Kevin Haslam, head football coach at Wayne State College, resigned from his coaching duties effective at the end of the season, WSC Interim Director of Athletics Greg McDermott announced.

Haslam, who is in his third season as head coach of the Wildcats, will coach the team in its final two games of the season. The Wildcats play host to Minnesota-Morris on Saturday before concluding the year at Northwestern Oklahoma State on Nov. 13.

During his tenure, Haslam has compiled a 6-24 career record. This season Wayne State has a 2-7 overall record and a 2-5 mark in its first season in the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference.

"A lot of great things have happened here," Haslam said. "I've loved working with the kids. I will forever cherish the memories I have shared with the kids."

"I truly believe Wayne State is a special place," Haslam added. "I hope the program experiences tremendous success in the future."

Haslam became the 19th head football coach at Wayne State on Dec. 10, 1996 after spending the 1996 season as the Wildcats' offensive coordinator under head coach Dennis Wagner. Haslam previously coached on the Wayne State staff as a graduate assistant during the 1992 and 1993 seasons.

"We appreciate everything Kevin Haslam has done for Wayne State College and its football program," McDermott said. "We wish him the best of luck in the future."

McDermott also said a national search for a new head coach would begin immediately and could be completed by mid-December.

Nation celebrates Home Care Month

Providence Medical Center, in conjunction with other health care facilities across the nation, is celebrating National Home Care Month during the month of November.

Providence Medical Center's Home Health Care provides Skilled Nursing Care, Home Health Aides, Therapists and Social Services under the direction of a physician.

Personal Care Services are also available on a private pay basis for those who need help with ADL's.

"Providence Medical Center Home Health Care is here to help offer the support you need right in your home," said Terri Munter, Director of Nursing of Home Health Care.

"With today's changing trends in the health care system, the home continues to be an ever increasing choice and possibility for quality health care," Mrs. Munter said.

Skilled nursing is provided by registered nurses (RN's) or licensed practical nurses (LPN's). They perform a variety of skilled services including health assessments and teaching.

According to Mrs. Munter, "sometimes patients need a nurse to assess their recovery from surgery, report signs of complications to their physician and teach patients about their care."

"Patients with diseases such as congestive heart failure or diabetes may require help with adjusting new medications, monitoring the effects of these medications and need to be taught about their disease," she added.

The Home Health nurse can change dressings, provide colostomy care, assess wound healing and teach patients or families to provide the care independently.

IV therapy and pain medications can be administered by the nurse or drawing blood samples can be managed at home if the patient doesn't need hospitalization.

Medicare and insurance companies are finding this to be more cost effective in some circumstances. Nurses work under the physician's direction to develop a care plan to suit the patient's needs.

Home Health Aides help patients with difficult daily tasks such as bathing, preparing meals and light housekeeping. Sometimes aides provide a chance for the patient's caregiver to take a break.

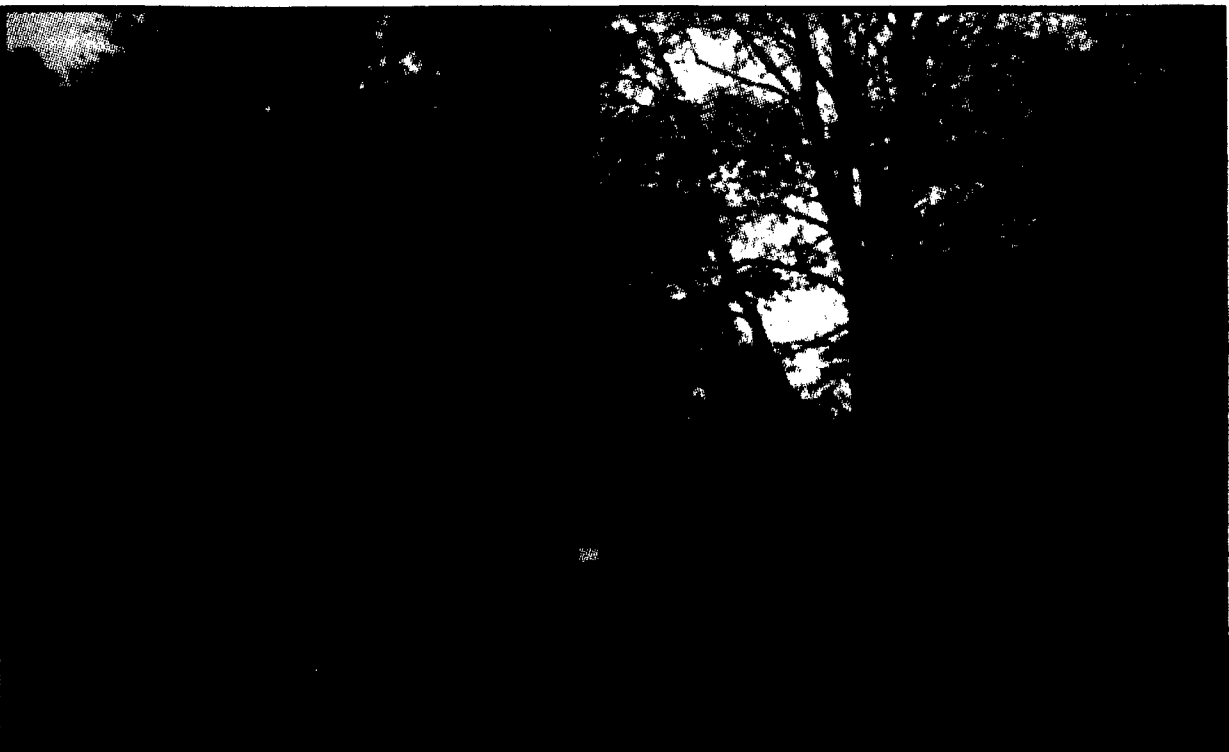

Speech, Occupational and Physical Therapists help patients under the direction of their doctor by bringing the therapy right to the patient's home when the patient can't get out for outpatient care.

Social Services are available for patients who need counseling or referral to community agencies.

Personal Care Services is a private pay personal care program employing mostly CNA's and LPN's

The purpose is to give quality care to people in their homes allowing them to remain home as long as possible and maintain independence and dignity. CNA's help with

NITEA holds annual conference at WSC on Oct. 29 and 30

By Sarah Mason

For the third time in the 1990s, the Nebraska Industrial Technology Education Association (NITEA) held its conference at Wayne State on Oct. 29 and 30.

The conference, which was entitled "NITEA-On the Threshold of a New Century," presents information to middle and high school industrial technology teachers. Many school sizes, located in rural or urban locations, were represented. The conference provides a forum setting and allows teachers to exchange ideas.

