Svoboda new superintendent at Winside

By Dianne Jaeger Winside Correspondent

The new Winside Public School Superintendent, Arden Svoboda, assumed his duties in Winside the first of July.

"I've been working on the budget most of the time since I've arrived," Svoboda states, "however, the Board and I have been discussing several possible future projects. I don't plan on making any major changes for this school year."

Svoboda and his wife, Ethel, moved here from Niobrara where he was the superintendent the past six years.

"The Niobrara schools had approximately 165 students," Svoboda said. "We expect 310 in Winside this school year, so I'm looking forward to the new challenge. My wife and I both enjoy the small town environment, however, I tell my staff "in a small town you want to be

Let the race begin

Few elections have as much meaning as this one does and it will set the tone for the new millennium and will have far reaching effects on our country for years

I have been listening carefully to both parties make their promises. I've always been told that if you make a promise, you keep a promise. If the past is any different, it's nothing more than hot

My father once told me the last president who make a promise and kept it was JFK. I was very young then, but I have to say I have found that very few have since then. I still remember when a handshake was good enough to keep one's word. It still holds true today in some cases, but not as often.

As you can see, I don't like politicians a great deal

I'm concerned about what I am seeing happen in Washington, D.C. these days. One political party seems to be trying to limit what we can and can not do. Our National Park System is being turned into wilderness areas for no one to use except scientists. Another party won't take stronger action on gun sales at gun shows. A simple background check and a 24-72 hour wait can't be much to ask for to help save a life.

Jams

The line has been drawn in the sand. Who will it be? Governor George Bush or Vice President Al Gore. It will be up to you, the voter, to decide. When you get ready to vote, are you the one who votes strictly for one party or do you vote for the best candidate regardless of his, or eventually, her, party's affiliation?

Have you ever asked yourself, "will I sit on the sidelines again and let the minority tell the majority who will run our country or will I be part of the majority and go to the polls and let my wishes be known. Remember that we elected a president not long ago who got less than 50 percent of the vote. Remember what he was like.

Have you ever heard the phrase, "I'm voting this time for the lesser of two evils" or "does it really matter who I vote for." Those statements are ridiculous to say or think. Your vote means something. I urge you to vote and that it does and will matter. Let's get interested in our political process and get involved.

The candidates have started the race for the White House. Remember, be careful of the street vender who is selling snake oil. That's how politics are these days.

Redistricting underway

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Hope springs eternal in most people who run for public office. That explains, in part, why the once-adecade process of redistricting in each state ends up in so many courthouses around the country. Every so often, some legislature somewhere finds itself with a majority that just hopes it can get away with some shenanigans.

Redistricting is the process through which state legislatures are supposed to redraw, if necessary, the boundaries of various political districts. They are supposed to draw these boundaries so that equal representation is more than less guaranteed. Actually, state lawmakers have quite a bit of wiggle room these days (thanks to the U.S. Supreme Court) to draw boundaries that favor one political party or another.

In Nebraska, the Unicameral and congressional districts are always center stage in the redistricting dance. Well, mostly it's the legislative districts. It would seem that even old Gerry Mander himself would have a hard time drawing a congressional district that would somehow give an edge to a Democratic candidate.

This whole process of boundary drawing is supposed to give life to the "one man, one vote" concept -a concept long-ago mandated by the U.S. Supreme Court. Nebraska didn't get off to a real good start in terms of the equal representation idea. The fact is that the first districts drawn for the state under that concept were arrived at by a federal court. The Legislature was heavily dominated by the farm/ranch contingency in those days - and the good ol' boys simply would not, or could not, bring themselves to give the city folks an even break. So, the whole thing wound up before a judge.

Nebraska's redistricting schemes have run afoul of the courts every so often since then. Usually, the case has involved lawmakers trying to rejigger a legislative district to protect or hurt some sitting member of the Unicameral. Change district boundaries and you change a constituency - change a constituency and the person who currently holds elective office can wind up campaigning on new and sometimes hostile turf. Get it?

When Democrat Jim Exon was governor he would often refer to the Unicameral as "Nebraska's non-partisan, Republican Legislature." Exon's observation was true then, and it is true now.

Registered Republicans outnumber Democrats in the Legislature

(there's a bulletin for you) and, within what are now rather broad court guidelines, they have the votes to fiddle with district maps so long as they stop short of the outrageous.

Of course, if one "does dirt" to certain of one's colleagues in a legislative body with just 49 members, one can count on getting paybacks in a big way down the legislative road. That reality, as much as any, is central to any balance of power when it comes to redistricting.

Writer explaining why recall of the councilman is necessary

Dear Editor

The Wayne Herald states that it believes in the constitutional right of citizens to petition their government for just reasons. What if the government interferes with that constitutional freedom? How do the people protect their rights?

Recently, an attorney declared the wording on, the parking ballot illegal. The city clerk has directed blame at the county clerk for the hatchet job done to the wording on the ballot. When confronted, the county clerk claimed that no contract between the city and the county existed and, therefore the city clerk is at fault. Everyone seeks quick to point fingers, but no one wants to take responsibility for their actions.

