A Quick Look Airport under new management

The Wayne Municipal Airport has a new airport manager and a new Fixed Base Operator. Mike Wetmore and Ron Gray opened Reliance Aviation, Inc. on April 1. Wetmore is from Elk Point, SD, and Gray is from Merrill, Iowa.

Both men are married and will be living in Wayne. Gray and his wife Dana are living in the home located on the airport grounds. Dana is a physical therapist at St. Luke's Hospital in Sioux City. Wetmore, his wife Stephanie and their son Brian are in the process of looking for a home in Wayne. Stephanie is also a physical therapist at St. Luke's, Brian will be a freshman and has been involved in school sports.

A year ago, the two men started their search from Illinois to Idaho for an airport to manage. They selected the Wayne site, they said, for several reasons. The facilities on hand exceed what they had seen at other airports. The Wayne site has large hangars with one being just recently built and the runway is only three years old. Plus, the friendliness and vision of the Wayne Airport Board and of others in the area helped narrow their search to Wayne.

Often the first thing people see when they come to town is the airport." Wetmore said. "Just because people don't use the airport doesn't

He noted, for example, that there are several doctors who commute to Wayne regularly. The airport is a busy place. There is more air traffic in this area than one might think with about 50 aircraft registered in a 25 mile radius. At least a dozen operations (take offs and landings) occur at the airport everyday,

Offered at Reliance Aviation, Inc. are air charter services (air taxi, air freight, air photo, commuter shuttle services), flight school services (pilot certificate, instrumental rating, aircraft rental, and biennial flight reviews), and maintenance services (maintenance and repairs, annual inspections, oil changes, and engine

Also offered at the airport is a free flight training ground school with classes being held every Saturday from 10 a m to noon at the airport. Classes are open to everyone ages 16 and up. New students are welcome and can start anytime.

Before coming to Wayne, Gray

Of the Herald Two public hearings were held during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

.A number of residents of the southeast quadrant of the city were present to express concerns about Sidewalk District 2000-1 which will replace and install new sidewalk in portions of that area.

City Clerk Betty McGuire reported that a total of six written objections had been received by the city in regard to the project. The objections represented 1,320 square feet of sidewalk in the 21,400 square feet project. State law requires that 51 percent of properties in the district object before an ordinance can be

Honors presentation made

Danielle Stark, Laurel, will present her honors colloquium, "A Study of an Individual Who Suffers from an Addiction," on April 26 at 3:30 p.m. in the lounge area on the second floor of the Humanities Building.

Millions of people suffer from addictions. Addictions control how people think, what they do, and how they live. With research and personal experiences, a story has been written. It documents an addict's thoughts and actions, and provides scientific insights as to why people suffer from addictions.

The colloquium is a requirement of the WSC honors program. It provides an opportunity for students through independent study to present their projects. They have achieved an overall grade point average of 3.3 or above, and a 3.3 or above in their major field of study A 1996 graduate from Laurel-

who have been conducting research

Concord High School, Stark is a senior majoring in English writing and interior design.

Her WSC activities include American Society of Interior Designs (ASID), women's choir and the honors program. Starks plans to pursue master's degree following her graduation in 2001.

She is the daughter of Kenneth and Janice Stark of Laurel

Immunization important

Good Neighbors chosen

Every day, in the United States, 11,000 babies are born. Each of these children begins life with an immunization coverage level of zero. In order to give these children as disease-free life as possible, Hills Community Goldenrod Services (GHCS) offers immunization from vaccine-preventable disease at monthly clinics held through the agency's 14-county service area.

Immunization is one of the most effective and cost efficient ways to prevent disease. For every dollar spent on immunization, as many as $29 can be saved in direct and indirect health costs. Vaccine-preventable disease levels have been reduced by more than 99 percent since the introduction of vaccines.

The year 2000 goal of the Childhood Immunization Initiative, according to the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services, is to have at least 90 percent of all children immunized by two years of age. Currently the immunization rate for two-year-olds in the United States is 75 percent, and Nebraska's immunization rate is 82 percent for two-year-olds and

This learning experience allows for the student to work with a staff nurse preceptor during the actual hours that the staff nurse is assigned to work. This gives the student the opportunity to experience the reality of the work world he/she will be entering.

