Recall vote has failed

The effort to remove First Ward Councilman Verdel Lutt from office has failed.

The vote count was 23 votes for removal and 171 votes against. One outstanding absentee / conditional ballot remains to be received.

Twenty-two percent of eligible voters in the First Ward turned out to vote on Tuesday.

The vote came about after a recall petition gathered enough signatures to put the issue on the ballot.

Councilman Lutt and his attorney, David Ptak, had attempted to obtain a temporary restraining order to have the election delayed on the grounds that 38 of the signatures on the petition were obtained by misrepresentation.

District Judge Robert R. Steinke ruled that the evidence did not warrant the halting of the election.

"I want to thank all the voters who turned out to support me and the city," Lutt said.

He indicated that the turnout was good for the weather conditions and "shows that people were upset with how the petition was handled."

"It is unfortunate the election had to happen and that taxpayers' money had to be wasted," he added.

Lutt said of the petition process, "a lesson was learned during the recall that signers must read and understand what they are signing before they sign."

Even though the recall election is over, Lutt said he and his attorney are not giving up on filing of charges against those involved with the petition circulation. An investigation is underway by the Wayne County Sheriff's office on the validity of method in which the petition drive was conducted.

Council members sworn in at meeting

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Two new council members and two incumbents were sworn in during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Dennis Linster and Don Buryanek replaced Galen Wiser and Jane O'Leary for seats on the council. Darrel Fuelberth and Doug Sturm were re-elected to their seats.

Prior to the swearing in by Judge Robert Ensz, Mayor Sheryl Lindau presented plaques to the outgoing members and thanked them for their service to the community.

O'Leary has been a council member since 1988 and Wiser since 1996.

In council action, four ordinances were passed on third readings.

The first dealt with abandoned or unlicensed autos, the second with the ability to abate nuisances, the third with the duty of owners or occupants regarding nuisances and redefines nuisances and the fourth is designed to assist police officers in dealing with parties where the attendees refuse to leave upon police direction.

Also approved was a resolution approving membership to the Nebraska Municipal Power Pool. Gene Hansen, Electrical Production Superintendent, will serve as a voting member in the organization.

Resolution 2000-80 was approved, granting permission for a survey topography agreement for the school property in connection with the Community Activity Center. Cost of the survey is not to exceed $7,200.

Resolutions were also passed allowing for the application of grants for the Community Activity Center

HunTel revises channel line-up

HunTel Cable Vision has revised its Wayne channel line-up, effective Dec. 11.

The new line-up removes two of the public access channels and reassigns four other channels. The move is necessary to make room for the upcoming digital-tier upgrade planned for 2001.

The public access channels appearing on cable Channels 15 and 23 are being removed. Channel 19 will remain as the Wayne public access channel. Additional information on the channel line-up changes may be found on Channel 19 and the TV Guide channel located on

Channel 10

The other channel line-up changes are as follows:

Channel	New	Old
MSNBC	15	44
Fox News	23	49
VH-1	44	54
Toon Disney	49	55

The channel line-up revision is required to provide more channel capacity for HunTel's digital cable tier, planned for roll-out in early 2001. Digital cable service offers more channels, better quality picture and sound, pay-per-view movies and events, additional premium channels and an interactive channel guide.

Gary West stands next to the stained-glass window that was removed from the Carnegie Library and is now displayed in the Children's Room at Wayne Public Library.

Library gets new logo

The Wayne Library Board recently approved the use of a new logo on all library correspondence and in library publications.

The drawing is a rendition of the sunburst stained glass window that was completed by Wayne State College graduate art student Mary Haas of Norfolk.

The library staff presented their idea for the logo to the WSC art department and asked for a recommendation on available students. Mary's name was on the top of the list and she had the time necessary to complete the drawing.

The logo depicts the stained glass window that hangs in the Children's Room at Wayne Public Library.

The window was removed from the original Carnegie Library and restored by Gary West, at the request of Library Board member Pat Gross.

"The window was in the old library in an area just above the door since the library was built in 1913," West said.

Following the removal of the window, West replaced several pieces of glass which were broken and made a framework for it from oak. It has been hanging in the new library since the library opened.

West, who does this type of work as a hobby, estimates that he spent 15 hours on this project.

New position created

Wayne native, Kay Pierson, has been appointed in the newly created supervisory position of Nurse Manager / Staff Relations at Providence Medical Center in Wayne, according to hospital administrator, Marcile Thomas.

A registered nurse, Kay is responsible for nurse staffing issues and is also working closely with nursing supervisors on scheduling, staff relations, evaluations and quality assurance. Pierson comes to Providence Medical Center with an administrative and psychology background and has had many years of experience in the field.

"Kay brings with her many fresh ideas and much knowledge. We welcome her to the Providence Medical Center team. I look forward to working beside her," said Laura Gamble, PMC Director of Nursing.

Kay began working at Providence Medical Center on Nov. 1.