Recently, I have taken out a recall petition on Councilman Verdel Lutt. First, I'd like to clear up the rumors

Contrary to what Mr. Lutt says, the chairman of the parking committee is not in any way connected with the recall petition being circulated. Furthermore, the recall petition has nothing to do with parking

Whether or not you support the parking ban is irrelevant, the recall is the people's way to protect our right to petition the government without interference. It keeps democracy in check so we don't come to reflect a socialist government. If the City is allowed to illegally change wording on our petition or anyone else's, then the people lose this freedom. The government (City) must be held accountable for its actions.

It's easy to see that Mr. Lutt believes the government should be allowed to do whatever they please without regulations and that ordinary citizens have no right to challenge government or hold them accountable for their actions. I'm sorry, Mr. Lutt, but the councils not a monarchy, and there are consequences to its actions. You represent us, the people who elected you.

Another rumor I would like to clear up is that of my involvement with the website Although I agree with most of the statements and contents of the site, I am not involved with it or the e-mails in any way Also, hiring paid petition circulators is not illegal, petition circulators are often paid

The specifics of the recall on Councilman Verdel Lutt are as follows:

1) "Harassing, intimidating and threatening constituents" — for making harassing and intimidating phone calls to constituents on several occasions. During one such call, Mr. Lutt began yelling and making threats by saying, "You had better or else... and I will never vote on anything you ever bring before the council." Mr. Lutt was rude and his conduct was unprofessional and unbecoming of a city councilman.

2) "Violating his oath of office" -by failing to remain impartial in his duties, vowing to remain biased in the future and failing to support the constitution of the State of Nebraska and the ordinances of the City of Wayne.

3) "Interfering with the City Initiative and Referendum process" — by allowing the illegal wording of the ballot to pass, which violated the rights of the electorate and petitioners and refusing to reconsider, even after the wording was found to be blatantly wrong and incomplete, and for allowing the City to reflect bias against the measure stituents in the First Ward" — by ignoring the desires of the majority, since the parking issue passed in the First Ward, for not being fair and neutral ... for prioritizing the needs of  $\mathbb{R}^2$  — ayor before the people.

Also, some additional allegations have recently surfaced which may cause the recall petition to be amended and recissued.

The parking election cost the City of Wayne the sum of $192.26. This is a small price to pay to preserve the priceless freedoms of the people. If Mr. Lutt is not willing to take responsibility to assure the people their right to a fair and impartial election, he could save tax dollars by simply resigning from his position on the city council.

Wayne is a nice clean town, but it's getting "dirty" inside city hall. When the City does not feel that it has to comply with state law and city code, or be fair and impartial, or resolve an issue that's been around since July 12, 1996, the council members should all be removed from their council seats. If we the people do not take a stand now, who knows how far the corruption could spread?

Bryan Baumgart

Writer feels recent letter needs addressing

Dear Editor:

Although I am not involved with the recall petition, I would like to address Verdel Lutt's letter, since it contained falsehoods and untruths about the parking election.

The City Initiative and Referendum Petition is a process that should be taken very seriously We all have the right to petition our government to create, change, or repeal an existing law.

Our petition addressed parking, but it could have been an issue about senior citizens, our schools, public safety, community development, taxes, etc. From start to finish, we had to comply with numerous state laws and city ordinances. After the petition was filed and the signatures were verified, the City was required to prepare the ballot and hold a fair and impartial election.

The nightmare began when the City of Wayne decided to interfere and turn our issue into their issue. Please remember, it was our petition and our issue. Because the City did not feel the need for justice and fair play, they went to great lengths to insure that the parking ban would not be repealed and it deprived the petitioners the opportunity to exercise their right as citizens to have a fair presentation of our measure presented to the public for a vote.

Simply put, the ballot was not legal. By law, there are three (3) specific items which are required to appear on the ballot. The Cities ditered one item and completely left out another, in order to suit their needs. We retained a well-respected attorney to review the ballot and she confirmed, among other things, that the ballot language, "was not written pursuant to the Wayne City Code and state statute."

Prior to the May 9th primary election, I complained about the ballot language to the Wayne County Clerk, the Wayne City Clerk, and the Secretary of State's office. Our issue was not resolved Following the election, I met with the mayor and the city clerk, who, at the time, was acting city administrator. Again, our on May 25th, I sent a letter to the mayor, and city council and the wayne Herald regarding the ballot language. Councilman Verdel Lutt telephoned me, complained about my letter, and proceeded with name-calling. On June 2nd, he called me again and seemed to be in a rage. After threatening me, he slammed the phone and hung up.

With a City Initiative and Referendum Petition, the City is required to be fair and neutral in its position. Instead, the City showed considerable bias (1) by altering and deleting portions of the ballot language to deceive voters, contrary to law, (2) by placing a double-negative into the language of the ballot question to confuse voters, (3) by placing "no" before "yes" on the ballot, which is highly irregular, (4) by the late filing of the notice of election, whereas the date was left out by the city clerk; (5) by the city street superintendent's misleading statements in the newspaper, prior to the election, (6) by the mayor's statements which appeared on the radio newsgram, (7) by the hostility shown by some city officials, (8) by the City's reluctance and failure to accept responsibility and make the situation right with the petitioners and the people, and (9) by additional "behind-the-scenes" activities that occurred in city hall which create suspicion.

