Wayne County events

Making headlines in 1999

Centennial celebrations, sports activities and new businesses were among the stories that made headlines in Wayne county during the last year of this millennium.

A list of stories and events taking place in the area has been compiled for review as the community prepares to enter the new century. Because of its length, the first half of the review will be presented in this week's Herald and the remainder will be included in the Jan. 6, 2000 issue.

JANUARY

Wayne State College won a 72-50 contest against Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.

Dr. Sheila Stearns, Chancellor of Western Montana College in Dillon, Mont., was expected to be named the new president of Wayne State College.

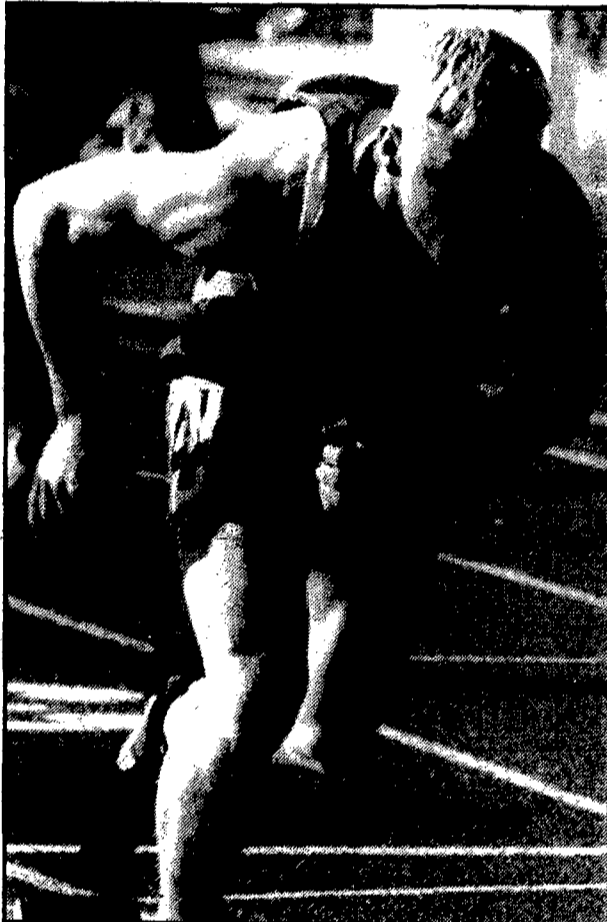

The Wayne Blue Devil wrestlers placed third at the Elkhorn Invitational.

The community helped the Scott Kudrna family as his wife Marci battled leukemia. A benefit was held at the Wayne Auditorium for the family.

The Laurel girls and boys basketball teams beat the Bloomfield teams.

The Wayne High speech team took first place in the novice and varsity division at the Hartington Cedar Catholic Invitational.

Pastor Martin Russell of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne returned home after spending six weeks in Tanzania as part of a pastoral exchange program with a Lutheran congregation there.

Gabe Hammer participated in three events at the State Track Meet held in Omaha in May.

This group of Wayne High School girls make final preparations before their graduation. They were among those receiving diplomas in May as the last class of the millennium.

Robert Jordan was named the 1998 Citizen of the Year and Patricia Jenkins was named the 1998 Educator of the Year during the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Tom Osborne visited Wayne and spoke to nearly 1,800 people at Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State College campus.

FEBRUARY

The village of Hoskins turned 100 years old on Feb. 7 and was making plans for a summer celebration.

The Wayne State men's basketball team was ranked third in the nation in their division with a 20-2 record.

The Winside Wildcat wrestlers placed third at the D-2 wrestling tournament in Creighton. Six of their grapplers also qualified for the state meet to be in Lincoln.

Josh Murtaugh, Wayne Blue Devil wrestler, posted an 8-3 victory in the final round and won a gold medal at the Nebraska State Wrestling Tournament. Winside's Steven Rabe also won a gold medal with an 8-3 win in the finals.

Seven inches of snow fell on Wayne this week, causing several accidents.

MARCH

Ameritas Life Insurance Corp. announced that it has selected Wayne as a site for its remote dental claims processing center.

Wayne State College was selected to host the North Central Regional Basketball Championship to be held at Rice Auditorium.

Firefighters from nine area fire departments were involved in a controlled structure burn at a vacant house five and one-half miles west of Wayne.

A group of Wayne citizens asked the Wayne City Council to discuss the issue of building a community activity center.

Winside girls and boys track teams began the season with wins at the Wayne State Indoor Meet.

A new business, DK Cellular, opened for business in Wayne. Duane Kosch is the owner.

Wayne Blue Devil track teams received third place at the Wayne State Indoor Invitational.

weeks early this year. It was a present they had wanted for more than two years.

Greg and Patsy Kallhoff of Wayne received a Christmas present two

On Dec. 13 Breanna Kay, a six pound, 13 ounce baby girl was born in Kearney and two days later the Kallhoffs were able to bring her home as their daughter.

The story of how Breanna Kay came to the Kallhoffs began more than two years ago when the couple became approved as adoptive parents through the Nebraska Children's Home Society. They then began their wait for a child.

"We were getting impatient, not knowing if or when we could adopt a child, so we looked into other possibilities," Greg said.

The couple had filled out an application through an agency in Portland, Ore. called "All God's Children" and were ready to adopt a Romanian child.

"The application and check were all filled out and sitting on the kitchen cupboard, ready to be mailed on Dec. 7," Patsy said.

However, at 9:01 a.m. (the couple has caller-identification, so Patsy said the time is exact), a call came from the Nebraska Children's Home Society saying that a birth mother in Kearney had chosen the Kallhoffs as the parents for her unborn baby. She indicated that she would like to meet the couple and exchange information.

"On Friday, Dec. 10 we went to Kearney and met with the mother who is 17 years old. We talked for two hours and exchanged general information. We were also told by the adoption agency not to get too prepared for the baby because sometimes birth mothers change their minds and keep the baby," Patsy said.

