They approved to change to the official board policy, as of this date, as recommended by the policy committee.

Administrative contracts and salaries were discussed.

EMERGENCY MEETING

The Wakefield School Board met in an emergency meeting on July 17 to accept the resignation of Secondary Principal Jeanne Surface. Surface, according to Supt. Mike Moody, has accepted an elementary principal position at Ogallala.

A search for a secondary principal began immediately, Moody added.

Supt. Moody said the other vacancies and openings are filled with the exception of the Industrial Technology position. The school has had only three applications for this position and none of the candidates accepted the offer of the positions, Moody added.

The vacancies due to resignations in the science department, English and instrumental music have been filled. Verbal commitments have also been made for the vocal music and English as a Second Language positions, Moody reported.

At the elementary level, the Principals position has been made full time. There will be two classrooms for each grade this year, Kindergarten through six, and according to Moody these teachers have all been hired.

Rooney named Career Service Director

Gail Rooney, a Wayne State College assistant professor, has been named the new director of the University Career and Employment Services office at the University of Kansas.

Rooney will start on Aug. 23. She succeeds Terry Glenn, who went on medical leave in 1998.

Rooney is an assistant professor in the counselor education program. She also coordinates the counselor education master's degree program in Northern Iowa via distance-learning media and traditional classroom experience. In addition, she was instrumental in developing the distance-learning program for Wayne state.

Previously, Rooney was director of career and counseling services at Briar Cliff College in Sioux City, Iowa. She was later promoted to vice president for student development.

Her track record includes coordinating academic and career service components; presenting workshops and seminars on personal and career development, career decision making, job searching and developing career related internships.

Rooney earned her doctoral degree in counseling psychology from University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. She received a master's degree at George Williams College, Downers Grove, Ill., and a bachelor's degree from the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Amoxicillin Still Best For Ear Infections

Drug resistance has become a problem because of antibiotic misuse. The over treatment of ear infections has been a big contributor. So the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention worked out treatment recommendations. The old standby antibiotic Amoxicillin is still the best first-line treatment but at double the standard dose. If your child is not better in three to five days it is recommended that your child be re-evaluated.

Coast Guard Academy competition to be held

The United States Coast Guard Academy is now accepting and processing applications to the Class of 2004. Appointments are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional nominations or geographical quotas.

Applications must be submitted to the Director of Admissions prior to Dec. 15, 1999. Candidates must arrange to participate in either the SAT I or ACT prior to or including the December 1999 administration.

Appointments are based on the candidate's high school record, performance on either the SAT I or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school activities, community service and part-time employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and have demonstrated proficiency in both mathematical and applied science.

Candidates must be unmarried at the time of the appointment, have no legal obligations, and must have reached the age of 17 but not 23 by July 1, 2000. Candidates must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 2000.

Coast Guard cadets obtain an excellent undergraduate education at no personal expense. In addition, they receive pay and allowances for living expenses. The academy curriculum emphasizes engineering and science, leads to a Bachelor of Science degree, and establishes a solid foundation for a challenging career. Graduates of the Academy are commissioned as Ensigns in the United States Coast Guard.

Making the presentation was Jackie Yasak. Shelby would like to thank all those who purchased cookies from her, allowing her to reach her goal.

Grant allows UNMC to establish nursing program in Norfolk

The University of Nebraska Medical Center College of Nursing in Omaha has received a three-year, $900,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services to deliver the family nurse practitioner program to Norfolk and Beatrice. The program will make it possible for students to earn a Master's of Science Degree in Nursing by taking most of their classes through a computer, without commuting to a UNMC campus.

Kathryn Fandt, D.N.S., associate professor, UNMC College of Nursing and coordinator of the family nurse practitioner program, said the grant will make it more convenient for nurses in and around Norfolk and Beatrice to become family nurse practitioners-completing most of the typical classroom work through a computer. This allows students the flexibility to study when it's convenient for them and eliminates regular commuting to campus in Omaha. It takes around two-and-a-half years to complete the program full time, she said.