We have never asked the City for special treatment or special favors, we have never asked them to make any exceptions or to look the other way. We followed the law. Shouldn't the City have to follow the law? The City has violated your rights and our rights and, by doing that, has set a bad precedent for all residents of Nebraska who wish to use the Initiative and Referendum process.

Councilman Verdel Lutt and other city officials need to be held accountable and responsible, and use common sense to resolve this issue with the petitioners and the

Alternate Agriculture Expo 2000 planned

Producers and Consumers interested in Farming Alternatives and Nutrition Issues should plan to attend an Alternative Agriculture Exposition 2000 at the Sioux City Convention Center on Aug. 28 and 29. This event is sponsored by numerous agricultural agencies in a multi-state area.

An evening session from 7 to 8:30 p.m., Monday, Aug. 28 will feature Sally Fallon speaking on nutrition issues. This session will bring together urban people and others who want quality food products and farmers that can produce these products.

The 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 29 session will appeal to farmers and communities that are seeking viable alternatives to the traditional corn and soybeans farming systems.

Presenters and panelists will cover farming alternatives, economics and marketing issues, transitioning from traditional agriculture to alternative methods, direct marketing, legal issues and meat and poultry inspection.

Enterprises featured will include alternative livestock, recreational land use, organic farming and livestock production, hydroponic vegetable production and aquaculture.

The cost of registration for the evening session on Aug. 28 is $10. Advance registration for the Aug. 29 session including breaks and the noon meal is $40.

For registration forms or more information contact your local Extension Service, Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) or Farm Service Agency (FSA) office or call the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Council at (402) 582-4866.

"I was so taken with the beautiful willow trees that after I dropped off the team at the gym, I walked across the campus and went down there (to the Willow Bowl)," he said. The next semester, he transferred to Wayne State College.

"I'd hate to see the Willow Bowl go by the wayside," Hoffbauer said. When Lea Clausen of the Wayne State Foundation told me of the need to replace the willow trees, it didn't take more than two seconds to decide that was a project I wanted to be involved with!

Throughout the years, the Willow Bowl has had several incarnations. Begun in 1922 as an artificial lake used for swimming in the summer and ice skating in the winter, it was transformed into a sunken garden and, in 1938, into the present outdoor theater surrounded by willow

It was first used for an outdoor commencement ceremony on May 26, 1938, a tradition which continues to the present. Through the years, the Willow Bowl has also been the site of campus special events! band concerts, and a number of weddings.

"The Willow Bowl is a unique and special place on our campus," said Dr. Sheila М. -Stearns, WSC president."We are grateful to Mr. Hoffbauer for his generous gift that will ensure that future Wayne State students and their families will also be able to enjoy the beauty and tranquility of the Willow Bowl.

Svoboda has been in the educa tion field for the past 30 and 1/2 years. Prior to administration, he taught mostly history and government classes as well as sociology and psychology classes.

"I find it interesting being both a superintendent and an elementary Principal," Svoboda said. "One of the future programs the Winside School Board is considering is Long Distance Learning. Winside has upgraded its fiber optic lines to a T-1 line, which gives us the capability to setup a consortium with other schools. The Wakefield Educational Service Unit has already graded to a T-3 line and is currently hooking up with Omaha. Another future change the Board is considering is adding a breakfast program at the cafeteria Because we have to keep up with State mandates regarding the number of units required to maintain our Accreditation Certification, we had to increase the school hours this year. Each class is now required to run 52-55 minutes for each of the eight periods."

Svoboda said although he will always be happy to visit with parents, he hopes they will follow the chain of command. If they feel their child is having a problem in school, he would like them to first contact that teacher, staff person, bus driver, etc. to try to work out the problem before they contact Mr. Leapley, himself, or a school board membe Many times that first call is all that's necessary to solve the problem.

Sweetland wins club tourney

Rob Sweetland tees off on hole number two during the final nine holes of the men's Club Golf Tournament last Sunday. He fired a two-under 34 to win the tourney by four strokes over Rich Kortum.

Hard work and persistence paid off for Rob Sweetland in the Men's Club Golf Tournament last Sunday.

The Wayne Elementary physical education teacher fired a three-under par 105 over 27 holes to claim championship honors.

"I put in a lot of hours out here (golf course) over the summer and this is something I really wanted," Sweetland said.

Sweetland put together rounds of 36-35-34. He began the day in fine form with a birdie on the first hole. He finished the 27 holes with seven birdies, 17 pars, two bogey's and one double bogey.

"There's no doubt that winning golf tournaments comes down to putting," Sweetland said. "I had a good day on the greens."

Following the first 18 holes of play, Sweetland was tied with Rich Kortum at one-under par 71.

Two strokes back was defending champion Jim Shanks and Marty Summerfield with 73's.

