A car wash and omelet feed were among the activities held in Allen over the weekend. Both events were fund-raisers for the Allen High School Band. The band has been invited to participate in the Liberty Bowl in December and money raised will help offset the cost of the trip.

The Music Boosters

Barking dogs, chirping birds, clean cars, and hundreds of rummage sale items were a few of the sounds and sights in Allen last weekend.

Now in its third year. Mike and Val Isom's Fall Exotic Animal Swap Meet is becoming as popular as the spring

Nearly seventy vendors had a wide array of animals and merchandise to trade and sell to the many visitors to the Isom farm. The vendor coming the furthest was from Colorado Everyone enjoyed the games, feeding the animals, and browsing.

Capitalizing on the many visitors to Allen over the weekend, the Allen Band students continued their fund raising activities to cover the cost of attending and participating in the Liberty Bowl parade and half-time show this December.

Seventy-eight vehicles, including a bus and semi truck, were washed inside and out. Vehicles were lined up for a block from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and students and parents had a fourcar assembly line in operation the entire five hours.

The Isom Swap Meet continued on Sunday with vendors and visitors enjoying the animals and beautiful omelet breakfast in Larry Koester's Pioneer Seed Building on Sunday from 8 a.m. to, 1:30 p.m. Food and materials were donated by M.G. Waldbaum, Security National Bank, Crystal Farms, Wells Blue Bunny, Farmers Co-op, Kevin and LeAnn Hoffman, and Jeff and Roxie Sievers.

Workers were members of the band and their parents, First Lutheran Church of Allen, and Trinity Lutheran Church of Martinsburg. Matching funds came from the AAL branches 1443 and 9784.

Hundreds of people enjoyed the meal, and the band came one step closer to reaching its financial goal.

Looks like we're back in the saddle again

By Kristine Kopperud

This morning my odometer reads 1000.8 miles. In a car, I would barely be off the dealer's lot, but average ing 10 miles an hour, that number means I have been peddling my mountain bike for nearly a month, following the Continental Divide through the portions of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, and Utah not threatened by wildfire.

Why would an English major from Nebraska venture on Western gravel and dirt roads so blindly- and in the worst fire season in half a century? Well, the seedling idea for this trip, a mapped by the Adventure Cycling Association (www.aca.com), grew out of my fiance Ryan's imagi-

Fascinated by the solitude and rigors of backcountry travel, Ryan pored over the ACA's maps and had little trouble inspiring my interest in the wilds of the American Rockies. The mapped trail meanders over logging, mining, and United States Forest Service roads, climbing over the Continental Divide 26 times. "bikepackers," we would filter water from the region's natural waterways and buy food where the trail dropped into towns.

So, in mid-August we packed camping essentials, a meager assortment of cycling and keep-you-warm clothes, and four days' worth of food into our single-wheel trailers and heaved out of Grave Creek Camporound, near Eureka, Mont.

My parents, brother and grandmother had graciously shuttled us north to this starting point, and I was not surprised to see that they mirrored both our excitement and apprehension. We would meet again after Ryan and I had pedaled 2,400 miles to the New Mexican border with Mexico- a journey touted as 62 days of ambitious riding.

Kristine Kopperud and her flance, Ryan, pause for a well deserved break on the 2,400 mile bike trip they are on that follows the Continental Divide.

As least that was the plan. We slowly climbed the Whitefish Divide the first day and ended the second day with a grueling 12 mile ascent to Red Meadow Lake. Our legs, hands, and shoulders complained so loudly that I hardly had room in my journal to etch my experience of anything else. However the avalanche chutes, mountains' prime terrain for grazing grizzlies. were carpeted with wildflowers, and countless streams rushed along, cold and clear. When the minor aches of riding did not consume my attention, I wondered why anyone would choose to travel sterile pave-

But when we stopped at Glacier Cyclery, a renowned bike shop in Whitefish, Mont., rumor had it that the state and national forests along our route were closing due to fire danger. By the time we descended to the city of Big Fork, on Flathead Lake, smoke lingered on the horizon daily. Montana's parks did indeed close, and we grudgingly took to the pavement, winding haphazardly south. While highway miles ease the legs, they sear the mind: I suspect that even seasoned bikers brace themselves, white-knuckled with caution, when traffic roars within inches of disaster.

But most drivers courteously skirt around us, particularly when the road's shoulder is unfriendly. And we have stumbled upon more than our share of luck. We have been invited to camp in more than one backyard, and, to our delight, a unique job opportunity distilled from friendly conversation. We plan to return to the wintry wilds of Lincoln, Mont, to mush sled dogs and learn leatherwork and mule packing from a family of earnest outfitters

Adventure seems to cull still more adventure. I imagine, as I climb and coast through lush aspen and arid sage brush alike, that each pedal stroke leaves a tiny mark, my energy, my thanks for an ever-extraordinary experience.

Sunscreened and strong-legged, I hum bits of song to my odometer, which cheerfully blinks my progress from its position on my handlebar. I rejoice as I report this millennial mileage mark. I know it is not likely to be my last.

