Cooks to speak on experiences in China

Pat and Tom Cook of Wayne spent nearly a year in China and have now returned to Nebraska to talk about their experiences.

The couple lived in Hangzhou, China, two hours southwest of Shanghai by train. They taught 12-14 hours per week for two 20-week semesters and also did approximately one months' work of fulltime help editing a new textbook for the teaching of English to nonmajors at Chinese college and uni-

All students graduating from a Chinese institution of higher learning must pass a test showing proficiency in writing, reading and listening to English

"In order to get jobs in many businesses in China today, it helps to be able to speak English as well."

"Hangzhou is a beautiful modern city of 1.7 million people, frequented by tourists. It was also the capital of southern China in the 900's," Pat

In addition to enjoying the sights around "beautiful West Lake" in the city, the Cooks found two very beautiful places a few hours south, visited mostly by Chinese tourists -Thousand Island Lake and Anglers

The Cooks also toured Shanghai. Nanjing and places in between during a two week trip at the time of the Chinese New Year.

The couple developed many close friendships among teachers, students and business people wishing to improve their English. They also met a group of students interested in learning Broadway musical songs from Pat and Tom in a lounge especially for English students in the center of Zhejiang University where they taught

The Cooks taught science and technology students, mostly enaineers and English majors as this .. a key university similar to MIT. These students have been learning English since seventh grade or 'junior middle school."

The Cooks were on Hangzhou TV three times, mostly because of their regular Sunday morning attendance

On Tuesday, Oct. 12 she will give a program on Chinese medicine, village economics and handcrafts of China at the home of Pauline Lutt for the Klick and Klatter Club.

On Thursday, Oct. 14 Pat will play

Wayne Senior Center. Following lunch she and Tom will present a slide show about Hangzhou, which is a tourist city in China. The program will have a "travel" emphasis, but will also include music.

Pat will also make a presentation at her home at 1004 Aspen Street on Monday, Oct. 18 at 7 p.m. for American Association University Women.

The emphasis of this program will be on "Teaching English in China" and Wayne State College English as A Second Language students are encouraged to attend.

Guests will be served light refresh

"Since anyone can teach English conversation and writing with a bachelor's degree in anything at all, it is an appropriate program for AAUW. This is because being a college student pursuing a bachelor's degree or already having one are the only requirements for membership in AAUW," Pat said.

The Cooks will also be giving a program entitled "We Found Love in China" at the Sioux City Unitarian Church at 2508 Jackson Street on Sunday, Nov. 7 at 10:30 a.m.

Petitions under scrutiny

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Candidates, and those of a mind to push a petition for a ballot issue, have something to look forward to in the coming election year.

Something besides the usual platitudes and promises, statements of intent and sloganeering.

The Nebraska Supreme Court is looking at a pair of cases that involve issues central to campaign financing and the state's ever-controverisal petition process.

The Legislature enacted a measure requiring certain groups to show their cards before they actually play them. That is, organizations that plan to dump what is usually a wad of money into a campaign are required by the statute to let the world know, more than a month in advance, how much they expect to

There are several ways to look at the purposes of this plan.

One is to view it as an early warning device for the candidate who is NOT going to get the money.

Once the Committee for the Kind of Government We Want files a notice of planned expenditures, the opposing candidate would, at the least, have a great shot at a press noses to make a statement, the release.

"The special interests are coming! The special interests are coming! That type of thing:

You will never meet an interest that isn't special to someone. Usually, special interest means the people who are supporting your opponent. "Concerned citizens" are

Attorney, General Don Stenberg

A comparatively moderate fine would be imposed on those who exceed the estimated expenditure. That means that, if the donors' pockets are deep enough, the estimate can be exceeded. Then, like an NBA player who likes to break donors can say, "Oooops! Sorry. Uh, here's your money."

