Honored citizens

Sister Gertrud Marie Wolfer, a Missionary Benedictine Sister at Providence Medical Center was chosen as the 1999 Citizen of the Year. The award was presented to her during the Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet on Sunday. She thanked those in attendance for the honor and said, "I hope I can continue to serve." Brad Weber, Instrumental music teacher at Wayne High School, was selected as the 1999 Educator of the Year by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce. In accepting the award, Weber told his audience that he was humbled by it and praised the parents and students he works with for their support of his efforts.

By Clara Osten
 Of the Herald

Annual reports were presented by the Public Works Department and the Building Inspection and Planning Department during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Public Works Superintendent Vern Schulz outlined the work that had been completed by his department in 1999 and what is being done at the current time.

George Ellyson, Chief Inspector / Planner, told the council that he was pleased with the progress in the city this past year to resolve housing complaints.

The council also reviewed and made changes in the announcement regarding the position of city administrator. The Birmeyer Group, Inc. has developed the announcement and a time-line for the hiring of a new city administrator.

A representative of the firm will be in Wayne at the council's April 11 meeting and again on April 28-29 for the interview of candidates.

The council approved Resolution 2000-6 which authorizes a partial release of Escrow Funds for the Gary Donner Addition improvements.

Members of the Wayne Middle School FRIENDS group were present at the council to request the city's assistance in getting a sign placed along Highway 35 west of Par 'N' Save.

The group is proposing to have a sign, approximately eight foot by 10 foot, stating "Wayne FRIENDS, Building a Drug-Free Community" placed on land owned by Don Endicott. However, the Nebraska Department of Roads requires that an application be made by the city before such a sign can be installed.

The group is currently conducting a contest for the design of the logo and applying for grant money to pay for the sign.

Karl Kasbaum of Contryman Associates, P.C. was present at the meeting to present findings of the fiscal year 1998-99 audit.

He told the council that the city's financial status is healthy and that funds held by the city have remained relatively stable.

He also praised the city employees for their cooperation during the audit.

Ordinance 99-18 received first round approval on a 5-2 vote.

The ordinance would amend the

Dr. Kenneth Liska is named 'Veterinarian of the Year'

Dr. Kenneth Liska, a practicing veterinarian from Wayne, was announced as the "Veterinarian of the Year" for 1999 by the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association (NVMA). The award was presented on Jan. 22 during the 104th Annual Convention of the NVMA at the Holiday Inn in Kearney.

Born in Niobrara, Dr. Liska went into partnership with his late brother, Jay Liska, also a veterinarian, in the Wayne Veterinary Clinic following his graduation from Iowa State University College of Veterinary

Stenberg stops in Wayne

Nebraska Attorney General Don Stenberg and his family were in Wayne on Friday as part of their statewide tour to announce his candidacy for U.S. Senate.

"For the last nine years I have had the honor of representing all of the people of Nebraska as your Attorney General," Stenberg said. "During that time I have fought for safer schools, streets and neighborhoods for our families, defended Nebraska's irrigation water for our farmers and ranchers and helped senior citizens by fighting consumer fraud."

Stenberg has gained the support of Governor Johanns, all of Nebraska's statewide constitutional officers, more than a dozen members of the Nebraska legislature and thousands of Nebraskans.

Among the issues Stenberg feels will be important in the upcoming election is education.

"To improve education, we need personal responsibility, high standards, classroom discipline and safe schools — not federal mandates. We can improve all our schools by making more educational choices available for parents," he said.

The agricultural economy is also an issue important to Stenberg.

"We need to rebuild our agricultural economy. It is fundamentally unfair that those who produce our nation's food should have difficulty feeding their own children. We need national policies that will lead to fair, profitable prices for our farmers and

Police keep busy with arson and burglary

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department and Wayne Police Department responded to a vehicle fire call shortly after midnight on Wednesday morning, Jan. 12 at 114 S. Lincoln Street.

A 1993 Hyundai Sonata sedan was engulfed in flames when the Fire Department arrived. The car, valued at over $4,500 was a total loss. The fire also caused damage to the house next to where the car was parked.

Officer Matt Hoffman of the Wayne Police Department and Deputy Fire Marshal LaVerle McDonald investigated the fire as a suspected arson. Subsequent to the investigation, 22-year-old Lynette Phillips and 21-year-old Kendra Wagner, both of Wayne, were arrested on suspicion of Second Degree Arson. Both suspects were jailed and are awaiting formal charges.

Shortly after 2 a.m. on Friday morning, Jan. 21, Officer Rick Haase of the Wayne Police Department, investigated a suspicious vehicle he saw parked on the west side of the Wayne High School.

He discovered two juveniles in the act of burglarizing the school. Two suspects, ages 17 and 16 were apprehended after a short pursuit.

Wayne Officers Matt Hoffman and Jeff Billiar assisted in the apprehension and investigation of the burglary. The suspects had removed several tools from classrooms and the auto shop area prior to being discovered by Officer Haase.

Both suspects are students at Wayne High School. Both were jailed pending the filing of formal charges.

Numerous thefts are investigated in Wayne

Officer Dan Enemann of the Wayne Police Department and members of the Wayne State College Campus Security are investigating several thefts from vehicles.

Four vehicles were broken into during the early morning hours of Friday, Jan. 14, and car stereos were stolen from each car. The suspects broke side windows out of each car to gain entry.

The suspects may have been driving a brown 1980's Oldsmobile. A car matching that description was seen by witnesses driving slowly through the parking lot the night before.

Sometime between Sunday, Jan. 16 and Tuesday, Jan. 18 someone stole a maroon Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme from Lot 4 of Wayne State College. This car was recovered by the Omaha Police Department, where it was abandoned. The suspect(s) tried to steal another vehicle on the 16th but were unsuccessful.

Anyone having information about these crimes can call Officer Matt Hoffman of the Wayne Police Department.

Winside High will present 'You're A Good Man Charlie Brown'

By Dianne Jaeger
 Winside Correspondent

Winside High School, in Association with Tam-Witmark Music Library, Inc., will present its all school play, "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown" this Friday, Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m.

The performance is for the general public and will be in the elementary school multi-purpose room. Adult tickets are $4 and students, K-12, $2.

"The play was selected last September" says director Terri Hyspe, "before everyone knew Charles Schulz would be retiring after 50 years of 'Peanuts.'"

Assisting Mrs. Hyspe as director is Winside Music Instructor LeNeil Quinn. The two-act production will run around an hour and a half. "Some people don't realize the expense involved."

Activities are planned at St. Mary's School

In observance of Catholic Schools Week, Jan. 30 - Feb. 4, the students and staff at St. Mary's Elementary School in Wayne will be involved in a number of special activities.

On Sunday, Jan. 30, an all-school Mass will be held at 10 a.m. followed by an open house and book fair at the school.

Monday through Thursday mornings, the students will gather for a prayer service focusing on the "Our Father."

On Thursday, Feb. 3, Father James McCluskey, pastor of St. Mary's, bless the children's throats.

On Friday, Feb. 4 the students will participate in Jump Rope of Heart for the American Heart Association. Friday is also Important Person Day in which the children are asked to choose an adult and invite him or her to be involved in the day's activities.

St. Mary's School will host the Chamber Coffee on Friday at 10 a.m. This will be followed by an open house and a Book Fair by Scholastic. School will be dismissed at 11:30 a.m.

The theme for this year's celebration is "Lighting the Way to a New Century."

Pope John Paul II wishes that the year 2000 will be a "new Springtime of Christian life" to strength the faith and Christian witness of all Catholics.

"Renewal is in the air," said Laura Hochstein, Head Teacher at St. Mary's. "The year 2000 is a time for us to take stock of where we have been and how far we have come. We are expectant and hopeful for the innovations, discoveries and events that will shape the century. Catholic Schools Week is a great time to reflect upon these hopes and dreams."

Former Miss America will speak in Wayne

Tara Dawn Christensen, Miss America 1997 will speak at Wayne High School on Wednesday, Feb. 9.

The former Miss America will promote living up to one's potential. She supports sexual abstinence until marriage.

She speaks from experience that "God saves the best for those who will wait."

Mrs. Christensen encourages her audiences to decide on their dream, determine a plan of action and don't give up. She provides examples from her own life on the need to "do what you say you will do."

Mrs. Christensen will speak to high school students at 12:50 p.m. and to middle school students at 2 p.m. Both assemblies will be in the High School Lecture Hall.

Parental permission is required for students in grades six through 12 in the Wayne schools. Without a signed permission slip, the students will not be able to attend.

In addition, fifth and sixth grade students at St. Mary's Elementary School in Wayne and students from Sacred Heart School in Emerson will attend the assembly.

Mrs. Christensen will be speaking to a number of northeast Nebraska

EXPERT ANSWERS TO TAXING QUESTIONS

How long am I required to keep old tax records?

Receipts, cancelled checks, interest statements and any other record that document income of a deduction shown on your tax return should be kept until the period of limitations for what return expires. This is usually three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later. However, there is no period of limitations when no return is filed or fraud is involved. If you are an employer, you must retain employment tax records for at least four years.

city code in regard to parking along East 10th Street and on the west side of Pearl Street between Second and Third Streets.

The issue had been discussed at previous meetings but Councilman Darrel Fuelberth and Councilperson Jane O'Leary asked that the issue be brought up for discussion again.

An update was given on a meeting with the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation (WCHDC), three council members and the mayor.

After discussion, including whether council members should attend WCHDC meetings, council members agreed that they would like to have periodic reports from the WCHDC on projects they are involved with at that time.

A public hearing date was set for Tuesday, Feb. 8 at 7:35 p.m. on a request by Arnie's Ford Mercury, Inc. to rezone several lots from B-3 (Neighborhood Commercial) to B-2 (Central Business District).

In other action, Mayor Sheryl Lindau read a proclamation in regard to Food Check Out Day on Feb. 9. On that day, the average American will have earned enough money to pay for food for the entire year.

Medicine in 1969.

Examples of what Dr. Liska has done during his 30 years of practice in Wayne include development of specific vaccines for clients, implementation of reproductive checks, mastitis control programs for area dairymen, and consultation for large sow farrowing units.

Signifying his pride in his profession is a quote listed in his nomination: "We have a great profession. Work hard and be honest and you'll do just fine. There's a lot of opportunities out there and a veterinarian's training provides a fantastic background."

An active member of the state association, Dr. Liska served as president in 1985. Previous to that he was president-elect, secretary-treasurer and director-at-large. He has served on numerous committees including chairmanship of the Continuing Education Committee and Convention Chairman.

He is a past president of the Interstate Veterinary Medical Association and also has memberships in the American Veterinary Medical Association, American Association of Bovine Practitioners, and American Association of Swine Practitioners.

In the community of Wayne he has served on the Wayne School Board, Board of Zoning Adjustment member, Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, been a Wayne City Planning Commission member, and a volunteer fireman. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge, Kiwanis, and is on the Board of Directors for Farmers & Merchants State Bank in Wayne.

He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church where he has served as an elder of the Session Board plus numerous other committees.

Dr. Liska and his wife Jan, have three children, a daughter Kim, and two sons, Eric and Jason. Both sons have become veterinarians. In addition to his brother Jay, Dr. Liska has another veterinarian brother, Dr. William Liska, who practices in Houston, Texas.

ranchers." Taxes are a third area of concern for Stenberg.

"Taxes are an important family issue. When government takes too much money in taxes, there isn't enough left to meet a family's needs. Lower taxes mean more money left in the family for college costs, medical expenses and child care expenses," he said.

"Right now, the average American family pays more in taxes than they pay for food, housing and clothing combined. It's time for a tax cut."

Stenberg is vying for the Senate seat that is being vacated by Bob Kerrey.

Earns scholarship

Erin Milander of Wayne has been awarded a $5,000 Board of Regents Scholarship from Concordia University at Seward, beginning with the fall semester of the 1999-00 academic year.

Milander, daughter of Wendell and Karen Milander, is a student at Wayne High School.

Milander's scholarship, awarded for academic achievement, is valued at $1,000 per year and is renewable for up to five years.

Kerrey rocks politics

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Rockin' Bob Kerrey has rocked Nebraska's political world, again. He's leaving politics, again.

Veteran Kerrey watchers long ago learned that trying to predict what he would do was a futile enterprise.

When he announced that he wouldn't seek a third term in the U.S. Senate, Kerrey acknowledged that he had prepared two speeches. One said he would seek another term, the other said he would not.

In the end, Kerrey said, it was time to turn to his private life and the people in it.

Interestingly, Republican State Chairman Chuck Sigerson had said that Kerrey's earlier announcement - that he was considering leaving the race - was no more than a publicity stunt. Sigerson said that Kerrey's "numbers are down." Now, the likely partisan palaver will be that Kerrey knew he might lose a re-election bid. If you will buy that line, you shouldn't shop for real estate unless accompanied by an adult.

Kerrey once was asked how he would be remembered as a governor. "Well," he responded, "I don't know that I will!"

Those who do track politics over the long haul will remember that Kerrey surprised virtually everyone when he decided not to seek a second term as governor. He said he just didn't have the "fire in the belly" for another four years in the job. What also was apparent was that he wasn't in the mood to have the Nebraska Legislature for a policy-making partner for another four years, either.

The Medal of Honor winner who joked about his wooden leg, the successful businessman who joked about everything, the governor who wore blue jeans to local taverns and shook hands with folks (while he held a cold beer in the other) was something new for Nebraska politics. So was his friendship with actress Debra Winger.

Kerrey's verbal style often left reporters scratching their heads. But, when the chips were down, he could be uncommonly direct. He never hesitated to employ a response often avoided by other elected officials. "I don't know," wasn't something Kerrey was afraid to say. Kerrey also liked to tell a reporter that he or she had missed the point and asked the wrong question. He would then proceed to answer the question which he thought should have been asked.

Kerrey is the only Democrat representing Nebraska in Washington. Former Democratic Gov. Ben Nelson will be the front runner for his party's nomination to the Senate, if he wants it.

Attorney General Don Stenberg, the lone "name" seeking the Republican nomination, might find himself in a primary contest with Republican Rep. Doug Bereuter. With Kerrey out, Bereuter previously indicated, he might risk getting in.

Kerrey said he would continue to participate in public service - but as a private citizen. He stopped short of saying he would never again seek elective office.

That, probably, was smart.

Recognizing volunteers

Housing Authority earns award

Wayne Housing Authority or Villa Wayne has been designated as a "Successful Performer" by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Public Housing Assessment Systems carry out an inspection twice a year and the advisory score listed Wayne Housing as a successful performer.

In the past years, the Villa has upgraded the sidewalks, plumbing and installed new bathrooms. The bathrooms are adapted for the elderly and handicapped with high-rise commodes, new fiberglass showers with grab bars and new vanities and sinks.

In recognition of the improvements and scores, the executive director, Mona Meyer was invited to a ceremony at HUD Headquarters in Washington, D.C. At this event, Secretary Andrew Cuomo acknowledged the directors and other industry partners for their job performance on Jan. 12.

Mrs. Meyer was unable to make the Washington trip, but is "proud of the upgrading and modernization that has taken place at the Housing Authority located at 409 Dearborn in Wayne.

There are 37 apartments at the Authority, two of those adapted for the handicapped or wheel chair residents.

Legislature deals with many things in third week

The third week of the session just came to an end, with morning bill debate and afternoon committee hearings. Committee hearings just began last Tuesday the 18th and will continue until all new bills are heard by its respective committee.

A bill that would mandate restaurants permit smoking only in lounge areas died on general file. Sen. Nancy Thompson of Papillion introduced LB 750 last session as a means to protect restaurant patrons from the effects of second-hand smoke. Those opposed felt that such an issue should be left to the free market.