Approval was also given for evaluating, trouble shooting and work time to upgrade the city's current computer system, Immediate needs will be addressed by late December this year and other items addressed in an on-going process.

The firm of Carlson West Povondra & Assoc. of Omaha was chosen as the architectural firm for the Community Activity Center. They will work with the City Administrator, the construction manager and the Activity Center committee to design and help select the site for the Community Activity Center.

Three public hearings will be held during the council's Sept. 26 meeting.

The first deals with a re-zoning request from Diane and Randy Pick; the second a re-zoning request from

Jim and Leo Casey and the third involves a Use by Exception Permit application from Stanly McAfee to convert a structure on Main Street into a two family dwelling unit.

The council approved a recommendation for the city attorney regarding an agreement with Alley Poyner Architecture, P.C. regarding the City Auditorium renovation. Earlier there was concern over wording in the agreement between the firm and the city that would have held the architects harmless if their assumptions were incorrect. That wording has been removed from the agreement.

A sad day

It was a sad day for others and me when I learned that Coach Bobby Knight had been fired from the University of Indiana. For over 29 years Coach Knight had lead the Hoosiers to three national championships and over a dozen Big 12 championships. Many people will miss him, many will not.

I met Coach Knight years ago while I was working at the Linton Daily Citizen. I had the opportunity to take photos of all the home games at Assembly Hall in Bloomington. I was there when Coach Knight threw the chair across the floor in a fit of rage at the officials. It hit the cheerleader just in front of me. My friends have said I was two feet away from immortality. Maybe I was, but hopefully, I will be known for more than that. Many say his rage was uncontrollable — at times it was. He lost many great players because they did not understand why he came unglued every time they did not do things his way. Those who did, came to know a man who wanted only their best efforts and would settle for nothing less. But most of the time his rage was for show

I later found out that he had a tee time in 45 minutes. He did it for a reason, right or wrong. He wanted to get his players' attention; the team had lost three in a row and he wanted to wake them up. His reasoning worked. Indiana won the game and the University of Indiana did nothing about it.

But times have changed and Coach Knight has not. His sins of the past caught up with him and his employer demanded a change. He said he would, but he found out he couldn't. For the past five years he has ruled more by intimidation than by skill, when his skill was needed most.

I still believe he has a greater mind for basketball than any human being in my lifetime. He has just lost touch with being understanding and forgiving.

fam going to miss Coach Knight walking the sidelines, not for his fits of temper, but for his genius.

Wayne State student explores prairie fire effects be 1.6 million acres in Arizona, California, Idaho. Oklahoma, Texas, Utah arid Wyoming, according to the National Interagency Fire Center in

As fires burn in a dozen U.S. states, one Wayne State College student watches the fire reports with increased understanding. Kristene Strait of Gillette, Wyoming grew up near Yellowstone National Park. She said her background has made her familiar with how fire affects nature's restoration process.

"I have a big interest in prairie and the effects of fire," Strait said.

A senior biology major with a minor in chemistry, Strait presented her research project, "Effects of Aqueous Smoke Extract on the Germination of Select Tallgrass Prairie Species," as one of the botany sessions at the North American Prairie Conference, July 16-20, in Mason City, Iowa.

Last semester Strait's undergraduate research abstact was accepted for the conference. Her research involved looking at the effects of smoke on the germination of tall grass prairie species. Strait said she looked at four different grasses and 11 different forbs (herbs other than grass). There was an enhancement germination in three of four Strait said she would use a native grass such as big bluestem, set it on fire in a can, force the smoke through water and then apply the aqueous smoke extract to the seeds.

"Kristene was one of few undergraduates presenting among primarily professionals and graduate students. There were approximately 600 individuals attending from across the United States and Canada," said Dr. Mark Hammer associate professor of biology in the math-science division at WSC Strait said the conference included people from the Midwest who are active in restoring tall grass prairie, including professors and other individuals from nature conservation groups.

Beginning her research during her junior year. Strait said she hopes to expand on her project until her expected graduation in May 2001.

"I've learned a lot about the research process. I'm hoping to go into the biological field. This project has helped me discover more about applications for the field of biology. I felt like a scientist for a week. It felt really good to make my presentation and interact with people in the field," Strait said.

Strait's WSC activities include women's basketball and Student Athlete Advisory Committee. She is the daughter of Allen and Nancy

Political hupla will continue as election day comes closer

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Now is the time for all good parents to talk to their children. Not one of those back-to-school talks, or birds and bees talks, or dope and booze talks. It's time for an autumn-in-theelection-year talk.

Yeah, I know. It's a toughie for certain. Potentially ugly.

Sometimes the need for this talk is readily apparent. For example, when a child comes home, gleefully bellowing through a youthful smile, "Mommy, Daddy! Mommy, Daddy! Everything's going to be okay! Everything's going to be okay!"

Any parent worth the name would know that someone more insidious than a dope dealer had gotten to the little booger. And appropriate interrogatories would

"Who told you that crap?" might realistically reflect the response that junior or sis could expect from dad. Mother might be more inclined toward: "Really, dear? Well, tell me

And of course the kid would tell. "The man on TV said it will all be okay. You and daddy are always talking about taxes and losing the farm and working too hard, and that there's too much crime and grandma can't afford those pills the doctor gives her and terrorists might get us and it don't rain enough! But now, it's gonna' be okay!" says the loving child.