Starting salary for nurse practitioners in Nebraska is $50,000 to $55,000, said Dr. Fandt, a family nurse practitioner for 23 years. "Our graduates get jobs. There are probably more jobs than graduates."

There are currently UNMC nurse practitioner programs in Scottsbluff, Kearney, Lincoln and Omaha. The new program requires a faculty member for each site to work with the students in classroom and clinical areas, space for a multi-media room, laboratory rooms, exam tables and equipment.

Computer specialists will provide technical direction and support to students. Faculty will work with local physicians and nurse practitioners who will serve as preceptors or mentors to the students. In addition, an internet site will be developed for connecting practicing rural family practitioners and students to provide professional support and mentoring for isolated students, Dr. Fandt said.

Nurse practitioners are registered nurses who have completed academic and clinical work through a master's degree in nursing, which includes 600 hours of clinical experience working with a physician or nurse practitioner. Family nurse practitioner services include health care maintenance such as physicals, annual women's exams, well child and pre-natal care. They also manage conditions such as infections and asthma as well as chronic health conditions such as high blood pressure and diabetes.

Local practitioners have collaborated with physicians who treat patients with more serious conditions.

Students will be able to study to campus for their course work. Now they won't have to come in as often," Dr. Fandt said. She said studies will periodically drive to campus to discuss case students and meet with their faculty adviser.

The program also will give students the opportunity to use multi-media products such as the Internet and CD-ROM, which contain physical images and sound, Dr. Fandt said. She said the technology focus not only enables them to take course work from their hometown, but also exposes them to future ways of delivering health care via telehealth-also referred to as telemedicine.

"We want to make sure students are getting classroom and clinical experiences so they have these skills. Nurse practitioners can be the first point of contact for the patient and need these skills so they are comfortable with technology."

Telehealth uses computer, video and audio technology for transmission of patient information from remote areas to a health professional's office or medical center for assessment. The grant will fund two telehealth consultants.

In 1992, UNMC started the first nurse practitioner program in Nebraska. Since then, 108 family nurse practitioners have graduated from UNMC. The increase of nurse practitioners is important in addressing the shortage of primary care health professionals in 70 of 93 counties in Nebraska.

"A lot of the needs of patients in rural communities are well within the capabilities of a nurse practitioner or a physician assistant. The more serious cases can be referred to a physician. This uses the health care team most efficiently," Dr. Fandt said.

For more information about the program, call 402-559-6566 or 559-4120.

Loberg achievement winner

Beth Loberg of Carroll has been recognized by the United States Achievement Academy as a United States National Honor Roll Award winner.

Beth, who attends Wayne High School, will have her name appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook.

"Recognizing and supporting our youths more important than ever before in America's history."

Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

Beth is the daughter of Dan and Kris Loberg of Carroll. She is the granddaughter of John and Marilyn Anderson of Wayne.

Merlyn Rauss original member Music group inducted into Rock 'N Roll Hall of Fame

Merlyn "Doc" Rauss of Wayne, an original member of the Teen Rogues band, played July 16 and 17 with the band at the sixth annual Nebraska Rocks concert held at the Ramada Inn in Norfolk.

The group formed during the late 1950s and was among others being inducted into the Nebraska Rock 'N Roll Hall of Fame. Performing with them were former Teen Rogues members Gary Budde of Norfolk, Ed Loewe of Fremont, and Harry Pokorny of Howells.

Back in the '50s, when rock music swept through the Midwest, Rauss, who was from Pomeroy at that time and high school student Gary Budde and Dave Gates of Wisner formed the Teen Rogues, one of the first rock bands in the area. The Wisner Livestock Show was the setting of their first show. Budde was on lead guitar, Rauss was on rhythm guitar, and Gates was on drums.

where the drums fell over and the group nearly fell off the wagon. But, he remembers the crowd loved both the band and their music in spite of their shaky start.