Greg Vander Weil, an Applied Science professor, said that having the conference at WSC "makes high school teachers aware of why they might want to send students to Wayne State for industrial technology."

It also shows teachers the many benefits that WSC can offer them by taking graduate classes, Vander Weil said.

There were also many seminars held during the two-day conference. One presenter, Marc Sommerfeld, was a 1970 industrial arts graduate of WSC. He is currently employed as the American representative for an Italian bit and blade company, CMT.

Sommerfeld is a well-known woodworker and he demonstrated how to create raised panels. He also gave teachers some suggestions for various woodworking programs that can be implemented in school systems.

Vendors also participate in the conference to promote their products and demonstrate new things in the industry. Two vendors, Gerald Brutsch from Stan Houston Equipment and Jack Lambert from Midwest Technology Products & Services, said that the conference allows them to acquire new contacts and show teachers the kind of products that are available.

In addition to the chance for teachers to learn from one another, the conference also provides an opportunity for award teachers and their programs. The winners of these teacher and program excellence awards go on to compete for national recognition at the International Technology Education Association (ITEA) conference, which will be in Salt Lake City this year.

The ITEA is a North American association that exists to promote technological literacy in our schools. Executive Director Dr. Kendall Starkweather came from Virginia to speak at the conference.

Vander Weil said that the industrial technology program at Wayne State is a "well-kept secret on campus." He said that the industry knows WSC by its national reputation.

"Our division is truly a regional college program on the edge of national distinction," he said.

The student-affiliated version of ITEA, Technology Education Collegian Association (TECA), also honors students. Two current WSC students received national recognition last year. Tim Thayer-Mencke, a WSC senior, was honored as the Outstanding Undergraduate Student in the nation. John Hankel, another WSC senior, received a $1000 scholarship.

Starkweather agrees that Wayne State is an excellent school with a wonderful Industrial Education program.

"Wayne State College is known as a solid teacher education institution in our field in the United States. It's got a long history of producing outstanding teachers," Starkweather said.

Starkweather also said that educating students to become teachers in the industrial technology field is very crucial. There is an extreme shortage, and teachers are in a large demand, guaranteeing jobs to anyone who is interested in becoming a technology teacher.

Starkweather graduated from a small school and a high school teacher influenced him to enter the education field.

"Teachers are extremely important because they can have a major impact on the lives of children," he said.

Starkweather spoke at the conference about what is going on in the technology industry. He said that national standards are being developed for industrial technology teachers.

These standards, which will be published in 2000, will help develop curriculum. It will take several years for the standards to be implemented in all of the school systems around the nation, but Starkweather said he thinks that their development is a very big step for the industry.

More than 4000 people around the world gave input outlining what students should know and be able to do in the technology area in four different levels-second grade, fifth grade, middle school graduate, and high school graduate. The standards created based on this information will be reviewed by the Academy of Science and the Academy of Academics. The National Science Foundation and NASA are funding the development of the standards.

Although the standards will be causing some changes, the technology industry is familiar with improvements.

Starkweather also discussed these constant changes in technology. "We are in a very important time in society right now with the Internet and sophisticated electronics," he said.

He also said that extraordinary teachers are involved and are always working to be better. He said that it is important to prepare teachers to be constantly learning and know where to go to find information. Being aware of changing technology makes people better consumers, decision-makers, leaders, and economically aware individuals, he said.

Starkweather said he believes that Wayne State is teaching their technology education students to be prepared for the constant changing that occurs in the industry.

"Wayne State College faculty are active on a national level, paying attention to what is going on in the world and making adjustments in their classes and labs in order to make cutting edge teachers," he said.

Cash Store Receives New Owners

On October 19, the Cash Store in Allen received new owners. Willie and Diane Bertrand took over the business from Kevin Hill. Kevin decided to sell his family's business after 44 years in the family. Keith and Gail Hill purchased the Cash Store September 1, 1998 from Bill Connell.

Keith along with his wife, Gail and their three children put in many hours over the years and with that dedication they were able to provide the community with the one of the best grocery stores in rural Nebraska.

They also provided employment over the years to many people, young and old. Upon the Hill's retirement in 1988, Kevin took over the business. He continued the business in the same fashion as his parents serving the Allen community.

When the store came up for sale, the community was anxious to keep the business open to insure the life of the Allen. Diane and Willie Bertrand stepped up to purchase the Cash Store. They along with the Allen Developmental Committee, a special grant, and private support were able to give the Cash Store new life.

The grant received will benefit and remain in Allen to support future business opportunities. Diane and Willie Bertrand are no strangers to the business community. Diane was co-owner of the Village Inn for 10 years and Willie ran a successful roofing business for many years. The couple along with their children will be involved in the daily routine at the store.

As a community, the Cash Store is one of the main businesses that help keeps Allen growing. The future of Allen and its High School is more secure as we continue to grow and adapt to changes.

CONVENTION TO BE HELD

The 64th Annual Convention will be held Wednesday, Nov. 11 at the Allen Firehall. The Guest Speaker is Lt. Col. Dick Fechter of the 185th Air National Guard of Sioux City, Iowa. At 4 pm, the ladies have their meeting. At 4:45 pm the group meets for tea and a meeting at the First Lutheran Church. The men's meeting will be at 5 pm at the Allen-Waterbury Fire and Rescue building. The banquet will follow at 6:30 pm. Tickets are available at the Cash Store.

World War II Veterans Honored

On Tuesday, Oct. 19, the late Boyd Ellis and the late Vernan Chase, World War II veterans, were honored by the American Legion Post of Allen and Allen Consolidated Schools.

Both veterans were awarded their high school diplomas. Neither Boyd and Vernan were able to complete the courses necessary to receive their high school diploma because they served in World War II on behalf of our country.

Their families accepted the diplomas on their behalf at a special ceremony. This ceremony is part of an effort by the American Legion to aid and honor those veterans that served in World War II.

Community Thanksgiving Dinner

Everyone in the Community is invited to attend the Allen Community Club Thanksgiving dinner at the Village Inn on Nov. 15.

All you need to attend is to sign up on the bulletin board in the lobby of the Village Inn so a count can be taken and plans made on how many to prepare for. Please plan to attend this community event.

Community Club

The Allen Community Club met on Oct. 18 at the Village Inn for dinner and meeting. Pres. John Werner called the meeting to order. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

Old business was discussed. Because the tree donated to the town by Eunice Diediker was too big to transplant, it will be cut down and used as the decorated Christmas tree in the town square.

It was decided to decorate it with the family stars made several years ago. Stars will be cut out and made available for families to re-make their stars and for those who did not make one in the past, to do so. All families in the Allen area are encouraged to go to the bank and look at their old stars, decide if they want to use it again or make a new one.