Volunteers risk their lives to help those in need

Dear Editor,

In today's society, where would our country, or world, be without volunteers?

THANK YOU to the men and women who give so freely of them-selves to watch over us as we sleep, drive, work, play, live.

THANK YOU for taking time for training to help us when we are hurt or our homes and businesses are burning. THANK YOU for missing Easter dinner with your family; cake and ice cream at your daughter's birthday party and parents' night for son's football team to help another person in need. THANK YOU for leaving your job to help save a burning building, knowing you will be losing wages that support your family.

THANK YOU, because of your training, for being the one your employers call on to help an injured co-worker, never expecting compensation for your help.

Majority rules in democratic society

Dear Editor,

Another reply to Mr. Baumgart. I too, have been disappointed with some things that have taken place in our town, but majority rules. That is the democratic form of government.

What Mr. Baumgart should lobby the council for is the real root of the problem, landlords renting sleeping space without off-street parking

ATTEND LIBRARY MEETING

Library board members, Barbara Brazie, Harry Mills and Eugene Swanson and Librarian Nancy Fredrickson, representing Graves Public Library, participated in the Trustee Training Workshop held Aug. 24 at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

Almost 60 people were in attendance as presenter Pat Wagner from Pattern Research in Colorado covered the legal and financial duties of the library board and reviewed Nebraska statutes regarding libraries. Policies, guidelines for productive board meetings and the roles and responsibilities of the library staff were discussed.

Building networks with better libraries as the goal was the focus of this workshop, sponsored by the Northeast Library System. The system provides a variety of services and grants to libraries of all types in the 20-county area of Northeast Nebraska.

ANNUALS ARRIVE

The 1999-2000 Wakefield High Schools annuals have arrived and are ready to be picked up. Please see Jennifer Goos during school hours. Her room is in the new high school computer lab (former Library room).

There are a few extra year-books available for anyone who did not order during the school year.
CLASS OF 1950 HOLDS REUNION

The Wakefield Class of 1950 marked the 50th anniversary of their graduation with a reunion at St. John's Lutheran Church in July.

Meeting for lunch served by the ladies of the congregation were Verna Mae Bartels Krause, Belva Manske Forsberg, Albert Lundahl Panning, Geraldine Echtenkamp Kinney, Lois Anderson Felt, Avanelle Brown Bond, Alice Wiggains Hoschar, Clinton Carr, Donald Park, Keith Lueders, Derald Nimrod, Duane Bokemper, Tom Swenson, John Nelson, Mylajean Pearson Coan and John Felt.

In addition to the class members there were 12 guests (spouses and family) present.

family) present.

The afternoon was spent reminiscing and a short program was presented. The deceased members, Robert Dahlgren, Larry McQuistan and William Spenner; were members with a short memorial tribute.

Ms. Kinney passed away three weeks after the reunion on July 20.

Twenty-four of 26 surviving class members sent greetings which were made into a booklet to share.

ATTEND DAY CAMP

Eight members of Wakefield Girl Scout troop joined over 40 scouts from Winside, Carroll and Wayne in Day Camp. The camp was held at the Girl Scot cabin in Wayne in mid-August, with one overnight stay.

Taking part from Wakefield were Tina Roberts, Kelsey Bard, Cortnie Allvin, Carly Gardner, Crystal Phipps, Chelsea Sherer, Nicole Kramer and Allison Haglund. Adult helpers and leaders were Jeri Sherer, Tony Haglund, Connie Roberts and Val Bard.

SERVES ON REAL STAFF

Educator Jennifer Goos served on the staff of the REAL Institute held July 8- 15 at St. Edward's University in Austin, Texas.

The Institute, an intensive 40-hour residential program for high school and post-secondary teachers, is sponsored by REAL Enterprises (Rural Entrepreneurship through Action Learning), a national non-profit based in Durhan, N.C. that promotes hands-on entrepreneurial education.

The Institute in Austin drew participants from 16 states and was led by a staff of 10, including Goos.

Goos was selected from the staff in recognition of her accomplishments teaching an entrepreneur class at Wakefield Community School and for her contributions to the quality and growth of the program nationwide. Gair McCollough, who coordinates the Institutes nationally said, "It's people like lennifer who have earned REAL its reputation for high quality teacher training. She was a big part of the Institute's success."

For more information about the local REAL program, contact Jennifer Goos at Wakefield Community school or visit the national REAL website at www.realenterprises.Org.

DONATES MONIES

Anna Anderson recently donated $2,000 to the Wakefield Health Care Center. She designated that her gift be used for landscaping of the front lawn of the new Assisted Living Wing.

Trees and shrubs will be purchased with the money, according to Administrator Terry Hoffman, as well as helping to pay for a sprinkler system for the lawn.

Anna is a resident of the Care Center.

The Wakefield Health Care Center greatly appreciates gifts such as Anna's which help improve the quality of life for Wakefield Health Care residents. If you would like to contribute to a center project, please contact Administrator Hoffman.