Many of the programs design the preceptorship to be a rural nursing experience. This gives the nursing students an opportunity to be exposed to and to gain an appreciation of practicing nursing in the rural setting. Because rural areas usually experience more of a nursing shortage than urban settings, it is planned that perhaps this experience will encourage nursing students to work in a rural area following graduation.

Some employers have also designed a post-hire orientation for newly licensed nurses which resembles the student preceptorship as described above.

These specialized orientations (by employers) and preceptorships (by the educational programs) are expected to be two successful methods to bridge the academic world of the student nurse and the work world of the licensed nurse.

The Parking Issue in Wayne

As a resident and taxpayer in the City of Wayne for the past 35 years, I would like to pass on my observations of the parking situation on our streets as I see it. I am in opposition of the proposed removal of the Midnight to Five A.M. parking restriction. The following information is being provided to the public regarding the Midnight to Five A.M. parking restriction established in 1961.

A number of years ago the Traffic Engineering section of the State of Nebraska Department of Roads did a traffic survey of Wayne. The resulting statement regarding parking on residential streets was that streets are designed and built to move traffic efficiently and safely and were not intended to be a parking lot.

The width of all the older residential streets in Wayne is 25 feet from back of curb to back of curb with a 24 foot driving surface. Automobiles and pickups are on average seven feet wide. Therefore, one parked vehicle and two vehicles meeting only leaves one and a half feet between each vehicle. This small distance between the vehicles often results in many drivers hitting or jumping the curb in order to get past the oncoming vehicle. Total parking on one side of the street will therefore likely result in more sideswipe and hit-and-run type accidents if the restriction is repealed.

If residents think that by removing the parking restriction they will be able to park in front of their house, this will not happen in most cases. The current Midnight to Five side will be filled with cars from across the street and renters from the area apartments. If you doubt this will happen in your neighborhood, go check Lincoln Street between Second Street and Seventh Street on any given day. If you live anywhere near Wayne State College, consider how many of the students living in the dorms can park closer to their room on a residential street versus the college parking lots. The currently restricted side of Logan, Nebraska, Windom and Walnut Streets near Tenth Street may be parked full by college students living in Berry Hall and Morey Hall from Monday to Friday until they go home for the weekend if the restriction is repealed.

Another strong point to keep in mind regarding the restriction is vandalism to parked vehicles. Halloween 1999 in Sioux City resulted in 80 broken windows. Vehicles parked along streets where traffic can pass within a few feet provide easy targets for vandals. Norfolk has seen many incidents of vandalism within the past year as has Wayne in December of 1999. These acts will likely increase if the restriction is repealed.

Snow removal and street maintenance are two of the most important reasons to retrain the Midnight to Five parking restriction. Snow removal is normally done November through March. It may be a seasonal event, but Wayne has an excellent and efficient snow removal program. This could not be done if it were not for the Midnight to Five restriction. Snow is plowed any time between 2 and 4 a.m. and without parked cars, the streets are cleaned to full width in three to four hours, depending upon the amount of snowfall. If the City has to go back time after time to clean snow where each individual car parked, the taxpayers ill incur a considerable extra expense. Snow left on the street over 24 hours packs down and turns into ice-which is next to impossible to remove with a plow. Therefore these areas may never get cleaned down to dry surface. Another aspect relating to snow removal is the fact that the City will have no choice but to plow snow against the parked cars' window deep since the plows are mostly one-way which forces the snow to be plowed from center of street to the curb. The quality of snow removal will decline but the cost of it will increase if the restriction is repealed.

