'CHDOs.'

Nebraska, however, has set aside 60 percent of its 2000 HOME allocation exclusively for its CHDOs.

"These organizations provide a variety of programs and service to ensure that Nebraskans get every available opportunity to realize the dream of homeownership," said Governor Johanns. "We're happy to partner in these substantial efforts to improve and build on our state's reputation for offering families a high standard of quality living."

Depression Caused by Vitamin Deficiency?

According to a report in American Journal Psychiatry, older women with vitamin B-12 deficiencies may be at increased risk for severe depression. This link etween B-12 and depression was discovered by National Institute on Aging researchers who studied disabled women over age 65 years living in their communities - not in nursing homes or psychiatric institutions. The risk of depression in these women was more than twice as high in B-12 deficient women as compared to women with adequate B-12 in their bloodstreams. In severely depressed women, 27% were vitamin B-12 deficient; 15% of non-depressed women were B-12 deficient.

Past research in institutionalized women revealed this link between B-12 deficiency and depression. According to the report, it has not been determined if giving B-12 supplements will relieve depression.

The Library

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

"The more original a discovery, the more obvious it seem afterwards."— Arthur Koestler

The Wayne Public Library is proud to announce the Trustees, Users & Friends Section of the Nebraska Library Association has awarded Patrick Gross with the "2000 Trustee Citation Award." This award is given annually to an individual who has exhibited outstanding leadership contributing to the advancement of Library services in Nebraska. Mr. Gross will accept his award during the Nebraska Library Association's Convention in Omaha next month, Mr. Gross has contributed his time. energy and inspiration to realizing the dream of the Wayne Public The staff and citizenry of Wayne salute his ongoing dedication and service to this community.

Because September is Library Card Sign-up Month, we would like to take this opportunity to explain why Non-Resident library cards cost $20 and Resident cards are seemingly "free." As you can imagine, nothing in life is really free; we simply ask our non-resident patrons to pay their library fees up front while residents pay their fees via their annual property tax bills. The library is funded through the property taxes of city residents. People who live outside the city of Wayne do not pay city property tax and must therefore pay a fee to use the library. The amount charged non-resident families is the same as the per capita tax rate assessed city residents. To be considered a Resident you must either the city limits of Wayne, b) attend Wayne State College or of Wayne but own a business or other property in the city. Because our mission is public service, we would be only too happy to explain how our registration procedure or other policies work, so don't be shy about asking us questions.

The "Grandmapa Program" sponsored by the Library kicks off this month and will continue throughout the school year, concluding in May. This program connects special grandmas and grandpas to preschool children at area daycare homes. "Grandmapas" read stories, play theme related games and share laughter and hugs with the children. Please contact Peggy Nelson (Children's Librarian) at 375-3135 if you think you might like to volunteer for this rewarding program.

Do you need space for a meeting in a hurry? Would your book club like to meet regularly at a neutral spot where no housecleaning is required? Think of the Conference Room located at the Library/ Senior Center. The policies for using this room have recently been re-vamped. Reservations should now be made through the Library (375-3135). Two days' notice would be nice but next day notice is accepted. The hours available are 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. or the opening hours of the Library/ Senior Center. Non-profit groups will be required to make a $25 deposit for room use. This fee is completely refundable once the room has been inspected for damage. The rental fee of $25 is non-refundable for for-profit groups. So whether you'd like to meet regularly or at the last minute, keep the Library/ Senior Center Conference Room in mind. ANNOUNCEMENT: Computer classes will be returning in October!

Now is the time for those of you who have expressed interest in attending our classes to give us a call & sign-up for upcoming classes. The Library plans to offer classes once a month, every month, alternating afternoon and evening sessions to accommodate the ne our patrons. We will start with our beginning Internet class and branch to more advanced classes in the future

We apologize for the recent confusion regarding our operating hours. The Library now has Year Round Hours: Noon to 8:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday; 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday; noon to 6 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. From Labor Day to Memorial Day, the Library will offer Sunday hours from 2 to 5 p.m. No Sunday hours in the summer. Because a primary mission of the State Normal School at Wayne was teacher education, special invitations had been extended to Wayne State College area alumni who received a "two-thirds" teaching degree from the college. Many of these alumni went on to receive bachelor's and advanced degrees, as well.

Retired faculty members and other friends of Wayne State College, current faculty, staff and students, as well as the public, were also invited to attend the day's activities.

Following the program, tours of the campus were provided. One of the tour highlights was the country school museum, which is located near the Peterson Fine Arts Building. Many of those stopping in the school reminisced about teaching in a one-room school following their college days at Wayne State College.

"We're pleased that so many were able to attend Wayne State's 90th birthday party," said Judy Johnson, director of college rela-"Teacher education has always been an important part of Wayne State College, so it was great to have an opportunity to welcome alumni and friends to the campus to celebrate our history.

Editorials-Consider electrical change carefully

Nebraska has a great thing going with its system of public power. Nebraska is the only state in America that is totally served by a power system that delivers electricity as a non-profit service to customers who are also its owners. This system represents billions of dollars of investment in our state and provides electricity at rates among the lowest in the nation.

However, change could be on the horizon, because of a law passed by the U.S. Congress in 1992. The Federal Energy Policy Act allowed for competition in the electric utility industry. States throughout the nation are currently in varying stages of deregulation: some implementing changes, others conducting studies, and some choosing not to do anything. To get a better understanding of the impacts this change could bring to our state, the Legislature conducted a three-year study, which concluded in late 1999.

L.R. 455, as the study was know, examined how Nebraska-would compete in a deregulated environment. It included participants from the electric utility industry, state senators and others knowledgeable about the economic impacts of deregulation. The study recommended a two phase approach and stipulated that Nebraska should adhere to a "condition-certain" timeline instead of setting a date for deregulation to occur. It concluded that Nebraska faces a very different set of circumstances from other states.