LB 182, introduced by Sen. Chris

Beutler of Lincoln, failed to advance to the second round of debate on Jan. 21. Titled the Student Freedom of Expression Act, the bill would have established the right of students in public high schools to exercise free speech in student publications in regard to any topic, while ensuring that student publications are monitored to avoid libel, incitement of violence, lawbreaking, or substantial and material disruption of the normal functions of the school.

Several amendments, pertaining to local school boards adopting publication codes, were also introduced, but could not save the bill from defeat. My office received phone calls from constituents expressing concern of the bill's impact. I agreed with my constituents and voted against LB 182. Though I believe that students human embryos and fetuses.

Teachers' salaries were also addressed on this day. Sen. Ardyce Bohike of Hastings introduced a bill resembling the plan proposed by the Nebraska State Education (NSEA). Instead of the 24 percent pay increase proposed by NSEA, LB 1397 proscribes an increase of nine percent. LB 1397 also uses a regional average as its guide rather than the national average found in NSEA's plan. In all, teachers would receive an average increase of $3,125 per teacher.

If you have any comments or questions about any matter pending in the legislature, please do not hesitate to call me at my office: Sen. Pat Engel, Dist. #17, State Capital, Lincoln, NE. 68508; 402-471-2716 or e-mail pengel@unicam.state.ne.us.

Farmer's Wife has guest writer

The Big Farmer and his wife are off visiting the land of Don Ho for two weeks and have left me in charge of the store (so to speak). As the eldest, I'm looked to as the responsible one (ha!) The Farmer's Wife gave me some suggestions for a column. This probably isn't exactly what she had in mind, but she's not here to proof it! Some of my siblings have given orders not to write about them, and since you readers hear about the escapades of the folks every week, I guess I'll have to tackle a neutral topic.

Mom likes to point out the fact that all of those Wayne State music camps, piano and other instrument lessons, and the like must have made some impression on me. At the time, lots of bribing and black-mailing went on to get us to the camps, but I think we all enjoyed being in high school band. It wasn't necessarily cool, but I don't think we were considered nerds or anything. Thanks to Curt and Colleen, Jeffries it was a memorable experience. I don't think I'll ever be able to listen to "25 or 624" (it was one of the group Chicago's first tunes) without remembering playing it at Winside High home games. One of the hallmarks of the high school concerts was the ever present competition between Jon and Ronnie Prince (the trombone section) to see who could play the last note before the curtain opened on the stage for the first number. The choirs were another experience with most of the same kids involved. Remember "down slips" that came out midquarter if your grades were slipping? Can you imagine what you would have to do to get one in music? Well, Jon and Jim Krajcek found out! They tried to keep them out of the wrong hands (their parents) by intercepting the mail at the Hoskins post office, but eventually got busted. One of our favorite memories revolves around trying to remember which guy sang which verse of the "Twelve Days of Christmas." Jon and Brian Bowers like to perform this and seem to be able to imitate each voice nearly to perfect. But I digress from my assigned topic....

One can't help but notice all of the recent references to music in the media these days. Everything from "Music Makes Your Baby Smarter" to "Music Enlarges Brains." Some of it is probably just clever marketing strategies used to sell CD's. However, give the fact that music is organization and manipulation of space and time (spatial-temporal), which is the basis for mathematics, the studies which make reference to the connection between higher math scores and musical experience are believable. We can probably all name certain types of music which make us feel better. There's a reason high school boys drive around with their stereos vibrating their cars and anything else in the vicinity. Rhythm and beat can be very organizing, especially for the young child who is just learning how to coordinate their body movements (and in the case of the high school boy, organizing their hormones!). The parts of the brain which take in this type of information provides an organizing effect for the rest of it. Huge strides are being made when using certain types of music with children who have autism, ADHD and other disabilities.

Organizations such as Kinder-musik® International provide a developmentally appropriate musical program for children from birth to age seven. The curriculum for the infant and the very young child directly involves the parent and provides education about both musical and developmental concepts while providing the opportunity for the children to interact with each other. These classes include rhythmical and repetitive songs and chants, fingerplays, creative dance and exploration of instruments. The curriculum for the older child concentrates on learning to play a specific instrument and even includes writing music. Many communities, even in Nebraska, have at least one instructor. Check out their website to find one in your area: Kindermusik.com. I am just getting started teaching in the Seward area. And the Farmer's Wife never tires of reminding me who got me started.

should be afforded every opportunity to express their thoughts and opinions, school officials must have the ability to determine whether such written remarks are offensive to others.

Additionally, under the bill, school boards could possibly propose policies that are more restrictive than the current limitations found under the law.

Several controversial bills were introduced on the last day of bill introduction. LB 1405, introduced by Sen. John Hilgert of Omaha and co-sponsored by 24 senators, including myself, would put an end to the University of Nebraska Medical Center's use of fetal tissue cells for research purposes. Sen. Jim Jensen of Omaha introduced LB 1417 which would require the Legislature be notified of any medical experiments in the state involving human subjects, including

The Golden Years

Altina Schinasi was known for designing pointy-rimmed Harlequin eyeglass frames. Although the eyeglasses were most fashionable from the 1930's through the 1950's, Altina continued designing these offbeat frames well into her eighties, retiring briefly, before passing away in her early nineties. Before her death, Altina saw her distinguished frame make a fashion comeback, and today, as in the 1930's, rhinestones still remain an optional part of the Altina Schinasi trademark frame.

WSC men suffer first sweep from NSIC foes

The Wayne State men's basketball team suffered their worst weekend of conference play as they lost at Bemidji State and Minnesota-Duluth last Friday and Saturday.

The Wildcats did not lose their second place standing in the NSIC but they fell three games behind Winona State who is still perfect in conference play at 9-0.

WSC, Minnesota-Duluth and Southwest State all share 6-3 records in conference play.

The 'Cats dropped a 75-66 decision to the Beavers before falling to Minnesota-Duluth in overtime, 94-88 on Saturday.

Against Bemidji State, WSC trailed by nine at the half, 36-27 but regained a five-point lead at 55-50 at the 7:42 mark of the second half after a 21-6 scoring run sparked by Jon Dolliver's 13 points.

Dolliver enjoyed a career-high performance with 27 points and nine rebounds.

The 'Cats final lead was 57-56 after a pair of free throws by Rory Williams.

Williams' lay-up at the 3:04 mark made it a 63-61 game but the Beavers final nine points came from the foul line when WSC was forced to foul.

"We were a half-step slow in every aspect of the basketball game on Friday night," WSC coach Greg McDermott said. "We didn't appear to be ready to play. We had our share of opportunities in the second half especially with a five point lead but we just didn't get the job done."

"Mac" did credit Jon Dolliver's performance as being very aggressive on offense.

Brad Joens was the only other 'Cat in double figures with 13 points.

WSC edged the Beavers on the boards, 33-31 with Eric Henderson leading the way with 10 caroms while Dolliver had nine.

SATURDAY IN DULUTH the 'Cats fell victim to "Quigley down under" as Duluth's Josh Quigley scored a career high 40 points.

Last year's NSIC player of the year hit 16-of-20 shots from the floor and was 2-2 from three-point range while connecting on six-of-eight free throw attempts.

WSC trailed the host team, 38-34 at the half and trailed by 10 points at the 15:20 mark but the 'Cats bat-led back and took a 78-77 lead with 41 seconds left on a Brad Joens jumper.

Duluth built a three-point lead with just 12 seconds left before Joens drained a heroic three-pointer with just four seconds left on the clock to send the game to overtime.

The three-point shot hit the rim and bounced straight up several feet and dropped through the rim.

"That was a big shot," McDermott said. "I'm not sure that ball had any business going in but we sure weren't going to give it back because we felt we had a chance to take care of business in overtime and we got up right away by two points."

Eric Henderson hit a jumper to give WSC an 83-81 lead but Duluth scored the next five points and never trailed again.

Scott Hansen's three-pointer closed the gap to three at 91-88 with 18 seconds left but that was WSC's final score.

"Our defense just didn't bail us out this weekend," McDermott said. "That's something we haven't struggled with this season but now it's time to bounce back."

Nathan Mulder led WSC's efforts at Duluth with 21 points including a 20-point second half. Brad Joens poured in 19 and Jon Dolliver netted 14 with Eric Henderson also in double figures with 12.

WSC maintained a 41-34 advantage on the boards as Henderson notched another double-double with 11 caroms to go with his 12 points.

Mulder had eight rebounds which was a season-high.

The 'Cats will look to bounce back this weekend with a pair of pivotal conference games at Minnesota-Morris on Friday and at Northern State on Saturday.

Devils to play at Cedar Thursday

Wayne girls fall in overtime

The Wayne girls basketball team was defeated in overtime at home by Tekamah-Herman, Tuesday night, 47-41 as John McClarnen's team fell to 8-7 on the season.

The Blue Devils took a 31-24 lead into the fourth quarter only to have the visiting Tigers double the score on the host team in the final stanza, 14-7 to force the overtime. Wayne was out-scored, 9-3 in the overtime.

"It was a close battle throughout the game," McClarnen said. "We had a five point lead with about four minutes left but could not hold it. Both teams played well defensively but Tekamah-Herman hit nine-of-thirteen from the foul line in the fourth quarter and overtime."

Sara Ellis led Wayne with 10 points with April Thede adding nine and Monica Novak, seven. Leah Dunklau tallied five points and Kristin Hochstein along with Kallie Krugman scored four each.

Katie Walton rounded out the scoring with two points. Ellis led Wayne on the boards with eight rebounds while Hochstein hauled down four.

The Wayne JV's improved to 9-2 on the year with a 46-37 win as Karla Keller led the way with 10 points while Beth Loberg and Lindsey Stoltenberg scored eight each.

Shanon Johnson tallied seven points and Amanda Maryott along with Kari Harder netted four apiece. Amanda Munter and Christina Gathje scored two each and Megan Summerfield added a free throw.

WSC women split weekend games

The Wayne State women's basketball team split their weekend conference road trip to Minnesota with a win over Bemidji State last Friday before falling to the number one team in the conference, Minnesota-Duluth on Saturday night.

Ryun Williams' team took care of Bemidji State in come from behind fashion, 71-62.

The 'Cats trailed the host team by four points at the half, 32-28. "Bemidji State shot the ball very well in the first half," Williams said. "They hit 54 percent from the floor and we had a few defensive breakdowns."

Halftimes however, are made for adjustments and the 'Cats did just that, out-scoring Bemidji State, 43-30 in the second half for the nine point win. A 14-5 scoring run late in the contest sealed the deal.

"Our defensive intensity was prevalent in the second half," Williams said. "We did a nice job of taking away their top gun in Erin Walker who came in as the second leading scorer in the conference."

As hot as the host team was from the field in the first half, it was WSC that was on fire in the second half as Williams' crew connected on 63 percent of their shots from the floor as well as hitting all three shots from three-point range.

Karen Hochstein led the winners with 25 points with Sara Miller adding 13 and Krista Bernadt, 11. Ami Pendry was also in double figures with 10 points.

WSC was edged on the boards, 32-30 with Katie Sperling leading the way with seven caroms. Miller dished out a team-high five assists and Bernadt had four steals for team tops.

Saturday in Duluth, WSC put forth a solid first half, trailing the unbeaten (in conference play) host team by just three points at the half, 28-25.

"We played a pretty gutty first half," Williams said. "Minnesota-Duluth is the best team we've faced this year. They are good and solid at all five positions on the floor."

Williams said he was pleased that his squad defended their (Duluth) half-court offense real well in the opening stanza.

"We gave up an easy bucket right before the half but we were able to tie the game early in the second half," Williams said. "Then we gave up a 16-2 scoring run and never recovered."

The 'Cats gave up a lot of transition baskets and allowed Duluth numerous offensive rebounds, thus second chance points.

"We were tired," Williams said. "Our starters are playing a lot of minutes right now. We need our bench to get us more minutes."

Krista Bernadt led WSC with 14 points with Ami Pendry adding 12 and Sara Miller, 11.

WSC was man-handled on the boards to the tune of 49-30. Hochstein led WSC with nine rebounds.

The 'Cats gave up 19 offensive boards.

Danny Roeber

Activities: Football, Wrestling, Track, Baseball, W-Club & Band
Coach Murtaugh's comments, "Danny picked up his 20th win of the season last week. It's the first time in his career in which he has won at least 20 matches. We are very pleased with how Danny is wrestling."
Danny's comments, "I'm really happy that I got my 20th win but the season isn't over yet and I have higher goals I want to achieve."

Laurel boys sting Bees

Rebecca Johnson drives past a Bloomfield defender during the Bears 70-39 win last Friday.

The Laurel-Concord boys basketball team defeated visiting Bloomfield last Friday night, 80-62 which improved Clayton Steele's Bears record to 11-2.

The Bears led 38-24 at the half thanks to a 24-9 scoring run in the second quarter.

"A lot of missed shots by both teams led to an extreme number of rebounds, (82)" Steele said. "We need to box out better on the boards as we were out-rebounded, 42-40. I was pleased with our team hustle. We got several break opportunities and took advantage."

Blake Erwin led the winners as the sophomore tossed in 20 points while Matt Schroeder poured in 19 more and Ross Gardner, 14. Evan Smith scored nine and Nick Manganaro, eight with Nathan Beckman adding four. Bennie Surber and Adam Hartung each netted three points.

Gardner led the Bears on the boards with eight caroms while Smith had seven. Blake Erwin and Manganaro had six rebounds each.

The Bears will host Wakefield on Friday before beginning NENAC Conference Tournament action on Saturday in Creighton.

Laurel, the number two seed will play Elkhorn Valley in the first round at 4 p.m. The winner advances to the semifinals on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Creighton and the championship is slated for 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 4.

The Laurel-Concord girls won a convincing 70-39 contest with Bloomfield as Melanie Thompson led the winners with 21 points.

No other scoring was submitted by press time.

The Bears, the number three seed in the NENAC Tournament will play Crofton on Saturday at 6 p.m. in Randolph.

The winner advances to the semifinals on Monday at 8 p.m. in Plainview and the championship is on Thursday at 8 p.m. in Plainview.

Emily Schroeder shoots the ball during second half action of the Laurel girls rout of Bloomfield.

Laurel-Concord junior Matt Schroeder goes up for the two-hand dunk shot during first half action of the Bears 18-point win over Bloomfield last Friday night in Laurel. The Bears improved to 11-2 and is the second seed for this weekend's NENAC Conference Tournament. Laurel-Concord will play Elkhorn Valley in first round action at Creighton.

Bennie Surber gets his Bloomfield defender up in the air and draws the foul as the Bears went on to post the 80-62 victory.

Winside's Sam Stroman grapples with Wayne's Ryan Teach at 130 pounds. Teach won a 9-2 decision.

Casey Campbell of Wayne and Travis Koll of Winside battle to the final seconds before Koll recorded a 3-2 victory.

Wrestlers tie

The Wayne and Winside wrestling duel ended with a 33-all tie on Tuesday night in Winside but the Wildcats fell victim to 24 forfeit points due to open weight classes at 125, 145, 160 and 189.

On the mat Winside won six of the eight matches. Both teams were open at 275 and Wayne was open at 103.

Winside's Brandon Suehl won by pin over Adam Blumhagen at 112 and Travis Koll edged Wayne's Casey Campbell at 119 by a 3-2 score.

Campbell led 2-0 until the final 20 seconds when Koll scored three back points. Jeremy Jaeger won a 9-2 decision from Wayne's Danny Roeber at 135 and Tom Wittler pointed a technical fall over Josh Pieper of Wayne at 140.

Eric Vanosdall won a major decision from Wayne's Chris Woehler at 152 and Nathan Suehl pinned Wayne's Craig Hefti at 171.

Wayne's wins came from Ryan Teach at 130 who won a 9-2 decision from Sam Stroman and Ryan Haase with a pin of Dustin Nelson at 215.

Winside's Jeremy Jaeger tries to gain control of his match with Danny Roeber during the Wayne-Winside duel.