The Kallhoffs returned to Wayne and began their wait. The mother's

Chamber of Commerce to sponsor Millennium party

As the new year approaches, the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce would like to offer the opportunity for the community to participate in a unique and explosive New Year's Eve celebration.

This event will be an alcohol-free, family environment with plenty of activities for all ages. KWP/N/ KTIC radio from West Point (107.9) will be at the City Auditorium to do remote broadcast throughout the evening.

The festivities will begin at 9 p.m. with food, games and prizes, and will continue through to the new year until 1 a.m.

At midnight, the Wayne County

Jaycees, along with the help of the Volunteer Fire Department will simultaneously launch fireworks from four sites in Wayne, bringing in the new year with a bang.

An omelet feed, sponsored by TWJ Feeds, will follow the fireworks display.

"If you are looking for a safe, totally free and memorable way to celebrate the new millennium, come on down to the City Auditorium and celebrate this once in a lifetime moment with your family and friends," said Karin Vaughn, interim director of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

Commander Lynn

Lynn retires after 20 years in the military

Commander Susan I. (Jacobmeier) Lynn, a graduate of Wayne High School, recently retired after 20 years in the U.S. Navy.

Commander Lynn graduated from the University of Washington with a bachelor's degree in Business Administration. She attended naval Officer Candidate School in Newport, R.I. and was sworn in as an Ensign in March of 1980.

During the next two decades, Commander Lynn served with each warfare community in the Navy. She was the second female officer to be assigned temporary duty with her mixed gender maintenance crew to support Tomcat (F-14) carrier qualifications onboard west coast carriers.

Lieutenant Commander Lynn was selected for Executive Officer in 1991 and detailed to the Shore Intermediate Maintenance Activity at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

She has also served as the Deputy Chief and Chief of CINCPAC's Staff Group, an Executive Assistant to the Commander in Chief and the Deputy Chief of Staff.

Commander Lynn is married to Major Robert F. Lynn (USMC, Ret.). They have three children — Kimberly, JoAnna and Michael. They will be moving to the Jackson Hole area in Wyoming where they will manage a bison ranch.

Clausen promoted

Lea Clausen has been named vice president for development and executive director of the Wayne State Foundation.

"Clausen's first-hand knowledge of Wayne State and the Foundation will enhance her effectiveness in this position. She has brought enthusiasm and dedication to each position that she has held for the college," said Dr. Sheila Stearns, Wayne State College president.

"The Wayne State Foundation is pleased with the selection of Lea Clausen as vice president for development and executive director of the Wayne State Foundation, and has every confidence that Lea will do an outstanding job," said Don Koeber, president of the Wayne State Foundation. "Lea will provide stable leadership that will insure the Foundation's continued growth and enable it to further expand its donor base. We wish Lea continued sucities as development director at WSC. While serving as alumni director, Clausen coordinated alumni activities across the country and on campus including the annual phone-a-thon campaign. As development director, Clausen was responsible for the annual fund drive.

"The relationships that I have formed with alumni have been the most rewarding aspect of my time at Wayne State," said Clausen in regard to her appointment.

"I am incredibly honored and excited about taking on the responsibilities of this position. My husband Dave and I have enjoyed the community of Wayne and Wayne State College tremendously and look forward to many more years here. My immediate goal is to continue the forward momentum that we have established on the 'All About Students' Campaign."

cess as she begins her new role with the Wayne State Foundation."

Clausen is a 1994 Wayne State graduate. She also completed her master's degree at WSC in 1996 and served as a graduate assistant instructor in communications at WSC. After graduating, she worked as an account executive at the Sioux City Journal in Sioux City, Iowa before returning to WSC in February of 1997 as alumni director. In July of 1999, Clausen assumed responsi-

"The Siouxland Community Blood Bank serves all the blood needs of our 15 area hospitals and their patients. The ONLY way blood products are made available for area patients is if individuals in our communities volunteer to donate blood on a regular basis," said Jan King, Donor Consultant.

King said that thanks goes out to all the volunteer donors who faithfully donate blood to the Siouxland Community Blood Bank which supplies the Providence Medical Center with blood products.

Students attend fall conference

Seven members of the Peru State College Education Association (PSEA) attended the annual State Education Association of Nebraska Fall Conference in Kearney.

The students, along with their college sponsor, Deb Weitzenkamp, heard several speakers on the conference theme of "Setting the Stage for Professionalism."

Those attended from Peru State College included Ann Brugger of Winslow who serves as vice president.

Speakers at the conference covered such topics as multiculturalism and prejudice, professional protocol, the responsibilities of a school nurse and how to recognize troubled students.

The Peru State group also heard from a panel of three first-year teachers who shared their thoughts and experiences.

Are Poinsettias Poisonous?

The poinsettia plant myth is just that - a myth. The holiday plant is pretty and pretty safe. At least in amounts the average toddler is likely to ingest. The AMA list nothing more than occasional vomiting from ingesting the otherwise harmless leaves. It is unlikely a child or animal will eat more than one bite as the taste is bitter and the flavor is awful. Pets may have a severe reaction. It is still wise to call your poison control center if you are concerned.

PARTNER COMMENT on Real Estate

Alan Stoltenberg, Broker
STOLTENBERG PARTNERS

WHAT ABOUT TITLE INSURANCE?

The sale of real property usually involves title insurance. Title insurance insures the holder of the policy (the buyer) against defects in the title. Prior to the closing, a title company performs a title search. This examination of the public records establishes ownership of the real estate and determines the condition of the title. For example, there may be liens against the property that need to be released before ownership can be transferred.

The title insurance premium is based on the amount of the sale and is normally split between the buyer and seller. On an $80,000 sale, the premium would be $347.50.

If you have questions about title insurance in a real estate transaction, give me a call, or talk to Sharon Luebbert, owner of First Source Title and Escrow, here in Wayne.