Wayne State to host art exhibition

The Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery at Wayne State College will be the setting for the "Ephemeral Forest," a creative collaboration of two Lincoln artists, Wendy Weiss and Jay Kreimer, during an exhibition, Aug. 30 through Sept. 22.

"Ephemeral Forest" weaves sound as well as textiles. Weiss created weavings that are shaped on the loom as one continuous fabric, but branch out into space as trees and other organic forms. The textiles are woven with nylon monofilament, wire, linen, cotton and silk thread.

Kreimer developed a sound score that is embedded in the space. The viewer triggers the shifting sound. Crinkling of leaves in wind, water flowing, fire crackling and roaring, a faint groan in the distance, emerge, fade and combine as the viewer/participant moves through the installation.

The sounds create a 360° sphere of experience, immersing the viewer, allowing the viewer to shift from observer to participant. The weavings sparkle like a fantastic forest. Handmade linen paper forms suggest architectural and talismanic forms. Wires protrude from weavings like thorns.

Wendy Weiss has been creating textile environments since 1982. She is University of Nebraska-Lincoln associate professor of textiles, clothing and design. Musician and sound designerjay Kreimer has been exploring possibilities from invented acoustic instruments to electronic manipulations since 1976.

Herbs for Health
Grape Seed Extract:
Powerful Antioxidant

Several nutrients have antioxidant activity, including vitamin A, betacarotene, vitamin C and E, and the mineral selenium. Other materials from nature also contain antioxidants - chemicals that neutralize "free radicals." Free radicals are highly reactive molecules that bind with and destroy body components. Aging and development of cancer and other diseases may be due in part to free radical activity. Antioxidant nutrients render free radicals nonreactive.

Grape seeds contain flavonoids - a group of antioxidants compounds. The flavonoids in grape seeds are referred to as proceemadolic oliomers. The abbreviations PCO or OPC often are need for these specific flavonoids. PCOs are-20 times more potent than vitamin C and 50 times more potent than vitamin E in regard to antioxidant activity.

Studies have shown that grape seed extracts are beneficial in improving circulation, particularly in the eye. In one study persons with no retinal problems received 200 mg/day of PCOs. After 5 weeks their visual performance had improved over a control group that did not receive PCOs.

Wayne drills West Point, 28-6

The Wayne football team upped their record to 2-0 on the season with a 28-6 win over West Point in the home opener last Friday night.

D-E-F-E-N-S-E dictated the outcome as Wayne dominated, allowing West Point just 94 total yards— 65 on a touchdown run with under three minutes remaining in the game.

The visiting Cadets were limited to just three, first downs and just 33 plays on offense.

"No doubt our defense dominated the game," Wayne coach John Murtaugh said. "The kids did a good job of shutting down their Brady Heithold caught a 28-yard touchdown pass from Brad Hochstein to give Wayne a 7-0 lead after one quarter of play.

That lead doubled by halftime as Hochstein rumbled in from 12 yards out on a successful option play.

Trevor Wright banged home a couple of three-yard touchdown runs in the fourth quarter for a 28-0 advantage before the Cadets scored a late touchdown.

"Our special teams play was solid and we are becoming more consistent on offense," Murtaugh added. "We did a better job of taking care of the ball."

Adam Jorgensen led Wayne's ground attack with 78 yards on 18 carries while Matt Webb rambled 67 yards on 13 carries. Trevor Wright rushed for 25 yards.

Hochstein was 4-9 through the air for 65 yards and Shane Baack was 2-7 for 26 yards.

Caleb Garvin had three receptions for 43 yards and Ethan Mann had two catches for 20 yards while Brady Heithold's lone catch went for 28 yards and a score.

Trevor Wright led the defense with 11 tackles while Tyler Jorgensen and Brad Hochstein had seven each. Ethan Mann and Shane Baack each had an interception and Jason Rethwisch recovered a fumble.

Murtaugh said he was pleased with the offensive and defensive line play of loe Dangberg.

play of Joe Dangberg. Wayne netted 227 rushing yards and 91 passing yards for a 318-94 total yard advantage.

The Blue Devils will host Stanton on Thursday night at 7 p.m. and Wayne State College.

The Wayne girls golf team struggled with the putters at the 20-team Pierce Invite last Saturday.

The putting woes cost the Blue Devils a first place trophy as they settled for runner-up honors with a 391. O'Neill was the team champs with a 384. Planview was third at 394 and Oakland-Craig was fourth at 403 followed by Norfolk Catholic at 404. Wakefield finished 14th at 477.

Individually, Monica Novak led Wayne with a sixth place score of 93 while Kari Harder carded a 94 and eighth place.

Army Harder settled for a 102 as did Karla Keller. Lindsay Stoltenberg finished at 103.

"Right now our putting is pathetic," coach Dave Hix said. "We are not mentally preparing ourselves to play 18 holes. We had a 10 stroke lead after nine holes of the tournament and gave up 17 strokes on the back nine."

Hix said the greens were slick and in some tough spots. "We are not even playing close to our potential at this point," Hix said. "All five of our girls shot worse on the seed in nine—and it's the same nine hoises."