Street maintenance includes much more than just snow removal. Street sweeping is done throughout the year but especially during the summer months. The sweeper begins at 4 a.m. when streets are more readily accessible along the curb due to the parking restriction. Rain and traffic work together to move dirt and small debris from the center of the street to the gutter line along the curb. Therefore sweeping the middle of the street while cars are parked along the curb does little to clean the streets. Under normal rainfall conditions residential areas are swept approximately four times a year. In the fall the city sweeps leaves which collect in the gutter line in residential areas twice before winter to help prevent storm sewers from becoming plugged. In early spring the City sweeps to recover the gravel from winter sanding. The street sweeper is difficult to turn in small areas. If cars are left parked on the street for extended time periods, most areas will likely never be swept as we will never find clear block where the sweeper can run along the curb. It is a known fact that travelers and tourists continually comment that Wayne is a nice clean city. This will not be case if restriction is repealed.

Street maintenance also involves the sealing of cracks on concrete and blacktop streets. This is done each fall in order to seal the surface to keep moisture from seeping into the cracks. When moisture enters these cracks and then freezes, it expands and pushes the crack open wider. Over time this process causes the street to deteriorate and leads to potholes and other traffic concerns. Therefore the sealing of these cracks with tar is a vital part of protecting the integrity of our streets which are repaired at taxpayer expense. It is impossible to tar these cracks where cars are parked. Thus the seven foot area away from the curb where cars are parked may never be sealed if the restriction is repealed.

Law enforcement is another major issue. One of the original intents of the parking restriction was to assist with traffic surveillance and crime control. By having no parking after Midnight, a patrolling officer can cross any intersection, look both directions and if no cars are parked or moving, it is easy to observe any late night activity. This also involves public safety. In residential areas, children often play out in the yards. A very real concern is the idea of an adult or especially a child stepping out between cars directly into a narrow traffic lane chasing a ball or just playing. This is not an uncommon instance as most everyone has seen this happen at one time or another. It is difficult for traffic to see potential hazards or dangers that may lie ahead on a street lined with vehicles. Parked cars will hinder law enforcement and endanger the public's safety if the restriction is repealed.

Parking has been and will continue to be an issue in Wayne. Everyone would like more. However, the Midnight to Five A..M. parking restriction was enacted for a reason. The residential streets of Wayne were designed and built to move traffic, not to provide a parking lot. The restriction allows snow removal on residential streets to be fast, efficient and results in a quality job. The restriction allows street maintenance activities, such as street sweeping and sealing cracks, to take place in a timely and efficient manner which would otherwise not be possible. The restriction provides for effective law enforcement and addresses concerns for public safety. These are all items that would benefit everyone, but they will cost the tarpayer more and diminish in quality if the restriction is

Senate race part of 'silly season'

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The talk around some corners of the Statehouse has, quite predictably, turned to the U.S. Senate race and whether one of the Statehouse guys will win the GOP nomination.

Secretary of State Scott Moore and company got some news of the very, very good variety when George Grogan and Elliott Rustad quit the race.

Their exits left Moore, Attorney General Don Stenberg, businessman David Hergert and former Sen. John DeCamp in the race. Fewer people at the table means the voter pie won't be cut into as many pieces. If you're anyone but Stenberg, this is good.

Political palaver had it that Stenberg could win the hardcore, conservative GOP types in the May primary — perhaps winning the nomination with only 30 percent or so of the vote.

Suddenly, Moore and Hergert loom much, much larger as competitors. Stenberg might acknowledge that the state GOP can be broken into two groups. Those who can't stand the idea of his losing the nomination, and those who can't stand the idea of his winning it. Stenberg does not generate a lot of ambiguity among those who have more than passing acquaintance with him.

Moore has real potential, if his TV campaign shows some imagination and he stays out there on the stump, to close on Stenberg in rapid fashion.

Hergert is a successful western Nebraska businessman with what has seemed to be a good presence Western Nebraska means the 3rd District, the Big 3rd means a bundle of potential votes in the Republican primary. Frergert, nonetheless, has to build name recognition in the eastern end of the state. Moore can counter Hergert's ag country roots to some degree in; that he really does hail from a family farm and really does understand, and make or lose a bit of money, depending on what the farm economy is doing.

Some thoughts on the Senate

Stenberg said the "silly season" had arrived when Grogan accused him of ducking joint campaign appearances (which Stenberg has done) and simultaneously arguing that Stenberg should resign from office (which really was silly). However, silly takes a lot of forms. It was approximately silly for Stenberg to make a virtual campaign photo opportunity out 6. his preparation for the abortion law case pending before the U.S. Supreme Court. It was nothing more than: "Look! I'm doing my job!" Nothing dishonorable about it; but, kind of silly.