Winside grapplers place fourth at Oakland-Craig invitational

Winside's wrestling team placed fourth at the Oakland-Craig Invitational last Saturday, scoring 109.5 points.

North Bend won the team title with 204 points with Oakland-Craig netting 155 and Pender, 143.5. Norfolk Catholic was fifth with 106 followed in order by West Point Central Catholic, Howells, Battle Creek, Tekamah-Herman reserves, West Point, Laurel-Concord, Scribner-Snyder, Oakland-Craig reserves, Ponca, Logan View reserves and West Point.

Winside had five medal winners led by two champions in Jeremy Jaeger and Eric Vanosdall.

Jaeger won all three of his matches by pin including a stick of Norfolk Catholic's Jed Lewis in 5:57 of the 135 pound weight class.

Vanosdall, wrestling at 152 pounds, won a 6-4 decision from Adam Hines of North Bend in the finals after winning his first two matches by pin.

Jared Jaeger was third at 103, falling to Boyd Bender of Pender by pin in the semifinals but coming back to down Jake Olsen of WPCC in the third place match by a 13-0 decision.

Nate Suehl finished third at 171, falling to eventual champ Steve Hagen of North Bend in the semifinals in overtime, 12-10 before bouncing back to pin Brent Daugherty of Oakland-Craig in the match for third place.

Brandon Suehl placed fourth at 112. Suehl lost a 7-2 decision to Whit Brummond in the semifinals and then got to the third-fourth place match where he lost an 8-4 decision to Aaron Tharp of Norfolk Catholic.

Sam Stroman, Tom Schwedhelm and Travis Koll each won a match in their respective weight class but did not medal.

"We didn't have an overall strong showing," coach Paul Sok said. "It was one of the tougher tournaments to date and we wrestled just nine kids because we had a few others compete at the Wisner freshman-sophomore tournament."

Sok said Jeremy Jaeger dominated his weight class and won his fourth straight tournament championship. Eric Vanosdall avenged his loss at the Winside invite to the Gene Wolf of Oakland by pinning him in just 1:21.

"Tom Wittler and Tom Schwedhelm both lost to a couple Oakland wrestlers they had beaten earlier," Sok said. "Nate Suehl came with in an overtime loss of avenging a loss he had at North Bend and making the finals."

Winside will compete at the Ainsworth Invitational this Saturday.

Wayne falls to Albion wrestlers

The Wayne wrestling team lost a duel at Albion last Thursday night, 40-25 despite the fact the Blue Devils won six-of-eleven matches on the mat.

John Murtaugh's team lost 18 points to forfeits at 103, 215 and 275. The six wins came from Lucas Munter and Craig Hefti via the pin as Munter needed just 2:50 to take care of Kris Dorie at 125 while Hefti notched a technical fall over Josh Pieper of Wayne at 140.

Ryan Teach won an 8-2 decision at 130 while Danny Roeber won an 8-0 decision at 135. Adam Jorgensen won an 8-3 decision at 160 and Ryan Haase won a 7-0 decision at 189.

Adam Blumhagen lost by pin at 112 and Jason Fuoss lost a 7-2 decision at 119 while Josh Pieper lost by pin at 140. Gabe Hammer lost a 4-3 decision at 145 to Andy Dozler and Chris Woehler lost a 9-1 decision at 152.

"I thought we competed very well with Albion," coach John Murtaugh said. "We were able to win six of the 11 matches that were wrestled."

In JV action the Blue Devils won three-of-five matches with Joe Brumm splitting his two matches at 125 while Matt Webb went 1-1 at 152. Lynn Junck won by pin at 189.

Last Saturday, four of the freshman and sophomore wrestlers competed at the Wisner tournament with Adam Blumhagen (112) and Casey Campbell (125) each placing first while Joe Brumm (125) and Matt Webb, (152) each placed second.

Wayne State Track teams run at Dordt invite

The Wildcats opened the 2000 indoor track and field campaign in an impressive fashion, highlighted by a 1-2-3 sweep of the men's triple jump, at the Dordt College Invitational last Saturday.

Junior Antonio Jackson led the sweep in the triple jump with an indoor best leap of 44'2-1/2". That ranks third all time on the WSC indoor charts. Sophomore Mike Wells was second in 40'9", followed by freshman David Dooley in 40'8-1/2". Wells also garnered silver in the long jump, leaping 21'.

"I am extremely pleased with how well those three performed, especially for the first meet," said head coach Brian Kavanaugh. "All of them have a lot of room for improvement so it should be a great season for them."

In addition, one school record was set as the 4x200-meter relay team of Scott Asmus, Cory Prochaska, Adam Brandl and Kellin Bretschneider clocked 1:36.07. That was good for third place and broke the old record by over a half-second.

The other first-place performer for the men was sophomore Joe DeL... in the pole vault, who cleared 13'. Junior Matt Kneiff was the runner-up in both the 55-meter hurdles and 200-meter hurdles, clocking 7.87 and 26.50 seconds, respectively.

Freshman Shannon Schumacher cleared 6'3" in the high jump for fourth place, and senior Brad Hrouda was fifth in the 600-meter run in 1:26.99.

The women were highlighted by first-place finishes by senior Marsha Krienke and junior Darr Nickerson. Krienke led the 600-meter run wire-to-wire to win by nearly six seconds, clocking 1:42.93. That was a four-second personal best for her. Krienke also placed second in the 800-meter run, clocking 2:25.19.

Nickerson won the 1500-meter run by over nine seconds, clocking 5:20.6 in her first-ever competitive outing at that distance.

"Both women ran outstanding races," said Kavanaugh. "I think Darr can run under 5:00 for 1500 meters by the outdoor season, and I wouldn't be surprised to see Marsha break 2:20 for 800 meters in a couple of weeks."

The women's 4x200-meter relay squad of Aisha Todd, Jen Olson, Jodi Epping and Tracy Bernecker placed third overall out of the slow heat, just a half-second out of first place. Their time of 1:52.53 is less than two seconds from the school record as well.

"I think if they had been in the fast heat, they could have won," commented Kavanaugh. "They won their heat rather easily."

Other placers included freshman Tracy Bernecker, who was third in the 55-meter dash in 7.4 seconds. She also placed fourth in the long jump.

Senior Aisha Todd was third in the long jump and just missed qualifying for the finals in the 55-meter dash. Senior Jen Olson was second in the triple jump, and freshman Tabbi Raasch was fifth in the high jump.

Next up for the Wildcats is the Hy-Vee Invitational at the University of South Dakota this Saturday.

Wayne boys beaten by Cedar; girls fall to O'Neill

The Wayne boys and girls basketball teams suffered setbacks over the weekend as Rocky Ruhl's boys squad dropped a 59-38 decision at Hartington Cedar Catholic while John McClarnen's girls team fell to O'Neill at home on Saturday afternoon, 60-45.

Wayne's boys led the host Trojans at the half, 27-25 but the Blue Devils failed to answer the bell in the second half as Cedar used an aggressive defense to propel its offense and the host team outscored Wayne, 34-11 in the second half.

"It was a tale of two halves," Ruhl said. "We played a good first half and you have to give Cedar credit for stepping up its defense in the second half. We reverted back to some bad habits when things weren't going our way."

Ruhl said the Blue Devils failed to reverse the ball in the second half in setting up their offense.

Wayne had a 32-29 lead early in the third period and they were at the free throw line with two shots and a chance to extend the lead to five.

"We missed both free throws and then watched as Cedar hit a three-pointer to tie the game which was a real momentum switcher," Ruhl said. "I thought we did a pretty good job of defending their main trio of scorers in Neil Wortman, Matt Hames and Jeff Jones but then Lance Heine drilled us for 21 points including four, three-pointers."

Wayne was anything but warm from the field, hitting just 18 percent from the floor at 6-33 from two point range while connecting on seven-of-fourteen from three-point range.

Eric McLagan led the Blue Devils who fell to 6-7 on the season with 10 points while Klinton Keller netted nine. Brad Hochstein and Joel Munson scored six apiece with Trevor Wright adding three. Dustin Schmeits and Brad Hansen closed out the scoring with two points each.

Wayne won the battle of the boards, 29-24 with Hochstein leading the way with seven caroms from his guard position.

Wayne suffered 17 turnovers with Cedar having just eight. The Blue Devils will play at West Point, Friday.

Wayne's JV team improved to 8-1 with a 47-39 overtime win over Cedar as Brad Hansen led the way with 16 points while Ben Meyer added 11 and Shane Baack, 10.

Luke Christensen scored four points with Craig Olson, Ethan Mann and Brett Parker adding two each.

THE WAYNE GIRLS trailed visiting O'Neill, 29-24 at the half but the Blue Devils only mustered four, third quarter points and stared at a double digit deficit heading to the final period at 41-28.

"O'Neill did a nice job of continually executing its offense throughout the game," Wayne coach John McClarnen said. "They were able to control the tempo. We were able to get good looks in the third quarter but the ball just wouldn't fall. We never got below a 10 point deficit in the final quarter."

The 8-6 Blue Devils were led by Sara Ellis with 12 points with Leah Dunklau adding eight and Katie Walton, seven. Kallie Krugman scored six points and April Thede tallied four while Monica Novak, Amanda Maryott, Beth Loberg and Kristin Hochstein scored two each.

Krugman led Wayne on the boards with 11 caroms. The Blue Devils will play at Cedar Catholic on Thursday.

Wayne's JV team improved to 8-2 on the season with a come from behind 45-44 win over O'Neill.

Shanon Johnson scored 15 points to pace the winners with Karla Keller pouring in 14 and Amanda Maryott, six. Amy Harder netted four points with Christina Gathje and Amanda Munter adding two each. Beth Loberg and Megan Summerfield each netted a free throw.

Coach James Gagner felt this was his team's best performance of the season. "It was a back-and-forth game the entire way and we got the last shot and we scored."

Wayne's freshman team won, 39-31 as Megan Summerfield led the way with 10 points while Alissa Dunklau netted nine and Amanda Munter, eight. Amy Harder tossed in six points and Erin Jarvi along with Heather Zach added two each. Ashleigh Anikputa and Ashley Loberg each scored one point.

Earlier last week Wayne's freshman girls played Laurel-Concord and fell, 33-24. Amy Harder led Wayne with 14 points with Amanda Munter scoring six and Alissa Dunklau, three. Megan Summerfield finished with one point.

Free throw winners

The Annual Knights of Columbus Free Throw contest was held in Wayne recently with winners being announced in both the girls and boys divisions. Winners of each group have the opportunity to participate in the district competition on Feb. 13 at Wayne. Winners of the girls division include back left: Justine Carroll (age 9); Michelle Jarvi (age 10); Kayla Hochstein (age 11); Molly Hill (age 12); Jamie Backstrom (age 13) and Allison Hansen (age 14). Pictured in front from left is runner-up placers, CJ Kay (age 9); Leslie Backstrom (age 11) and Ashley Carroll (age 13).

Sports Briefs

Wayne freshman boys cagers compete

WAYNE—Rob Sweetland's Wayne freshman boys basketball team was 4-2 on the season after a 53-29 win over Wisner-Pilger, recently. The Blue Devils were led by Jon Ehrhardt with 13 points and Ryan Schmeits with eight while Travis Luhr scored six. Mike Sturm and Brady Heithold each added five points. Wayne will play at Ponca on Thursday night.

Wakefield boys defeated at home by Wynot

WAKEFIELD—The Wakefield boys basketball team lost a 61-57 decision to Wynot last Friday night in Wakefield. The Trojans led 14-8 after one quarter of play and 32-29 at the intermission before taking a 45-44 lead into the fourth quarter.

"Defensively we played good enough to win but we are still struggling to shoot a good percentage from the floor," coach Mike Clay said. "Wynot was 9-12 from the free throw line to hang on for the win."

Ty Nixon led Wakefield with 13 points with Wyatt Brown adding 12 and Nick White, 10. Tucker Greve and Ryan Carson scored seven each and Todd McQuistan tallied six. Nick Ekberg rounded out the scoring with two points.

Allen girls improve to 8-6 with victory

ALLEN—The Allen girls basketball team improved to 8-6 on the season with a 58-49 win over Coleridge on Tuesday night in Allen. Lori Koester's team found themselves behind by a 10-0 score early but went on a 15-1 run to take the lead. The Eagles still trailed at the half, 29-28 but took a 46-40 lead into the fourth quarter.

Shannon Koester led the winners with 15 points while Melissa Wilmes added 11 and Rachel Stallbaum, 10. Alicia Liebsch tallied nine points and Stacey Martinson, eight while Angela Prochaska scored three and Jessica Bock, two.

Allen struggled from the free throw line, hitting just eight of 27 attempts.

The Eagles will play at Emerson-Hubbard on Thursday and then host the same Pirates team in the first round of the Lewis & Clark Conference conference tournament on Saturday night.

Wildcats split games

The Winside girls and boys basketball teams split their double header in Wausa last Friday night with the Wildcat girls being edged by one point, 42-41 while the Winside boys tallied a convincing 56-44 win over the Vikings.

In the girls contest Winside trailed Wausa, 33-24 after three quarters of play but Marland Erbst's team nearly pulled off a heroic come-back with a 17-9 scoring advantage in the final stanza.

"We actually took a one point lead with about 20 seconds left in regulation," Erbst said. "Then, Wausa hit a bank shot from the top of the key to put the Vikings up by one but we got a solid 15-foot jumper with about two seconds left and we got the offensive rebound and put-back attempt at the buzzer but neither shot fell."

Erbst said his squad has to find a way to stay with in striking distance instead of having to fight back from double digit deficits in the fourth quarter.

Julie Jacobsen tallied 16 points to lead the Wildcats with Kim Nathan adding eight and Jessica Wade, six. Shannon Bowers scored three points with Brooke Boelter, Amy Rademacher and Crystal Jensen scoring two each. Keisha Rees and Sara Mohr tallied one each.

The Winside boys took a 25-18 lead at the half and led 37-29 after three quarters of play. "Defensively I felt we played very well," coach Tom Meyer said. "We did an excellent job of shutting down their two big guys. We also did a good job of limiting them to one shot. Our guys did a great job of rebounding."

Meyer said his team is beginning to hit their shots and are being patient with the ball on offense.

Adam Hoffman led the winners with 18 points with Scott Marotz adding 13 and Ben Lienemann, nine. Aaron Lessmann finished with seven points and Michael Deck, five while Matt Brogren tallied four.

Allen gals blast Walthill

The Allen girls and boys basketball teams came away with a split with Walthill last Friday night with Lori Koester's girls squad cruising to a 97-23 victory while Brian Hoffman's Allen boys team lost, 75-66.

The Lady Eagles led 48-12 at the half and 82-12 after three quarters of play. Rachel Stallbaum paced the winners with a career-high 28 points with Alicia Liebsch netting 11 and Melissa Wilmes, 10.

Jessica Bock tallied nine points and Stacey Martinson, eight while Elizabeth Bock scored seven and Michelle Marks, six.

Shannon Koester, Katie Koester and Angie Sullivan scored four each with Angela Prochaska adding three and Sarah Sweeney, two. Jennifer Smith was the 13th Eagle to score with a free throw.

Martinson and Stallbaum led the team on the boards with 11 and nine caroms, respectively.

Earlier last week the Eagles lost a 60-54 overtime decision at Wynot. Stacey Martinson led Allen with 15 points with Rachel Stallbaum adding 13 and Alicia Liebsch, 12. Jessica Bock tallied six points and Shannon Koester along with Melissa Wilmes scored three each. Angela Prochaska netted two points.

Stallbaum and Martinson finished with double-doubles and each were also in double figures in rebounds with Stallbaum hauling down 13 rebounds while Martinson had 10 caroms. Liebsch was close to the double-double with 12 points and nine rebounds.

The Allen boys were edged by nine points at Walthill, 75-66 despite a spectacular performance from Austen Stewart who tallied a career-high 38 points.