During the 2000 Legislative session, the Unicameral passed Legislative Bill 901that implemented some of the study recommendations. This law directs the Nebraska Power Review Board to monitor deregulation issues and report annually to the Legislature and the Governor regarding the status of the state's electric system.

Many factors contribute to the success of the public power systern in Nebraska, but local control is the key ingredient. Governance is divided into municipal systems, public power districts and rural electric cooperatives. Governing boards act on behalf of the public by setting rates, approving budgets and overseeing quality of service. No other state makes such a local commitment of providing an essential service to its residents.

For more than 70 years, public power has served Nebraska well. In the future Nebraska may begin to see for-profit companies offer public power customers an alternative. When deregulation occurs, public power will compare favorably with these investor-owned utilities. Public power customers can also rest assured that Nebraska utilities will continue to focus on the best interests of the entire state and provide a return on your investment in the form of low cost, reliable electricity.

Public Power in Nebraska: It's Your Power.

Teacher salaries debated

By Ed Howard Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Legislature's Committee could make a very loud statement when it considers the recommendations of a task force that looked into the fuss over the salaries teachers receive in Nebraska:

A vote by the task force earlier this month rejected the notion of having the Legislature set a minimum salary for teachers that would apply

statewide

The 12-7 vote reflected a majority belief that the market should con tinue to be the deciding factor in teacher pay. That is, local school boards can negotiate a deal with teachers and their union.

In August, task force member Brian Maher made clear why some school districts pay low salaries: Because they can. Maher, superintendent of Centennial Public School District in Utica, cited state law which requires teacher pay that is "comparable" to that in similar communities.

Boosting teacher pay at the local level could mean boosting local property tax burdens, a move rivaling the drought in popularity.

The Education Committee can do what it wishes with the task force recommendation. Whatever the committee decision, it will be a central element in future legislative debate on whether the state should play a direct role in boosting pay for teachers - through a mandated, minimum salary, more state aid to local schools (which means sending more state sales and income tax dollars to them) or something else.

The economy might be booming in general, but this is a drought year for grain farmers, specifically. Times of economic difficulty for farmers are generally perceived as bad times for proposals to spend more state dollars to enhance pay for one group of public employees or another. You might get away with yet another tax break for business by arguing that reducing tax burdens might ultimately boost the economy through more and better jobs down the road. But shelling out more money for those who are getting a paycheck funded by taxpayers? Not likely.

The Nebraska State Education Association, the statewide teachers' union, has led one fight after another to secure better pay for its members. These battles have ranged from constitutional amendments to legislative proposals. They all receive substantial news coverage and publicity in general - and that might be part of their problem within the public eye.

Property taxes are generally (and traditionally) despised. Today, property taxes go mostly to fund education. It might be unfair, but a great many taxpayers have come to see teachers, collectively, as perpetual consumers of tax dollars who are perpetually and noisily after more and more tax dollars.

Education is like health care and potable water and a dependable food supply. A society that doesn't have systems to deliver those things, with quality and quantity, is headed for trouble. That reality does not necessarily change human nature, which in local, state, nationat and world affairs, has sometimes tired ef a problem's very eristance and concluded: "We don't want to hear about it and we don't want to pay more for it and that's it."

Thus, we pay our money (or not) and take our chances.

College president explains position on off-campus party incident 网络电影性影响

To the Wayne State Community: Twain once observed, "Reports of my death have been greatly exaggerated." When I read about the recent concerns of students with our community of Wayne, I take them seriously. Yet the more I look into them, the more I think they have been greatly exaggerated.

As a campus last year, we reaffirmed our commitment to community, defined simply as our sense of connection and mutual support with all students and employees of the College. I interpret the sense of community more broadly, as I think does Dr. Mark Leeper, author of the Forum in last week's Wayne Stater. Clearly he cares about students and their feeling of acceptance in our small college town.

Dean Curt Frye and other members of my administration share this concern. It led us to visit with representatives of the city and the police department when we heard from several students that they felt targeted and disrespected in a house-party incident.
We conveyed their concerns to the city administrator who wasted no time inviting us to visit with him and with representatives of the police department. We found that our police officers do not relish the higher profile that college students have in a small town. They advised us of a policy they are trying out that is less likely to target every underage student at a party, but rather to focus on those who are providing alcohol to minors. This was not a policy that had been discussed with us in advance, but when we listened to it as a possible approach, it seemed worth a try.

I can't speak for the Wayne police, but my understanding is that in their judgment it will help them to do their job in a way that is more student-friendly than in many other college communities. If they give a different impression, they are sincere in asking students to visit with them personally to suggest other approaches that meet their legal and community obligations while being as respectful as possible of Wayne State College students.

We were pleased to learn that the students at the previously mentioned house party, who under the law could have been cited with MIPs, would instead be referred to the Dean of Students. Dean Frye has plenty to do without visiting with every student cited for MIP. My impression was that it was a shortterm solution for the weekend in question. Rather than have quite a few students start the school year with a $250 fine and a misdemeanor on their records, Dean Frye agreed to visit with the students involved. No student's financial aid or permanent record would be

As Dean Frye mentioned at the Forum, he would rather not play the role of off-campus alcohol enforcer. He listens to students and their leaders. If their clear preference is for him to stay out of it, it will make his job easier. On the other hand, if any of the affected students appreciated a conversation with Dean Frye in lieu of an MIP citation, I hope they will let him know. At the Forum some students said they would have preferred the MIP citation. Students, you don't have to write letters to the editor for your voice to be heard. Go see Dean Frye and have a conversation about your preferences. I have worked with several Deans of Students in my career. I even had to visit with one in my college days when I was swept up in a large-group party in a much larger town that Wayne. In the '60s we weren't immune from consequences of underage drinking. My vantage point now is different from students, I'll admit, but it seems to me that Dean Frye is the most approachable student administrator have met.