Ed Loewe and Dick Kuhlburg joined the band in 1959 replacing the late Dave Gates on bass. Late in '59, Kuhlburg left for the military and Harry Pokorny of Howells replaced him. Dale Kudlac of Pender also joined the band for a brief time.

Booking the Teen Rogues back in 1960 was Denny Steckler of Hooper along with C & M Enterprises of Sioux City, Iowa. The band was booked three to four days a week. Helping make them popular in the Midwest was their "Rock a Billy" style of music. The group earned a spot at the Rhythm Festival held at the Sioux City Auditorium.

The group was active until 1962 when it disbanded and members joined other bands including the Classics, the Royal Monarchs, The Kimberlys, and the Larry Marik Quintet.

Other area inductees this year include several music stores in Norfolk during the early Rock 'N' Roll years. Behmer's Music Center was among those music stores inducted.

It's fair time!

By Amy Malchow
Extension Educator,
4-H and Youth

What does this actually mean to a 4-H family? It definitely means more than going to the fair and exhibiting. It has a lot to do with the amount of time and dedication already spent with many projects.

It means spending time working with family, friends and club leaders to make sure that one has met all the guidelines necessary to bring an exhibit to the fair. It is learning responsibility.

The 4-H'er has already been enrolled in the project for many months, attended club meetings and completed club projects. Some have even attended special workshops, camps or trainings in the county or out of the county, to learn more about their project and what they can continue to do to make it a learning experience. 4-H really is all about learning.

In 4-H the main focus is life skills. Knowing a little more about each of the Four-H's can help one easily see how life skills are a focus and how they apply.

The first H stands for head. In 4-H one learns how to think critically and solve problems. One example of this that was just recently completed was the 4-H Family and Consumer Science Judging contest. At this event 4-H'ers were able to use the knowledge that they have gained from their projects and apply them to everyday situations. 4-H'ers may also participate in a Livestock Judging Contest at the county fair.

respect oneself and others. It may be by showing sportsmanship in the show ring, or by helping prepare the fairgrounds for the fair. They can use their heart to communicate to others what they actually learn in 4-H.

Hands — One can understand there are any things that 4-H'ers may use their hands for. For example, preparing an exhibit, completing a community service project such as painting park benches or things at the fairgrounds, or volunteering at a local community event. In many ways they are gaining hands-on experience for a future career.

Health — 4-H'ers also learn much about making decisions and managing change and challenges in their life. Many 4-H'ers are involved in any other youth activities, which also share their time and talents. By being involved in these activities, 4-H'ers learn how to have a healthy lifestyle and prepare for future.

The Four-H's of 4-H are the backbone of the program and why youth actually choose to be involved in the program. It is definitely more than the fair and the ribbons, but the fair is one special way that 4-H'ers can show others what they have learned. The most important part of the program is the life skills that 4-H'ers are gaining.

It is working with others at the fair and being confident in what one has spent so much time and effort on, that will actually help the 4-H'ers succeed in many aspects in their lives, not only during the county fair but in the future.

The 4-H members invite the community to come and share with them at the fair, they are proud of what they have done and we can all be proud of positive youth efforts.

See you at the fair!

SUMMER LEAGUE SUCCESSFUL

Wayne State College provides a Summer Volleyball League for members of area teams. Allen participated again this year with both a Junior Varsity Team and a Varsity Team.

The Varsity Team consisted of Stacey Martinson, Shannon Koester, Rachel Stallbaum, Jessica Bock, Elizabeth Bock, Kristin Hansen, Melissa Wilmes, Alicia Liebsch, Angela Prohaska and Michelle Marks.

Eight teams competed in the six week program: Wayne, Winside, Bancroft-Rosalie, West Point, Emerson-Hubbard, Neligh-Oakdale, Homer and Allen.

A single-elimination tournament was held on the last day in which Allen's Varsity was seeded second. First round, Allen played Neligh-Oakdale. Upon winning they next played Bancroft-Rosalie, and finally went on to play Wayne; the only team Allen had lost any sets to during league.

Allen was able to win in two sets: 15-13 and 19-17. This put them as winners of the Summer League program and went home with the prize of Wayne State College t-shirts.