Wayne will visit the same course on Thursday for a triangular with Pierce and Cedar Catholic before playing at the Albion Invite on Saturday.

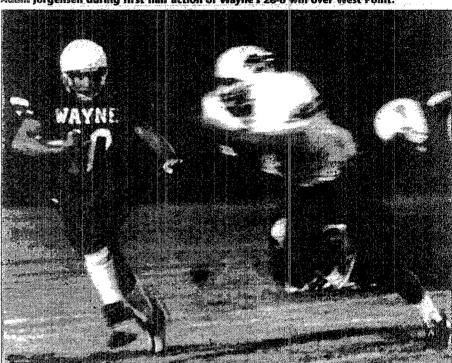

The Blue Devils will host Stanton and Lakeview on Tuesday.

WAKEFIELD WAS LED at the

Pierce Invite by Melanie Keim with a 110 with Andrea Salmon netting a 117 and Jenna Paulson, 120. Jessica Dutcher finished at 130 and Missy Moody, 138.

Blue Devil senior fullback Trevor Wright breaks free with the aid of solid blocking by Adam Jorgensen during first half action of Wayne's 28-6 win over West Point.

Winside football team defeated

The Winside football team slipped to 0-2 on the season with a 26-14 loss to Emerson-Hubbard last Friday night in Emerson.

The contest was tied at halftime before Emerson took a 19-14 lead into the fourth quarter.

Dustin Wade and Adam Hoffman each scored on running plays for Winside

Wade ran for 122 yards on 20 carries with Adam Hoffman and Eric Vanosdall each garnering 24 yards rushing.

Hoffman was 0-5 through the air. Winside was penalized eight times for 82 yards and the Wildcats were out-yarded by a 294-194 margin.

Nate Trautman led the Wildcats on defense with 11 tackles while Ben Lienemann had 10. Eric Vanosdall and Scott Marotz finished with nine tackles each.

The Wildcats will host Wakefield on Friday night.

WSC gets thumped by SDSU

The Wayne State football team lost its second game of the season last Saturday. The second Top 25 team in two weeks for the Wildcats, South Dakota State took no prisoners in their 65-3 route of the visiting

It was the largest defeat margin for WSC since Pittsburg State pounced the 'Cats 76-6 in 1987.

South Dakota State racked up 494 yards of total offense during the game. The Wildcats accumulated 135 yards, rushing for 119 and passing for another 16.

SDSU managed 274 yards on the ground and another 220 through the air. Wayne State gave up four interceptions while SDSU played without turnovers.

Wildcat starting quarterback Brandon Lavaley was injured in the first half. He left the game with a broken clavicle. This was a factor in the offense's trouble getting the ball into the scoring position Eric Kjar and Justin Burhoop shared time at quarterback and will battle for the position in the remaining weeks.

Coach Scott Hoffman described the injury to his quarterback. "We had a breakdown in blocking on both sides. One from the tackle on the right side and one from the tight end on the left. It was a freak thing and both guys hit him. He's going to be done for three to four

He added, "He's almost becoming like a coach for the quarterbacks which really helps us."

SDSU owned the rest of the game, racking up 38 points by halftime and shutting out the Wildcats the rest of the way. Quick scoring by SDSU plagued the Wildcats.

Their longest time of possession on a scoring drive was just over four Punt returns and big plays kept the Wildcats from establishing themselves defensively.

Coach Hoffman said field position was never in WSC's favor, mainly because the 'Cats were facing the wind in the critical second and third quarters. This factor made it difficult to pass and even harder to

"We had to go three downs and out and then punt. A lot of times we'd punt into that wind and they'd end up with short drives. It was 38-3 at half and it just kept getting worse from there, but I don't think they're 62 points better than us. It's hard to say when we played the way

overtime victory

Justin Smith's Wakefield football team captured an overtime victory over Homer last Friday night in Wakefield, 13-6.

The 1-1 Trojans got a 13-yard pass from Ross Hansen to Ty Nixon for the game winner

The game was tied at six at half as Wakefield scored on a one-yard run by Nate Nicholson.

"We played very good defense and cut down on our mistakes." Smith said. "We finally got a little offense going but need more to compete in our district. We were just in better shape and wanted it more against Homer."

Wakefield amassed 271 total yards of offense while Homer netted

Ross Hansen was 6-13 through the air for Wakefield for 85 yards Nixon had two receptions for 39 yards and Ryan Carson had two catches for 36 yards while Luke Hoffman had one reception for 24

The Laurel-Concord Bears christened a new football field last Friday night in winning fashion

The Bears did not light up the scoreboard, scoring just seven points but their defense was solid, pitching a shutout as Mike Halley's team improved to 2-0 on the year with a 7-0 blanking of Pender

The Bears may have been a little fighter on their feet at the start of the game after the NSAA Board granted senior Seppo Evwaraye approval to play football beginning with the Sept. 22nd battle at home against Ponca.

Evwaraye, already signed to play for Nebraska beginning in the 2001 season, was one of a handful of student-athletes given a scholarship to play football before his senior year had even begun.

Tom and Don had gotten to the pond about 5:30 p.m. and had taken a few birds by the time Larry and I arrived.