Allen trailed 35-27 at the half and 57-41 after three quarters of play. "The story of the game was the first quarter," Hoffman said. "We got out-scored, 24-13. Our defense just didn't get going. Our communication was good but we didn't move our feet to contain them."

Stewart's 38 points tied him for game honors as Walthill's Mike Parker also tallied 38 points. Stewart also had 10 rebounds to lead the Eagles.

Micky Oldenkamp scored nine points and Adam Gensler tallied eight while Andrew Purnell netting five points. Joe Sullivan, Brett Keitges and Justin Werner each scored two points for the 0-12 Eagles.

Wayne coffeehouse wins EDGE's best business plan

After Wayne native Mary J. Burt returned to her hometown, she decided to combine big-city ambiance with small-town friendliness by opening a local coffeehouse.

Fellow Rotarians and others interested in revitalizing Wayne's downtown helped the former mortgage broker renovate space that became The Renaissance Coffee House. The idea-turned-reality made Burt the Nebraska EDGE Coalition Best Business Plan competition winner for 1999.

"I've been working for other people all my life, and I decided I wanted to work for myself," Burt said. "I was familiar with coffeehouses and how important a part of the city landscape they were."

Burt turned to the Nebraska EDGE (Enhancing, Developing and Growing Entrepreneurs), a University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension business planning program for manufacturing, retail, service and agricultural businesses. The program helps Nebraska entrepreneurs evaluate their ideas, develop managerial skills and start or expand their businesses, said Marilyn Schlake, program coordinator for NU's Center for Rural Community Revitalization and Development.

"I was looking for a way to finance the business because I didn't have any money," Burt said.

The business plan she developed through the Nebraska EDGE program helped Burt convince a local bank to give her a U.S. Small Business Administration guaranteed loan, she said. The coffeehouse opened in late 1999, complete with a refurbished bar from Leigh, Neb., and fresh muffins and sandwiches from a local baker.

George Land of Merna, owner of home-based Land Argo Sales, turned to the Nebraska EDGE program for marketing information after buying an Argo dealership in Ainsworth. Land placed second in the competition.

Land said he saw potential sales of the amphibious all-terrain vehicles among farmers, snowmobilers and fishers.

Land, a licensed pilot who works nights, couldn't take the Nebraska EDGE class. His wife, Wanda, took the class for him, producing class notes that helped him in his new business. From her notes, Land developed business savvy he never learned as a professional engineer.

"I never had any management or economic classes, so this gave me some basic equations on how to figure out profits and losses," he said.

Cliff and Pat Daily of Hyannis, owners of Cow Country Sales & Service, placed third in the competition. Their business sells tires and sells and repairs livestock, flatbed and cargo trailers.

"We've been in the cattle business, but never a small business like this," Cliff Daily said. "The program helped us analyze our customer numbers."

The program's comprehensive business plan builds a practical "road map" for growth and success, Schlake said.

More than 950 individuals have participated in the training since it began in 1993 as the Nebraska Fast Trac.

Awards total $1,000 and are provided by the US WEST Foundation and the NxLevel Training Network at the University of Colorado-Denver.

"By funding NxLevel programs, we're able to provide the tools for small businesses to become successful," said Marilyn Leonard, regional program officer for the US WEST Foundation.

The Nebraska EDGE program is supported by the US WEST Foundation, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Sustainable Agricultural Research and Education program, the Nebraska Microenterprise Partnership Fund, the Nebraska Department of Economic Development and NU Cooperative Extension. Cooperative Extension is a division of NU's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Nebraska EDGE programs for business will begin Jan. 20 in Grand Island, Jan. 26 in Creighton and Feb. 23 in Lincoln.

For more information about this, Cliff Daily said. "The program helped us analyze our customer numbers." (402)472-4138.

Christian Greeley, 3, is able to ride to Head Start in one of the recently acquired car seats.

Grant provides seats

Children enrolled in Goldenrod Hills Community Services' Head Start program can be safely transported to and from classes, secure in booster seats the agency purchased with grant funds from the Allstate Insurance Company.

In addition, the grant funds will be used to continue a car safety seat rental program.

The Allstate Insurance Company recently awarded Goldenrod Hills a grant of $5,700. The money will be used in a three-tier project.

It will provide for more than 200 car safety seats to transport students enrolled in the 18 Goldenrod Hills Head Start classrooms, and to continue the Family Services car seat rental program.

Secondly, car safety procedures will be distributed in both English and Spanish to families who receive safety seats from the rental program.

Reye's Syndrome Now Rare in Children

Reye's syndrome is a deadly disorder that occurs in children and begins with vomiting, confusion, delirium, and other mental symptoms. Although the cause of Reye's syndrome is unknown, in 1980 an association was observed between use of aspirin and viral infections such as flu and chicken pox. In 1982 the US Surgeon General issued a warning to avoid giving aspirin to children with viral infections. Since 1986 aspirin-containing products have been labeled with this warning.

Today most parents give their children pain and fever reducers such as acetaminophen and ibuprofen - which have not been connected with Reye's syndrome. According to the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the most cases of Reye's syndrome ever to be reported was 555 in 1980. Since 1987, no more than 36 cases per year have been reported - a dramatic decline.

Foundation presents gift to PMC

The Providence Medical Center Foundation recently received a grant award from the Gardner Foundation of Wakefield in the amount of $50,000.

According to Foundation President Sandra Bartling, the funds will be applied toward the hospital's new outpatient / emergency wing project.

"We are extremely happy to have received these funds at this time and, as always, we continue to be tremendously appreciative to the Gardner Foundation for their loyal support of our hospital," said Marcile Thomas, PMC Administrator.

"In the past, and now with this grant award, the Gardner Foundation continues to be an invaluable partner in keeping quality healthcare close to home. Our vision is to continue to be a regional resource capable of delivering quality care to the entire area. We are always grateful for the financial support we receive from those individuals who share our vision and who enable us to continue our work," Thomas said.

Providence Medical Center is in the midst of constructing a new outpatient wing and ambulance garage and renovating the existing outpatient department to accommodate cardiac rehabilitation, oncology, step-down recovery and the outreach specialty clinics.

In addition, the mammography and ultrasound services will be relocated in the renovated area. June or July of this year may see the completion of this 10,000 square foot project.

An additional component to the project is the parking lot that was recently completed by PMC and provides an additional 27 parking spaces for patients and their families.

Glass offering tips at 'First Fridays'

Dr. Steve Glass will be the featured speaker of the First Friday Series at 9 a.m., Feb. 4, in the Niobrara Room of the WSC Student Center.

The First Fridays event series is co-sponsored by the Visual and Performing Arts Office and the Wayne State Foundation.

A free continental breakfast will be served. Although designed for senior citizen appeal, all ages are welcome to attend.

During each First Fridays event, a special guest of honor is recognized, birthdays are acknowledged and a talk or performance by a member of the community or WSC's faculty or staff completes the session.

"I'm going to focus on bone health and muscular skeletal help for the elderly."

I plan to talk about the nutritional aspects of bone health and other nutritional topics such as antioxidants in relation to aging, free radicals and physical activity," Glass said.

Glass serves as an associate professor and interim division head of the Wayne State College Human Performance and Leisure Studies (HPLS) division.

In addition to serving as an administrative leader to a division of 23 full and part-time faculty members, Glass oversees academic concentrations in exercise science (wellness, athletic training), sport management, leisure services and physical education and graduate studies in exercise science and sport management, as well as general education health classes.

New Year's good intentions

Keeping your resolutions

Every January, we start out with good intentions, vowing to change negative behavior and habits and to work harder to improve ourselves. But within a matter of days or weeks, we wind up right back to where we started.

Like a long-distance run, the first half-mile is a breeze. We're able to live up to our self-promises. But before long, what seemed easy becomes harder as the difficulties of our daily lives bombard us. In the final stages of resolution abandonment, we tell ourselves we'll try are you most judgmental? How do you feel when you are judgmental? Then come up with a resolution that is clearer than simply, "I will be less self-critical." Better: "I will not hold myself to perfectionists standards, I will be satisfied when I do what I set out to do and I will accept affirmations from other people."

Consider your obstacles and how you will deal with them. Ask yourself what competing priorities will make it difficult for you to keep your resolution. Think about what obstacles prevented you from achieving past resolutions.

Think about whether you will need help. Some people who resolve to stop smoking tell everyone to get their support. Others recognize they need medical assistance because they weren't able to quit on their own before.

By thinking about and even writing down some of these points, you are acknowledging their importance and will be more likely to take your own advice.

Monitor your progress. Plan to formally review your progress or lack of progress. For the first month, daily intervals are often best, followed by weekly intervals until June. Then, monthly intervals often work. Mark the dates in your calendar, and come up with a list of questions to ask yourself, such as:

What have I achieved?
How have I improved as a result?
What do I have to work on?
What have I not yet accomplished?

Am I still interested in accomplishing those things?

Important: Put your setbacks in writing. For each resolution, note why you're not doing it now ... what difficulties you anticipate and encounter ... how you intend to deal with them ... and from whom you'll get support.

If you break a resolution, don't regard it as a disaster. See it as an opportunity for self-understanding. Was the resolution a bad idea or can you reformulate it? Is it something you don't want to do? What have you learned about your resistance to change? If you have set mini-goals, you may be able to resume your course without much effort or guilt.

Important: When breaking a mini-goal or resolution, treat yourself kindly. New Year's resolutions aren't worth making in the first place if your inability to keep them causes you to think badly of yourself.

again next year—once our lives settle down. Of course, we rarely do and the cycle begins again next January.

Here are some ideas about keeping our resolutions:

Know your limits. The biggest mistake people make is having too many resolutions. ... or making some that are too ambitious. Example: Telling yourself you are going to stop smoking and lose weight ... or telling yourself you're going to drop 20 pounds by February. These resolutions are nearly impossible to achieve, so failure is almost certain. Important: For each resolution, set mini-goals. A resolution is like a second-floor landing. To get there, you need stairs that are easy to climb. If your resolution is to stop eating so many desserts, determine how long you think it will take to reduce the number. If the answer is one month, then plan events for each week — such as desserts that are less fattening for the first week ... one dessert every two days for the next two weeks ... and fresh fruit for the fourth week and thereafter.

Be clear about the behavior you have resolved to change. Clarity will help you analyze the problem - and allows you to let it happen. Spend time looking at what you want to change. Example: If you goal is to stop being so self-critical, you'll need to ask yourself why you are so judgmental. In which cases

Prayer breakfast planned for St. Mary's in Wayne

Greg Schleppebach of Lincoln, Nebraska, is the featured speaker this year for the Tri County Right to Life Annual Prayer Breakfast to be held at St. Mary's Holy Family Hall in Wayne. Mr. Schleppebach is the state-wide coordinator for the Pastoral Plan for Pro Life Activities. His talk will be on "Forming a Culture of Love." According to Schleppebach, there are many influences that creep into our cultural mentality, which do not support a positive attitude toward new life or life in its waning years. The event will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Jan. 29. Holy Family Hall is LWML Bible Study, 7 p.m. Wednesday: Weekday classes, 6 p.m.; Choir, 8. Friday: Ladies Aid, 2 p.m.

But during the course of the program, the hat is passed for donations to support the activities of Tri County Right to Life. The Prayer Breakfast is a non-denominational program to which people of all beliefs are welcome. St. Mary's of Wayne has been the host for the past several years because of its location, size and convenience. For more information, contact Theresa Miner of Wakefield at (402) 287-2419 or (402) 287-2269. Reservations are not necessary.

Presbyterian Women gather with hostess for noon meal

The Carroll United Presbyterian Women met Jan. 19. JoAnn Owens was hostess for the noon meal. Moderator Jacquelyn Owens opened the business meeting with Psalm 46. The article "Singing in the Choir" was read. Roll call and minutes of the last meeting were read. Eight members and one guest, Margaret Kenny, were present.

Fifth and sixth grade students participate in extension program

Fifth and sixth grade students at St. Mary's School in Wayne recently participated in a program entitled Talking with T.J.

This program focuses on conflict resolution and finding ways to work out situations before they become a problem. The skills learned encourage children to get along better and avoid the kind of trouble that makes life harder for so many youth.

The programs were presented in a series of six lessons which included a video segment and various activities. Kids learned what "Trouble Stoppers" were, by relating to the three power phrases.

These phrases included: keep your cool, take a new look, and say the right thing. Facilitator in the program was Amy Malchow, University of Nebraska-Extension Educator.

Helping a child grow into a confident, caring young person who can handle pressures and challenges with a cool head is an important part of the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension program.

Fifth and sixth grade teacher, Mrs. Rebecca Onderstal, scheduled the program during Christian Unity Week.

Grace Evening Circle meets

President Fauneil Bennett called the Grace Lutheran Evening Circle meeting to order with 14 members and Pastor Bohn present.

Lanora Sorensen had a responsive reading titled "Why Jesus is better than Santa Claus." She read excerpts from a letter she received at Christmas as well as a reading "Jesus is the Light of the World."

The Quarterlies have gone up in price to $3. A motion by Orvella Blomenkamp and seconded by Marilyn Rethwisch was made to include the $3 Quarterly expense with the $6 dues. Two seminary students will receive continued support through March at $25 per student per month.

Correspondence included Fauneil Bennett reading a letter that was included in a Christmas card from Stuart and Jennifer Rethwisch. A letter from Ricky Jacobs was also passed around.

District Convention will be June 23-24 at Lutheran High School in Norfolk. They are asking for several Young Women Representatives. They are also asking for Mentors during the Convention.

Committee reports: project: Mardella Olson collected $8 from hospitality. She has enough cards and napkins. Olson has been has been Hospitality Chairperson since it began in 1972. Thanks goes to her for a job well done!

Hospitality: Orvella Blomenkamp sent seven cards. She will need cards for January. Orvella will call Kathleen Johs to bring her cards as needed. The Bible Study group is still conducting lessons at The Oaks.

Scrap Book: Carol is still collecting information and pictures for the Scrap Book.

Mission Service: Lee Larson suggested sending the coupons along with the Sunday School things to Bethesda. Items needed for February are hard soap and diapers.

Old business: Secret Sisters: A motion by Larson and seconded by Olson was made to continue with Secret Sisters for 2000. Names were passed around.

Valentine Shut-Ins: A motion by Carol Rethwisch and seconded by Larson was made to continue to visit shut-ins. Fauneil sent around a sheet with names on for each member to select a name or names of their choice to visit.

New business: The 75th Anniversary of Grace Church and the 40th anniversary of Grace Evening Circle was discussed. It was suggested to have a catered Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Caterer's suggested were: Pac & Save, Vel's Bakery, and Joyce Neimann. Verna Mae Baier will check into prices for one meat, vegetable, salad, potato, dessert, dinner toll, desert and drink.

Mites were collected and the meeting was closed with the Lord's Prayer. Pastor Bohn gave the lesson from the Quarterly titled "Pass The Light Along."

Hostesses were Marilyn Rethwisch and Irene Blecke.

Altona Ladies Aid meets on Jan. 6

First Trinity of Altona Ladies Aid met Jan. 6. Clara Heineman led Bible study, "Leaving a Legacy Through Prayer."

President Clara Heineman presided at the business meeting. The group will collect hard soap and diapers for the LWML Wayne Zone food pantry for the month of January.

A small group visited the Wakefield Nursing Home on Jan. 13. Esther Hansen and Pearl Youngmeyer were honored with the Birthday song.

Darlene Frevert was hostess.

Engagements — Church to host meals

Miller — Schultze

Erin R. Miller and Timothy Schultze, both of Wayne, are planning a Feb. 12, 2000 wedding at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Osmond.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Lorin and Judy Miller of Bloomfield. She graduated from Bloomfield High School in 1992 and Wayne State College in 1996. She is presently a supervisor assistant at Region IV/Northstar in Wayne.