Grogan bowed out, he said, because a profile on him that appeared in the Omaha World-Herald was too hard on his family and, he said, unfair. When you run for the U.S. Senate, how can you not know that your past is going to be closely, closely examined; and reported upon in the present? This is the era of people in public office, and public office wannabes, being checked for how they paid domestic help. Bill Clinton was asked on TV what kind of underwear he likes—and he answered!

Television ads obviously are central to today's campaigns. Suffice it to say we thought Grogan and Rustad got less than their money's worth with the scripts they used for their erstwhile campaigns. Grogan was talking at times about clearly local school policies. Both talked about the process of lawmaking as though they had yet to read a primer on how Congress does business.

Putting the legislative session on review

During the first session of the new millennium, we tackled critical issues such as child-care, mental health care, rural economic development, fetal cell research and ethanol.

This legislature, in my opinion, passed legislation that will benefit the rural economy of this state and our senior citizens as well. We also laid the groundwork with studies to assess large-scale changes in the area of property taxes and increases in teacher salaries.

LB 936 and LB 1348 are measures that will provide incentives for rural The Rural economic growth. Opportunities (Legislative Bill 936) is intended to attract small to mid-size companies and higher-wage jobs to small Nebraska counties. It is projected that it will extend more than $6.3 million in tax credits to businesses that locate in rural Nebraska during the next four years. The other measure, LB 1348, is designed to foster small businesses and to help farmers find new markets for agricultural products. It will allocate $3.75 million over three years for grants encouraging entrepreneurs and value-added marketing.

My priority bill, LB 1101, will provide the opportunity for senior citizens in our communities to remain in their homes rather than moving into assisted living or residential care. The Senior Companion Program will do this by pairing Senior Companion volunteers with homebound elderly people. The volunteers will be healthy, mobile senior citizens who will be paid a non-taxable stipend to enhance their incomes

I kn -- many of you have opinions— the success or failure of this session. I feel the same way, but quite often our opinions of a legislative session may change for better or worse as time goes along. This may be the farmer in me coming out, but a legislative session can be like a new crop. Early op, you may judge it, but only after harvest will ou be able to accurately survey your results.

Though time has run out on this years' session, in the interim I will continue to work to save family farms in Nebraska and to continue to provide opportunities to allow the next generation of young farmers an opportunity to succeed in starting new operations. I look forward to continue figiding answers to issues that face our seniors by chairing LB 353, a study to look at cost controls on the soaring-cost of prescription drugs. Also, I will continue to fight for the all of you in District #18 who depend on the agricultural economy of our state.

It has been a joy and privilege serving you as the State Senator for District #18. I have learned a great deal this year and I hope to be back next year meeting your needs and representing you, the good people of District #18 and the Great State of Nebraska.

I want to thank everyone from District #18 who either has called or e-mailed my office this year in support or opposition of the issues before our legislature. Your contacts have been very important to me this year and are greatly appreciated.

Also, your role in the legislative process is invaluable in listening to what issues the people of Northeast Nebraska feel are important.

If you have any comments, concerns, ideas for new legislation or if you need help with public or personal matters, please feel free to contact my office in Lincoln by phone at (402) 471-2801 or e-mail me at bdickey@unicam.state.ne.us. Vote yes for youth

Dear Edito

The vote for or against the one cent raise on sales tax for the Community Center really isn't about a 20 percent raise or an additional tax burden.

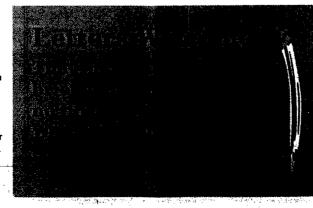

It's about whether we owe the youth of our community anything. It's about one cent on every dollar we spend on items we could probably do without.

It's about taking care of our own. Please vote for the one cent raise on sales tax on May 9.

Your kids, grandkids, nieces, nephews and neighborhood youth will thank you.

