City Council has first meeting of 2000

By Clara Osten Of the Herald

In its first meeting of 2000, the Wayne City Council passed three resolutions and two ordinances and welcomed a new member to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department

Following two public hearings, resolutions were approved on the schedule of assessment on the sidewalk work done during 1999.

Two property owners who had work done were on hand to ask questions about the project:

Lila Splittgerber, who had several sections of sidewalk replaced on her property, said that while the work was being done, another portion of sidewalk was cracked. The crews repaired it at the time, but since that time, the sidewalk has again cracked.

She was told by city employees

this summer and any problems that have occurred because of work done by the contractors will be taken care of by the contractors

Gary Jeffrey, who had a portion of śidewalk on his property repaired and new sidewalk installed, ques-, tioned why all property owners weren't required to put in sidewalks.

Mayor Sheryl Lindau told him that the issue of installing new sidewalk, in-certain areas is debated each year and because of different conditions such as slope and gap, as well as because of public input, sections are excluded from the project.

· Councilman Willis Wiseman also explained the process the city goes through in determining what areas receive new sidewalk each year that the area will be again inspected — council voted to approve the assessments for the project. Total cost of the 1999 sidewalk improvement was $86,371 with $40,597 being assessed to property owners

Following the public hearing;

Public Works Superintendent Vern Schulz presented the city's one- and six-year street improvement plan to the council

Schulz said that this year's plan was the lightest he has ever proposed and includes mainly maintenance activities.

*This year's plan includes removal and replacement of deteriorated paving in 15 areas throughout the city. Estimated cost for this year's work is $40,000 with Schulz anticipating some of the work being done by his crews.

passed, allowing for final payment to Fagen, Inc., contractors for the transfer station project. The final payment reflects liquidated damages of $4,000 which occurred during the project.

The two ordinances passed at Tuesday's meeting involved the sale of two pieces of land.

The first parcel is Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 6, 7 and 8, Block 10 of College Hill Addition to Four Square, L.P. The second is the south half of Lot 10 and all of Lot 11, Block 4, East Addition to Region IV Office of

Trampel submits her resignation

Donna Trampel, Main Street Director, submitted her resignation to the Main Street Board of Directors on Jan. 11.

Trampel stated that she regretted having to leave the position, but needed to spend more time with her family

She added, "Main Street is a fabulous program that can make an impact and difference in Wayne. I enjoyed being part of it and know it will be successful. I hope people will continue to

Reggie Yates, Chairman of the Board, stated that the Board was "sorry to see Donna leave the position" and that "the Board appreciated her outstanding efforts in getting the program rolling in Wayne."

Korn featured in national magazine

By Clara Osten

Gail Korn, owner of Garden Perennials south of Wayne, has anxiously been awaiting the mail

In-addition to the catalogs she receives for her nursery, she was waiting for a copy of "The American Gardener" magazine.

The Nov./Dec. 1999 issue featured a full-page article on her nursery.

"A staff writer (Christina M. Scott) for the magazine had seen my catalog and selected me to be in the magazine," Mrs. Korn said.

The interview took place, by phone, in mid-luly.

Because the writer was going to be leaving her job, she had only two weeks to get all the information together and the story written. Within that time, I had to get information and slides together, as well as providing references for her to use in the article," Mrs. Korn said.

Since the magazine's release, Mrs. Korn has received a number of email inquiries and letters in the mail asking for her catalog. The magazine is sent to members of the American Garden Society only and is not available on newsstands.

"I have gotten responses from New York, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Louisiana and Arkansas, primarily asking for copies of my catalog, she said. "The major inquiry is about the daylily." The magazine article focuses on Korn's personal touch when dealing with mail-order customers and her love of daylilies (she has 840 vari-

PARTNER COMMENT

-WHEN SHOULD YOU SEE A MORTGAGE LENDER?

If you want to be a serious home huyer, if pays to visit your local mortgage lender first. Your lender can pre-qualify you for a price range home you can realistically afford. In some instances you can actually be pre-approved for a loan up to a certain dollar amount, providing the home you purchase meets certain requirements of the lender.

A purchase agreement from a potential buyer that has been pre-qualified, or better yet pre-approved, will be taken much more seriously than a purchase agreement from a buyer who has not yet visited with a lender.

The Principal's Office

by Dr. Don Zeiss, Wayne High Principal The school rumor mill... 'Have you heard…?

Remember the old childhood game of "telephone?" The message eceived at the end of the line might bear little if any resemblance to hat was said in the béginning. So it is with rumors about school.