Statewide help-line is available

The Alzheimer's Association Omaha and Eastern NE Chapter has a statewide help-line to assist caregivers with their questions and concerns about the disease.

Trained Chapter representatives are available to answer questions, mail out educational information on the disease, and make community referrals. The helpline number is 1-800-309-2112 or 402-572-3010.

Caregivers and family members can request information on the disease and services that are available in the area for individuals with Alzheimer's disease. The Chapter's new brochure, Ethics and Alzheimer's disease can be requested free of charge.

The Chapter has been established for 15 years and receives over 4,000 helpline calls per year. Around 10 percent of the population over 65 years of age are afflicted with Alzheimer's disease. This percentage rises to 47.2 percent in those over the age of 85, which is the fastest growing segment of the United States population.

Lindau named award winner

Elizabeth Lindau of Wayne was among a group of University of Illinois students recently honored with Dads Association Library Awards.

Chosen from among students recently completing their sophomore year, the award winners were among the top three students in their respective colleges or had maintained a 4.0 (out of 4.0) grade-point average.

The association honored the winners at the Dads Weekend banquet held Nov. 19. A book will be purchased in each student's name for the University of Illinois Library.

The Dads Association comprises fathers of University of Illinois students and promotes parent involvement in university activities and fund-raising for student programs. Founded in 1922, the association is believed to be the first organization of its kind in the nation.

Girl Scouts gear up for annual cookie sales

The 64th Annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale, one of America's favorite events of the year, will kick off in Wayne, Wakefield, Winside, and Carroll on Jan. 7, 2000.

Customers can choose from eight traditional Girl Scout favorites, including Thin Mints-the best-selling chocolate-covered mint cookie;

Samoas-a caramel and toasted coconut cookie; Tagalongs-a layered cookie featuring smooth peanut butter and chocolate; Do-si-dos-oatmeal peanut butter cremes; Striped Chocolate Chip-a real chocolate chip and pecan cookie; Trefoils-a shortbread cookie; Apple Cinnamon-a low-fat apple-flavored cookie with cinnamon-sugar topping; and Lemon Drops-natural-flavored lemon cookie with creamy, baked-in lemon chips.

This year, the Girl Scouts' motivational cookie sale theme is "Leap to the Future": a phrase that symbolized the evolution of today's Girl Scouts into strong, confident, caring women who have been prepared by the Girl Scouting experience for a future filled with promise and opportunities.

A portion of each package of Girl Scout Cookies sold goes to Girl Scout troops to fund troop activities such as field trips, camp outings, and community service projects. Girl Scout Councils receive a portion of proceeds to fund recruitment and training of adult volunteers, maintain camp grounds, and support council-wide initiatives including science centers, career workshops, and financial assistance to girls.

Girls Scout Cookies can be ordered directly from participating Girl Scouts or by calling the cookie hotline at 402-375-1194.

Christmas

due date was Dec. 24 so the couple felt they had some time to get prepared.

That was not to be, as a call came on Sunday, Dec. 13 saying that the mother had gone into labor. Another trip was made to Kearney.

"We got to Kearney at 7 p.m. and Breanna was born at midnight. We were able to go into the delivery room immediately following the birth," Greg said.

That day the father, who is 20 years old, came to the hospital and signed papers relinquishing custody of the child. The mother signed release papers before her discharge from the hospital on Dec. 14.

"Breanna was discharged on Dec. 15 and before we left the hospital, the mother came back to see her and brought her a number of gifts, including her first Nebraska outfit. It was a very tearful moment," Patsy said.

Because of the fact that the couple had only one week to prepare for the baby, they didn't have time to get many things ready.

"One of my daycare moms set up a bassinet and other friends and family helped get the house ready before we came home," Patsy said.

Before leaving the hospital, the Kallhoffs and the birth mother talked about names for the baby, and agreed on Breanna Kay.

"Sometimes the birth mother will chose a name and then later the adoptive parents will change it, but we talked about it and the birth mother discussed it with her parents and they were very happy with Breanna Kay," Patsy said.

"We have an open adoption, it means that we will send pictures and letters to the birth mother," Greg said.

The legal process for the adoption will take six months.

Greg, who works at Horrocks Capital, was able to take off early a week to be with Breanna. Patsy, who provides daycare in her home, took off just over a week to get acquainted with her new daughter.

Since bringing Breanna home, the Kallhoffs have taken her for medical checkup and have begun to celebrate the Christmas holidays with relatives.

In addition to her parents, Breanna has been welcomed by grandparents Pat and Mary Ann

Murphy of Wayne, Caroline Kallhoff of Omaha and Patsy and Joan Kallhoff of Wayne. She also has a great-grandfather, Thomas Murphy of Wayne. "One day we got a call from St. Charles Elementary School, asking us to come visit. When we got there, we got a quilt signed by the students, many of whom I have profited from, are for in the past," Patsy said.

The family is now settling into a home with both Mom and Dad being busy feeding the baby during the night and making the adjustments that a new baby brings any family.

"From the time we got the first call, everything has gone like clockwork. We knew that God was looking out for us, and this is the plan for us," Patsy said.

A handshake, a friendly smile, people who know you by your first name - people who care. That's what you'll get at the Farmers & Merchants State Bank of Wayne, your hometown bank.

Have a lot to be thankful for

Dear Editor,
We have a lot to be thankful for as we face the year 2000. Significant developments in public health have enabled many of us to live long enough to usher in a new millennium.

In 1900, the average age of death for a Nebraskan was 48 years. Today it's 75. Contrary to popular opinion, most of these additional years of living are not related to technical advances in medical care, but to changes in lifestyles and our environment.

These public health achievements have made the difference:

Control of infectious diseases: Clean water and improved sanitation have eliminated typhoid, cholera and other illnesses as major causes of death.