The Junior Varsity team consisted of Sarah Sweeney, Jennifer Smith, Leslie Book, Andrea Swetnam, Kristin Tomlinson, Rachael Strehlow, and Katie Koester. They too were seeded second going into the tournament but were not able to pull off the win against the tough Wayne and West Point teams. The winner of the JV tournament was

Building a new church

Twenty-eight members of Our Savior Lutheran Church and the Wayne community recently returned from a trip to Rocky Boy Indian Reservation in Box Elder, Mont. The group helped build a new church for the Chippewa Cree Indian Nation and participated in other mission projects on the reservation. Those participating included Dreama Anderson, Erin Arneson, Alan Bruflat, Kathy Burke, Gene Fletcher, Jack Hausmann, Byron Heier, Harlan Heier, Miron Jenness, Pastor Bill and Valerie Koeber, Keith and Cheryl Kopperud, Verna Kopperud, Kenneth Kopperud, Emily Lutt, Stefanie McLagan, LaVern and Arlene Ostendorf, Dick and Nancy Powers, Bryan and Nancy Reinhardt, Michelle Richling, Cornell Runestad, Jewell Schock and Rowan and Twila Wiltse.

Special events are planned in August

First Trinity Lutheran Church of Altona has announced several activities taking place during the month of August.

Church services on Sunday, Aug. 1 and Sunday, Aug. 8 will be held at 8 a.m. rather than at the usual 10:15 a.m. Also, there will be no Sunday School during the month of August.

Members of the congregation will also be having a booth at the Wayne County Fair. Set up will be Wednesday, Aug. 4 beginning at 6:30 p.m. Everyone from the congregation is encouraged to attend.

On Sunday, Aug. 15 members of the two Wayne County branches of AAL will hold a joint meeting at Our Savior Lutheran Church.

The "Without Violence" program will be presented by a local law enforcement official. The program is being presented before the school year begins in light of the number of school violence incidents in the recent past.

Following the presentation, the group will make sundaes. Bars will also be served.

Everyone in the two branches is invited and encouraged to attend.

Heartland Counseling Services thanks church

Our Savior receives token of appreciation

Stanley M. Reiss, Ph.D., Director Clinical Psychologist for Heartland Counseling Services of South Sioux City and Michelle Meyer of Wayne, coordinator, gave an engraved clock in appreciation to Our Savior Lutheran Church for providing office space to them to conduct counseling services for many years.

Mental Health services have been provided in Wayne for the past 30 years with Reiss coming to Wayne around the past 23 years. He has made the trip to Wayne around twice a month providing emotional and mental support to children, adolescents, and adults. Wayne is a satellite for the South Sioux City business.

During his years of commuting to Wayne, those at St. Paul's Lutheran Church (now Our Savior Lutheran Church) were helpful in providing office space and assistance to Reiss to continue his services. Reiss had his office mainly in the lounge area in the older part of the church.

"We want to express appreciation to those at Our Savior for their generosity; they were very accommodating," Reiss said. "They truly are the 'Welcome Place.'"

Meyer has been serving the capacity of coordinator for the past 11 years.

Stanley M. Reiss, Ph.D., Director Clinical Psychologist for Heartland Counseling Services of South Sioux City and Ms. Michelle Meyer of Wayne, coordinator, recently presented a clock to the pastors of Our Savior Lutheran Church as a token of appreciation for providing space at the church for many years so Reiss could conduct counseling services in Wayne. Accepting on behalf of the church was, left to right, Pastor Bill Koeber, Pastor Paul Judson, and Pastor Martin Russell, holding the clock.

Reiss has also been a consultant to Wayne State College Counseling Center for around the past nine years.

Heartland Counseling Services will be moving to the Mineshaft

Mall in Wayne and will expand their services to include substance abuse, non-residential evaluation of teens, and also community support services. There will also be psychological consultation services available as well. The new address of Heartland Counseling Services is Suite #115 at the Mineshaft Mall (near Shear Designs). Anyone with questions can call 375-4413.