If families want to make a new one, decorated stars should be returned to the bank by Nov. 20. This was a successful endeavor during the centennial and is a good way to carry out the theme of Allen as "One Small Town, One Big Family."

This project will also serve as Allen's application to the NCIP's Family Friendly Community Award.

The gazebo decorating and kick-off for the Christmas season will again be held the Sunday evening following Thanksgiving. Six trees need to be replaced in the Historical Grove.

The November meeting will be a Thanksgiving dinner at the Village Inn. Everyone is invited to attend and is asked to sign the bulletin board in the Village Inn lobby so plans can be made on how many to prepare for.

Veterans' Day - a time to remember

Next Thursday, Nov. 11, will be the 81st anniversary of the armistice that was signed which brought to a close World War I. One year later, in 1919, this nation and others, paused and began an annual observance to remember the end of World War I, "that" war which was supposed to end all wars.

On Nov. 11, 1953 the people of Emporia, Kan. instead of an Armistice Day celebration held a "Veterans' Day" observance. Ed Rees of Emporia was so impressed he introduced a bill into the House of Representatives, to change the name of the observance to Veterans' Day.

On May 24, 1954, by act of Congress, the name of the observance was officially changed to Veterans' Day.

But we didn't always observe Veterans' Day on Nov. 11. Back in the 60's, President Johnson signed a bill which changed the date of Veterans' Day to the fourth Monday in October. This upset many veterans!

Thus, in 1977, 46 states re-designated Nov. 11 as Veterans' Day and it remains so today.

One question that younger people might ask today. "What is a veteran?" Simply put, it is an American who has served his country in time of war or conflict.

Since the American Revolution, more than 40 million men and women have served. More than 1,150,000 have died in the service of their country. Nearly half a million died in the Civil War, over 400,000 died in World War II (during WW II a total of 3,839 Nebraskans died).

At the present time there are approximately 157,500 veterans in Nebraska — 149,800 of them are men. The number includes 15,600 Persian Gulf vets; 49,900 Vietnam vets; 28,600 Korean vets and 37,200 World War II vets.

In Wayne County, figures from the Veterans Bureau list 720 veterans, 700 of them men. The Wayne vets include 70 from the Persian Gulf War; 270 who served during Vietnam; 140 during the Korean Conflict and 140 in World War II.

Today's World War II veterans, nationally, are dying at the rate of 1,500 per year and the average age of a World War II veteran is approximately 76 years of age.

Many Nebraskans who served during World War II never received a high school diploma, but through Operation Recognition by the Nebraska Department of Education and the Nebraska Department of Veterans Affairs, they can now do so.

Eligible vets will receive diplomas by showing that they served in the Armed Forces between Sept. 16, 1940 and Dec. 31, 1946 and that they were honorably discharged.

And it is nice to see that two World War II vets will be receiving their high school diplomas next week. Mal Nydahl, 82, of Winside will receive his next Thursday morning and John Hansen, 85, of Wayne will receive his diploma at 6 p.m. at the Ley Theater on the Wayne State College campus.

Earlier I had given a very brief definition of the word "veteran." Perhaps I should have used one as described some 15 years ago by Bonnaville Media Communications.

- A veteran is the first man up as the flag passes by and last one down.
- A veteran is a man of peace.
- A veteran is a friend to all races.
- A veteran is at once proud and humble: proud of the fact that in 200 years no foreign enemy has set foot on American soil and humble in the realization that many of his comrades never returned.
- A veteran loves freedom.

I am proud that I am a veteran. Although I never went overseas during the Korean Conflict, I served my country here at home for two years and had it been necessary for me to go overseas, I would have done so.

Currently I am the Public Relations Director for the Nebraska Department of the American Legion. Thus I am always happy to speak out, where ever I can, for our veterans, inside and outside of the American Legion.

So I hope that next Thursday, you will have the opportunity to attend a Veterans' Day program. If you can't, please pause sometime during the day to show respect for those who served to make our country the home of the free.

In closing, I leave you with these words from "Taps" which will be sounded so often around our nation next Thursday, Nov. 11:

"Day is done, gone the sun, from the lake, from the hills, from the sky.

All is well, safely rest, God is Nigh."

Thanks given for help with exchange

Dear Editor,

The first exchange between the Gymnasium Steinheim and Wayne High School has been completed and I believe it proved to be an enriching experience for everyone involved.

Now that the Steinheim students and their teacher have returned safely to their homes in Germany, it is time to say thank you and express my deep appreciation to everyone who made this exchange such a success.

The people of Wayne and Carroll were truly warm and generous hosts. I am hopeful that this exchange will continue and nurture the friendship between Steinheim and our communities.

Special thanks go to the nine families who welcomed their German "son" and "daughters" so readily. Their hospitality was truly extraordinary. I felt overwhelmed and humbled by the spontaneous generosity and cooperation of so many people.

I am particularly grateful to the following individuals and organizations: Wayne Public Schools — School Board, administration, teachers, students, absolutely everyone; Wayne State College; Mayor Lindau; Chamber of Commerce; Dairy Queen; Mrs Diane Ehrhardt; First National Bank; Wayne Rotary Club; State Farm Insurance and Wayne Welcome Service.

Tausend Dank!

Games just beginning

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Ah, what a game. It's like Nebraska football. In Nebraska, the season never really ends. Games are played part of the year; it's really a year-round deal.

The game in question is the perennial one involving the state, local government, taxes and teachers.

It never ends. The real games won't be played until the 2000 Legislature convenes that's when people start keeping score.

The scoring system will be tricky in the upcoming session.

It's an election year. Virtually every lawmaker in the country faces some comparable dilemma. He or she doesn't want to be seen as the enemy of the children; and, you know that old saw of "It's about the children" is going to be rolled out more often than the Big Red option play.

The other side of the coin is that the Legislature has, reflecting the will of the people, pounded on local governments and implemented one plan after another to help hold down those increases in local property taxes.

The difficulty faced by policymakers, from the Legislature to the governor's office, is that, in their game, there really isn't such a thing as a punt. Delay of game, maybe. The old "I know, let's do a study!" thing.

The latest news is that the Nebraska State Education Association (read Big Teachers' Union) has decided to turn to the Legislature, not local school boards, to pony up the pesos for better teacher salaries.

It's the teacher shortage thing that gives the association, if not a whip hand, at least a soap box upon which to make its case.

Sen. Ardyce Bohlke of Hastings has proposed one plan that would have the state cough up money to help pay for some of the benefits provided for teachers. Presumably, that could free local dollars for diversion to salaries.