Our children report that "Police were in school today!" when the fact s that the D.A.R.E. officers was there for his or her anti-drug presentation. Parents are "absolutely sure" that the math curriculum is being changed so that " the correct answer doesn't matter anymore." or "our taxes are going to be raised so the kids can have air-conditioned school the whole neighborhood is talking about elementary teachers assigning four hours of homework every night, including weekends and holidays!'

And the list goes on. Who can blame a parent for feeling surprised, concerned, upset, anxious, shocked, dumfounded or angry? However, if revail on both sides, the truth will usually prevail too. Therefore, when you, as a parent or guardian, are uncomfortable with something you hear about school, we ask you to do the following: • Call the school, but don't do so anonymously. Identify yourself so hat reasonable and trusting two-way communication may be conducted. Most schools will not respond to anonymous correspondence.

• Speak only of your concerns. If "all" your neighbors share you concern, the schoolhouse door is open for them to meet with the principal or teacher on their own. · Go first to the source of your concern. Don't "jump over the head" of the teacher to contact the principal if it is a classroom issue. Similarly, if the issue is school-related, your first contact should be the principal (or assistant principal), not the superintendent or school board. Use appropriate in-place committees or groups to raise your questions about a rumor. The school's PTA/PTO, parent forums, parentteacher conferences, freshman orientation, etc., provides avenues for

• Discuss the matter in a civil and respectful manner. After all, you are expecting the same type of response from the school personnel with whom you speak. • Read the information sent home from school with your child. Read the school's web page, if access is available. Encourage and expect your elementary/ middle school / high school student to bring home school

 Read your local newspaper, where information contrary to the rumor may have been reported. • Take your children's reporting with a healthy dose of skepticism. Kids often embellish without realizing it. Remember, we want you to have the truth. The shortest distance between a rumor and the truth is the distance between you and the school. You want to know, you have the right to know and you should know. So please ask. PARENTING TIPS:

• Don't let a rumor "simmer and stew" inside of you for weeks or months. Immediately defuse your discomfort by meeting with the appropriate school personnel The myth of "If I make 'waves' my child will suffer" is simply not

• The vast majority of rumors are born out of misunderstanding. Rely on school personnel for clarification of any issues that concern you

Aspirin Warning

The U.S. Surgeon General, the FDA, and the CDC recommend that aspirin not be given to children under nineteen years of age during fevercausing illnesses including the flu, chicken pox, colds, etc. It's important to tell your teenagers not to take aspirin during these illnesses because they often take them on their own. Research has shown an association between development of Reye's Syndrome and the use of aspirin.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library,

The library is proud to announce the arrival of a new Children's Librarian, Peggy Nelson joined the library family in December. Originally from Laurel, Peggy now lives in Pender and is currently a junior at Wayne State College earning her degree in Early Childhood Education: As the oldest of seven children (soon to be eight), Peggy has had more than the normal share of personal experience with children.

Peggy's first library challenge will be managing the Saturday morning (10:30 a.m.) Winter StoryHour program. This program runs from January through March and is particularly well-suited to children age 6 years old. The kickoff of this season's Winter StoryHour is 10:30 Saturday, Jan. 15 at the library. Help your children chase the winter blahs away with a fun story and craft at the library!

The end and beginning of new years often give us pause to contemplate things in our lives we are grateful for and things we would like to change. The library would like to take advantage of this special mindset to sincerely thank those individuals in our community who volunteered their unique skills, talents and wit in 1999 to make the library a better place to visit and work. In our harried, hurry up world, these people chose to give something most of cherish and jealously hoard these day: their time. We are grateful for their precious gift for it has enriched

Thank you 1999 Saturday morning Winter Storyhour Program volunteer readers: Renata Anderson, Debra Dickey, Madge Bruflat, Mable Tietgen, Jean Harrold-Loberg, Colleen Janke, Karen Parker, Mike Jaixen, Peg Webster, Alan and Sondra Stoltenberg, Megan Holcomb, Beth Ann Sharer and Storyhour Coordinator Sarah Moje