Soybean Field Days are planned at four locations

Nebraska Soybean Management Field Days, Aug. 10-13 at four locations, will offer farmers several opportunities to enhance soybean management skills.

The interactive learning events are sponsored by the Nebraska Soybean Board in cooperation with the University Cooperative Extension.

The field days are geared to help soybean producers maximize yields and minimize production costs, said Alex Martin, an NU weeds specialist.

"The overall goal is to bring usable, practical information to soybean growers so they can take it home and use it to increase profit," Martin said.

On Wednesday, Aug. 11 the field day will be held at the Doug Nelson farm, five miles north of the junction of Highways 15 and 35 in Wayne, one mile west and one-quarter mile north.

Topics to be covered include Understanding Precision Ag Today; Enhancing Soybean Value; Improving Your Sprayer Efficiency; and Maximizing Yield.

Interactive discussions, guest speakers' demonstrations cover each hour-long topic.

The free field days begin at 9 a.m. and end at 2 p.m. Lunch will be served.

Norm Husa, chairman of the Nebraska Soybean Board, says the event provides an opportunity for producers to see their checkoff dollars at work and how to take full advantage of this investment.

The research-based education is designed to help producers make decisions that can increase profits through best management and production practices.

Presentation Contest 4-H'ers participate

Three Wayne County 4-H'ers and one Dixon County 4-H'er participated in the 4-H Presentation Contest on July 15.

The contest was held at the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. Serving as judge for the event was Theresa Brockhaus of Jackson.

Results of the contest include:

JUNIOR DIVISION — Ginger Fleeer of Hoskins, with her presentation entitled "Beginning to End" and Stephan Garland of Ponca with his presentation, "Comparison of Power Sources," blue ribbons.

SENIOR DIVISION — Lindy Fleeer of Hoskins with her presentation entitled "Then and Now," and Steven Fleeer of Hoskins with his presentation, "Home on the Range," purple ribbons.

The top presenter in the Junior Division in the Family and Consumer Science area was Ginger Fleeer. She will receive a scholarship to Ponca Day Camp in 2000.

Top presenter in the Senior Division in the Family and Consumer Science area was Lindy Fleeer. Steven Fleeer was the top presenter in the Ag/Miscellaneous area. Both 4-H'ers will receive scholarships to ExpoVisions next summer.

Stephan Garland received a scholarship to ExpoVisions or any other 4-H sponsored camp for his presentation for the best electric topic.

Wayne County will send two representatives to the State Fair to present their presentations. Those representatives are Steven and Lindy Fleeer.

Feeling nostalgic about nursing school

This week has been the kind of weather that makes us think about living somewhere else: like the mountains! When they talk about a heat index of 110, I shudder; and park under a tree, even if I have to walk a couple of blocks.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

All the nostalgia about nursing school prompted me to dig out my old student uniform: pin-striped dress, and starched apron and bib. I keep them in my cedar chest, along with my all white graduation uniform. For years, I regretted not keeping my cape. I bought it from an upper-classman and sold it to a younger student when I graduated.

I asked about buying one through the alumni association. No one came forward. I didn't really need it, and I usually don't waste time on things I don't need, but I did keep it in the back of my mind. Friend Sandy must have had the smallest cape in the class because she's the shortest. She was an only child, growing up in Virginia, Nebraska, and both parents were deceased. She lost track of her cape. They were beautiful: full-length, navy wool, lined in red, with the initials, LCH, on the stand-up collar. They were also warm. Some of my classmates had their capping pictures taken with them over their uniforms. Going to Hoskins on July 2, we had actually left early enough to have some spare time, which almost never happens. North of Fremont, on 275, we had noticed a sign for an antique shop in Nickerson. We decided to check it out. A long, old two-story building on the main street, next to the bar, said ANTIQUES. There was barn siding on the front, very high tin ceilings inside. The Big Farmer started a walk-through, checking prices with a practiced eye. He found the steps to the second floor and disappeared. I took my time, looking at dishes and glass ware, admiring the refined furniture. Then I saw it, hanging on the back wall, clean, with no moth holes: a navy cape. It even had LCH on the collar. The dealer had purchased it at an estate auction at Hooper, he was willing to bargain, but he could see I wanted it. I paid too much, I admit it. And my family will have to get rid of it someday. But it's hanging in my closet, and I plan to wear it this fall. And Sandy's? Her cousin found it, in a bunch of quilt fabric left by Sandy's mother. She had it cleaned and took it home to South Carolina. She plans to put her uniform, and the cape, on an old dress form she has. Guess I'll have to look for a dress form now. This could turn into a never-ending quest.