Decline in deaths due to coronary heart disease and stroke: Blood pressure control, smoking cessation and other risk-factor reduction, along with better treatments, have reduced death rates for coronary heart disease by over 50 percent in the last decades of this century.

Healthier mothers and babies: Better hygiene and nutrition, greater access to health care and technological advances have resulted in a 90-percent decrease in infant mortality and a 99-percent decrease in maternal mortality since 1900.

Improvements in motor-vehicle safety: Engineering efforts to make both vehicles and highways safer, as well as the development of seat belts and air bags, have brought about a large reduction in motor-vehicle-related deaths.

Safer and healthier foods: Decreases in microbial contamination have made our food supply safer and increases in nutritional content have almost eliminated major nutritional deficiency diseases such as rickets, goiter and pellagra.

Recognition of tobacco as a health hazard: Since the 1964 Surgeon General's report on the health risks of smoking, the prevalence of smoking among adults has decreased, and millions of smoking-related deaths due to cancer and heart disease have been prevented.

Vaccinations: Smallpox, measles, diphtheria and whooping cough were major killers at the beginning of the 20th century. Because of the development and widespread use of vaccines, smallpox has been eradicated and other diseases have become rare.

Public health in the new millennium will continue to make advances. Who knows how long our descendants who usher in the next millennium can expect to live? I know that they will live longer and better lives because of public health.

Thanks for wonderful evening

Dear Editor,
Good Day!!!
Janie and I would like to take a moment to compliment all those who helped make Dec. 9 such a wonderful evening in Wayne, America.

Thanks to the leadership of "Main Street Wayne" the "Sights and Sounds of Christmas" promotion was truly a wonderful event. We were pleased to be a part of the event, as well as having the chance to take in many of the activities.

More than once that evening both of us heard the comment made that it was a wonderful celebration and how pleasing it was to see so many people walking the streets of downtown Wayne. The promotion had something for everyone, young and old alike.

If you weren't in downtown Wayne the night of Dec. 9th, you don't know what you missed. And if you were there, you know what we are talking about.

All of the various events brought back some wonderful personal memories of holiday seasons the past.

We would hope that the efforts of everyone on that one given night would carry over from this holiday season to the new century.

Thanks for a wonderful evening!!!
Jane and Mark Ahmann,
Wayne

Foundation receives trust

The Wayne Library Foundation has announced the receipt of a Charitable Remainder Unitrust from John T. and Josephine Bressler of New York City, N.Y.

The Bressler's indicated that they have very fond memories of Wayne, their original home.

Julia F. Bressler, grandmother of John T. Bressler, was instrumental in working with the Carnegie Foundation in the early 1900's which resulted in the building of the Carnegie Library that the community enjoyed for over 80 years.

The family of Josephine Ahern Bressler was also one of the early Wayne families and they were active in commerce and community affairs.

Pat Gross, Chairman of the Library Foundation said the Foundation is deeply grateful to the Bresslers for their generosity.

The trust is designed to purchase books, periodicals and other library materials. Assets of the trust will become available upon the passing of both Mr. and Mrs. Bressler.

Letters Welcome

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief (no longer than one type-written page, double spaced) and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter.

What planet are we living on?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Do you have those days when you wonder what planet it is that everyone else is living on?

Those days when you hear something said and your initial reaction is: "Did you say that to stimulate conversation, or because you are a stupid person?"

My attention landed squarely on a news story recently that had to do with Gov. Mike Johanns wanting to appoint at least some of the eight currently-elected members of the NU Board of Regents. For as long as there have been NU regents, governors have thought it would be good if they appointed at least a few of them.

Johanns brought up the issue earlier this year. It was before the imbroglia over controversial brain disease research at the NU Medical Center.

After the aforementioned fuss hit the fan and was amply reported, there was yet another story about the coming legislative session. It talked about Johanns wanting to appoint some of the regents.

The story reported that Sen. Chris Beutler of Lincoln had noted that Johanns' negative reaction to the research issue at NU might cause concern. The concern being that a governor would, in the words of the story, select regents "based on narrow issues rather than picking people interested and knowledgeable about higher education."

What Sen. Beutler said is true, and Sen. Beutler is a bright fellow by any reasonable standard. It's the sentiment to which he accurately referred that made me approach something akin to a swoon.

Beutler's thought clearly acknowledged that there are those among us, (and, Lord help us, in the Legislature) who think that a governor might make appointments that were not based on at least some "narrow issues."

Like I said, the question is: What planet are they living on?

You bet your sweet special interest or favorite cause that governors would and do and will continue to make appointments that involve at least some consideration of narrow issues. What narrow issues? The narrow issues that are closest to a governor's heart!

What the heck is the point of being governor if you don't get a chance to shape government by shaping the bureaucracy - by appointing those you regard as right-minded thinkers to positions of power?

So, you're a "law 'n order" governor. You've got a candidate for the Parole Board in front of you and the individual is ex-treme-ly knowledgeable about corrections, has experience and wants to serve. You ask a few questions about the rehabilitative effects of prison, and the candidate's view of just how forgiving the state should be in criminal cases.

"Well, your excellency," the candidate says, "I agree with that Insh clergyman who founded Boys' Town. You know, there are no bad boys. I think that, with the right programs and counseling, that Starkweather kid could have been a darn fine candidate for parole!"

The governor is not only going to throw this loop-dee-loop out the door, he is going to open the Stupid Book and put a checkmark by the name of the twit who recommended him.

Every governor is going to make appointments based on consideration of some "narrow issues." The governor was elected partly on the basis of his stand on various "narrow issues." The people who vote their candidates into office are entitled to have their "narrow issues" at the top of the agenda - and that's probably where they will land. Their issues might be dumber than a vote to parole Starkweather, but they did their bit to prevail in the democratic system and they are entitled to have them at the top of the heap.

Our system of politics is based on narrow considerations. Collectively, the country decided it was time for the appointment of some conservative federal judges. You think some voters didn't have that in mind when they voted for Reagan twice?