Thank you Summer Reading Program student volunteers, Ben Wingett, Tiffany Gagner, Ashley Burke, Amy Hypse, Katy Emanuel, Kelli Kwapnioski, Lisa Miller, Katje Olson, Cali Broders, Heather Headley, Ashley Gentrup, Nick Costa, Kathryn Taber, Brenda Johnson, Michaela Clifford; community reader volunteers, Jodi Lutt, Mary Carstens, Karen-Parker, Deb Whitt, Jennifer Hammer, omnibus volunteer Dorothy Stevenson and SRP Coordinator Leah Agler; special collections exhibitors Fred Webber (coins), Russell Moomaw (stamps), Charles Majer (watches), Beth Milligan (rural life paintings on sawblades), Steve Schumacher (woodcarving) and corporate sponsors Dairy Queen, Pac "N" Save, pamida, Runza, Quality Food Center, Wayne East and Udder Delights:

Thank you Grandmapa Storytime reading volunteers for delighting preschool children in area daycare settings: Gloria Leseberg, Carolyn McEvoy, LaVon Biermann, Bonnie Sandahl, Jeanne Griess, Bev Ruwe, Mary DeFreese, Ruth Victor and substitutes Gertrude Vahlkamp, Shirley Hamer, Marilyn Rethwisch, Rodella Wacker and Virginia Nelson

Thank you inventory volunteers Carolyn McEvoy, Lynne Allemann Karen Parker, Dorothy Stevenson and Marge McCright for helping the staff stay same during their quest for accuracy! And at year's end, we would like to thank Food For Fines contributors Randy and Jill Brenner of Quality Food Center and Don Endicott of Pac 'N' Save and all those in the community who chose to pay their library fines with food items All proceeds were contributed to the Wayne Food Pantry

The volunteer circle goes round and round and eventually touches all of our lives. If you have resolved to get more involved with your community in 2000, think about volunteering at the library. And the best part is, it can never be too late to volunteer. We appreciate re-newed resolutions in July and December as well as January. Happy New Year!

The library's Winter hours are as follows: Monday through Friday, 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10.a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sundays, 2 to 5 p.m. Our phone number is 402-375-3135; fax number, 402-375-5772 (sending or receiving fax charge is $1 per page).

Indians lost buffalo, wars, and land

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association Have you watched many of those films having to do with Native Americans getting gypped out of their land, then getting gypped out of their reservation land? Then getting gypped out of the minerals and what-not on their reservation land?

The old "Manifest Destiny" thing, and the greed and ethnocentrism that made it reality, led to some nasty doings. Of course, such is the history of mankind. Such is the history of life on this planet. Big fish eat smaller fish. Societies with advanced technology took what they wanted from societies that had less sophisticated technology. Read "weapons" for technology if you like: It works.

So, the Indians lost the buffalo and the wars and their land and then the reservation property if it was later found to be worth anything. The best example of the latter is the Black Hills. Read the Treaty of 1868. The Black Hills belong to the Lakota people, period. The U.S. just tore up the treaty in the interest of gold miners.

Now, don't get it up your nose that this is some "politically correct" diatribe. The Mary Poppins liberals think I'm a jack-booted fascist, and the ultraconservative nutzoids think I'm Mary Poppins. Serving as a continuing annoyance to both groups makes one feel that life is worth while

The thing is, Sen. DiAnna Schimek of Lincoln is proposing a constitutional amendment. approved by the Legislature, and then by voters statewide, it would allow Indians to operate casino gambling on the reservations rolling awhile back. The state raised should be allowed.

Some tribes got the casino ball

hell and the feds raised hell and the Santee are already in debt to the tune of $1.4 million for defiance of a court order

So, here's the question:

Why, for once, shouldn't Indians be allowed to keep on keepin' on with a good thing? Because it would. compete with state-sponsored gambling? Because gambling is a bad thing, generally?

One could argue that, if life were fair, Indian reservations are the ONLY places where gambling tioned?

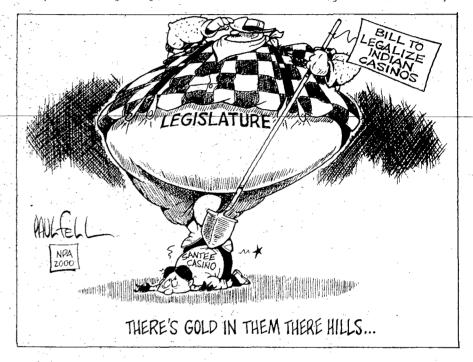

I have often acknowledged and noted that life is not fair; neither is it unfair. Life is simply inexorable. The big cats get the lion's share. That is true in concrete jungles as much as the other kind.