The question is: from whence would the state dollars come?

The answer: sales and income tax revenues. Those revenues would likely have to come from higher sales and/or income tax rates.

Higher tax rates generate the kind of headlines that annoy voters. Did I mention that 2000 is an election year?

The late Sen. Jerome Warner was fond of this proposition: You get elected to the Legislature by campaigning against local property taxes. You get re-elected by saying that you didn't raise the state sales and income tax rates.

Consider a recent estimate on the costs of giving each of Nebraska's 23,000 teachers a measly $1,000 annual pay increase. The cost would be $23 million.

The Legislature has pretty much used up both the worthwhile and convenient ends of the argument about "efficiencies." It may get some play in regards to calls for more school consolidation and distance learning. But it's hard to imagine such programs coming up with the tens of millions of dollars that are at issue when discussions center on serious pay increases.

So, look forward to whatever bowl game the Huskers will play in next January.

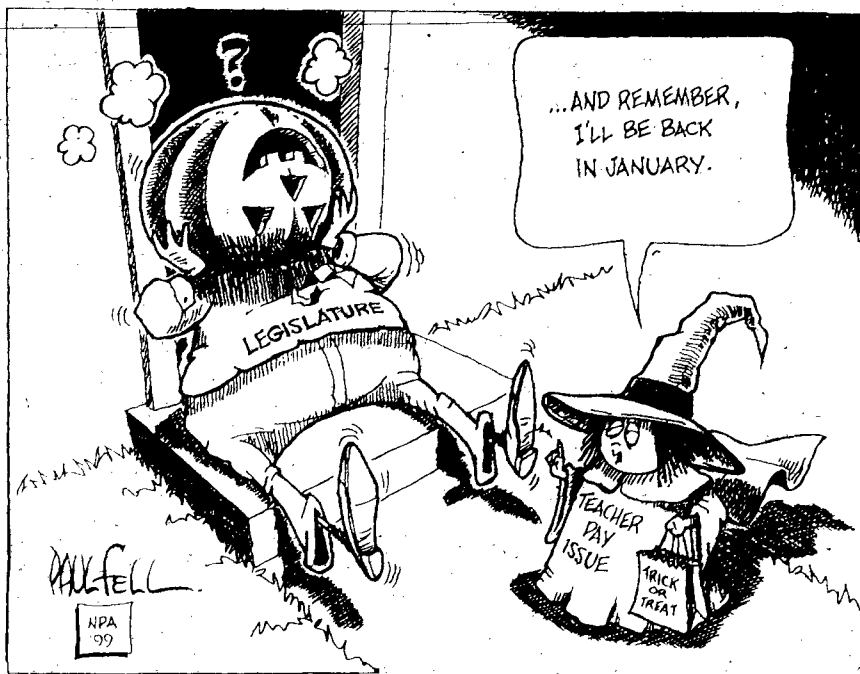

And when that game ends, tune in to the Legislature. Where the games will just be beginning.

Nebraska Consumer Bulletin

Attorney General
Don Stenberg

TIPS ON BUYING A USED CAR

If you're thinking about buying a used car, you're not alone. Each year according to the Federal Trade Commission, Americans spend over $5 billion dollars to buy more than 17 million used cars. A little research before you buy can prevent disappointment later.

Determine if the car you are considering purchasing is in good mechanical shape by getting an evaluation from an independent mechanic.

Request authentic mileage information on a vehicle before buying. If you doubt any stated mileage, contact the state(s) in which the vehicle has been titled to obtain a title history. Nebraska title history can be obtained by contacting the Title Section of the Department of Motor Vehicles in Lincoln.

Investigate and compare prices by consulting publications that give approximate dealer and consumer prices for many models. Your library, bookstore, bank or insurance agent should have copies of the annual "Consumer Reports Guide to Used Cars", monthly Kelly Blue Book, and others. The Internet is also a good source of information. Also, find out if the vehicle you are considering has been recalled for safety defects by calling the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration Auto Safety Hotline toll free at 1-888-327-4236.

Take a look at the vehicle title before making a final decision to buy a car. Make sure the title you are shown belongs to the car you are buying.

BUYING "AS IS"

"As is" means that if you have a problem with the car after you buy it, you must pay for the repairs yourself - even if the car doesn't run after it leaves the lot. The dealer has no further responsibility for a car sold "as is" once the sale is complete.

Under Federal law, all sellers of used cars (except private owners), are required to place a large sticker called a "Buyers Guide" in the window of their used cars, light-duty vans, and light-duty trucks. The "Buyers Guide" tells whether the vehicle comes with a warranty, and if so, what is covered by the warranty.

BEFORE YOU SIGN.....

Be sure that the contract terms are completely filled in before you sign the contract. Once you sign a contract, don't leave the premises without your copy. Be sure that all verbal promises have been written into the contract, along with all financing terms. If you don't understand any part of the contract, ask for an explanation.

Remember, once you sign a contract to buy the car of your choice, you're obligated. Many people mistakenly believe that the Three Day Right-to-Cancel law for door-to-door sales applies to an auto purchase. When you sign the contract, the car is yours.

For more information about this or any other consumer issue contact: Office of Attorney General Don Stenberg, Consumer Protection Division, 2115 State Capitol, Lincoln, NE, 68509, (402) 471-2682, Consumer Protection Line - (800) 727-6432.

Wayne will take an 18-8 record to the district finals against an O'Neill team the Blue Devils have beaten twice this season.

The Allen volleyball team captured the D-7 Subdistrict Volleyball Tournament in Wausa, Tuesday night.

Denise Hingst's team moves now to the district final on Friday night in Crofton against Verdigre in a 7 p.m. match with the winner advancing to next weekend's State Volleyball Tournament.

Melissa Wilmes was 10-10 in serving with two aces while Koester was 13-15 but with an impressive five aces.

The Eagles victory advanced them to the finals of the sub-district against Wynot who had beaten Santee.

Allen won the match in three games, 15-9, 13-15, 15-2. "We started off pretty good and got the offense rolling," Hingst said. "Then our serve receive let down and couldn't get the ball to our setter

Allen defeated the host team Wausa in the first round, 15-11, 15-8 as Stacey Martinson and Shannon Koester notched nine kill spikes each while combining for seven blocks to

The Allen mentor said her team responded very positively in the third game with much more intensity.

Stacey Martinson led the winners with 19 kill spikes while Angela Prochaska pounded out 11 kills.

Martinson also led the team in serving at 18-20 with six aces while Wilmes was 13-13 with two aces.

"Sometimes it seems the closer the match, the more intense we are," Hingst said. "We'll need to be ready to play the entire match from the get-go on Friday night in the district finals."