Her fiancé is the son of Dennis and Sharon Schultze of Osmond. He is a 1994 graduate of Osmond High School and a 1999 graduate of Wayne State College. He currently works for D.V. Frye Tech in Wayne.

Church to host meals

Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne will be hosting special meals this weekend, Jan. 29 - 30 following the Saturday evening worship service at 6 p.m. and the Sunday morning worship service at 10:30 a.m.

Proceeds from the meals will be used to provide camperships for students going to summer camp at Carol Joy Holling Camp and support for the Carol Joy Holling Day Camp coming to Our Savior from June 12-16.

The congregation invites the community to worship and to share in the meals and to learn more about Carol Joy Holling Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Nissen

Anniversary to be noted

A card shower is being planned to honor Deloris and Russel Nissen of Wisner in honor of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary.

Deloris M. Wolter and Russel Nissen were married at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel.

They have four children, Frank and Dona Mae Murry of Omaha, Gary and Renee Logemann of Westfield, Iowa, Randy and Edwina Nissen of Wisner and Robin and Arlina Nissen of Sioux City, Iowa. They also have 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Cards may be sent to the couple at 520 Sixteenth Street, Wisner, Neb. 68791-2223.

Our Savior strengthens ministry

"Maybe you have seen the new trailer parked by the east entrance of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. The trailer is our new mission trailer," said Pastor Martin Russell.

The trailer was recently purchased to assist in mission projects.

In recent years the congregation has sent mission work teams to Montana and Oklahoma. The congregation is presently renovating a house in Norfolk as part of Habitat for Humanity. Plans are being finalized to send a mission work team to Oklahoma this summer.

The metallic gray trailer displays the congregation's logo, "Making Christ Known," along with the name of Our Savior Lutheran Church. The purchase of the trailer was made possible through memorial gifts and contributions from members of the congregation.

"Our mission work teams are one of the many ways in which we are "Making Christ Known," Pastor Russell added.

Survey results show insecticide use down

Nebraska farmers led a six-state region in decreasing use of European corn borer insecticide in 1998 after planting Bt corn, according to a survey.

Tom Hunt, University of Nebraska entomologist at the Haskell Agricultural Laboratory here, said that result was expected, as reduced insecticide use is one of the advantages to planting Bt corn.

"Bt corn is not a silver bullet, but rather provides the farmer with another pest management option," the NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources entomologist said. "It should be used in concert with other pest management options, such as host-plant resistance and timing of planting."

Iowa State University conducted the survey in cooperation with entomologists in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas, Illinois and Pennsylvania. The survey questioned 2,000 farmers who planted Bt corn in 1996, 3,334 farmers in 1997 and 1,967 farmers in 1998, the first three years it was commercially available.

The greatest reduction was by Nebraska farmers in 1998, Hunt said. That year 50 percent of respondents who planted Bt corn decreased conventional insecticide use. The actual number of Nebraska farmers surveyed is unavailable, Hunt said. Throughout all six states, 26 percent -- 511 of the farmers surveyed -- said they reduced insecticide use in 1998.

Bacillus thuringiensis corn is genetically engineered to produce a protein that is toxic to the European corn borer and a few other insects. Typically, two generations of corn borers can damage fields in Nebraska, but after eating Bt corn, susceptible insects die. Thus Bt reduces the need for conventional insecticides, which in turn reduces the use of insecticides in the environment, Hunt added.

One survey question asked whether conventional European corn borer insecticides increased, decreased or stayed the same during the years producers used Bt corn.

The study also found that farmers in the six states reduced insecticide use 13 percent in 1996 and 19 percent in 1997.

European corn borer populations were high in 1997, after which they greatly declined, or "crashed," due to natural conditions and before Bt corn was widely planted, Hunt said. Their numbers were still down in 1999. The continued low numbers could be due to the natural population cycle, or suppression from Bt corn.

"We really can't tell," Hunt said. "That's a question we'll look at."

Survey results aren't clear how to interpret this reduction of insecticide use. "Does it mean they planted more Bt acres? Or does it mean they used less insecticide on non-Bt corn? We really don't know," Hunt said, adding that even so, "the numbers are promising."

While planting Bt reduces the need for using traditional pesticides, Hunt said a possible drawback of planting too many Bt acres is that insect resistance might develop. The federal government has issued guidelines for farmers to limit the amount of Bt corn they can plant, so resistance is less likely to occur.

Other Nebraska-specific findings include:

-- Of the Nebraska farmers surveyed, 81 percent said their primary reason for planting Bt corn was to prevent yield loss from European corn borer; and 42 percent wanted to eliminate the need for using conventional insecticides to control the insect. (Producers could choose more than one reason.)

-- In the five years before Bt corn was commercially available, 50 percent of the Nebraska producers surveyed used insecticides to minimize yield losses to first generation European corn borer; 37 percent used insecticides to minimize yield losses from the second generation. Twenty-seven percent said they did nothing to control the insect.

-- After three years of experience using Bt corn hybrids, 32 percent of Nebraska producers surveyed said European corn borers caused more yield loss than they previously had thought; 34 percent said yield loss was what they expected; and 15 percent said yield loss was less than expected.

Hunt received results of the survey, led by ISU's Marlin Rice, but was not involved in it earlier because he only recently received his appointment. Much of the survey results will be released after peer review and publication in scientific journals, which could take several months.

Sign up period continues

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman reminded farmers and landowners recently that the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign up will continue through Feb. 11, 2000 in local USDA service centers across the nation.

"This is an opportunity for farmers and landowners to participate in a cost-effective, voluntary program to improve their land, water and wildlife resources and lock in a multi-year payment based on local rental rates," Glickman said. "It is also an opportunity for participants with contracts expiring this fall to make new contact offers."

USDA will continue to evaluate and rank eligible CRP offers using an Environmental Benefits Index (EBI), which is based on the potential environmental benefits gained from enrolling the land in the CRP. Decisions on the EBI cutoff will be made up after sign up 20 ends. The EBI cutoff used in previous signups may not be used for this one: The cutoff is decided after analyzing the EBI numbers of all the offers. Those who would have met previous sign up EBI thresholds are not guaranteed a contract under sign up 20.

"CRP is a highly successful and competitive program," Glickman said. "I encourage all landowners to find out about the EBI before the Feb. 11, 2000 deadline, and to consult with local USDA experts on steps they can take to maximize EBI points and increase the likelihood that their bid will be accepted."

The Farm Service Agency is authorized to maintain CRP enrollment up to 36.4 million acres. Approximately 31.5 million acres were enrolled in CRP contracts as of Oct. 1, 1999. About 400,000 acres are subject to CRP contracts that will expire on Sept. 30, 2000.

Web Site aims to help cow-calf producers

The contracts awarded under sign up 20 will become effective Oct. 1, 2000.

"Producers can avoid the highly competitive EBI under the general sign up by enrolling the most environmentally sensitive land under CRP's continuous sign up program," Glickman said.

Under the continuous sign up, relatively small amounts of land serving to protect much larger areas, such as filter strips, riparian buffers, and grass waterways, may be enrolled at any time.

The CRP is designed to improve the nation's resource base. Participants voluntarily enter into contracts with USDA to enroll erodible and other environmentally sensitive land in long-term contracts for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, participants receive annual rental payments and a payment of up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing conservation practices.

The program protects millions of acres of American topsoil from erosion. By reducing water runoff and sedimentation, it also protects groundwater and helps improve the condition of lakes, rivers, ponds and streams.

Acres enrolled in the CRP is planted to resource-conserving (vegetative) covers, greatly increasing wildlife populations in many parts of the country.

Web Site aims to help cow-calf producers

Can cow-calf producers get a fair price? What new management styles will help them meet the changing needs of the beef industry?

University of Nebraska experts and selected cow-calf producers answer such questions on NUBeeF, a new World Wide Web site.

Producers want answers from a variety of sources, plus a chance to pose their own questions to NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resource experts, said Rick Rasby, an NU beef specialist. The web site provides producers an online alternative to receiving traditional educational information. Today's producers often have an off-farm job and fewer if any hired hands to help with day-to-day management of the operation, making producers more time-strapped than ever, he said.

"They still want educational information," Rasby said. "Now, they can learn at home when they have time."

Information for the site comes primarily from NU's Departments of Animal Science, Agricultural Economics and Veterinary Science.

The interactive site allows visitors to submit questions to NU experts, who respond via e-mail.

"Most of the questions are production-oriented," Rasby said. For example, producers have asked for alternative cattle protein sources.

The site's address is <http://beef.unl.edu>. Other features include:

-- Learning Modules: Free, learn at-your-own-pace lessons on body condition scoring for beef cows and micronutrient formulation are available on the site.

Lessons on understanding a nutrient analysis and other topics will be added later.

-- Beef Forum: Two or more extension experts or selected cow-calf producers address a specific problem, concern or beef management practice.

-- Production calendar: Timetable for feeding for a spring-calving cow herd.

-- Timely Topics: Research-based articles about current cattle management issues.

-- Educational programs: Lists programs, conferences and workshops, including time, date, location, registration information and contacts.

-- Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs): Provides answers to common questions.

-- Search engine: Search for key words and phrases on the web site.

-- Weather.

Senator Dickey receives Corn Growers award

The Nebraska Corn Growers Association (NeCGA) presented Senator Robert Dickey of Laurel with the Golden Ear Award during the Husker Feed Grains and Soybean Conference in Kearney on Jan. 19.

The Golden Ear Award is presented annually to recognize and thank individuals for their contribution to agriculture, the corn industry and the NeCGA.

The Senator has been a member of the Nebraska Corn Board for nine years serving as chairman during 1995-96. He also served as an officer and chairman of the U.S. Grains Council where he represented U.S. corn, sorghum and barley to foreign customers.

Senator Dickey was a member of Governor Johanns' Advisory Cabinet on Agriculture and a member of Representative Doug Bereuter's Agricultural Advisory Committee. He is a member of Ag Builders of Nebraska, Ag Council of America and the Nebraska Farm Bureau.

He was awarded the Nebraska Corn Board's Ag Achievement Award in 1998 and most recently the 1999 Farm Family of the Year from the Lincoln Journal Star.

Senator Dickey was appointed to the Nebraska Legislature on April 27, 1999.

Senator Dickey continues to serve the agricultural industry at local, state and national levels. The Senator owns and operates a farm near Laurel with his wife Mary and their three children, Julie, Jim and June.

Local veterinarians attend convention

Dr. J.A. Rademacher of Winside and Dr. Ken Liska of Wayne attended the 104th Annual Convention of the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association at the Holiday Inn in Kearney Jan. 21-23.

Nationally known speakers presented sessions for "small/companion animal" veterinarians and "large/food animal" veterinarians. Sessions were also presented for veterinary technicians.

Highlighting the social events was the annual banquet on Saturday evening.

Numerous auxiliary activities were also held during the Convention.

The sessions are accredited toward mandatory continuing education requirements for license renewal.

4-H News

COUNTRY CLASSICS 4-H CLUB

The Country Classics 4-H Club met Nov. 21 at St. Mary's Church.

Officers were elected as follows: Emily Lutt, president; Derek Schardt, vice-president; Beth Loberg, secretary; Greg Schardt, treasurer; Staci Daum, news reporter; Megan Loberg, correspondence and Marisa Austin, flag leader.

After a short meeting, the club made Christmas ornaments for their tree at Fantasy Forest.

COON CREEK CLOVERS 4-H CLUB

The Coon Creek Clovers 4-H Club held a monthly meeting at the Wayne Pizza Hut on Jan. 9.

Nine members were present as well as leaders and parents. Project enrollment sheets for the year were filled out and the 1999 Wayne County Fair was discussed.

The club will have its name engraved on two herdsmanship plaques in the Wayne Extension Office. They were named top herdsmen in the small animal division and in the small livestock club division.

Officers for the new year were elected. Renee Felt was elected president; James Felt was elected vice-president; Elizabeth Baier was elected secretary and news reporter and Aaron Klein was named club historian.

Two new members were welcomed. Marcus Baier and Corissa Arickx have joined the club.

A club tour for later in the year and a cookout were discussed. These will possibly be in July just before the Wayne County Fair.

No date was set for the next meeting. Members should check their calendars to see what dates might work. The next meeting will be a "call" meeting when it is known what dates are open.

The meeting was adjourned and Connie Roberts, organizational leader, treated everyone to pizza. Elizabeth Baier, Secretary/news reporter

HI-RATERS 4-H CLUB

The Hi-Raters 4-H Club met Jan. 9 at the Dorcey farm. There were 11 members present.

Derick Dorcey led the pledge of Allegiance and Brett Dorcey led the 4-H pledge.

The group then voted for new officers. They include, Karissa Dorcey, president; Brett Dorcey, vice-president; Amanda Adams, secretary; Emilie Osten, treasurer; Jesse Barker, news reporter and Katie Osten, historian. Afterward the members moved on to new business which included deciding on April 15 as a date for litter pick-up.

The group's bake sale will be on Saturday, Feb. 12. Current members are also asked to recruit new members. Each member is to invite one friend who would be interested in 4-H. Anyone interested is asked to contact a member of the Hi-Raters or come to the next meeting on Sunday, Feb. 13 at 6:30 p.m. at Columbus Federal.

The Hi-Raters 4-H Club will meet the second Sunday of each month at 6:30 p.m.

Scholarships are available from cattlemen foundation

Application forms for 2000-2001 Nebraska Cattlemen Foundation scholarships are available. The six $1,000 scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic achievement, beef cattle industry involvement, career goals and quality of application.

High school seniors or undergraduate college students are eligible. There are no restrictions on choice of school or field of study. Completed applications must be postmarked by March 6.

For more information or to receive an application form, call or write the Nebraska Cattlemen Lincoln office: 402-475-2333 or 1335 H. St., Lincoln, NE 68508 or email: nc@necattlemen.org.

The six Nebraska Cattlemen Foundation scholarships are underwritten by the Robert Lute

Memorial Fund, the Bill Heller Memorial Fund, Frank and Shirley Sibert of Valentine, Ft. Dodge Animal Health, and Merial.

"The number of programs and projects being taken on by the NC Foundation is increasing as the organization continues to gain momentum," said NC Foundation President Bill Rishel of North Platte, "but providing these scholarships each year to a select few of the rising and future leaders of the cattle industry in Nebraska remains one of its core activities."

The mission of the Nebraska Cattlemen Foundation is to raise and provide funds for educational and scientific activities that benefit the beef cattle producers in Nebraska and advance the purposes of the Nebraska Cattlemen.

Serving the customers

Members of the newly created Wayne Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) clean up tables at a pancake feed during a Wayne High School basketball game. Proceeds from the event went toward general operating expenses for the organization. FBLA is a national organization which has been in existence since 1942. Membership is open to all students interested in pursuing a business or business-related career. Sharyn Paige serves as faculty advisor for the group.

80th birthday

Siefken will celebrate

Arnold F. Siefken of rural Wayne will be honored on his 80th birthday.

An open house will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 30, 2000 at the Wayne Eagles Club in Wayne.

Hosting the event will be Arnold's family, including wife, Lois, and his four children, Richard, Cheryl, Donald and Arnold Jr. He also has 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Arnold was born Feb. 3, 1920 at Leigh. He has lived and farmed south of Wayne since 1931 with the exception of two years when he lived in St. Louis, Mo.

The family requests no gifts other than the presence of family and friends.

Arnold Siefken

Environmental funds available from NRCS

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is inviting producers to take advantage of an opportunity to enroll in the Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP).

District Conservationist Jim Conisor said, "Lower Elkhorn NRD farmers and ranchers can apply now for nearly $160,000 of USDA/NRCS funds. These funds will be used to install soil and water conservation practices and livestock waste facilities under 1,000 animal units in size."

He added, "The cost share rate is 75 to 90 percent county average costs, which includes engineering and planning assistance."