WSC student makes honors presentation

Tim Heinemann, Wakefield, will present his honors colloquium, "Spectroscopic Studies of Iron (III) — Polyphenol Complexes," on April 26 at 3 p.m. in the Carhart Science Building, room 122.

The spectroscopic characteristics of select Fe (III) – polyphenol complexes were studied. Selected polyphenols were chosen for their similarities with active compounds found in many herbal remedies, including Echinacea.

The colloquium is a requirement of the WSC honors program. It provides an opportunity for students who have been conducting research through independent study to present their projects. They have achieved an overall grade point average of 3.3 or above, and a 3.3 or above in their major field of study.

Heinemann is a senior majoring in chemistry. Following graduation in May, Heinemann will begin employment as a quality assurance chemist with Carolil Inc.

ment as a grant with Cargill Inc.

Wish WSC activities include Lambda Delta Lambda, a physical science honorary and WSC theater productions He was named to Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities in 1999.

He is the son of Eldon and Ellen Heinemann of Wakefield.

Julie Stalling

Stalling receives Rookie of the Year Teaching Award

Julie Stalling of Fairbury, wife of Wayne native Chad Stalling, recently received NSEA Rookie of the Year award. Fellow teachers at Fairbury Jr.-Sr. High School nominated he for the award. She will be honored at the 2000 Nebraska Education Association Delegate Assembly on April 29 in Omaha.

Since becoming a teacher at Fairbury last fall, Stalling worked hard contacting parents before school started and also when it was parent/teacher conferences, and she has been devoting hours of time developing lesson plans among many other teacher duties

In addition to her many teaching responsibilities, Stalling has begun a Fellowship of Christian Athletes chapter at Fairbury this fall. By doing so, students from different groups get the opportunity to see each other in settings other than the regular school routine

Stalling notes that she loves to teach the Fairbury children and that they mean a lot to her

She credits Wendy Brenner, her cooperating teacher when she taught in Fremont, for her success as a teacher. Stalling said that she wanted to become a teacher to be a stable part of childrens' lives and so they would know they would always get a smile everyday from her.

Fellow teachers say they find her enthusiastic, having a good attitude, loving teaching, and having a positive impact on the school and community.

Stalling's family consists of her husband Chad, her parents Denny and Carolyn Scheer of Elkhorn. Her father is a retired Omaha Public Schools teacher Chad's parents are present his honors colloquium proect on April 27 at 4 p.m. in the Carhart Science Building, room 122.

Eschliman to make honors presentation

His project is entitled "The Isolation of the Phytochemical Myrosinase (thioglucoside glucohydrolase, E.C.3.2.3.1) and development of a quantitative bioassay for the determination of glucosinolate content in Brassicaceae (the family formerly known as Cruciferae).'

Fighting and preventing cancer with nutrition is the direction many pharmaceutical companies and medical professionals are going. Glucosinates are a class of phytochemicals found in many of the cruciferous vegetables and hydrolyzed by an enzyme called myrosinase age of 3.3 or above, and a 3.3 or above in their major field of study.

A 1995 Wheeler Central High

School graduate, Eschliman is a senior majoring in chemistry and biology.

His WSC activities include: WSC Ambassadors; Lambda Delta Lambda, a physical science honorary; vice president of the Student Senate; Blue Key, a campus-wide honorary; Biology Club; Academy of Science volunteer; chemistry teaching assistant; intramural program; president of Newman Club; vice president of Cooperative Campus Ministries; residential assistant; Bowen Hall Council and tour guide. Eschliman was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and was recipient of both the Presidential Scholarship and the Ed Rosa-Molinar/Jo Taylor Student Research scholarship.

He is the son of lim and Deb Eschliman of Ericson.

Adkins will preside at bankers' convention

Rick Adkins, President and CEO of the Security National Bank of Laurel, Allen and Osmond, will be presiding at the annual Nebraska Bankers Association convention in Omaha April 26-28.