Shannon Koester records one of her ace spikes during the Eagles win over Wausa.

Wayne State soccer gals place fourth in tourney

The Wayne State soccer team went 1-2 at the Northern Sun Conference Post-Season Tournament over the weekend with Justin Cole's team earning the fourth place finish in Moorhead, Minnesota.

The 12-6 'Cats began tourney play with a 2-0 win over fourth-seed Northern State.

"This was the biggest win in the brief history of our program," Cole said. "To come in and beat this team in a game of this magnitude was tremendous."

WSC lost to Winona State in the second round, 6-0. "Coming off an emotional win over Northern State with only 18 hours of rest proved too much for the ladies to handle," Cole said. "My hats off to Winona State. They are definitely the class of the conference."

WSC lost a 2-1 decision to Southwest State in the match for third place.

"This was a tough way to end our season," Cole said. "We gave up a very questionable goal in the last seconds."

Cole said finishing fourth in the conference in the first year is a great achievement.

"We were able to obtain most of the goals we set before the season," Cole said. "We'll take some tie to enjoy it for the moment and then begin to refocus and look at how we can make the necessary steps to reach our more long term goals."

The 11 starters include just one junior in Sara Zimmer along with three sophomores and seven freshmen.

Winona State defeated Minnesota-Duluth in the championship match, 3-1.

Wildcats defeated by Minnesota-Duluth on Parent's Day, 31-19

By Missy Pavlish
For the Herald

The Wayne State football team was surprised by Minnesota-Duluth, 31-19 last Saturday on Parent's Day, leaving coach Kevin Haslam and the 'Cats with a 2-7 record.

WSC will host Minnesota-Morris on Saturday in the home finale before closing out the season on the road at Northwestern Oklahoma State on Nov. 13.

The loss dampened the record-setting performances of Wayne State quarterback Jaime Jones and running back Elroy Brown.

Jones became the school's all-time leading passer with 6,044 career-yards, breaking the mark of 5,916 set by Ed Jochum from 1982-85.

Brown scored three touchdowns to tie the school's touchdown mark for a season with 14. He is currently tied with Marcus Bishop. Brown's 149 yards rushing was his fifth 100-yard game in six weeks and gives him a season total of 951.

Minnesota-Duluth's Erik Conner ran roughshot over the 'Cats, gaining 173 yards while scoring four touchdowns.

The visitors grabbed a 7-0 lead after one quarter of play on a nine-yard run by Conner but Elroy Brown scored from two yards out in the second quarter to etch the 'Cats to with in one point at 7-6.

Conner however, sprinted 39 yards to paydirt on the first play after a WSC turnover to give the Bulldogs a 14-6 halftime lead.

UMD went up 17-6 on a 21-yard field goal in the third quarter and Brown scored on a 22-yard run to cut the gap to five at 17-12 after three quarters of play.

Conner scored on runs of 4 & 40 in the final stanza with Brown plunging over from a yard out with 1:25 remaining in regulation to account for the final score.

WSC tallied 463 total yards in the game and gave up just 334 but three interceptions doomed the 'Cats.

"Our turnovers came at critical times in the game," Haslam said. "We didn't do a good job of executing the offense when it came to putting points on the board."

Jones was 24-49 for 266 yards and three interceptions. Herman Gordon was the leading receiver with 12 catches for 78 yards with Elroy Brown netting three receptions for 41 yards. Tavaris Johnson and Dan Pugsley had three catches each and JaQuay Bangs, two.

Defensively, WSC was led by Mike Baker and Jesse Calabretto with eight tackles each with Kirk Steffensen, Ronnie Blair, Seth Last, Justin Nissen and Ashley Toussaint netting six tackles each.

Toussaint had an interception and Seth Last posted a pair of quarterback sacks.

The Bears fell victim to a Hail-Mary pass at the end of the first half by Pender which tied the game at 12 but the Bears stymied the Pender offense the second half, holding the Pendragons scoreless.

Beckman plunged over from a yard out early in the fourth quarter and Nick Manganaro scored one for the defense on a 48-yard interception return and Ross Gardner scored on a three-yard run.

"I'm very proud of our kids," Luxford said. "This was a huge step for us. This is the seventh time in 11 years we've qualified for post-season playoff action but this year is different because we were picked to finish toward the bottom of our conference and I think we have showed some people that we aren't that bad of a football team."

Gardner led the Bears with 135 yards rushing on 19 carries with Tyler Kvols gaining 80 yards on two attempts and Beckman, 24 yards on nine carries. Chris Lackas had 15 yards on eight carries.

Susan Knight's work featured

Susan Knight's work will be on display until Nov. 12 in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery, located in Peterson Fine Arts Building, on the Wayne State College campus.

"The small paintings on wood are built by adding and subtracting with a hand sander, multiple layers of collage and paint," Knight said of her work.

She said her work is psychological because the concepts are something she tries to work out in her own mind, not necessarily that she is trying to express a psychological concept.

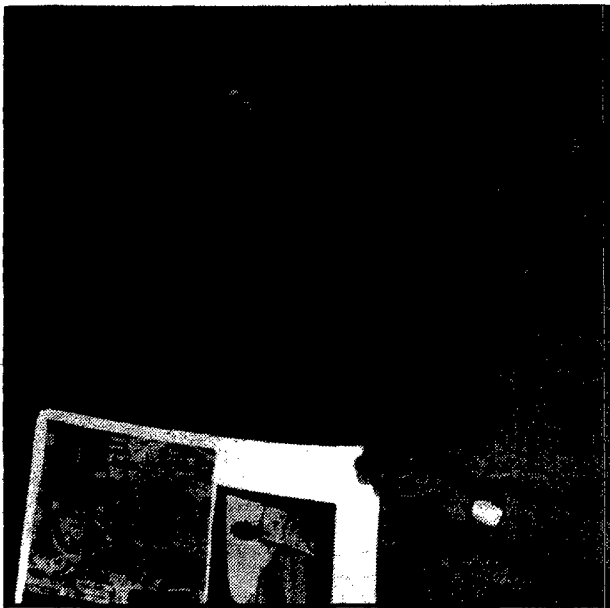

"I've approached my work in a positive way. I try to make my images as upbeat as possible. During the series before this one, I started to paint faces with only smiling faces," Knight said at her show's opening last week at WSC.

She said she tried to convey to WSC students to have courage in their work and value what they are doing.

Knight was born in Grand Rapids, Mich. She is represented by the Haydon Gallery in Lincoln and maintains a studio in the Old Bemis Building in Omaha.