Applications submitted to the local NRCS office by Feb. 18 will be evaluated and ranked, but will only be competing against others in the Lower Elkhorn NRD. The NRCS will continue to take applications after Feb. 18 and they will be funded as dollars are available.

For more information, stop by or call the county NRCS office as soon as possible.

LEWIS AND CLARK TOURNAMENT

The first round of the Lewis and Clark Tournament will take place in Allen with Allen playing Emerson-Hubbard. There are to be two games with the JVG playing at 6:15 and the Varsity at 8 p.m.

The girls have also tentatively elected to have this night for their parents' night. The original date was to have been Jan. 11. Check your calendars for the day decided.

'EAGLE DOLLARS PROGRAM'

The A.C.E. group is starting a new program. It is called 'Eagle Dollars.' This semester the program will be for Kindergarten through sixth grade students. That's a total of 118 children. (If there is a positive response, 7th through 12th grades will be added to the program).

During the school week, each student will have a chance to earn 'Eagle Dollars.' Eagle dollars are earned based on attendance, team work, grades, attitude, and personal improvement.

Also, for every parent that attends that month's meeting, their child will earn extra Eagle Dollars. At the end of each month, the children will get to go shopping at the 'Eagle Store.' The Eagle Store will be a display shelf which will remain in the school for everyone to view. It will contain a variety of items including school supplies, hot-wheels, lip gloss, stickers, pop, candy, Eagle/Allen memorabilia, puzzles, games, etc.

A BIG THANK YOU to Barb Sands. She went out and got merchandise donations from Coca-Cola, Palmers

Candy, McDonald's and Wal-Mart for the Eagle Dollar Program.

If you would like to donate items for the Eagle Store, donations of any kind will be welcomed. They are also looking for a locking glass display shelf.

For further information or questions, feel free to attend the A.C.E. group's next meeting on Feb. 7 at 7 p.m. at the Allen School. You may also call Mary Schoning at 635-2505 or Sheri Johnson at 635-2050.

The A.C.E. group recently sponsored a Sock Hop which was a great success!! A.C.E. will be planning another one in the near future so be on the look out for that and many more activities.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary met on Jan. 10 at the Senior Citizen Center. Pearl Snyder reported that 15 donors had given blood.

The next bloodmobile will be on March 8.

Auxiliary members and their families should be aware that there have been some changes in the eye care benefits. To find out which eye doctors are participants of the program, call 1-800-221-3272.

The Americanism essay contest for grades 7-10 has been judged. Essays entitled "What Kind of American I" were submitted. First place and $15 went to Jennifer Keitges, second place and $10 went to Kelli Rastede, and third place and $5 went to Aaron Smith. Jennifer's essay will be sent on to the state competition.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 14. Hostesses will be Delores Koch and Jean Morgan.

YOUTH ESSAY CONTEST

Thirteen students participated in the eighth grade essay writing contest which consisted of 300-400 words with the 1999-2000 theme of "How Should We Honor America's Veterans?"

Winners were Scott Blohm receiving first place. Second place went to Corey Uldrich and third place went to Anthony Wilmes. Awards will be given at the Spring Awards Night. Scott's essay will go on to compete at districts. The contest is sponsored by the VFW Auxiliary.

No-Till Incentive Program

NORFOLK - The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) will be taking applications for their No-Till Incentive Program from now until January 31, 2000. The LENRD initiated the program last year and due to the positive response is offering to enroll local producers interested in getting paid to perform no-till planting.

The program pays producers $10 per acre annually for five years to do complete no-till farming on their Highly Erodible Land (HEL) cropland. Maximum acreage that can be enrolled by one cooperator is 160 acres.

Local farm operators (no custom planting) may offer to enroll a row crop field within the LENRD that is predominantly HEL or the portion of any field that is highly erodible. A corn and soybean rotation will be used on the field. A minimum of 50% of the contract acres will be no-tilled soybeans into cornstalks the first year. No ground disturbing or crop residue disturbing operations between harvest and spring planting will be done. NO pre-plant NH3 (anhydrous ammonia), manure injection of row crop cultivation is allowed. A maximum of 25% of the row width can be disturbed in the planting operation.

In addition to the no-till requirements listed above, the producer will be required to attend two educational sessions per year, which will be developed by the NRD, NRCS and Cooperative Extension Service. The producer will participate in a local No-Till Work Group and in the MAX Program. MAX is an economic analysis tool provided by the Conservation Technology Information Center.

Lower Elkhorn NRD assistant general manager Ken Berney, said, "With the current dry soil conditions and the potential for the soil to stay dry, this would be a good time to try no-till."

Local producers wanting to sign up for the program can contact their local NRCS field office. Due to the amount of interest in the program the LENRD will be ranking or scoring the applications. Ranking and scoring will be based on the Erodibility Index of the land offered, the percentage of 1st year acreage planted into corn stalks, acres enrolled in the program, and past no till experience. Length of the contract will be 5 years.

For more information on the program or to sign up, contact your local NRCS field office.

Eichenberg is honored by U.S. Bank of Norfolk

Katy Eichenberg of Wayne, an adjunct criminal justice instructor since 1996 at Northeast Community College in Norfolk, has been presented a Teaching Excellence Award from U.S. Bank in Norfolk.

U.S. Bank Awards were presented to Northeast faculty and staff members who were nominated by fellow instructors and students. Criteria met included the ability to inspire and motivate students, the ability to communicate material effectively, the willingness to take on extra responsibilities for the college, a cooperative attitude, and the exhibition of initiative and resourcefulness in approaching assigned responsibilities.

Eichenberg also serves as advisor to the Criminal Justice Club at Northeast. In addition to her teaching duties, she is also active in the American Correctional Association, the Nebraska Correctional Association, and the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences where she serves as program chair of the community college section of ACJS. She is also a member of the Norfolk Region of Foster Care Review Board.

Her award included a clock/trophy and a $250 cash award.

Ley, Shapiros and Hanson are named campaign county co-chairmen

David Ley, and Charles and Joan Shapiro, all of Wayne, and Richard Hanson of Concord have been named county co-chairs for Chuck Hassebrook's campaign. Hassebrook is running for reelection to the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

Chuck Hassebrook of Lyons represents 13 Northeast and East Central Nebraska counties.

Hassebrook said that his priorities will remain as they have been his first six years on the Board.

"I will work to make quality educational affordable and accessible to all Nebraskans who make the commitment to prepare themselves and do the work. In addition, I will work to make the University a powerful force for revitalizing our family farms, small businesses and rural communities."

Hassebrook said his mission is to provide a voice for average Nebraska families in Building a strong University.

Harder is honor student at Wayne State College

Elly Harder of Concord was among the more than 700 students at Wayne State College who were named to the Honor Roll for exemplary academic achievement during the fall 1999 semester.

Bonnie Scranton, assistant vice president for enrollment management at the College, praised the efforts of Harder and other honor roll students. She said achieving status as an honor student requires hard work and dedication.

To be named to the honor roll, a student must maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale and be enrolled as a full-time student.

Homeowners with money worries may qualify for low-interest loans

LOANS: Direct lender loosens its requirements for homeowners who need money now.

Have you been turned down for a loan? Do you need more than $10,000 for any reason? Are you paying more than 10% interest on any other loans or credit cards? If you are a homeowner and answered "yes" to any of these questions, they can tell you over the phone and without obligation if you qualify.

High credit card debt? Less-than-perfect credit? Self-employed? Late house payments? Financial problems? Medical bills? IRS liens? It doesn't matter!

If you are a homeowner with sufficient equity, there's an excellent chance you will qualify for a loan—usually within 24 hours. You can find out over the phone—and free of charge—if you qualify. Stone Castle Home Loans is licensed by the Nebraska Department of Banking and Finance. Open 7 days.

PROCEEDINGS WAYNE BOARD OF EDUCATION REGULAR MEETING

January 17, 2000

The regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education was held at the Wayne High School in Wayne, NE on Monday, January 17, 2000 at 7:02 p.m. Notice and place of agenda was published in the Wayne Herald.

School attorney Chris Connolly acted as counsel for the board and called the meeting to order. Roll call was answered by the following board members: Marlon Arneson, Jean Blomenkamp, Bill Dickey, Sue Gilmore, Dennis Lipp and Phyllis Spethman.

Organization of the board was now in order. President — Motion to nominate Phyllis Spethman Motion carried. Motion to declare nominations closed. Motion carried. Phyllis Spethman will serve as president of the board for 2000.

President Spethman took over the meeting. Vice President — Motion to nominate Marlon Arneson. Motion carried. Motion to declare nominations closed. Motion carried. Marlon Arneson will serve as vice president of the board for 2000.

Secretary-Treasurer — Motion that Terri Test be appointed secretary-treasurer for 2000. Motion carried. Motion to declare nominations closed. Motion carried.

Motion to adopt an order for business as a guide for agenda and meetings. The order of business is outlined in Board policy #1208. Motion carried.

Board members volunteered to serve on committees as follows: Facility: Marlon Arneson, Bill Dickey, Sue Gilmore. Foundation: Jean Blomenkamp, Legislative: Sue Gilmore. Negotiations: Bill Dickey, Dennis Lipp, Phyllis Spethman.

Policy: Jean Blomenkamp, Phyllis Spethman, and Dr. Reinert. Planning: Marlon Arneson, Jean Blomenkamp, Dennis Lipp. Community Relations: Bill Dickey, Sue Gilmore, Phyllis Spethman.

Finance: Jean Blomenkamp, Bill Dickey, Dennis Lipp. Motion to affirm the current policy and regulation manual. Motion carried.

Adoption of the Agenda: Motion to approve the agenda. Motion carried.

Approval of Minutes from Previous Meeting: Motion to approve the December 13, 1999 regular meeting minutes, December 16, 1999 emergency meeting minutes and January 5, 2000 special meeting minutes. Motion carried.

Personnel — Resignation: A letter was received from Judith Schaefer, stating her resignation after 20 years in the Wayne Public School System. Motion, with regret, to approve her resignation effective at the end of the 1999-2000 school year. Motion carried.

Financial Claims and Reports: Motion to approve the financial reports and claims as presented with the exception of #1934. Motion carried. Motion to approve #1934. Motion carried.

Gifts: Rocky Rubl, Athletic Director, is currently working with the Wayne Booster Club to help pay 1/2 of new volleyball standards for the high school. The total cost of the project is estimated at $7,000. The school would pay for the center court net and the boosters would pay for the nets on the two practice courts. The current standards will not be compliant with the NSAA next year. The new standards will be set in the floor with no guide wires and better safety for players and fans. The same types of standards are currently being looked at to be placed in the middle school.

Pre-Scheduled Communications from the Public: None.

Communications from the Public on Agenda Items: Those in attendance at the meeting included Joyce Mitchell, faculty member and Laura Mitchell.

Graduation Booklet: Dr. Zeiss discussed the idea of including information about the Wayne Community Schools Foundation. He stated the cost would be $750 for 1000 booklets. Jean Blomenkamp stated that the foundation is currently compiling a list of all alumni to create a mass mailing. Mrs. Blomenkamp suggested including a paragraph about the foundation instead of three full pages. She will review the information and decide what needs to be included.

High School Staffing Concerns: Dr. Zeiss shared with the board current class loads for the English and Social Studies teachers. He stated that he is currently advertising for a teacher with both an English and Social Studies endorsement. This person would teach 1/2 English and 1/2 Social Studies. He noted that Mr. Sleschia, first year teacher sees a vast number of students. Dr. Reinert stated that the conference he attended in Washington D.C. on teacher quality, discussed how first year teachers are bogged down. Board members asked how first year teachers are helped. Dr. Reinert stated that we have applied for grant money for a mentor program, in which a first year teacher is matched with a veteran teacher, but not in the same district. Dr. Zeiss stated that staffing concerns would also be coming from the Math and Science teachers.

Special Education Update: Mr. Fehring, SPEED Director, reported on the status of special education. He stated that 99 students have been verified. Since the last update, five additional students have been verified, four students have left the district, and one student has moved to regular education. Therefore, 99 students remain in the special education program. A minivan was purchased to transport a student to Yankton. The transition has gone smoothly for the student. Mr. Fehring shared with the board a new approach he has implemented with his special education teachers. They have a staff meeting and discuss IDEA, keeping staff updated and to help their students better. Dr. Reinert stated that ramps for handicapped accessibility would be evaluated over the summer. The elementary school ramps will need to be changed, as five students with disabilities would be attending the elementary school next year. ADA automatic door openers will be looked into for the high school north doors.

Superintendent's Report: High School: The high school project is seeing continual progress. On Monday, January 17, 2000, Mr. Weber and Mrs. Ley's offices were relocated in the high school. The tile floors in each of their previous offices were asbestos tiles. Therefore, an abatement company will need to be hired to come in and remove the tile. The construction crews broke through the walls to open up from the top floor to the bottom floor. Behind the west wall of each office, pipes and furnace vents will be removed. The north wall of the classroom additions is complete, and the wall on the south side is halfway complete. By the first week of February, the roof will be placed on the classroom addition, the middle floor will be poured and openings into the building will be finished. The sewer line from the new addition will not run under the auto shop floor. It will be placed to run around the outside of the building. Contractors hope to have the wrestling room addition walls up by late February.

Completion date of the high school project is set for July 28, 2000.

Middle School: Renovation and construction of the middle school is continuing with progress being made. By the end of January, the plans will be 65% complete with changes that were discussed and a new cost estimate will be figured. The construction managers hope to have their dirt specs ready to be sent out and bids back in by February 10. Phase One of the demolition is complete. With the weather cooperating, the construction crews would like to be able to pour the footings and foundation to allow enough time for them to settle before constructing the walls.

Beckenbauer Construction will be putting together a timeline of a day to day basis to illustrate what should be taking place each day. Board members expressed interest in taking a tour of the middle school. Dr. Reinert and board members will walk through the middle school on Friday, January 28 from 12-1 p.m.

Service Contract for Elementary Heating/Cooling System: Dr. Reinert stated that Siemens (project coordinator) would like the District to purchase a service contract through their company. Another company, Rasmussen, can offer the same service and they also cover the high school boilers. It will be further discussed before a final decision is made. There are some remaining issues at the elementary school with Siemens.

School Safety Requirements: Informational items were given to Board members that discussed school safety. The State Board of Education has voted to approve a recommendation for action on the school safety issue. Dr. Reinert stated that the District currently meets all of the guidelines except for an external security/safety audit. It was not yet clear if that means an external audit needs to be conducted by the local police, a team from the Department of Education or a commercial vendor.

Election Dates for Board of Education: The general election will be held on Tuesday, November 7, 2000. The filing dates for an incumbent is February 15, 2000 and a non-incumbent is March 1, 2000. To run for a school board office, the candidate must be a resident of the Wayne School District and a registered voter. Phyllis Spethman stated that board members should try to talk to others and encourage them to run for the election.

Board Committees: Legislative — Sue Gilmore will be in Lincoln next week. She will be visiting with state senators about legislative issues. Board members expressed an interest in having Mrs. Gilmore discuss increasing the beginning pay for teachers.

Old Business: None.

New Business: District #57, located south of Wayne, is in the process of dissolving. Chris Connolly, school attorney, stated that he had never been involved with a school dissolution and he had asked Rex Schultze to help advise the District with this matter. Mr. Connolly stated that he would be attending all of the meetings and would save having Mr. Schultze traveling up here. Dr. Reinert will be meeting the Board of Education from District #57. Motion to retain Rex Schultze for the reorganization of District #57. Motion carried.

Communications from the Public on Agenda Items: None.

Boardmanship: Conferences that will be coming up in the next few weeks include: 2000 Labor Relations Conference, February 8-9, 2000 in Kearney, NE. NASB Legislative Issues Conference, February 14, 2000 in Lincoln, NE.