The only time I have fundamental problems with a politician who has the power to appoint is when he or she says: "There is no litmus test. I have an open mind." What that politician has is an abundance of what I shovel out of my horses' stalls every day.

Elected officials are supposed to stand for the positions and policies that got them elected. Thus, if they make appointments accordingly, it is neither small-minded, nor unfair.

Remember what H.L. Mencken said: Democracy is that form of government which holds that the people know what they want - and thus, ought to get it good and hard! If the people give the power of government appointments to someone whose ideas do more harm than good - that's on the people. Let them learn from it. Or, not.

SWEEPSTAKES FRAUD Targets Elderly Nebraskans

Sweepstakes fraud continues to be a major problem, especially among the elderly in our state. We estimate that consumers are losing literally millions of dollars responding to sweepstakes and prize offers that promise everything from trips to new cars to large cash prizes.

We suggest the best way for Nebraskans to fight sweepstakes fraud is to Just Toss It - to just toss all of those "free gift" and "prize" notifications in the trash.

If a "prize" is received at all, the product turns out to be cheaply made and worth only a fraction of its cost. Nearly every day, our office is notified of another Nebraska citizen who has fallen victim to one of these scams. Often the calls to our office come from adult children of an elderly parent.

A Nebraska resident, who has been the victim of sweepstakes scams in the past, reported a "re-scam" attempt. He was called by someone who claimed to represent the Canadian government and reported that he was to receive a "court ordered settlement" to repay the money he had lost in an earlier sweepstakes scam. He was then told that he must pay the taxes on the settlement before he could receive his payment. This is just another cruel attempt to put more money in the scam artist's pocket, as there is no "court ordered settlement".

In another case, the son of an elderly Nebraska resident contacted the Attorney General's Office because his father was sending several checks a day in response to sweepstakes offers. Regardless of the fact that these bogus sweepstakes made promises of cash and fabulous prizes, the promised awards were never received.

- We offer the following warning signs of sweepstakes scams:
- Requirements to pay "shipping and handling" fees, "gift tax", or any other up-front charges.
 - Requests for a credit card, bank account or Social Security number to "verify" your identity.
 - High-pressure sales tactics to convince the consumer that this truly is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.
 - A requirement to purchase merchandise in order to receive a prize.
 - Use of over-night mail couriers to pick up a check or money order to "speed up the process."
 - Being told to keep your win a secret from your family.
- For more information about this or any other consumer issue contact Office of Attorney General Don Stenberg, Consumer Protection Division, 2115 State Capitol, Lincoln, NE, 68509, (402) 471-2682, Consumer Protection Line - 1-800-727-8432.

Small business loans are now available

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) guaranteed 17 loans to small businesses for $;7,261,000 in the 18 counties of northeast Nebraska during fiscal year 1999, which ended Set. 30.

The average loan supported between six and seven new or existing Nebraska jobs

The 18 northeast counties have received a total of 204 loan guarantees in the five year period just ended.

But three northeast counties received no SBA loan guarantees in the past year. This means that businesses in Dixon, Stanton and Thurston counties did not take advantage of programs which are funded directly by their federal tax dollars, while those in their neighboring counties did so

SBA guarantee loans are available through Nebraska's bankers. The agency's loan programs offer loans for working capital (up to seven years) for the purchase of machinery and equipment (10 years) for the purchase or construction of real estate(25 years and for most other legitimate business purposes.

The agency's LowDoc program offers loans up to $150,000 with only a two-page application and a 36-hour answer turn around, and flexible equity requirements. (The SBA has loan funds available now.

The SBA approves more than 90 percent of all applications received and more than 90 percent of loans approved perform as agreed. The SBA approves farm loans as well as loans to more traditional small businesses.

No loan is too small for the SBA. The smallest loan last year, in the northeast area was $16,900 in Nance County while the largest was $955,000 in Boone County.

In Wayne County, two loans were granted in fiscal year 1999 with a combined total value of $292,000. Since 1995 there have been 12 loans granted.

For more information about an SBA loan, those interested are asked to contact a Nebraska banker or call the SBA at (402) 221-4691.

Are you ready for next century?

As the 20th Century draws to a close, and we think about the past 100 years and what has occurred in our society, we have probably also started to think about the past 100 years and what has occurred in our society, we have probably also start-positive and supportive environment allowing all family members to thrive and develop to their fullest potential during their lives. Think back at those individuals in your family who played key roles in your life. I am sure that many may say how secure they felt in that person's presence and how much support they received.

Sustainable families can efficiently access and utilize needed resources, including money and can live together in a reasonably healthy manner.

These families avoid high risk behaviors and situations such as drugs and alcohol. They work together to make a supportive environment for the community. When we think about what we want in the next century, I hope that strong families rank high on the list.

In strong families there are positive role models who "practice what they preach." They show respect to others and care about the world around them. They are not wrapped up in worldly possessions, causing them to forget their families.

Think back to the role models that you may have had throughout your life and ask yourself if you are being a positive role model to someone in your family or community.

Sustainable families have the power to make their workplace and their community more "family friendly." Wouldn't it be a great thing to have our communities grow as the result of friendliness?

Sustainable families are resilient enough to cope with hardships and to bounce back from adversity. Sustainable families work together with neighbors, friends and extended family to solve problems and deal with change. Recall a time when you leaned on friends and family during a difficult time in your life. Wasn't it reassuring to know that there was someone there for you?

Sustainable families need skills and support in three major areas. These areas include resources, relationships and a sense of community. If a family has a deficit in one area, the other areas are impacted, but as they work together they can build a stronger family through utilizing resources, strengthening relationships and giving to the community.

We want future generations to think about building a stronger family so that they will look back and realize the importance of continuing this tradition. I bet there is a strong possibility, that when the next century rolls around, community, relationships and resources will be an important part in our families and maintaining our livelihoods.