How many times have you thought, or heard someone say: "Oh, wasn't it awful what those people did to the Indians?" This, in the wake of one of those (usually schlocky) movies previously men-

If you're among the Santee, you might feel that way RIGHT NOW. ("Yeah. We found a gold mine, and they showed up and took it away.") it is understandable that there are many among us who simply see gambling as a problem, not a real or potential solution for anything. But,

If white people don't want to gamble, they can stay away from the reservations. After all, they've done a really thorough job of ignoring them for better than 130 years.

Appropriations Committee recommends budget for state, University of Nebraska

Legislature convened in Lincoln on jan. 5. This legislative session will last 60 working days and is tentatively scheduled to adjourn in mid-

I serve on the Appropriations Committee, which recommends the budget for the state of Nebraska and the University of Nebraska. Though the budget was set last session, the committee will still hear requests for monies and deficits. Additionally, I serve on the Legislature's executive Board, the administrative arm of the Nebraska Unicameral

On the first day alone, senators introduced 127 bills. This does not take into account the numerous carry-over bills yet to be considered One such bill is LB 52, introduced by Sen. Kermit Brashear of Omaha, which changes the form of execu tion from electrocution to lethal injection. This bill is ready to be debated on General File and will no doubt take a substantial amount of the Legislature's time.

The problem is that The United State Supreme Court has recent agreed to hear a Florida case assert-"cruel and unusual" punishment and, hence, is unconstitutional if conviction carryout be utilized to owner of licensee of the vehicle is the Court agrees with such an assertion, Nebraska would have no legal means of carrying out the death penalty, unless the use of lethal injection is adopted.

Issues the Legislature will likely address this year include: property. taxes, particularly agricultural property taxes, teachers' salaries, uninsured motorists, and primary seatbelt laws. I anticipate there will also be debate on Sen. Chamber's bill limiting the amount of gifts senators may accept from individual lobbyists. Nebraska law provides that senators may only accept up to $50 worth of gifts per month from an individual lobbyist. Sen. Chamber's bill removes the current statutory exemptions including university sporting events and food and drink

I have introduced LB 1004 which will allow prosecuters to use prior out-of-state Driving Under Influence (DUI) and Refusal to Submit to a Chemical Test convictions in order to enhance the penalty of a defendant's current Nebraska conviction. Only those convictions that would be punishable in Nebraska can be used. For example, if an individual was convicted for

Additionally, I will be introducing legislation allowing the use of cam eras at red lights and signs. This bill creates a new civil infraction establishing a $100 fine for those who are liable for the fine, but I an working on language that will allow the offender to contest the violation by singing a sworn affidavit, subject to penalty of perjury, if someone else was, in fact, driving the vehicle.

Violating the law will not affect an offender's driving record and points will not be assessed. It is my intention that warnings will be placed in order to inform drivers of the cameras' use. The goals for such legislation are to free up police_officers and deter drivers who would other wise run red lights and signs.

I have also co-sponsored LB 936, the Rural Economic Opportunity Act, introduced by Sen. Gerald Matzke of Sidney. This bill gives small and medium-sized businesses tax credits for creating jobs and boosting pay rates.

Maurstad encourages communities to apply for Tech Grants information

Nebraska Information Technology Commission '(NITC)," announced that applications are now being accepted for grant awards, from the Community Technology Fund in the year 2000 This is the second year that the fund, which includes legislative appropriations of state general. funds, will awards grants to communities for information technology projects. "By providing funding for information technology projects, the Community Technology Fund is helping Nebraska communities realize the benefits of the Information Age," said Lt. Gov. Maurstad. Twelve grants totaling $242,250 dollars were awarded to Nebraska communities last year. Examples of funded projects include collaborative projects serving multiple jurisdictions, such as a roving computer lab covering seven counties in Northeast Nebraska and an e-commerce training program targeting six communities across the state.

In addition, Dakota City used grant funds to provide tele-literacy training thorough their library. The Lincoln Area Agency on Aging received a grant to develop information technology training materials for senior citizens. In partnership with the City of Lincoln's InterLinc project, teams of high school students created Web pages for rural communities.

"Nebraska communities are encouraged to submit applications. for grants from the Community Technology Fund," said Maurstad.

Time more important than cash

Lutheran Brotherhood survey conducted in 1998, twice as many Americans believe that volunteering time is more important than giving money to charity (53 percent versus 23 percent).

Thus, those with more limited funds to help an organization financially need not feel discouraged.

The time and expertise that people of all financial backgrounds can give as volunteers is also invaluable to many organizations.

This information is presented as a public service of Lutheran Brotherhood district representatives Doug and Lynette Krie. For more information call 375-5532.