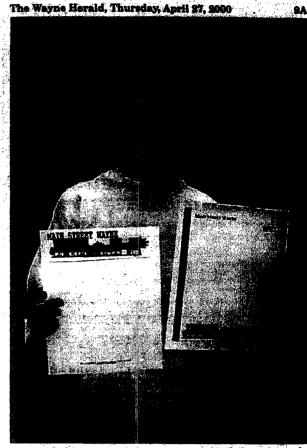

Adkins was elected as Presidentelect in 1998 and this past year has served as President of the state association. During Adkins' year as NBA President, he has represented the NBA at national and state banking conferences and conventions and attended, American Banking Association, Community Banking Association events and Central States Association meetings. In addition, he has been actively involved in state and national legislative financial issues with frequent meetings in Washington, D.C.

The state NBA Executive Council and committee meetings were hosted in Laurel last June for two weeks In addition, Adkins has logged thousands of miles of travel fulfilling NBA presidential obligations and has visited more than 75 Nebraska

"Navigate the New Century" is the theme for this year's convention and participants will attend sessions featuring Dr. Jerry Linenger, astrocosmonaut; Mengedoth, American Bankers Association President; Mark Shields, political journalist and Lou Heckler, a peak performance specialist.

Following the NBA annual meeting and awards luncheon, Adkins will pass the gavel to President-elect Tom Olson. Adkins will continue to serve the NBA as a member of the Executive Council, Past Presidents Association and on a national ABA committee

The buildings were drawn by Roy Ley, a junior at Wayne High School

The drawing symbolizes the plan for preserving Main Street. The original drawing was done in watercolor and submitted to the Main Street Wayne committee as part of a logo contest.

Ley, who is currently enrolled in an Independent Study Art class at Wayne High School, said he created the drawing last summer and turned it in to the committee.

The drawing was chosen from several submitted and is now being used on the bottom of letterhead stationary used by Main Street Wayne.

"I was happy to do it," Ley said of his drawing.

EXPERT ANSWERS TO TAXING QUESTIONS

How long am I required to keep old tax records?

Receipts, cancelled checks, interest statements and any other record that document income of a deduction shown on your tax return should be kept until the period of limitations for what return expires. This is usually three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later. However, there's not period of limitations when no return's filed or fraud is involved. If you are an employer, you must retain employment tax records for at lease four years.

Let us help you with your tax concerns.

Dr. Alan Boye, professor of English at Vermont's Lyndon State College, will be leading the Neihardt Summer Seminar, Creative Non-Fiction From Pre-Writing to Publishing.

"It will provide students with a close study of the writing process and with practice in its component parts of pre-writing, composition, revision and editing. On a practical level, the seminar would provide students with a wealth of pragmatic, simple and effective tools to make them more efficient writers.

The course would be based in part on a course I developed at Vermont's Lyndon State College and which now serves as the foundation for all of our writing and education programs. The success of this course is evident not only in the numerous student comments about it, but also in the English depart ment's assessment protocols where it consistently ranks as the course

Wayne State student receives Web site award

Wayne State College student Tim "Rudy" Richter of Omaha tied for third place among more than 400 entries in the Broadcast Education Association Student Interactive Multimedia Contest. The award was presented on April 8 in Las Vegas; Nev. as part of the BEA and National Broadcasters Conventions.

The BEA Convention and Exhibit was April 7-10 at the Las Vegas Convention Center and followed by National Association of Broadcasters' Annual Convention & Expo, which is attended by more than 100,000 broadcasting professionals. The BEA offers the opportunity for individuals to attend both educational and a professional trade convention at the same time

"It's nice to be recognized by an organization such as the BEA, Richter said

Richter tied for third place with his entry, "Rudy's Jukebox," in the "to persuade/sell" online category He tied with Sean Pruitt of the University of Oklahoma.