Wishing each of your families the very best in the next century.

ed to think ahead into the next century and the changes that might take shape. Hopefully creating and maintaining a strong family is something that each of us will continue to work toward.

We have been hearing so much about the year 2000. This has mostly been in relationship to computers and other equipment, but we have not been hearing much about how our families fit into the plan.

Looking back over the years, I realize family has been very important. Even though the family may be changing, there are several things that we must remember as we continue to nurture sustainable families.

COLLECTS 2,075 ITEMS

The Wakefield Student Council challenged the students in school to assist the Wakefield Lions Club with their Christmas Project by donating food and other items. The classes responded by gathering 2,075 items. This is nearly twice the amount collected a year ago.

The Wakefield Lions Club has 22 local families on their list this Christmas where the items will be distributed, along with mittens, caps, Christmas gifts and a turkey or ham.

As an incentive, the Student Council offered a pizza party to the class donating the most items at the elementary and secondary levels. The Junior Class and Mr. Brenn's sixth grade class were the winners. The upper grades collected 1,232 items and the lower grades 843.

Members of the Student Council are Cory Nicholson, Vanessa Nelson, Nicole Kay, Sarah Adink, Brian Schwarten, Luke Hoffman, Todd McQuistan, Richie Dutton, Ryan Carson, Jennifer Victor, Joseph

Nelson, Nicole Greve and Jenna Paulson.

ARTIST OF THE MONTH

Art Instructor Kirby Mousel named 21 students, 12 elementary and nine secondary as Artists of the Month for December.

They are Javier Dutton, Alex Anderson, Chelsey Victor, Beatriz Carranza, Christian Gallardo, Colby Henderson, Kayla Lynn, Audrey Combs, Mark Schroeder, Diana Ramirez, Megan Mousel, Donald Odens, Erick Klein, Lisa Mariano, Matt Petersen, Lexi Nelson, Eric Bodlak, David Petersen, Amber Johnson, Travis Conner and Kyle Gardner.

The students' art work which earned them the designation is currently on display in the art room.

MEMBER OF HORTICULTURE CLUB

Jennifer Roeber of Wakefield is a member of the Horticulture Club at Northeast Community College in Norfolk. She is the daughter of Byron and Marcie Roeber.

Career opportunities for students graduating with a degree in horticulture exist in various areas. Both large and small communities have garden centers that offer local opportunities for employment.

Golf course operations including green and fairway management jobs exist in residential, recreational and commercial settings.

Other opportunities include careers in interiorscape design and management, floral design, botanical gardens and arboreta and athletic grounds management.

WINS CHRISTMAS BARN

John Wreidt was the winner of the Christmas Barn built by the Wakefield High School Industrial Arts Class. The drawing was held at the Osmond Basketball game on Dec. 21.

The class made around $1,000 on the project which, according to instructor Daryl Harrison, will be used to purchase tools for the department such as a sliding compound miter saw. The tools will be used to build another barn to be given away around Valentine's Day and to begin construction of a weight room/garage.

BLOOD BANK SCHEDULE

The Siouxland Blood Bank will be in Wakefield on Wednesday, Jan. 5 to accept donations from the community. Hours at the Legion Hall will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Blood Bank will be back in Wakefield on Monday, Jan. 10 to accept contributions from employees of the M.G. Waldbaum Company. Also on Jan. 10, a mobil unit will be at the Allen Fire Hall to accept donations from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Persons in Pender will have an opportunity to contribute on Tuesday, Jan. 11. The Blood Bank will be at the Fire Hall there from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

The Wakefield Board of Education held its regular monthly meeting on Dec. 13 in the boardroom. Board members present were Brown, Kratke, Lueth, and McAfee. Also present were Superintendent

Moody and Principals Heimann and Widner. Visitors were Don Zulkosky, Kirby Mousel, Jon Carlson, Wayne State Student Kris Crane, Cathy Stading, LaVonne Carson and Lynnette Haisch.

Jon Carlson of Carlson West Provondra presented preliminary architectural specifications and options for a proposed community/school recreational facility.

LaVonne Carson began the school year with 160 students. She also reported in depth on the recommendations and requirements of the National Honor Society.

Lynnette Haisch teaches 18 sixth grade students. The class is presently involved in literature circles, the study of Canada and pronouns.

Cathy Stading favorably responded to leveling the first grade classroom she teaches. The class is studying Christmas Around the World. Lastly, Stading expressed a desire for the elementary teachers to attend the Reading Conference.

Athletic Director John Torczon informed the Board that a large crew installed 40 lockers in the locker room. New shower heads and additional lockers will also be installed. Concerning the fall sports, Torczon expressed that he was impressed with the attitude of students and coaches.

Principals report: Widner informed the Board that 96 percent of the elementary parents attended Parent-Teacher Conferences. Teachers competed a survey after conferences stating concerns and/or favorable comments.

Nov. 29- Dec. 3, 32 Wayne State College Students taught clinical classes at the school. Kathy Muller, Janyce McQuistan, Jan Johnson and Terri Samuelson were instructors for the WSC students. Wakefield students benefited from the small group instruction and WSC students benefited from authentic teaching and classroom management.

Widner reported that she and Heimann attended an ESU 1 workshop entitled Supervising Learning; three teachers and Widner attended two additional High Scope training sessions; and Carol Kiker of ESU 1 is directing the school toward a language arts curriculum that promotes effective learning for Wakefield students.

Heimann reported that Parent Teacher Conferences at the secondary level went well. A questionnaire revealed that the majority of 7-12 teachers preferred conferences in the classroom

Heimann attended a Region III Principals meeting in Neligh, and a new Principals meeting in Lincoln. Topics included leadership, pending teacher and substitute teacher shortage, discipline, staff, and public issues and creating a district portfolio.