Sweetland won the title by four strokes over Kortum, placed runnerup. Summerfield and Shanks finished with 710's to tie for third with Summerfield getting the edge in the tie-breaker.

Don Preston rounded out the top five with a 110, dropping the tiebreaker to both Summerfield and Shanks.

Preston however, fired a threeunder par '33 over the final nine holes. He fired a 77 over the first 18 holes including a quadruple bogey.

Brad Hansen placed sixth with a 111—edging Scott Hansen by way of a tie-breaker. Ryan Sturm was the final placer with a 112 including a four-under par 32 over the final nine holes.

In flight play Bill Sharpe was the champion in the first flight with an 80. The first flight and the ninth flight were net scoring.

Kevin Peterson placed second in the flight with a scratch score of 81 while Duane Blomenkamp was third with an 80.

it was Rob Sweetland's first club championship. His millenium wish was to be the first to win the title in the 2000's.

Sandra Sutton kept a tight grip on her rein as the women' club championship—her fifth title and second straight.

Rich Kortum powers through his drive on hole number two en route to a second place finish at one-over par, 109.

Jill Sweetland proved that Rob isn't the only golfer in the family as she placed second in her flight.

Scott Hansen takes a little ground with his pitch shot on hole number six during the championship nine. Hansen fired a one-under par 35 on the front nine to finish seventh overall at 111. Hansen birdled his final two holes to earn his seventh place finish.

Jim Shanks attempts to make a long birdle putt on hole three during the final round. Shanks placed fourth, overall after winning the title in 1999.

WSC volleyball team will be young but experienced as year begins

Of the Herald

Wayne State volleyball coach Sharon Vanis enters her eighth season at the helm of the Wildcats program and this season she just may witness, the great youth movement.

There are no seniors on the Wildcats roster this year and just two juniors

But don't think for a second that priority one isn't to win the Northern Sun Conference title.

"Despite the fact we're very young we do have quality experi-ence returning," Vanis said. "The girls have worked very hard in the preseason as well as all summer long on their own.

The 'Cats return four starters from last season's 17-14 squad (14-4 in the conference) which tied for second in the NSIC in its inaugural year in the conference. Juniors Lindsey Koch (OH, 5-10, Norfolk) and Jessie Erwin (MH/OH, 5-9, Laurel) are returning starters and both will be team captains.

Sophomores Rayna Nelsen, (MH, 6-1, Homer), Laurie Schroeder, (MH, 5-11, Laurel) and Janel Moody, (DS, 5-9, Sioux City) also return and even though Moody didn't start, she saw plenty of time on the court as a defensive specialist.

Sophomore Kasey Meyer (5-10, Wisner) will quarterback the team from the setter position. Meyer replaces Melanie Kershaw who bypassed her final two years of eligibility, to transfer to Lincoln for school only

"We will suit 11 and all of them

"We believe this will make us tough to defend.

In fact, Vanis' team is using the teme, "The Young and the theme. Relentiess."

"We have a lot of weapons on offense with the likes of Rayna Lindsey and Jessie," Vanis added. "We want our defensive pursuit to be very solid.

WSC opens the season this Friday and Saturday in sunny Pheonix, Arizona as they challenge the likes of Grand Canyon (the host), and Southern Colorado on Friday and Arkansas Tech along with Grand Valley State of Michigan on Saturday.

The 'Cats will play at USD on Wednesday. The first home contests will be the weekend of Sept. 15-16 when they host NSIC foes Winona State and Concordia-St. Paul.

The preseason NSIC coaches poll had not been released as of press time but Vanis said she would be surprised if the 'Cats weren't in the

Last season WSC came in as the sixth ranked team in the NSIC and finished second Vanis said Minnesota-Duluth will be the team to be in the NSIC. 'We'll be young and if we can stay away from injury and stay away from the Jekyll and Hyde syndrome, we should have a great season."

Vanis will be assisted this season by former Wayne High and Wayne State standout volleyball player Lueders, a 1991 graduate of Wayne State will be working toward her master's degree in sports management.

Gage Beza will be the student assistant coach

WSC Admissions Team ready to meet with students

College admissions specialists Orentheian Everett, Debi Dawe, Jamie Vaughn and Laura Williamson will be visiting high schools and community colleges this fall to meet with students and to provide information about Wayne State College.

They are also available throughout the year to answer questions and to provide assistance.

Everett's experience as a first-generation college student will allow him to offer insights to incoming freshman, transfer students and cur rent WSC students.

He came to WSC from Miami, Fla to obtain a degree in exercise sci-

Accomplishing this goal, Everett is now pursuing a master's degree in sport management/administration

While a student at WSC, Everett served as a graduate student for the vice president and dean of students office, completed a graduate assistantship as a multicultural advisor to minority students about academics and their college experience, and participated in football.

He also coordinated programs related to diversity on campus.