Rudy's Jukebox' was developed as a potential solution for college and/or small radio stations to quickly catalog their CD inventory It provides for easy inventory control and tracking," Richter said

The award-winning Web site was part of Richter's portfolio work for a Web publishing class taught by Eddie Elfers, humanities assistant professor at Wayne State College

"The entire (WSC) humanities face ulty is wonderful. Eddie Elfers, Dave Ogden, and Maureen Carrigg have all helped me out tremendously, Richter said. "WSC offered me a chance to continue my education while continuing my career. It just seemed to be the best solution at the time

Richter is a non-traditional student who has resumed his pursuit of a college degree through classes taught on the Web and portfolio credit. He is working on a mass communications major with an online communications minor and is working as a Web analyst for HDR, inc in Omaha. 4-H program impacts youth

America's youth organizations rank second only to public schools in the number of youth reached by their services each year.

From summer camps to afterschool day care to mentoring relationships, 4-H has much to give to

Summer camp often provides wonderful memories of being one with nature, meeting new people and gaining a sense of freedom associated with living in a new-environment. Camp experiences can provide youth with valuable time with friends and adults. Whether it is wilderness camp or just com-muning with nature, camps can increase a variety of competencies in youth

The concept of mentoring-pairing novices with those who had more experience -- is not new. However, gained much attention as an intentional strategy to develop life skills in youth while recognizing caring adults. When done well, mentoring programs can have a powerful impact on both adults and youth

In 4-H, the mentoring begins with an adult volunteer who has a firm commitment to youth.

Through club meetings, project sessions and 4-H events, volunteers provide ongoing support of their youth partner. A 19-month study done by Big Brothers/Big Sisters showed that almost all youth partners improved their attendance in school. More than three-fourths of the youth partners maintained or improved their conduct and met school performance goals. More than half maintained or improved their academic performance.

As a strategy to enhance the wellbeing of youth, mentoring requires time and effort 4-H provides the perfect forum for such relationships through active participation between adult and youth partners Mentoring can be a powerful strategy to enhance the well-being of young people

While the research on the benefits of camp have focused mostly on youth with special needs, camp seems to increase self-esteems for everyone. This self-esteem can stem.

The Carnegie Council on Adolescent Development reports that programs such as 4-H provide opportunities for young people to experience success. Through positive and meaningful relationships. youth developed a sense of belongsuch as conflict resolution skills and leadership skills

Youth development programs such as 4-H play a crucial role in developing life skills. Also, 4-H provides an important opportunity and support that allow all young people to participate and impact today's society

If you are interested in 4-H and camps, please contact your local County Extension Office. Wayne County has several partial camp scholarships are available for 4-H'ers who apply, these applications are due in the Extension Office on May

Garage sale to benefit mission trip Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne will hosting an all-church garage sale on Saturday, April 29 from 8 a.m. to noon.

All proceeds from the garage sale will benefit the congregation's servant mission trip this summer to the Oaks Indian Center at Oaks, Calif.

Anyone wishing to make a donation to the garage sale should bring their donations to the church any time on Enday, April 28. The congregation asks that people please do not bring adult clothing unless it is in style and wearable

Mission trips have been rewarding experiences for Our Savior congregational members

"This trip is just for a week," said Pastor Bill Koeber: "But the memories are for a life time. Jesus calls us to do unto others. It is good to know that what we plan to do there may not otherwise be done for a long, long time."

The mission trip is set for the Major plans listed for upcoming retirement

The April showers are kind of sporadic, but all are appreciated. And I didn't envy the folks in the Black Hills this past week, or the quad cities in Iowa. It's a typical Nebraska spring, with cold wind periodically, just for good measure.

I have one week of regularly scheduled employment left. I say regularly scheduled because intend to stay PRN: which means I will fill in occasionally. In fact, I'm filling in at the Lincoln office one day the following week. And in Nebraska City one day in June.

But I'm handing in my pager. And I won't be sorry. I've carried one for about 18 years; the last nine, continually. A pager is a wonderful invention, but it means they can always find you. I was at a hospice convention in Grand Island once, and they paged to tell me that a home health client was constipated!

I've been paged at church services, at funerals, and at parties. I've been paged in the middle of the night. Before I got the car phone, I'd have to find a phone with which to call to find out who was looking for me. Now, my pager can even give me messages. They're called Alpha-Mates: and of course, the sender needs special equipment.