I also find our current student leaders very approachable. Their leadership in sponsoring the student forum was commendable. If you attended, you learned that some of the more incendiary rumors were just that: rumors. You also learned that the police are going to enforce the law without trying to target the vast majority of college students

Part of community is being a good neighbor. The two themes that struck me from the comments at the Forum were the desire of students to feel welcome in the community, and the desire of families to feel that their neighborhoods will be relatively safe, clean, and quiet in See POSITION, page 5A

I constantly get inquires on my e-mail address to fill out questionnaires. Some of them are pretty ridiculous. But I'm gullible enough to fill them out hoping to win those million dollars that will be awarded to some lucky person. Do they ever give those million dollars away? I never hear about it, do you? Constantly, some guy named Ed keeps sending me packages saying if I will just enter, he will personally give me 10 million dollars. But lately I have started doubting Ed's sincerity. Initiative would hurt all

The Defense of Marriage Initiati (DOMA) which will likely appear u... the November ballot proposes this amendment to Nebraska's constitu-

"Only marriage between a man and woman shall be valid or recognized in Nebraska. The uniting of two persons of the same sex in a civil union, domestic partnership, or other similar same-sex relationship, shall not be valid or recognized in Nebraska.

DOMA is both misnamed and misguided. It would do nothing to "defend" traditional marriage against the perceived threat from gay and lesbian civil unions.

Regardless of sexual orientation, eople who love each other want a faithful, stable, and lasting relationship in which mutual responsibilities and rights are clearly defined and defended by the law and recognized by society. To imagine that heterosexual marriages can be strengthened at the expense of the civil rights of homosexual citizens makes no logical or moral sense. As in other states, Nebraska's divorce rate was high long before gay and lesbian domestic partnerships were even considered. Nor is there the slightest evidence that officially recognized gay unions will influence children to become gay, whether they are in traditional or gay fami-

If DOMA passes in November, it will hurt all Nebraskans, for it goes further in discriminating against our gay and lesbian fellow citizens than any other state's law, it would permanently deny members of the .gay/ lesbian community-- as well as heterosexual couples who are also involved in loving, long-term relationships-benefits such as hospital visitation rights, inclusion regarding medical decisions, tax rights, and those benefits currently given to unmarried couples who cohabitate. In addition, passage of this act would allow employers to forego offering domestic partner benefits to any of their unmarried employees

To attract new skilled workers and fair-minded people to our state, we need to defeat this measure. It does not reflect most Nebraskans' feelings on the Issue and would only draw a lot of negative press to our state.

Sincerely

Bonnie Andersen Virginia Feeley Karen Granberg

Scholarships honor WSC educator

Two Wayne State College stu-dents paused from their schedules recently to honor the memory of a former educator at the college, the late Dr. Fred Webber.

Shabram and Shawn Ippensen of West Point earned the Webber Memorial Mathematics Scholarship to continue their studies at WSC. Shabram had Dr. Webber as an instructor in a class in the math-science division. Dr. Webber taught mathematics at Wayne State College from 1965 until his retirement in 1995.

He was named outstanding professor in the math-science division three times and served for many years as faculty corresponding secretary for the WSC chapter of Kappa Mu Epsilon national mathematics honor society.

Memorial Webber Mathematics Scholarship provides a full-tuition scholarship for one or two Wayne State College students each year. Recipients of the scholarship are selected on a variety of criteria including academic record and professional promise. The scholarship is awarded to students studying mathematics, computer science or mathematics education.

"Setting up this scholarship is how Fred wanted his money to be used for good and helping others My husband would be honored to know his scholarship money is going to these appreciative, worthy mathematics students." said Connie Webber, his wife and a former assistant professor of music at WSC.

The Webbers each endowed a scholarship through the Wayne State Foundation.

He was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta honor society, recipient of an All American Scholar Collegiate Award and a member of 1999-2000 Who's Who Among American Colleges & Universities. A graduate of West Point High School, he is the son of Ken and Vicki

He also completed a summer internship as a mainframe programmer at First National Bank of Omaha Bankcard Division in Omaha.

Shabram is a graduate of Orchard High School and the son of Monte and Rita Shabram. A Division II College Football Scholar Athlete, Shabram has also been honored for his outstanding athletic and academic achievements and his commitment to mentoring the community's youth by Burger King Corporation with a $10,000 gift to Wayne State College's general scholarship fund in his name.

Shabram has maintained a 3.8 GPA as a math/natural science education major while starting as an offensive tackle for the Wayne State College football team.

In addition to his academic and athletic endeavors which include: WSC Presidential Scholar-Athlete: member of the Kappa Mu Epsilon math honor society; GTE Academic the wee hours. It doesn't seem like so much to ask on either side. Our police and our students should be able to find common ground on this issue.

I don't accept that this is a wethey problem. It is our collective responsibility as campus, student and community leaders to work continuously for a fun, safe, successful college experience in Wayne. Having attended many meetings with local leaders who work diligently to improve the climate for college students, I am not surprised that many of those community volunteers are stunned by Dr. Leeper's attack. In my experience, provoking anger is not the best way to solve problems.

I commented at the Forum that I know dozens of community leaders who devote endless hours to programs and community design that will invigorate Wayne as a desirable college town. Wayne Main Street and the Chamber have invited students to serve on their boards and committees. I urge more students, faculty and staff to get involved. All of us can contribute creatively to solutions.

Many community leaders also raise funds for scholarships and for facilities such as the Studio Arts Building and in planning for a new They are definitely not self

My final comment is to compliment our Mayor, Sheryl Lindau, for her leadership in supporting the College. Not only has she served for several years on our governing board for the Nebraska State College System, she has also worked on behalf of many programs to benefit Wayne State in particular. Recently she has been the target of a recall petition, the reasons for which-seem groundless to me. She has been a great supporter of Wayne State College. I hope that most Wayne State folks will let her know they appreciate the support she has given the College over the years. It is easy to take for granted the work of communityminded civic leaders, especially when they have to make controversial decisions as part of the job. In my opinion, she is a good role model for the kind of involved citizens we hope to educate at Wayne

I thank The Wayne Herald for this opportunity to share my views of our community.