In addition, Heimann stated that the high school computer lab is operational; Jean Dorcey received training in the Boys Town Social Skills model, which she said was outstanding; NECC has been contacted about the possibility of having distance learning classes at the school for adult education classes; and the two principals are discussing ways to address student academic needs.

Superintendent's report: Moody reported that an ad has been placed in local newspapers for employment at the school due to some resignations. He also mentioned that the school purchased three used laser printers at a very reasonable price.

Moody stated the school now has three sources of tech support and leadership: Innovative Tech for network support, Mike Johannsen for desk top support and Jim Hopkins from the ESU for general support and guidance.

Committee reports: Building and Grounds: Johnson addressed parking at basketball games, and lighting for the steps at the northeast entrance to the elementary school. Dan Zulkosky gave suggestions as to what could be done.

Policy: Keim stated that the committee's goal is to have the policy agenda completed by the end of February. The next meeting was Dec. 22 on professional growth points.

Labor relations: Kratke reported meeting with three teachers on the master agreement which will hopefully be completed in January.

Technology: McAfee told of sending a few teachers at a time to ESU 1 to learn new programs.

Old Business: Discussion was held concerning the preservation and restoration of a round barn. A meeting will be held in January to determine community involvement.

New Business: They approved to conduct a planning and usage study regarding school owned property by JEO Associates at the expense of the city.

They approved to accept the resignation of Becky Hoffman.

They approved to waive the option enrollment deadline to allow Jorge Gonzales to attend Wakefield Community School provided the resident school district releases him.

They approved the following winter coaching assignments: 7th grade girls, Kevin Erwin; 8th grade girls, Paul Zulkosky; high school girls' second assistant, Steve Klein; and high school boys' second assistant, Wes Blecke.

They went into executive session to evaluate the Superintendent of Schools.

GUESTS

Walter and Dorothy Hale were Christmas Eve supper guests in Merrill Hale's home in South Sioux City. They attended the Christmas Eve services at the St. Paul's Methodist Church.

They all were Christmas Day dinner guests in Tom Otto's home in Norfolk.

Engagements

Magnuson - Schroeder

Krista Magnuson of Lincoln and Trevor Schroeder of Boston, Mass. are planning a May 27, 2000 wedding at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Ron and Karma Magnuson of Carroll. She is a 1996 graduate of Wayne High School and will graduate in May of 2000 from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln with a bachelor's degree in English and minors in Philosophy and Communications. She is currently employed as a marketing assistant at Olsson Associates in Lincoln.

Her fiance is the son of Duane and Betty Schroeder of Wayne. He is 1995 graduate of Wayne High School and a 1998 graduate of Wayne State College with a bachelor's degree in computer science. He is currently working on his Master's degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is employed as a UNIX system administrator at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mom and I talked about everything except what kind of funeral service she wanted.

"We should have discussed it. Things would have been a lot easier."

County elections to be held

All eligible voters which includes, but is not limited to farm owners, operators, partners of a partnerships are encouraged to obtain a nomination petition form the local FSA office to nominate a producer of their choice for the upcoming Committee Election, according to Deb Pieper, County Executive Director of the Wayne County FSA Office.

The nomination for the election of responsible farms is important to ALL farmers. Farm programs administered by the county FSA committees include are not limited to:

- commodity price support loans and payments;
- farm loans;
- conservation cost-sharing;
- incentive, indemnity and disaster payments for some commodities.

This year Local Administrative Area (LAA) #2, is up for election. According to records, LAA#2 has 984 eligible voters and consists of Brenna, Hunter, Leslie, Logan and Plum Creek townships. LAA #1 consists of Deer Creek, Sherman, Strahan and Wilber Townships and LAA#3 consists of Chapin, Garfield, Hancock and Hoskins Townships.

Nomination petitions for eligible voters in LAA#2 will be available at the local FSA office beginning Jan. 3, 2000. A petition signed by the nominee and the preparer is needed to nominate a farmer-candidate for the Committee. A statement must also be included indicating the candidate has agreed to serve if elected. A list of eligible voters will also be available in the office by Jan. 3, 2000. The last date to accept nomination petitions from voters in LAA#2 will be Jan. 21, 2000.

John Deere Day 2000 planned

Logan Valley Equipment of Wayne will hold its annual John Deere Day celebration on Tuesday, Jan. 4, 2000 at the store on East Highway 35.

According to Dave Olson, spokesman for Logan Valley Equipment, this year's event will show how John Deere plans to carry its tradition of trust into the next century.

"Our customers have always had high expectations of John Deere equipment," Olson said. "We'd like everyone to come and see what John Deere has to offer for 2000, because we think they'll continue to get that same great value."

Once each year, John Deere Day gives farmers and their families an opportunity to preview new equipment. In addition to featuring the new 9650 STS series combine and the new 8000-10 series tractors, Logan Valley Equipment will also have special displays for all ages including Weekenders Clothing, Stampin'up, Creative Memories, Pampered Chef, The Beanie Baby Lady, a Petting Zoo and a Pedal Pull. Agricultural displays include Reinke Irrigation, Sioux Bin Company, Hardi Sprayers and John Deere representatives.

John Deere Day is the perfect way to start the new century. We're looking forward to a great event," Olson added.

Mildred Grimm to be honored

The family of Mildred Grimm is honoring her with a card shower for her 80th birthday on Jan. 10, 2000. Cards may be sent to her at 825 East Sixth Street, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

Garlic for Cholesterol and Triglycerides

There are many potential uses for garlic - Allium sativum. These include high cholesterol, high triglycerides, hardening of the arteries, and mild hypertension. Garlic also has antibacterial, antiviral, and antifungal properties.

Since 1975 there have been at least 32 human studies demonstrating the blood fat-lowering effects of garlic. Most involved individuals with high cholesterol, high triglycerides, or both. In some studies, a garlic powder tablet standardized to contain 1.3% alliin was used. The daily dose ranged from 600 to 900mg, and the studies lasted from 4 to 16 weeks. Overall, use of garlic powder for 1 to 3 months resulted in a 9 - 12% reduction of total cholesterol and an 8 - 27% reduction in triglycerides.