Through trial and error, we'd figured out that the best dove hunting was later in the day when the birds went to roost. Doves will feed heavily on weed and grain seed before heading for the roost. On the way, they'll generally stop by the pond and quench their thirst before turning in for the night.

As Larry and I worked our way to the dam, Tom dropped a bird over the dam and my Lab Duke retrieved it and another that Tom had in the

There are several advantages to being the hunter with the dog when hunting doves. First off, I have an extra set of eyes looking skyward and Duke's actions let me know if he has something spotted. The big thing is that Duke retrieves to me, so I had two birds in my game bag, both Toms and I hadn't fired a shot!

As expected, about 45 minutes to an hour prior to sundown, the doves started winging into the dam in groups of two and three.

This is the time of the day when if it's going to happen you'll have non stop shooting. You noticed I said shooting and not bagging Doves. The national average of Dove hunters is eight to 10 shells per bird and I can honestly say that our group held up our part in keeping that average up.

We were shooting 28, 20 and 12 gauge shotguns and needed up with about 30 birds, which isn't bad because many of the birds in our area had migrated because of a few cool nights.

When you hunt Doves be sure to purchase a good quality shell. It doesn't take much to down a Dove, but you need a good shot pattern. I use 7 1/2, 8 or 9 shot. In my 12 gauge I use I 1/8 ounce of shot as the 7/8 and 1 ounce loads just won't pattern well in my gun.

Th key to bagging Doves are the items I mentioned earlier and to locate your hunters on flight paths into the pond.

Doves, like all species of wildlife, will take the easiest route to food and water. Small valleys or drainage's leading into a pond are good places to set up. The washouts or low spots help to hade the hunter and are generally the path the Doves like to follow into the dam.

Many area hunters are anxiously walting for the next season to open, which is the Grouse and Prairie aging through withdrawal systems and are counting the days, hours and minutes until the season opens.

Several hunters in the area are packing their bags and heading north into Canada to get in on some early season waterfowl hunt-

No matter what type of hunting tickles your fancy, it won't be long before the sky will be filled with waterfowl and the waterfowl and Pheasant hunters will be heading to the blind and into the field.

According to early reports it tooks like our Pheasant and waterfowl seasons should be good ones this year.

Dust off your shotgun, grab a bunch of shells and get out while the weather is nice to sharpen your shooting skills, as the main hunting seasons are right around the corner.

WSC men tie for first at cross country meet

Bolstered by three runners finishing in the top seven, the Wayne State men's cross country team tied the team title, at the UNO/Creighton Cross Country Invite last Saturday. The Wildcat women's team placed fourth.

The 'Cats claimed a share of the team title with Creighton with 44 points, while the women's team had a team score of 116.

The Wildcat men were led by junior Tom Whisinnand, who finished third in a time of 26;14. Junior Andy Tucknott followed close behind in fifth place, 26:28. Junior Dustin Lippman was seventh in Rounding out the scoring for WSC was freshman Nick Hansen in 15th and freshman Brett Struebing in 16th.

"The men really ran a great race, first-year coach Marlon Brink said. "We set goals for the team this week and each person in the top five met their goal. I am pleased with where the team is at for this early in the season. They have been working school and now they are starting to enjoy some of the rewards from

Brink said his first three runners ran a solid race. "They packed together well for the first two to three miles, helped each other and then moved up when the others started to tire out," Brink said. "They are going to give us an excellent nucleus for this year's team."

The women were led by junior Darr Nickerson, who placed third on the 5,000 meter course in a time of 20:00. Senior Shannon Short finished 22nd in 22:13 while sophomore April Sachau placed 30th in

"Darr ran a very good race," Brink said. "She maintained contact with the lead group throughout the entire race and outkicked another girl down the homestretch to take third. I think she is picking up where she left off last year and is well on her way to another very successful season

Nerem recognized

Kristen Ann Nerem of Wayne, Big Sister in Big Brothers Big Sisters of Norfolk Area, Inc. has received the 2000 Valvoline Caring Hands Silver Award as Nebraska's Big Sister of the Year. She has been recognized for her accomplishments as a oneto-one youth mentor and for her volunteer and advocacy work for Big Brothers Big Sisters.

Nerem was also one of five finalists for National Big Sister of the Year. She has been matched for seven years to Little Sister Nicole Block, daughter of Bill Block of Pierce. Nerem is quite positive and confident as an adult and as a Big Sister. Her dedication and positive outlook has been a tremendous part of Nichole's life. She has encour-

The Big Brother Big Sister of the Year awards are an extension of Valvolene's "Caring Hands" partnership with BBBSA, which has a goal of raising $1 million for BBBSA (more than $500,000 to date) while recruiting new volunteer mentor "Bigs" for the organization. The "Caring Hands" program is the most ambitious cause-related endeavor Valvoline has undertaken in its 133-year history.

The Program includes trackside fund-raisers at Busch Series auto races and cash contributions to the program based on NASCAR superstar Mark Martin's on-track performance in the Valvoline #6 Ford

Big Brothers Big Sisters of America has been the nationally recognized leader in youth mentoring for almost 100 years. BBBS provides meaningful mentoring relationships for millions of children through its more than 500 affiliated agencies reaching 5,000 communities.