She earned her bachelor's degree in fine arts at Saint Mary's College in Notre Dame, Ind. She also attended Glassell School of Art in Houston, Texas; School of the Art Institute in Chicago, Ill. and the Santa Reparata Graphic Art Centre in Florence, Italy.

Her work is featured in the Museum of Nebraska Art in Kearney; the Bemis Center for Contemporary Art in Omaha and private collections.

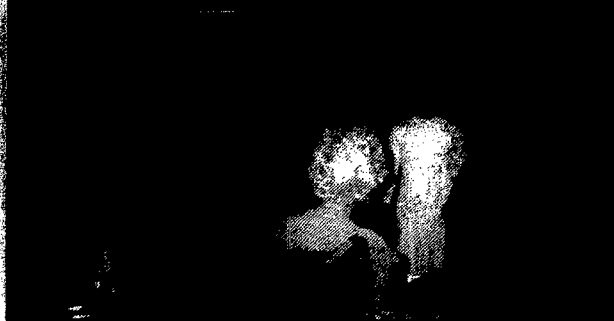

Visiting artist Susan Knight looks through some of her work at her opening reception in the WSC Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery last week. Knight's show will be open to the public until Nov. 12.

Knight's shows in the '90s have included the Haydon Gallery in Lincoln, the Wallace-Musket Gallery in the Blue Star Arts Complex in San Antonio, Texas and the Wiseman Gallery at Rogue Community College in Grants Pass, Ore. Her Omaha shows have included the Garden of the Zodiac Gallery, the Eyesound Gallery and the Anderson

Knight has completed residencies through the International School of Art Residence Program in Montecastello di Vibio, Italy; the Ragdale Foundation in Lake Forest, Ill.; and the Acadia Summer Arts Program (ASAP) in Northeast Harbor, Mt. Desert Island, Maine.

She has earned a best of show award at an annual national juried art exhibit at the art center of Northern New Jersey. She has also been awarded a Nebraska Arts Council Individual Artist Fellowship Award.

Knight has served as an instructor in Omaha at the Joslyn Art Museum School, the Bemis Center for Contemporary Art and Artists in Correctional Environments.

In addition to WSC, Knight has appeared as a guest artist or lecturer at Rogue Community College, the University of Nebraska - Lincoln, the University of Nebraska - Omaha, the University of Houston in Texas and Tarkio College in Missouri.

Knight has also worked as a commercial artist and a retail advertising artist and writer.

The Nordstrand Gallery is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. when classes are in session. For more information, please call the WSC fine arts division at (402) 375-7359.

Wayne High School Devil Daze yearbook students earn award

The prestigious Cornhusker Award has been given to the 1999 edition of Wayne High School's Devil Daze yearbook, "A Step Closer." The Cornhusker Award is the highest honor possible in the state.

Members of the staff included Senior Editor Tara Hart, Layout Editor April Lage, Photography Editor Erick Lutt, Copy Editor Erin Mann and staff members Erin Simpson, Jeanne Allemann, Erin Palu, Joe Dangberg, Jeff Ensz and Kenneth Kopperud. Their adviser was Lauren Walton.

Yearbooks received ratings of superior, excellent, and good through judging reported by the Nebraska School Activities Association. At judges' discretion, Cornhusker status was bestowed upon books of exceptional quality above a superior rank. Consideration was given to the elements of photography, design, writing, school coverage and advertising.

The Wayne book has earned a superior rating for five consecutive years and two Cornhusker honors.

"This staff was committed to doing quality work in every aspect of the yearbook. Editors provided excellent leadership and assistance to the new staff, and newcomers were working independently by our first deadline," adviser Walton said. "Their final product deserves this recognition"

Individual recognition was earned by Erin Mann who claimed the title of All Class State Champion in yearbook layout design in student competition last May.

Other Class B schools reaching Cornhusker status were Centennial and Aurora; Class C had no schools awarded and in Class D, Benedict, Dodge, Dorchester and Pleasanton received the honor. Class A results have not been reported.

Sponsored by Delta Sigma Pi

Experiences to be related at workshop

The Wayne State College Shirtsleeve Workshop, an annual event sponsored by the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity, will allow WSC alumni who have been successful in their field to share their career highlights with students on Nov. 3, in Gardner Hall Auditorium, from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

"We try to bring in people from many different career areas," said Brandon Trease, a WSC junior and one of the event organizers. Trease is the son of Gary and Vickie Trease of Neligh.

"I think the students benefit a great deal from the alumni speakers. The alumni come back and tell great stories and leave helpful tips about the 'real world.' They don't want to mislead the students, so we can take their advice to heart," said Ben Partlow, WSC senior and event chairperson. He is the son of Richard and Judy Partlow of Primghar, Iowa.

The keynote speaker will be Carter A. "Cap" Peterson of Wayne. Peterson graduated from Wayne State College in 1972 and is an alumni achievement award winner.

He started his career by teaching Social Sciences and coaching at Winside High School for five years. Peterson then started his insurance career when he became an adjuster and field marketer for Farmers Mutual Insurance in Lincoln.

In 1979 he began working for Northeast Nebraska Insurance in Wayne. He began as a sales associate, moved to office manager and today he is the president. This is his 20th year with Northeast Nebraska Insurance.

Peterson has been president of Professional Insurance Agents of Nebraska twice, Professional Insurance Agent of the year twice, and has received the certificate of excellence from the National Professional Insurance Agents.

Additionally, Peterson is the legislative chair for the Professional Insurance Agents of Nebraska and serves on the Department of Insurance advisory committee.

He and his wife, Nana, have resided in Wayne since 1970. They have four children Amanda, and her husband Scott of Boston, Mass.; Sarah, of Omaha; Matthew, of Lincoln, and Sean, a seventh grader at Wayne Public Schools. They also have one grandson, Eric.

In addition to Peterson, WSC alumni panelists are Lisa Pick - Yankton, S.D., Daniel Morfeld - Pilger, Marta Nelson - Wayne, and Randy Rouse - Omaha. For more information, please call (402) 375-7591 or (402) 375-4119.

Scholarships will benefit students

The Suzanne and Walter Scott Foundation and the Horatio Alger Association of Distinguished Americans announce the establishment of the Horatio Alger Nebraska Scholarship Program.

Recipients will be high school seniors who have overcome challenges through integrity, initiative, perseverance, academic excellence, and who are involved in co-curricular activities and community service.

Every year 100 students from across the state will each be awarded a $2,500 scholarship. This statewide program is available to all high school seniors in Nebraska.

The Horatio Alger Association is a non-profit educational association founded in 1947 to provide role models to reinforce the values of integrity, hard work, dedication and service to others. To encourage these ideals in future generations of Americans, the Association awards more than $1.8 million annually in collegiate scholarships to high school students.