Odor-controlled garlic powder tablets may be preferred due to halitosis. Side effects may include heartburn, flatulence (gas), garlic taste or odor, and other gastrointestinal problems. Since garlic reduces the clotting time of blood, persons taking aspirin or other anticoagulant drugs should avoid consuming large quantities of the herb. There are no known conditions in which garlic use could cause major problems.

USDA to open satellite office

The USDA Rural Development has announced that a satellite office will be established at the Security National Bank of Allen to make loan and grant programs more readily available to local and surrounding community residents and organizations.

Assistance will be available at the satellite office to discuss eligibility criteria and help complete applications for low-income subsidized housing loans to purchase homes and for one percent loans and grants to make repairs to homes owned by very-low income persons.

Requests for information about other USDA Rural Development loan and grant programs for community facilities, waste and water, business and industry, and rental housing projects may also be initiated at the satellite location.

Dianne Frye of the USDA Rural Development will be available on the fourth Tuesday (beginning Jan. 25, 2000) of each month between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon at the Security National Bank in Allen.

For further information regarding dates and times, Frye will be available in the area, please check local newspapers, radio stations, and look for posters in public areas. Or call or write the USDA Rural Development office at 402-375-2453 (ext. 4) located at 709 Providence Road, PO Box 218, Wayne, NE 68787.

Happy New Year!

Christmas scenes for 1999

The Big Farmer just retrieved the daily paper from the mail box, and I'm baking a birthday cake for Jesus to take to our family gathering in Seward later today.

That birthday cake, and a white elephant gift exchange, have become two standard traditions for us. Other than these, we have very few things that are the same, year after year. As one respondent wrote to the Lincoln Journal, "our tradition is never doing anything the same way."

There was a time when my Advent season had to include the Messiah, but I haven't heard it for several years. My cousin's family always goes to the Christmas Carol. I've only seen the stage production once.

The "Sights and Sounds of Christmas" are important, but there are so many to choose from, we have to be particular. We did the one at Dana College by that title a few years ago, on a very icy day.

We enjoyed the living Christmas Tree at Nebraska Christmas College for many years, and last year attended the one in Grand Island; two years ago, the one at Capitol City church in Lincoln. We also did Christmas at Concordia last year. Every program reflects long hours of practice and preparation.

That's the thing that has been touching my heart this season: the people who either give up, or abbreviate, their own celebrations to make ours special. Like the carrier who brought the paper this morning. And the firemen and paramedics we saw on the news last night. The clerks in convenience stores, the waitresses and cooks at restaurants; the nurses and docs and lab and x-ray personnel staffing hospitals and nursing homes, the deputies and patrolmen on duty. We salute them! Also, all the people who will be working next Friday eve. Thank you!

One of Winside High's traditions at the close of the high school music concert was for the choir to surround the audience, holding candles, and singing "Peace, Peace" while we sang "Silent Night." It always brought tears. This year, both Kay's choir concert and the St. John school program last night included that number. Goosebumps!

Peace always seems elusive, but we keep speaking of it, and praying for it. After all, Jesus is called The Prince of Peace. And, as the pastor reminded us last night, we can have peace in our hearts in the midst of all the turmoil. My prayer is for you all to experience "the peace that passes understanding" in the next millennium. Happy New Year!

Brad Johnson receives scholarship

Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity announces that Brad Johnson, son of Brent and Penny Johnson of Concord, has been selected as an

Brad Johnson

AGR Excellence Scholarship winner. Johnson is a junior at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln majoring in Veterinary Science and has been involved in several activities such as Pre-Vet Club, Campus Impact, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Heartland Big Brothers, Ag College Advisory Board, and Alpha Zeta Agricultural Honorary Society.

Alpha Gamma Rho is the National Agricultural Fraternity with 63 Chapters and two colonies. Membership exceeds 54,300 men in 50 states and 54 counties. The Fraternity's goal is to make better men and to promote the increasingly important and versatile field of agriculture. To that end the Kappa Chapter has developed many programs to aid young agricultural leaders in Nebraska.

After completing his degree at UNL, Johnson plans to attend Kansas State Veterinary School with the intention of becoming an Equine Practitioner.

Christmas trees recycling notice

The City of Wayne encourages people wishing to dispose of their Christmas trees this year for no charge to take them to the City's Wood Recycling Site. All plastic bags, decorations, and stands must be removed from the tree. The City grinds trees and brush into wood chips which are available to the public for mulch at no charge. To reach this site go to the intersection of East 4th Street and Dearborn Street and follow the paved street east and then south until it turns into a gravel road. The site is on the east side of the gravel road and is open during daylight hours except for holidays.

Free trees are available from National Arbor Day Foundation

Ten free river birch trees will be given to each person joining the Arbor Day Foundation during January 2000.

The trees will be shipped post-paid at the right time for planting between Feb. 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12 inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bimonthly publication, "Arbor Day," and the "The Tree Book" with information about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to Ten Free River Birch Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Jan. 31, 2000.

Students initiated into honorary

The Wayne State Social Sciences Division initiated students into the Wayne State Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, the international social sciences honorary, in a ceremony held recently. Thomas Hansen of Wisner was one of 11 students honored.

Hansen, a senior majoring in public accounting and finance, is the son of Tim and Mary Hansen. He is a member of Phi Beta Lambda, a business fraternity, and the Wayne Business Development Committee.

Pi Gamma Mu encourages academic excellence in the social sciences, social service, student support for the WSC social sciences division and development of leadership skills among its members. The local chapter received recognition for its selection on the 1998-99 Pi Gamma Mu Roll of Distinction. Faculty sponsors of the organization are Dr. Chuck Parker, Dr. Randy Bertolas, and Dr. Jean Karlen. Dr. Ali Eminov is faculty treasurer.
