In Wakefield

Equipment to be installed

The Wakefield Community Foundation announces installation of the first phase of new playground equipment in Wakefield.

The project has been on-going for more than a year and the community has raised more than $100,000 for equipment to be placed in three areas of the city.

The Foundation is calling for volunteers to help with the installations.

The first installation will take place on June 10 at the City Park in Wakefield. At Graves Park there will be a three-story play structure installed east of the outdoor swimming pool. Installation of the structure will begin at 7 a.m. and end when the installation is complete.

At the same time a structure for smaller children will be installed near the T-ball field at Eaton Park.

The Aid Association for Lutherans will provide lunch for the volunteers.

On Saturday, June 17, a group of volunteers will be needed to install colorful new playground equipment at the Wakefield Community Schools.

Installation of the equipment will begin at 7 a.m. and end when installation is complete.

The American Legion Auxiliary will provide lunch for the volunteers at school.

Donations for the final phases of the playground equipment are still needed. The Foundation hopes to apply for grants but matching funds are necessary.

Donations are being accepted at the Nebraska State Bank in Wakefield or by contacting Mark Demke at (402) 287-2082.

Volunteers are welcome to sign up to assist with the installation process. Those interested may do so by contacting Demke or by calling Laura Knox at (402) 287-9980.

Weekend blaze

Firefighters from Carroll, Winside and Belden were called to fight a fire three-fourths of a mile north of Carroll on Sunday evening. The cause of the fire is currently under investigation by Laverie (Curly) McDonald of the State Fire Marshal's office. The house was vacant and no one was injured in the blaze.

Benefit to be held in Carroll on Sunday

A benefit will be held Sunday, June 11 in Carroll for nine-month-old Austin Farnell, son of Jim and Mandi (Hall) Farnell.

Austin was born Aug. 31, 1999 and it was soon discovered he had problems with his legs. At that time it was hoped braces would be able to correct the problem.

However, in January it was decided that surgery was required. Since that time, Austin has undergone four surgeries, including two in February, one in March and the last in April. He is now finished with surgery and his legs are straight. He will be wearing braces up to his knees for at least 18 months.

While his parents have insurance to cover the major portion of the family has incurred expenses not covered by insurance.

Susan Gilmore of Carroll has been organizing Sunday, June 11, which she says "includes something for everyone."

Taverns and homemade pies will be served at the Auditorium beginning at noon on Sunday. In addition, a benefit will be held throughout the afternoon.

At 1 p.m. an auction will take place. A large number of items including a hog (two halves), chairs, gift certificates, Nebraska football tickets have been donated by area businesses and individuals.

Auctioneer services have been donated by Dan and Linda Randolph.

In addition, a raffle of items will be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday. "We want to make this a fun event and want to celebrate an outpouring of love that we think had in the community for Austin and his family," Mrs. Gilmore said.

Matching funds of up to $200 will be provided by the State Bank in Carroll or by sending them to the bank at 195, Carroll, Neb. 68723.

Sala honored for 100th birthday

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Reaching the century mark in the millennium, Eva (Hintz) Sala of Laurel, formerly of Wayne, was honored recently with a birthday party at the First Baptist Church in Wayne.

Family and friends from as close as Wayne, Dixon, Laurel, Belden, and Coleridge, and as far away as Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana, Kansas, Iowa, Colorado, Texas, Oregon, California, Utah, Michigan, and New Mexico attended the event. One hundred forty seven people registered at the party.

Eva Hintz Sala was born four miles east of Coleridge on the farm her grandfather homesteaded. She graduated from Coleridge High School; the first of her nine siblings to graduate from high school.

Thinking back through the years, the worst thing that happened in her life, she says, is her older sister, Cora, being murdered. Cora, a beautiful 19-year-old at the time, was a teacher in a one room school house west of Coleridge.

An ex-hired man who had worked on their father's farm, was evidently in love with Cora and came to her school to talk to her one day. He shot and killed her on the school house steps. A posse hunted him down but he committed suicide before they could catch him. Eva was attending high school when this happened. She ended up taking off a year of school as it affected her so much. With recent school shootings, painful memories are brought back to Eva and her family.

Pleasant memories of her early years includes Doc. Ingham, doctor in Coleridge at the time, getting the first car in Cedar County.

"That was the first time I had ever seen a car," Eva said.

Another memory she has is of riding in a freight train caboose from Coleridge to Wakefield and then catching another freight train to Wayne every Sunday so she could attend Wayne Normal School back in the early 20s. She would go to school during the week and then go back home each weekend. She remembers U.S. Conn. J. M. Pile, Esther Dewitz Carlson, Maude Joseph Smith, Fred Dale, Ray Schreiner, and many other Wayne State teachers.

Eva recalls when there were no paved streets in Wayne, only brick streets and not many of those. Other early memories include the Dust Bowl years in the 30s and grasshopper plagues.

"I remember July 4 back in 1936 when my husband made me take the boys to the basement for the day as it was so hot," Eva said. "We

WSC to host Dance and Cheerleading camps

Wayne State College will host cheerleading and dance camps on June 20-23, for about 130 high school, junior high school and middle school students.

Instructors for the camps will be provided by Universal Dance Association (UDA) and Universal Cheerleaders Association (UCA).

"I believe this is about our 28th year for holding camps. Campers who attend these camps learn routines, etc. that are presented all over the country, so Nebraska is right up there with schools everywhere using the most up-to-date, 'in' presentations," said Frank Teach, WSC director of student activities.

Approximately 160,000 cheerleaders worldwide are trained by UCA. UCA camps set the standards for cheerleading safety. They developed the spotting techniques and conditioning used by college and high school programs throughout the country.

"UCA stunt progressions and crowd leading techniques are the best," said Eric Burm, cheerleading advisor, Arizona State University.

Jazz, pom, hip hop, kick, prop, novelty and lyrical routines are all included with dance camp. Workshops will be offered in the areas of team building, choreography, technique, effective practices, parent relations and conditioning.

Hard work and achievements at dance camp are recognized with trophies for camp routines, home routines, team leadership and a 110 percent award.

"UDA has been our first and only camp choice for years! If it's new and unique, it's UDA. Every summer the staff offers some new technique or new style of dance that puts us on the cutting edge," said Dianne Guittar, Pattonville High School, St. Louis, Missouri.

lived on W. 5th Street in Wayne, north of the school house; the basement was small and the boys were restless. We had storm windows on but the dust still blew inside the house and piled up around two feet."

She recalls the flu epidemic of WWI and also the tragic plane crash of Will Rogers and Wiley Post.

Eva married Edward Sala and they moved to Wayne where he had the Texaco Station in between Beckenhauer's Funeral Home (where Wayne Dental Clinic is now) and the old Opera House, which was located where Rain Tree Drive-in Liquor is now. Edward in later years worked as a custodian in the Wayne Auditorium and then in the Creamery in Wayne.

Edward and Eva had three sons Richard, Howard, and Rex. She also helped raise a step son, Raymond. Eva and her son Richard speak of fond memories of Wayne in the 30s and 40s.

They reflect back to a time when there was a town band performing in concerts each Saturday night in the summer at Bressler Park and of watching the town team play baseball.

One fond memory is of ice cream socials held on Saturdays and of Charlie Martin, town crier, walking the streets of Wayne announcing the socials.

"Charlie was a bachelor of short stature who had a good voice," Richard said. "He was a nice old guy." Once, while standing on the curb watching him, Charlie brought a bird with a broken wing to Richard and asked him to take care of it.