Living windows

A number of business windows in downtown Wayne were adorned with live people on Thursday during Main Street's second annual Living Windows promotion. The window at Children's Collection was filled with 'angels on earth' and the window of Schaefer's Maytag contained a miniature Mary and Joseph. Large crowds of people strolled up and down the streets, enjoying the windows and caroling provided by various groups.

Lucille Cunningham is chosen to be part of Ambassador program

In January of 2001, the "People to People Ambassador (P2PA) Programs," a division of the United Nations, will send a delegation of Women Professions, focusing on "Women in Society," to Cuba.

The P2PA program was created by President Dwight D. Eisenhower under the subtitle Unifem. It supports the self-help of women in developing countries.

This visitation to Cuba will allow an opportunity to explore what needs to be accomplished in order to improve the lives of women from the perspectives of women in Cuba and from the United States.

The delegation will convene for a briefing in Nassau, Bahamas on Jan. 12, 2001. The following day the delegation will depart to Havana, then on to Ciego de Avila and Varadero, Cuba.

Lucille D. Cunningham of Colorado Springs, Colo., sister of Delores Utecht of Wayne, was chosen as a delegate for her business expertise, ability to creatively solve problems, her leadership and people skills and her integrity. She has done a number of things for the community.

Lucille has served as president of many organizations: The Teacher's Organization and a homemakers' organization in Wayne; the Association of University Women, the Old Colorado City Historical Society and the Organization of Lutheran Women. She has also served on several Boards of Directors, including the Billie Spielman Center and the First Financial Cooperative. She served as a Republican Committee woman in Wayne. Lucille was the producer and writer of "Women and the Law," a 1953 program featured on a Sioux City, Iowa television station.

Lucille graduated from Wayne State College with a Bachelor of Arts in Education, graduating Cum Laude and was elected to membership in Kappa Delta Pi, the National Honor Society in Education. She received her Master of Science degree in Special Education from the University of Nebraska at Omaha, during which time she developed the entire reading program (grades 1-12) in the Blair Public Schools, including the Gifted Child's Program. She gave a number of reading presentations including one at the State Reading Convention in Omaha.

She was profiled in "Who's Who in Finance and Industry" in 1987. She was presented Gazette Telegraph's "A Women Who Makes a Difference" award in 1988 as well as recognition in "Who's Who Among Women." In 1989 she was featured in Money Magazine. In 1997 she was awarded a KKTU Kindness Award by then Mayor, Leon Young. In 1999 Lucille the Luther McKnight Award for her work at Old Colorado City History Center.

Lucille's philosophy is "One person can make a difference." Currently, she is helping revitalize Colorado Avenue on the westside of Colorado Springs via the West One Group, an investment real estate firm owned and operated by her and her son.

THE NEGATIVE OPTION YOU DIDN'T SAY "YES", BUT YOU DIDN'T SAY "NO"

If you didn't say "yes" to the offer of a product or service by a telemarketer or through the mail, but find a charge placed on your credit card account anyway, you may have been the victim of the "negative option."

The "negative option" requires that the consumer decline an offer, usually in writing, or the assumption will be made by the business that the consumer has accepted the offer. If the consumer fails to "opt out", a charge for the product or service will be placed on the consumer's credit card.

Credit card charges for a "negative option" offer take many consumers by surprise. The consumer may have received information in the mail about the offer, but tossed out the promotional material. Or, the consumer may have missed the part that stated a negative response to the offer must be mailed to the business in order to decline the offer and prevent a charge.

A telemarketer may award a 30 day "free trial membership" in a discount travel club, buying group, magazine savings plan or other promotion as a "bonus" to a consumer calling a mail order business to place an order. The consumer may not be given an opportunity to decline the offer, and may not be told that his credit card account will be charged for a full years membership following the 30 day free trial period.

A consumer may find a charge placed on his credit card account even if he did not give a credit card number to the telemarketer who calls with a "free trial membership" offer. Many times the calling list the telemarketer uses was purchased from the credit card company. Credit card companies do not give the telemarketers credit card numbers, but when a positive response by a consumer is indicated, the telemarketer notifies the credit card company. The credit card company supplies the credit card number and places the charge.

Here are some suggestions to help avoid a "negative option" charge:

- Ask questions about any "free trial promotion" offered by a telemarketer. Find out if and when you will be charged, and decline the offer if you do not want it.
- Watch your credit card statement carefully for any charge you did not authorize. Notify the credit card company immediately, in writing, to place an unauthorized charge in dispute.
- Promptly notify any business that mails you a "negative option" promotion, if your decision is to decline the offer.
- Contact the Nebraska Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division if you find an unauthorized charge placed on your credit card account.

For more information about this or any other consumer issue contact: Office of Attorney General Don Stenberg, Consumer Protection Division, 2115 State Capitol, Lincoln, NE, 68509, (402) 471-2682, Consumer Protection Line - 1-800-727-6432.