Blue Devil basketball teams drop home contests

Laurel-Concord sweeps Wayne

Laurel-Concord's Katle Peters attempts to drive past Wayne defender Leah Dunklau and is fouled during first half action of the Lady Bears 46-44 win over the Blue Devils. Laurel-Concord improved to 9-2 with the victory.

Wayne's April Thede puts up the short jumper during the fourth quarter of the Blue Devils tilt with Laurel-Concord.

By Kevin Peterson Of the Herald

The Laurel-Concord girls and boys basketball teams came in to-Wayne, Tuesday and swept the Blue Devils as Susie Koranda's Bears held on to beat a stubborn Wayne squad, 46-44 while Clayton Steele's troops handed the Wayne boys a 49-40

In the girls contest the Bears grabbed a 23-21 lead at the half and looked as though they might put the game away late in the third quarter as they built a 39-27 lead.

Wayne however, had other ideas about just giving the game away and fought back to with in one point at 44-43 with under 30 seconds remaining.

Junior Monica Novak went on a tear, hitting three-pointers on three of four trips down the court during stretch in the final stanza which helped Wayne erase the deficit.

We were down by 13 points during one stretch in the fourth quarter but Monica's three's and Sara Ellis also had a three-pointer which enabled us to have a chance to win the game," coach John McClarnen said. "I felt however, we were a step slower than Laurel was until that fourth quarter.

April Thede led Wayne with 11 points with all Novak's nine points coming in the fourth period. Sara Ellis scored eight points and Katie Walton added six with Jessica Woehler and Kallie Krugman netting four each and Leah Dunklau, two.

Kari Stewart was the leading scorer in the contest for the Bears with 21 points with Lani Recob adding seven and Brittany Burns, six. Jennifer Demuth and Katie Peters scored five each and Melanie

Thompson, two

"We did a good job of running the floor offensively and defensively," Koranda said. "That allowed us to create opportunities for ourselves. Wayne has a good ball team and we new it wasn't over heading to the fourth quarter and sure enough they (Wayne) battled Laurel-Concord improved to 9-2 on the season with Wayne falling to 6-5. The Bears out-rebounded Wayne, 30-25 with Recob, Burns, Demuth and Emily Schroeder hauling down six caroms each.

Wayne's JV team defeated the Bears, 33-29 as Beth Loberg led the way with 14 points with Shanon Johnson adding eight and Amanda Maryott, five. Karla Keller, Amy Harder and Amanda Munter added

THE LAUREL-CONCORD boys used an aggressive defense to stiffe Wayne's offense

The Bears led Wayne 12-8 after the first quarter and 23-18 at the half before taking a 38-33 lead into the final stanza.

Wayne had trouble connecting on shots from the floor and didn't score a bucket in the fourth quarter until the 1:01 mark.

"Laurel has a very nice team," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "They came to play and we didn't. They totally outplayed us. We played like we didn't want anything to do with them. We were outhustled, outmanned and just didn't show up."

Winside third at own meet

Paul Sok's Winside wrestling team placed third at their own invitational last Saturday, finishing with 138.5.

Plainview won the team title with 156, edging runner-up Stanton by just three-and-a-half points.

Oakland-Craig was fourth with 107.5 and Ainsworth, fifth with 100. Osmond placed sixth with 89 and Battle Creek netted 81 while Randolph scored 66 and Laurel-Concord-Allen, 55. Crofton netted three points.

The Wildcats had nine medal winners including a pair of champions in Jeremy Jaeger and Nathan Suehl. Jaeger notched three pins en rout to the championship. He spent just 5:16 on the mat the entire day out of a possible 18 minutes.

He disposed of Oakland-Craig's Roger Kay in just 1:14 of the championship match.

Suchi pinned his first round opponent then notched a 7-6 decision over Brent Daugherty of Oakland-Craig to advance to the finals were he won an 18-6 major decision over James Machaley of Battle Creek.

Winside had three runner-up placers and one third place winner along with three fourth place medal

Brandon Suehl placed second at 112 pounds and Torn Wittler was runner-up at 140 pounds with Eric Vanosdall losing for just the second time this season, settling for runnerup at 152 pounds, losing 9-8 in the finals to Gene Wolf of Oakland-

Jared Jaeger was third at 103 pounds with Travis Koll (119), Sam Strohman (125) and Justin Koch (145) each placing fourth.

"I feel we did a pretty good job of wrestling overall," Sok said. "This was our third, third place finish of the season in four tournaments."

Sok was pleased to get nine medal winners despite gwing up some size and experience.