Free Irrigation Well Nitrate Testing Now Available

NORFOLK - The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District has again hired FFA teachers to collect water samples this summer. However, if landowners would like to collect the sample themselves, the NRD will pay for the cost of the analysis.

Water Resources Manager, Rick Wozniak, said "We want to encourage landowners to participate in this program because of the benefits they will receive by knowing the amount of nitrate in their water. Nitrates in irrigation water can be used to lower fertilizer costs."

Landowners interested in collecting their own samples from their irrigation wells should contact their local county Extension Office, their local Natural Resources Conservation Service or the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District and pick up a 5 oz. bottle and postage paid mailer from one of these agencies.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD will pay for the cost of shipping and analysis of the sample.

Guidelines for the FREE irrigation well nitrate testing program include:

- 1) Sample is to be taken only from irrigation wells
- 2) The well should pump 4 to 6 hours before taking the sample.
- 3) Try to sample when not chemigating
- 4) If chemigating, take the sample upstream of the chemigation injection site
- 5) Send the full 5 oz. bottle of water in to be tested, not just a partial bottle.
- 6) Please fasten all lids securely to prevent leakage during shipping
- 7) The sample needs to be received by the lab as soon as possible after collection, preferably within 24 hours. Try to collect the sample so that you can mail it early in the week (on a Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday), so that it does not sit in the Post office over the weekend.
- 8) If it is not possible to send the sample to the lab immediately after collection, refrigerate until it is sent.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD will provide you with the results of your sample and an explanation of the results.

This program will be available this year and in 2000. For more information contact Skip Kahler at the Lower Elkhorn NRD.

WAYNE STATE COLLEGE

NEBRASKA

VICE PRESIDENT FOR DEVELOPMENT

Wayne State College and the Wayne State Foundation are seeking an experienced professional to assume responsibility for all aspects of fund raising and alumni relations. The Vice President also serves as the Executive Director of the Wayne State Foundation. A first ever national fund raising campaign was concluded in 1994 with $1.5 million having been attained. A second national fund raising campaign is entering the second of three years with a goal of $5 million for scholarship endowment, campus beautification, and unrestricted dollars.

Wayne State College has rapidly emerged into one of the most dynamic, small regional public colleges in the Midwest. Strong leadership, record enrollment growth, a renewed focus on student development and teaching, and several major building projects are indicators of the College's vitality. The College enrolls 4,000 students and is located in a community of 5,000 in northeast Nebraska. Wayne is located 50 miles west of Sioux City, Iowa and 100 miles northwest of Omaha.

The successful candidate should possess a minimum of a masters degree in a relevant field, a minimum of five years of progressively responsible administrative experience, a record of accomplishment in fund raising, preferably in higher education, and the ability to manage and provide leadership for a comprehensive development program. Candidates must also possess a proven record of success in the identification, cultivation, solicitation and stewardship of major gifts.

Review of applications and nominations will be accepted until the position is filled, but to be assured full consideration, inquires should be received before August 30, 1999. During the initial phase of the process applicant names will be kept confidential. Applications and nominations may be mailed or sent electronically to: David Ley, Chair, Vice President for Development Search Committee, Wayne State College, 1111 Main Street, Wayne, NE 68787, FAX (402) 375-7204, or e-mail: lelausen@wscgate.wsc.edu.