The other case being examined by their honors of the high court has to do with the standards to be used to determine when a signature on a petition is invalid:

The question is whether it is too strict. Stenberg thinks it is.

cases, legislative proposals to change the process, and more court

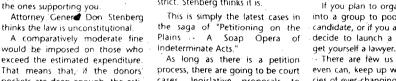

It would be stretching it to say that these cases offer a lesson to be learned

There is, however, a point to be

If you find yourself among those who get in the "I'm mad as hell, and I'm not gonna' take it any more" mode, and then decide to get politically involved, take heed.

If you plan to organize your pals into a group to pool money for a candidate, or if you are the latest to decide to launch a petition drive,

There are fèw us who have, or even can, keep up with the intricacies of ever-changing statutes, rules and court decisions.

Wayne State notches its first win on Homecoming

By Missy Pavilsh For the Herald

Homecoming festivities on the campus of Wayne State College were capped by Kevin Haslam's Wildcats football team notching the season's first win with a 35-28 win over Minnesota-Crookston.

The 1-4 'Cats recorded their first ever victory in Northern Sun Conference play.

Junior running back Elroy Brown showcased his talents to the tune of a career-high 228 yards rushing and three scores

Brown scampered 58 yards to paydirt on the 'Cats second play from scrimmage which proved to be the only scoring in the first quarter.

Both teams scored a pair of touchdowns in the second stanza as WSC buit a 21-7 lead on a Jaime Jones one-yard plunge and Brown's one-yard scamper.

WSC led 21-14 at the intermission and managed to score the third quarter's only touchdown on a 25-yard pass from Jones to Chaka Smith for a 28-14 advantage.

The visiting Golden Eagles scored twice in the fourth quarter to tie the game at 28 following drives of 70 and 80 yards.

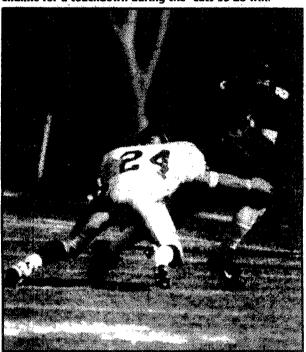

The 'Cats however, got a special teams delivery from Chaka Smith who rambled to the Eagles 31-yard line on the kickoff following the tying score.

Brown finished off the short drive with an eight-yard run at the 4:36 mark of the final period.

His 228 yard performance was three yards shy of the all-time record for a single game set by Still, Crookston had time and the ball. Kirk Steffensen intercepted a pass however, to thwart any idea of an Eagles game-tying score with just over 20 seconds remaining.

Steffensen's interception came at the 'Cats 34-yard line and he returned it 58 yards to the Crookston eight-yard line.

"It was a great win," Haslam said.
"The defense came up big for us.
They had two stops at the end of the game which netted us the win.
Our offensive line did a great job of blocking and of course Elroy
(Brown) ran hard."

The Wayne State mentor said the defense deserved to come out a winner and the win should provide some much needed confidence.

While Brown was busy rushing for a career-best 228 yards, quarter-back Jaime Jonesquietly moved into second place on the all-time passing chart as WSC, surpassing the 5,000-yard mark.

Jones was 16-25 through the air for 178 yards and has 5,165 total for his career.

With six games remaining he needs 752 yards to break the all-time record of 5,676 set by Ed Jochum from 1982-85.

Jones already holds the career pass completions record (475) and is 24 pass attempts .shy of total attempts record (949) set by lochum.

"There's still work to be done," Haslam said. "We just have to keep plugging."

A well-balanced offense chalked up 251 yards on the ground and another 216 through the air.

Chaka Smith and Tavaris Johnson had five receptions each in the contest with Smith 79 yards and Johnson, 67. JaQuay had four receptions for 42 yards.

Defensively, WSC was led by Mike Baker with 12 tackles with Antonio Jackson netting 11 and Kirk Steffensen, 10. Ronnie Blair taflied seven stops and also had an interception.

WSC will travel to play Moorhead State on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The Dragons are 3-2 on the season and are coming off an impressive 20-14 win at Minnesota-Duluth last Saturday.