National research studies prove that children with a Big Brother or Big Sister have more positive attitudes towards school, achieve higher grades and have better school attendance, in addition, these children are less likely to use drugs and alcohol and exhibit violent behavior.

Counseling services available

Wayne State College is continuing its service to the citizens of Wayne area by offering counseling at no charge.

The services are available at the HELP Clinic in the Education Building of the Wayne State College campus. The counselors meet with individuals or groups to help empower individuals to resolve conflicts or promote personal growth. The services are provided by five counselors in training who have completed or are near completion of a Masters degree in human ser vice counseling.

A licensed psychologist supervises the counseling by reviewing videotapes of each session with the counselor. Confidentiality is stressed and tion of counseling.

Counseling sessions are scheduled at various times to benefit the schedules of all involved.

Anyone who would like further information is encouraged to call Dr. Keith Willis at (402) 375-7210. If you receive the answering machine, please leave a message

Appointments are based on the candidate's high school record, performance on either the SAT I or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school activities, community service and part-time employment. As we gear up for that usual bountiful time of the year, things may seem less abundant this fall.

A time of year when our farmers and the Ag business sector put in long hours in preparation for the winter months. This can be a stressful time of year, even when we have a bumper crop. It can even become more stressful when our grain carts come up short, for the bills must still be paid and the family must still be hopes that they don't have to put any extra money into their equipment and that everything will run smooth. However, if it doesn't always go as planned, and sometimes it won't. Some families may be face with more severe situations.

Some families are in need of immediate crisis intervention, while others could benefit from effective communication, problem solving and stress management techniques.

Many Nebraskan's find it difficult to admit they suffer stress overload as a result of significant or economic turndown. Some who realize the severity of their stressors fail to see how it could affect family and individual welt-being. Clergy, bankers and other human service professional may need to "gear up" to individuals exhibiting emotional trauma and relationship dysfunc-

While outsiders may perceive their financial crisis as a "business failure." farm families often view their financial loss in a much more personal manner. It affects the choices they make and can affect their individual and family wellbeing. It can be a crisis of tremendous emotion, one that threatens dignity and self-worth

Evaluating Individual and Family Well-Being

just as it is important to deter mine the farm's fiscal prognosis before designing an appropriate management strategy, it is important to family and individual wellbeing to identify symptoms or "clues" that can help determine family or individual needs.

In order to assist an individual or family who is experiencing a high stress overload, be alert to the following "clues" — they could be signs that a person or family is in a

1. Be aware of any noticeable changes in individual or family

 Extreme changes in physical appearance — dress could be very sloppy or it may change radically in style; • Withdrawal behavior or unusually outgoing behavior;

 Changes in routine, such as when a family who regularly attends church does not show up for sever al week

2. Monitor the behavior of the children. Adults can cut themselves off from the community, family and friends, but children remain in the public. They go to school and participate in activities. When the children are exhibiting emotional or social problems in school, the families may be having difficulties. Signs of depression are often seen first in children.

3. Know the signs of sulcide danger. A person may be at risk if has no concern for family: · Plans closure, buys life insurance, writes a will, reconciles friendships;

• Is withdrawn, spends more time alone;

 Shows drastic weight change either up or down;

· Lacks future orientation in conversation;

 Keeps feelings pent up, appears not to hurt:

Talks about suicide

How can individuals and families under duress be helped?

Individuals and families who have suffered significant loss, have experienced a significant decline in income, or are facing an imminent loss or decline, may be in a crisis situation. Since they are experiencing stress overload and may have one or more significant problems, they may need one or more types of

In working with individuals and families in crisis, it is important to remember these general guidelines.

1. Empathize with others and offer emotional support. They need to know someone is listening to them and someone cares. Let them know that it's O.K. to feel angry, anxious and to grieve a loss. We all have these feelings at different

2. Understand their reality What threatens or worries them is real for them. It may not carry the same significance for you, but that is not the other person. Listen - do not give advice --- just listen for understand-

3. Always express hope. These individuals or families have gone through many other crises and have survived. Families are survivors and may need to be reminded of their strengths and potential. Even though they have suffered significant loss, people still have their fam-

4. Offer options. If the individual is extremely depressed or making suicidal remarks, you may be able to help or you may need to refer that person to a helping group or qualified counselor.

So even if the grain bins are not as full this fall as they were a year ago, remember that we can have hope and turn to our families and friends to get us through the less prosperous times the state paper.

Gloria Leseberg introduced Pearl Hansen, Art instructor at Wayne State. Dr. Hansen gave an informative account of her recent trip to Russia with the Wayne State College Madrigal Group. She reported on a delightful trip - the people were friendly and their interpreters most helpful. The Russian people have rl an appreciation for literalways ic, painting and sculpture. There are 17 churches housed in the Kremlin.

The Madrigal group presented a concert in St. Andrew's Church in Moscow. In St. Petersburg the center of art is the Hermitage Museum. Peter the Great introduced various painters and sculptors from various European countries into Russia Today Soviet Art is of the realist school, reflecting political thought and everyday events. The trip taken by the Wayne State Madrigal group was sponsored by Fine International Association.