Herbs for Health Does Zinc Really Help the Common Cold?

The cold season will be here before we know it. And many Americans will be taking zinc, a mineral that some people selieve provides relief from symptoms of the common cold. But does zinc really help? YES - according to a recent report in Annals of Internal Medicine.

Investigators asked 50 persons with colds to use lozens containing either 12.8 mg of zinc or look-alike lozenges without zinc every 2 - 3 hours while symptoms persisted. Each day the study subjects rated the severity of sore throat, runny nose, ng, headache, fever, and other cold sympto coughing, headache, tever, and other cold symptoms. Persons who took zinc acetate lozenges, on the average, had symptoms. Persons who took zinc acetate lozenges, on the average, had symptoms for 4.5 days as compared to 6 days in the group receiving the look-alike lozenges. Cough was reported for only descriving the rook-tanke lozenges. Cough was reported for only 3 days in the zinc-treated group as compared to 6 days in persons who did not receive zinc.

'Cats out-gain Beavers in total yards

WSC falls to Bemidji St., 24-21

The Wayne State football team battled Bernidji State to the bittersweet end last Saturday, losing 24-21 in front of over 1800 fans at Memorial Stadium.

The game was close throughout, but the fourth quarter belonged to the Beavers

Time ran out before WSC could comprise another offensive drive.

Wayne State coach Scott Hoffman wasn't pleased with outcome, but he did see a silver lining in the clouds.

Hoffman said, "Bemidii was a pretty good football team. They're used to winning. We had to play pretty good to beat them. But we also felt like we could have beat them and should have beat them." He added, "We were a couple mistakes away from getting it

Wayne State out-gained the Beaver's offense, collecting 371 total yards to BSC's 358. teams expérienced costly penalties at times.

BSU had 50 yards in penalties, while WSC was fined for 49. An important drive in the middle of the fourth quarter ended quickly for the Wildcats when four penalties put the ball back into Beaver control

Hoffman said, "We ended up third and 25. I don't have a play on my checklist for 25 yards."

Bemidji State got on the board first with a four yard pass from Martinsion to Jason Leden with 1:25 left in the first quarter. Ryan Ricard's extra point failed.

The Beavers scored again on a Martinson pass to Jeff Rothmund midway through the second quarter. The scoring drive was set up by a WSC special teams error.

A two point PAT was successful, making the score 14-0.

Coach Hoffman commented, "One [mistake] that everyone's going to talk about is that punt Yano Jones touched. He feels terrible about it. Everybody does. But there were some other opportunities there that we made some errors

Wayne State answered with an 11 play, 65 yard drive that was capped with a three yard run by Elroy

Brown finished the game with 133 yards on 11 carries and one touchdown. He credited the offensive line with the improvement in his numbers.

"The first two games of the year we were up against some pretty heavy competition. Defensive tackles and ends were all up over 300 [pounds]. So we got back into conference and we know we have some games we can win. The offensive line did their jobs. My fullback blocked well for me, too."

At halftime, the Wildcats led in first downs, time of possession, rushing, and passing yards. However, it was the Beavers that had the advantage on the scoreboard, 14-6.

A defensive battle between the Wildcats and Beavers deadlocked the game all through the third quarter until Wayne State took a chance on a first down play. Eric Kjar faked a handoff to tailback Elroy Brown and then fired deep downfield to receiver Tavaris Johnson who raced 89 yards for a touchdown, tying the game with just over two minutes remaining in the quarter.

The play tied as the fourth longest touchdown reception in school his-

Johnson said. "It was a great play called by the coaching staff. I think the defense bit up on the run. I just got open and it was a great throw by Eric.

The Beavers moved the ball in the fourth quarter, reaching the WSC three yard line. The drive stalled but Ryan Ricard launched a 20 yard field goal through the uprights to put BSC up by three, 17-14.

With seven minutes left in the game, a critical third down play put the Beavers up for good. Facing third and six on the 50 yard line, BSC elected to throw the ball. Martinson hit Ben Woodford for a 50 yard touchdown pass, putting the Beavers up 24-14 with 6:08 left to play.

After trading possessions, WSC took control of the ball with 1:58 on the clock. The Wildcats marched 71 yards in ten plays. Eric Kjar rushed for the final four yards, scoring with 41 seconds left. Nate Hale's kick was good, and the score was 24-21.

Ryan Welle recovered an onside kick at the WSC 44 yard line for the Beavers.

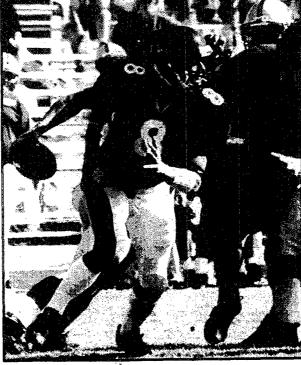

Hoffman said, "We told our kids after the game, 'We lost, but we're not happy with the loss. The thing that we did was take a huge step forward. We played all 60 minutes. We never quit. And we went right down to [the end]."

"Our kids made the statement that there's no quit in us. We're going to battle forward and if we can continue to do that, we're going to be just fine."

Leading tacklers for the Wildcats were Nate Herbst with 11, Chris Rizzo and Mike Baker with 7, and Kyle Lingenfelter with 6. Herbst had 8 unassisted tackles.

Johnie Ostermeyer had a twelve yard interception return. Chris Rizzo sacked the quarterback once for an 11 yard loss. John Trujillo had one sack for a three yard loss.

Offensively, quarterback Eric Kjar was 13 of 22 passing for 228 yards. Justin Burhoop was 3 of 7 with 28

Brink said Darr Nickerson ran very well. "She was in about 41st place after two miles and was able to move up a couple spots," Brink said. "She is feeling very strong right now, and appears to be ready to run even faster in the very near future." Brink said the men's team ran well but not great. "In a large meet like this, if you don't have an outstanding performance it is very easy to accumulate a lot of points in a short amount of time," Brink sald. "We are a very young team and any time we get a chance to gain experience in a big meet like this, it is going to help us for the future.

Soccer team ups record to 7-1

By Jason Sturek For the Herald

The Wayne State women's soccer team added to its string of victories in the past week. After wins over Northwest Missouri St. last Saturday and a victory on Tuesday at Morningside, the Wildcats pushed their record to 7-1 overall.

According to NCAA Division II statistics released after the NMSU game, the Wildcats are ranked second in the nation in scoring.

They have kicked 52 goals while their opponents have been held to WSC is sitting10th in the Central Regional Rankings, marking the first time in club history they have had a ranking.

Individually, Sarah Herrick is tied for the number one spot in the nation in assists. Abbey Kalblinger is tied for ninth nationally in assists.

Mary McDaniel sits 11th in goals

Wayne State shutout NMSU 5-0. WSC out shot them 29-13, marking the sixth time this season the Wildcats beat their opponent in that category

Five Wildcats scored in the con-Sara Zimmer, Bria Cunard, Mary McDaniel, Amanda Ferguson, and Amanda Keller all had kicks reach the net.

Sarah Herrick had two assists. Nikki Field, Sarah Lepak, and Sarah Lund contributed one apiece.

Coach Justin Cole said, "This was our best effort to this point in the Northwest Missouri is a quality team, but the ladies came out and played very hard. We matched their physical play and were able to have some success on offense. It was a great win and a great tune-up for conference play next weekend.'

Defensively, Michelle Melenthin had five saves at goalie. She and Kalle Wamsat each took watch for 45 minutes in front of the goal.

Cole said, "Our defense was outstanding. Northwest was able to muster more shots than most teams have against us, but nothing that was really dangerous. Our defenders did a super job of winning he ball and pressuring Northwest's frontrunners. We can still make some improvements, but our team defense as a whole looked as good as it's been all season.

Northwest Missouri St. fell to 1-6 on the year.

Wayne State defeated Morningside 4-0. In seven wins this season, WSC has accumulated seven shutouts. Again, the Wildcats had more shots, marking the seventh game they have done so. Morningside fell to 3-5.

Cole said, "This was a nice win for us. Morningside is a quality club and they had a great game plan for us. But the ladies came out and continued to work hard and pressure the opposition on both sides of the ball.

It was nice to get Jackie Arnold and Sarah Herrick back on track. Herrick and Arnold each had two goals and an assist.

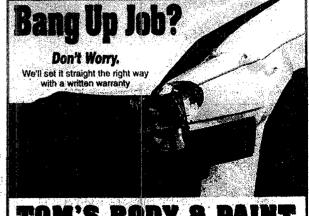

Abbey Kalblinger and Becky Woelfel each had assists. Warnsat and Michelle Mellenthin shared goalkeeping duties.

Cole said, "Our goalkeeper combination of Mellenthin and Warnsat has been a pleasant surprise. expect both of them to see time the rest of the season because they both bring some excellent attributes to

It's time again | The Principal's Office for fall fishing

Well, it's that time of the year again! Fishing has slowed down and hunting seasons haven't really got-

But it won't be long before the fall fishing will really take off. As the water temperatures start to drop, all species of fish will begin to feed heavily in anticipation of the hard water season.

Fall anglers fishing for the larger game fish will probably want to use larger live bait. During the fall, fish are in a hurry to fatten up before the freeze up. Chubs and larger minnows seem to attract the larger fish and out produce the smaller baits.

In the rivers, walleye, sauger and smallmouth will move up into the shallow water and glean the remaining bait fish and crawdads that have survived the summer.

In the lakes, bluegills, crappies, largemouth bass and pike will move in along the edge of the weeds to pick off insects and each other.

Walleyes in the lake will be spread out over the mud flats and cruising the edge of the weeds looking for a late season lunch.

In the fall, anglers in the know will be looking for the greenest vegetation that they can find.

Fish will move into these green weed beds because the bait fish have moved there and this is the area that's the coolest because of the shade and the oxygen given off by the vegetation.

Fishing these areas can be a nightmare as weeds can eat tackle as fast as you can tie it on.

Bass fishermen will need to probe the weedy areas with weedless Texas rigs and jig and pigs. They can also take bass in the fall by slow rolling spinner baits or running buzz baits over the top of the weeds.

Since the water temperatures are cooling, the fish's metabolism will be slowing down. You'll need to fish your baits a bit slower during this time of the year.

Panfish anglers will need to work the pockets and edge of the weeds with small tube jigs and light livebait jigs. Slip bobbers, split shot and small hooks tipped with minnows or pieces of night crawlers cast along the weed edge will draw panfish out out of the deep cover.

Walleye anglers will be using jigs and minnows to work along the edge of the weeds and on the breaks along mud flats.

Pike fishing will be in the weeds and there are only a couple of baits that have produced consistently for weeds. Hold your rod high and speed crank the bait over the top of the weeds. If you come across a hole or pocket, let the spinnerbait drop or helicopter down into the pocket and then crank it back onto the top of the weeds. The pause and slow drop of the spinnerbait will tempt bass hiding in and along the edge of the pockets.

Spinnerbaits can be run right over

Catfish will be moving from their summer haunts and heading for the deeper, calmer pools. Catfishermen will need to look for the fish in deeper holes and work their prepared and five bait rigs in the pockets with less current and in the slack water behind the dead falls and

No matter what species of fish you'll be looking for, don't over look the slack water pockets just off the current by the dam as these areas will be visited throughout the day by fish cruising the area searching for a meal.

Don't make the mistake that many anglers do during the fall and put the rod and reel away and think only hunting.

Fall fishing produces some really big fish and it's the time of the year that all species will be putting on the feed bag in preparation for the

How Our Inservice days benefit our students

Teachers are often asked about the days on the school calender noted as "inservices" or "staff development" days. These are learning days for teachers and the rest of the school staff. Inservice days are built into the school's annual calender and not detract from the number of student Educators have always recognized the value of and the need for continuing education. Historically, teachers have returned to a college or university for advanced educational degrees. They also must take a specified number of continuing education courses each year just to etain their certification.

inservice days are used to provide training to teachers and staff in a variety of areas. Teachers need help to increase their competency in professional areas, including teaching techniques, motivation, discipline, classroom management, grading, testing, communication and technology. Teachers in the future will not be able to know everything there is to know about their subject matter, therefore, it will be imperative for them to become even more highly skilled in how to direct students to the information they need. In addition, they must be able to teach individual students in new ways to maximize their learning. All of this requires Intensive training.

Technology is becoming a very important part of today's teaching process and advances in technology have changed the entire role of instruction. Teachers must receive training on how to use new equipment and software that is designed to manage everything from classroom attendance to curriculum delivery.

Staff development is not limited to the teaching staff or administration. Clerical staff must know what policy changes have been made that affect their work, as well as what software changes they need to master. Custodial personnel continually receive training on the management and use of chemicals and equipment involved in maintaining school facilities. Even volunteers are trained on school policies and procedures in addition to their specific duties. Inservice days are an appropriate time to accomplish these tasks.

Higher classroom standards of achievement, as set by state governments across the nation, have translated into more training for everyone associated with education. Today's educators serve a more diverse group of students in the classroom than ever before, representing a broader range of abilities, disabilities and cultures. As our classrooms grow we have an influx of new teachers, which makes additional training days for teachers even more important as they strive to improve their performance.

Parental support of these inservice days helps assure vibrant and successful schools in the future. Continuous learning for everyone engaged in the education of young people is vital to giving students the best possible education. The more we know was education professionals, the better we are able to help your children reach their potential. Educators are committed to the learning process and that process must begin with us if the children in our care are to become successful Parenting Tips:

o If you have questions concerning inservice days at your child's school, ask your child's principal.

 If possible, use your school's inservice days to enhance your child's educational process by visiting a museum, zoo or library.

Budgeting shouldn't be seen as a chore, but rather a financial plan for spending. Family finances need to be managed to help achieve the goals. Records also need to be orderly, easy to keep and easy to Having thought about what you want to accomplish with your money can make living with a budget easier. Usually we call this goals. Set goals of where and how to spend income.

After setting these goals, next learn where money is being spent. This might be a hard job for some people, but must be done to develop any kind of plan. This information is essential for high quality financial decisions. It is easier to accept not being able to do something now, knowing that you will be able to do something more impor-

Next, analyze the current financial situation by listing credit obligations and analyzing your current cash flow. Collect your bills, receipts and check ledger to help monitor spending for the month. Expenses can be divided into fixed, flexible and irregular expenses.

Fixed expenses are items that stay the same each month and are committed for a period of time, such as rent or mortgage payments. Flexible expenses change from month to month, such as food, clothing and utilities.

Irregular expenses come up from time to time, such as insurance premiums, taxes, dues, subscriptions and gifts.

If family income exceeds spending, you'll have money for a savings plan. If income doesn't cover all expenses, try to find the leaks and decrease spending.

Tips for cutting spending corners include: making a shopping list and weigh the importance of each item, avoid credit, reduce the number of

Pilger church

The public is invited to the celebration. Taking part in the service will be the Rev. Alan Baglien of Wisner, St. Peter's supply pastor; the Rev. served at a morning fellowship time beginning at 9.

Those in attendance may wear period attire if they desire.

The following story has been compiled by LaRayne Meyer of Pilger with information from former church members and from church records

St. Peter's Lutheran Church of Pilger has withstood the test of time. Formed at the turn of the 20th century, the church will celebrate its 100th anniversary, Sept. 24. The church is the merger of three congregations, two of German origin and one of Danish.

Although the church is now a brick structure, the original St. Peter's Lutheran Church was a small wooden building which once stood where the Pilger swimming pool is now located. St. Pauli Lutheran Church, a Danish congregation, shared the first St. Peter's building. And St. Petri Lutheran Church was a small frame church which served a parish south of Pilger.

In the formative years of all three churches, services were first held in German and Danish, and in later years, those services alternated weekly with services given in English.

The German Mission of St Peter's Lutheran Church was informally organized in 1898 according to information gathered at the Immigrant Archives at Dana College at Blair

The 14 charter members of St. Peter's featured many familiar German names: Koplin, Axen, Schneider, Brandert, Melcher, Rustemeier, Krueger, Mahlke, Julius Schwarz, Pilger and Stuthmann. By 1903, the group was large enough to meet in Pilger's schoolhouse and then in the Baptist Church (now the Stanton County Historical Society Museum). The congregation built its new church in 1907 on land deeded by the railroad.

Mrs. Fritz Woehler noted they built the original St. Peter's church with only 15 members. The tower and bell were added in 1911. The ladies aid bought the organ for $75 and the altar and pul-

Celebration planned holding suppers and bazaars, charging 25 cents a meal for adults and 15 cents for children under 14.

Group spirit was strong with women holding ladies aid at various homes in Pilger, Wisner and the rural community. A Luther League was organized in the 1930s, as well as a baseball team by the congrega-

Members of St. Pauli Lutheran Church met in an unorganized fashion until 1914, with organization in 1922. The church became a member of the United Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church in 1925.

According to Ray Petersen of Wayne, who attended the church as a young man, the church was mosta collection of Danes from Pilger, Wisner, Winside and Stanton.

Family names of charter members include Danish names of Thor, Nielsen, Rasmussen, Hansen, Christensen, Nissen, Petersen, and lensen.

Although the St. Pauli group never had a church building, they gathered to hear God's word, first in Danish and later in English, A Danish Lutheran Church at Laurel shared their pastor with St. Pauli, with services on Sunday afternoons at the St. Peter's building.

The St. Pauli congregation dis-solved in 1945 and in 1948 members joined the congregation of St.

St. Petri Lutheran Church-another German congregation-also organized at the turn of the century: 1898. The church and its cemetery were located south of Pilger on land owned by the Schwarting family. The cemetery is all that remains today at the site one mile north and three miles east of the junction of highways 32 and 15.

Some of the surnames of St. Petri members were Blackwehl, Henrichs, Maas, Goetze, Hiller, Hilbers, Schultz, Strong, Vahle, Schwarting and Dinklage.

Offerings were collected with a 'klink-beetle,' a velvet bag on a long stick which the ushers passed down

The St. Petri Evangelical Lutheran Church of Cuming County dissolved

Talks of a merger of the three churches came in 1947 following a severe windstorm in June which damaged St. Petri. Services there were discontinued and the south members came to the St. Peter's services. Eventually, parishioners from St. Pauli, St. Petri, and St. Peter's decided to merge. Plans were made to build a new church to hold the swelled membership.

The old St. Peter's church building was moved to its present site. The south church-St. Petri- was dismantled and built into the present structure. The construction was completed in 1949 at a cost of $30,000. A note burning service was held on Nov. 22, 1956, for the ears: Luther League, Ladies Aid, Lutheran Brotherhood, Youth Group, Fellowship Club and others.

In the 1940s, the Ladies Aid's minutes show that meetings were held monthly. Minutes were first written in German until 1938, then switching to English. Financial reports show a phone bill of $2, a fee of $3.80 to hand quilt a quilt, proceeds of $6.50 from a food sale and the purchase of dish cloths and Chore Boys to sell as a fund raiser.

Lutheran Brotherhood was organized in 1948 and continued into the 80s.

Stewardship and Evangelism Committee reported on the 1966 annual meeting and turkey dinner. More than 150 were served with proceeds after expenses of $63.31 Notes say that six turkeys were 'just enough' and that a case of peas and 40 pounds of potatoes were 'plen-

Luther League members met every two weeks in 1943, retiring to the Washington Hall in Pilger for entertainment and refreshment More than 20 young people were usually present for meetings at which croquet, skating parties, ball games, picnics, plays and games provided entertainment. Games such as 'Prince of Paris Lost His Hat' and 'Bucco.'

St, Peter's Lutheran Church was affiliated with the Central States Synod of the United Lutheran Church and in 1963, the Nebraska Synod became known as the Lutheran Church in America.

Pastors who have served at St. Peter's since the tri-congregational merger in 1948 include Ralph Ritzen, R.L. Scherf, R. J. Hulse, Carl Alfield Franzen, Richard Schne! arold Peterson, Leland Griess, Kenneth Wittrock, James Helgren, Marsha and Peter Jark-Ruth and Gary Larson. Current supply pastors are the Revs. Alan Baglien and Scott McCluskey-

The church today is a tri-parish. In 1982, the Lutheran Church in America combined with American Lutheran Church to form the ELCA, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. St. Peter today is still an ELCA congregation. We joined in 1998 with St. Lukes, Stanton, and Trinity, Winside to form the first tri-parish setting in Nebraska

Natural Gas: Still your best energy value

From gasoline to crude oil and electricity, consumers across the nation are seeing rising costs on all energy sources. Natural gas is no exception. In fact, the wellhead price of natural gas has nearly doubled during the past year, increasing from just over $2.50 per MMBtu to well over $4.00 per MMBtu.

Thanks to KN Energy's Choice Gas program, our Choice customers locked in their rates last April before the market skyrocketed. However, in the towns where has not been approved by local government, the price of natural gas will fluctuate as the market changes.

The good news for everyone is that, when compared with other energy options, natural gas is still the best value for vour money.

- KN Makes It Easy To Budget Your Gas Bill

KN Energy understands that increased rates are a concern to our customers and we encourage customers to take advantage of billing options that can help ease the strain on your budget.

Budget Billing

To avoid feeling the crunch of increased natural gas bills when the weather cools down and natural gas usage increases, KN offers its Budget Billing program. With Budget Billing, you pay the same rate each month, summer or winter. Your monthly charge is calculated based on an average of your last year's actual energy costs. At the end of the year, your Budget Billing amount is adjusted over the next 12 months by the credit or debit balance in your account. You need to sign up for the Budget Billing program before September 30™.

Build a Credit

Create your own budget billing program by paying ahead. When sending in your natural gas bill during the warm months of the year, simply include a few dollars extra. KN will credit the overage to your account. When natural gas usage increases during the cooler months, you'll owe less money on your gas bill because you've pre-paid.

To learn more about our billing options, call 1-800-563-0012

Wakefield News-

Mrs. Walter Hale 402-287-2728 MAURICE JOHNSON RETIRES

Maurice Johnson has spent 39 years of his life maintaining and caring for the Wakefield Cemetery. Over the years, his duties and how he did his job has changed: The Wakefield Cemetery Board honored Maurice at a coffee on Sept. 15 at the Senior Center.

Maurice began his job at the Cemetery Dec. 15, 1961, working with the late Elmer Felt. Maurice was responsible for all the grave digging, by hand, and filling and also assisted Felt with trimming the grass at the cemetery.

When Felt resigned from his maintenance and grave digging position at the cemetery, Maurice was hired by the cemetery board in September, 1972 at a salary of $325 a month. Felt stayed on an a supervisor and kept records for a time.

Maurice was then responsible for all the maintenance at the cemetery, the mowing, trimming, repair. Each time there was a burial he marked the grave site, dug the opening, closed the site and later seeded it. The job was done in all types of weather

Maurice recalls that in July, 1976, he had three burials on the same day, two under the direction of the and one by the home in Pender. That was still when the grave site's were dug by hand.

Maurice said in November, 1978, a digging machine was purchased. Today a company is hired to dig the graves and city employees fill it. The emetery board contracted with the City of Wakefield for mowing, and other maintenance jobs in 1996, according to Cemetery Board Secretary Jean Fischer.

Since that time. Maurice has continued to stake out the graves sites, seeded and picked up sticks, etc. On the grounds, Maurice said he also has helped with the sale of lots.

Some of the improvements Maurice recalls occurring in the past 39 years is the addition of a storage shed, installation of the memorial gate and the addition of a directory Trees have been removed along the South side of the cemetery and replaced with new ones. Water lines have been added and hydrants to the West Tree line.

The cemetery road has gone from dirt, to gravel to blacktop.

Maurice said he thought he had been part of somewhere over 1,000 buriats while he worked at the Wakefield Cemetery

Fischer added that over the years

HARTINGTON FIRM HAS LOW BID Radec Construction Company of Hartington submitted the low bid of just under $1,200,000 for construction of the new community/school recreation center. Voters approved a $795,000 bond issue in May and the Gardner Foundation will provide $500,000 towards the construction of the facility.

The bid is around $100,000 under estimate and according to Supt. Mike Moody, includes all three alternates proposed by the school board.

The School Board held a special meeting recently to open bids. Supt. Moody said the bids were very competitive with Otte Construction of Wayne submitting a bid that was just $5,000 over the one from Radec and all bids received were under estimate

The alternatives included expand ing the fitness area from around 800 square feet to 1,400 square feet making a larger storage area and including seating for around 350 along one side of the gym.

There will be a pre-construction meeting Sept. 22, which will include Supt. Moody, the Board Grounds and Building committee, the Architect and the contractor. Moody said he expects side preparation to begin in the very near future

That work has been sub-contract ed to Milo Meyer Construction of Wayne. Meyer has already done some dirt work at the site for water drainage. Moody added that Radec is also already doing preliminary work in preparation for construction and that they want to begin just as soon as possible. Completion date will depend on what type of winter

Mark Demke accepted a $400 contribution from Larry Baker for playground equipment. Baker rep-Aid Association Lutherans (AAL), which provided the matching funds.

The local AAL Branch also assisted this spring by providing and serving food to the workers at the park during installation of the equipment.

Wakefield Community Foundation continues to accept funds for the project. The group's goal is to complete fundraising and the project by June 1, 2001 in order to receive the Peter Kewit Challenge grant of $10,000.

The goal became closer to reality last week with a $5,000 contribution by the Wakefield School. Mari said the foundation needs to raise about $11,000 to be able to qualify for the Kewit monies.

Playground equipment was installed at three locations this spring, at the school Graves Park and near the small ballfields.

The playground committee hopes to finish installing swings in the park yet this month. Some other smaller pieces to be installed at the school and the park will complete the pro-

NEBRASKA AWARENESS DAY

One thing about archery is that anyone can do it and it's a great family sport. You can get bows with different lengths and draws, which will fit adults and children. Arrows come in different lengths and weights. Bows are fitted to the individual and getting started is not an expensive proposition.

Like many sports, you can get into it any any level that you want.

Kids can start out with an inexpensive recurve and graduate up to compound bow. Arrows can be anything from cedar to carbon. You can shoot at a target made out of straw bales or a top of the line realistic 3-D target. You can shoot for fun or you can shoot competitively. It's up to the individual and can be a very satisfying sport.

Some people still prefer to shoot the straight bows or recurves, while others shoot compounds. No matter what you decide to shoot, shooting a bow can be a thrilling experi-

There are also several excellent Archery Pro Shops in the area Dakota Archery in Yankton and Wet & Wild Sport Shop in Norfolk will help you to get started in the sport, get the right equipment and adjust it so it shoots properly.

If you plan on hunting with a

Video triggers memories of events of last 40 years

Lately, an awfully lot of my friends have been turning 70. That seems like a very long time to me, but I'm sure I'll be there before I know it

In fact, the Big Farmer will hit that milestone this month. We were married 40 years ago today, and he always said he was married before he was 30. Ten days before.

Since we blew the budget on the trip to Hawaii, our celebration was pretty low key. Specifically, it was a supper here at the Farm House on Friday evening.

The kids presented us with a video. You know the kind. I had suspected something because there were photos missing.

Kay did the sorting and editing, and even recorded some of our favorite Rodgers and Hammerstein to use as back ground. Curt Jeffries of Keepsake Videos in Wayne did the recording. Curt was Winside's band director when our kids were in band, and we liked him a lot. We still consider him and Coleen good friends. In fact, they will be at Kay's wedding. I guess, if they aren't going to stay in teaching, this is the next best thing for them. The video is very good, and brought back lots of memories. A real "keepsake."

Then we looked at slides of the wedding. We were married at Immanuel Church in what was then south Lincoln. (now Lincoln goes much farther south). It was at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and there was no dance.

The reception, of course, was in

We had a week's honeymoon in Kansas City, St. Louis, and Lake of the Ozarks; and arrived back in Omaha just in time for cousin Roy's wedding. Then, it was home, to the farm, to begin green-chopping, with corn knives.

As we prepare for next month's wedding, I thought of how simple our affair was. And, of course, the generation before us simply went to the court house, or the church parsonage. I wonder what our grand children will have.

No matter, it's what happens in the years after the ceremony that counts. As one friend says, "It's not sleeping with them that's hard, it's living with them!"

issued in both the spring and fall, the new report features the latest performance information available on more than 5.903 sires.

The American Angus Association has the most complete and comprehensive beef cattle database in the world," says John Crouch, American Angus Association director of performance programs.

"Of the sires listed in the main report, 74 percent have expected progeny differences (EPDs) for carcass traits, which should assist cattlemen in choosing genetics that will produce a more consistent, higher quality beef product."

EPDs are generated from performance data submitted by breeders

Angus Improvement Records (AHIR) pro-

Traits in which EPDs are available include birth weight, weaning weight, milk, yearling weight and height, mature daughter weight and height and scrotal circumference, as well as carcass traits including carcass weight, marbling, rib eve area, external fat thickness and percent retail product.

The analysis for the sire evaluation report is conducted at lowar State University by Dr. Doyle E. Wilson and Dr. Abebe Hassen