WSC defeated Moorhead State last season by a 26-7 margin.

1949 Football Team, Emery Inducted in to Hall

WAYNE—One individual and one team were inducted in to the Wayne State College Athletic Hall of Fame during Homecoming festivities last week. Inducted at the annual almuni banquet was longtime coach and administrator Don Emery and the 1949 football team.

Emery was involved in numerous aspects of the athletic department from 1946-1960. During his tenure, Emery was the head coach of five different varsity sports. In addition, he served as director of athletics for 12 years and as chairman of the Health and Physical Education Division for 10 years.

Emery is credited with starting two varsity sports. He started the box ing program in 1946 and was the team's head coach until 1950. Competing against several Division I schools, the Wildcats won several conference titles. In the 1950's, Emery began the cross country program. He served as its head coach for four years.

Emery also spent 12 years as head coach of the track and field teams, as well as one season as head men's basketball coach. In addition, he coached the football during the 1946-47 seasons.

The induction of the 1949 football team was a surprise announcement for team members, who had gathered during Homecoming for a 50year reunion. The team made history by compiling a perfect 9-0-0 record. This team is still the only undefeated and untied team in WSC history. In addition, the nine victories is still a single-season record, which was matched by the 1993 squad.

The Wildcats, under the direction of coach Jack Wink, featured a highpowered offense and a stingy defense. The team averaged 24-plus points per game. Defensively, the 'Cats surrendered just 7.5 points per game. Only three teams reached double figures against WSC

WSC's perfect season was in jeopardy in the final game of the season The 'Cats trailed Doane College at halftime before scoring two second-half touchdowns to win, 20-13. The win also secured the Nebraska College Conference championship for the 'Cats.

The Caring Kind Employees of the Year is a time-honored tradition of the NAHHS, which began 19 years ago as a campaign to recognize the the sick and injured in hospitals throughout Nebraska. Hospitals across the state select a Caring Kind recipient from within their respective institutions.

"So many of the individuals in the health care field are deserving of recognition because of their tireless efforts to help patients feel at home while visiting the hospital," said Harlan Heald, President of the NAHHS. "The Caring Kind Employees of the Year represent the people who put the word 'care' in health care. Their hard work and dedication serves as an inspiration to us all.

The NAHHS is a voluntary organization that supports and encourages its members to develop various health care delivery systems that are accountable to their communities and oriented toward community health improvement.

Birthday celebration

The Wayne Elementary recently celebrated the building's 40th birthday. Events for the celebration included a visit from a clown, displaying student and faculty baby pictures, recognition of monthly birthdays and singing "Happy Birthday" to Wayne Elementary. Everyone relived the 1950's as the building was built in 1959. Staff and students went back in time by wearing 50's attire and listening to music from the 1950's while students dined at the Wayne Drive-In Cafeteria. On Friday an all-school picture was taken, the Chamber held a coffee in the gym. Birthday parties were held in each homeroom with games played and ice cream cakes served.

Source of Drinking Water Source of Drinking Water
The sources of drinking water-both tap water and bothed water) include rivers takes streams ponds, reservoirs, springs, and groundwater wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

The source of drinking water used by the City of Wayne water system is Groundwater.

Drinking water is provided by the Following WELL 541 located at North of 13th East of Pear WELL 651 located at North end of Douglas St. WELL 701 located at 174 mile West of golf course.

Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink. EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FOA regulations establish limits for confaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more jurified to confaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such in persons with cancer undergoing chemothertapy, persons who have undergoine organ transplants people with HIVAIDS or other immune system disorders' some elderly and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. ### Body condition scoring management tool for producers

Body condition scores (BCS) are numbers used to suggest the relative fatness or condition of the beef cow. The most commonly used system is the U.S. ranges from 1: to 9, with 1 representing very thin body condition and 9 representing extreme fatness.