"Nate Suehl did a great job in a very tough weight class," Sok said. "He was seeded third and did an outstanding job. Jeremy Jaeger pretty much dominated his weight class and for the most part so did Tom Wittler before he got caught in a

Sok said Vanosdall made a critical mistake in the first few seconds of the match and had a hard time playing catchup, though he nearly accomplished the feat, losing by just one point.

"Our underclassmen really came through for us," Sok added. "Four of them placed second through Winside will compete at the Battle Creek Invite on Saturday.

THE LAUREL-CONCORD-ALLEN wrestlers had three medal winners on the day, all placing third.

Wayne beats N-C Knights

Rocky Ruhl's Wayne boys basketball team defeated state-ranked Norfolk Catholic in Norfolk last Thursday night, 50-47 as Wayne improved to 5-5 on the season.

The Blue Devils trailed 28-27 at the half but took'a two point lead into the fourth quarter at 41-39.

Down the stretch Wayne's defense came up with big plays and Brad Hochstein connected on the front end of a one-and-one with just seven seconds remaining in regulation to put Wayne up by three.

The Knights got one last shot attempt but it fell short as Wayne celebrated its biggest win of the season to date

"These kids did a great job of responding," Ruhl said. "They hung in there and did what they had to do to get the win."

What Ruhl got was a solid performance from his bench. Craig Olson

Former Wayne State coach enjoys success

Former Wayne State men's basketball coach Rick Weaver surpassed a milestone last month that may not likely ever be broken. Weaver has been head coach at the NAIA institution of Baker, Kansas since 1985 and he eclipsed the all-time wins record of 226 set by Emil S. Liston which was established a half-century ago.

Weaver has been the only head men's basketball coach in Collins Gym since it opened in 1985, Ironically, Baker is also the home of the

The Cats battled back from a seven point halftime deficit of 34-27 to out-score the Mustangs, 49-28 over the final 20 minutes

"That was definately the best second half of basketball we've played this season," coach Ryun Williams said. "In the first half we were burt some by turnovers and they (Southwest State) got to the free throw line more than we did."

Williams said his squad executed their sets a lot better in the second half and had their key peope in the

Krista Bernadt had a phenomenal outing for the 'Cats, scoring a career

"She had an outstanding game, Williams said. "We also feel like we got our second leader back as Ami Pendry played 26 minutes for us. That's the most she's played this Pendry, closer to 100 percent since injuring her ankle in preseason, scored 11 points and was one of four 'Cats in double figures. Sara Miller poured in 17 and Karen Hochstein tallied 13.

Pendry's three-pointer at the 10:27 mark of the second half put WSC ahead for good.

Down the stretch the 'Cats' converted 20-of-22 foul shots to record a season best 92 percent from the charity stripe.

WSC edged the Mustangs on the boards, 30-28 with Hochstein and Katie Sperling sharing team honors with seven caroms each. Bernadt led the team in steals

The winners hit 12-of-21 shots from the floor in the second half for 57 percent and Williams' crew connected on 51 percent of the shots for the game.

"We can be a pretty good team if we continually put forth a solid effort for 40 minutes," Williams said. "We're 3-2 in the NSIC and in fourth place. We kind of feel that we're in a must win situation this weekend with Moorhead State and Minnesota-Crookston to maintain our upper half of the conference standing," Williams added:

Will Davis Feverfew for Migraine Headache Feverfew (Tanacetum parthenium), was used as a fever reliever as far back as 78 AD. Now, this herb is used to prevent migraines by reducing the severity and frequency of the headaches. Other uses include relief of menstrual pain, asthma. dermatitis, and arthritis The active ingredient is parthenolide which inhibits the release of serotonin from the blood platelets. Parthenolide relieves nflammation by inhibiting prostaglandin synthesis and the release of arachidonic acid. Few studies have been conducted on the use of feverfew for migraine headache prevention A randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, crossover study of 76 patients showed a 24% reduction in the number of attacks, but no change in the duration of attacks. There was a significant reduction of nausea In another study, migraine sufferers received either a freezedried. powdered feverfew extract of a placebo. Fewer headaches were reported each month by the individuals who received feverfew. However, headache frequency increased significantly in the group receiving the placebo.