Dr. Hansen also brought memorabilia of her trip and played tapes of some of the music from concerts performed in Russia. The next meeting of the Retired

Teachers will be Monday, Nov. 6 at 9:30 a.m. at Tacos & More in Wayne. The Program Chairmen will be Lois Youngerman and Bette Please join us for a very special birthday party on Tuesday, Sept. 19, 2000!

Student Center Atrium 2:00-4:00 p.m.

You are cordially invited to join us as we commemorate the ninetieth anniversary of the first session of the State Normal School at Wayne (Wayne State College) which began on Sept. 19, 1910.

Because a primary mission of the State Normal School at Wayne was teacher education, special invitations are being extended to WSC area alumni who received a "two-thirds" teaching degree. Retired WSC faculty members and other friends of the college, current faculty, staff and students, as well as the public, are invited to the reception.

Please join us as we celebrate 90 years of education at Wayne State!

Crop Walk to be held in Wayne this fall

money to confront hunger around the world and around the block.

The Wayne walk is one of 2,000 held throughout the United States. Collectively, the walks will raise $15-$18 million.

Walkers will come together to spend a couple of hours walking in solidarity with each other as well as those around the world on whose behalf they are walking.

Last January, Linda Kemp, the regional CROP director, was in Honduras to visit those persons benefitting from local CROP Walks. While there she met the Dominguez family who have a better life thanks to CROP Walk dollars. Soltero, the father, works each day in the field to grow food for his family and to sell in the open-air market in town. At 4 p.m. each afternoon, he opens up the village library, which serves as a site for community meetings as well as a place for the children and adults to study and learn. While life is hard for them, it is much better longer has to spend three hours each day carrying water. The village, thanks to CROP Walk dollars, now has a safe water supply, right in the

When meeting with the villagers, including the Dominguez family, they expressed deep gratitude for what has been done for the people of their village by Church World Service (CROP)

The CROP Walk is making a difference in the lives of families, both in the Wayne area and around the world. Twenty-five percent of the money raised is returned to the community to help families and individuals.

For more information about the CROP Walk, contact Kemp's office at 1-888-CWS-CROP (297-2767).

THANKS FROM BOOSTERS & STUDENTS

The Allen Music Boosters and the Students of the Allen Consolidated Band would like to thank all those people who supported the August 27th Pancake Benefit/Raffle that was held in Dixon to help us raise money for the Liberty Bowl Trip.

There were many people who donated items for the raffle and many people donated their time to this fund raiser possible. A special "Thank You" to Eunie Diediker for organizing the fund raiser, to the Village of Dixon for the use of the auditorium and to the Fireman for volunteering their time to cook the eggs, pancakes, french toast and sausage. The event was a huge success. Thanks to all who attended!!!

Reflections given on Saturday's game

Another hot, windy day. The Big Farmer is out watering trees again. We can't spare the water for the lawn. I remember the guys com-plaining about the dust during harvest last year. Looks like the same story this fall, and we've seen combines out already.

Jon's girls gave me a darling shirt for my birthday that says "Grandma's pinups" and has a pocket for a picture. I wore it yesterday to a 70th birthday party for which the invitation said, red." Only, instead of the photo of Randa and Danica, I had a clipping of Eric Crouch.

I was worried about Notre Dame ever since they beat Texas A & M on opening day. That quarterback won the game for them, and the paper said we had never won in their stadium. It just kept talking about all that tradition, and I got more nervous every day.

When I first realized the game would be at South Bend, I hinted that it would be fun to take one of the tours. But we had other uses for the $2,000, for sure.

Then my brother Jim called to say he was going. A good friend is an Irish alum, and he had tickets. When Jim learned that Jon was coming, he ordered two Husker caps. Which ever team lost, that guy had to wear the other one's cap.

Since Gloria Lessman would be speaking at the LWML retreat in Omaha that day, I decided to go there and thus be spared the tension of watching.
When I left, shortly before 4, I called Mike. The score was 21-7, so I relaxed. Would you believe a wedding was just beginning at that church at that time?

I found the game on the car radio after going to a grocery store and it was 21-21! What had happened? I pulled over to listen until the time had run out. Then I put in gas and went through the car wash

Now, I headed south on Highway 50. I could not believe the defense held them. Next, we had the ball and Wistrom finally got the first down. Next, Alexander; and then, Crouch got it into the end zone! I honked the horn. I was now at the red light at 370. None of the other divers even looked like they were listening. What was the matter with them? My visions of my brother wearing that green cap disappeared. What a relief.

The party was for Marvin Maurer, retired school administrator, whose first teaching job was at Waco. So half a dozen of his former pupils were there, which was fun.

He always says when he drove down the main street in about 1953, there were still hitching posts in front of the stores. I don't remember that, but I'll take his word for it.

His daughter works at NU, and presented him with a giant card signed by the coaches and the team. There was live music, beer and brats, and lots of good conversation- A great way to end a busy weekend. And we are still #1, thanks to Georgia Tech.