Dawe is also a WSC graduate. She earned a degree in elementary education with a coaching endorse

Her first experience working for the college began as a work study student in the Applied Science Division. Other WSC experiences included working as a resident assistant, Early Alert Program assistant, Housing Office assistant and an offi cial score keeper for volleyball and basketball games. Dawe also answered questions about WSC at the information desk

"Working as an admissions specialist has always been an interest of mine," Dawe said. "I am looking forward to representing Wayne State and helping students through the college selection process. 1 am excited to be working with such a great staff in the office and around

Association of University Women and Student Senate.

She was also a resident assistant for two years, and believes that experience and involvement with other activities were important parts of her education.

"I look forward to helping students achieve their goals by pursuing a degree from Wayne State College," Williamson said.

Summer maintenance completed

The summer is a busy time for maintenance and custodial personnel of the Wayne Schools. Custodians are charged with getting their buildings in shape for the opening of school while other maintenance crews are formed to perform various other necessary tasks. A primary goal of the program is to reach a point where maintenance can be performed on a preventative basis rather than from crisis to crisis

Gaillons of paint have been applied to numerous classrooms and les in all school buildings. The gymnasium floor has been

In addition, custodians have been performing odd jobs such washing of windows, repairing of doors and windows, clearing brush, trimming trees, repairing fixtures, moving furniture and equipment, repairing roof leaks, basic remodeling and countless other activities.

The maintenance staff has made a concentrated effort to see to it that our facilities are as trouble free, functional and comfortable as possible. It is a fact that a good maintenance program is a team effort with school personnel and students cooperating to preserve school facilities. It is also a fact that a good maintenance program costs a great deal less than a program where the cooperative effort is meager

Our maintenance staff is second to none. The next time you visit school or attend an event, compliment them on their efforts --- I know they would appreciate it.

Maintenance staff for the schools include:

Superintendent of Building and Ground: Dennis Mitchell

Beginning Sept. 1

Dove season to open

hit the field Sept. 1.

Dove season is an excellent opportunity for hunters to sharpen their shooting skills and to get their dog in shape for the upland game

For those you that have never had the opportunity to hunt Doves, you'd better be prepared to do some shooting.

In a national survey, the average hunter shot 5 to 7 shells per dove.

I scout the area I'm going to hunt prior to the season. In the evening, I'll go out and look for small ponds that might attract the birds. If the Doves are using the pond, you'll see them setting on power fence lines near the pond.

I've hunted these dodging, weaving birds since the first season and found that hunting doves can be a frustrating experience if you aren't in the right place at the right time.

Doves group up and fly during the late afternoon. Doves will feed heavily on weed and grain seed prior to going to roost for the night. Once a Dove's crop is full of seeds, he'll head for water to get a drink before roosting.

I and my hunting partners like to set up around small stock ponds during this time of the day.

We look for a pond with bare ground along the waters edge as this gives the Doves a place to set and get a drink.

Our most pro those that have Hemp or small grain growing near by. A pond with dead trees nearby will also, attract the birds. They like to set in the branches of the dead tree to rest and look over the area before going to water.

We try to find areas where there are several ponds in a section. The ponds we hunt are generally one or two acressin size and we put a hunter on both ponds in order to keep the birds moving.

GNC Invited

It's best to hunt with another hunter on the larger ponds. Your hunting partner can act as a spotter for you, letting you know when birds are coming in behind you.

Several hunters can hunt a pond safely, as long as you know exactly where the other hunter is and know your shooting lanes.

The shot size used by most dove hunters in 7, 8 1/2 or 9 shot. If you have some quail loads, they will work just fine.

When purchasing Dove loads, don't look for the cheapest loads. The cheaper loads generally contain less powder and less shot, which puts you at a disadvantage when it domes to hunting Doves.

A Doves erratic flight requires a good shot and more importantly a good shot pattern to bring them down. Some of the cheaper loads, don't pattern well and don't have the power to reach out for the longer shots. I use Winchester 7/8 ounce shot in my 20 gauge and 1 1/8 ounce in my 12 gauge. These loads pattern well in my guns and help me to bring down more birds.

Many Dove hunters prefer the smaller faster lighter gauge shotguns. My partners hunt with 20, 28 and occasionally a 410 shotgun.

Light weight guns can be brought up a lot quicker and lighter loads won't tear up the bird.

Since Doves migrate, it doesn't take much for them to move south. Lower temperatures or several days of cooler damp weather will start the fall migration. When the migration begins, the birds will join together in larger flocks and the shooting can be non stop.

Once the local birds have moved south, migrating flocks will move in from up north, replenishing the bird

As long as the weather in your area doesn't turn nasty, you could have doves migrating through most of the season.

Dove season is a great opportunity for some early fall shooting. Who knows, if we bring along enough shells, we might even be able to bag a limit of these acrobatic little flyers!

Piano students tour Lincoln, meet with football players

Several piano students of Mrs Marcile Uken visited Lincoln on the annual summer field trip.

The group toured the Bedient Pipe Organ Company. Bedient Organ handcrafts every part of the organ, custom designing and building each piece to fit each customer's needs

The next stop for the group was the Sunken Gardens which is a terraced garden featuring hundreds of plants, a reflecting pond and a waterfall

The group then went to Antelope Park where they ate their sack lunch. Following this, the students spent some time on the new playground equipment just installed in the park.