Health risks associated with many

Fad diets aren't best solution

tain type of fuel, so does the human body. Unfortunately the latest lowcarbohydrate fad diets are not the fuel mix the human body was designed to run on. Some of the health risks associated with consuming a high-protein, low-carbohy drate diet over a period of time include:

1. Increased risk of heart disease. The risk of heart disease increases greatly on a low-carbohydrate, low-fiber diet high in animal protein, cholesterol and saturated fat. All three raise serum cholesterol, "bad" or. cholesterol. Elimination of high-carbohydrate, high-fiber plant foods, that help lower cholesterol, compounds the

2. Increased risk of cancer, Risk of many cancers is likely to increase when most fruits, vegetables, whole grains and beans are eliminated from the diet. The National Cancer Institute currently recommends, based on the bulk of scientific research, that you eat a plant-based diet that is high-fiber and low-fat.

3. Poor low term weight control. There is no metabolic magic in low-carbohydrate diets. Those who continue to lose weight after the first week do so because they decrease calorie intake. This can occur because of decreased dietary variety. Greatly limiting the number of foods that people are allowed to eat, reduces their food and calorie intake. But a reduction in variety most often leads to boredom and cravings over the long run. One recent study showed that a high protein meal leads to a greater tendency towards bringing foods, high in sugar and fat, later in the day.

mance. Athletic performance is reduced on a low carbohydrate diet. Since the 1930's it has been known that a high carbohydrate diet can enhance endurance during strenuous athletic events.

5. Rising blood pressure with age. Blood pressure will likely increase with age on a typical low carbohydrate diet. In part, this is because a high carbohydrate, high fiber diet includes more fruits, vegetables, whole grains and nonfat dairy products. This diet was shown to lower blood pressure most likely due to its higher content of key minerals such as potassium, calcium and magnesium. Also low carbohydrate diets do not restrict salt intake, the main reason blood pressure rises

6. Osteoporosis. Over time, excess protein intake, especially from animal sources, increases the loss of calcium in the urine which may contribute to osteoporosis.

Just not excited about millennium

Jan. 8, 2000. How odd it seems to be writing 2000. I'm quite sure I paid some bills by mail this week writing 1999. I have a feeling they will get cashed.

Contrary to what many have written, I don't ever remember contemplating the end of the century and the end of the millennium. The calendar we use is a fairly recent one, and probably isn't even accurate as to the year of Christ's birth. The whole thing kind of sneaked up on me, and I probably did not get properly excited.

As one of our guests on New Year's Eve put it, it's kind of neat to be in a house that was built in the last century as we enter into the next. And, I've enjoyed all the lists; not necessarily always agreeing with the compilers.

One day, in the car, with Kenny G playing Auld Lang Syne, I heard snippets of famous speeches by Kennedy, Reagan, Martin Luther King, Buzz Aldrin, etc., and found myself in tears, literally "awash in nostalgia." I'm a sap for that kind of stuff any time.

I did have extra jugs of water, just in case. A houseful of company and an inability to flush could cause night mares. I'll keep them, for blizzards. But I have never owned a can of Spam. I was more concerned about acts of terrorism. Thank goodness, none of it happened.

Then it was two straight days of football. The Huskers acquitted home, farm, business

Raleigh and LA that night, and all TVs were tuned to the game. And, we called Orlando on Tuesday night, as the Seminoles performed admirably. Brother Jim still believes we could have won that game, too; but we'll never know, I know I could easily do without that war chant.

I've become a fan of Eric Crouch, along with most of the state. But I'm an even bigger fan of his Mom, who raised two boys by herself Next season should be fun-

Today, it's back to reality. I'm cleaning kitchen cupboards, a task I'm really not fond of. New millennium or not, the everyday duties don't change much. I guess I wouldn't have it any other way.

And when I finish these cupboards, the Christmas decorations need to be carted to the attic. No rest for the wicked, in 1999 or

Internet great tool for

By Iill Heemstra, Extension Educator, Wayne/Dixon counties

The internet has revolutionized the way that Americans learn, purchase and communicate. Electronic mail is the number one reason that people access the Internet, but more and more are taking classes, purchasing merchandise and mar keting their product through this medium

The requirements to access the Internet are as follows: a personal computer with a modem, Internet browser software such as netscape or Internet Explorer and an account with an Internet Service Provider (ISP). The most common connection is over the phone lines; therefore, local telephone companies are a very common ISP. Faster (and more expensive) connections can also be achieved through cable, satellite and other types of wiring.

Most new computers come with a modem that is capable of downloading data at 56 kilobytes per second (Kbps). Most phone lines are only capable of downloading at 28.8 or 33.6 KBps. The capability of the phone line and not the computer is often the most limiting factor in connection speed. Until high-speed access is commonly available, the fastest and newest computer is probably not necessary if your primary is for Internet access.