Other early Wayne memories include Fred Berry whistling merrily as he walked to his men's store each morning, which was located one block south of where the Baptist Church is now. Another old store was the Electric Shoe Shop where three of her children, Richard, Howard, and Raymond worked, located then where Vel's Bakery is now. One of the early owners of the Electric Shoe Shop was Ed Denesia.

Richard and Eva recall Pop Winterringer who had a nice pool hall for boys, where the Max Bar & Grill is located now.

"Pop Winterringer was a bachelor," Richard said. "He was a retired hot air balloon jumper who used to take his balloon to county fairs, build bon fires and get kids to help keep the fires going so he could fill his balloon. He would then parachute out of his hot air balloon for entertainment at the fairs. After he retired, he came to Wayne and opened the pool hall."

Both Salas' recollect the weekly war of words that transpired between Editor E. W. Huse of The Wayne Herald, located then where R Way is now and of Editor Buck Hendrickson of the Morning Shopper, located then where Papa Jugs Pizza was and where Hair Affair is now. Both editors were of opposite political parties and had different opinions. People could hardly wait each week to buy their papers to see what they had to say.

Other Wayne businesses that come to mind include the Boyd Hotel, a big wooden building located where Dollar General is now, Seymour's Creamery, then located across from the auditorium on 3rd Street where you could get black walnut ice cream as well as other flavors, Piepenstock's Harness Shop which was down on Main Street in between 1st and 2nd Street, Crawford's Meat Market on the east side of Main Street between 3rd and 4th Streets and Denbeck's Meat Market across the street.

Of Milo Krempke's Cigar Store

located in the west part of the present Hollywood Video. The other half of the store was the Lending Library, also operated by Krempke, where you could get good books to read. Also of Tietgen's Hatchery which was located next door to Johnson's Lockers where Garry Poutre now has a storage business. Many memories of good old Wayne businesses now long gone.

After Edward retired from working in various Wayne businesses, the couple moved to Dixon where he owned and operated a cream station until he passed away around 20 years ago. Eva and Edward enjoyed more than 50 married years together.

Eva's long life can be attributed to her long standing motto which she has ingrained into her sons. "Don't over expect." An example is given by her son Richard, "if you're planning a picnic for the weekend, you say, 'I expect it'll rain.' And if it does, it is just what you expected-but if it doesn't; then you're happy as a fruitcake because it exceeded your expectations."

Issue is addressed

Because of the increase in new technology and the growing amount of new products and services, pollution is an issue more than ever.

Wasted materials may end up in the trash can or down the drain or in the air. These wastes cost consumers and businesses a lot of money each year.

It is possible, however, that in many cases, waste generation can be slowed or even eliminated. This is why a program called Partners for Pollution Prevention (P3) was formed at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The program is made up of 12 interns, engineering professors and other staff. The interns are trained to provide technical assistance to aid small businesses and industry in reducing the amount of resources used, without reducing the amount of resources used, without reducing the quality of a product or a service. In implementing these waste reduction strategies businesses save money as well as become friendlier to the environment.

Jonathan Marburger, a P3 intern will be working with small businesses in the Wayne area as well as giving presentations to any group any eager to learn about Pollution Prevention. He will be in the area in June and July.

Marburger is a Civil Engineering student that joined the program from the University of Missouri-Rolla.

Other interns have been placed at other locations throughout Nebraska including Lincoln, Omaha, Grand Island, Hastings, York, Beatrice and surrounding communities.

The assistance provided by the interns either to business or to an organization seeking education is offered at no cost.

Businesses and organizations are encouraged to find out more information on the program. It will be possible to find out more by calling Jonathan at the Wayne Extension Office at (402) 375-3310 or the program directors, Dr. Bruce Dvorak at (402) 472-3431 or Dr. Wayne Woldt at (402) 472-8656.

First graders in Elene Loetscher's Winside Elementary class weren't poking their heads in the sand during the end of the school year. Instead, they finished it with an "egg-citing" project — an African safari in their classroom. Michael Lage shows off an ostrich egg and Chelsea MacCann displays real ostrich feathers. Family, friends, students and staff attended the safari. Students also made masks, tasted authentic African foods and played with African games and toys as part of the project.

Initiatives intended to give people more say in legislative decisions

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The old saying is that "Where there's a will, there's a way."

In Nebraska, where there is a political will, there is likely to be an initiative petition.

The latest has to do with same-sex marriage. It actually has to do with putting language into the constitution to say that Nebraska will not recognize same-sex marriages.

One gets a sense that the Cornhusker electorate has become a bit numb when it comes to the initiative business. It's been one petition drive after another for years.

If you are new to Nebraska, or otherwise unfamiliar with the Populist tradition, you should know that Nebraska's constitution allows for initiative and referendum petition drives. Get enough signatures and your group can put a law or a constitutional amendment on the statewide ballot. Ditto the ability to propose the repeal of a law or constitutional provision.

In Nebraska, resorting to the petition is a way of life. If folks don't like something, whether the folks are farmers or multimillionaire business interests, they hire people to circulate a petition for their proposal (one that is usually flawed in its language and vague in its intent) and urge voters to vote for it, if it finds its way to the ballot.

The idea behind the initiative process was to give "the people" a way to get around a Legislature that might not be responsive, or responsible. It was to give "the people" a way, if needed, to combat or undo the unreasonable influence of wealth and power on state policy. Tax policy naturally was and is foremost in the minds of many when it comes to petitions.

Columnist David Broder of the Washington Post details the unfortunate, recent history of the initiative process around the country in his recent book: "Democracy Derailed: Initiative Campaigns and The Power of Money."

If you follow what goes on around the country, particularly in California, you can pretty much guess the plot. The big money types have discovered that they don't have to just be the targets of proposed laws and constitutional amendments. With enough money and the right kinds of advertising, they can go around the legislative branch, too. If they can find the right spin for voters, they can sell 'em feathers and call it macaroni.

Broder does a thorough job of reporting the basics on Nebraska's 1998 fight over Initiative 413 (known to its critics as the Omaha Tax Manifesto of and for Multimillionaires).

The Broder tome is a highly recommended read for Nebraskans, since the petition process is a regular part of political life hereabouts. It details what has happened to the initiative gambit around the country, and suggests what it might mean.

It retails for $23, so, if you're a reaaaal fiscal conservative, you might prefer to borrow a copy from a liberal acquaintance.

Camp registration deadline approaches

Choirs, orchestra, bands, swing choir, jazz bands and small ensembles will be among the offerings during the Wayne State College 56th Annual Summer Music Camp on July 23-29.

Pre-camp events are scheduled for July 20-22. Camp events are planned for students who will be entering the ninth grade through graduating high school seniors. Registration deadline for all WSC music camp events (including pre-camp) is July 15.

"We offer music instruction in every area of music that is taught in secondary schools. Our hope is to give students an advantage when they return to school in the fall. Parents tell us they have appreciated our organization, supervision and high quality musical experiences," said Dr. Jay O'Leary, WSC professor of music and director of Music Camp.

O'Leary has been involved in making Music Camp available to students for the past 26 years.

"I think we have gone through years of growth, years when we expanded offerings, however one constant is the really great students that attend. Many of our campers now are sons and daughters of former campers. It is gratifying to hear how much those past campers enjoyed their own experience at Music Camp and how they continue to include music in their lives. We hope to have contributed to that," O'Leary said.

Attaining achievement at Music Camp is possible through a number of opportunities.

"Music instruction includes not only participation in groups, but also in composing music, using computers in music and a course in band instrument repair. Private instruction is also available as an option to help students achieve on any instrument or through voice lessons," O'Leary said.