Phyllis Spethman has also received school board election handbooks from the NASB. She will order additional copies for board members to give to potential candidates.

Future Agenda Items: The Board of Education held a board self evaluation on Saturday, January 15, 2000. The board will revisit some of the items discussed at the second meeting in February. Presentations from sessions attended at the State Education Conference: power of student councils, pay to play, public relations, and mentoring. Mentoring will be discussed at the second meeting in February with a video to be shown.

Motion to adjourn at 8:17 p.m. Motion carried. The next regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will be held on Monday, February 14, 2000 at 7:00 p.m. in the High School in Wayne.

All eyes are on the bride

Most brides spend extra time applying makeup on their wedding day. Whether you are planning to do your own makeup or hire a professional makeup artist, any bride who wears contact lenses should take extra care with makeup selection and application, says the American Optometric Association. Tearing and irritation, while a minor annoyance, could lead to more serious problems during or after the wedding.

When shopping for makeup, choose a water-based, hypoallergenic liquid foundation, instead of cream, to prevent leaving a film on your lenses. You should avoid lash-extending mascara, which has fibers that can irritate the eyes, and waterproof mascara, which cannot be removed easily with water and may stain soft contact lenses.

On your wedding day, don't use hand creams or lotions before handling contacts; they can leave a film on your lenses. Use an oil-free moisturizer. Keep false-eyelash cement, nail polish and remover, perfume, and cologne, which can damage the lens plastic, away from lenses. Hair spray should be used before putting in contacts. If used while they are in the eyes, close eyes during spraying and keep them closed for a few seconds afterward. Put in soft contact lenses before applying makeup. Rigid gas-permeable (RGP) lenses should go in after makeup is applied.

Finally, entrust someone with your contact-lens case. Resist the urge to quickly moisten your lenses with saliva or bottled water should they become dry or uncomfortable. Both may contain bacteria that could lead to an infection.

Follow these tips, and your eyes will be as lovely as you are on that special day. For more information about contact-lens selection and care, visit www.aoanet.org on the Internet and click on "Keeping Your Eyes Healthy."

A great bridal gift for one-coffee-lover couples

Need a one-of-a-kind gift for the happy couple? Melitta FunKaffé™ — a one-cup coffee maker that combines art-deco design with superior coffee-brewing technology — is the perfect gift, especially if only one of the newlyweds is a coffee lover.

A limited edition collector's piece, FunKaffé features an original European art-glass design in a vivid assortment of colors to brighten any kitchen. The gift set includes a designer mug (in brilliant blue, red or yellow), a contrasting filter cone, a colored-glass stand and a starter pack of Melitta No. 2 filter paper.

True coffee connoisseurs prefer the manual brewing method, and FunKaffé makes the process easy. Slip the filter cone over the glass stand, fit it with a filter paper and fill it with ground coffee. Place the mug underneath, and intermittently pour hot water into the cone. By controlling temperature and the coffee-wet-

National campaign urges women to take folic acid before pregnancy to prevent birth defects

NORFOLK, NE January 12, 2000 - In the fight to prevent birth defects, sometimes "When?" is just as important as "How Much?" While a growing number of women are aware that taking the B vitamin folic acid can reduce their risk of having a baby with certain birth defects of the brain and spine, many are still unaware that it must be taken before pregnancy in order to be effective.

According to the National Council on Folic Acid, a partnership of national and state organizations dedicated to reducing birth defects by promoting the daily use of folic acid, less than one in ten women know that folic acid should be taken prior to conception. This important fact forms the basis of the Council's 2000 educational campaign which Faith Regional Health Services and area physicians clinics, pharmacies, grocery retailers and media are conducting in the greater Norfolk area this year.

"Even though we have known for nearly a decade that folic acid can help prevent certain birth defects of the brain and spine, today less than a quarter of women are getting enough," said Sharon Grunke, RNC, BSN, supervisor of Faith Regional's newborn nursery. "Our goal is to get more women to take the recommended daily amount of folic acid now - because if you wait until you are pregnant, it may be too late."

Achieving this goal is complicated by the fact that nearly half of all pregnancies in the U.S. are unplanned. Because of this, the recommendation is that all women of childbearing age should take folic acid every day, whether or not they are actively planning a pregnancy.

In 1998, the obstetrics department at Faith Regional delivered 835 babies. Of these newborns, ten were born with some type of birth defect including one neural tube, one cleft lip and two major cardiac defects. In 1999, out of 708 babies born at Faith Regional, eight were born with birth defects including two Downs Syndrome and two cleft lip/palate defects. These numbers reflect that 1% of babies born at Faith Regional have had a birth defect which is an alarming ratio.

As most women know, timing can be crucial when it comes to conception. It is the same with folic acid. The critical time when folic acid is needed is in the very first stage of pregnancy, when the cells are dividing and the fetus is just forming. In order to have sufficient folic acid in the body at this time, it is necessary for a woman to be taking 0.4 mg (400 mcg) daily. This is the amount that is in most multivitamins, and it must be taken before pregnancy to be effective. If taken by all women every day prior to conception and throughout the early stages of pregnancy, this amount of folic acid is estimated to reduce the incidence of neural tube defects by up to 70 percent.

Neural tube defects (NTDs) affect an estimated 4,000 pregnancies each year. The most common NTD, spina bifida, is the leading cause of childhood paralysis. Anencephaly, and NTD that affects the brain, results in miscarriage, stillbirth or babies who live only a few days.

In addition to taking a daily multivitamin, experts also advise women to eat a balanced diet with foods rich in folate, like leafy green vegetables, orange juice, broccoli, asparagus, beans and whole grain products. Certain breakfast cereals are fortified with folic acid, as are enriched breads and pastas. However, although it is possible to get enough folic acid by modifying and carefully planning your diet, experts caution that it is difficult to maintain the daily requirement without supplementing your diet with multivitamins or folic acid pills.

Research has also indicated that folic acid taken by men and women of all ages can reduce the risk of cardiovascular disease and some cancers.

January is March of Dimes Birth

Defects Prevention Month. Kicking off the year-long awareness campaign are a media blitz and participation in the Northeast Nebraska Bridal Show, both in January. Other activities planned throughout 2000 include the Patch Health Fair, March of Dimes Walk American, county fairs and instore promotions by grocers and pharmacies. Physicians clinics will be promoting folic acid through patient visits.

Media questions and answers on folic acid

What is Folic Acid?

Folic Acid is an essential B vitamin that has been proven to help prevent neural tube defects when taken daily by women of childbearing age.

What birth defects does it prevent?

Folic acid can help prevent birth defects of the spine and brain, which are called neural tube defects (also referred to as NTDs). The two main NTDs are spina bifida and anencephaly.

How common are these birth defects? How serious are they?

Neural tube defects are common, serious birth defects that affect about 4,000 pregnancies each year in the U.S. About 1 out of every 1,000 infants born in the U.S. has spina bifida or anencephaly.

Spina Bifida, which affects the spine, is the leading cause of childhood paralysis. Anencephaly, an NTD which affects the brain, is less common but always fatal, resulting in miscarriage, stillbirth, or a baby who lives for only a few days.

What causes them?

Although we do not fully understand what causes these birth defects, they are the result of the incomplete development of the neural tube - the central column that forms the baby's spine and brain. Spina bifida results from the failure of the spinal column to close, leaving the spinal cord exposed. Anencephaly is marked by the incomplete development of the skull bones and a partially or completely absent brain.

What we do know is that these birth defects are largely preventable when women of childbearing age take 0.4 mg (400 mcg) of synthetic folic acid every day, before they are pregnant.

Who is most at risk of having a baby with these birth defects?

Any woman may have an affected pregnancy. Ninety-five percent of all affected pregnancies occur among women with no history of birth defects in their families. However, women who have already had an affected pregnancy are 20 times more likely to have subsequent affected pregnancies. Hispanic women and Caucasian women of Celtic descent also have a slightly higher risk.

How effective is folic acid in reducing their occurrence?

Comprehensive studies in the early 90's show that 0.4 mg (400 mcg) of folic acid taken every day can reduce the incidence of these birth defects by up to 70 percent. If all women of childbearing age (15-45 years) consumed the recommended folic acid every day, it is estimated that up to 3,000 - or three quarters - of these birth defects could be prevented every year.

How much folic acid do women need to take?

In order to prevent birth defects, the recommended daily allowance of folic acid is 0.4 mg (400 mcg). Because any women may have an affected pregnancy, it is important that all women of childbearing age (15-45 years) take this amount of folic acid every day. It is also important that women take folic acid at least one month before they become pregnant.

Why to women need to take it before pregnancy?

Because these birth defects occur very early in pregnancy, before most women realize they're pregnant, women must be taking folic acid at least one month before pregnancy to store sufficient amounts in their bodies. In addition, because half of all pregnancies in the U.S. are unplanned, all women of childbearing years, regardless of whether they are planning to become pregnant or not, should make folic acid part of their daily routine.

What is folate, and how does it differ from folic acid?

Folate refers to the vitamin as it naturally occurs in foods, such as leafy green vegetables, orange juice, and beans. Folic acid refers to the synthetic Vitamin found in multivitamins, supplements and fortified foods, such as bread, pasta and rice. While the terms are often used interchangeably, it is important to not that folic acid is more easily absorbed by the body. This means that it is easier to get enough folic acid through a multivitamin or fortified foods - like breakfast cereals - than through a diet that has lots of natural folate.

Is there a danger of taking too much folic acid?

Unless recommended by a health provider, consumption should not exceed 1 milligram (1,000 micrograms) per day. Although the effects of higher intake are not well known, this limit has been set because it could complicate diagnosis of a type of anemia that is caused by a deficiency of vitamin B12, especially among older people. Unless you take more than one multivitamin per day, it would be difficult to exceed this limit.

What are the best sources of folic acid?

There are two main ways women can get folic acid:

1. By taking a daily multivitamin of folic acid supplement - most of these contain the recommended daily amount of folic acid of 0.4 mg (400 mcg).
2. By eating foods fortified with folic acid, such as certain breakfast cereals, bread, rice, and pasta made with enriched flour or grain.

In addition, all women should eat a diet containing foods naturally rich in folate, such as leafy green vegetables, orange juice, beans, and lentils. Labels on fortified and folate rich foods will state whether they are good sources of folic acid; however, even these foods may not provide enough folic acid every day to prevent these birth defects for most women. Taking a multivitamin or folic acid supplement is often the easiest way for women to be sure they are getting enough folic acid every day.

Can most women get enough folic acid by modifying their diets?

Although all women are encouraged to eat a health diet, including foods rich in folate, it can be difficult to get enough every day through diet alone. Your body needs about twice as much folate as folic acid to do the same job - and that's difficult to get every day.

What about women who can't take/can't afford a multivitamin?

Some women who have difficulty taking a multivitamin might be intolerant to another mineral in the vitamin, such as iron; or they might find a multivitamin difficult to swallow. These women could take a folic acid supplement - which is very small, easy to swallow, and inexpensive. Or, for women who really don't like any vitamin pills at all, some brands of breakfast cereal are fortified with 100% of the recommended daily amount of folic acid.

Why aren't multivitamins and folic acid supplements covered by health insurance/Medicaid?

They are not considered medicines and are widely available over the counter, without a prescription. However, when a woman has had a previously affected pregnancy, a physician may prescribe folic acid supplements.

What are other health benefits to taking folic acid?

As an essential vitamin, folic acid plays an important role in cell division and growth. In addition to ensuring the healthy development of the fetus, it is beneficial throughout life in the maintenance of the healthy cells, particularly along the internal and external linings of organs such as the lungs and the skin. Some studies have linked folic acid to a reduction in heart disease, cervical and colon cancers, and reduction in risk of other birth defects such as cleft lip, cleft palate and heart defects. Members of the National Council support continued research in these areas.

What is the National Council on Folic Acid, and what are the organization's goals?

The National Council on Folic Acid is a group of organizations with a common interest in reducing birth defects. The council's goal is to reduce the incidence of preventable NTDs by increasing the number of women of childbearing age who take the recommended amount of folic acid every day. Why are you doing the campaign?

This first campaign from the Council is designed to communicate the important message to women that they should take folic acid every day before they get pregnant. Unfortunately, if they wait until they are pregnant, it may be too late. And, because half of all pregnancies are unplanned, it is important that all women who could possibly become pregnant make folic acid part of their daily routine now - it's an easy thing to do to help ensure a healthy baby.

Pearls are perfect match for any wedding gown

As most brides-to-be know, the process of planning a wedding can be a trying one, full of important and difficult decisions. Fortunately, there is one decision that has been a no-brainer for generations of brides: what type of jewelry to wear on the big day. The choice of pearls has been a cherished bridal tradition since 3,000 years before the birth of Christ. With the advent of cultured pearls in the 1920s, the tradition continued. Today, the wearing of cultured pearls by the bride not only is an honored tradition symbolizing happiness and marital bliss, but also a great way to add an elegant accent to any bridal ensemble.

With the different varieties of pearls and range of styles available, now more than ever, there is pearl jewelry to fit every bride's personal style and budget. As most brides prefer to wear white pearls, Akoya or South Sea pearls are two fabulous options.

Akoya pearls are the classic cultured pearls that immediately come to mind whenever the word "pearl" is mentioned. Cultivated in Japan, Akoya pearls generally are thought of as having the most intense and brilliant luster of all pearl varieties.

South Sea pearls, on the other hand, are known for their extraordinary size, which ranges from 10 millimeters to as large as 20 millimeters. Considered the Rolls-Royce of pearls because they are among the most rare and valuable of all cultured pearl varieties, South Sea pearls have a silky luster that makes them the perfect match to almost any bridal gown.

When choosing cultured pearls for a wedding, it is best to buy them from a knowledgeable and reputable jeweler. The Cultured Pearl Information Center recommends that a bride keep several points in mind when buying pearls. First of all, because cultured pearls are a product of nature, they seldom, if ever, are perfect.

Perhaps the most important quality to look for in a pearl is its luster. Luster is the combination of surface brilliance and a deep-seated glow emanating from within the heart of a pearl. When looked at in normal light, a highly lustrous pearl produces an almost mirror-like reflection on the surface. The appearance of a white, dull or chalky surface indicates that a pearl is of lower quality.

Another aspect to consider when choosing a pearl is the cleanliness of its surface. It should be relatively free of blemishes that appear as cracks, bumps or pits. The cleaner the surface of a pearl, the more valuable.

The perfect accent to every gown, cultured pearls enhance the glow of a bride on her wedding day. Any bride is sure to look beautiful wearing a South Sea cultured pearl necklace, earrings and ring and an Akoya cultured pearl multi-strand bracelet. Furthermore, the shape of a pearl is another important factor to consider when purchasing jewelry. Round pearls traditionally are the most popular choice for weddings. However, irregularly shaped or baroque pearls also can be lustrous and appealing, and often cost less than round pearls.

Cultured pearls range in size from smaller than 3 millimeters, as in the case of small Akoya pearls, to as large as 20 millimeters for a South Sea pearl. All other factors being equal, the larger the pearl, the more valuable.

Whatever the bride decides, she can be sure that along with adding subtle elegance to her wedding gown, her cultured pearls will be one of the most cherished mementos from her big day. As a symbol of love and devotion, her pearls will become a staple in her wardrobe for years to come.

'Groom'ing tips for wedding

A picture-perfect wedding requires a team effort from all of the players involved. While much of the planning traditionally is handled by the bride and her family, the groom also plays an integral part in deciding on the many wedding arrangements.

To help ensure a beautiful wedding for the happy couple, following are some basic task lists for the groom and his team, to make the big day a success.

Groom

- Buy an engagement ring.
- Prepare a guest list and indicate who should be seated in reserved pews.
- Invite friends to be the best man and ushers in the wedding.
- Visit the formalwear specialist to select the wedding attire.
- Choose gifts for the bride, the best man and the ushers.
- Select the wedding ring (this should be done with the bride).
- Plan the honeymoon (this should be done with the bride) in time to assure getting reservations.