The selection process for the recipients of the Horatio Alger

Nebraska Scholarships is based upon the following criteria: currently attend and subsequently graduate from a secondary school in the State of Nebraska; demonstrate honesty, hard work, determination and perseverance in overcoming adversity; display a strong desire to pursue higher education; critical financial need; involvement in co-curricular and community activities; academic achievement. This scholarship program will begin with the 1999-2000 school year.

In addition to the $2,500 college scholarship, the Horatio Alger

Association will offer students educational and financial counseling towards obtaining a college degree as well as guidance in obtaining government and college grants that are available.

The Horatio Alger Association annually honors outstanding individuals who have exemplified these values by presenting them with the prestigious Horatio Alger Award and awards more than $1.8 million annually in scholarships to high school students who have overcome adversity in achieving academic success.

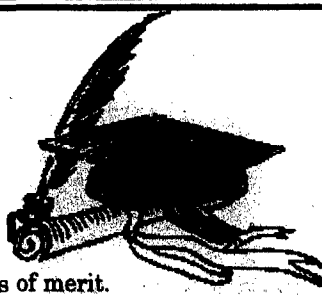

While providing a number of educational programs including an annual survey on the attitudes and interests of American Teenagers entitled the State of Our Nation's Youth, the Association's television programs, "Only in America," which covers the annual Horatio Alger Awards, and "Against the Odds," a biographical series on notable Americans have been broadcast on PBS.

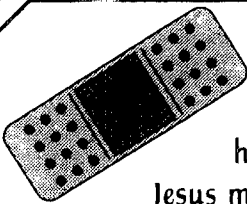

The Horatio Alger Association also offers educational programs in cooperation with more than 250 colleges and universities in its Collegiate Partners Program.

WSC office has been named

The Wayne State College Visual and Performing Arts Office has been named to tie its title to its mission.

Formerly the Center for Cultural Outreach (CCO), an office was established in 1988 and is under the direction of the division of fine arts. The Office plans to continue the CCO tradition of programs such as the Black and Gold Series, First Fridays and the Sunday Series.

"The Office is something very positive that we have had in the past. I'm glad it was something that we have been able to provide through the work of Bev Soll and the assistance of many students. Their work has brought an increased awareness of the arts to people in northeast Nebraska.

Wayne State College serves as a catalyst in northeast Nebraska for the arts and cultural activities," said Pearl Hansen, interim fine arts division head.

Continuing aspects of former CCO Director Soll's work, Hansen said the office responsibilities are being shared among several individuals. Jane O'Leary is the main contact person for Office events. She will be assisted by Janet Berberian, WSC interim vocal instructor.

First Fridays for Nov. 5 will feature Richard Metteer of Wayne. Metteer's presentation will involve remembrances of the Civil War in northeast Nebraska.

Everyone is welcome to attend the presentation at 9 a.m. in the Elkhorn Room, WSC Student Center.

Hansen said First Fridays programs are scheduled for the first Friday of every month through May with the exception of January due to Christmas break.

Another component of the Office, the WSC Guest Faculty Residency is being coordinated by Hansen.

An upcoming faculty residency planned for November will involve an actress who has appeared on "The Cosby Show," "One Life to Live," "L.A. Law" and other productions both on and off Broadway. Elizabeth Van Dyke will be the featured guest for the next Sunday Series on Nov. 14 at Grace Lutheran Church at 4 p.m.

Her faculty residency will continue through Nov. 19. She will be visiting and interacting with WSC students in classrooms on campus.

In addition to these activities, the Office coordinates receptions for art openings. A jazz festival is planned for February.

"I'm also very excited about our pending guest faculty residency for Martin Luther King Day in January. Dr. Tom Fleming of Eastern Michigan University will be on campus Jan. 17 through 19. Dr. Fleming is the 1992 National Teacher of the Year," Hansen said.

Other guest faculty residencies include Jerome Kills Small of the University of South Dakota Science Division, March 27-31; and Dr. Don Rochon and Dr. Cliff Tanabe of the University of Wisconsin Education Division, April 2-7.

"All faculty residencies will be involved in classes and speaking engagements for the campus and community audiences," Hansen said.

Herbs for Health

Cranberry Juice of Extract for Urinary Tract Infections

Since the mid-1800's, cranberry has been used to prevent and treat urinary tract infections. The mechanism was thought to be acidification of urine. Now we know that cranberry's protective effects are due to prevention of the bacterium E. coli from binding to the bladder cells and other sites. The primary use of cranberry is treatment of urinary tract infections, and the secondary use is as a deodorant for incontinent patients.

The most cited study was a double-blind, placebo-controlled trial of 153 women. The women consumed 10 ounces per day of a cranberry drink or a placebo. Women who drank the cranberry drink were 58% less likely to have bacteria and pus in their urine as compared to women who received the placebo.

Dosing for adults is one 300 - 400 mg cranberry extract capsule daily or drinking several glasses of pure cranberry juice. The juice must be 100% cranberry, not the cocktail, which is heavily diluted and loaded with sugar. Side effects are rare, and there are no known drug interactions or contraindications.

The Golden Years

At seventy-three years old, restaurateur Sylvia Woods is still cooking up a storm. Better known as the "grande dame of soul food," Ms. Woods is the owner of Sylvia's Atlanta in Georgia. At a recent food festival dedicated to regional American cooking, Sylvia Woods found herself in the Delegates Dining Room of the United Nations serving her homemade fried chicken, oxtails, black-eyed peas, and collard greens -- encouraging all tasters to lick their fingers clean.

"Compliance" Shown to Double Chance of Survival

In health jargon the term compliance means strictly following a physician's advice. If a medicine is labeled "take 1 tablet every morning," a compliant patient takes 1 tablet just about every morning - no more, and no less. Not following physicians' instructions is a widespread and well-documented problem.

A 2-year study of over 1,000 patients recovering from heart attack shows the importance of compliance. The Psychosomatic Medicine report notes that the patients were given a placebo or a medicine to regulate the heart beat. Patients who were noncompliant with use of the placebo or the medicine had a twofold greater risk of death as compared to those who faithfully took the placebo or the medicine. It was also found that compliant patients participated in more pleasurable social activities, and that women tended to be less compliant than men.

Microwave can speed up meals

The microwave oven can speed up mealtime preparation. Food still needs safe preparation and cooking, however, as these tips describe.

• Glass, glass ceramic and all plastic cookware should be labeled for microwave use. Margarine tubs, whipped topping bowls and cheese containers may warp or melt in the microwave and could cause harmful chemicals to get in the food.