Three days of pre-camp events will include instruction in flute, show choir and jazz band. These camps are separate and must be registered for on an individual basis. Students may attend one of the pre-camps, the regular camp or both a pre-camp and regular camp.

Designed especially for flute players, pre-camp instruction is available for beginning to advanced levels. Show choir pre-camp instruction will involve development of show choir vocal and choreographic techniques. Jazz band pre-camp activities will include improvisation.

The WSC Music Camp provides opportunities for the public to enjoy several performances. The public is encouraged to attend the Music Camp concerts in Ramsey Theatre, in Peterson Fine Arts Building on the WSC campus.

"Due to all the classes offered, this will be more than a play or sing camp. Students can really get into the finer points of music," said Michael Gillan, one of the camp instructors and also a WSC faculty member.

"There's a great deal of innovation going on during these WSC Music Camp classes. The Camp offers everything from fundamentals and history to improvisation and auditioning. Students always appear to enjoy the jazz band section and one innovative session we are bringing back this year is the STOMP class. I will be teaching this class using percussion and street beats.

Another popular class is always the computerized music session," Gillan said.

Students receiving a superior rating as soloists in a state or regional high school music contest in spring 2000 will be awarded part-tuition scholarships to the Camp.

For more information, please contact the Fine Arts Division at (402) 375-7359.

Students interested in enrolling may write to Dr. Jay O'Leary, c/o Music Camp, Wayne State College, 1111 Main Street, Wayne, NE 68787 or send e-mail to: vbackstr@wscgate.wsc.edu.

Herbs for Health
Use of Ginseng in Diabetes Studies

Products containing the herb ginseng are popular in many areas of the world and are used by millions of Americans. Interestingly, there are few published scientific studies of this root of the Panax ginseng shrub. However, ginseng has enjoyed the reputation of being a "miraculous" food for everything from cancer, to stimulating sexual desire, to decreasing fatigue and increasing energy, to lowering blood cholesterol levels.

According to a Diabetes Care report, ginseng may help persons who have the type of diabetes that does not require insulin injections. This kind of diabetes, called type 2, is most common in adults. It often can be controlled with oral medicines, exercise, and careful attention to diet.

In one study, 36 persons with type 2 diabetes were divided into three groups and received 100 mg of ginseng, 200 mg of ginseng, or a placebo each day for 8 weeks. In this small study, ginseng use was associated with elevated mood, improved physical performance, and reduced fasting blood sugar levels. With the 200 mg dose there appeared to be better long term control of blood sugar.

The Golden Years

Animal activist and former actress Brigitte Bardot, now sixty-five, relinquished her film career back in 1974, but with her animal rights organization she still has quite a production. With a total of 43,000 members in forty-one countries, Bardot spends her time protecting the rights of all things furry and feathered. It all began twenty years ago when Ms. Bardot protested the clubbing of baby seals in Newfoundland. Wayne golf team draws praise from head coach Terry Munson

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

The Wayne boys golf team's recent state championship just added another rung on the ladder as the high school's most successful athletic program.

Head coach Terry Munson has guided Wayne to 14 state tournament appearances in the past 15 years.

The golf mentor had several reflections of this year's squad which is echoed in the following.

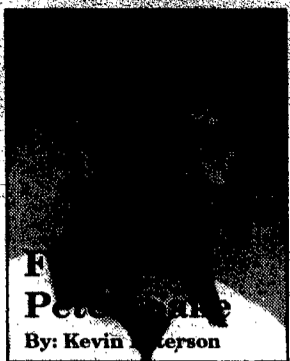

"Wayne was the only team in any Class at State to post the low score on both days," Munson said proudly. "It's even more impressive to do this with out the score of our number one player."

The Blue Devils were also the only team in Class B to post four sub-80 scores on day two. There were only 19 scores below 80 on day two.

Jason Parks—"Jason was three over par after just two holes on day two," Munson said. "He played the next 16 holes in only four over. He posted a 38 on the back nine which was the second lowest score for the day in the entire field."

"The turning point on the back nine was at the par three, 12th hole," Munson added. "Jason hit a bunker shot to win in 18 inches of the hole for a tap-in par."

"Master P" had just posted his lowest score of the season with a 79 under the most pressure packed situation."

Adam Ellingson—"Adam had the high score on day one. He was pretty down and his confidence was fading," Munson said. "I took a chance with Adam and made a decision to do something completely out of the ordinary. I decided to team up with Adam for all 18 holes on day two to keep him positive and focused."

Munson said it was a tribute to Adam for the way he played with his coach in his back pocket. "OD" stepped up and answered the challenge," Munson said.

Joel Munson—"Joel had a real consistent tournament (78-79)," Munson said. "His 157 was the seventh lowest score and just missed medaling with a 13th place finish. His day two front nine of 37 was critical because it seemed on the back nine every time Joel missed a fairway he was behind, under or up against a tree. He finished at 42 but it could have been 45 or higher. His determination and effort were truly outstanding. "Scrappy Rolly" hung tough in also posting a 79."

Klinton Keller—"Klinton's day one score of 76 helped put us in position to win the tournament," Munson said. "I think his day two score of 82 was really a result of the first hole where he missed a tap-in birdie putt which set the tone for a day of many missed putts."

Munson added that Klinton was a four-year starter, a four-time state tournament qualifier, the 1999 individual state champion, the 2000 team state champion.

"Klinton is the leader of this team, the role model and the glue that molded this team into a champion," Munson said.

Mike Varley—"Mike's day one score of even par 72 raised a lot of questions and discussions among other coaches to the tune of "Who's Mike Varley," Munson said.

"Many were thinking that he would choke on day two since he had a career outing on day one. Of course a two-day tournament does really determine a true champion. Mike posted the second lowest score on day two with a 75 to PROVE THAT HE WAS THE CHAMPION!"

"This is what coaching and dreams of championships are all about," Munson said. "I couldn't be prouder of the "V MAN".

Munson also expressed his team's gratitude to the booster club for the new team bags this season.

"They were truly an inspiration to the players. They carried the bag with a lot of pride and dignity. Their support of boys golf at Wayne is also an important part of our championship caliber play."

Wayne State soccer coach signs recruits

Wayne State College Soccer Coach Justin Cole concluded his recruiting for the 2000 season on Wednesday when he announced the addition of three players to the Wildcat roster.

Signing national letters of intent with the Wildcats were Sarah Lepak (Lee-pack) of Green Bay, Wis., and Anne Collins of Brookfield, Wis. In addition, Erika Mather (sounds like bath) of Norfolk announced she plans to attend Wayne State and join the soccer team.

Cole has now added 13 new players, all freshmen, for next season. Earlier in the spring, Cole signed Nikki Field of Norfolk, Bria Cunard (Ken-ard) of Blair, Kalle Wamsat (Wahm-satt) of Valley, Brea Rath of York, Michelle Mellenthin of Green Bay, Wis., Amanda Keller of Fredonia, Wis., and Amanda Ferguson of Wolf, Wyo. Also committing to the Wildcats were Sarah Lund of Omaha, Anne Paulsen of Sioux City, Iowa, and Gwen Leyden (Ly-den) of Springfield.

Lepak is a 5-foot-10 defender from Notre Dame de la Baie Academy. A four-year starter, Lepak has helped Notre Dame to three straight Fox River Valley Conference championships. Last year, Notre Dame posted a 26-2-1 overall record and advanced to the state semifinals. Ranked No. 4 in the state last season, Notre Dame surrendered only 24 goals in 29 games, including only two goals in conference play. In addition, Lepak has played six seasons for the DePere Select Premier Club team.

"We feel very fortunate to have found Sarah this late in the recruiting season," Cole said. "She is a solid defender with great size who will have the chance to help us immediately. She has good ball skills for a defender. She very rarely makes a mistake with the ball."