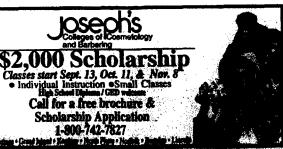

After this, the group went to East ampus and toured the Dairy and Cheese facilities and then went to the lab where they did some experiments, one of which was making Gummy worms. The tour was conducted by Laura Bauermeister, formerly of Wayne and a former piano student of Mrs. Uken's. Bauermeister is working at the lab.

Following the tour, the group was given a treat of ice cream from the dairy store.

The group then went to the City Campus of the University where they were guests of Coach Ron Brown and given a pass to watch the Husker football practice. Following practice, players signed autographs for the group. Coach Frank Solich also spent some time with the group, signing autographs. Following this, Eric Crouch and Russ Hochstein spent extra time to have their picture taken with the stu-

The final activity of the day was an evening meal at the Old Country Buffet before returning to Wayne.

Parents accompanying the group were Jerrae Braun, Shelly Fehringer, Brigid Griffin, Jeanne Ann Kardell, Kathy Mitchell, Linda Murray, Don and Shelly Preston, Kevin and Christie Roberts, Diane Roeber and Karen Smith.

Learning to lose gracefully is important in development "Competition isn't a bad thing." notes Dr. Youatt. "It can give chil

Does your child have a difficult time losing when it comes to playing competitively?

One day your child, a pint-size John McEnroe, may fling his dominoes at the wall and stomp out of the room. And when that happens, you may be tempted to throw your hands up and let him win all the

But that's one thing experts advise against, even though it may be the easiest way out. You may even be tempted to yell back at the darn kid for making such a big fuss. But we all know that's really a big

So what to do instead? By understanding what makes kids act like such sore losers, experts point out, parents can help their children learn to control their anger and compete

Why losing is such a big deal 'At an early age children realize they're rewarded for winning, explains June Pierce Youatt, Ph.D., professor of family and child ecology at Michigan State University in east Lansing. "And the positive feedback, whether it's praise or applause, is especially important for preschoolers, who are developing a sense of self." They feel good about themselves when other people tell them they're winner. When they lose, they may feel the opposite inadequate.

In addition, young kids don't have a coping mechanism for dealing with disappointment. "Knowing how to handle it calmly and gracefully comes with experience." noted Dr. Youatt. Furthermore, three to six-year olds have a tendency to live for the moment. "It's hard for them to think, 'Maybe my soccer team will do better tomorrow," adds Rona Novick, Ph.D., the coordinator of the parenting center at Schneider

Children's Hospital in New Hyde

Other factors that contribute to sore -loser behavior include the fol-

- · Your Child's Temperament. Some children experience emotion more intensely than others.
- Stress At Home. Any sort of stressful situation that makes a child feel neglected, such as the birth of asibling or the death of a grandparent, may also cause a youngster to feel more pressure to win.
- · Our Culture. While it's natural and healthy for preschoolers to compare themselves with others, this can be exacerbated by our all-American tendency to want to do better than the next person Seven Steps to a Winning Attitude

Ok, so there are many factors conspiring to turn our children into sore losers, but does that mean we have to just grit our teeth and dodge those flying game pieces? No way, say experts. There are many things parents can do to ease how their children handle losing and, in the process, help them discover it isn't whether you win' or lose, but how you play the game. Here are seven strategies

1. Acknowledge your youngster's feelings — Parents can help by respecting their children's feelings

2. Pay attention to your child's abilities — For the most part, children aged three and under are not yet emotionally ready to handle the disappointment and frustration of losing. So it's best to steer them toward noncompetitive play, advises Dr. Novick. With older kids you can talk about winning and losing before you begin playing, she suggests. As for kindergartners and first graders, you can also appeal to their love of detail.

3. Include cooperative play in child's daily life kids can work together. 4. Lead the way — Parents can teach children to lose graciously by doing so themselves 5. Allow your child to lose - You may love watching your child glow with pride when he triumphs, or perhaps you're simply trying to ward off a tantrum by continually allowing him to win

6. Don't make excuses — Psychologists also advise against explaining away your youngster's losses by blaming a bad outcome on, for example, untied shoes or faulty equipment.

7. Emphasize effort over outcome Even when playing competitive in children, there are ways to de-emphasize the winning-and losing aspect. "You can praise your child for doing his best even if he didn't win," suggests Ronald E Smith, Ph.D., professor of psychology at the University of Washington in Seattle and co-author of "Sports and Your Child."

No matter how hard you try to help your youngsters, however, there may still be times when she flies off the handle. On occasions like these, you can try to help her put her feelings into words. Then tell her it's OK to feel "bad," but it's not OK to stomp out of the room screaming. If your child is still upset, suggest she let off steam by doing something active, such as riding her bike around the backyard.