A cow with a body condition score of five should be in average flesh. Each condition score represents around 70 pounds of body weight. Body condition scoring can be used by cattleman to make sure their nutrition program is on target for optimum reproductive performance (without breaking the bank on the feed bill).

Research at Purdue University has shown that only 66 percent of thin cows (BCS 1-4) are in heat within 90 days after calving. In contrast, 92 percent of moderate (BCS 5-6) and 100 percent of good (BCS 7 - 9)

cows were in heat within 90 days post-calving

Body condition scores are most critical for the young cows in the herd. Two, three, and four-year old cows need to be maintained at a 5 (preferably a 6 to 7 for optimum performance. Fat heifers (score 8 or 9) or thin heifers (score 1 to 4) are more likely to have trouble breeding

There are several times throughout the year to evaluate body con-

1. Mid summer- to determine when/if cows need supplemental

2. Weaning-this gives a producer an opportunity to sort the cows that will need additional feed from the cows in moderate/good condition. This way, only the cows that needed the extra feed will get it. 3. Sixty days before calving-it is much easier and less expensive to put weight on the thin cow while is is dry than after she calves. It also allows you to cut back on feed (and save money) if they are excessively

4. Calving- This will help determine whether management decisions made in the last 60 to 90 days before calving were effective. If you were trying to increase/decrease body condition on your herd, did you succeed?

5. Beginning of the breeding season- The goal should be cows that are BCS 5 or 6 at breeding.

Keeping track of cow BCS over the years can tell a producer if their nutrition program is on target. Comparing a cow's BCS at calving to other scores taken throughout the year can also help a producer spot trends before reproductive per-

The guidelines for each of the nine condition scores are listed

1. Bone structure of books, pins. shoulder and back is sharp and easily visible. There is no evidence of fat deposition and muscles are concave and showing evidence of atrophy.

2. Little evidence of fat deposition, but some muscling is percent in the hindquarters. The spinous processes are sharp and easily seen with space between them.

3. Some fat cover over back, loin and foreribs. Spinous processes may be identified individually by touch and may even be seen.

4. Foreribs are not noticeable but the twelfth and thirteenth ribs can be seen. Transverse spinous processes feel rounded rather than sharp when palpated and muscling in hindquarters is full but straight.

5. The twelfth and thirteenth ribs are not noticeable unless the animal has been shrunk. The transverse spinous processes feel rounded rather than sharp and are not visible to the eye. Areas on each side of the tail head are well-filled but not mounded.

6. Ribs are fully covered and not noticeable to the eye, Hindquarters are plump and full. There is noticeable sponginess over foreribs and each side of the tailhead.

7. Ends of spinous processes can only he felt with firm pressure. Abundant fat cover on either side of the tail head with evident patchi-