These little devices are sometimes hard to hang onto. I keep mine on my purse; but sometimes, it slips off. When I'm where I don't want it to sound, I put it on "Vibration," and clip it to my belt. That can give you quite a start when you're in the middle of a deep lecture or People jokingly ask,"What are you going to do?" First answer, "Clean my attic." There's boxes up there that haven't been opened since we moved here.

Next, clean closets. I'm giving up on losing enough weight to fit into certain clothes again.

I'm going o try some new recipes I'm in a rut with old stand-bys. I might even get my sewing machine out. I want to finish writing my cook book; and if I get brave enough, write the one about nursing. One of the gals at my farewell luncheon last week said she'd buy a copy.

I'm going to spend more time with my mom and my grandkids. And with the Big Farmer, who deserves a medal for putting up with my crazy hours all these years.

And I'm going to run the B & B. So come to see us. We'll need the

NOXIOUS WEEDS MUST BE CONTROLLED

Lindy Fleer, news reporter

The noxious weeds are: Musk Thistle, Plumeless Thistle, Canada Thistle, Leafy Spurge, Knapweed (spotted and diffuse). Notice is hereby given this 24th day of April, 2000, pursuant to the Noxious Weed Control Act, section 2-955, subsection 1(a), to every person who owns or controls land in Wayne County, Nebraska, that noxious weeds being or growing on such land shall be controlled at such frequency as to prevent establishment, provide eradication, or reduce further propagation or

Upon failure to observe this notice, the county weed superintendent is required to:

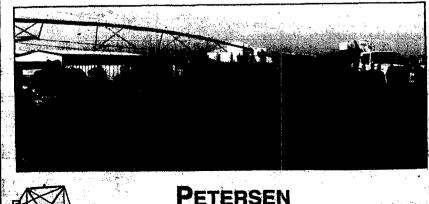

1. Proceed pursuant to the law and issue legal notice to the landowner of property infested with noxious weeds giving such landowner 15 days to control the noxious weed infestation. Conviction for noncompliance may result in a $100.00 per day fine to the landowner with a maximum fine of

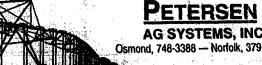

2. Should more immediate control be required, proceed pursuant to the law and have the weeds controlled by such method as he/she finds necessary, the expense of which shall constitute a lien and be entered as a tax against the land, and be collected as other real estate taxes are collected, or by other means as provided by law.

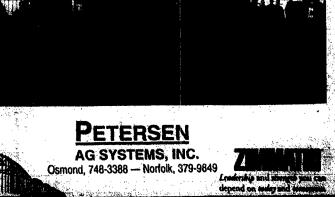

The public is also hereby notified that noxious weed seed and propagative parts may be disseminated through the movement of machinery and equipment, trucks, grain and seed, hay, straw, nursery stock, fencing materials, sod, manure, and soil as well as articles of similar nature. Methods of treatment have been prescribed by the Director of Agriculture and may be obtained from the county weed control authority.

By Order of Wayne County Control Authority. Telephone 375-3772.

ELECTION PREVIEW

Nebraskans will be voting on one issue when they go to the Primary Election polls on May 9. So that voters can better understand this important proposed change to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared a report on this issue. This report briefly defines the issue, explaining its purpose and finally stating the arguments for and against.

Nebraska voters approved the English-only amendment in 1920, in a wave of anti-German sentiment aris ing after World War I. It was passed 5-to-1 margin.

Even if voters pass this amendment, the Constitution still will require English to be the official language of the state; all official proceedings, records and publications to be in English, and public schools to teach in English.

PROPOSED CONSTITU-TIONAL AMENDMENT 1:

A constitutional amendment to eliminate an English language requirement for private, denominational and parochial schools. A vote for the amendment would delete "private denominational and parochial schools" from Article 1, Section 27 of the state constitution, which declares English to be the official language of the state and requires the public schools to teach in English.

SUPPORT: Supporters say the amendment corrects the Constitution to reflect a 1923 U.S. Supreme Court decision that the state cannot force private and parochial schools to teach in English. The 1920 provision has not been enforced for more than 75

OPPOSITION: There is no known formal opposition to the proposed amendment, which was approved by the Legislature in a 48-0