Above all, have patience and remember that losing can be hard even for grown-ups. Fortunately, as with so many other childhood problems, this, too shall pass. SOURCE: Sesame Street Parents,

Performing in the park

The southern gospel mens quartet, Grateful Heart, entertained in the Bressler Park in Wayne on Aug. 13. Many people enjoyed their selections of old-time gospel music mixed with newer arrangements in the style of the Cathedrals and Gaither Vocal music. The group was sponsored by the First United Methodist Church of Wayne and was open to the public. Methodist members had an all-church picnic in the park before the entertainment began.

Staffers awarded scholarships for efforts

Cindy Von Fange, Melissa Ehrhardt and Robert Bell were recently awarded college scholarships as a result of a grant given by Lutheran Brotherhood's Lutheran Partners program.

The $24,900 grant provides every summer counselor, program specialist, site manager, food service staffer, health care specialist and maintenance crew member at Lutheran Ministries with a $300 scholarship to the college of his or her choice.

Von Fange served on NLOM's 2000 Summer Ministry Team as a Creative Arts Specialist, Ehrhardt was a counselor and Bell was a Site Manager.

All are from Wayne and members of Our Savior Lutheran Church. Von Fange is the daughter of Robert and Jeannine Wriedt. Ehrhardt is the daughter of Lonnie and Diane Ehrhardt. Bell is the son of Bobby and Penny Bell.

According to Sunni Richardson, Director of NLOM Programs, the grant is a critical tool that worked as a major incentive to gain staff at "One of the biggest problems we have in recruiting summer staff is jumping that financial hurdle. There are lots of talented, dedicated, Christian college students at camp but they're also expected to cover a meaningful portion of their college expenses. The idea of adding a scholarship component to the pack-retaining these students who are the backbone of our ministry.," Richardson said. "It's really a double blessing because of the impact the second and third years of serving summers at camp have on each staffer's life." The Lutheran Brotherhood Foundation instituted the Lutheran Partners program to underscore the Partners program grants give priority, "in areas where we can produce the greatest results."

According to Dave Coker, NLOM's Director of Development. Lutheran Brotherhood's funding will cover the first year of the scholar-ship program. "We want to keep this ball rolling and are seeking ways to make that happen." Already, the Nebraska Synod's Lutheran Men in Mission have committed half of the funding for the program each year for the foreseeable future

Russell to serve as assistant for Nebraska Synod

Our Savior Lutheran Church wil say goodbye to its Senior Pastor, Martin Russell, this weekend, Aug. 26-27

Pastor Russell was called to serve as Assistant to the Bishop for Mission and Outreach of the Nebraska Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. He will be serving with David deFreese, who was recently elected as the new bishop of the Nebraska Synod.

"I will forever consider it a privilege to serve as a pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church and to live in Wayne," said Pastor Russell. "I have loved Our Savior and I have loved Wayne. I will always remember my time here as being the recipient of love, care and support and will always be truly thankful."

The congregation invites the community to attend an open house in honor of Pastor Russell on Friday, Aug. 25 from 4 to 7 p.m. in the church.

Pastor Russell will be preaching at all the congregation's weekend worship services, which are Saturday at 6 p.m., Sunday morning at 8 and 10:30 a.m. and Sunday evening at 7

"On behalf of he congregation, I would like to extend an invitation to the community to also-join with us in worship this special weekend," said Larry Claussen, Church Council President of Our Savior Lutheran Church.

Prior to his call to Our Savior, Russell serves as a pastor/ redeveloper of the Faith Lutheran Church in Philadelphia, Penn. and as pastor of Eben-Ezer Lutheran Church in Brenham, Texas.

Russell grew up in California and Colorado. He is a graduate of Midland Lutheran College in and the Lutheran Fremont Theological Seminary Gettysburg, Penn. Russell plans to make his home in the Omaha area and will work out of the Nebraska Synod Office, which is located near 118th and L Streets in Omaha.

Recognition received

Joe Claybaugh of Wayne, center, received recognition for his contributions to agriculture during the annual VIP Tour last week at the Haskell Ag Lab near Concord. Claybaugh has served as a county agent in lowa and later as a poultry house designer and engineer with Dekalb. In the mid 1970's he returned to Nebraska where he built a state-of-the-art layer facility near Carroll. He is presently co-owner of TWJ Feeds, TWJ Farms and Nebraska Egg Limited. With Claybaugh are his family members, left to right Julie, Mona and Bill and Scott Kinkaid of Hartington, president of the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Farm Association and John Witkowski, Director of the Northeast Research and Extension

For mother of the bride

Dress shopping a chore

bride" dress tonight; I'm ready for the wedding. Actually, it's a load off my mind. I hate to shop, especially special-occasion dresses

When Sue was planning her wedding, Ann was working at Herberger's. She plucked a very nice one off the sale rack; it fit, and I was

When it was Jon's turn, Mary Walek and I agreed on winter white suits. I bought a pattern and fabric; jan Johnson sewed it for me. Ann was still at Herberger's when it came time for hers; and she got a real bar-

This year, I have no one working in a department store. It's now two months away, and I figured I could find something on sale at the end of summer. I did, but it didn't fit. I continue to have a size smaller top than bottom; which makes for fitting problems, especially because my waist seems to have disappeared.