Collins is a 5-4 midfielder from Divine Savior Holy Angels High School in Milwaukee, Wis., one of the top teams in the state. Collins started for Divine Savior Holy Angels as a junior, but did not play her senior season due to personal reasons. She also played for the Brookfield Select Club team.

"Due to some unique circumstances, Anne slipped through the cracks during the recruiting process," Cole said. "Because she didn't play her senior season, not a lot of schools saw Anne play. I think she has the ability to be a very good soccer player for us. She has a great feel for the game. She is a technically sound player with good field vision. Plus, she comes from one of the top programs in the nation."

Mather is a 5-3 midfielder, defender and goalkeeper from Norfolk High School. Now in her fourth year as a starter, Mather twice has earned All-Greater Nebraska Athletic Conference honors. Norfolk has won the past two conference titles and qualified for the 2000 Class A state tournament. As a goalkeeper, Mather has set three school records. She now holds the marks for career saves (559), shutouts in a season (9) and career shutouts (14).

"Erika has an excellent work ethic and a toughness about her that you just cannot teach," Cole said. "She brings a lot of intangibles to the team, and I think that will allow her to find playing time at a variety of positions. She has been instrumental in Norfolk High School's success in recent years, and I anticipate she will bring those same attributes to our program."

According to Cole, these additions culminate a strong recruiting season.

"We are really excited with this recruiting class," he said. "I think we found some impact players and some other players who will give us some quality depth. All of these young ladies are good soccer players, but more importantly, they are great individuals. I think with the addition of this class, combined with our returning players, we have put ourselves in position to contend for the Northern Sun Conference title."

Wayne State posted a 12-6 record in 1999, breaking the school record for wins in a season. In their first year in the NSIC, the Wildcats went 5-4 and finished fifth. However, WSC placed fourth at the NSIC tournament. Cole will welcome back nine starters from last year's team.

Wayne Juniors up mark to 8-1 while Midgets sit 4-3

The Wayne Junior Legion baseball team improved to 8-1 on the season with wins over Hartington, Hooper and Arlington along with a forfeit over Oakland.

Wayne's annual Paul Otte Tournament was rained out on Sunday and will not be made up.

Wayne downed Hooper, 11-2 last Friday night with Jason Gangwish earning the win from the mound.

Dan Nelson and Adam Jorgensen each had two base hits and Jeremy Dorcey had one single.

WAYNE'S MIDGETS are 4-3 through action on Monday. Wayne lost an 8-0 decision to Hartington last week with Mike Sturm taking the pitching loss. Wayne managed just two hits as Andy Baker doubled and Jeremy Foote, singled.

Wayne edged Hooper Logan View, 5-4 last Friday night as Andy Baker drove in Eric Sturm for the game winner.

Adam McGuire pitched a three-hitter and struck out 14. Mike Sturm led the offense with a double and two singles while Eric Sturm, Jeremy Foote and Andy Baker each singled Wayne thumped Oakland on Monday night, 14-3 as Brad Hochstein struck out 13 and scattered three hits while earning the win from the mound.

The offense notched 13 hits led by Eric Sturm with three base hits with Mike Sturm netting a double and single.

Brad Hochstein and Jon Ehrhardt each singled twice with Jeremy Foote notching a double. Josh Sharer, Andy Baker and Josh Pieper each singled.

100 women play in NWAGA at Wayne

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

One-hundred women golfers competed in the Nebraska Women's Amateur Golf Association (NWAGA) Golf Tournament on Monday and Tuesday at the Wayne Country Club.

University of Nebraska junior golfer Sarah Sasse claimed championship honors with a two-day total of 139 (five-under-par).

Sasse lit up the front nine on day one en route to an unofficial course record four-under-par 68.

Her 32 on the front nine is also an unofficial course record. Sasse parred one before setting course with four straight birdies. She also birdied hole nine and suffered her only bogey on the front nine on hole six.

She easily out-distanced runner-up Jane Pohlman of Omaha at 155 while Cambridge high school senior Sara Sackett finished third at 161.

Sackett made Nebraska news a few weeks ago when she became the first female golfer to ever place in the top 10 at the Class C-2 Boys State Golf Tournament since Cambridge doesn't offer girls golf.

In flight play, Wayne's Sandra Sutton enjoyed an incredible two-day run with a 79-78 for a 157—an eight stroke win over runner-up Mary Duffy of O'Neill.

Alice Torpin of Doniphan was third at 168 and Kristin Stephenson of Norfolk was fourth at 171.

Char Bohlin of Pender won the second flight with an 86-86 for a 172 while Doretta Rowse of O'Neill was second at 91-87 for a 178.

Wayne's Tami Diediker was third with a 179 and Joy Carney of Norfolk was fourth with a 182. Mary Ann James of Lincoln was fifth at 184.

The third flight was captured by Wayne's Monica Novak with a 90-90 for a 180. Vicki Pick of Wayne was second at 185 and Amy Harder of Wayne was third at 190. Lynette Klug of Norfolk was fourth with a 195 and Maureen Hake of Lincoln was fifth at 197.

The fourth flight was the closest of all with Norfolk's Nita Totten taking top honors with a 201 two-day total.

What separated Totten from the rest of her flight was her hole-in-one on number three on day one. Totten used a 9-wood on the 136-yard hole and she said the ball bounced on the fringe and rolled to the back of the green and dropped in the cup.

Marilyn Palmer of Omaha was second with a 202 and Bev McKillip of Norfolk was third at 203 while Geri Warford of Ord was fourth with a 207. Jeanette Swanson of Wayne was fifth with a 209.

The fifth flight was won by Betty Casper of Lincoln with a 194 (93-101) while Joan Childers of Elgin was second at 196. Judi Lood of Mitchell was third with a 204 and Vicki Pick of Wayne prepares to drive the ball on hole 18. Pick finished second in the third flight.

The 20/20 Call to Action

Here's what the public heard:

On Friday, February 25, ABC's popular television show 20/20 aired a segment entitled "Danger Before Your Eyes." This segment issued an important warning to consumers about the dangers of improper windshield replacement. With over 11 million windshields replaced each year, experts say that many mistakes are made because technicians are either sloppy, or haven't been trained properly. There is an obvious need for training to do the job right.

Barbara Walters:
"How does someone know where to go to get the right kind of treatment for the windshield?"

Arnold Diaz:
"No matter who you call, the experts advise you may want to ask them 'are you certified by the National Glass Association?' Ask not just the shop, but the person who is actually putting the windshield in, the installer, if they are certified."

YES! Tom's Body & Paint Shop, Inc. is certified by the National Glass Association.

NGA offers training and certification programs in auto glass repair and replacement.

DISPLAY BOARDS

The Wakefield Community Club will be hosting a morning coffee on Saturday, July 1 at the theatre. Any organizations or individuals planning a display during this open coffee may pick up the display board at the theatre for preparation anytime.

Among the display and information booths being planned are by the Community Foundation/Community Club on the playground project undertaken this past year. The round barn committee is planning a display and possible tours to the barn site.

Also on July 1, the Community Club will be sponsoring a Flea Market & Crafts. It will be held the opening weekend of the mid-summer classic baseball tournament.

Anyone interested in setting up a community display or with questions should contact Val Bard at the theatre.

EXPERIENCES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The school store, The Bubble, had a successful year, according to its sponsor Jennifer Goos. Students working in the store this year earned $7.50 per hour. Only students in Entrepreneurship class can run the store.