- Apply for the marriage license. Check the state and local rules about the time required. This should be obtained several weeks before the wedding and given to the best man the day of the wedding, along with the clergyman's fee.

- Check to be sure that all of the necessary papers — blood tests, birth certificates, etc. — are complete and available upon request.

Best Man

- Take charge of the ushers; brief them on special seating arrangements during the rehearsal.

- Keep the wedding ring and have it the day of the ceremony, or be sure the ring bearer carries out instructions properly.

- Have the marriage license and clergyman's fee on hand.

- Help the groom get ready for the wedding.

- Call for and escort the groom to the wedding. Be there at least 15 to 30 minutes before the ceremony begins.

Ushers

- Be at the wedding site at least one hour before the ceremony.

- Have a typed list of guests occupying reserved pews. As the guests arrive, ask whether they are friends of the bride or groom and seat them accordingly.

- An usher should escort the bride's mother to the front pew just before the procession.

Sail away-happily ever after

After that long walk down the aisle, it's time to set your course for the perfect honeymoon.

If you want romantic ocean sunsets, hidden beaches and a no-hassles honeymoon, cruising is the wave of the future, according to travel agent Shani Cavanah of Cruise Specialists, Seattle, Wash.

"Cruising has something to offer honeymooners of all ages, whether it's your first, second or even a special anniversary, you can't beat the allure of the sea," she says.

Cruising affords the luxuries of great food, service and dazzling destinations with an all-inclusive price tag. Great deals are available year-round as cruising's popularity grows.

The best cruises for romance, according to Cavanah, are the yacht-like, sleek sail ships of Windstar Cruises. Earning high marks for honeymoon cruising from Bride's, Redbook and Porthole magazine, Windstar was named "top three cruises for couples" by National Geographic Traveler.

"How can you beat the intimate size, pampering service and the sound of wind filling those towering, white sails?" Cavanah asks. "But the best thing about Windstar is the casual dress code and ambiance. You can play all day or find a secluded beach and just do nothing. If you're into the classics, indulge yourself

Enjoy dream wedding with proper planning

Every bride and groom wants their wedding to be perfect. From the ceremony to the reception, they consider all the details, and while this makes for a beautiful wedding day, it also causes months, even years, of stress.

The best way for a couple to remain calm while planning the big day is to get organized. By making a list of things they need to do, they can allot time in their schedules for each task — and they can feel a sense of accomplishment and relief each time they cross something off the list.

This basic checklist can get them started on their way to a beautiful wedding day.

- Set the date — As soon as possible after getting engaged, the couple should select a wedding date and decide on the type of wedding they would like to have. From a traditional ceremony in a church to a surprise wedding, where guests are invited to a "party" that turns out to be a wedding, couples are personalizing the event and planning weddings that reflect their lifestyles and interests.

- Reserve a location — The couple should reserve the church or location of the ceremony soon after setting the date to ensure they can get married on the day they want. Then, they need to reserve a reception location. Party houses and halls specialize in party business and feature catering directors who will assist a couple in planning their dream wedding.

- Select a photographer — Every photographer has a different style. The couple should choose one who will accommodate their wishes, like taking the types and number of shots they want, attending both the ceremony and reception, and offering the album design they would like. The photographer's personality is very important — the couple will be spending an entire day with this person, so they should choose someone who will make them feel comfortable.

- Book reception entertainment — The couple should select a band or disc jockey who will cater to everyone at the reception — both the younger and older generations. The musical selections should be diverse, and requests from the guests should be taken.

- Arrange wedding transportation — Whether it's a Rolls-Royce, stretch limo, horse and buggy, or double-decker bus, the couple should plan for transportation to and from the ceremony and to the reception for themselves and their attendants. They should make reservations early, especially if they want a white car.

- Order dresses — Shopping for a wedding dress, headpiece and bridesmaid dresses is one of the most fun parts of the planning for the future bride. She should choose a wedding dress that reflects her style and personality — and makes her look beautiful. When considering dresses for her attendants, the bride-to-be should opt for a style that complements her dress, as well as the women in her party.

- Choose a florist — Flowers can add an elegant touch to the wedding day, and every florist has a unique style. The couple should select one whose arrangements they like and who offers them helpful, creative ideas about bouquets, corsages and centerpieces.

- Decide on a bakery — The couple should select a bakery based on the flavor of the cakes baked there and the look of previous work. They should ask for a taste of the different types of cake offered, and check if the bakery will be able to create the design that they want.

- Select formalwear — Whether it's a basic tuxedo or a top hat and tail coat, formalwear completes the look of the wedding party. The couple should select a formalwear provider who offers the style they want, has a variety of sizes available to fit all of the men standing up, and offers a large selection of bow ties and cummerbunds or vests.

- Order invitations — Invitations come in many different styles, so the bride and groom will have a number of books to look through. They should decide on a style that best suits their wedding, based on its formality, the time of day and the wedding colors. The stationery professional can help them with this decision.

With these important decisions made, the future bride and groom only have a few things left to do, like selecting favors, writing a wedding bulletin and buying thank-you gifts for their attendants. They are well on their way to the wedding of their dreams.

Bridal gowns may not be what they 'seam'

Today's brides are being "bombed" with offers to save money on the purchase of their wedding gowns. Options available to brides needing gowns range from discount dealers to couture salons to the Internet. While most brides would like to save as much money as possible on their dress, it is very important that they weigh all of their options and make their purchase decisions after reviewing all of the facts.

"The sad thing," says Gary Wright, chairman of the National Bridal Service (NBS), "is that when all things are considered, the bride rarely saves a dime and may end up spending more."

What a bride may not realize is that her gown must be fitted, steamed and pressed before wearing. These tasks require expertise and should be done by a professional. A reputable bridal store usually does not charge extra for pressing, provides fitting and alteration services for less than independent seamstresses, and provides a high level of personal attention to the selection and fitting process.

With so many options for purchasing a gown — discount dealers, telemarketing services, bridal warehouses, department stores — a bride is likely to become overwhelmed.

To make the process of finding the perfect wedding gown easier, NBS offers the following advice to brides confronted with bargain offers.

- Brides should beware of anyone who:
  - requires full payment prior to ordering the dress. If the dealer goes out of business or if anything is wrong with the dress, it already has been paid in full. According to NBS, brides should not pay more than a 50 percent deposit on a gown.

- wants to ship the gown directly to the bride. She then will have to find and pay someone to fit, alter, steam and press the dress. With these additional charges, the bride may end up paying more money than if she had purchased the dress from the first bridal store she visited.

- wants to sell the bride a gown, but not steam and press it.
- does not offer or coordinate alteration services.
- does not have a legitimate store.
- wants the bride to select the gown elsewhere, but order from them.

History has proven that people usually get what they pay for, and taking a chance on a gown to save a few dollars is not worth the risk of being disappointed on the wedding day.

For more information or additional advice on purchasing a wedding gown, visit the NBS Web page at www.wed-serv.com.

'Punch' up the celebration with a deliciously festive refreshment

From the engagement party to the bridal shower to the rehearsal dinner to the wedding, the moment a couple announces that they are planning to get married, a garden of entertaining opportunities are abound.

Whether hosting a dinner, catering a brunch or convening outdoors for an elegant garden party, every occasion calls for food and refreshments.

One of the most deliciously festive refreshments to serve at any party is punch. Whether made from a simple concoction of juices or spiked with a favorite spirit, punch always is a hit with guests — especially when served with decorative garnishes, like fresh fruit or edible flowers.

So, punch up the party and raise a glass to the couple-to-be. The following refreshing punch recipe, courtesy of "The Herb Garden Cookbook" (Gulf), by Lucinda Hutson, makes a perfect match for any wedding celebration.

balm and mint to release flavor. Place them in a large container, and cover with the juices and lemon slices. Chill overnight, occasionally stirring and pressing down on the herbs with the back of a wooden spoon. Prior to serving, remove the herbs (they will have discolored) and replace with fresh herb sprigs. Pour punch into iced glasses with sparkling water (or champagne), lime juice, lime slices and a sprig of fresh lemon balm or mint.

Note: The best mints to use in this recipe are varieties of spearmint, apple mint, Egyptian mint or pineapple mint. Orange bergamot mint usually is too strong. Lemon verbena or pineapple sage also may be used.

For a special touch, add festive herbal ice cubes (recipe follows). This punch can be beautifully presented from a punch bowl with floating edible flowers.

Festive Herbal Ice Cubes

Making festive ice cubes is well worth the effort; you will be rewarded with enthusiastic comments from guests. Artistically arrange any combination of the following in ice-cube trays: small slices of oranges, limes, lemons, kumquats; small sprigs of mint, lemon balm, lemon verbena, pineapple sage, salad burnet, rosemary leaves; and marigolds, Mexican mint marigold flowers, rose petals, pansies, Johnny jump-ups and violets. Cover with distilled water and freeze. Store ice cubes in tightly sealed plastic bags to use as needed.

Herb Garden Punch

2 generous bunches lemon balm sprigs
2 generous bunches mild-flavored mints
2 large cans (46 ounces each) unsweetened pineapple juice juice of 2 to 3 lemons
3 lemons, cut into round slices
Additional sprigs lemon balm and/or mint
Sparkling water, champagne and fresh lime juice to taste
2 to 3 limes, cut into round slices
Gently wring the bunches of lemon

Punch up the wedding celebration with a deliciously refreshing recipe for Herb Garden Punch, served with Festive Herbal Ice Cubes.

Beauty and meaning are in 'bloom'

What would a wedding be without flowers? From the decorations to the table centerpieces to the bride's bouquet, flowers make a wedding memorable — they add beauty, fragrance and even meaning to any affair.

When selecting wedding flowers, consider their special meanings as well as their allure. Following are some favorite blooms and their meanings, courtesy of Roses Inc. (www.rosesinc.org).

Beautiful fine jewelry down the aisle

"It is not from reason and prudence that people marry, but from inclination," observed the 18th-century writer Samuel Johnson. If he was right, then millions of young couples will be so inclined in this millennium year, creating what promises to be a record number of nuptials.

Like every wedding ceremony, each bride will be different, as will her choice of what to wear down the aisle. Setting her apart are her jewelry and accessories, as well as the style of her gown. However, unlike the wedding dress, destined to be worn just once, the perfect jewelry will enhance her look today and provide pleasure for years to come.

With so many choices available, what jewelry should a bride wear on her important day and what appropriate jewelry gifts can her family and friends provide? According to bridal experts, the leading fashion trend is strapless gowns, placing emphasis on the bride's shoulders and neck. With that in mind, says Lynn Ramsey, president of the Jewelry Information Center, a perfectly chosen necklace and earrings are essenare in white gold, a small pearl or diamond pendant on a white gold chain would be the perfect accompaniment.

For most brides, a simple necklace is the best. Popular this year are tiny illusion looks in which pearls, beads or diamonds appear to float on invisible wires. Newer still are antique-inspired, multi-strand collars that cover all or part of the neck. And for the classicist, no bride could go wrong with a strand of cultured pearls or a lacy diamond choker.

In earrings, the popular look is feminine, yet understated, often borrowing themes from Victorian times. This means earrings with delicate florals or openwork designs. Diamonds, pearls or perhaps pastel-colored gemstones can embellish them. In fact, an effective and memorable "something blue" could be a pair of sapphire, aquamarine or tanzanite earrings.

In this millennium year, the perfect gift for the wedding couple will be engraved with their names and wedding date. Items can range from a silver tray, frame or desk set with their initials entwined or personal items for each, like a romantic gold locket, a money clip, cuff links or watch engraved with a personalized message. An engraved gift becomes an instant heirloom in remembrance of that special day.

Many brides will accessorize to match the trim on their gowns. Pearl trim? A cultured pearl necklace, a South Sea pendant or perhaps a long strand of freshwater pearls woven into her hair would complement. Beaded details? Opt for something sparkly, like a diamond tiara or hair clip.

For many young brides this year, it is not just the gown that will be white. About 25 percent of new brides are choosing platinum for their wedding sets. In that case, a delicate platinum necklace or small hoop earrings would be a perfect choice. If her rings

Weddings? Dry Cleaning?

Questions that come to mind.

Have you read the care label of the dress and if so does it say to use zurcion method only to clean? If yes to Zurcion, what is the cost or risk of having it cleaned some other way?

Do you need your dress cleaned, steamed or pressed before the wedding and when should you have it into the cleaners? This includes Bridesmaids.

Will the cleaners let you look the dress over after its cleaned but before it's boxed for storage?

When should you inspect a dress after it has been stored?

Did the wedding party remember to have their dress clothes cleaned after their last special occasion or do they need touch up pressing to look their best?

When making your own dress or adding to the store bought dress how can you know if the sequins, beads, elastic or material is compatible with the cleaning method you intend to use?

Do you have the phone # for Karen or George of K & G Cleaners posted by your phone to get the right answers to these and any other questions you may have?

Reach for picture perfect centerpiece

One of the best ways to capture great candid shots of your wedding guests is to place a Samsung camera at each table. It's the camera you don't throw away — you give it away to a lucky guest. Create lots of fun at your reception by announcing that the guest who has a mark under his or her dinner plate gets to take the photos and ultimately, take the camera home as a token of the bride and groom's appreciation. Guests will enjoy taking pictures and you'll have lots of Samsung-created memories for a lifetime.

Make reception swinging success

The wedding day is one of the most exciting and memorable days in a couple's life. The bride and groom want everything, from the gown to the flowers to the food served at the reception, to be perfect. Most of all, they want the memories of the big day to be special.

The entertainment provided at the wedding reception is critical in determining the success of the event. The choice of music for the reception can make or break the entire party. Regardless of whether you use a live band or disc jockey, lively music and a personable bandleader or DJ can help build a mood and play songs that can get the guests dancing.

Hiring the right band or DJ for your wedding can be confusing. Asking good questions, knowing the right answers and getting all guarantees in writing will ensure the selection of reliable, reputable vendors. The following questions and answers, courtesy of Modern Bride magazine, can help you hire the best musicians for the reception.

1. Can I determine the quality of a band's performance by listening to a tape or viewing its video? If you like the sound on the tape and/or the way the band delivers on video, inquire about where you can see the group play at a showcase, an actual wedding or some other place where it is booked.

2. How can I be certain that the band I book will be the one at my wedding? It is essential to get the name of the band in writing on your contract.

3. Does the orchestra have liability insurance? A reputable company will maintain such coverage. Most reception facilities require that the orchestra furnish them with a certificate of insurance.

4. Does the band take breaks? Most bands take a 15-minute break after a 45-minute set. Taped music can be arranged during the breaks or continuous music (at an extra charge) can be planned.

5. Are there additional charges for traveling time, playing during cocktails and overtime? Probably. Ask about that at your initial meeting, and be sure that those charges are clearly stated in your contract and understood before you sign it.

6. Is there a surcharge or sales tax? There is no sales tax on musical services, but there may be some surcharges (i.e. payroll, transportation). Be sure to ask.

7. Does the band have an extensive song list with selections that appeal to a wide range of guests? A good band will be able to play a range of music that spans the decades, from big band to Top 40 to Motown hits, as well as ethnic pieces.

8. Will the band members wear appropriate attire? Unless otherwise noted, and depending on the formality of the wedding, members should wear black tie.

9. Is there a way I can be sure the amplification will not be deafening? Tell the bandleader or DJ of your concern, so if this is not a place where the group has played before, he or she can check out the location to prepare ahead for any acoustical challenges that must be addressed to keep the decibels under control.

10. Does the bandleader or DJ act as master of ceremonies and coordinate the sequence of events at the reception, and if so, should I meet with mine about this before the wedding? The master of ceremonies usually is the bandleader or DJ, and you absolutely should have an in-person meeting to talk over the reception events.