Two weeks ago, I bought a book called "Mother of the Bride, The Dream, the Reality, the Search for a Perfect Dress," by a lady named llene Beckerman. I think I've found Erma Bombeck's successor.

She writes that mother of the bride dresses over size 12 look like something Mrs. Krushchev would wear. The book is illustrated with drawings of her in a chiffon print. She says Ladybird Johnson would have loved it. She looked like a field of wild flowers.

In blue sequins, she looked like the aurora borealis, and in white moire', like the Pillsbury Doughboy.

She finally got something with a little cleavage, and claims if you show a little cleavage, nobody looks anywhere else I'm not brave enough for cleavage

I tried on a $140 dress on sale for $40. A bargain! But too tight across the bottom half of the body. And I knew I wouldn't be losing any weight in two months if I hadn't been able to for my class reunion last year.

So, I did what any shopper would and marched down to Applebee's to fortify myself. Here, I ran into old friends and had fun vis-

Then, I had to get back at it. The next place had a full-length crepe with a flowing jacket. It was the same size I had tried on earlier, and was too large! A great sale price, too, but definitely not for me

The third store was the charm. I took four to the fitting room. The first one I tried on was it. It wasn't as great a sale, but it's the right color, and the right size, and I whipped out the credit card and got out of ering I'd also eaten and checked out the bride's choices for dishes and all

This Ilene Beckerman had three daughters, too. And she survived all three weddings. As she says, "all mothers want their daughters to get married. But no woman is prepared for being the mother of the bride." In fact, she says child birth was easier than being the mother of the bride. I don't agree. Now all I have to do is find some shoes. Dressy, but comfortable. How hard can that be?

A Card of Thanks

afe is but a stopping place A pause in what's to be resting place along the road To sweet elemity

We all have different journeys. Different paths along the way We all were meant to learn some things.

Our destination is a place ar greater than we know For some, the journey's quicker For some, the journey's slow, nd when the journey finally ends, Ne'll claim a great reward And find an everlasting peace, Together with the Lord!

The road goes on and is smo And the 'pause' in the song is a 'rest' The part that's unsung and unfinished Is the sweetest, the richest and hest

So rest, relax and grow stronger, et go and let God share your load. Our work is not finished or ended, just come to 'A BEND IN THE ROAD

Whatever you did to console ou hearts, we thank you so much!

Potential Problems with Antibiotics

British physicians concerned about appropriate patient use of antibiotic medicines are participating in the National Health Service's antibiotics: Nota miracle campaign: Noted concerns in England could be equally applicable in the US:

■ Patients fail to take the full course antibiotic prescribed for them. Drugresistant forms of illnesses may result.

Patients forget to take antibiotics at the times prescribed.

■ Some persons think they can share the antibiotics of others - or use an unfinished course of antibiotics for another illness.

Patients experience adverse effects - ranging from unwrapped pregnancies due decreased oral contraceptive effectiveness to overgrowth of yeast (thrush).

For advice on appropriate antibiotic use, talk with your pharmacist of physician.

Building Renovation/Construction Up-

High School Dr Reinert reported to the Board the status of the high school project. There is an open house planned for Friday, August 18, 2000 at 10 00 a.m., at Wayne High School and tours will be given. Also, the State Fire Marshall has raised some concerns about the existing fire alarm system and the new fire em in the new additions. The exist alam system in the new additions. The exist-ing fire alam system will have to be upgraded to a 24 V system to match what has been installed in the new additions. A sprinkler sys-tem was also discussed to be placed over the stage area in the lecture hall. The State Fire Marshall has told the District that the wood shop is a highly flammable area and we are currently working with the architects to resolve this matter. Board members asked Dr. Reinert to check into the possibility of putting the white border around the roof line to make the building look uniform with the existing building. Also, landscaping is being addressed at the Middle School: Just from driving by the middie school site, work is progressing at a rapid pace. On the north side of the building, Volkman Plumbing and Heating dug 15 fei deep to find the sewer pipe. The six inch pipe was in fact. They will begin work on the internal plumbing for the building. Block work for the new gymnasium is going up tast. As of Monday, the block layers were waiting for the einstifs for the windows in the gymnasium addition and have started to lay the fascia brick on the outside of the gymnasium addition. Below the shaff for the elevator, the construction crew found a brick floor that was three and half feet deep. They do not know what if was used for but think it could have been used as a cover for an old boiler. The stairwelfs are gone inside of the building. The shingles have been taken off of the roof and plywood is being placed before new shingles are put on the building. The chimneys have been taken down below. deep to find the sewer pipe. New Business:

Rotation of Banks: Board members and Dr. Reinert discussed the idea of changing the rotation from three years (current cycle) to five years, which include First National Bank, State years, which include First National Bank, State National Bank and Farmers and Merchants State Bank. If the cycle would be changed from three to five years, it would mean a ten year cycle for each bank not to have the District's accounts. It is time consuming to switch from bank to bank every three years, to get familiar with one bank and then it is time to change again. No action was taken by the board.