Work in the store includes keeping inventory and tracking hours worked utilizing spreadsheet software and maintaining financial records using Quicken software. The students also work with marketing, customer service and balance cash received with inventory sold.

Students in the class earn a share of the profits for their hours worked in the store. Part of the profits are given back to the school. When students graduate they can take their earned projects with them.

The Entrepreneurship class is taught using an experimental learning style, according to Mrs. Goos. Students learn through a "hands-on" process. They write a business plan that fits the Wakefield community. Students perform an in depth community analysis, study marketing, business operations, cash flow and break even analysis.

2000 were Timarie Bebee, Megan Brown, Kala Henschke, David Petersen and Melissa Turney.

ADVANCE IN RANK

The Boys Scouts recently held a Court of Honor at which time they were presented badges earned and advancement patches.

Scouts advancing in rank were Daniel Oswald, Brian Schwarten, Clint Roberts, Myles Brown, Zach Sherer and Torin Bard. Scoutmaster is Cheryl Roberts.

Torin, Zach, and Myles all earned fingerprinting badges.

Daniel completed fingerprinting, citizenship in the nation and is "Senior Patrol Leader of the Troop."

Clint has achieved the rank of Life Scout and received his lifesaving, family life, fingerprinting and citizenship in the nation badges. He is a Patrol Leader.

Brian is also a Life Scout. He received the 5-miler award, lifesaving, fingerprinting and citizenship in the nation badges.

Joe Brown earned Life Rank and the following badges: lifesaving, family, Life, fingerprinting and citizenship in the nation.

Donald Odens received lifesaving, fingerprinting and citizenship in the national badges and is Assistant Senior Patrol Leader.

Daniel Simpson is a Life Scout and earned lifesaving, fingerprinting and citizenship in the nation badges.

Josh Soderberg has achieved Life Rank and is Assistant Patrol Leader. He completed work on his lifesaving, fingerprinting and citizenship in the nation badges.

AWARD CEREMONY

Girls Scout Troops 98 and 73 gathered in the Gardner Senior Center on April 23 for the year's closing awards. The Brownies organized the event, and prepared Brownie Smiles, GORP and punch for guests. Each scout presented a flower to a parent of another Scout to underscore the "Sisterhood" of Scouting.

All girls received patches and badges they had earned throughout the year, plus there were two special events.

Three third grade girls crossed the bridge to Juniors; Jessie Berns, Stephanie Bjorklund and Jessica Thomas "Flew Up" from their brownie troop to join the older girls.

Five junior girls completed the first step toward their Gold Award. To each the Sign of rainbow, Courtnie Allyn, Kelsey Bard, Anna Brownell, Whitney Rouse and Tina Roberts completed all the requirements for six specific badges, earned the Junior Aide patch and shared Scouting information with others.

Any girls in grades 1-6 next year may complete spring registration now for Brownie and Junior level Girl Scouts. Parents of girls in grades 4,5,6 may contact Val Bard to register for Juniors and Terri Simpson if the contact person for Brownies (grades 1-3).

The juniors will be completing some badge work (swimming and walking for fitness) and projects July 1 at the Craft Fair/Flea Market this summer, so any interested girls are encouraged to register for the first time or pre-register as returning Junior Scouts.

COSMETOLOGY PROGRAM COMPLETED

Cherie Foote of rural Wakefield recently graduated from Joseph's College of Beauty in Norfolk. While attending Joseph's, Foote was honored for her high grade point average and was named Student of the Month.

The student must compete 2100 hours and 2000 credits in Joseph's cosmetology program in order to become licensed in the state of Nebraska.

She plans to pursue her career in the area. She is the mother of two children Kayla, 13, and Lane, 6. She graduated from Winside High School and her parents Ron and Verna Mae Rohde live in Wisner.

FAMILY PICNIC

Preschoolers at the Wakefield Family Resource Center were treated to a picnic lunch at the City Park to celebrate the end of the school year.

Following lunch, the preschool students were presented diplomas. The preschool program actually runs year round at the Child Development Center with classes reorganized in the fall. Rebecca Goos said that anyone interested in starting children in the fall should pre-register as classes are nearly full.

She also added that she was pleased with the great parent turnout for the picnic and their involvement. She continued saying it has been an excellent year at the Child Development Center and that all the staff has completed High Scope Training through the Early Childhood Training Center.

CAMP UPDATE

The Wakefield Family Resource Center is sponsoring a number of interesting and fun summer camps for school age children. Children may pick a camp topic they like and attend or take part all summer.

Does your child like to tell stories? June 5-9 is Library Camp Week and the kids at the Resource Center will be writing and developing their own book plus take part in the summer reading program at the library.

The first camp dealt with Olympics and the kids are learning about the Olympic games, how to compete and earn a gold medal.

Camp activities take place from 9 a.m. until noon. For children who are at the center all day, the afternoon during the summer will be packed full of outdoor adventure, according to Rebecca Goos, Child Development Director. Mrs. Goos added this will include swimming, roller blading, baking and play at the park. Kaclyn Juarez, a WSC student, will be working with the school age children this summer.

Greg Schardt awarded $2,500 scholarship

Greg Schardt of Wayne, a junior at Wayne-Carroll High School, has been awarded $2,500 from the Discover® Card Tribute Award® Scholarship Program. Schardt is among three 'gold' winners in the state of Nebraska.

Over $1 million dollars in scholarships is being awarded to high school juniors nationwide. The scholarships are awarded to high school juniors who have reached beyond academic achievement.

These high school juniors are selected from a pool of nearly 7,500 applicants and are recognized for excelling in areas beyond scholastics. While students must maintain a minimum 2.75 cumulative grade point average to qualify, they must also demonstrate accomplishments in four of five areas: special talents, leadership, obstacles overcome, unique endeavors, and community service.

Since its inception in 1991, the Discover Card Tribute Award program has awarded more than $7.4 million in scholarships to nearly 3,700 students. Scholarship money may be applied to various education programs once the student graduates such as any certification or licensing in a trade, two year technical degree, an associates degree or a four year degree at a college or university in any field of study.

The gold winners in each state go on to compete for nine national scholarships presented at a ceremony in Washington, DC on June 29. The national award winners will receive $25,000 each.

The Nebraska Council of school Administrators coordinated the Nebraska panel of judges who based winner selection on information from application materials submitted by each student. The judges represent area communities as well

Remind fathers to get prostate cancer check-up

Excluding skin cancer, cancer of the prostate is the most common malignancy and the second leading cause of cancer death among men in the United States, according to the "American Cancer Society's Cancer Facts & Figure-2000." They estimate that 180,400 cases of prostate cancer will be diagnosed in the United States this year.

The American Cancer Society hopes to elevate awareness about prostate cancer and early detection screening methods during Father's Day. Remind your father that his health is important to you and if he is 50 or older, ask him to talk to his doctor about the early detection of prostate cancer.

The American Cancer Society is making it easy for you to share this message by providing on-line Father's day cards. During the month of June, you can visit www.cancer.org/state/heartland and send your father a greeting card with a message about prostate cancer.

According to the American Cancer Society, around 75 percent of all new diagnoses of prostate cancer each year are men over age 65.

The American Cancer Society's guidelines state that men age 50 and older who have at least a 10-year life expectancy should talk with their health care professional about having a digital rectal exam of the prostate gland and a prostate-specific antigen (PSA) blood test every year. Men who are at high risk for prostate cancer, including African Americans or men who have a history of prostate cancer in close family members, should consider beginning these tests at an earlier age.

Screening is the best way to detect prostate cancer in its early stages. Seventy-nine percent of all prostate cancers are discovered in the local and regional stages, and the five year relative survival rate for patients whose tumors are diagnosed at these stages is 100 percent.

For more information about prostate cancer awareness, call your American Cancer Society's 24-hour help line at 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit their web site at www.cancer.org.

The American Cancer Society's web site now offers a prostate cancer bulletin board where you can get the latest prostate cancer information and post questions for medical experts.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer and saving lives through research, education, advocacy and service.

Healthy snacks are foods to grow on

What's the secret of a good snack? It's nutritious. It's fun to eat. It looks and tastes good. It's quick, convenient and easy to make. It's smaller than a regular meal. Children cannot go without food as long as adults. Since children don't eat a lot of food at any one meal, they often need some food between meals.

One of the basic guidelines in choosing snacks is to choose from the pyramid's five food groups. Some examples of appropriate snacks would include:

- *Fresh fruits. Keep a bowl of fruits, whole or sliced in chunks in the refrigerator
- *Raw vegetables, like tomatoes, broccoli, carrots or celery sticks
- *Hard-boiled eggs
- *Low-fat cheese or yogurt
- *Plain popcorn, unsweetened cereals, and whole grain crackers
- *Fruit juice or yogurt popsicles
- *Non-fat or low-fat milk
- *Fruit or vegetable juices
- *Dried fruits, like apples, raisins or figs

Want to try something different? Why not try a drinkable snack. Samples include:

- *Fruit Fizz-Add a soda to fruit juice instead of serving soft drinks
- *Fruit Shake-Blend milk with fresh fruit (bananas, berries or a peach) and add a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg

*Yogurt Frost-Combine fruit juice and yogurt; add fresh fruit if desired
 *Hot chocolate-Make hot chocolate or cocoa with low-fat milk, chocolate and a dash of cinnamon. Some special cautions for children under the age of two. Do not serve nuts, popcorn, marshmallows, whole hot dogs, raw carrots and celery pieces, and hard round candy because of risk of choking.

Remember that snacks need to be a source of nutrients as well as calories so keep nutritious in mind when planning snacks.

Piano students perform for residents of The Oaks

On May 21 Mrs. Pat Cook and her piano students, Genelle Gardner, Deniz Rudin and Chris and Josh Stuber, all of Wayne presented their annual recital at The Oaks for parents and residents of The Oaks.

They performed pieces which were included in their Guild audition programs given before a judge at the South Sioux City United Methodist Church on May 19.

The annual individual judging for the National Guild of Piano Teachers and Student Musicians is sponsored by the American College of Musicians which was founded in 1929.

In 1929 the 60 students were judged in Austin, Texas. In 1999, a total of 118,000 students participated in auditions in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and four foreign countries at more than 880 sites.

Judging is based on age, years of study and individual merit. Categories covered include everything from accuracy and tone quality to rhythm and phrasing to posture and hand position.

Mrs. Cook especially likes Guild auditions because students perform one or more musicianship phases such as scales, improvisation and transposition.

Josh Stuber and Genelle Gardner played the white key major scales. All were able to play the scales of pieces programmed, if asked.

Mrs. Cook and Deniz Rudin performed improvisations: Mrs. Cook improvised on a children's Christmas carol from Ireland and Deniz played jazz, Alberti bass and "triplets" versions of Beethoven's "Ode to Joy" theme.

All four students played transposition pieces of both events, looking at a piece written in one key while playing it in two other keys. This is especially useful for sing-along events. Josh played "Yankee Doodle"; Genelle, "Jolly Old St. Nicholas"; Chris, Alfred's Level 4 version of "The Sloop John B"; and Deniz, Thompson's Second Grade version of the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Chris and Mrs. Cook played Hobbyist programs using music, with the judge also having a copy of the music to look at in most cases. Both received letter grades of A's and B's for their efforts.

Chris played classical pieces by Clementi, Chopin and Morovsky. Mrs. Cook played classical pieces by Mendelssohn, Bach and Mozart. Chris' recital piece was Burnam's "Whirling Leaves" and Mrs. Cook's was the unseasonal "Deck the Halls" arranged by Chip Davis for Mannheim Steamroller.

Josh Stuber is a first year student. He played pieces by Burnam, Thompson and Glover-Stewart including a piece using pedals, "Winter Chimes."

Josh, Genelle and Deniz performed State memory piece programs with five memory pieces each. They were graded on a much more elaborate report card with approximately 40 different ways to get a plus, OK or minus check mark.

The total scores of all three students (if placed on a national scale with other students) all fell in the first half of the Citywide Circle Rating range.

Genelle Gardner performed three pieces from the Alfred's Level D books including her recital piece, "Spanish Dancer." She also played a Faber arrangement of a popular song and a Baroque piece, "Antique Dance."

Deniz Rudin played the classical pieces "Musette" by Bach, "Distant Bells" and "Spinning Song." He also played the "Star Wars Theme" by Williams and "Boogie On Down" by Alexander.

The students are available to perform for general audiences such as those at The Oaks.

WEEKLY TIP
Throat Infections And Toothbrushes
 In a recent study, doctors have found that many children treated with antibiotics for bacterial throat infections fail to respond as expected and keep getting reinfected. One of the reasons may be their toothbrushes. Apparently they do not thoroughly rinse their toothbrushes after every use, thereby reintroducing bacteria into the mouth the next time the teeth are brushed. It is important to rinse your toothbrush thoroughly after every use and to replace your toothbrush after any antibiotic treatment, as well as after any illness.

God's children

Grace Lutheran Church held a successful Vacation Bible School program which used an Outback Expedition theme. The theme verse was "We are God's Children" (Romans 8:16). The Bible stories and use of Aussie animals showed God's grace at work in real family relationships. This year's Director was Joy Smith. She was assisted by Jennifer Smith. Held Bonsall taught the Ridgy-Didge Rhythms music. She was assisted by Ann Temme and Ayissa Hansen. The AAL provided milk and cups and several members of the congregation donated cookies. The Ladies Aid furnished drinks and treats at Bressler Park at the conclusion of the program. A closing program was held Friday in which family and friends were able to enjoy the songs learned during the week.

Donation given

Lori Carollo, Chapter Manager of the Wayne County American Red Cross, presents a "Certificate of Sponsorship" to David Ley, CEO and Chairman of the Board of the State National Bank & Trust Company. Ley, on behalf of the State National Bank recently donated $250 to the Wayne Red Cross to purchase a new mannequin to be used in their CPR lifesaving classes. A bank t-shirt is shown on the mannequin so that people who practice life-saving techniques will recognize the support that the bank has provided. Carollo appreciates the banks donation and welcomes other Wayne businesses to contribute to the Red Cross so that their important work in Wayne and the surrounding communities can continue.

Family is selected to host youth next year

Paulette Kumm of Allen will welcome a new "daughter" for the 2000 Year--Anna Basener, a Youth for Understanding (YFU) International Exchange student from Germany. Anna will be a student at Allen Consolidated School in Allen.

As a member of the Kumm family, Anna will participate in all family activities, from vacations to household chores. While sharing the culture of Germany with her host family and schoolmates, she will learn about U.S. culture.

YFU, established in 1951, is one of the world's oldest and largest non-profit international exchange organizations, dedicated to international understanding and world peace. Around 4,000 U.S. families open their homes and hearts to YFU international students each year.

More information about hosting YFU international students is available from YFU's volunteer for the Allen area, Cheryl and Terry Nelson at 402-755-4144 or by calling YFU's regional office at 1-800-USA-0200.

Methodists meet

Church holds Conference

At a recent General Conference of the United Methodist Church several major issues were voted upon.

They include action taken on the church's current position on homosexuality.

The votes on the homosexual issue were significantly stronger than those taken four years ago at the 1996 General Conference.

The first vote was on paragraph 65 C of the Book of Discipline which has the long-standing statement that "the practice of homosexuality is incompatible with Christian teaching" upheld that statement by a vote of 628 to 337, which is 65 percent to 35 percent.

The second vote was on the phrase in the Discipline that says "self-avowed practicing homosexuals" cannot be accepted into candidacy or ordained as ministers. That position was upheld by a 640 to 317 vote which is 65 percent to 35 percent.

A third vote defeated by a 67 to 33 percent margin, a motion for a four-year moratorium on all the negative language concerning homosexuality in the Book of Discipline. This motion, which would have left the church with no clear guidelines for the next four years, came amidst a floor demonstration by pro-gay persons who had moved onto the floor of General Conference.

A fourth vote was taken dealing with the church's prohibition of same-sex covenants. This vote upheld the church's standards by a 69 to 31 percent vote.

A later vote to uphold the ban on church funds being used to support homosexual groups had 74 percent support.

Celebrating with God

Students in pre-school through fifth grade were part of this year's Vacation Bible School at St. Mary's Church. Holyword Studios was this year's theme which focused on bringing Bible Stories to life. The children were involved with crafts, music, story telling, video theatre and snack time. Laura Hochstein, Director of Religious Education at St. Mary's was in charge of this year's event.

Snowfence becomes part of arboretum

Members and friends of the Northeast Arboretum located at the UN-L Haskell Agriculture Laboratory (HAL) near Concord conducted a fund drive earlier this year and obtained financial support to purchase a 2.77 acre parcel of ground from Charles Paulsen of Laurel.

This acreage has a planting of trees and shrubs that acts as a living snowfence to protect the adjacent county road from drifting snow and also helps stop the wind and snow from blowing directly on the HAL office building and parking lot.

In January, Northeast Arboretum President Lawrence Fuchs began working with Paulsen in obtaining the property to be included in the Northeast Arboretum-management.

Over 40 different individuals, businesses and friends of the Northeast Arboretum contributed to the purchase. Some contributions came from as far away as Stephenville, Texas and Mahtomedi, Minn. The Northeast Arboretum then worked through the University of Nebraska Foundation to buy the property from Paulsen.

Eleven years ago Steve Rasmussen, UN-L District and Extension Forester and Gordon Olson (the farm manager at the time for the UN-L site) approached Paulsen about establishing a demonstration living snowfence on the property enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program directly to the west of the University office building. Paulsen agreed and in the spring of 1989, 30 different evergreens, deciduous trees and shrubs were planted in a multi-row windbreak. Today there are close to 50 different types of trees and shrubs represented that landowners in northeast Nebraska can order and plant for conservation purposes.

Some trees in the windbreak are close to 30 feet tall.

This is the only planting of its type in the state. It allows farmers, acreage owners or other landowners one site to visit to see all the different types of trees and shrubs available in the Nebraska Conservation Tree Program growing in a working windbreak setting.

This allows them to see and compare what they may want to plant in their windbreak. Having this collection of conservation trees and shrubs under the management of the Arboretum will allow for more use and management of the resources on the site. The living snowfence windbreak is used extensively for tours and as a reference site for those with questions about windbreak species selection and growth potential.

Plans are already underway to establish a wildflower and native grasses planting around the property edges.

For more information on the living snowfence and the Northeast Arboretum, contact Steve Rasmussen, District/Extension Forester and Northeast Arboretum Curator at (402) 370-4024.

Know what, guys? This drought business is serious! Lawns around here are drying up. Marilyn in Phoenix reports they are losing new trees — and they need trees in that city. Linda in South Carolina says thousands of dollars of new plantings will probably not survive because of restricted water use. They did have an inch of rain Monday night.

At least it's cool this week. We had three days of hot wind May 30, 31, and June 1, even though northeast Nebraska was comfortable, wouldn't you know? We had all six grandchildren that week.

It was my idea. I stated talking about it when I knew for sure. I would not be working on a regular basis. In fact, I was thinking of a week. Fortunately my kids talked me into three days.

I stocked up on macaroni and cheese, rice krispie squares and milk. On Wednesday, we went through a gallon of that stuff in three hours. Of course, the Big Farmer and I drank our share.

We live close to fun places, like the Henry Doorly Safari. There, the elk licked the car and stuck heads inside the windows. We were frustrated in attempts to see the wolves. They like to hide.

We also checked out one of the stores there. One problem with two two-year-olds is that they think they need to do whatever the big kids do, and they can't do that. Also, whatever one had, the other had to have.

We survived with no major problems, and they all still love each other, and I love them. But it took me awhile to recuperate and I really

The Photo didn't have that time because more guests began arriving on Thursday morning. Let's just say I keep the washer and dryer humming.

One of our guests for the Murdock school reunion drove from Indiana, 600 miles, by herself, at age 80. She left this morning at 4 a.m. I'm praying she makes it back safely.

We have LSU fans coming for the college World Series this week. Too bad the Huskers didn't make it. They certainly gave it a good try. We actually sat up until midnight on Friday listening to the first game with Stanford.

We will also be hosting a couple from BRAN. The husband is riding the bike, and the wife is providing support in the car. My hat goes off to those folks. I can barely get a bike to the church west of here and back! And I used to ride all over. Those were the days.

Time to wash one more set of sheets and clean one more bathroom. I really lead an exciting life!

Synchronizing Estrus in beef cattle helps in breeding

By Jill Heemstra, Extension Educator

Estrus synchronization involves manipulating the estrus cycle of beef females so that they can be bred at approximately the same time.

It is used in conjunction with artificial insemination. The goals of estrus synchronization are threefold: to have the majority of calves born early in the calving season so that you have heavier, more uniform calves at weaning; being able to schedule labor for a more concentrated period of time during breeding and calving seasons and to be more profitable.

It is estimated that natural service with bulls costs approximately $32 per pregnant female (1990 Nebraska Beef Report). Most producers aim for 90 percent or better pregnancy rate. Estrus synchronization can cost from $34 to $44 per pregnant female. The estimated pregnancy rates range from 50 to 60 percent.

A bull or AI program is necessary to breed these remaining females. There are many different protocols for estrus synchronization and all have varying requirements for success. Common protocols are compared below.

The mention of a product does not imply endorsement nor does the absence of a product imply that it is not effective.

A simple protocol is to administer one injection of prostaglandin and then heat detect for the next two to five days. About 75 percent of cycling females would be expected to display estrus and be inseminated in this time with about a 5-percent pregnancy rate.

A second injection of prostaglandin can be administered on Day 5 to any females not previously bred. Heat detection and insemination would continue for another five days.

Ninety percent of cycling females should be inseminated during the 10-day protocol and the pregnancy rate is about 55 percent.

The cost of either protocol is $35-$36 per pregnant female. It is important that the producer has the time and skills to detect when cows are in standing estrus.

A low-cost system uses Melengestrol Acetate (MGA) and prostaglandin. MGA actually suppresses estrus and is fed for 14 days. Females will exhibit estrus two to five days after withdrawal of MGA. They should not be inseminated at this estrus.

A single injection of prostaglandin is given 17 days (original protocol) or 19 days (modified protocol) after MGA removal. Pregnancy rates appear to improve when the injection is given at 19 days instead of 17. Most females will show estrus two to three days after the injection. Heat detection is required.

Mass insemination can be done at 72 hours (heifers) or 80 hours (cows) after the prostaglandin injection. This program requires the most planning as it begins 31 days prior to the breeding season.

It is also important that each female consume the recommended amount of MGA every day. Pregnancy rates are more variable on mature cows with calves. The cost is approximately $34 per pregnant female with a 55 percent pregnancy rate.

Synchro-Mate B is a common protocol that consists of administering an injection and an ear implant on Day 1. The implant is removed on Day 9. The cows are watched for signs of standing estrus or are time-inseminated 48-54 hours after implant removal. Heat detection results in higher conception rates (55 percent) than timed insemination (50 percent) but requires more labor and good observation skills. The cost can range from $37 per pregnant female to $4 per pregnant female (with timed insemination).

Select Synch is a newer method of estrus synchronization. This program is for cows (not heifers) and involves a GnRH injection followed by a prostaglandin injection one week later. Females are heat detected from 36 hours before and up to six days following the prostaglandin injection. Timed insemination is not recommended.

This program can induce cycling in cows that have not begun to cycle after their previous calf. The cost is approximately $37 per pregnant female and has about a 55 percent pregnancy rate.

Good heat detection skills are necessary.

A protocol similar to Select Synch is known as Co-Synch. This program is actually designed to synchronize ovulation. A GnRH injection is given on Day 1 followed by prostaglandin on Day 7.

A second GnRH injection is given on Day 9. At this time, the females are mass inseminated. This protocol makes heat detection unnecessary, but involves the administration of an additional injection over Select Synch.

The cost is approximately $46 per pregnant female and has a 55 percent pregnancy rate.

Removing the calves for 48 hours after the prostaglandin injection can increase pregnancy rates to 60 percent. The cost is $43 per pregnant cow and requires additional attention to the calves while they are separated from their dams.

Neither Co-Synch protocol is recommended for heifers.

Success with estrus synchronization programs varies greatly. Some years you may achieve very high pregnancy rates while other years the rates will be much lower than expected. Careful attention to detail and investment in good working facilities will make a big difference.

A synchronization program will not substitute for a good nutrition or herd health program. It is a possible "next step" for producers who already have healthy, disease-free animals and are interested in mastering the skills needed for a successful program.

Program provides loss protection

The Noninsured Assistance Program (NAP) administered by the Farm Service Agency provides weather-related loss protection for all crops commercially produced for food or fiber in which Federal Crop Insurance protection is not available.

The area affected by the natural disaster must be a county, an area of at least 320,000 acres, or acreage on which the value of all crops annually grown exceeds $80 million.

A crop's eligibility for NAP is contingent on a greater than 35 percent loss of production on all acreage of a crop in the affected area. Producers in an approved area may apply for benefits on crop losses in excess of 50 percent of their approved yield. The payment rate is 55 percent of the average market price.

To qualify for crop loss protection, producers must annually file a report of acreage for small grains by June 30 and all other crops by Aug. 1. Producers are responsible to report production, request an inspection/appraisal before destroying or converting a damaged crop to another use and file a Notice of Loss within 15 days of the disaster occurrence or damage to the crop was obvious. Producers must also furnish records to document production, request verification of existing production evidence before commingling and comply with Highly Erodible Land (HEL) and Wetland Conservation (WC) provisions.

Production records for prior years must be furnished or certified to establish a yield for NAP payments. A payment limitation is in effect and a person's qualifying gross income may not exceed $2 million. Producers cannot receive duplicate benefits. If a producer is eligible to receive NAP payments and benefits under any other program for the same crop loss, the producer must choose whether to receive NAP payments or benefits from any other program.

Producers must file acreage, production and loss claims timely. If acres, production and loss claims are not filed timely, the producer may not be eligible for NAP assistance.

Contact the local Farm Service Agency for additional details.

Three Questions To Ask About New Prescriptions

Knowing about prescription medicines can help consumers do the right things to optimize medicine effectiveness while minimizing chances of having unpleasant or dangerous side effects. Before leaving the pharmacy with new prescriptions, get the answers to these questions: (1) What am I taking the medicine for? Assume that you went to your physician with stomach pain. If the medicine a general pain reliever, a medicine that helps decrease stomach acid production, or does the medicine do something else? (2) How do I take or use the medicine? This information usually is printed on the label. However, you also should know how long to take the medicine and the need for refills. (3) What should I expect? At minimum you should know how the medicine may help your problem and common or serious side effects that might occur.

SIMPLE Retirement Plans

Effective January 1, 1997, a new type of employer-sponsored retirement plan became available - the Savings Incentive Match Plan for Employees (SIMPLE). SIMPLE plans can be established by employers with 100 or fewer employees who received at least $5,000 in compensation from the employer in the preceding year, provided the employer does not maintain another qualified retirement plan.

SIMPLE plans may be set up by self-employed persons as well as corporations. SIMPLE Plans are not subject to the anti-discrimination or top-heavy

In a SIMPLE IRA plan, contributions allowed are:

- Employee elective salary deferrals, (cannot exceed $6,000 in 1999) and
- Required employer matching

Vesting
 All contributors to a SIMPLE IRA vest fully and immediately to the employee, including those made by the employer.

Taxation of SIMPLE IRA Contributions
 Employee salary deferrals and employer contributions are excludable from employee gross income and deductible to the employer in the year made.

Employee deferrals are not considered wages for purposes of income tax withholding, but they are counted as wages for FICA, FUTA, and Medicare tax purposes. Employer matching contributions are not counted as wages for income tax withholding, FICA, FUTA, and Medicare Tax purposes.

Safe truckers converging in Columbus

Over 130 of Nebraska's top professional truck drivers will soon compete for titles in a contest where safety and skill, not speed, are the keys to winning.

The Nebraska Truck Driving Championships will be June 9 and 10, an annual competition that makes Columbus, Neb., the truck safety capital of Nebraska for 48 hours.

On Friday, June 9, at the New World Inn, drivers complete a written exam, a personal interview and a vehicle inspection. On Saturday, June 10, the driving skills competition starts at 7 a.m. and continues through 4 p.m. at the Platte-County Agricultural Park.

Each driver must complete a series of six "problems" designed to simulate conditions encountered in actual truck operations. To determine the champions, driving scores are combined with Friday's results. State champions in each class of equipment represent Nebraska at the National Truck Driving Championships in New Orleans, Aug. 9-12.

In addition to the driver's competition, other titles contested during the two-day event are:

*the Nebraska State Patrol Inspector Championship, June 9-10. The winner advances to represent Nebraska in the international truck inspector competition at the National Truck Driving Championships.

*the Michelin Working Truck show, a "pride and polish" display of truck tractors competing for points from truck show judges and votes in a "people's choice" contest (June 10 at Ag Park).

For a schedule of events, contact Nance Harris or Michelle Drahota at the Nebraska Trucking Association in Lincoln, 402-476-8504. A complete list of driving contestants and their hometowns is also available.

As an intern, Heiman drafts mechanical components and manufacturing processes, compiles industry standards and data for design purposes, manages a Windows network station of company intranet, and updates training in computer systems.

Heiman is a USAA Academic Student, letter winner in NCAA Div II Cross Country/Track (3 years), 1998-99 President's Scholar Athlete, recipient for Board of Trustees full tuition scholarship (4 years) and a third-degree member of the Knights of Columbus Council since 1996. He is working toward a major in industrial technology with a minor in applied communications.

Heiman is a 1996 graduate of Chester-Hubbell-Byron High School and is the son of Steven E. and Diane L. Heiman.

Hunting for treasures

Despite cold, rainy conditions, a number of children enjoyed the annual Kiwanis Miracle Network Carnival. Those attending took part in a number of games such as the Treasure Hunt (pictured above) in which they took turns digging through a tub of ice to find quarters. The money raised from the event is used to benefit the pediatric department at St. Luke's Hospital.