• Microwave plastic wraps, wax paper, oven cooking bags, parchment paper and white microwave paper towels should be safe for microwave use. Avoid letting plastic wrap touch foods during microwaving. Never use thin plastic storage bags, brown paper or plastic grocery bags, newspapers or aluminum foil in the microwave.

• Arrange foods evenly in a covered dish when microwaving. Add water if necessary. Cover with a loose-fitting lid or plastic wrap so steam can escape.

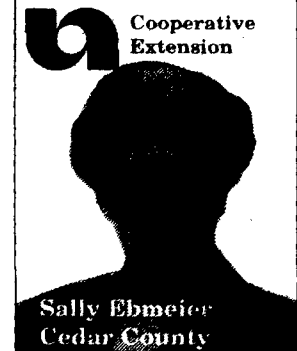

• Don't cook large cuts of meat on high power; slow-cook meat at medium power for a longer period of time. This prevents overcooking outer areas.

• Stir or rotate food once or twice during microwaving to eliminate cold spots where bacteria can survive.

• If partially cooking food in the microwave, remember to move it to the grill or conventional oven right away so bacteria doesn't begin to grow.

Whether cooking in the microwave or conventional oven, use a food thermometer to ensure food has reached a safe temperature. Place the thermometer in the thickest area of the meat or poultry and in the thigh of whole poultry. Red meat should read 160 degrees Fahrenheit, whole poultry 180 degrees, egg casseroles 160 degrees, leftovers 165 degrees and fish should flake with a fork.

Fall very pretty, but quite dusty!

The end of the tenth month, and the temperature in the 70s, Unbelievable! Because of the dry weather, the trees have been a display of golds, reds, auburns; a feast of fall colors.

A farm on highway 75 displayed a Husker flag at half mast this week, exactly the way we were all feeling. And the sports section of the Orlando paper arrived yesterday, with a big photo of Bobby Bowden after his 300th win. To his credit, son Tommy's team gave the Seminoles a battle.

Which cannot be said for the World Series. Atlanta didn't even seem to give a battle. Those Yanks were unstoppable.

High School football is into play-offs, and volleyball is winding down. Golf and cross country already have state champions, and marching bands are about finished with competitions.

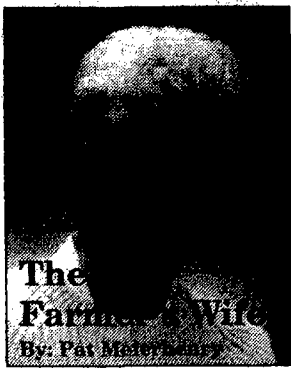

Just one activity left this month; the annual trick or treat ritual. I met grand children at the Pumpkin Patch yesterday, and we fed the goats and watched the pig races. Things out there are really dusty.

Most folks are done harvesting; many had to wear masks to breathe. We have been watering new trees, and notice lots of lawn sprinklers on.

As we prepare for winter, a friend just left for New Zealand. He'll wait at Christ Church for the weather to "warm up" to 40 degrees below zero, to be flown into Antarctica. He's part of a UNL crew testing ice-cutting equipment.

The information he received says he'll be limited to two showers a week, lasting just two minutes.

When I was telling brother Jim this, he asked if he was submarine qualified. He claims that on a sub, you run the water for seven seconds, then shut it off and lather, then rinse for seven seconds. I asked, "what about shampoo?" and he responded, "I said, you run

The Farm and Vic
By Pat Hünke

water for seven seconds."

It's a known fact that other military personnel don't hang around submariners; the B.O. is too powerful.

There's a best-selling book on the market about submarine espionage during the Cold War. It's called "Blind Man's Bluff," and it is fascinating.

I found a paper back copy at Lee's Booksellers the other day. Of all things I've lost this year, this time it was glasses. So, I had to make a trip to the optical place, and it was across from the book store.

I also explored the new shopping mall, South Pointe, in Lincoln. I had never been in a Von Maur store, so decided to check it out. Unbelievable! Just the women's lounge is luxurious, complete with sofas and chairs for resting. Quite a comparison to the port a potties at the pumpkin patch.

But I'm out of my element in a store like that; it's way too plush. They really do have a live piano player, though. This day it was a young lady, just going straight through her book of show tunes.

I added it to my list of retirement plans: get a long black dress and play the grand piano at Von Maur. I think they probably even pay them. They should, at the prices I saw!

Wayne County 4-H Council members will also be elected in conjunction with the Achievement All 4-H parents and leaders will be eligible to vote for the adult members. All 4-H youth will be eligible to vote for the youth members.

The Wayne County 4-H Council plays an important role in improving the county, developing policy for 4-H events and coordination the awards and recognition program.

Statutes require livestock inspections and permits

By Jill Heemstra, Extension Educator, Wayne/Dixon counties.

Nebraska livestock waste control facility statutes require all livestock operations with at least 300 animals units (AU's) to be inspected by the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) to determine whether the livestock waste pollutes surface or ground water.

Livestock operations with less than 300 AU's are exempt from the feedlot permitting and inspection requirements, unless those operations have had a confined discharge into waters of the state or a high potential for such a discharge. In such cases, DEQ must notify the livestock operation owner by certified mail. If an exempt producer has already requested a DEQ inspection, that request was automatically canceled in 1999 feedlot legislation.

The 300 AU inspection cutoff is equal to 300 steers, 214.3 dairy cows, 750 feeders pigs (55 pounds or more), 7,500 weaned pigs up to 55 pounds, 3,000 sheep, 150 horses, 30,000 chickens, 15,000 turkeys or 1,500 ducks.

Anyone with less than this number of livestock is exempt and need not be inspected unless you are notified by DEQ that there is a need to be inspected.

Livestock operations subject to the inspection requirement include operations where livestock are kept in buildings, lots or pens which are normally not used for growing crops or pasture.

Facilities holding heifers during calving up to 90 days annually are also not included.

Range livestock operations are not subject to DEQ inspection requirements (or permit requirements). If the area where the animals are kept sustains plant growth during the growing season, it is not a feedlot. Cattle backgrounding on grass generally is not considered a feedlot.

However, if the area where the animals are kept does not have grass or other vegetation growing during the growing season, it is a feedlot and subject to inspection, unless it is under the 300 AU limit.

Existing non-exempt livestock operations (300 or more AU's) that have not requested an inspection prior to Jan. 1, 2000 will be subject to a late fee of between $50 and $500 per month until the DEQ inspection has been requested.

Inspection forms are available at the county extension offices, 584-2234 or 375-3310.

For more information, contact DEQ at (402) 472-2186. For a copy of Nebraska feedlot statutes, as your Extension Educator for a copy of NF99-403, the Nebraska Livestock Waste Management Act.