Once connected to the Internet, the hard part begins. Finding information and sorting through the unwanted material can be overwhelming. Good or bad, information on just about everything is posted somewhere on the Internet. Most Internet use can be classified in one of four different ways: communication (e-mail, chat rooms), recreation (recipes, travel, comic strips, sports information), education/business management (online Cooperative Extension publications, current markets) and commerce (online purchasing, marketing your product)

There are several strategies that can help you successfully negotiate the Internet. One approach is to find a knowledgeable person to teach you the basics. Most people tell me that their children or grandchildren taught them everything they know about the Internet:

Search engines are another effective way to find information. There are many different ones, including Yahoo, Altavista, Excite, Lycos, etc. Most of the search engine pages contain advice about good search techniques.

Often you can find the addresses of potentially interesting web sites magazines, newspapers or even other web sites. Many sites contain a collection of "links" to other pages that can provide interesting or indepth information on a particular topic. The Wayne County Extension web site www.ianr.unl.edu/wayne/ contains links to pages of local inter est, as well as for fun stuff, agriculture, families and youth. This site is fairly new and we appreciate any suggestions for improvement or additions to our collection of links.

If you find a web site that provides interesting or useful information you can add it to your list of "bookmarks" or "favorités" in order to easily return. These features are found in your Internet browser software. Once the site is no longer use ful, it can be removed from the list.

The Internet will continue to evolve as a tool for the home and venience. You can learn, shop and "surf" when you have the time. Many farms and small businesses are also finding that the Internet opens markets for their products that reach far beyond their local area. A business owner or employee can enjoy the advantages of small town life and still access the education needed to keep their job skills current and can market their product to people far away.

More than 1,100 people visited Logan Valley Equipment last week during John Deere Day 2000. # Svobodas earn

The Leon Svoboda family of rural recently received Conservation Honor Farm Award.

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Conservation Honor Farm awards were first presented in 1973. Each year award winners are selected for their demonstrated excellence in soil and water conservation activities in their farming operations.

Leon and Tami Svoboda and family, of rural Pender, were selected to receive the 1999 Conservation Honor Farm Award. The Svobodas have two children, Erin and Brent.

They were nominated by the Wayne county Natural Resources Conservation Service office in Leon has been in operation the past 25 years. His farm is a grain and livestock operation and consists of 480 acres-all of which are adequately treated.

Prior to 1990, Leon put in: *8,200 feet of terraces *2,700 feet of tile outlet

*seven and one half acres of grassed waterways

*seven acres of critical area seedlings *one acre of farmstead windbreak

Leon raises corn and soybeans as his main crops. He drills the soy-beans and then no-tills his corn into the soybean stubble.

Soil and water conservation are the two main benefits Leon reaps from his conservation practices. His conservation tillage and no-till farming also allows for increased organic matter and soil structure in his fields which provides him the benefits of retaining much of the moisture that falls on his land

Leon also raises hogs. He built a two-cell lagoon in 1993 to contain the animal waste. The lagoon was purposely over-sized to provide more than adequate storage Protecting water quality is the main benefit derived from his animal waste control facility. He also saves time ny not having to haul manure. Less soil compaction is another benefit by not having to haul in the spring and fall when field conditions are not ideal and the soil is slightly

Leon has established farmstead windbreaks around his homestead headquarters and also his tenant farm. They have also established a native wildflower plot on their home pace. He has also been instrumental in establishing a grass cover in the country road right-of-ways that border his farms when new construction has taken place in that

According to the NRCS office staff, "Leon is a dedicated conservationist. He sees so many benefits from his conservation practices that he says there is no other way to operate. He sincerely believes in conserving his natural resources Leon has done an exceptional job of maintaining his conservation practices on his farm and was one of the first producers in this area to install conservation practices."

Dr. Reinert handed out to Board members an updated budget that Buster Beckenhauer, Beckenhauer Construction and Gary Bowen, BVH, have been working on to get closer to the budget. Value engineering is being looked at carefully for the project. Floor plans are coming along with the casework being incorporated into the drawings. One topic of discussion was the height of the ceiling in the gymnasium. The regulation height for volleyball is 35 feet. Adequate ceiling height for basketball if 25 feet. The high school gymnasium ceiling height is 22.9 feet. It was decided to make the ceiling height in the middle school gym 25 feet. On the drawings, there were steps planned to be coming out on the Gary Bowen, BVH, have been working on to were steps planned to be coming out on the south side of the gym.