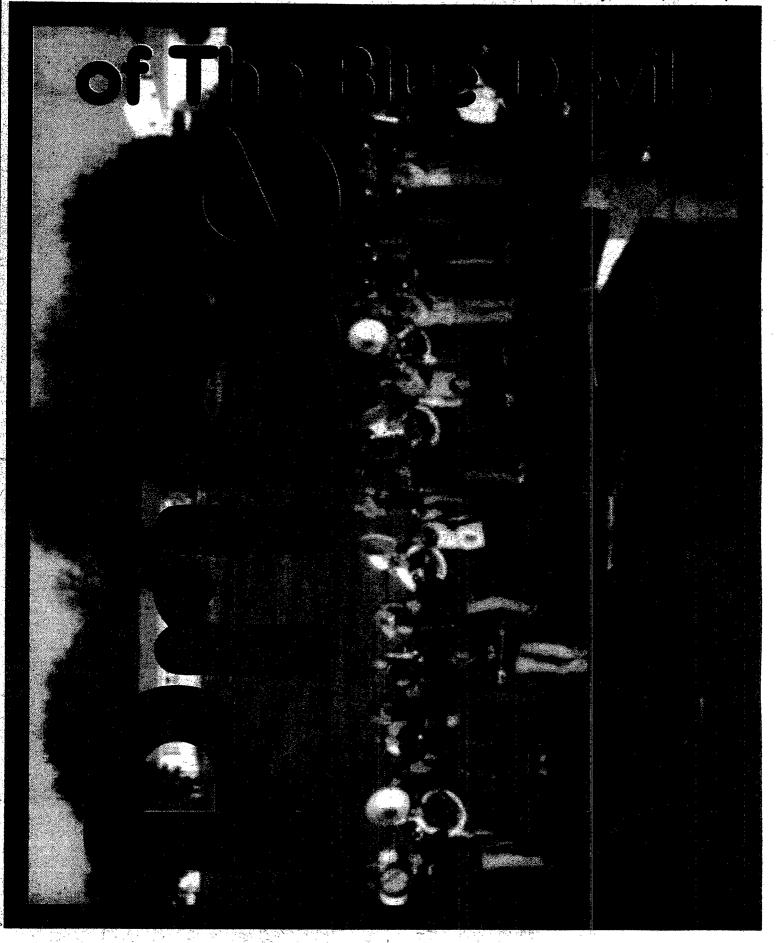

8. Animal is blocky in appearance. Bone structure is not visible to the eye. Fat cover is thick and spongy. 9. Bone structure is not seen or easily felt. The tallhead is buried in son next year.

fat. The animal's movement may be impaired by excess fat.

Example: Your calving season will begin in 70 days and you have some young cows that are BCS 4. You want to bring them up to a 6 before calving. To raise them from a 4 to a 6 will require a weight gain of 140 pounds in 70 days. This means they have to gain two pounds per day. Rations can be formulated to achieve this goal.

Correcting the condition of these young cows now will give them a better chance to successfully breed back at the same time as the rest of the herd. This management deci-sion doesn't affect the number of calves born this year, but has a lot to do with the number of calves born and the length of your calving sea-

Music is for a lifetime

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

Each morning the 154 members of the Wayne High School marching band and color guard take to the field to perfect the routine they will use during half time performances and marching competitions.

For some, their band involvement is limited to the four years they are in high school. For others, however, their involvement with music continues beyond high school.

April Beckenhauer, a graduate of Wayne High School is member of the Cornhusker Marching Band at the University of Nebraska -Lincoln. Miss Beckenhauer, a sophomore majoring in art education, plays the trumpet.

Tammy Teach, a 1995 graduate of Wayne High is currently one of the 50 members of the Nebraska Wesleyan Symphonic Band where she plays the alto saxophone.

Miss Teach attended Wayne State College or three years before transferring to Nebraska Wesleyan. During her time at Wayne State, Tammy worked with Brad Weber, band instructor at Wayne High School to produce a manual for the Wayne High School Marching Band.

"The handbook contains Wayne High School Marching Band rules but could be adopted to other schools. The manual contains stationary and marching steps and how to execute them," Tammy said.

Tammy is currently a senior at Nebraska Wesleyan, majoring in music education. She will begin her student teaching experience next semester at Crete Public Schools.

"At the present time the job market for music teachers is very good so I am hopeful that I will be able to find a teaching job in a school the size of Wayne High or smaller," Tammy said.

She credits her music with teaching discipline, as she practices two to three hours each day.

"Another aspect of my music is the fact that I have been able to meet a lot of people and have been able to travel, both with the Wayne State band and the Wesleyan band," Tammy said.

The Wesleyan Symphonic Band is scheduled to travel to Australia in the spring of 2000.

"Music is something anyone can participate in."

Tammy Teach

Members of the band have also traveled throughout Nebraska and Wyoming, meeting with music students in a number of high schools. In addition to being a part of the band, Tammy gives lessons in clarinet and saxophone each Saturday in Lincoln.

"Music is something anyone can participate in. It is a lifelong pasttime. Community bands are popular and welcome all who can play instruments, regardless of ability," she added:
