Council hears updates on projects

By Clara Osten
 Of the Herald

A lengthy agenda greeted council members during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Among the items on the agenda were updates on the Community Activity Center and the firehall.

Activity Center committee members Bob Keating and Doug Carroll spoke to the council on proposed sites for the facility.

The committee has been working with the architectural firm of Carlson West Povondra to determine the best possible site. The group has narrowed their choices to two locations, the ground just south of Hank Overin Field and ground that would have to be purchased.

Two members of the community, Mary Kranz and Chris Connolly, spoke to the council on the subject and urged consideration of ground near the high school for the facility.

Both Kranz and Connolly said they felt the locations near the school would be beneficial for youth attending school and would result in increased memberships in the facility.

Council members discussed the possibility of holding some type of town hall meeting to allow for public input on where the facility should be built.

Tom Mitzel, a member of the Volunteer Fire Department, presented a draft of the new facility. Members of the committee have suggested a number of modifications to the draft and a second draft will be presented to the group in the near future.

In other action, the council approved an arrangement with the Wayne Country Club on a lease agreement for three pieces of turf equipment. The agreement will

Qwest Communications Introducing fast Internet Digital Subscriber Line Service in Wayne

Qwest Communications International, Inc. (NYSE:Q), the broadband Internet communications company announced the deployment of Qwest DSL—a service that provides customers with "always on" data connections and high-speed access for Internet users in Wayne. Customers can surf the Internet at speeds nearly 10 times faster than a traditional dial-up modem.

Qwest was the first company to broadly deploy digital subscriber line (DSL) technology that keeps consumers and businesses continuously connected. By the end of the year, Qwest DSL will be offered in more than 72 cities within the 14-state region where Qwest provides local phone service.

"With Qwest DSL, there's no more wait to access the World Wide Web," said Tim Sandos, Qwest's Vice President for Nebraska. "DSL gives our Wayne customers another option for the speed and simplicity they need to make the Internet a vital part of their lives."

"Because of our partnership with community and business leaders, Wayne State College (WSC) will benefit tremendously from DSL," said Dr. Sheila Stearns, president of WSC. "There is a genuine sense of excitement across campus about the new service. Many of our faculty and students rely on home Internet access to WSC's network. This access makes Wayne State a regional leader in academic high-speed Internet access."

"Bringing DSL to Wayne will position us to compete with larger communities in the recruitment of technology-based businesses," said Karin Vaughn, Executive Director of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce. "Exciting job opportunities allow us to entice our youth to stay in Wayne after graduation."

Qwest DSL technology provides customers:

- *The ability to use the DSL line for a fax machine, or even voice phone calls in some applications, while simultaneously surfing the Internet.

- *Speeds from up to 640 Kilobytes per second (Kbps) to 7 Megabytes per second (Mbps) to 250 times faster than traditional modems.

- *A continuous "always-on" digital connection, letting customers simply open their Internet browser software to get access. The company also offers an "on-demand" service for customers who don't require the "always-on" feature.

- *Their own private link to the Internet-over their existing phone

Car seats inspected

A total of 25 car seats were checked on Oct. 26 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Employees at PMC and members of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department assisted with the project.

Of that total, there was a 96 percent misuse rate and one car seat was needed.

Among the most common misuses seen in rear facing seats were:

- 1) the safety belt not holding the seat tightly into the vehicle. There should be no more than one inch of movement from side to side at the belt path. Possible reasons for a loose child safety seat are the locking clip not being used correctly and/ or the safety belt system not put into the locked mode.

- 2) Correct fit of harness system. Harness too loose. Only one finger should be able to fit between the harness strap and the child's collar bone. Harness retainer clip not at armpit level. Retainer clip needs to be at armpit level to hold the harness system on the child's shoulders.

Common misuses observed in forward facing car seats included:

- 1) Safety belt not hold the seat tightly into the vehicle. There should be no more than one inch of move-

Lutt won't resign

By Kevin Peterson
 Of the Herald

Wayne City Councilman Verdel Lutt did not resign a post he's held for the past six years—as representative of Ward One, despite a recall petition.

Lutt had five days which concluded on Wednesday to either resign his post, or force a special election which will be held no less than 30 days or more than 45 days from Nov. 1.

The recall of Lutt came as a result of a petition drive that gathered 160-plus signatures from registered voters in Ward One.

The petitioners included Justin Evers, Kiley Olds and Ronald McKito.

The petition said the recall was for three charges against Lutt including the following: (1) Violating his oath of office; (2) Failing to represent the majority of his constituents in the First Ward; (3) Interfering with the City initiative and referendum proposal regarding the midnight to 5 a.m. parking ban.

The petitioners had 30 days to gather enough signatures, wherein Wayne County Clerk had 15 days after that 30 days to validate the signatures which included nothing more than seeing if the person who had signed the petition was actually a registered voter for that Ward.

The signatures gathered does not necessarily mean these people actually voted in the last election. In fact, those signing the petition may or may not have been registered voters at the time of the last election.

Following the validation of signatures, Lutt was notified by registered mail that he had five days to resign or ask the City of Wayne for a special election.

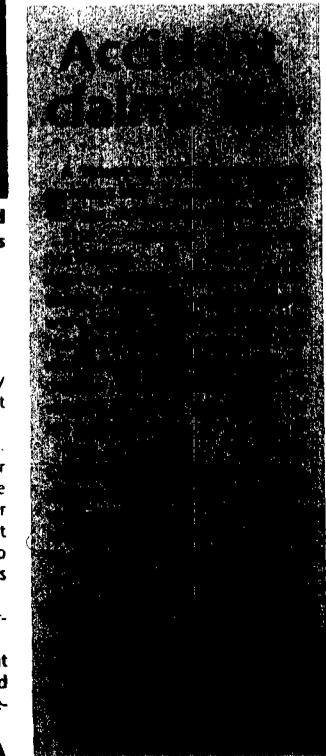

"I am not resigning as First Ward councilman because I don't feel that I've done anything wrong," Lutt said. "I want to continue serving the people of the Ward 1 reside in because it's something that I enjoy doing."

Lutt's attorney, David Ptak of Norfolk is considering filing a law suit in district court, challenging the validity of the way the petitioners obtained their signatures.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Office is investigating that allegation.

The election can not be delayed because of the investigation unless the investigation is concluded and wrongdoing is brought forward.

At press time there were 48 signed affidavits from people in Ward One that signed the petition saying the petitioners misrepresented the language of the actual petition when circulating it.

Fall expedition

Students, teachers and parents from St. Mary's Elementary School in Wayne celebrated an end to the first quarter of school and an end to Red Ribbon Week by taking a trip to Poppy's Pumpkin Patch near Norfolk last Friday. While there, the students were able to climb a lookout tower, pet a number of different animals, feed the ducks, try on costumes, travel through a hay maze and a corn maze. The students then were able to chose a pumpkin to take home. At right, this group of "explorers" successfully climbed to the top of the hay maze and captured the flag at the fort.

Travel Council named outstanding organization

The Northeast Nebraska Travel Council was honored as the Outstanding Regional Organization at the 2000 Nebraska Travel Conference last week in Kearney.

Accepting the award from Nebraska Lt. Governor David Maurstad at the Governor's Travel Industry Awards Banquet were Travel Council president Nona Wiese, Dodge County Convention and Visitors Bureau, and past-president Judy Johnson, Wayne State College director of college relations.

The Northeast Nebraska Travel Council, an all-volunteer, non-profit organization covering 17 counties in Northeast Nebraska, was presented this first-time award for its contributions to tourism throughout the state. The NNTC was the first all-volunteer regional tourism organization in the state. Since its founding in 1985, the council has grown from fewer than 15 members to 88 this year.

Projects include the publication of the annual Northeast Nebraska Visitors' Guide; co-sponsorship of the Nebraska Scenic Byway application for Highway 75; leadership in the Nebraska/Iowa Lewis & Clark Coordinating Council; hosting an annual regional tourism conference and group leaders' show at Wayne State College; producing a regional group tour manual; attending regional sports and travel shows; and hosting an internet Web site.

The Travel Council meets six times a year at various sites throughout the region. Membership is open to individuals, groups and organizations wishing to promote tourism in the area.

"I'm very pleased that the Northeast Nebraska Travel Council was presented this award," said Johnson. "It is a wonderful tribute to the volunteer efforts of all of the members of the council who have worked so hard to promote tourism in our part of the state."

HIGHLIGHTING ADOPTION IN NEBRASKA

By Governor Mike Johanns

Dear Nebraska Neighbors

November is Adoption Month in Nebraska. Throughout the course of this month, we want to salute those Nebraska families who have opened their hearts and their homes to an adopted child. By making such a profound and loving commitment to our state's most vulnerable children, they are making a lasting investment in Nebraska's future. We're fortunate to have dedicated people who are willing to help when such a home is not or cannot be provided by a child's biological family.

Children of all ages and backgrounds need safe and loving homes. They need parents to provide them with support and guidance as they grow. They need a stable environment and the security of a permanent home in which they can learn and discover who they are and who they can be.

We also want to use Adoption Month to bring special focus to the need for more adoptive parents in our state, especially for children who are wards of the State. Currently, over 120 Nebraska children are legally free for adoption. They are waiting to be someone's son or daughter and to be part of a forever family. These are children that simply need to be loved and encouraged to share their potential.

This past Legislative session, I signed LB 482 which established a cash payment program for parents who adopt wards of the State. This program provides a $1000 cash payment to Nebraskans who adopt a state ward for up to five years following the adoption. This legislation was very important because it will go a long way toward encouraging families to give foster children in state custody a permanent home. And a permanent loving home with loving parents makes for a much better family than State government.

Potential adoptive parents should also know that the Department of Health and Human Services provides support to families who adopt. Many children adopted through HHS are eligible for benefits including medical and mental health coverage under the Medicaid program; help covering the day-to-day expenses of raising the child; assistance with legal expenses related to adoption; and short-term services such as counseling. There is also support available from other parents who are members of the Nebraska Foster and Adoptive Parent Association.

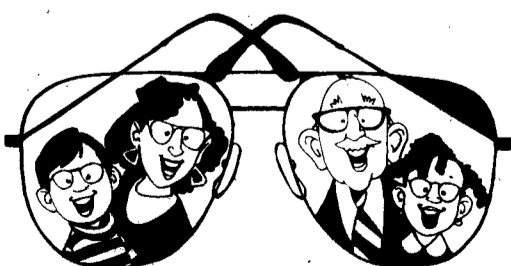

You don't have to be married, rich, own a house or have a college degree to adopt a child. In reality, the most important characteristic of good adoptive parents is the love and concern they can provide to a child.

Almost any responsible, caring adult who has the patience to get through the adoption process can be an adoptive parent. We're looking for families or individuals who can meet a specific child's needs and provide him, her or in the case of brothers and sisters, them, with a permanent, loving home. And right now, we need lots of homes for lots of children, especially for older children.

Large Nebraskans to consider the very important role of an adoptive parent. Nebraskans interested in adoption should call the Department of Health and Human Services toll-free at 1-800-7-PARENT (1-800-772-7368) or check their website at www.hhs.state.ne.us/. While adopting a child may introduce a significant element of change into a family's everyday routine, the rewards for the parents, the children, and our entire "Nebraska United" are immeasurable.

Progress continues

Progress continues on selecting a site and the architectural plans for the Community Activity Center.

The Community Activity Center Committee has narrowed the choice of sites to two, one just south of Hank Overin Field and one on ground that would have to be purchased.

The Community Activity Center Committee first met in February of 1999 to come up with a game plan to promote the construction of a Community Activity Center. After a number of meetings and information gathering sessions, it was decided that a one percent City Sales Tax would be the best way to fund such a project.

On May 6 of this year, the community of Wayne was given the opportunity to vote for or against the sales tax issue. The vote came out in favor of implementing a one percent City Sales Tax to fund the construction of the facility.

With the passing of the sales tax issue, the next step was to appoint a building committee. Mayor Sheryl Lindau was in charge of making the appointments. They include the mayor, Ray Nelson, Doug Carroll, Joe Reinert, Lisa Backstrom, April Thede, Jeff Zeiss, Doug Sturm and Bob Keating.

The purpose of the committee is to oversee the project from start to finish and to make recommendations to the Wayne City Council regarding procedures they feel should be followed during the process.

One of the first major decisions of the committee was to bring a Construction Manager on board to provide expert advice throughout the entire project process. Four Construction Management firms were interviewed and Otte Construction was chosen for the job.

The next step was to select an architect to provide a final plan for the facility. Nine proposals were submitted and four firms were chosen from that list. Carlson West Povondra Architects was the architectural firm chosen.

The next step in the procedure was to select a site for the facility. Initially, four sites were named as possible locations. Two sites are available at the High School, one on the southwest corner of the school property and the other just south of the current High School parking lot. A third location is the open field just south of the Hank Overin Baseball Field. That is ground that is currently owned by the city and was the originally proposed site when presented by the Community Activity Center Committee. The fourth site is located on ground that would have to be purchased.

John Carlson, architect for Carlson West Povondra, recently presented a site selection matrix to members of the building committee. Each member of the committee rated numerous factors on the matrix that would be of concern for the construction of such a facility. The architect used factors he had formulated after inspection of each site and inspection of various city maps and combined them with the committee's ratings.

The resulting figures suggested that the site south of Hank Overin Field was the favorite site. It was followed by the property to be purchased, then the southwest location at the school and finally, the location just south of the school parking lot.

After review of the site matrix and additional information provided by the architect and construction manager, each member of the committee was asked to vote for his or her favorite sites. The location south of Hank Overin Field and the site to be purchased were voted as the top two sites.

A final decision needs to be made in the near future on which of the sites will be used. Additional information will be presented to members of the group to aid in the selection process.

After the site has been selected, the design will be developed and contracts will be drawn up with construction scheduled to begin early in the summer of 2001.

Car

ment from side to side at the belt path. Possible reasons for a loose child safety seat are the locking clip not being used correctly and/or safety belt system is not put into the locked mode.

2) Correct fit of harness system. Harness too loose. Only one finger should be able to fit between the harness strap and the child's collar bone. Harness retainer clip not at armpit level. Retainer clip needs to be at armpit level to hold the harness system on child's shoulders.

Harness retainer clip threaded correctly. Harness straps need to be threaded under the clip and not over.

3) Harness straps threaded through correct slots. For a forward facing seat, the harness straps are typically threaded through the top slots. Parents and caregivers need to read manufacturer's instructions on correct placement of harness straps.

Common misuses with booster seats included children not within recommended weight and height range. Children up to 40 pounds should still be in a convertible seat and graduated into a booster which should be used with a lap and shoulder system until they are around eight years of age and weigh between 60 and 80 pounds. It is recommended that seats over six years old not be used due to the fact that labels may be missing and cannot be checked for recalls, outdated label information and the integrity of the seat may be compromised.

allow the Country Club to pass the annual lease payment of approximately $14,500 through the city for a six year period.

The council gave its approval for the city to seek requests for proposals for a hiking/biking trail through Wayne.

A bid from Olsson & Associates was accepted to prepare an official Letter of Map Revision (LOMR) to be submitted to FEMA to reduce the mapped 100 year flood plan for Wayne. It is possible that grant funds from the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District may be available to assist with funding for the project.

The council set a date of Saturday, Nov. 11 at 9 a.m. for the council to meet as a Committee-of-the-Whole to discuss total building projects in the city.

The council gave its approval to move forward on a proposal from Police Chief Lance Webster to amend the city ordinances relating to abandoned vehicles, abatement of nuisances, failure to disperse and maintaining a disorderly house.

Council passed Resolution 2000-67 which will make amendments to the Wayne Revolving Loan Fund Plan. Three changes were presented by Wayne Industries to match the current Nebraska Department of Economic Development guidelines.

A resolution was also passed authorizing a joint city/Wayne State College/County project designed to prevent or reduce the incidence of refuse dumping within the two-mile jurisdiction of the city limits.

Students with valid identification will be allowed to dispose of furniture and mattresses at the Wayne Transfer Station free of charge on certain dates at the end of each semester.

Questions were raised on the number of times per year this should be allowed and whether or not the resolution could also apply to landlords. The council gave its approval for the project on a trial basis and will allow the disposal twice a year.

Other resolutions passed during Tuesday's meeting included the adoption of a new official zoning map and the accepting of an agreement with the Nebraska Department of Roads relating to the widening of Highway 35 north of Wayne from 13th Street to Dog Creek. The project is set to be completed in 2004.

Following a presentation by Mick Mines of HunTel, the council voted to approve changes in the cable TV service and franchise for HunTel. Two of the city's public access channels will be made available to HunTel to add new digital programming to their offerings.

A public hearing date was set for Tuesday, Nov. 28 regarding the exchange of real estate located along east Highway 35.

Enjoying the festivities

Rain outside did not deter those children attending the annual Circle K Halloween party from having fun. A large crowd was on hand to enjoy games, decorate cookies, put the nose on the pumpkin. Saige (3) and Nicole Francis (5) were Nebraska cheerleaders who took time to decorate cookies with the assistance of their parents and members of the Wayne State Circle K Club.

Festival of Wreaths included

Main Street to celebrate holiday

Main Street Wayne has announced that it will be conducting the second annual "Festival of Wreaths Silent Auction" to kick-off its Holiday Season in Wayne.

The "Festival of Wreaths Silent Auction" is a primary fundraiser for Main Street Wayne's "Christmas on the Main" month-long holiday celebration.

Individuals, organizations and businesses are encouraged to decorate wreaths, mantel displays and door swags with their original design and made of artificial or dried materials. These items will be on display in store windows from Nov. 15 through Nov. 20 when the Silent Auction will begin. On Tuesday, Nov. 21 these items will be moved to the Main Street Office and remain there until Tuesday, Nov. 28 when the Silent Auction will end at 7:30 p.m.

When entered for auction, all decorations including lights, garland, ornaments, etc. will become part of the "Festival of Wreaths" and will not be returned to the contributor. All wreaths, mantel displays or swags for the Silent Auction will be recognized in all advertising and publicity unless they wish to remain anonymous. The retail value of the wreath, mantel display or swag may be included on the silent bid sheet with the exhibitor's/ contributor's consent.

The Silent Auction will conclude on Tuesday, Nov. 28. There will be an open house at the Main Street Wayne Office from noon to 7:30 p.m. where the items can be viewed and silent bids can be accepted. All entries will be for sale and the highest silent bid will be the one accepted.

Guests will be invited to vote for the "People's Choice Award" which will be displayed at the annual Fantasy Forest at the Wayne National Guard Armory on Nov. 30-31.

Holiday treats and beverages will be provided at the open house on Tuesday, Nov. 28 and all people are encouraged to participate in the voting and auction. At 5 p.m. people are encouraged to join the Main Street Wayne group at the official lighting of the Community Christmas Tree which will be located at Seventh and Main Streets in the First National Bank parking lot.

Questions about the "Festival of Wreaths Silent Auction" can be addressed to the Main Street Wayne office at (402) 375-5062 or to Kate Lutt, "Festival of Wreaths Silent Auction" Chair, at 375-4053.

Harvest Festival is a success

The Harvest Festival was held Oct 8 at the Wayne City Auditorium.

There were a variety of craft booths such as quilts from the Quilt Shop in Wakefield, jams and jellies, woven rugs, cornhusk flowers, Romanian Santas and painted Romanian eggs.

There were also food vendors as well as several children's activities. St. Mary's Elementary School conducted a cake walk and Delta Sigma Pi, a business fraternity at Wayne State College, provided pumpkin painting.

The teen dance was held from 9 p.m. to midnight with a large crowd on hand.

Winners of the costume contest included:

- Best Gal — Monica Novak as Richard Simmons;
- Best Guy — Judd Giese was Scuba Steve;
- Best Couple — Marcus Berns and Andrea Simpson as Superman and Superwomen.

Prizes were donated by: Sav-Mor Pharmacy (a prize package for the Best Gal); Radio Shack (an AM/FM Walkman with speakers for the Best Guy); and Twin Theatres and Pac-n-Save (two free movie passes, two free movie rentals and popcorn and pop for the Best Couple).

Capitol News

People need to be informed and then vote

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It's that time of year when the airwaves begin to get a little crowded with various exhortations regarding the right and responsibility to vote. Well, let me talk to you about that for just a minute.

Actually, this is a little visit I try to have with potential voters at least twice during each election year. If it sounds familiar, that means it sounds familiar.

A central element of my view of representative government is reflected in that oft-quoted inscription on the Capitol. The one that reminds us that "Salvation of the State Lies In Watchfulness of the Citizen."

It's that "watchfulness" part that needs to be emphasized.

The fact is, I am not among those who would urge all of my fellow citizens to vote. Certainly I would urge them to inform themselves regarding the issues and then vote. But if they don't do the former, it's my view that they would best serve the state and the Republic by staying away from the ballot box.

I know, I know. This is heresy to some.

Well, they're wrong.

"Watchfulness" is the thing at issue. If election day rolls around and you haven't done much more than remind yourself of your traditional prejudices as you prepare to head for the polls - just stay home. You could do more harm than good if you just go down the ballot, whether local, state or national, and play hunches. Save hunches for the race track. If a lot of people make bad bets at the race track, they pay for them. If enough people make bad bets at the polls, we all pay for it.

An odd exception here would have to do with the presidential race. George W. Bush is going to carry Nebraska - so, vote for the tooth fairy if you wish. It won't change anything, and the tooth fairy is as likely as any of the announced presidential candidates to live up to his advertising. An exception to this exception would have to do with the Omaha-dominated 2nd Congressional District. If Al Gore were to carry that district he could get an electoral vote from Nebraska. What do you think? Yeah. Me neither.

Do remember a couple of things: First, Nebraska does have term limits. They are called elections. If you are totally dedicated to the idea that whoever is currently in should be thrown out, fine. But, no cheating. Do the "innies" and "outies" thing without regard to party or philosophy.

Second, if you're only partly informed as to various candidates and issues, then only cast part of a ballot. Don't go up and down the ballot taking a guess here and there. Vote what you know.

Do understand that I would never favor testing for voters, or anything of the sort. People have a right to vote and I absolutely believe in it. People also have a right to reproduce, own animals and buy guns. That doesn't mean everyone ought to do it before they are prepared.

Supports Hassebrook

Dear Editor,

I supported Chuck Hassebrook during his first run for Regent and have watched him represent us well.

He has been a voice to keep the University affordable and accessible for all form Nebraska who wish to attend. The challenge of the budget will always be there as the University grows and desires to meet the needs that are also growing.

Chuck will continue to be a voice fighting against excessive tuition increases and for financial aid for modest income families. To have money set aside from any increases in tuition and made available for need based financial aid seems to be an important piece in the plan.

Raised on a farm near Platte Center, Chuck has not left those roots behind. He is a strong advocate for the family farm and has worked to strengthen University research and extension programs that serve rural Nebraska. We need his voice on the Board of Regents.

The University is big business in many ways and we need a Regent who will support the funding needed to help Nebraskans build better lives and stronger communities, but not spend money on unnecessary construction or administrative costs. Chuck is committed to fiscal responsibility.

I also like that Chuck is available to those who wish to discuss the issues that the Board of Regents have on their agenda. He listens to opinions, shares his, and works towards finding solutions that are beneficial for all. He is not working for special interest groups but for all Nebraskans.

For Cunningham

Dear Editor,

This letter is to let folks know that after a great deal of thought, it seems to me that our interests in the 18th Legislative District would best be served by the election of Doug Cunningham to our state legislature.

When laws are written, we need more senators who will consider the interests of all of us. It is my belief that Doug Cunningham is the person who will do the best job in that respect and I am supporting him in this election.

I would also like to thank all of those persons who supported me in the primary election. It would be hard to overstate how much I appreciated that support.

Chuck Meyer,

Actions questioned

Dear Editor,

Ben Nelson's saturation of the radio and television airwaves with expensive negative attack ads broadcast ad nauseum against Don Stenberg over the last two months is the best evidence of Nelson's spending habits with other people's money.

We can't afford to send Nelson to Washington where he will be caucusing with Ted Kennedy and Lord forbid, Hillary Clinton.

Vote for Stenberg for Senate.
Rod Krogh,

Dickey supporter

Dear Editor,

The job of state senator is an an elected position, but none the less, a job. When filling a job you need to

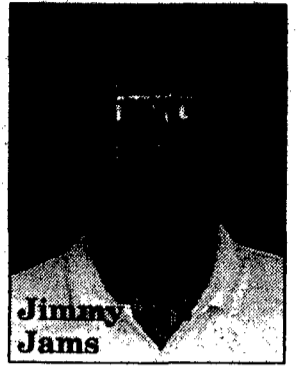

You can make a difference

You can make a difference...please vote!

On Tuesday November 7, 2000 this country will elect our next president, our state senator, congressman and local officials. This is a very important event for all of us.

We as citizens have an obligation to go to the polls to vote our convictions. If you don't, you let someone else's views decide what direction this country, state or city will move toward in the next four years. I believe that our founding fathers did not go to war just to have a place to hang their hats, but to have a place where they could govern their lives.

When you enter that polling booth and pull the lever or mark the box, please remember that your vote does count!

Jimmy Jams

look at what the job requires and what the applicants' qualifications are.

And yes, if we are honest, experience does make a difference. For if we elect an inexperienced candidate we will lose time and productivity due to "on the job training."

I suppose that unless you have worked in or with the unicameral in Lincoln, we are really just guessing or betting as to the qualifications it takes to be a good senator. I do believe however, that the governor knows what it takes.

Governor Johanns appointed Bob Dickey from a field of 12 applicants. If you were to throw Doug Cunningham's application in there at that time, I believe Bob Dickey would still be the appointed senator. Simply put, there was a job to fill and Governor Johanns filled it with the most qualified applicant.

We have an effective, respected and experienced senator working for us in Lincoln, let's keep him there.

Shari Dunklau,
Wayne

Time for change

Dear Editor,

"I wish there were term limits," I said to a friend as we were discussing some of the public offices.

"We have them," she said. She went on to explain that our vote at the polls on election day has the power to promote or limit someone in public office.

She's right! On election day, Nov. 7, we will have the opportunity to retain or vote out County Judge Richard Krepela in the Seventh Judicial District.

This judge has admitted to the charge of "tampering with evidence" while he was serving as Madison County Attorney. The Norfolk Daily News state that Krepela was "overworked" and "fatigued."

Well, almost every adult in today's world is over worked and fatigued and under a lot of stress, including many of those upon whom Judge Krepela has passed judgement.

To retain a judge under these circumstances puts our judicial system in a bad light.

Please use your vote to dismiss this man from office. All are entitled to fair trials. All are entitled to fair evidence — not that which has been tampered with.

Shouldn't we get back to "Liberty and Justice for ALL?"

Bonnie Brachle,
West Point

Few are responsible

Editor's note: This article, written by Charley ... was taken from the Orlando Sentinel Star newspaper.

Politicians are the only people in the world who create problems and then campaign against them.

Have you ever wondered why, if both the Democrats and the Republicans are against deficits, we have deficits? Have you ever wondered why, if all the politicians are against inflation and high taxes, we have inflation and high taxes?

You and I don't propose a federal budget. The president does. You and I don't have the Constitutional authority to vote on appropriations. The House of Representatives does. You and I don't write the tax code. Congress does. You and I don't set fiscal policy. Congress does. You and I don't control monetary policy. The Federal Reserve Bank does.

One hundred senators, 435 congressmen, one president and nine Supreme Court justices — 545 human beings out of 235 million — are directly, legally, morally and individually responsible for the domestic problems that plague this country.

I excluded the members of the Federal Reserve Board because that problem was created by the Congress. In 1913, Congress delegated its Constitutional duty to provide a sound currency to a federally chartered but private central bank.

I exclude all of the special interests and lobbyists for a sound reason. They have no legal authority. They have no ability to coerce a senator, a congressman or a president to do one cotton-picking thing. I don't care if they offer a politician $1 million in cash. The politician has the power to accept or reject it.

No matter what the lobbyist promises, it is the legislator's responsibility to determine how he votes.

A Confidence Conspiracy
Don't you see now the con game that is played on the people by the politicians? Those 545 human beings spend much of their energy convincing you that what they did is not their fault. They cooperate in this common con regardless of party.

What separates a politician from a normal human being is an excessive amount of gall. No normal human being would have the gall of Tip O'Neill, who stood up and criticized Ronald Reagan for creating deficits.

The president can only propose a budget. He cannot force the Congress to accept it. The Constitution, which is the supreme law of the land, gives sole responsibility to the House of Representatives for originating appropriations and taxes.

O'Neill is speaker of the House. He is the leader of the majority party. He and his fellow Democrats, not the president, can approve any budget they want. If the president vetoes it, they can pass it over his veto.

Replace Scoundrels
It seems inconceivable to me that a nation of 235 million cannot replace 545 replace 545 people who stand convicted — by present facts — of incompetence and irresponsibility.

I can't think of a single domestic problem, from an unfair tax code to defense overruns, that is not traceable directly to those 545 people.

Why you fully grasp the plain truth that 545 people exercise complete power of the federal government, then it must follow that what exists is what they want to exist.

If the tax code is unfair, it's because they want it unfair. If the budget is in the red, it's because they want it in the red. If the Marines are in Lebanon, it's because they want them in Lebanon.

There are no insoluble government problems. Do not let these 545 people shift the blame to bureaucrats, whom they hire and whose jobs they can abolish; to lobbyists, whose gifts and advice they can reject; to regulators, to whom they give the power to regulate and from whom they can take it.

Above all, do not let them con you into the belief that there exist disembodied mystical forces like "the economy," "inflation" or "politics" that prevent them from doing what they take an oath to do.

Those 545 people and they alone are responsible. They and they alone have the power. They and they alone should be held accountable by the people who are their bosses — provided they have the gumption to manage their own employees.

Writer feels Johnson good choice for vote

Dear Editor,

Please consider voting for Jeff Johnson as District 3 NU Regent for the following reasons:

He is 100 percent pro-life and pro-family. He has been endorsed by Metro Right to Life and NE Right to Life, Governor Mike Johanns, Senator Chuck Hagel and State Senator Pat Engel. If elected he will oppose using fetal tissue from induced abortions to be used for research at the university.

Being raised on a dairy farm, having served as a Professor of Aviation at UNO and currently owner of his own aviation employment company, gives him all around experience in agriculture, education and business.

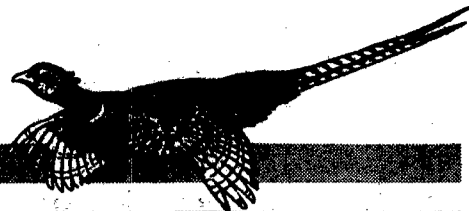

He advocates fiscal responsibility from the university to the taxpayers.

We are casting our votes for Jeff Johnson and encourage you to do the same.

Wayne's Lindsey Koch digs an opponent's serve in a recent match. Koch netted a career-high 39 digs against Northern State on Tuesday night.

Wayne State spikers split with Mustangs and Northern State

The Wayne State volleyball team split a pair of NSIC matches during the past week, downing Northern State in Aberdeen, S.D. on Tuesday night in five games but falling at home last Friday night to Southwest State, also in five games.

Sharon Vanis' team is currently 14-15 on the season with four games remaining.

The 'Cats downed Northern State, 16-18, 15-8, 3-15, 15-9, 15-9. Rayna Nelsen led the Wildcats with a career-high 25 kills, while adding 13 digs and three blocks.

Lindsey Koch notched her fifth, 20-plus kills match with 23 ace hits while adding a career-high of her own with 39 digs. Jessie Erwin notched 20 kills and added 22 digs for the winners while Kasey Meyer tallied 77 set assists.

"We played well," Vanis said. "Laurie Schroeder and Kyla Batten played very well for us." Schroeder finished with 11 kills and Janel Moody had a career-high 25 digs.

Vanis said her team trailed 10-3 in the first game but her squad didn't let up, eventually falling 18-16.

"Northern State is a good team," Vanis said. "This is a quality win for us. They beat eighth-ranked Minnesota-Duluth last week."

WSC improved to 9-5 in the conference and will host Minnesota-Crookston on Friday at 7 p.m. and Minnesota-Moorhead on Saturday at 4 p.m. in the final home games of the season.

Bears claim sub-district title and improve to 21-2

The Laurel-Concord Bears volleyball team captured the C2-7 Sub-District Championship, Monday night in Randolph.

Patti Cunningham's team improved to 21-2 on the year and will play Hartington Cedar Catholic in the District Championship on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Randolph with the winner advancing to the State Volleyball Tournament in Lincoln next weekend.

The Bears defeated Battle Creek in the first round on Monday, 15-7, 15-10. Brittany Burns and Emily Schroeder each had eight kill spikes to lead the winners with Katie Peters and Tori Cunningham netting six kills each.

Kari Stewart recorded 31 set assists and Erin Troyer led the team in serving with two aces on 9-10 serving.

Tori Cunningham was 12-12 in serving and Katie Peters was 10-10 while Melanie Thompson was 8-8 with one ace.

Defensively, Peters led the team with six digs while Cunningham had five. Brittany Burns finished with five blocks and Schroeder added four.

"We played with a lot of intensity," Cunningham said. "We played our style of game."

In the championship match with Randolph the Bears made quick work of the competition, winning 15-9, 15-3.

"Our strong serving took its toll eventually," Cunningham said. "We worked hard to maintain the momentum and team defense allowed us to become the driving force as we were able to run a multi-faceted counter-attack."

Emily Schroeder and Katie Peters each had six kill spikes to lead the Bears offensive attack with Lani Recob notching five kills and Brittany Burns, four. Kari Stewart finished with 20 set assists.

Defensively, Laurel was led by Tori Cunningham and Kari Stewart with five digs each with Emily Schroeder notching a team high seven blocks including four aces at the net.

Soccer team places runner-up at NSIC Conference tourney

By Jason Sturek
For the Herald

It was a record setting year for the Wayne State Soccer team.

Justin Cole's crew finished with an 18-4-1 overall record. The Wildcats finished second to Winona State in the NSIC tournament held last weekend in Marshall, Minn.

They won two of three games to take that honor including a 4-2 overtime shootout win over Minnesota-Duluth, a team ranked eighth in the nation and who had beaten WSC earlier in season.

"This has been a great season from the standpoint the ladies were able to get some immediate returns on their hard work and sacrifices," coach Justin Cole said. "It's not everyday that a team as young as this can go out and win almost every game they're in."

The Wildcats picked up two early goals against Northern State in the first round and held on to win 2-1.

Mary McDaniel and Jackie Arnold scored for the 'Cats. McDaniel recorded her 17th goal of the season at the 2:05 mark.

She was assisted by Amanda Keller. It was the earliest goal ever scored by a WSC player.

Jackie Arnold scored her fifth goal of the season at the 13:04 mark.

Sarah Herrick and Keller assisted on the play. It was Herrick's 21st assist of the season.

Kalle Wamsat got the victory as she shut out the Wolves in the first half. Her record is 10-0 this season.

The Wolves finished their season at 9-8-1 overall. "Anytime you defeat your rival it's a great win. This is the second straight year we've drawn them to open the tournament and it's always a really physical and emotional game," Cole said.

In perhaps the greatest win in WSC soccer history, the Wildcats defeated the UMD Bulldogs to advance to the finals.

After regulation play expired and 30 minutes of overtime produced a scoreless game, a five player shootout was called on to decide the match.

Hooly Eggebratten of UMD made the Bulldog's third attempt, putting the score at 3-1 in favor of WSC.

Wayne State's Abbey Kalblinger missed her attempt and Jenny Warrick of UMD knocked hers through. Freshman Amanda Keller struck gold with WSC's final attempt, putting the game in Wildcat hands.

"This was easily the biggest win in the young history of our program. To knock off the number eight team in the country shows how hard these ladies are willing to work and push themselves," Cole said. "This was 'bigtime' in every sense of the word."

The finals against Winona State was not as kind to the Wildcats. Wayne State lost 4-0 as WSU scored two goals in each half to silence the WSC sideline.

Winona State was both the regular season and the tournament champions this season in the NSIC, a feat they managed in 1999, also.

"This was a tough game to end our season on, but it shouldn't take away from the accomplishments of this team. My hat's off to Winona State. They outplayed us and were definitely the better team out there today," Cole said.

Justin Cole and the Wildcats have plenty to be excited about. The 2000 squad broke eight school records. Most impressive is the fact they will lose just one senior to graduation. Sarah Zimmer, a defender from Sioux City is the lone senior on the squad.

"This team has much to be proud of, but don't think for a second we're satisfied. We still have much to accomplish before this journey is complete," Cole said.

Rayna Nelsen returns a free ball in recent action for Wayne State. Nelsen notched a career-high 25 kill spikes against Northern State.

Allen spikers win D-2 Sub-districts

The Allen volleyball team advanced to the D-2 District championship to be played on Friday after claiming Sub-District honors on Tuesday with wins over Newcastle and Wausa.

Denise Hingst's team had very little trouble in either match as they defeated Newcastle in round one, 15-1, 15-10.

Angela Prochaska led the Eagles with 13 kill spikes and she was the team leader on defense with 12 digs and three blocks. She was also 10-12 in serving with two aces.

Melissa Wilmes was 11-11 in serving and notched 33 set assists while Michelle Marks had nine kill spikes on 17-of-17 attempts. Marks however, was a force in serving with five aces while playing consistent defense with six digs.

Elizabeth Bock had six kill spikes and six digs and Alicia Liebsch had four kills and four digs while Jennife Smith was 9-10 in serving and had four blocks at the net.

In the finals Allen handled Wausa, 15-8, 15-3. Prochaska netted nine kill spikes on 18-20 attempts and she was 11-11 in serving with two aces while notching five digs.

Melissa Wilmes was 12-12 in serving with two aces and she had 26 set assists.

Michelle Marks was 13-13 in hitting with seven kills and netted six digs while serving 8-9 with an ace.

Alicia Liebsch tallied six kill spikes and Elizabeth Bock had 14 digs to lead the defense.

"Our girls came back with a vengeance after losing at conference to Bancroft," Hingst said. "We really dominated the net offensively and defensively Elizabeth Bock had a great night. Now, we look forward to the district championship on Friday night in West Point against Prague."

Allen takes its 19-5 record into the match against Prague who enters with an 18-3 mark. The game will be played at West Point High School at 7:30 p.m.

Blue Devils end season at 9-16 Wayne spikers fall

The Wayne volleyball team was upended by Plainview in the first round of the Class C1-10 Sub-District Tournament, Monday in Wayne.

Joyce Hoskins' team ended the year at 9-16. Plainview sprinted to an 11-0 lead in the first game before Wayne responded.

Still, the Pirates won, 15-6. The Blue Devils owned game two as they roared to back to win, 15-3. It was Plainview however, who broke the match open in game three with a decisive 15-7 win.

"The girls gave it their all," Hoskins said. "I am proud of them for that."

Erin Jarvi paced the Blue Devils with 11 kill spikes with Kallie

Krugman notching seven ace spikes while April Thede and Leah Dunklau had three each.

Krugman etched her name into the Blue Devil record books with her two blocks in the match.

Those blocks pushed her past Jenny Thompson as the best blocker in Wayne history with 153.

Krugman was also the leader in digs with 13 while Amanda Maryott had 11 and Leah Dunklau, 10.

Dunklau had 18 set assists with her sister Alissa, netting six set assists and the top servers included Jarvi at 9-9 with an ace and Leah Dunklau at 8-8 with an ace. Ashley Loberg was 11-12 with one ace and Amanda Maryott was 11-12 with one ace.

Wayne football squad drops finale at Pierce

The Wayne football team had their season ended on a sour note with a 40-8 setback at Pierce last Thursday night.

The loss left John Murtaugh's squad with a season-ending 6-3 record—a very positive note despite the way it ended.

"Obviously this is a very disappointing way to end the season," Murtaugh said. "Overall however, we had a good season. Through the efforts and dedication of the kids, the program took some positive steps forward this year."

Pierce sprinted to a 14-0 lead after the first quarter and led 21-0 at the half before taking a 34-0 lead to the fourth quarter.

Wayne's lone score came in the final stanza with a one-yard scoring run by Justin Davis with Ric Volk connecting with Sam Kinnett for the two-point conversion.

Wayne was held to just 120 total yards of offense with 80 coming on the ground and 40 through the air while the host team rambled for 346 rushing yards and 386 total yards.

Trevor Wright led Wayne with 31 yards on the ground with Adam Jorgensen netting 24 and Matt Webb, 22.

Brad Hochstein was 3-14 for 33 yards and Ric Volk was 2-5 for seven yards with Brady Heithold, David Jammer, Sam Kinnett, Ethan Mann and Matt Webb each catching one pass.

Defensively, Trevor Wright led the team in his final high school football game with 13 total tackles while fellow senior Ethan Mann garnered 10 tackles.

Danny Roeber finished with nine tackles while Shane Baack, Marcus Berns and Adam Jorgensen netted seven stops each.

Winside beats Ponca in last football game

The Winside football team closed out the 2000 season in winning fashion—and indoors last Friday in Vermillion, S.D.

Terry Bear's Wildcats defeated Ponca, 18-7 at the Dakotadome Classic.

The 4-5 Wildcats got all three points from quarterback Adam Hoffman and in three different areas of the game.

Hoffman returned a punt 57 yards to paydirt in the first quarter and he returned an interception 42 yards in the second quarter as Winside took a 12-0 lead into half-time.

In the fourth quarter Hoffman scored on a 34 yard run.

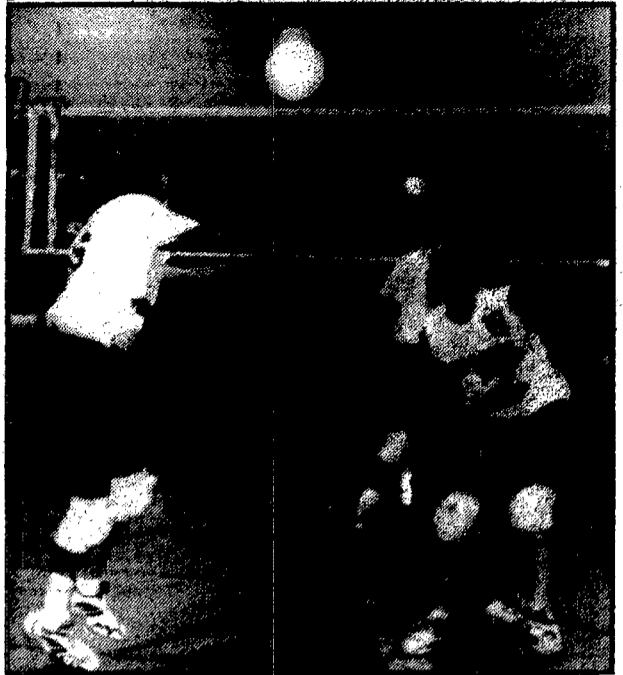

The game was dominated by defenses on both sides of the ball as Winside tallied 184 total yards while holding Ponca to 159 yards.

Hoffman led the way with 52 yards rushing while completing four-of-eleven passes for 65 yards.

Dustin Wade gained 31 yards and Eric Vanosdall netted 19 while Justin Koch tallied 18.

Mike Deck caught two passes for 47 yards with Justin Koch and Ben Lienemann each catching one pass.

Defensively, Winside was led by Eric Vanosdall with 14 tackles while Nathan Trautman had 10 and Adam Hoffman, seven.

Erin Jarvi returns a free ball during Wayne's sub-district match with Plainview on Monday night in Wayne. The Blue Devils were defeated by the Pirates and ended the season with a 9-16 record. Jarvi led Wayne against Plainview with 11 kill spikes. Kallie Krugman became the Blue Devils all-time block leader with 153. Krugman and teammate Leah Dunklau are shown on the left side of the page teaming up to block a spike attempt.

Laurel-Concord thumps Cards

Mike Halley may have unofficially pulled off a Nebraska High School football first—completing his first regular season as head coach undefeated.

The Laurel-Concord Bears thrashed defending state runner-up Randolph, 55-18 last Friday night in Randolph in the regular season finale.

"We played a very well rounded game," Halley said. "Offense, defense and special teams play were all solid for us. We couldn't ask for anything more in closing out the last game of the regular season."

Laurel-Concord led 13-0 after the first quarter and 33-6 at the half before opening up a 41-6 lead after three quarters of play.

Greg Kvols scored first on a three-yard run with Adam Hartung catching a 15-yard scoring pass from Nathan Beckman.

Brent Heikes scored on a 23-yard pass from Beckman before the senior signal caller yelled his own number out and scored on a 23-yard run.

Hartung caught a second touchdown pass from 18 yards out before Matt Schroeder hauled in a 23-yard scoring strike from Beckman.

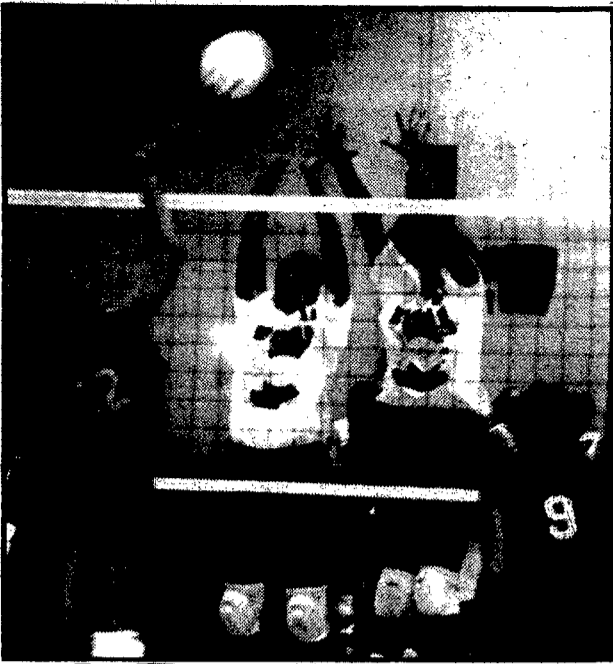

Greg Kvols rambled 12 yards to paydirt in the fourth quarter and the scoring was completed with a 20-yard scamper by David Asbra.

The Bears racked up 287 rushing yards led by Greg Kvols with 106 with Chris Lackas netting 70 and Beckman, 47.

Beckman was an impressive 9-10 through the air for 140 yards and Blake Erwin was 1-1 for 26 yards.

Adam Hartung caught three passes for 35 yards and Brent Heikes along with Chris Lackas had two catches each. David Asbra, Matt Schroeder and Bennie Surber had one catch each.

Defensively, Laurel was led by Greg Kvols with nine tackles and Jon Erwin with seven while Chris Lackas and Brent Heikes had six each.

'Cats win yards battle but lose, 45-13 WSC blasted by Duluth

By Jason Sturek
For the Herald

The Wayne State football team lost its eighth game of the season last Saturday at Minnesota-Duluth, 45-13.

The Wildcats amassed 368 total yards to UMD's 352. The time of possession was nearly even and WSC ran four more plays than the Bulldogs.

The WSC defense struggled defending the rush. The Bulldogs netted 322 yards on the ground and 19 of their 22 first downs were on runs.

"They have had a balanced offense this year. We tried to anticipate stopping the pass, but they just ran it down our throats," coach Scott Hoffman said.

The Wildcats led the contest 7-6 midway through the first quarter.

The Bulldogs found the end zone with 2:36 left in the quarter and did not look back.

They added 10 points in the second quarter and 14 points in the third stanza to put the game out of reach.

Wayne State has not beaten UMD in six tries. The win pushed the Bulldogs to 7-2 overall and 5-2 in the NSIC.

"We played with some intensity. The last three weeks our offense has played pretty well," Hoffman said.

The Wildcats have averaged over 350 yards in the last three games offensively. "We can't match teams score for score yet. We have to take advantage of things that go our way."

Justin Burhoop completed 12 of 25 passes for 235 yards and one touchdown. He was intercepted twice. He also caught a 21 yard pass from Bryce Teager.

Damon Ruffin had three catches for 104 yards. His longest was 89 yards. Tavaris Johnson had five receptions for 82 yards. Ryan Kuester caught one pass for a 25 yard touchdown. Bryce Teager had three catches for 24 yards.

Bryce Teager had his starting debut for the Wildcats at tailback. He netted 102 yards on 25 rush attempts. Nate Herbst had one run for 22 yards.

Defensively, WSC was led by Mike Baker with 10 total tackles. It was the fifth time this season Baker hit double figures in tackles.

Kyle Lingenfelter had seven tackles, six unassisted. Seven Wildcats had tackles for losses. Matt Schaapveld had five tackles with one for a four yard loss. John Turjillo had a sack and Yano Jones recovered a fumble.

The Wildcats will head to Minnesota-Morris on Saturday to finish out the season. Morris was thrashed by Bemidji State last weekend and Hoffman is expecting his players to make a statement.

"We want to send our seniors out with a win and come into next year with a win under our belt," Hoffman said. "We found out we have a quality back up running back. We have three quarterbacks who have all shown at times that they can play. This team has a long, good future ahead of them," Hoffman added.

Kickoff on Saturday is slated for 12:30 p.m.

Winside's Heather Rabe returns a serve during the Wildcats championship match with Bancroft-Rosalie in the Lewis & Clark Conference Tournament last week. The Wildcats were favored to win the C2-7 Sub-District Tournament on Monday but were upset in the first round by Randolph, 15-12, 15-3. Winside finished the season with a 19-4 record. No stats from the sub-district match were turned in to the Wayne Herald for release.

Wakefield benefit successful

A pork feed benefit was held Oct. 28 for Ed and Deb (Duffy) McQuistan in Wakefield.

Nearly 850 people attended and raised over $19,000.

The winners of the raffle were: Norman Slama, 19 inch color TV; Eldon McGuire, microwave and Kelvin Gutzman, $100 cash.

The McQuistan and Duffy families and organizers have expressed thanks to all who attended and helped to make the benefit a success. Thanks were also extended to Lutheran Brotherhood and AAL for their generous donations and all the sponsors and individuals for their donations for the auction, food and cash donations.

Ed is still hospitalized at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center, recovering from burns he received in a Sept. 24 accident at his home. He is continuing to receive treatment. Deb has recovered from the burns she received in the fire.

Innovative new products

Perceptions changing about beef

With the availability of innovative new beef products, like microwavable pot roasts, it's easier than ever for consumers to take advantage of a winning combination. Research has shown that lean beef can be part of a heart-healthy diet, and now it's so easy to have the protein, iron, zinc and B-vitamins that beef offers. In 10 minutes or less, hungry, but time-starved consumers can sit down to a satisfying beef meal packed with nutritional advantages.

The combination of convenience and nutrition forms a positive message that Amanda Young delivers directly to potential beef buyers, and to people that shape buying behavior. As director of consumer affairs for the Nebraska Beef Council, Young takes the direct route through consumer-focused forums, but by channeling the message through educators and health care professionals that influence consumer attitudes, so also are beef-buying habits influenced.

"It's all about getting the message to people that influence consumer perceptions," says Young. "Nutrition specialists, dietitians and physicians all serve as diet counselors, and teachers influence their students. But there are so many mixed messages presented. We want to help sort them out and make sure beef's true story is told."

Raised in the rural Nebraska community of Bartley, Young studied dietetics, receiving a bachelor of science degree in human resources and family sciences from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. She served a dietetic internship in Springfield, Illinois, before joining the Nebraska Beef Council staff in July. Among her first major projects is the coordination of nutrition, food safety and new product information for the Council for Women's Nutrition Solutions (CWNS).

According to Young, CWNS is an all-women advisor panel including health professionals with expertise in areas including cardiovascular health, fitness, obesity/weight loss and research, education and communication related specifically to women's and children's health and nutrition. This year's CWNS outreach program, "Everyday Solutions for Everyday Heroes," will disseminate information covering a variety of health and nutrition topics. A series of regional roundtable meetings is being scheduled to inform health professionals and media, with CWNS members leading presentations. Also being planned is a two-day beef nutrition event designed to equip CWNS members for presenting beef nutrition messages to other professionals as well as consumers.

Perhaps the widest audience of women, who are being heralded as the "Everyday Heroes," will be reached through a new web site (www.cwns.org) that will be launched in January 2001. The site will serve as a resource for women and the health professionals that counsel them.

"The Internet connection will be an easily accessible source of information where busy women can learn more about how beef fits their lifestyle - the heat-and-serve products do fit so nicely - providing protein, iron, zinc and B-vitamins essential to good nutrition," Young adds.

Another of Young's priority projects targets youth. Actually, youth education has long been viewed as a priority for investment of beef check-off dollars. In 1999, 95 percent of the 20,000 family and consumer science teachers in U.S. public schools received education kits to heighten beef awareness among junior and senior high school students.

"Young people do influence their parents' buying habits, so that's an important audience," Young explains. "Now we're focusing more on the 'twens', the growing group between the ages of eight and 12 years old. It's interesting to note the difference between girls' and boys' food related concerns. For boys, it's taste. Even at that young age, girls are concerned about nutrition and they are susceptible to fad diets and misconceptions. We can provide educational material to fit that age group and most teachers are anxious to get the information."

Young also stresses the importance of distributing nutritional materials directly to health professionals, with particular emphasis on cardiologists and cardiac rehabilitation groups. Publications such as "The Skinny on Beef" dispel old myths while emphasizing beef's value in a healthy diet, while "Lean N' Easy" recipes show how to prepare beef-centered meals with less fat and more taste.

Targeting of health professionals is a strategy that has been proven effective. Last year, more than 59,000 family physicians received copies of beef industry publications about how to treat adult obesity and eat smart, with a heart-healthy diet that includes beef. Through their doctors, patients received more than 1.4 million beef education booklets.

"Beef's nutritional benefits and the new, convenient products make an appealing combination. It's easier than ever to make beef part of a healthy diet," says Young. "It's a positive message that we're taking to consumers, and to the people that influence consumer perceptions."

The Nebraska Beef Council is a non-profit organization served by a nine-member Board of Directors. These voluntary directors oversee Nebraska's beef checkoff and checkoff-funded programs. Programs for marketing and promotion of beef are funded by the $1 beef checkoff. If you have any questions or would like additional information, please call the Nebraska Beef Council at 1-800-421-5326.

2000 upland game season is now open

Well, it's finally here! The permits and ammunition has been purchased. Dog boxes are in the trucks and the hunting dogs were ready to go.

At noon, Oct. 21, the 2000 Pheasant opener was underway in South Dakota.

Opening day was dry, warm and scenting conditions for the dogs were less than favorable. The wind made the birds jumpy and many birds were getting up out of range.

As any pheasant hunter will attest to, windy days can really test your wing shooting skills. Once the birds are airborne, the tailwind pushes them up and away at tremendous speeds. Hunter's needed to make sure that they swung way ahead of the bird before pulling the trigger.

Hunting under windy conditions is tough and windy days are good for the ammunition manufacturers but bad for the hunters as their shooting average goes down when the wind blows.

South Dakota hunters fared well in the wind, with hunters averaging two birds. Not bad, considering that the birds were moving at Mach 1 with the strong wind.

As usual, the Mitchell, Plankinton and Winner area all held good numbers of birds.

Pheasant hunters in South Dakota picked up a couple of extra hours of hunting time beginning last Sunday, Oct. 29, when the starting time for hunting pheasants was moved back from noon to 10 a.m. Central Standard Time.

Pheasant numbers in Nebraska had been up and down over the last their season opened the following weekend on Oct. 28.

Hunters hit the field just before sunrise and had to hunt in cloudy, overcast and windy conditions with intermittent rain on Saturday.

The warm temperatures had the birds spread out over large areas. With the largest concentrations of birds being found in areas near a creek, ponds or some watering area.

Many Nebraska hunters cut their day short in order to watch the Huskers take on the Sooners at 11 a.m.

Many of those, like myself wished they had stayed out hunting as the No. 1 rated Huskers got beat up by an Oklahoma team quarterbacked by a South Dakota native.

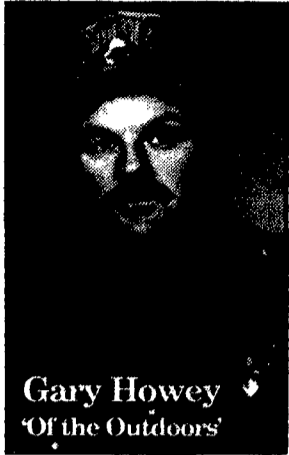

On Sunday, the rain changed from intermittent to heavy and most hunters stayed under cover, hoping for better days.

Reports of hunters success on opening weekend were spotty throughout the state, due mostly to the rainy weather.

Hunters out during the early part of this week have reported spooky birds and fewer numbers.

The South Dakota season continues through Dec. 31 and Nebraska hunters will be in the field through the end of January.

As the temperatures start to cool, dogs will become better at scenting birds, making finding and retrieving them easier. This along with the birds bunching up more should mean that there will be excellent hunting during the later part of the pheasant season.

several seasons. Much of the CRP acres that had created such excellent habitat in the early 90's, had been pulled out of the program and planted to row crops.

With the decrease in habitat, less birds were being seen. A wet spring in 1999, didn't help the hatch and drought like conditions in 2000 only added to the hunters worries.

Nebraska hunters were greeted by similar weather conditions when Getting the message out

Students at St. Mary's Elementary School conducted a number of activities last week during Red Ribbon Week. The students wore red clothes, passed out drug free buttons and wore clothing depicting what they wanted to be in the drug-free future. In addition, each classroom decorated doors with drug-free messages. The winners of the door-decorating contest were the fifth and sixth grade students. They include, left to right, Tyler Murtaugh, Luke Gentrup, Samantha Denklau, Jennifer Holm, Sherrie Kathol, Ally Miller and Emille Osten.

Shirtsleeve workshop to be held

The Wayne State College Shirtsleeve Workshop, an annual event sponsored by the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity, will allow WSC alumni who have been successful in their field to share their career highlights with students on Wednesday, Nov. 8, in Gardner Hall Auditorium, from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. The public is welcome to attend.

Wayne State College alumni panelists will include: Matt Milbrodt of Omaha; Jennifer Boldt of West Des Moines, Iowa; Lisa Parks of Omaha; Sheryl Cahoy of Norfolk; Michelle Rule of David City and David McPhillips of Columbus.

Student organizer for the event is Beth Freudenburg of West Point. In addition to her participation in Delta Sigma Pi, Freudenburg has been involved in the Association for Computing Machinery, Society for Human Resource Management.

She is majoring human resource management/marketing with a minor in management information systems and will be graduating in May.

Herbs for Health

Older Antidepressants Often as Effective as Newer, Costlier Ones

According to new guidelines from the American College of Physicians - American Society of Internal Medicine, both newer and traditional antidepressant medicines are equally effective for many persons with depression. Older medicines typically are in the class termed tricyclics (e.g. Tofranil, Elavil). The newer agents include selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors or SSRIs (e.g. Pavlo, Zoloft, Prozac).

The major difference cited between tricyclics and SSRIs are side effects. SSRIs are more likely to cause diarrhea, nausea, headache, and sleeping difficulties. Tricyclics are more likely to cause blurred vision, constipation, dizziness, dry mouth, and tremors. Interestingly, according to the new guidelines it is noted that St. John's wort may be effective against mild depression, at least on a short-term basis.

Public Forums to occur Nov. 13 and 20 on Town and Gown in Wayne

The Common Ground Committee will sponsor two public forums on the topic of "Town and Gown in Wayne: How Can We Make a Good Thing Better?"

One forum will be held in the Elkhorn Room in the Student Center on the Wayne State College campus, and one forum will be held at the Senior Citizen Center in the Public Library complex on Pearl Street. They will be from 7-9 p.m. on consecutive Monday evenings. All are welcome to attend both forums. The forum on Nov. 13 will be at the Senior Citizen Center and the forum on Nov. 20 will be at the Frye Conference Room.

Wayne was once described as the "Friendliest of All College Towns." Is this really a FACT? In this forum we will discuss four choices about how we can improve our town, our college, and their relationship. Then we will look for common ground and positive tradeoffs among the choices. The choices are as follows:

The Common Ground Committee is a group of concerned citizens (Leo Ahmann, Marion Arneson, Sheryl Lindau and Karin Vaughn) and WSC students (Jason Brozek, Liz Mathine and Barry Thomas) who met twice in October to frame the above issue for deliberation. The committee has no authority to do anything other than what each member pledges to do.

Four choices will be offered for your consideration. They are:

CHOICE #1: "Better Entertainment and Recreation Opportunities." Wayne already provides a variety of opportunities for entertainment and recreation, both on and off the WSC campus. It's a safe place to have good clean fun. But some feel it should do more, and with more emphasis on moderate alcohol consumption. We could have more special events such as carnivals and block parties.

We could have sidewalk sales in the school year, not just in the summer. We could have more specialty shops. We could make better use of existing facilities such as the high school and the public library, not just the facilities at the college. More students could become involved in the community theatre. These are just a few examples.

Proponents of Choice #1 may feel that this choice is not only good in itself, but also has some positive spin-offs for the other choices. It's hard to argue against entertainment and recreation. But some critics may feel that anything causing the students to spend more time and money in Wayne on weekends, rather than going to their hometowns as they often do now, will just mean more students partying in Wayne, and too many students drinking too much. What do you think?

CHOICE #2: "More Cultural Variety and Awareness." For its small size Wayne is already somewhat culturally aware, and seems more tolerant than it once was. Newcomers from different backgrounds aren't as conspicuous here as they are in some small towns. But clearly we could do more, especially in providing and welcoming cultural variety. We could ease the culture shock and adjustment process of newcomers more.

We could involve them more in community-based events, including community politics. We could have more places like the new coffee shop downtown and the new multicultural center on campus where people of different backgrounds can meet and interact. We could have a greater variety of multicultural resources in the college and public libraries. These are just a few examples.

Proponents of Choice #2 may feel that this choice is good for the economic future of both the town and the college, and that change and diversification are inevitable anyhow, so we ought to embrace them more openly. But some critics may feel threatened by the change and diversification that have already occurred, and prefer for these processes to slow down as we gradually assimilate them. What do you think?

CHOICE #3: "More Economic Growth and Opportunity." Wayne already has three factories, and several other ways for students to find jobs before or after graduation. But local store hours are often inconvenient, and shopping elsewhere may provide greater selection, both for students and for other shoppers.

Students can often find better weekend jobs in their hometowns than they can in Wayne. They and others often complain with some justification of the shortage of affordable off-campus housing. Stores catering to student interests may face a summer downturn in their business, so they may need more incentives to diversify their markets. Some of them may need to learn to see students as consumers, not just a ready source of cheap labor. More new businesses may need to see Wayne as a place where they can succeed.

Proponents of Choice #3 may feel that this choice, by promoting the growth of the town, will attract more students and better faculty to the college. But some critics may feel that the town and the college are big enough already, and they don't want to have all the problems of the "big city" or the "big university." What do you think?

CHOICE #4: "Better Bilateral Communication." There is already a great deal of cooperation, both economically and otherwise, between the town and the college. But some of this goes virtually unnoticed, perhaps especially to the students. At times only the bad things are publicized, and the others are virtually ignored. With better bilateral communication we could learn to perceive one another as partners in a shared enterprise.

Students could become more involved in the town, and with this involvement would come a greater commitment to improvement. The town and campus media can do part of this, e.g. with better access to officials and other decision-makers, and better visibility to their audiences. But they can't do it all.

Adopt-a-Student programs could promote better communication. We could have more forums like this one, perhaps on a regular basis. Students and townspeople might leave the forums talking to one another, and keep on talking.

Proponents of Choice #4 may feel that better communication is the key to the other three choices as well, and the cornerstone to all other progress. But some critics may feel that all we'd do is to open more channels for bickering and complaining back and forth, since the nature of college towns is to have such a relationship anyhow. What do you think?

After the pros and cons of the choices are considered, participants will look for common ground among and positive tradeoffs among the choices.

Special celebration

Anna Hofeldt, a resident of Villa Wayne, was recently the guest of honor at a coffee. Mrs. Hofeldt will observe her 95th birthday on Nov. 3. Approximately 35 friends, relatives and former neighbors attended the coffee and spent time reminiscing with the honoree. Among those assisting with the celebration were Rita Rhoads and Joanne Knelfl. Mrs. Hofeldt, who has been a resident of Wayne and Carroll for many years, has lived at Villa Wayne for seven years.

How you can influence your child's ability to read

In a world dependent on language, readers have great advantages. It is no wonder that you as a parent want your child to get a good start in reading. Do you wonder who you can do to help your child? What should you do first? Should you teach him letters and sounds? Will watching Sesame Street help? Should you get her a computer?

It might surprise you to hear that the most important thing you can do to help your children become good readers is to read to them. It sounds so simple, and indeed it is, but reading together can create attitudes toward reading that will affect your children positively as they gain the cognitive skills needed to begin reading on their own.

Reading time on mom or dad's lap is one of the pleasures of childhood—and of parenting, too. Children love looking at picture books and hearing stories until every image and word is memorized, pages are torn and corners dog-eared. Children crave that special attention and the worlds of images, sounds and stories that await them. Reading becomes a pleasure and an adventure—all the motivation required to want to learn to read.

As parents, you should look for a variety of books to read both to keep up your own interest and to expose your child to a broad selection of language and experiences.

Children who have what specialists call a literature-rich environmental environment tend to learn and progress more quickly than those who do not. Children familiar with literature tend to have a greater listening and speaking vocabulary, and they tend to understand the context in which words are used.

Each child will begin to "read" in a way unique to him or herself. Some will begin gradually, pondering each word and examining each letter. Some will memorize a story until it "reads" by itself. Others will make quick associations, guessing at words. Some might look at the shapes of words and skip over words to quickly get at the story line. Each child will learn at his or her own rate, not necessarily at the same rate as others of the same chronological age or grade. Parents should pay attention to the process but not the product. What children want most is encouragement, so enjoy the process and let each child develop naturally and comfortably, as he or she is ready.

As your child learns to read independently, don't stop reading together. Reading your child stories and books that are slightly beyond his or her level will teach new vocabulary and lead to new reading discoveries and adventures.

Parenting tips:

1. Read aloud to your child, and make reading a pleasant activity for the whole family.
2. Choose a variety of literatures to expose your child to stories, words and sounds that help develop vocabulary and understanding.
3. Observe how your child is learning to read and take time to encourage and affirm his or her efforts.
4. Learn about the ways in which your child's school teaches reading. Parents and teachers working together can encourage growth in reading skills and motivation at every level.

Antioxidant Vitamins May Lower Blood Pressure

Animal research suggests that foods containing the antioxidant vitamins C and E may help lower blood pressure and protect the body against the effects of high blood pressure. According to a Hypertension Journal of the American Heart Association report, both nutrients may reduce blood pressure by protecting the body's supply of nitric oxide. Levels of nitric oxide were lower in animals fed disease-producing free radicals. Adding vitamins C and E to the animals' diets partially reversed the disease process.

Vitamin C is found in many fruits and vegetables; vitamin E in nuts and some food oils. The US Department of Agriculture recommends that we eat at least 2 fruit servings and 3 vegetable servings daily. Many Americans go day after day with few fruits and vegetables in their diets.

Local teacher is finalist

Rae Brown of Wakefield was recently recognized in Lincoln as one of five finalists for Nebraska Teacher of the Year.

She is a multiple year recipient of Who's Who Among America's

Rae Brown

Dr. Doug Christiansen, Nebraska Commissioner of Education, representing the 24,000 active teachers in Nebraska made the presentations.

Also addressing the group was Gov. Mike Johanns, who presented each of the five teachers with an Award Of Excellence engraved plaque. A high school teacher from near Omaha was introduced as new Teacher of the Year.

During the luncheon, it was announced that Rae's enthusiasm and dedication in the classroom and ability to inspire students and communicate effectively are qualities that contribute to her success.

Brown has taught fourth and fifth grades at Pender Elementary School since 1972. She is a member of the Wayne State College Mentor Program, is Vice President of the Northeast Nebraska Reading Council and is a member of several local, state and national educational organizations.

Teachers, past winner of the Teacher Recognition Day Award by the Omaha World Herald, Extra Mile Award from the Nebraska Association for the Gifted, and Outstanding Educator by the Nebraska Jaycees.

Additionally, Rae was one of two Nebraska educators selected in the Spring of 2000 to participate in the writing of a book about the Missouri River for "The Watercourse," a nationally nonprofit organization dedicated to the preservation of American rivers. She currently has 31 fourth grade students at Pender Elementary.

The National Teacher of the Year Program began in 1952 as a means of recognizing outstanding teachers. The Nebraska Teacher of the Year has been in place since 1972 and affords an opportunity to honor dedicated teachers for excellence in classroom teaching.

Dr. Todd Young to speak to First Friday audience

Dr. Todd Young, Wayne State College associate professor of physics, will be the guest speaker at this month's First Friday Series event on Nov. 3 at 9 a.m. in the WSC student center library room.

The title of his presentation is "Search for Extra Terrestrial Intelligence: All Aliens Welcome." "I will provide an overview of various aspects of extra terrestrial life and intelligence," Young said. "The first part of my presentation will cover how we came to be (on earth) and will explore whether mankind can see the same pattern in other places in the solar system."

Young will also share ideas about extra terrestrial intelligence and what the odds are of making contact.

The First Fridays Series is a program of Visual and Performing Arts Office of the WSC division of fine arts. It is organized by Jane O'Leary. A free continental breakfast will be served. Although designed for senior citizen appeal, all ages are welcome to attend.

During each First Fridays event, a special guest of honor is recognized, birthdays are acknowledged and a talk or performance by a member of the community or WSC's faculty or staff completes the session.

Journalism students recognized

Wayne High School (WHS) students joined other high school journalism students and their advisors from across the state of Nebraska at the annual fall convention of the Nebraska High School Press Association recently. WHS received a Cornhusker Award (class B-enrollment of 201-499) for their yearbook.

The convention was held on the East Campus of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Students attended three learning sessions throughout the day. The more than 30 sessions dealt with writing, layout and design, photography, broadcasting, advertising, law and ethics.

Cornhusker Awards were presented to staffs of yearbooks and newspapers judged to be the best in the state.

Working on building projects

Recent completed projects by Wayne High School students in Dave Hix' Vocational Building Construction class include an outdoor deck and a dropped ceiling. The students work on various projects throughout the year.

Carmie Marotz earns professional certification

Jewelers of America (JA) has awarded Carmie Marotz of The Diamond Center in Wayne, the JA® Certified Senior Sales Professional concepts that jewelry sales associates encounter in their daily work, and to be certified, the candidate must demonstrate proficiency in each skill to an acceptable national standard.

The program formally recognizes an individual's standing in the field of jewelry sales, increases their confidence in their ability, and communicates their skill level to present and potential employers, colleagues and customers. The program is exclusively available to employees of JA's more than 10,000 members.

"We share Carmie Marotz's pride in attaining this degree of professional recognition," says JA Director of Professional Certification Mark Mann. "Carmie's successful demonstration of proficiency as a sales associate and display of superior professional standards can only enhance consumer confidence in the jewelry profession and in the work being done at The Diamond Center."

Initiative 416 is a BAD Idea...

The Radical Christian Right is systematically attacking Gay Citizens across our country:

In Oregon, they are trying to restrict Freedom of Speech by banning discussion of homosexuality

In Colorado, they have tried to restrict Gays' participation in the political process.

Nationally, they are prohibiting Gays from serving our country.

In Virginia and other states, children are being taken away from Gay parents.

Now in Nebraska, they are trying to use our State Constitution to remove all legal protections from Gay families.

Survivor Supplemental Retirement Income Funded with life Insurance

Survivor supplemental retirement income funded with life insurance is an alternative to the company-provided survivor income options, using life insurance. It involves a two-step procedure that combines a life income option annuity election with life insurance on the retiring worker's life. By electing the full annuity benefit from a retirement plan, the worker receives the maximum monthly retirement benefit for life.

Every married retiree who participates in a retirement plan will be faced with an important economic decision. At or before retirement, every worker should decide how to arrange his or her payout. It's not an easy decision: whether to choose all the monthly income the worker is entitled to by electing a life income option, or settling for what can be a hefty cut in benefits to provide a retirement income for the surviving spouse. What makes the decision even more difficult is that decision is often irrevocable after retirement begins.

Providing a survivorship annuity can result in a substantial decrease in the monthly benefit paid to the retiring worker. This mandatory-unless-waived provision exposes pension benefits to a risk that a survivor benefit will not be paid if the spouse dies first. And if the retiree remarries, there is no benefit for the new spouse, yet reduced supplemental retirement income payments continue for life.

Survivor supplemental retirement income funded with life insurance may offer the best of both worlds:

- The greatest pension income available to a retiring worker, and
- The assurance that a spouse who survives the retiree may not have to suffer severe financial loss if the retiree dies.

That can translate into higher supplemental retirement income for both spouses for as long as they live.

Learn basics of taxes; help yourself and others

Looking for the right opportunity to volunteer a few hours a week to help your community? How about volunteering for something that helps you and your community?

Become a Volunteer Tax Assistant (VITA) volunteer. The Internal Revenue Service is now looking for volunteers for its volunteer tax preparation sites for the year 2001.

No prior tax knowledge is necessary. People who volunteer for tax preparation will participate in a free training class conducted by IRS tax specialists. Participants will learn the basics of taxes to enable them to prepare simple federal and state tax returns for people who need tax help but can't afford to pay for it.

Volunteers who speak another language (in addition to English) are also needed, so if you are bilingual, that skill will be put to good use.

Volunteers will be needed to serve as "site greeters" for VITA sites. Site greeters will not need to participate in the training class; they will serve as the receptionist of the VITA site and control the flow of people visiting the site for tax help.

All volunteers will spend a total of 20 hours volunteering their time over a 10-week period beginning in February. VITA volunteers include people from all walks of life--from professional accountants to students, from retired persons to people who work at home. People who enjoy working with computers may be trained to work at a VITA site that offers free electronic filing.

So, if you're interested in learning the current tax laws and making taxes "less taxing" for yourself and others, call the IRS VITA Coordinator in Omaha at (402) 221-3501. You can also call the IRS's toll-free tax assistance line (1-800-TAX-1040) and ask the operator to have someone in charge of Nebraska's VITA program call you back.

Protect your home, maintain a 30 foot clear area around it.

Smokeout upcoming

The American Cancer Society is educating the public about the cost of tobacco to society during their 24th Annual Great American Smokeout, Nov. 16.

The number of people who die or suffer illness because of its use best measures the cost of tobacco to society. One in five Americans die each year from tobacco use. The annual American death toll from tobacco is estimated at well over 400,000.

Tobacco use also drains the U.S. economy of more than $100 billion in health care costs and lost productivity. Health care expenditures caused directly by smoking totaled $50 billion in 1993, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Forty-three percent of these costs were paid by government funds, including Medicaid and Medicare.

Even though smokers die younger than the average American, over the course of their lives current and former smokers generate an estimated $501 billion in excess health care costs. Tobacco costs Medicare more than $10 billion per year.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy and service.

For information about cancer, call toll-free anytime 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit the American Cancer Society web site at www.cancer.org.

Completes basic training

Marine Corps Pvt. Matthew J. Benson, son of Julie and Vaughn J. Benson of Wayne recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

Benson successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

Benson and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Benson spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training.

They performed close order drill and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

Benson and fellow recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values--honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Benson and fellow recruits ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotional ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

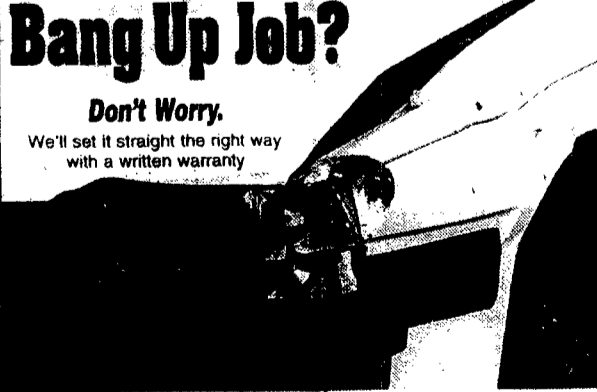

Benson is a 1999 graduate of Wakefield Community High School.

MAGAZINE TELEPHONE SCAMS

Thousands of consumers buy magazine subscriptions over the telephone from legitimate salespeople every year. However, some consumers are fooled by unscrupulous telemarketers into paying hundreds of dollars for long-term subscriptions that they really did not want and could not afford.

Fraudulent sellers make presentations so slick that consumers may be unaware they have agreed to purchase magazines until they receive the bill in the mail. Consumers who give a bank account or credit card number may also find that money has been drawn from their checking account or a charge has been placed on their credit card.

General's Office has recently notified the Attorney General's Office that they have received post cards in the mail with an urgent sounding message asking the recipient to call an 800 number immediately about their "sweepstakes win".

The caller will find he has not won a sweepstakes, but if he agrees to buy a quantity of magazines, he may be entered into a sweepstakes.

Watch out for these questionable tactics that deceptive telephone salespeople may use:

- The caller may imply that he represents a major credit card company or magazine publisher but may be reluctant to give the name of the business he is representing.
- The caller may refuse to give the total cost for subscriptions, and may emphasize that the purchase will cost only a few dollars a week.
- The caller may say the business is "approved" or "regulated" by the federal or state government when in fact, no governmental body actually approves magazine-selling operations.

Here are some tips to follow when you receive a telephone sales presentation regarding magazines:

- Ask callers for their name, and the name, address and phone number of the company they represent.
- Ask what the total cost of the subscription package will be. Then determine if this is a "bargain" price.
- Ask that a written copy of the sales terms and cancellation provisions be mailed to you before you agree to buy anything.
- Don't give your bank account or credit card number over the phone for "verification" or "computer purposes". You may later find you have been charged for magazine subscriptions that you did not agree to purchase.

If you receive a bill for magazines you did not order, or if your bank account has been debited or your credit card charged for magazines you did not agree to purchase, contact: The Office of Attorney General Don Stenberg, Consumer Protection Division, 2115 State Capitol, Lincoln, NE, 68509, (402) 471-2682, Toll-Free 1-800-727-6432.

Magazine sales successful

The Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters have recently completed their annual "magazine sales" campaign.

This year the Middle School and High School Music students have sold more than $17,500 of magazines, of which the school receives a percentage.

The proceeds from this campaign are used to purchase and clean uniforms for the band and choir, help purchase risers, pay for instructors for the color guard, purchase awards and sponsor the Middle School annual music picnic.

The Boosters also fund the band and choir trips every four years to Worlds of Fun in Kansas City. The High School choir will be competing next spring at Worlds of Fun.

Top sellers this year were Emily Truffat for the Middle School and Lyndi Tietz for the High School. The students are to be commended for their hard work.

For those who were not contacted and would like to subscribe or renew any subscriptions, contact Cindy Brummond or Diane Roebber at 375-1130 or Ann Ruwe at 375-4648. Orders can be sent via internet by visiting the web site at www.qsp.com. By ordering through the Boosters or the web site, the school will receive a percentage of the subscription rate.

Blood drive held in Wayne

Ninety-two people volunteered and a total of 81 units were collected. A number of people reached certain donation milestones at this drive. They are:

Carmen Tilgner	5 gallons
Lonnie Ehrhardt	4 gallons
Allan Wittig	4 gallons
David Ensz	2 gallons
Terry Meyer	2 gallons
Ronald Elsberry	5 gallons

Everyone who donated deserves recognition for their commitment to giving the gift of life.

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank will be at Providence Medical Center for the Wayne Community monthly drive on Friday, Nov. 24 from 8:30-3:30 p.m. Your volunteer book donation is your community blood supply for your community hospital.

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank serves all the blood needs of the 16 area hospitals and their patients. The ONLY way blood products are made available for area patients is if individuals in the communities volunteer to donate blood on a regular basis.

Police out to
being good

The Wayne Police Department has begun a "Caught Being Good" program to recognize area youth who are doing good things.

Too often the only time youth and the police interact is when someone has done something wrong and a ticket is issued. Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster wants to change that perception and hopes the "Caught Being Good" program will do just that.

"Caught Being Good" is a joint effort between the Wayne Police Department and several Wayne area businesses. Officers who see, or receive reports of youth being good will be issued a "Caught Being Good Citation" that is redeemable for a treat at Dairy Queen, Pizza Hut, Runza, Taco's & More, Godfathers' Pizza and Valentino's & Taco John's. The names of the people who get "Caught Being Good" will also be published in the Wayne Herald on a regular basis.

"The concept for "Caught Being Good" is simple — reward good behavior," said Chief Webster.

The process to start the program in Wayne has been a positive collaboration between a downtown businessman, a youth worker and the police department. Several months ago Karen Shattuck, who worked for Project Access in Norfolk, talked to George Holm of K&G Cleaners about doing something positive. Ms. Shattuck next took the idea to Chief Webster to see if the police department was interested. Lt. Phil Shear had just been hired and had implemented the "Caught Being Good" program in Friend where he had served as Chief of Police. Lt. Shear then did all the leg work needed to start the program.

Chief Webster stressed the need for citizen involvement. "Just like the citizens of our community are the eyes and ears for the police department when it comes to solving crimes, the same people need to watch for kids doing something good, too," Webster said.

"Anytime positive behavior can be reinforced and rewarded that is a good thing," Webster said. He hopes the "Caught Being Good" program will do just that.

CENTER CIRCLE CLUB

Rose Ann Janke hosted the Oct. 19 Center Circle Club with 12 members and two guests, Bonnie Wylie and Jami Jaeger. Club President Dianne Jaeger called the meeting to order and took roll call in the absence of the secretary. Roll call was "Tell About Some Halloween Prank" and a Jack-o-lantern exchange. Jami drew names for two pumpkin door prizes. Winners were Shirley Bowers and Arlene Wills.

Shirley Bowers, treasurer, gave her report and collected club money and fines. Members discussed when and where to hold their December Christmas party. Irene Fork and Cleora Fisher will check into different places and bring the information to the November meeting.

The birthdays of Cleora Fisher, Betty Miller, Rose Janke and Audrey Quinn were celebrated with gifts.

Secret sisters were revealed and new ones drawn. Blind pitch was played with prizes going to Ella Field, Arlene Wills, and Dianne Jaeger.

The next meeting will be Nov. 16 at Betty Millers. Roll call will be "If I were elected to a government office, which one would it be and why?"

SENIORS

Seventeen Winside area Senior Citizens met on Oct. 23 in the Winside Legion Post for a social afternoon of cards. Three articles were read on the origin of root beer, band aids, and silly putty.

VerNeal Marotz of the rescue unit came and took free blood pressures. All October birthdays were celebrated with ice cream and cake.

The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 6 for a noon pot luck dinner at the Legion Post.

COMPUTER CLASS

An adult basic computer class will be offered through the Winside Public Schools on Nov. 21 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

This class will include turning the computer on and off, basic Windows operations, handling programs, and word processing as time allows.

Cost for the class is $10 per person and will be payable that evening. Call the high school for more information.

VETERANS PROGRAM

The public is invited to join the students and staff of the Winside Public School in a Veteran's Day Program on Friday, Nov. 10 at 8:45 a.m. in the elementary multi-purpose room.

Speakers for the event include: Henry Langenberg of Hoskins, representing the Winside American Legion Post; Marilyn Brockman representing the Winside Auxiliary; Katie Barg giving the Girls State speech; Laura Neel giving the Freedom of Foundation speech;

Clarence Pfeiffer will be receiving a Operation Recognition award (diploma), and a number of Korean War vets will be recognized.

Legislation applauded

Congress passed the Cardiac Arrest Survival Act directing the creation of guidelines to place Automated External Defibrillators in federal employees working in federal office buildings across the country, this measure will dramatically expand public access to defibrillation in the workplace.

The American Red Cross, a leading trainer in AEDs nationally, is a strong advocate for public access defibrillation because as many as 50,000 deaths could be prevented each year through widespread deployment of AEDs in public places such as large office buildings, airports, shopping malls, golf courses and sports stadiums.

"Sudden cardiac arrest is responsible for too many needless deaths. Thousands of lives can be saved each year if people are trained to use an automated external defibrillator as an adjunct to CPR," said American Red Cross president and CEO Dr. Bernadine Healy. "That's why the Red Cross offers AED training with our standard first aid training. The American Red Cross provides lifesaving training to give people the skills and confidence they need to respond effectively in emergencies."

A stopped heart can only be restarted by defibrillation. Unlike a heart attack, in which blood flow to the heart muscle is temporarily blocked, the primary cause of SCA is ventricular fibrillation, a life-threatening condition in which the heart's normal electrical signals become disorganized and erratic, causing the heart to cease pumping blood effectively. Defibrillation, or restoring the heart's natural rhythm by applying an electrical shock, is the only definitive treatment for SCA. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) combined with immediate defibrillation is critical because the chance of survival decreases by approximately 10 percent each treatment is delayed. The current SCA survival rate in the United States is only about five percent, largely because CPR and defibrillators are not used in time. According to medical studies, AEDs are extremely safe, effective and easy to use.

The Act also extends Good Samaritan protections to AED users and the owners of devices in those states that do not currently have AED Good Samaritan protections. This protection will help encourage lay persons to respond in a cardiac emergency by using an AED.

"This legislation will place our national government in the forefront of combating sudden cardiac arrest and saving lives," said Congressman Cliff Stearns (R-Fla.) who is one of the sponsors of this bill. "I want to set an example at the federal level for the public and private sectors to follow," he added. Senator Slade Gorton (R-Wash.) also a sponsor of this bill, said, "I am delighted to help people get access to this new technology that was created to save lives."

In 1999, the American Red Cross made Adult CPR/AED training available to the 150 million Americans who go to work each day. Through its Workplace Training program, the Red Cross has trained more than 5,000 people to use AEDs. The American Red Cross also trains more than 8,000 professional rescuers in AED skills each year.

The American Red Cross Workplace Training program ensures non-professional rescuers are prepared with the skills and equipment to save a life. The AED training is integrated into the 4.5 hour Adult CPR/AED course. This course meets OSHA requirements and is available through local Red Cross chapters. Standard First Aid with the AED course is also offered by the Red Cross for businesses. Both AED courses can be adapted for community courses taught in American Red Cross chapters.

Contact the local American Red Cross chapter at 375-5209 for more information.

Eagle Scout project

Dock now complete

Fishing just got a little better at Ike's Lake north of Wayne. Maybe not from the aspect of having bass or crappie on the line, but from having a stable place to stand or sit to cast a line.

An Eagle Scout project, begun by Ryan Teach last fall, is now complete and a fishing dock at the lake is now available for use. The project should be especially useful to special needs or elderly anglers.

Access to the dock can be made by steps or by a wheelchair accessible ramp.

The project was made possible through the generosity of the following businesses and organizations:

United Way, Izzak Walton/Pheasants Forever, Kiwanis Club, Agro, Lions Club, First National Bank, State National Bank, Farmers & Merchants Bank, Methodist Church Youth and Mr. and Mrs. John Carollo.

Ryan would also like to extend special thanks to the WSC Industrial Technology Club, club advisor Greg VanderWeil and the Our Savior Construction crew headed by Rowan Wiltse, for their assistance in design and construction of the project.

Alexander Hamilton to speak

Straight from the pages of history comes a visit with Alexander Hamilton by Donald Hickey, Professor of History at Wayne State College.

The program, "A Visit with Alexander Hamilton," will be presented at the Wayne Women's Club rooms on Friday, Nov. 10 at 2:30 p.m. It is open to the public and guests are welcome.

This chautauqua-style portrayal focuses on Hamilton's vision for America and his contribution to the country's founding. Hickey sketches important elements of Hamilton's life, including his youth, his work with George Washington's staff, the Philadelphia Constitutional Convention, authorship of the Federalist Papers and his famous feuds.

This program in costume and in character is followed by an opportunity to talk with Alexander Hamilton and with Hickey, the scholar of American History who portrayed Hamilton under the Great Plains Chautauqua tent.

The program has been made possible by the Nebraska Humanities Council and the Wayne Women's Club. For the past 27 years the Nebraska Humanities Council has worked with organizations across the state to provide public humanities programs that explore our rich heritage and diverse cultures. Through a partnership with local and national organizations, the Nebraska Humanities Council administers the Humanities Resource Center and Speakers Bureau, publishes Nebraska Humanities, supports the weekly public radio, Connections and funds many public television programs.

This program is one of nearly 200 Speakers Bureau programs available through the Humanities Resource Center. Those interested in hosting a program are asked to contact the Humanities Council at 215 Centennial Mall South, #225, Lincoln, Neb. 68508, (402) 474-2131, e-mail: nehumanities@juno.com or visit the NHC's web site: <http://www.lincolinne.com/nonprofit/nhc>

Winfield Delle

Library will host speaker

The Wayne Public Library will be hosting an evening of fun and history on Tuesday, Nov. 14 when Winfield Delle shares "Nebraska Folklore, Folk-lies and Fakelore."

The program begins at 7 p.m.

During this program Delle, who taught at Western Nebraska Community College for 27 years, will include stories and songs about weather, animals and people, as well as a 19th century stock scandal that grew to monstrous proportions. This will be Delle's second visit to Wayne.

Everyone is invited to attend the program. There is no admission. A reception will follow.

This program is made possible by a grant from the Nebraska Humanities Council.

Marching season proves successful

The Wayne High School Blue Devil Marching Band participated in the Cavalcade of Bands Marching Competition held at Wayne State College on Oct. 28.

This was the final marching competition of the season for the Blue Devil Marching Band. Again they received a Superior rating and trophy and were also awarded the "Best Winds" trophy for the competition.

This is the 12th year in a row that the Wayne High Marching Band has received Superior ratings at all the marching competitions they participated in.

"Thank you to all the parents, relatives and friends who supported the band throughout this marching season," said Brad Weber, band instructor at Wayne High School.

"A special thanks to all the people who volunteered to be bus sponsors, drive the equipment trucks and to the Cadet Band members for all their help this season," Weber added.

Members of the Wayne High School Marching Band took to the field on Saturday and received their third Superior rating of the year.

Ten bands participate in Cavalcade

Trophies and participation plaques were awarded to high school marching bands participating in the Wayne State College Cavalcade on Bob Cunningham Field in Memorial Stadium on campus, Saturday, Oct. 28.

"This is a nice final event of the season for high school bands since the majority of these bands don't compete in the state contest. The number of bands attending our event increased from four last year to 10 this year," said Michael Gillan, director of bands and assistant professor at WSC.

High school bands attending and earning participation plaques were Norfolk Catholic, Pierce, Madison, Stanton, Tilden-Elkhorn Valley, Wayne, South Sioux City, Wahoo, Ashland-Greenwood and Seward.

Norfolk Catholic attended on an exhibition basis. Superior ratings went to Seward, South Sioux City, Wayne and Pierce. Excellent ratings were earned by Stanton, Tilden-Elkhorn Valley, Madison and Wahoo. Ashland-Greenwood was awarded a good rating.

Other awards included best percussion section and drum major, Seward; best winds, Wayne and best auxiliary, Pierce.

Steroid Inhalers Can Save Lives

Asthma sufferers who regularly use steroid inhalers to ease their breathing also lower their risk of dying. Inhaled steroids reduce the inflammation that causes airways to contract and clog, making breathing difficult. Over time they make the airways less sensitive to things that trigger attacks. A study, in the New England Journal of Medicine, calculated that the rate of death from asthma decreased by 21% with each additional canister used during the year.

Hake-Heinemann married

Pam Hake of Lincoln and Scott Heinemann of rural Winside were married June 23, 2000 at St. Teresa's Church in Lincoln.

The Rev. Joseph Nemecek officiated at the 6:23 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Ken and Maureen Hake of Lincoln and Harris and Clara Heinemann of rural Wayne.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Mildred Knowles and soloist Linda Ficke. Selections included "Bridal Prayer"

Mr. and Mrs. Heinemann sung by the soloist and "Hear Us Now, Our God and Father," sung by the congregation.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white, floor-length silk gown. It featured cap sleeves, a semi-cathedral train with embroidery.

She wore a waist-length veil with a satin headband. She carried an arm bouquet of pastel flowers, accented with silver ribbon.

Maid of Honor was Jennifer Kaufman of Los Angeles, Calif.

Square dance festival held

The Northeast Nebraska Square and Round Dance Federation held its annual Fall Festival Oct. 8 in the Madison City Auditorium with 178 dancers in attendance from Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa and Kansas.

Mike Hogan of Omaha was the guest caller, conducting workshops in the afternoon and called a dance in the evening.

Sharon and Darrell Beck of Sioux

City, Iowa cued the afternoon Round Dance workshop and the evening dance.

A Square Dance apparel shop by Corner Square Fashions of LeMars, Iowa was also in attendance.

Nebraska State Square Dance Association officers attending were Presidents John and Anita Hahn and Treasurers Jim and Marietta Arens.

All dancers in the Northeast Federation were encouraged to record the miles they traveled to and from a dance within the federation between Sept. 1, 1999 and Aug. 31, 2000. A total of 21 dancers for nine clubs participated and accumulated 139,322 miles. The individual mileage winner was Vivian Tuttle with a total of 14,559 miles.

The "Yellow Rockers" Relay for Life team prepared and served the evening meal, which consisted of toasted salad, baked ham, potatoes au gratin, corn, dinner rolls with butter, homemade pie with ice cream and coffee.

Ruth and Merle Stone of Newman Grove hosted the festival.

Rose Mary Mintz to be honored

Rose Mary Mintz will be honored for her 80th birthday on Wednesday, Nov. 8, 2000.

An open house will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Laurel.

Blood bank recognizes donors

Siouxland Community Blood Bank hosted a reception dinner to thank and recognize donors and volunteers for their outstanding support and contributions to the community blood program in 1999.

Sixty-three donors were recognized for 10 gallon donations, seven donors for 15 gallons, five donors for 20 gallons and one donor for 30 gallons. Four individuals were recognized for donating their time and talents to daily operations.

Local community members who were each 10-gallon donors included Thomas Eaton of Wakefield, Sharon Fleer, Vern Schulz, and Brooks Widner, all of Wayne.

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank is located at 1019 Jones Street in Sioux City. The Blood Bank services 16 area hospitals in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

The congregation of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne will celebrate the church's 75th anniversary this weekend with a number of special activities.

Anniversary to be noted

Grace Lutheran Church is observing its 75th anniversary this year. It provides the congregation an opportunity to reflect on God's blessings and to rejoice in the continuing opportunities to serve Him.

After initially meeting in homes, on Nov. 22, 1925, a constitution was adopted and the Rev. Herman H. Hopmann became the first pastor.

The present site at Ninth and Logan Streets, was purchased for $2,000 and a modest chapel was built in 1927. By 1926 the congregation had grown from nine families to 59 baptized souls. Current membership is just less than 1,000.

Following the traffic death of the Rev. Walter Brackensick, who was the second pastor, the congregation was served by the Rev. E.J. Bernthal for more than 24 years.

The present pastor is the Rev. Jeffrey Anderson who was installed in 1988. Seven other pastors and associate pastors have been important in the Grace ministry.

The original chapel was replaced in 1942. There was a building expansion in 1962 and an education wing was added in 1995.

Grace Lutheran Church has extended its ministry to Wayne State students for many years. Recognizing the need for additional pastoral services, three vicars served the campus, each for one year, between 1967 and 1972. Currently, that ministry is the responsibility of the associate pastor. The Campus Center, across from the Willow Bowl, was built in 1989.

Five men who have been associated with the Grace congregation, either as members or as college students attending Grace, have become ordained ministers. Two members at this time are seminary students and other members have chosen to become professional church workers.

There are many organizations with a variety of goals of serving, studying and providing fun and fellowship. These groups, as well as the entire congregation, are committed to the support of foreign and domestic missions.

The scriptural theme of this year of celebration comes from 2 Peter 3:18 — "But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and forever. Amen."

Everyone in the community is welcome to attend the 10:30 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Nov. 5 or the anniversary program at 1 p.m. that day.

Rally held in South Sioux City

Thirty-six persons attended the Saturday morning brunch at the Fall Rally of the Wayne Zone Lutheran Women's Missionary League on Oct. 7 at Hope Lutheran Church in South Sioux City.

Opening devotions were led by Rev. Gary Klatt of Martinsburg, Zone Counselor. The welcome was given by Jean Pierce, president of Hope in South Sioux City and introduction of guests and the LWML Pledge were given by Zone President, Nila Schuttler of Wayne.

Under the theme "Missions on our Doorstep," Missionary-at-large Rev. Michael Schussler shared his experiences of ministering to the Laotian, Asian and Hispanic cultures in Sioux City, Iowa.

"In the U.S. less than half of our population even claim to believe in Jesus as their Savior," he said. "The U.S. is the second largest receiver of foreign missionaries in the world because they know there aren't many true Christians here so they come to show us the way to salvation. No matter what the culture, people need joy and peace and hope just as much as we do." We have been put here to touch others' lives."

Newly elected officers Nila Schuttler, Zone President and Patti Mattes of Allen, Treasurer, were installed by Rev. Klatt, who also led closing devotions.

The 2001 Spring Christian Growth Workshop will be held at St. Paul of Concord and the 2001 Fall Rally will be held at Immanuel of rural Wakefield.

Delegate to the national LWML Convention in San Jose, Calif. in 2001 will be Monica Ebmeier of Laurel with Dolores Buss as alternate.

Bartos attends Institute

Jennifer Bartos of Wayne was among those representing the Northeast Early Childhood Training Partnership and Nebraska Association for the Education of Young Children (NeAEYC) at an Institute held recently. Bartos is an in-home child care provider.

Bartos attended Nebraska's second "Taking the Lead Institute" which was held Oct. 23, 24, and 25 with the purpose of building early childhood community leadership across the State of Nebraska and its communities.

To meet the growing need for leadership to represent Nebraska children and families in public decision making, the Institute invited two-person team applications from projects and organizations associated with early care and education. The location of the Institute was St. Benedict Center near Schuyler.

The second segment of the Institute is scheduled for March 19-21, 2001. At that time, the participants will return to their communities, having developed an action plan related to early childhood care and education which they will institute in their own area.

Taking the Lead Institutes are sponsored by the Nebraska Early Childhood Training Center in partnership with the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension and sponsoring organizations.

Seniors named distinguished scholars

Wayne High School seniors Erin Arneson and Jeanne Allemann were among 200 academically top-ranking Nebraska students to be named "Omaha World Herald Distinguished Scholars."

They were recognized at an awards dinner held Oct. 30 at the Embassy Suites in Lincoln.

Criteria for selection is based primarily upon high PSAT, SAT and/or ACT scores and high school academic record.

The event, co-sponsored by the Omaha World Herald and the University of Nebraska, honored students for their academic achievements. Vice Chancellor James Grieson served as Master of Ceremonies, with UNL Chancellor Harvey Perleman as keynote speaker. Omaha World Herald Chairman/

CEO John Gottschalk and UNL's Honors Program Director Annie Magnusson recognized each student individually at the awards event.

Erin is the daughter of Marion and Patricia Arneson. Jeanne is the daughter of Jerry and Lynne Allemann. Both will be 2001 graduates of Wayne High School.

NOVEMBER IS "National Home Care Month"

Home care is the oldest form of health care, having been traditionally given at home throughout the centuries. It is also the newest. Thanks to modern technology it is a satisfying form of health care that is becoming more available to the American public all the time. It is an idea whose time has come.

Country Commander is Harvey Relitz and County President is Arlene Lundahl, both of Emerson.

RECEIVE NATIONAL AWARD

Kirby Mousel attended the recent Foxfire 2000 National Conference in Atlanta, Ga., to accept the Exemplary Classroom Award for himself and his students. Mousel said only four were presented nationwide and two went to Nebraska schools.

The award stems from several things, "Mousel said, "My organization, a level I class I took plus the Barelman Barn Raising project which was undertaken during the Institute last school term."

Mousel gives lots of credit to his students last year, especially the seniors. They helped prepare a video on the project for the application and helped in many other ways," he said. "I just got to go to Atlanta."

Foxfire is a nonprofit educational organization based in Georgia whose mission is to model, refine and encourage active learning experiences for students in an educational setting across the nation.

The conference held Oct. 13, 14 brought together teachers, administrators and representatives of educational reform groups from across the county to hold discussion, and take part in intensive team work sessions.

Theme for the conference was "Connecting Community, Classrooms and Curriculum."

In a letter informing Mousel of the Award Foxfire stated, "The Barelman Barn raising demonstrates how students can make valuable contributions to their community. From preplanning and making presentations to stabilizing and painting the barn, students have learned the curricular mandates and make a difference in their community. Foxfire is happy to recognize both you and your students with an Exemplary Classrooms Award."

IN WHO'S WHO PUBLICATION
Three members of the Wakefield Community School teaching staff have been recognized for their teaching excellence by being included in the sixth edition of Who's Who America's Teachers 2000

Nominated by former students honorees included business instructor Jennifer Goos, Elementary Teacher Kathy Johnson and Art instructor Kirby Mousel.

This is an honor reserved for teachers selected by one of more of their former students who themselves have been distinguished by being listed in either Who's Who Among American High School students or the National Dean's List.

NEW HONOR SOCIETY MEMBERS

The Wakefield Chapter of the National Honor Society named nine new members in ceremonies held recently at the school.

Selected were Nicole Hansen, Timarie Bebee, Jessica Dutcher, Kayla Ervin, Jason Simpson, Mick Ekberg, Annie Bierbower, Ross Hansen, and Josh Becker.

Current members conducted the ceremony and hosted a reception for the new members afterwards. Current members are Kassi Anderson, Leslie Boeckenhauer, Josh Henderson, Nicole Kay, Joel McAfee, Traci Leuth, and Todd McQuistan.

Advisors for the chapter this school term are Shannon Carroll and Zoe Vander Weil.

YEARBOOK FRUIT SALES UNDERWAY

The Wakefield yearbook staff is selling fruit again this year through Affiliated Foods School Sales Program. The staff is working with local Affiliated Foods member, The Fair Store.

Available through the program are Sunkist navel oranges, grapefruit, tangelos, red and golden delicious apples, Granny Smith apples, pears, Del Monte pineapples and russet potatoes. In addition, there are also three different variety packs available.

Sales will run from now through Nov. 15

Annual staff members include Annie Bierbower, Timarie Bebee, Megan Brown, Jessica Dutcher, Jennifer Jaeger, Mikki Kay, Traci Potter, Amy Leonard, Melissa Moody, Angie Rhoads, Kendra Thompson, Thu Tran, and Elizabeth Zulkosky.

If you are not contacted and wish to purchase fruit, please call one of these students or yearbook advisor Mrs. Jennifer Goos at school, 287-2012.

In addition to the advertising in the annual, this is the only fundraiser the staff conducts to support the publishing costs of the yearbook. The Fair Store contributes all earnings to the school project.

ARTISTS OF THE MONTH

Art Instructor Kirby Mousel selected 23 of his students for artist of month honors. This included 13 secondary students and 10 elementary

Honorees included Roberto Valadex, Tara Bjorklund, Samantha Dutton, Lane Fouts, Christian

Galardo, Alex Anderson, Christine Martinez, Mark Schroeder, Bernice Vallejo, Laura Salmon, Toan Nguyen, Annie Bierbower, Traci Leuth, Todd McQuistan, David Petersen, Matt Petersen and Josh Henderson.

Work by the artists is currently on display in the school library and parents are encouraged to view it when at school for conferences.

POSTPONED DINNER

The Legion Auxiliary has postponed a fundraiser that had been planned for November. A new date for the ham dinner will be announced in the near future.

Proceeds from the event will be used for auxiliary projects such as betterment for veterans in homes, Girls State, Scholarships, children and youth programs.

WINS QUILT

The 2000 Wakefield Health Care Chapter Auxiliary Quilt with a "Tulips in a Basket" pattern was won by Esther Park. The drawing was held in conjunction with the auxiliary's fall fundraiser recently.

Judy Loof was a double winner receiving the decorated pillow donated by the Quilt Shop and an afghan made by Margaret Patterson. Salem Lutheran Church donated two quilts for the event. Marge Johnson won the one with diagonal blocks and Terri Sampson won the one with the blue blocks.

Funds raised from this year's Potato Bake will be used to help complete work to renovate the therapy department at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETING

The Community Club welcomed Bencotter Plumbing to Main Street Wakefield with a ribbon cutting ceremony prior to the monthly meeting.

The meeting opened with 36 present. A thank you was expressed to all who participated in any way in the M.G. Waldbaum 50th Anniversary celebration.

Erelene Stubbs introduced representatives of Goldenrod Hills to talk about food commodities.

Reminder of clean up day Oct. 14 and that items are needed for welcome baskets.

Mark Demke announced that a $7,500 grant from R.D. Wilson Foundation was received for playground equipment. Paul Eaton is organizing a fun run to generate revenue so Wakefield qualifies for the Kiewit Grant. There is still some installation work remaining and equipment to purchase.

President Val Bard gave an update on Web site and says they hope to be on-line by first of December. Club members need to provide information if they want to be included.

Dan Zulkosky reported that Brian Schwarten is interested in supervising the park restroom replacement for his Eagle Scout project. Council wants to demolish old restroom this year. Recent power outage was due to Nebraska Power District problem which affected several area towns. A company was hired to cut trees from power lines. The job will take about 10 days. Levee work is on schedule. The Council is working on alternative parking site for semi-trucks.

Sylvia Olson told club members she is still seeking a place for Lefty's Memorabilia and is currently accepting donations for the project.

The Christmas promotion is being coordinated by Wakefield Advance. Larry Soderberg said there will be a different format this year. Advance will purchase drawing prizes for kids; Community Club is supplying $800 for adult drawings. The Lions plan to serve soup supper on Dec. 16. Advance is arranging entertainment and Santa will visit also on Dec. 16.

Advance has also taken on the project of providing the community with a time/temperature message sign.

Soderberg also reported for the fire and rescue. Hunter's Breakfast is Oct. 29; EMT class has started; fundraiser is organized for the McQuistan family.

Nancy Fredrickson reported that Graves Library had 8,910 kids and 9,249 adult materials checked out from October 1999 to September 2000. A total of 7,500 visits to the library were made during that time period and 66 new library cards were issued. The library has 710 new books, 77 new books on tape, 56 new videos and over 300 paperback books have been donated.

Becky Krueger reported on upcoming events during October at the Senior Center.

Ron Wenstrand said the Lions Club is planning highway clean-up this month. He said the Lions have a program to provide aid for people with needs in the area of hearing and sight.

Wakefield Health Care Center assisted living and nursing home is full, according to Terry Hoffman's report. Construction is expected to be completed by Thanksgiving and an open house is planned for January. The WHCC Auxiliary Fall Fund Raiser is Oct. 22.

The Little Red Hen Theatre will present Christmas Cactus Nov. 16, 17, 18. Theatre Style Show tickets are on sale. The event will be Nov. 5 and proceeds to go towards Young Actors activities. The Nebraska Theatre Caravan visited. There was a poor turnout for Sunday evening's performance; may not have them back due to lack of support.

Mike Moody, Jennifer Widner and Bill Heiman all reported on upcoming school events. Moody also said work is going on footings for the building addition and bid was accepted on heating and air system update for the building.

Interest has been expressed for better sign direction to park/ball fields. Judy Loof and Larry Soderberg will research options.

Wakefield Community School will host the November meeting.

BOOK FAIR

The Library Media Center at the Wakefield Community School will be holding the Scholastic Book Fair on Monday, Nov. 6 from 3:30-5:30 p.m. and during the first night of Parent-Teacher Conferences on Tuesday, Nov. 7 from 5:30-9 p.m.

The Book Fair offers a great opportunity for parents and students to browse through children's and young adult books and to get excited about reading. Look for picture books and easy reading, classics, non-fiction selections and favorites like Harry Potter, Arthur and Clifford and the Magic Tree House.

Books also make great gifts.

CHANGE OF DATE

The Music Boosters have changed their regular meeting date to the first Monday of September, November, January, March and April. The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

Anyone with students involved in vocal and instrumental music at the secondary level are members of the booster and encouraged to attend meetings and help with fundraising projects.

Christmas tree guide will help with holiday tree selection

With the holiday season just around the corner, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture has announced the availability of the "Guide to Nebraska Grown Christmas Trees" brochure.

This guide lists the locations of Nebraska's Christmas tree farms and serves as a tool for those looking for high quality trees in their area.

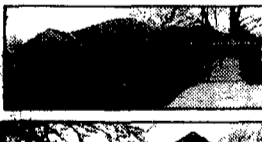

The Guide to Nebraska Grown Christmas Trees is updated yearly and available through the Department's Ag Promotion and Development Division. Christmas tree growers who would like to be included in the next update of the brochure should call 1-800-422-6692.

This brochure is a joint venture between the Nebraska Forest Service and the Nebraska Christmas Tree Growers Association.

Anyone interested in a free copy of the brochure can call the Ag Promotion and Development Division at 1-800-422-6692.

Thank you from the Carroll Volunteer Fire Department.

We want to thank everyone for making our Halloween Costume Dance a great success! Costumes were fantastic!! Thanks to everyone who purchased tickets, donated door prizes, and to the Red Eye Band for the great job, and to everyone who came and made the dance a success.

Your support of our fire department is greatly appreciated.

You are all great!

Aspiring to write

It's a cloudy, rainy day in northeast Nebraska; and I'm in the club house at Indian Trails south of Beemer. I still don't consider myself a "writer," but I'm hanging out with a bunch who do today. I was hoping for sunshine because it's such a beautiful day, but we are in no position to complain about moisture.

Of course, I am also missing the Game. Just as well, you know how nervous it makes me. Bad enough that there is a TV in the corner, on mute.

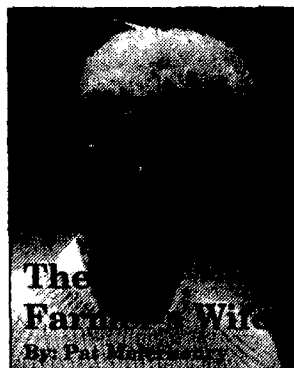

I dabbled in Nebraska Press Women, too, for one year. "Dabble" is the word. One column a week doesn't really qualify for that group either.

There are half a dozen gentlemen here; and about 30 women: all ages, many occupations, some published, some with a pile of rejection slips, and many different reasons for writing.

I've told people for years that I'm going to write a book about nursing. Actually, in 40 years, I probably have about five books. And, if I don't get one written soon, I will have forgotten a lot of those stories. My patients have such interesting stories. And, the beauty is, I know the ending when I begin writing the story.

I actually have half a cook book written. It's in a loose-leaf binder called I'm Writing My Own Cook Book. I would never have believed I would ever write a cook book. I did not start out to be a cook. I still don't consider myself a good cook, but I certainly have practiced plenty.

And, I have a three-shelf bookcase full of cookbooks.

My book is a collection of recipes I've repeated through the years, plus, the ones the kids call me about when they can't remember just how I made something. I plan to self-publish it, and sell it at the Farm House, if I ever get it finished.

I admire anyone who has the self-discipline to finish a book. This morning's speaker teaches at Wayne State, and her advice was: keep regular office hours. There's one stumbling block for me, immediately I hardly do anything on a regular schedule. This lady admits to reading The Wayne Herald which makes me self-conscious. Maybe she doesn't read the Farmer's Wife. Recently, in an old Reader's Digest, I read about a writer who died and was shown hell first. Here, there were rows and rows of writers chained to desks, with slave drivers standing over them, whips in hand, beating every hour.

The newly deceased shivered and said, "Goodness, show me the other place!" So, they went to heaven. Here was exactly the same scene: chains, desks, whips. At this, the writer exclaimed, "How is this any better?" "Oh, the guide replied, "but these folks are published."

This afternoon's speaker is an agent, who is approached by 10,000 would-be authors per year. I can't believe there are that many people who believe they have a story to tell. And this is only one agent. No wonder trees and paper are so expensive!

The score in the corner is getting worse and worse. Remember, I said we should let K State play those Sooners in K.C. on Dec. 2. I'm not being disloyal, understand, just realistic. Oh, well, we've had our day.

Maybe I'll use the little hand-held recorder and start the nursing book as I drive the two hours home. Meanwhile, I'll stick this in an envelope and drop it in a mail box in Beemer. I don't think it makes me a writer, just a farmer's wife who likes to talk about it.

Composting is now approved for dealing with dead livestock

By Jill Heemstra
Extension Educator

In Nebraska, composting is a recently-approved option for disposing of livestock carcasses. Other onsite disposal methods include burying a carcass at least four feet below the surface, incineration (permit required) and composting. In all instances, carcasses must be disposed within 36 hours of death on the farm where the animal died.

Injecting liquefied animal remains into the ground no longer is an approved method of carcass disposal. Removal by a licensed rendering company still is the easiest option unless a producer no longer has area service. Renderers face food safety issues, competition with other protein sources (such as soybean meal), increased costs and lower prices for their products. Some producers are left without rendering service or may be charged for removal of dead livestock.

Composting is allowed for carcases up to 300 pounds. The animal carcasses are buried above ground within a structure made of concrete, wood or even hay bales and covered in sawdust or other carbon source. The carcasses are covered and left to decompose aerobically (with oxygen). Temperatures will reach 120 to 160 degrees Fahrenheit and an internal temperature of 131 degrees Fahrenheit for three days is needed to destroy disease-causing organisms.

The animal carcasses are first ground or reduced in size. They are put in the primary pile, then moved to a secondary pile and finally a third pile. Moving the material from pile to pile is all that is required for the stirring process. Stirring is important because it adds oxygen to the material and speeds the decomposition. It takes about 90 days in the primary stage and 30 days in the secondary stages. A properly-managed, aerobic compost pile should not generate exces-

Composting can be accomplished fairly easily and economically. Additional time and equipment are needed compared to the other methods of disposal. First, as with all disposal methods, the site selected must not affect surface water and groundwater sources and be located away from human dwellings. Consider the drainage of the site when deciding what type of compost facility to build. There should be no surface water contacting the compost area. A diversion to handle clean runoff water may be needed.

Other factors needed include a bucket loader to transport carcasses; time to cover and move piles from primary to secondary stages; and a means to move the incoming sawdust and remove the finished compost from the third pile. SOURCE: Chris Henry, Extension Engineer, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Fall tillage is discouraged

Producers who in the past have done fall tillage may want to think twice before doing so, in light of the drought conditions that have persisted.

Paul Jasa, UNL Extension Engineer evaluated six different tillage systems in a soybean/ grain sorghum rotation. The results from the test plots showed that sorghum and soybean planted no-till produced twice the yield as did fall tilled fields in the test plots.

The fall tillage reduced or left little or no residue on the surface and dried out the soil to the depth of the tillage equipment. In contrast, the no-till did not dry the soil out, hence the increase in crop yields.

It is a known fact that crop residue acts to slow water runoff and increases water infiltration into the soil. Standing crop residue catches more blowing snow and prevents wind erosion. The crop residue when left on the surface shades the ground and helps hold moisture in the soil. This became very evident from the results of the test plots. Leaving the residue on the surface also acts to build up the organic matter in the soil, which again added to an increase in water infiltration and created more biological activity in the soil, resulting in better soil quality.

With the extremely dry weather conditions that have continued to persist, the soil profile both on the surface and in subsurface layers are severely depleted particularly in dry-land fields.

Producers are strongly encouraged not to do any fall tillage or even any shredding in hopes that the standing residue will capture as much moisture as possible this fall and winter. If conditions continue to remain dry, producers will want to consider doing no-till or very limited tillage next spring to save what soil moisture that has been collected and not drying out the soil surface with tillage operations.

With depressed prices for commodity crops and the high price for fuel, machinery and other operating expenses maintaining standing crop residue on the surface now and next spring is a very good investment in next year's crop and makes economic sense.

Achievement Night planned

Wayne County 4-H'ers and leaders will be receiving special recognition at the Wayne County 4-H Achievement Program to be held Sunday, Nov. 5. The program starts at 6:30 p.m. at the Wayne United Methodist Church in Wayne.

Several 4-H'ers will awarded county medals for project achievement. Special awards and trophies will be presented in the family and consumer science and livestock areas. Those 4-H'ers with one, five, ten and eleven years of 4-H membership will be acknowledged, as well as leaders with two, five, ten, fifteen and twenty-five years of leadership service.

Wayne County 4-H Council members will also be elected in conjunction with the Achievement Program. All 4-H parents and leaders will be eligible to vote for the adult members. Adult nominees are Penny Anderson, Diane Roeber, Kevin Davis and Jerome Settles. All 4-H youth will be eligible to vote for the youth members.

Council youth nominees are Maggie Heithold, Tamara Schardt, James Felt and Brent Svoboda. Newly elected council members will replace outgoing adult members Deb Harmeier and Jim Lutt and youth members Beth Loberg and Casey Daehnke.

Council members with one year yet to serve are Pam Ekberg, Jack Sievers, Ann Temme and Tim Puntney. The Wayne County 4-H Council plays an important role in improving the county, developing policy for 4-H events and coordinating the awards and recognition program.

All 4-H families, as well as prospective 4-H members, are invited to attend.

Knezevic is recognized

Stevan Z. Knezevic received the 2001 Novartis Crop Protection Recognition Award. The award will be presented at the 2000 Annual Meetings of the American Society of Agronomy, Crop Science Society and the Soil Science Society of America in Minneapolis, Minn. Nov. 5-9.

Stevan Z. Knezevic is an Assistant Professor of weed science in the Department of Agronomy for the University of Nebraska at the Northeast Research and Extension Center and conducts research at the Haskell Ag Lab near Concord.

He earned his B.S. degree from the University of Belgrade (Yugoslavia), M.S. from the University of Guelph and his Ph.D. degree from Kansas State University. Dr. Knezevic's extension and research programs focus on developing biologically based weed management programs built on weed ecology and herbicide technology. He serves as a reviewer for the Weed Science Journal and Weed Technology Journal and is the Chair for Weed Ecology Section of the North Central Weed Science Society. He was awarded several times for outstanding paper and poster presentations by NCWSS.

The Novartis Corporation presents the Novartis Crop Protection Recognition Award in recognition of outstanding service to one or more of the agronomic professions. A paid European trip is included in the award. Since the trip is taken during the summer of 2001, the 2001 recipient is selected in 2000 and honored at the 2000 meetings.

PROCEEDINGS WAYNE BOARD OF EDUCATION REGULAR MEETING

October 23, 2000

The regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education was held in room 209 at the Wayne High School in Wayne, Nebraska on Monday, October 23, 2000 at 7:00 p.m. Notice of the meeting and place of agenda was published in the Wayne Herald.

The following board members answered roll call: Maion Arneson, Jean Blomkamp, Bill Dickey, Sue Gilmore, Dennis Lipp and Phyllis Spethman.

Adoption of the Agenda: Motion to approve the agenda as published. Motion carried.

Resignation: A letter of resignation was received from Ted Blenderman, speech and drama coach. Motion, with regrets to approve the resignation of Ted Blenderman. Motion carried.

Financial Report and Claim: Clarification was given on a mislabeled bill to the Nebraska School Bus Company. The Carroll Elementary Route was mislabeled as a Kindergarten route in the previous bills. Motion to approve check #1395 for payment. Motion carried.

Informational Items or Reports:

Future of Rising Fuel Costs: Dr. Reinert provided board members with information on how energy can be conserved within the district, as fuel costs begin to soar. Dr. Reinert also had information from the U.S. Department of Energy. Each building principal and Dennis Mitchell, maintenance supervisor, provided and discussed suggestions with Dr. Reinert about what measures could be taken. Some measures being taken to conserve energy included adjusting thermostats, reduce lighting, seal heating and cooling ductwork, replace air filters regularly, turn off equipment when not being used, keep exterior doors closed as much as possible, and encourage employees to be energy conscious. Along with creating staff awareness, we should make the students and parents aware of what we are trying to do to conserve energy. Other ideas, some which may or may not be feasible included: go to a four day school week, eliminate field trips, eliminate in and out of town bussing, eliminate travel of sports and club teams, close buildings and upgrade heating system.

Cost Proposal of Wayne High School Facia: At the request of board members, Dr. Reinert asked Beckenhauer Construction to provide a cost proposal for the white facia border, around the new additions. The proposed cost for the project was $31,690. It would match the existing building and make it look uniform. Board President Spethman inquired about the possibility of the building construction class doing the project at a later date to save on the cost. The Board did not take action on the cost proposal and it was tabled.

Discussion of Wayne Community Activity Center: Dr. Reinert updated Board members on the progress of the Community Activity Center. The City Council voted 5-3 on site location and their choices were as follows, based on recommendations: 1) land behind Overin Field, 2) land behind and next to McDonald's, 3) land directly south of the high school parking lot, and 4) on top of the hill of the southwest corner of the school property. Dr. Reinert felt the proposed site would likely be decided between sites 1 and 2, listed above. The City Council felt that the school sites were difficult to access with a street (an additional cost) and afraid the school district would take over the activity center. Dr. Reinert assured the City Council that the school district would not want to take over the activity center. Previous surveys done by the activity center committee did not include people under the age of 20. Therefore, the high school and middle school students have recently been surveyed to find out what they would like to see in the activity center.

Football Field and Track Facility Discussion: Dr. Reinert stated to Board members that the school district needs to do something with football field and track facility presently located south of the elementary school. The football field is in need of major work, needs lighting, bleachers and the field needs to be re-crowned. Dr. Reinert had talked with John Murtaugh, head football coach and he expressed that where we currently play Wayne State College does have a nice facility but it doesn't feel like a home advantage to players and fans. Opponents are much more excited to play on a college regulation field. The idea of having a joint facility with Wayne State College was discussed and will be studied.

The track would be utilized for home track meets and physical education classes. There is no drain tile located on the track, and water collects underneath the asphalt with no place to go. Drainage of the facility would have to be studied and soil samples would need to be taken to see which site would be able to support the facility, whether it is in the same location or in the west field.

Board members expressed their opinions and concerns. Board member Jean Blomkamp stated the district should set up a strategic plan and have a phased process for the project. The phases process would include what would be done first, second and so on with the amount of money that would be available. Soil samples should be taken and have someone draw up a "what if" plan, with different options of where the facility would be located.

In conjunction with this discussion, Dr. Reinert and board members feel the need to rejuvenate the Foundation and hold a fundraising campaign to fund a new football field and track facility. Board member Dennis Lipp and Tamí Svoboda have compiled a list of alumni over the past 20-25 years, with addresses, to get the Foundation started again.

Wayne Community Schools Foundation: Discussion of the Foundation was held in conjunction with the football field and track facility discussion. Members of the Foundation Board are: Ken Dahl, chairman, Bob Reeg, Judy Peters, Tim Sharer and Jean Blomkamp.

Old Business:

Wayne Community Schools Emergency Response Plan (second reading): Motion to approve the Wayne Community Schools Emergency Response Plan as published. Dr. Zeiss will be attending a safety conference at the end of November. Dr. Reinert pointed out that this is only a base plan and updates will be made as we find out what additional items must be added. Motion carried.

Boardmanship:

Correspondence: A thank you note was read from the family of Dennis Redel.

A Board Member Workshop will be held on Tuesday, November 28, from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m. at ESU #1 in Wakefield. Presenters will include Dr. Paul Theobald from WSC, John Gerrard, addressing School Law, John Bonaiuto and Jerry Sellenin, addressing Educational Salaries, and Russ Inbrory, discussing School Finance. Sue Gilmore, Jean Blomkamp, Bill Dickey and Dennis Lipp will be attending.

School Board Candidates: Kaye Morris and John Dunning have filed for school board vacancies in the upcoming general election on Tuesday, November 7, 2000. Anyone wishing to file can do so before Friday, October 27, 2000.

Recap of Area Membership Meeting: Board members and Dr. Reinert attended the Nebraska Association of School Boards NASB Area Membership Meeting in Norfolk on September 27, 2000. Board members attended various sessions throughout the evening. One session of interest was the NASB Policy Service currently being studied. It has been brought to the district with policy needs and administrative regulations, and how to differentiate between them. There will be different tiers available but starts with the base plan. Each district can purchase different tiers depending on their size. It provides samples and suggestions for school boards writing new policies or "re-codifying" the existing policies. Another session of interest attended was "Setting Budget Priorities for Compensating Employees." Schools districts need to keep their employees happy because it can cost more to train a new person. Also, some school districts are starting their first year teachers higher on their salary schedules to attract teachers to their schools.

Future Agenda Items: Future agenda items for the next regular meeting will include NASB Policy Service and mileage companion report from last fall (September 99 - December 99) to this fall (September 00 - December 00).

Executive Session: Motion to enter executive session at 8:28 p.m. to discuss personnel. Motion carried. The Board exited executive session at 9:03 p.m.

Adjournment: Motion to adjourn at 9:03 p.m. Motion carried.

The next regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will be held on Monday, November 13, 2000 at 7:00 p.m. at the High School in Wayne.

ELECTION PREVIEW

EDITOR'S NOTE
Nebraskans will be voting on nine issues when they go to the General Election polls on November 7, 2000. So that voters can better understand these important proposed changes to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared a series of reports on these issues. This report briefly defines the issues, explains their purpose and finally states the arguments for and against. This is the third report in the series.

AMENDMENT FIVE:

Sometimes called the "Kate Witek" amendment, this proposal is designed to prevent situations like what occurred in 1999, when Witek, then a state senator, was elected State Auditor. Witek still had two years left on her legislative term and was not required to resign before she took office as auditor, on the second day of the legislative session.

She refused to step down from the Legislature until departing Gov. Ben Nelson promised to appoint a successor chosen by Mike Johanns, who had not yet taken office after winning the 1998 election.

This amendment would have required Witek to resign before the legislative session began.

Legislative Speaker Doug Kristensen of Minden introduced the proposed constitutional amendment, placed on the ballot by a vote of the Legislature. He does not think departing lawmakers should be permitted to vote on new legislative leadership, as could happen under the current system.

Witek, however, defends her actions and sees no need for this amendment. She said she did not intend to vote on legislative leaders, but she felt she was serving her constituents by insisting that Johanns be the one to choose her successor. In addition, she said, the amendment wouldn't affect all lawmakers -- only the half of the Legislature that stands for election in the middle of the term for constitutional officers.

AMENDMENT 5:

This amendment would provide that any member of the Legislature elected to another state or local office prior to the end of the member's legislative term shall resign from the Legislature before the start of the legislative session during which the term of the new office would begin.

SUPPORT:

This amendment would prevent situations where state senators who have been elected to other state or local offices would be able to vote in legislative leadership elections. It is the senator appointed to serve out the term who should help choose committee chairmen and other leaders of the Legislature.

OPPOSITION:

The current system gives a departing lawmaker a chance to ensure the incoming governor will appoint his or her successor in the Legislature. Changing the system would affect only half of the State Legislature -- those lawmakers who stand for election in mid-term.

INITIATIVE 416:

Nebraska voters will consider limiting state senators to two consecutive terms with Initiative 415 on the Nov. 7 ballot. A poll shows the idea remains popular with voters, even though Initiative 415 is the fourth term limits proposal to appear on the Nebraska ballot.

Voters approved other versions of term limits during elections in 1992, 1994 and 1996, but each later was thrown out in court rulings.

This proposal made the ballot through the efforts of Guy Curtis, an attorney from Imperial, Neb., and U.S. Term Limits, which paid circulators to collect 118,000 initiative petition signatures. Term limits supporters say career politicians stay in office too long, becoming entrenched because of the advantages of incumbency.

Opponents say that the turnover rate of state senators is actually fairly high. Term limits would create an inexperienced Legislature and give more power to career bureaucrats who don't answer directly to voters.

The term limits proposal would limit lawmakers to two consecutive full terms and no more than 10 consecutive years. The current average tenure of Nebraska's 49 lawmakers is eight years. Three-fourths have been in office less than 10 years. Three lawmakers in Nebraska have served 18 years or more -- Chris Beutler and Dave Landis of Lincoln and Ernie Chambers of Omaha. All three would be allowed to serve eight more years if the initiative passes.

INITIATIVE 415:

This proposal would amend the Nebraska Constitution to limit members of Nebraska Legislature to two consecutive terms. Under this amendment, no person would be eligible to serve as a member of the Nebraska Legislature for four years after the completion of two consecutive terms. Legislative service prior to Jan. 1, 2001, would not be counted for the purpose of calculating consecutive legislative terms. Service in office for more than one-half of a legislative term would be considered service for a full term.

SUPPORT:

Lawmakers who are elected time and time again gain too much power and influence over government. They become entrenched because of the advantages of incumbency and challengers have little hope of unseating them.

OPPOSITION:

Average tenure in the Nebraska Legislature already is relatively short, with three-fourths of Nebraska's lawmakers in office less than 10 years. Forcing lawmakers to leave office after two terms would cost the state because of legislative inexperience. It would give career bureaucrats more influence.

INITIATIVE 416:

The Nebraska Constitution would ban same-sex marriage and other gay unions like civil unions and domestic partnerships under Initiative 416, placed on the ballot by a volunteer petition drive this summer.

In a church-backed drive, supporters gathered about 160,000 signatures in support of the measure, often called the Defense of Marriage Amendment. Supporters say marriage should be defined only as a union between one man and one woman.

They say the amendment is needed to protect Nebraska from being forced to recognize gay marriage if other states legalize it. Thirty-three other states and the federal government already have enacted laws barring gay marriage.

Nebraska's proposal is unusual because it calls for a constitutional amendment, not a statutory change, and because of its language on civil unions and domestic partnerships. Guyla Mills of Lincoln, who led the petition drive, said the language was needed to prevent a parallel system of marriage.

Opponents say that language is the amendment's chief flaw -- and could lead to its defeat by the courts. It appears to forever bar gays and lesbians from any legal recognition of their relationships. National companies might be unwilling to locate in Nebraska because of uncertainty about how the amendment affects fringe benefit packages offered gay workers. And it could be interpreted to bar business relationships between people of the same sex.

The Nebraska Coalition for the Protection of Marriage, composed of Mormon Church members, the Nebraska Catholic Conference and the Family First policy organization, was created to campaign for the amendment. Several organizations were established to fight it, including the Vote No on DOMA campaign committee, Nebraskans Against 416, and Nebraska Advocates for Justice and Equality. Both sides say they plan to spend about $500,000 on the campaign.

INITIATIVE 416:

This proposal would amend the Nebraska Constitution to provide that only marriage between a man and a woman shall be valid or recognized in Nebraska, and to provide that the uniting of two persons of the same sex in a civil union, domestic partnership or other similar same-sex relationship shall not be valid in Nebraska.

SUPPORT:

The amendment is necessary to protect Nebraska from being forced to recognize same-sex marriage if it is created in another state. Marriage is a cornerstone of society and its traditional definition as a union of one man and one woman should be retained.

OPPOSITION:

The amendment would forever bar gay Nebraskans from legal recognition of their long-term committed relationships. It discriminates against gays and would lead to lengthy and costly litigation while the courts define its meaning. It would label Nebraska as a state unfriendly to homosexuals.

LEGAL NOTICE OF MEASURES TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION OCCURRING ON NOVEMBER 7, 2000

BALLOT TITLES AND TEXT OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

PROPOSED BY THE NINETY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE AND BY INITIATIVE PETITION

Also included are Statements of Explanation in Italics Prepared by the Executive Board of the Legislative Council for Amendments Proposed by the Legislature and Prepared by the Attorney General for Initiative Measures

PROPOSED BY THE 1999 LEGISLATURE

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 1

A vote FOR this proposal will provide that the candidates for Governor of each party, as chosen at the primary election, shall choose a person to be their running mate (candidate for Lieutenant Governor) on the general election ballot, and at the general election in November the voters shall cast one vote jointly for the two.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will continue the present system whereby each party's candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor are chosen separately at the primary elections to run as a team at the general election.

A constitutional amendment to change the method of nominating and electing the Lieutenant Governor.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER 1

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 2000 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection.

To amend Article IV, section 1.
IV-1 "The executive officers of the state shall be the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, State Treasurer, Attorney General, and the heads of such other executive departments as set forth herein or as may be established by law. The Legislature may provide for the placing of the above named officers as heads over such departments of government as it may by law establish.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, and State Treasurer shall be chosen at the general election held in November, 1974, and in each alternate even-numbered year thereafter, for a term of four years and until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

Each candidate for Governor shall select a person to be the candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the general election ballot. In the general election one vote shall be cast jointly for the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, nominated by the same party. The Governor shall be in charge to the office of Governor for four years next after the expiration of two consecutive terms for which he or she was elected.

The records, books, and papers of all executive officers shall be kept at the seat of government. Executive officers shall reside within the State of Nebraska during their respective terms of office. Officers in the executive department of the state shall perform such duties as may be provided by law.

The heads of all executive departments established by law, other than those to be elected as provided herein, shall be appointed by the Governor, with the consent of a majority of all members elected to the Legislature, but officers so appointed may be removed by the Governor. Subject to the provisions of this Constitution, the heads of the various executive or civil departments shall have power to appoint and remove all subordinate employees in their respective departments."

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2

A vote FOR this proposal, which would add a new section 10 to Article XVII (the Schedule Article), would require the language of the State Constitution to be "gender neutral," and would direct the Secretary of State to revise and reprint the State Constitution implementing this provision as soon as practicable after the approval of this amendment.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will retain in the State Constitution those provisions not currently gender neutral.

A constitutional amendment to state that the language in the Constitution shall be construed to be gender neutral and to direct the Secretary of State to revise and reprint the Constitution to implement such construction.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 2000 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection.

To add a new section 10 to Article XVII:
XVII-10 "(1) The language in this Constitution shall be construed to be gender neutral.

(2) As soon as practicable after the adoption of this section to the Constitution, the Secretary of State shall

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER 3, PARTS A, B, & C

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER 3, PART A

A vote FOR this proposal will add a new section to Article XVI (the Amendments Article), to change the procedure used to amend the Constitution. The change will require two separate votes at two separate elections by the people before an amendment can take effect. If the first vote is affirmative, the second vote will be at a subsequent election to ratify the amendment.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will leave the election procedures for constitutional amendments unchanged.

A constitutional amendment to change election procedures for constitutional amendments to require two separate votes by the electorate.

For

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 3, PART B

A vote FOR this proposal will amend sections 1 and 5 of Article III (the Legislative Power Article) and section 25 of Article V (the Judicial Article), by specifically defining the powers of the initiative (to propose statutes or constitutional amendments) and referendum (to approve or reject such proposals), and will remove some obsolete language pertaining to the former two-house Legislature.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will not state the specific definitions mentioned above and will retain the obsolete provisions contained in these sections of Articles III and V.

A constitutional amendment to identify the powers of initiative and referendum and to remove obsolete language.

For

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER 3, PART C

A vote FOR this proposal will amend section 2 of Article III (the Legislative Power Article, initiative and referendum provisions) by increasing from four to nine months the time within which initiative petitions filed with the Secretary of State shall be submitted to the state's electors at a general election.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will retain the present time limit of not less than four months.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER 3, PARTS A, B & C

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 2000 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection.

To amend Article III, sections 2 and 4, and Article XVI, section 1, and add a new section 3 to Article XVI.

III-2 "The first power reserved by the people is the initiative whereby laws may be enacted and constitutional amendments adopted by the people independently of the Legislature. This power may be invoked by petition wherein the proposed measure shall be set forth at length. If the petition is for the enactment of a law, it shall be signed by seven percent of the registered voters of the state. If and if the petition is for the amendment of the this Constitution, the petition therefor shall be signed by ten percent of such registered voters. In all cases the registered voters signing such petition shall be so distributed as to include five percent of the registered voters of each of two-fifths of the counties of the state, and when thus signed, the petition shall be filed with the Secretary of State who shall submit the measure thus proposed to the electors of the state at the first general election held not less than four months after such petition shall have been filed. The same measure, either in form or in essential substance, shall not be submitted to the people by initiative petition, either affirmatively or negatively, more often than once in three years. If conflicting measures which propose the enactment of a law submitted to the people at the same election be approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall thereby become law as to all conflicting provisions. If conflicting measures which propose a constitutional amendment submitted to the people at the same election are approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall be referred to the electorate for ratification pursuant to Article XVI, section 3 of this Constitution. The constitutional limitations as to the scope and subject matter of statutes enacted by the Legislature shall apply to those enacted by the initiative. Initiative measures shall contain only one subject."

III-3 "The whole number of votes cast for Governor at the general election next preceding the filing of an initiative or referendum petition shall be the basis on which the number of signatures to such petition shall be computed. The veto power of the Governor shall not extend to measures initiated by or referred to the people. A measure initiated which proposes the enactment of a law shall become a law or part of the Constitution, as the case may be, when a majority of the votes cast thereon, and not less than thirty-five percent of the total vote cast at the election at which the same was submitted, are cast in favor thereof, and shall take effect upon proclamation by the Governor which shall be made within ten days after the official canvass of such votes. A measure initiated which proposes a constitutional amendment shall be referred to the electorate for ratification pursuant to Article XVI, section 3 of this Constitution when a majority of the votes cast thereon, and not less than thirty-five percent of the total vote cast at the election at which the same was submitted, are cast in favor thereof. The vote upon initiative and referendum measures shall be returned and canvassed in the manner prescribed for the canvass of votes for president. The method of submitting and adopting amendments to the Constitution provided by this section shall be supplementary to the method prescribed in the article of this Constitution, entitled, "Amendments" and the latter shall in no case be construed to conflict herewith. The provisions with respect to the initiative and referendum shall be self-executing, but legislation may be enacted, to facilitate their operation. All propositions submitted in pursuance hereof shall be submitted in a non-partisan manner and without any indication or suggestion on the ballot that they have been approved or endorsed by any political party or organization. Only the title or proper descriptive words of measures shall be printed on the ballot and when two or more measures have the same title they shall be numbered consecutively in the order of filing with the Secretary of State and the number shall be followed by the name of the first petitioner on the corresponding petition. The ballot for a measure initiated which proposes a constitutional amendment shall include a notice that the measure is subject to a vote for ratification.

XVI-1 "The Legislature may propose amendments to this Constitution. If the same be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to the Legislature, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journal, with yeas and nays, and published once each week for three consecutive weeks, in at least one newspaper in each county, where a newspaper is published, immediately preceding the next election of members of the Legislature or a special election called by the vote of four-fifths of the members elected to the Legislature for the purpose of submitting such proposed amendments to the electors. At such election said amendments shall be submitted to the electors for approval or rejection upon a ballot separate from that upon which the names of candidates appear. The ballot shall include a notice that the measure is subject to a vote for ratification. If a majority of the electors voting on any such amendment adopt the same, it shall become a part of this Constitution. The proposed amendment shall be referred to the electorate for ratification pursuant to Article XVI, section 3 of this Constitution if the votes cast in favor of such amendment shall not be less than thirty-five percent of the total vote cast at such election. When two or more amendments are submitted at the same election, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment separately.

XVI-1 "If, before an amendment to this Constitution takes effect, there shall be two votes by the electors, the first vote for adoption of the amendment may be made pursuant to initiative as provided by Article III, sections 2 and 4, of this Constitution or pursuant to the Legislature proposed by an amendment as provided by Article XVI, section 1, of this Constitution. The second vote shall be for ratification and shall be made pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The proposed amendment shall, without change, be published once each week for three consecutive weeks, in at least one newspaper in each county, where a newspaper is published, immediately preceding the next election of members of the Legislature or a special election called by the vote of four-fifths of the members elected to the Legislature for the purpose of submitting such proposed amendment to the electors for ratification. At such election the proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors for ratification. If a majority of the electors voting on any such amendment ratify the adoption of the same, it shall become a part of this Constitution. If the votes cast in favor of such amendment at the election are not less than thirty-five percent of the total vote cast at such election.

Section 2. At the general election in November 2000 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection.

To amend Article III, section 2.

III-2 "The first power reserved by the people is the initiative whereby laws may be enacted and constitutional amendments adopted by the people independently of the Legislature. This power may be invoked by petition wherein the proposed measure shall be set forth at length. If the petition is for the enactment of a law, it shall be signed by seven percent of the registered voters of the state. If and if the petition is for the amendment of the this Constitution, the petition therefor shall be signed by ten percent of such registered voters. In all cases the registered voters signing such petition shall be so distributed as to include five percent of the registered voters of each of two-fifths of the counties of the state, and when thus signed, the petition shall be filed with the Secretary of State who shall submit the measure thus proposed to the electors of the state at the first general election held not less than four months after such petition shall have been filed. The same measure, either in form or in essential substance, shall not be submitted to the people by initiative petition, either affirmatively or negatively, more often than once in three years. If conflicting measures which propose the enactment of a law submitted to the people at the same election be approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall thereby become law as to all conflicting provisions. The constitutional limitations as to the scope and subject matter of statutes enacted by the Legislature shall apply to those enacted by the initiative. All references to Clerk of House of Representatives or Secretary of Senate shall mean, when applicable, the Clerk of the Legislature of one chamber. All references to Speaker of the House of Representatives or temporary president of the Senate shall mean speaker of the Legislature. Whenever any provision of the constitution requires submission of any matter to, or action by, the House of Representatives, the Senate, or joint session thereof, it shall after January first, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, be construed to mean the Legislature herein provided for.

III-5 "At the regular session of the Legislature held in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-five the number of members to be elected and divide the state into legislative districts. In the creation of such districts, any county that contains population sufficient to entitle it to two or more members of the Legislature shall be divided into separate and distinct legislative districts, as nearly equal in population as may be and composed of contiguous and compact territory. One member of the Legislature shall be elected from each such district. The basis of apportionment shall be the population excluding aliens as shown in the next preceding federal census. The Legislature shall redistribute the state after each federal decennial census. In any such redistributing county lines shall be followed whenever practicable but other established lines may be followed at the discretion of the Legislature.

V-25 "For the efficient administration of justice and the prompt disposition of judicial proceedings, the supreme court may promulgate rules of practice and procedure for all courts uniform as to each class of courts and not in conflict with laws governing such matters. To the same end, the court may, and when requested by the Legislature by joint resolution, shall, certify to the Legislature its conclusions as to desirable amendments or changes in the general laws governing such practice and proceedings."

To amend Article III, sections 1 and 5, and Article V, section 25:

All authority vested by the constitution or laws of the state in the Senate, House of Representatives, or joint session thereof, in so far as applicable, shall be and hereby is vested in said Legislature of one chamber. All provisions in the constitution and laws of the state relating to the Legislature, the Senate, the House of Representatives, joint sessions of the Senate and House of Representatives, Senator, or member of the House of Representatives, shall, in so far as said provisions are applicable, apply to and mean said Legislature of one chamber hereby created and the members thereof. All references to Clerk of House of Representatives or Secretary of Senate shall mean, when applicable, the Clerk of the Legislature of one chamber. All references to Speaker of the House of Representatives or temporary president of the Senate shall mean speaker of the Legislature. Whenever any provision of the constitution requires submission of any matter to, or action by, the House of Representatives, the Senate, or joint session thereof, it shall after January first, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, be construed to mean the Legislature herein provided for.

III-5 "At the regular session of the Legislature held in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-five the number of members to be elected and divide the state into legislative districts. In the creation of such districts, any county that contains population sufficient to entitle it to two or more members of the Legislature shall be divided into separate and distinct legislative districts, as nearly equal in population as may be and composed of contiguous and compact territory. One member of the Legislature shall be elected from each such district. The basis of apportionment shall be the population excluding aliens as shown in the next preceding federal census. The Legislature shall redistribute the state after each federal decennial census. In any such redistributing county lines shall be followed whenever practicable but other established lines may be followed at the discretion of the Legislature.

V-25 "For the efficient administration of justice and the prompt disposition of judicial proceedings, the supreme court may promulgate rules of practice and procedure for all courts uniform as to each class of courts and not in conflict with laws governing such matters. To the same end, the court may, and when requested by the Legislature by joint resolution, shall, certify to the Legislature its conclusions as to desirable amendments or changes in the general laws governing such practice and proceedings."

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 2000 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection.

To amend Article III, section 19:
III-19 "The Legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent or servant after the services have been rendered, nor to any contractor after the contract has been entered into, except that retirement benefits of retired public officers and employees may be adjusted to reflect changes in the cost of living and wage levels that have occurred subsequent to the date of retirement.

The compensation of any public officer, including any officer whose compensation is fixed by the Legislature, shall not be increased or diminished during his or her term of office, except that when there are members elected or appointed to the Legislature or the judiciary, or officers elected or appointed to a court, board, or commission having more than one member, and the terms of one or more such members commence and end at different times, the compensation of all members of the Legislature of the judiciary, or of such court, board, or commission may be increased or diminished at the beginning of the full term of any member thereof.

Nothing in this section shall prevent local governing bodies from reviewing and adjusting vested pension benefits periodically as prescribed by ordinance.

The surviving spouse of any retired public officer, agent, or servant, who has retired under a pension plan or system, shall be considered as having pensionable status and shall be en-itled to the same benefits which may, at any time, be provided for or available to spouses of other public officers, agents, or servants who have retired under such pension plan or system at a later date, and such benefits shall not be prohibited by the restrictions of this section or of Article XIII, section 3 of the Constitution of Nebraska.

KING AND QUEEN

Micky Oldenkamp, son of Mark & Vicky Oldenkamp; and Melissa Wilmes, daughter of Tom and Kathy Wilmes were crowned King and Queen at Friday's 2000 Homecoming Ceremony.

Attendants to the King were Lyle Rahn, son of David and Jean Rahn; and Justin Warner, son of Jack and Rhonda Warner. Attendants to the Queen were Jennifer Smith, daughter of Rick and Joy Smith; and Michelle Marks, daughter of Ken and Joy Marks.

The candidates were escorted in by Bryan Gotch, son of Chir Twohig and Larry Gotch; Shannon Klemme, son of Larry and Mary Klemme; and Kyle Oswald, son of Dwaine and Barb Oswald; Elizabeth Bock, daughter of Rob and Joy Bock; Katie Koester, daughter of Lindy and Lori Koester; and Andrea Swetnam, daughter of Richard and Patricia Swetnam.

Master and Mistress of Ceremonies were Ray Sievers, son of Jeff and Roxanne Sievers; and Danielle Bertrand, daughter of Willie and Diane Bertrand. Kindergarten attendants were Kyle Ernst, son of Roger and Melanie Ernst; and Shania Rader, daughter of Julie Rader and Tony Rader.

First grade attendants were Tina Jade Wilson, Daughter of Roxanne Lopez; and Coty Reuter, son of Jason and Lisa Reuter. The Ceremony consisted of announcing of Royalty and the crowning of King and Queen by last year's King Joe Sullivan and Queen Stacey Martinson.

Following coronation was a talent show. There were five entries with Philipp Schuster winning the contest. Next the Allen Marching Band led the way up town. The Royalty were drove up town in decorated cars and the students followed the parade and were included in the pep rally on Main Street. Each Class then gave a cheer. The Sophomore girls did a skit entitled "We're Back!"

The Freshman were then asked to sing the School Song. Next the Seniors announced the freshman and treated them to a whipped cream pie in the face. The Seniors got their due, most of them getting worse than they gave! The night was finished with the Eagle Football team winning their Homecoming Game vs. Lutheran Northeast by the score of 14-9.

GARDEN CLUB

The Hoskins Garden Club met at the Hildegard Fenske home on Oct. 26 for a dessert luncheon.

President Esther Rechtermann opened the meeting with the poems "Quietin' Work" and "Earth's Treasures."

The hostess chose the song "Now Thank We All Our God" for the group to sing. The birthday song was sung for Christine Lueker. Three cheer cards were sent.

Six members answered roll by telling a Halloween memory.

The next meeting will be with Shirley Mann on Thursday, Nov. 9

For entertainment Hildegard Fenske had a couple of quizzes and an audio tape of the state birds

Christine Lueker presented the comprehensive study on garden hints and plant problems. She also read a humorous article entitled "Her Old Wringer Washer Gets Clothes Cleaner."

NEBRASKA RIGHT TO LIFE PAC ENDORSES SENATOR BOB DICKEY FOR DISTRICT 18

It is unfair and inaccurate for legislative candidate Doug Cunningham to accuse Senator Robert Dickey of "misleading voters into thinking I am pro-choice" as Mr. Cunningham does in advertisements. As Political Action Committee Chairman for Nebraska Right to Life I have followed this race closely. If there is any confusion about Mr. Cunningham's position on abortion, it must be coming from his conflicting statements between the Primary and now.

In the Primary, Mr. Cunningham responded to our NRL PAC candidate survey. On the question, "Would you support legislation prohibiting the sales, purchase, research and/or transplantation of fetal tissue from induced abortion?" he answered neither yes or no, but wrote, "undecided." On a similar question on the Nebraska Catholic Conference survey (April 28, 00 Catholic Voice) Mr. Cunningham wrote, "No position. Need more thorough information." Another similar question on banning use of aborted fetal tissue appeared in the Primary's Votesmart.org survey and Mr. Cunningham did not answer that question.

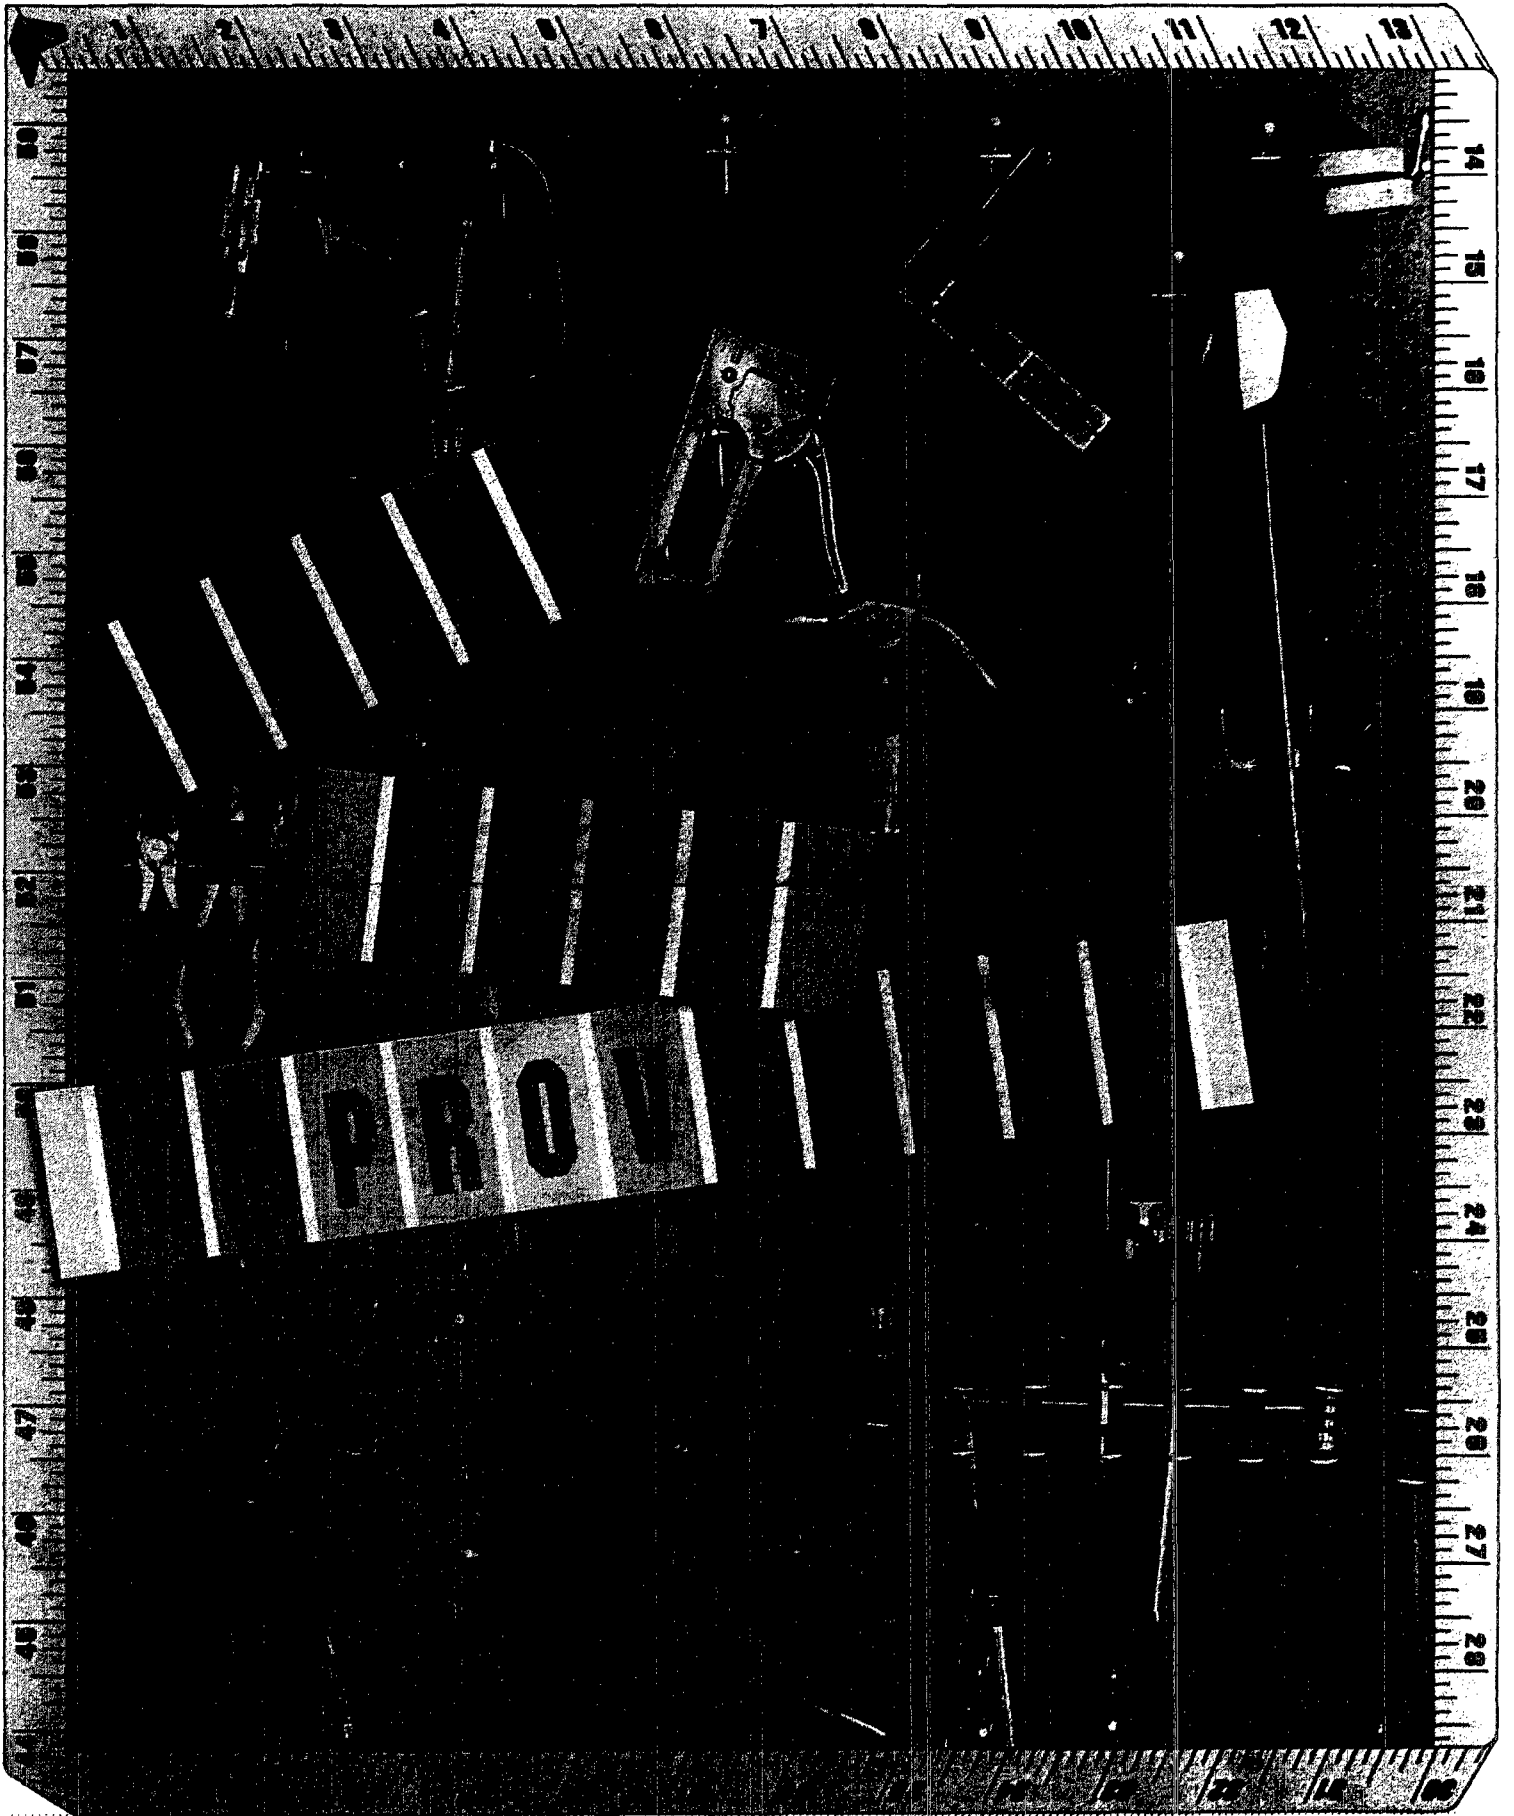

That would be three times that Mr. Cunningham told three separate surveys he had no position on aborted fetal tissue research. Sometime in the past six weeks I understand he changed his position to opposing aborted fetal tissue. However, it is easy to see that his conflicting answers from the Primary until recently could cause confusion among the voters on that issue. For him to now state that "I've always been against the use of elective aborted fetal tissue for research" is not entirely accurate, given his hedging statements in the Primary.

Additionally, on Votesmart.org in the Primary, Mr. Cunningham marked an "x" in the box next to, "Abortions should be legal only within the first trimester of pregnancy." That is markedly different from his stated position now, which is that he opposes abortion in the cases of life, incest and rape of the mother. I'm assuming Mr. Cunningham has come to the realization that the vast majority of abortions occur in the first trimester.

I am happy that Mr. Cunningham has seen the light on several abortion issues. However, I maintain that any confusion about his true positions has come from his own vacillating back and forth; and not from Senator Dickey.

Design advances create exciting choices

It's a matter of both the "head" and the "heart." First the "smart" reasons. Americans overwhelmingly have chosen vent-free gas appliances for supplemental home heating because of vent-free products' "smart" technology, proven safety and unparalleled convenience and efficiency. However, the "heart" reasons may be even more important. Homeowners have discovered that they can enjoy the entrancing flames of a vent-free fireplace, log set or stove just about anywhere they please in their home. Now any spot with access to a gas line can become the family's favorite gathering place.

Americans have fallen in love with vent-free. And vent-free appliance manufacturers have responded by creating an immense selection of designs, styles, sizes, and colors to suit any home décor.

New manufacturing technology increasingly has combined efficient heat and alluring beauty in vent-free products. While sales of vent-free space heaters remain strong, heating capability has been incorporated into a variety of charming gas fireplaces, realistic logs, and entrancing gas stoves. The product categories include gas logs that are installed in a masonry fireplace or firebox, gas fireplaces, contemporary or traditional styled gas stoves, or radiant and blue-flame gas room heaters. Some new high-tech models offer styling with no visible burning flame. And vent-free appliances and surrounds come in a wide variety of colors to match many color schemes.

In addition, according to Sue Walker, chairman of the Vent-Free Gas Products Alliance, "This year, we've seen a substantial expansion in the use of vent-free appliances by builders for home construction. Builders increasingly are taking advantage of the great variety of specialty vent-free products now available for custom-home new construction. From homeowners, we've seen a dramatic boost in sales of remote and

New designs in hand-held or wall-mounted remote controls, available for most vent-free gas products, make it simple to adjust the heating level in the room to a precise comfort level. The selection of styles in woods is greater than ever before, including driftwood, oak, weathered oak, maple, pine, aspen, birch, and many others; homeowners can choose woods that fit their region of the country. Increased choice also is available in log types, like split oak and solid pieces of wood, with extremely realistic glowing embers.

This year, an increasingly popular use of vent-free gas heaters is for a home's garden room. Many home gardeners now are extending their spring and fall gardening seasons thanks to the warmth and comfort of a heater in their potting sheds.

A key advantage of vent-free appliances is that they can be installed easily and inexpensively nearly anywhere there's a gas line. What's more, there is a vent-free product for most any supplemental heating need, like a space heater for the garage workshop, and a fireplace or stove for the office, living room or new playroom — any area that may be a "cold spot" in the home.

Vent-free appliances are 99-percent efficient because all of the heat stays in the room. They deliver plentiful heat for only pennies per hour. And because most vent-free products do not use electricity, they provide reliable emergency heating in case of a power outage.

Alliance Wins "Smart Design"

In January, Ladies Home Journal Decorating and Design Editor Kimberlie Waugh presented the first annual Ladies Home Journal "Smart Design" Award to the Vent-Free Gas Products Alliance. The Award was presented at a special reception at the New American Home, sponsored by the National Council of Housing of the National Association of Home Builders. The Alliance was selected as one of the winners of this prestigious Award for its commitment to reaching today's decorating and remodeling decision-makers: women.

Consumer information about vent-free gas products widely has been made available by the Vent-Free Gas Products Alliance. Alliance members display their membership with the "Nice & Warm" logo that appears on their packaging and dealers' doors.

For a free 16-page "Consumer Guide to Vent-Free Gas Products" brochure or CD-ROM (with hyperlinks to members' Web sites) write to the Vent-Free Gas Products Alliance at 2111 Wilson Blvd., Suite 600, Arlington, Va. 22201 and ask for publication 2000-1. Or, visit the Web site at www.ventfreealliance.org.

thermostatically controlled vent-free appliances. As manufacturers continue to introduce new enhancements, they eagerly are snapped up by consumers."

New products include one-, two- and three-sided fireplaces; gas logs with exceptionally realistic flames; Btu inputs as low as 10,000 Btu for fireplaces placed in bedrooms; and space heaters that turn down to 2,000 Btu (2,000 Btu is approximately equivalent to one burner at "low simmer" on a gas range). Homeowners now can select from a variety of mantles and surrounds to go with the vent-free fireplace of their choice. Mantles come in different wood types, and can be painted or decorated with tile, marble, glass or other materials that match the décor.

The PowerStation™ Emergency Backup System is installed outside the home similar to an air conditioner unit and automatically restores power in the event of an outage.

A house without electricity in the winter can be devastating for many people — whether it's a homeowner with a family or someone who owns a home business. Yet, many Americans are not prepared for power outages and will be left in the dark when the next blizzard strikes.

Winter storms are a major contributor to the power-outage dilemma in the United States. One snowstorm last January left nearly three million people without power for several days.

Ron Hoch, a retired utility worker in Lansing, Ill., learned the value of being prepared for power outages by using a generator when a snowstorm knocked out the power to his home for nearly four days. Hoch, like nearly 70 percent of American homeowners, has a gas-powered furnace. But when the power went out, so did the furnace, which uses electricity to run the furnace fan.

Concerned about the possibility of freezing water pipes, Hoch used a portable generator to restore power to the furnace.

"Many of my neighbors ran out to purchase new snowthrowers after the storm hit," said Hoch. "Frankly, my family rather would have a warm, comfortable house instead of a snow-free sidewalk."

Another substantial reason power outages are so prevalent is the increase in America's electricity demand. "Power outages are not a seasonal or a regional problem," says Steve Krawczyk, president of Coleman Powermate, a leading manufacturer of portable generators. "Outages can occur anywhere at any time of the year due to snowstorms, thunderstorms, heat waves, hurricanes or power-grid failure."

Make every room comfortable

Meg's car features driver and passenger temperature controls. At the office, she touches a button to adjust the temperature for maximum comfort. But her house has just one thermostat.

More and more people are enjoying personalized temperature control in their cars and at the office. But few homes today provide the comfort and potential energy savings of a zoned temperature-control system. Small wonder then, that inconsistent temperature — between rooms, levels or different times of day — ranks as homeowners' number one home "pet peeve," according to a recent Honeywell survey.

Fortunately, there's growing awareness of a solution: a zoned heating and cooling system. A zoning system banishes too-hot or too-cold spots in your home to make every room comfortable. And it can help save heating and cooling costs by delivering warm or cold air when it's needed, where it's needed.

Zoning systems are among the top-rated new home features and options, according to Professional Builder magazine. Once new home buyers understand the benefits of a zoned heating and cooling system, they usually want it. After all, no one wants a home with just one light switch. Why live in a home with just one temperature option? Why put up with areas in your home that are too hot or too cold?

Demand for zoning is on the rise. Energy-efficient zone controls for heating and cooling will continue to gain in popularity during the coming years, according to a recent study by the National Association of Home Builders.

DO YOU NEED ZONING?

Do you simmer upstairs and shiver in the lower level? Do you feel chilly in some rooms while others seem uncomfortably warm? If so, you're not alone. Temperature variation from room to room, and level to level, is among the most common homeowner concerns, say Honeywell experts.

Grab a pencil and go through the checklist to find out if your home — or your lifestyle — is a good candidate for zoning.

Home-design factors

- Multiple levels
- Sprawling design (wings or "ranch" style)

- Large expanses of windows
- Large open areas, like vaulted ceilings, foyer, atrium or solarium
- Finished basement or attic
- Rooms with exposed concrete floor
- An indoor swimming pool or hot tub
- One or two outside walls ("earth-shelter" design)

Lifestyle factors

- You frequently entertain guests
- You spend a lot of time cooking and baking in the kitchen
- You work in your home office
- You occasionally enjoy activities in a hobby room or play room
- You prefer to sleep at a energy-saving temperature, while others are awake and active
- Your family uses rooms in the attic or basement

If you meet any of these criteria, consider adding the comfort and energy-savings potential of a zoning system. For more information, call (800) 345-6770, ext. 7480. Or visit www.Honeywell.com/yourhome/, your source for information on home comfort, safety and health.

Homeowners cite pet peeves

Even Americans who like their homes are quick to cite "pet peeves," including inconsistent temperature, air quality and home security, according to a national survey of 1,000 homeowners conducted by Honeywell.

The homeowners' "Top 10 Home Pet Peeves" are:

- Inconsistent temperature (between rooms, levels, or different times of day)
- Dust, pet hair and allergens
- High utility bills
- Dry air
- Window condensation
- Odors in the house
- Outdated kitchen
- House not secure from break-ins
- Stuff rooms/inefficient floor plan
- Damp basement

Many of the home "pet peeves" we face are not new, says Jay Schrankler, vice president, Honeywell Home Comfort & Systems. "The good news is that we no longer must endure them. Many can be solved today, with solutions that are available to anyone building, remodeling or simply updating a home."

For example, Schrankler says, peeve-provoking temperature variations between floors or between rooms often can be solved with a zoning system to regulate temperatures independently. Homeowners can fight high utility bills with programmable thermostats. Many other home-related peeves can be remedied now with advanced home solutions that will add even greater comfort, convenience and energy savings in the future. FH009694

Following are decorating health and safety tips, courtesy of "Decorating Hints & Tips" (DK), by Julian Cassell and Peter Parham.

Following Instructions

- Always read manufacturers' operating instructions before using any equipment.
- Make sure that you use any materials or chemicals safely, complying with statutory legislation regulating the use and disposal of hazardous substances. Follow advice on labels carefully.

Using equipment

- Make sure that ladders and stepladders are in good working order, and platforms have been constructed safely, to prevent injury from falling.

Electricity

- Disconnect any electrical equipment when it is not in use, even for a short time.
- Switch off the power supply when decorating around switches or wall outlets and when cleaning them.
- Consider using a ground-fault interrupter to protect against electrocution.

Protecting People

- Increase the ventilation in a room to reduce the effects of dust and fumes.
- Wear a mask to minimize the amount of dust and fine particles that you inhale.
- Wear safety glasses to protect eyes from flying debris.
- Wear gloves to protect skin from injury and irritation.
- Keep all chemicals and tools away from children and out of the way of corridors in your work area.

problems supplying electricity to homes and businesses during the past two summers. The power-supply troubles resulted in major outages recently in Chicago, Detroit, New York and several cities in California. In fact, the U.S. Department of Energy repeatedly has warned Americans to prepare for power outages. The combination of the increasing number of new homes, the growing electrical demand from American households and the lack of new power plants, poses a significant power-supply problem and heightens the probability of blackouts.

"A generator helps people weather the storm in the event of electricity loss. It keeps light bulbs lit and key appliances working — guaranteeing comfort, security and peace of mind during very stressful circumstances," Krawczyk says. "Whether the cause is a winter storm or power-grid failure, power outages are inevitable, so it makes good sense to be prepared with a backup power system."

According to Krawczyk, generators come in different sizes, so homeowners should consider wattage demands before purchasing a generator. Household wattage needs can be determined by using an interactive guide at www.colemanpowermate.com. Krawczyk says that there are two major types of generators for homeowners to consider — stationary and portable.

Stationary Generators

Many homeowners are opting to have permanent generators installed outside their homes similar to a central air conditioner. Most stationary generators, like Coleman Powermate's new PowerStation™ emergency backup system, range in size from 8,500 watts to 15,000 watts, and can power multiple high-wattage appliances like air conditioners and refrigerators. The system is connected to the home's natural gas line or an extra-large propane tank, so there is no need to keep the unit filled with gasoline.

"The stationary generator automatically delivers electricity to the home within seconds after the initial power loss, therefore the homeowner doesn't have to deal with plugging any cords into the generator," Krawczyk says. "Stationary generators are ideal safeguards for families who prefer the convenience and security of a reliable energy source for their home."

Portable Generators

With the help of a transfer switch, many homeowners are converting their gasoline-powered portable generators into emergency backup power systems. Portable generators are available at local home improvement stores around the country but have a tendency to become scarce as severe weather approaches.

"Some stores in areas affected by severe storms have had to hold raffles for generators because the demand was so high," Krawczyk says.

Coleman Powermate offers a variety of portable generators. The UltiMite™, weighing in at 23 pounds and measuring 1 square foot, fits nicely in the back of a sport utility vehicle or on a garage shelf. It produces enough power for most camping equipment and many small household appliances. The UltiMite also has a battery-charging feature and a high/low switch that allows the engine to run at a reduced speed, using less fuel.

The Pro-Gen™ 5000 portable generator features a nine-horsepower Briggs & Stratton overhead valve engine that is rated at 5,000 watts. It provides enough power to operate many essential household appliances like a furnace fan, refrigerator, several lights and a television. It also features a specially tuned muffler for quieter operation.

The Vertex™ 8000 portable generator includes an electric starter and an integrated portability cart with extra-wide wheels that won't go flat. Its compact vertical design takes up less floor space in the garage or pickup truck than many other generators. The four-cylinder, 16-horsepower Briggs & Stratton engine is powerful enough to operate high-wattage home appliances or power tools for a construction project.

What's your junk worth?

You could be tossing out a small fortune when you clean house. The values of ordinary-looking items has skyrocketed in recent years according to Tony Hyman, host of "What's It Worth?" each week on CBS-TV network news. Because most folks don't realize how valuable these items have become, they get thrown away or sold on lawns for pennies. The top 10 items you never should sell at a yard sale include:

1. Marbles: Twentieth century machine-made glass swirls can be worth hundreds of dollars each; $2,500 for a coffee-can-full is not unusual.
2. Fishing tackle: Rods, reels and lures all have topped the $1,000 each mark; a $15,000 reel sold at an Illinois yard sale for 50 cents.
3. Baseball gloves: Gloves you played with in the 1960's can be worth up to $2,500.
4. Costume jewelry: Costume isn't junk. A Palm Springs yard sale yielded a $10 box of costume jewelry that the new owner resold for $75,000.
5. Fountain pens: A Massachusetts church bazaar sold a $15,000 pen for $55; a $42,000 pen turned up in a midwest dresser last year.
6. Perfume bottles: The record price for a twentieth century perfume bottle is more than $40,000.
7. Balloon tire bicycles: Most balloon tire bikes (1934 to 1960) are worth $100 or more; a lady's bike worth $3,500 recently was found in an Ohio trash can. Newer banana-seat bikes are $500 and up.
8. Toys of the 1960s: GI Joe®, Barbie® and space toys of all sorts bring $15 to $500.
9. Advertising and packaging: Cigar boxes, coffee cans, cereal boxes, tobacco tins, signs anything featuring a product more than 20 years old.
10. Cast-iron cookware: One of the biggest surprises is that more than 400 different cast-iron pots, pans, skillets and lids can put from $40 to $1,000 in your pocket if you sell them correctly!

Other common items with uncommon values include Hawaiian shirts, beer mugs, pocket knives, musical instruments, briar pipes, old toasters and typewriters, war souvenirs, transistor radios, calculators, 78 and 33 rpm records, auto owner's manuals, cap guns, cartoon glasses, cookie jars, nodder dolls, Disneyland souvenirs, electric trains, rock and roll posters, lunch boxes, lace, yo-yos, television board games, china, cigarette lighters, and hundreds of others.

"It's like having a roadshow in your own front room."

To find out if you own something valuable you need expert advice, and to find out who wants to buy your item at a fair price. There's only one good buyer of cigar boxes in the country, and people who want sewing machines, BB guns, and cocktail shakers can be equally hard to find.

The way to make the most money, according to Hyman's viewers, is to contact buyers and appraisers by mail or phone. For 21 years, Hyman has been helping amateurs sell their possessions by publishing the names, addresses, phone numbers and now e-mail addresses of experts like those you see on television appraisal shows.

The latest 640-page ninth edition of "Hyman's Trash or Treasure Guide To Buyers" introduces readers to the top 1,200 collectibles experts in the United States and Canada. Send $29.95 plus $5 shipping and handling to Trash or Treasure, Box 3028-CT, Pismo, Calif. 93448. Credit card orders call (800) 549-7500. Give the name of this paper when you order, and you also will receive "The World's Most Accurate Price Guide" and a 30-day money-back guarantee at no extra charge.

"It's like having your own private roadshow in your home," says one reader, "even better, because I didn't have to stand in line for hours and could ask about hundreds of items, not just two."

"People are a lot richer than they think," Hyman says, "but until now they haven't been able to cash in on what they own because they didn't know what they have, who wants it, or how much it's worth."

You don't need to know whether you have a $5 fishing lure or a $500 lure, Hyman says, as long as you deal with honest experts. Ask them what you have. Experts will know, he says, and pay you fairly.

"Something as simple as a plastic Pez® candy dispenser is worth $400 to one person and 10¢ to another," Hyman points out, "and a 1966 Hot Wheels® Volkswagen toy can be worth twice as much as the real car to the right buyer."

Know money-saving secrets for home improvement projects

Knowing the seven best money-saving secrets for any home-improvement project will increase the value and the livability of your property, according to best-selling author Bob Easter.

"Over the years I have seen the best and worst remodeling projects. You must know before you start which improvements will add value to your home and which ones will detract or eliminate potential buyers when you do sell," says Easter.

For 24 years this nationally recognized author and real estate broker has been teaching homeowners the insider industry tricks. All kinds of mistakes are made during a home-improvement project and when a home is purchased or sold. Easter points out those crucial errors in his books, "The 14 Home-Selling Secrets, The Mistakes Everyone Makes" ($14.95) and "Home Buying Power, Inside Tips, Tricks and Trends for Buying the Home of Your Dreams!" ($12.95).

"The No. 1 mistake is to start a project without a game plan. Before you undertake any remodeling you have to know how the improvements will effect the resale of your home. While you might not be considering selling now, someday your home will be on the market. I have seen buyers deeply discount the price or outright reject a home over the wrong color décor, tile selections and other amenities which the owner installed," says Easter.

It is easy to understand why so many home buyers and sellers use this expert's sage advice and knowledge about which projects have the greatest return for the money spent. His facts are gathered in the field with actual buyers inspecting and considering homes to purchase.

"I've heard all of the horror stories about projects, but really it is pretty easy to avoid running into problems if you follow some guidelines.

"1. Never hire the lowest bidder unless you check references of the contractor. A phone call will not do; ask for the address of the property and double-check the name in your phone book to ensure that is the person who actually lives there.

"2. All of the work to be done has to be in writing including how and when the contractor will receive payment for work completed. Never pay a contractor money in advance. If the contractor runs, have money for materials, pay the supplier directly," says Easter.

Cost overruns quickly can break any homeowner's budget. Easter explains how to keep your sanity and protect your pocketbook in his new special report just released this year, "The Seven Secrets of Any Home Improvement Project."

"I show owners which projects will enhance and add value to their home, plus my books give readers the opportunity to see their home through a buyer's eyes. There is a reason why so many newspapers and other critics love these books. They are easy-to-read and understand," says Easter.

The author's latest book is hailed as a consumer's best guide according to Midwest Book Review. "Home Buying Power" includes many insights few real-estate guides will publish. The focus on special tips and tricks of the trade sets this apart from standard home-buyer guides and provides many essential insights savvy consumers will want to understand.

Easter's other book also is recommended. Robert Bruss, Tribune Media Services syndicated columnist, says "This (The 14 Home-Selling Secrets) very realistic book is filled with practical advice to home sellers. His advice often is against the best interest of his profession."

Mark Victor Hansen, author of "Chicken Soup For the Soul," has this to add: "Bob Easter and I have been friends for many years. He is Mr. Integrity personified. He provides a steady course to guide you through the home-selling process by giving you the inside tips and mistakes that everyone makes."

Both books can be ordered at this special reduced combination newspaper price of only $19.95 (US) and come with a 30-day money-back guarantee. The price includes shipping and handling, as well as the free special report, "The Seven Secrets of Any Home Improvement Project." To receive your order within three days, visit www.easterexpress.com or call (800) 848-5593. Visa/MC accepted. To order by check, send $19.95 to: Bob Easter, 4212 Lostridge Dr., Suite 201, Austin, TX 78731-1306. All orders are shipped same day by Priority Mail.

Hardwood floors remedy for allergy sufferers

Whether you're in your home, in the yard or flying at 35,000 feet to visit grandma, it's getting harder and harder to get a breath of fresh air.

That's why homeowners, many of them long-time allergy sufferers, are rethinking their internal environments and investing in remedies that will help them and their families breathe easier.

It's no easy task since practically every item in the home has the potential to harbor allergens, particularly "soft" furnishings like sofas, chairs, mattresses and bed linens, among them. But the experts agree that there are options, ranging from installing sophisticated air handlers to using high-tech vacuums to something as basic as purchasing hypoallergenic mattress and pillow covers.

One product that can make a major impact on air quality is the floor. And it's no wonder. Next to the walls, the floor is the largest continuous surface in the home, and considering its location, the largest potential collector of indoor airborne matter. Therefore, your flooring choice should be the foundation for any long-term plan to improve the air in your home.

That's why more and more homeowners are selecting a natural remedy — hardwood floors. They are installing hardwood floors throughout new homes and in existing homes, replacing wall-to-wall carpeting with hardwood, even in bedrooms, according to Bill Clossin, vice president of marketing at Harris-Tarkett, a manufacturer of hardwood flooring.

"There are lots of quality/value reasons why homeowners are choosing hardwood floors over other options," says Clossin, "but, there's no doubt that the search for indoor air quality is at the top of the list."

Whether in planks, strips or parquets, hardwood flooring is naturally hypoallergenic. It has no fibers, grout lines or embossing that can trap dust, dirt and other allergens. A regular vacuuming helps eliminate the daily collection of particles that might settle on the floor, says Clossin. With the tough, durable no-wax finishes, like Harris-Tarkett's Alumide-enhanced urethane wearlayer, daily maintenance is easy.

Not only do factory finishes make daily care easy, they eliminate the need for the attendant mess and fumes associated with the on-site sanding and finishing of an unfinished floor. "Depending upon the situation, the airborne sawdust and fumes from the finishing products can be very aggravating to an allergy-sufferer," says Clossin. In addition, the general process of sanding and finishing can require that residents be out of the house for several days, he adds.

Installation options also enhance the health advantages of hardwood flooring, particularly the options provided by prefinished engineered floors.

This new generation of hardwood flooring inherently is dimensionally stable. This means it does not expand and contract with seasonal changes in the temperature and humidity, and therefore can be installed using a number of options.

Depending upon the situation and the type of engineered product, these floors can be glued down, or stapled down or nailed down, eliminating the need for full-spread adhesive. One type of engineered product known as Longstrip can be "floated," which means it can be permanently installed over most existing subfloors without the use of nails or adhesives.

"Our Longstrip product might be the most healthy option of all," says Clossin. "The floating method eliminates the need to rip up an old floor, which in and of itself can release a variety of allergens into the air."

There's also a healthy financial reason to choose a hardwood floor over other options, he adds. "When the life cycle costs are considered in comparison to the initial installation cost, hardwood floors represent one of the best flooring values around, and, they enhance resale appeal."

For more information on Harris-Tarkett's prefinished hardwood flooring products, call (800) 842-7816, or visit www.harris-tarkett.com.

Facts about aching backs

There seems to be no escaping back pain, as nearly everyone has experienced some sort of back ailment in their lifetime. The American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons says low back pain is second only to the common cold as a cause of lost work days. Too many people wake up in pain.

A leading reason for back pain is improper lifting, twisting and bending, followed by improper care, like sleeping on the wrong bed. Home-improvement projects can be prime culprits for straining the back. Climbing ladders, stretching to paint ceilings and trim, moving furniture and lifting heavy boards and materials very well could land you in bed with back trauma. There are ways to prevent the pain. The following tips, courtesy of Select Comfort will send you on your way to a pain-free back.

1. Unlock and bend the knees when lifting or leaning forward. Keep objects close to your body and directly in front of you.
2. Avoid excessive reaching in front of you or overhead. Use a step-stool.
3. Stop smoking, especially if you have a smoker's cough. Coughing puts pressure on the spinal discs.
4. Take a standing and walking break every 30 minutes when sitting for long periods. And shift position often when standing for long periods.
5. Keep your chair as close as possible to desks and tables.
6. Eat right and exercise.

Protect home before lightning strikes

The fall season typically is not known for thunderstorms — where lightning can be prevalent — but once winter ends, storms begin anew. Homeowners who would like to ready their homes for next spring's onslaught of dangerous storms should consider autumn the ideal time to install lightning protection.

A lightning strike to an unprotected home can be catastrophic. A single bolt of lightning carrying more than 30 million volts of electricity can rip through roofs, explode brick and concrete, and ignite fires. Every year in the United States, the number of homes damaged by lightning continues to increase. While insurance usually covers an initial claim from lightning, many companies deny subsequent lightning claims or elect to not pay for a claim because a claim is entered.

Lightning protection system will prevent a lightning strike; damage from a strike by a powerful current safely into the ground. Properly installed, the system controls the dangerous electrical discharge on a specified path. The current harmlessly is dissipated and eliminates the chance of fire or explosion of non-conductive materials (wood, brick, slate, tile, etc.).

Learn the Risk Factors

Today's homes especially are susceptible to lightning damage. Lightening attractive metal building components, irrigation and security systems, and electric fences, and sensitive electronic equipment have become part of everyday life. These factors can increase a homeowner's potential for lightning damage.

"A nearby lightning strike can induce unwanted surges into a home," says James Meehan, engineering consultant for Critical Power Services in Ballston Spa, N.Y. "While soil conditions are a factor, home extras, like dog and electric fences, unfortunately can provide an improved low-resistance pathway for lightning's dangerous energy. The combined technology of lightning rods (structural protection) and arresters and suppressors (surge protection) can provide today's homes with an effective solution to combat lightning's destructive behavior," explains Meehan.

Protection That Blends IN

Modern lightning-protection systems are installed to blend in with the style and materials of the home, making the system practically invisible from the ground. Winsted, Conn.-based East Coast Lightning Equipment Inc. stresses the importance of hiring an experienced lightning-protection contractor to ensure that the design and system follows national safety standards.

"It's important to remember that lightning protection is a specialty discipline and expertise is required for design and installation," says Robert Ackerman, president of East Coast Lightning Equipment Inc. "Lightning-protection systems should be installed by trained, experienced lightning-protection specialists — roofers, general contractors and electricians are not qualified to install lightning-protection systems."

Ackerman offers the following safeguards for hiring a qualified lightning-protection specialist:

- All materials and methods should comply with nationally recognized safety standards of Underwriters Laboratories (UL) and the National Protection Association (NFPA).

- Only an experienced and reputable (UL-listed) lightning-protection contractor should install your system to ensure compliance with industry standards.

- Check references. Many lightning-protection contractors have expertise in working on histor-tures, slate roofs, cupolas, trees, etc. A qualified contractor will meet the special considerations of the project.

- Ask about surge protection. Homeowners who have experienced surge damage to electronics and appliances should consider the additional protection that UL-listed transient-voltage surge suppressors can provide. Surge protection is not a required component of a lightning-protection system and should be implemented at the contractor's discretion or per the lightning-protection specialist's recommendations.

Homeowners can enjoy the security and peace of mind that a properly installed system provides. Simply put, lightning protection offers a big return on a small investment. (In many cases, homeowners can expect to pay less for lightning protection than a typical security system.) A fall lightning-protection system can serve as an "ounce of prevention" that can be a "pound of cure" for spring and summers to come.

For more information or to receive the name of a qualified lightning-protection specialist in their area, contact East Coast Lightning Equipment Inc. at www.eastcoastlighting.com.