It's almost over

It's almost over. In two days or less we will know who our president will be. Tuesday evening, December 12, 2000, the United States Supreme Court made its bed concerning the Florida presidential voters count. Again, the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the Florida Supreme Courts ruling concerning the election. In essence, they named George W. Bush President of the United States.

It is time for Vice-President Gore to concede and I know he will graciously when it is apparent to him. No one would ever have believed that a country such as ours could have such a mess as we have had with this presidential election. This is a lesson in civics that has never been seen and that I hope will never be seen again.

The Supreme Court of The United States handed Mr. Bush a back-handed verdict. They agreed 7-2 that serious problems existed with the voting recount. The equal protection clause in the Constitution was violated. On the other hand, five of those seven thought the remedy to correct the problem could not be accomplished before the deadline which was midnight on the 12th. In my opinion, they were correct, but the appearance of the Supreme Court electing the President of the United States is troubling to me. We should take a hard look at how this happened and make sure that procedures are in place in the future so events such as this do not occur.

President-elect Bush will have a very hard time. He must bring the political parties together as well as the country. He must try not to listen to people like Jessie Jackson and Rev. Falwell who want him to polarize this country with their opinions and beliefs. He must reach out to both political parties and appoint good, honest people who will work with him. I believe he has a good chance of doing this if we all let him have a chance.

It is time for all of us to unite behind the apparent president-elect and also to say a little prayer for this country.

Dear Editor,
Prior to this Fall's election, a petition was brought to the Wayne Housing Authority residents by several young men even though there is a posted No. Soliciting sign posted.

The residents were told that it was for street parking. No word was spoken or printed on the form that it was recall of a councilman or mayor. Seventeen of our people residing here signed the petition. They were very upset when they discovered they had signed a recall petition. Although the day was cold on Tuesday, Dec. 12, they struggled out to vote to deny the recall. Several arrived by wheel chair.

I can not state how proud I am of these Villa Wayne residents.

Maintaining the law has become 'bad for business'

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The situation involving illegal aliens and the meatpacking industry is one heck of a puzzle. And it needs to be solved.

There is a lot of nonsense bandied about in regard to what's good for the meatpacking industry, and a lot of politically correct piffle about what's fair and/or unfair to the hapless workers who are illegally employed by that industry.

There is comparatively little that elected state officials can, or would be willing, to do about any of this. In the last analysis, it's a federal thing.

Perhaps the best thing this state and others could do is send up an endless stream of noise in the form of insistence - insistence that something practical be done about this humiliating dilemma. Something like special visas for Mexican nationals employed in the meatpacking industry. Something like special tax assessments on those who employ them, so as to prevent too great a burden on surrounding communities when it comes to education and other services, including law enforcement.

Every time I turn around, some bureaucrat or politician is telling me that "it's about the children," whatever the heck it happens to be. The presidential race. A school bond issue. Chronic, public nose-picking. Everything today is about the children. Okay. Fine. Think of it this way:

What message does it send to children, or anyone else who pays attention, when we dawdle and dither but essentially do nothing about a situation that exploits human beings through a system that consistently breaks the law?

The arrest of six people in Omaha for conspiring to bring undocumented workers to Nebraska was, sadly, grand news. Three of them were even white collar types. Gee!

Any human being should be saddened by the suffering inflicted on the workers involved - and their families - when the INS hauls off and does its job: deporting people who are in the country illegally.

The bothersome thing is that there has been so much talk, from businessmen and politicians, about how enforcing the law hurts the industry and disrupts markets. It boils down to arguing that obeying the law would be bad for business. Is that supposed to garner sympathy? Well, in some quarters it clearly succeeds.

So, will this kind of wink-and-nudge justice spread?

Picture this:
A cop puts the arm on a bad actor on a city street, late at night.

"You're peddling dope, pal. And I'm gonna' bust your chops!"
"What! Hey, man, wake up! I can't stop selling dope just because it's illegal. That would be bad for business. Disrupt the whole market around here! Don't you know that what I'm doing provides jobs? You are not sensitive to the needs of the community, the market or the people! What I do spreads money around, man!"

The heck of it is, it would not come as too great a surprise if the above argument eventually finds some currency in our society. After all, you have to admit that the core theory has caught on in some circles.

Recession underway or slowdown?

By Henry Herrmann
President and Chief Investment Officer
Waddell & Reed, Inc.

As we approach the end of the calendar year, the economy seems to be sending us mixed messages. With just a cursory review of statistics, some may conclude we are moving toward a recession. After all, the stock market has been a roller coaster, energy prices are high, we have record corporate debt, and the Index of Leading Economic Indicators has been flat all year, with the exception of March.

But take a closer look. Gross Domestic Product (GDP) remains strong, economic growth is still strong (although it has slowed) and, overall, corporate earnings growth is not as bad as some had predicted. So what is really happening?

At this juncture, we are clearly not in a recession. The strength of the GDP, to which I alluded above, is primarily attributable to consumer spending. As far as I can tell, the consumer currently appears to be in good shape. Judging by average wage increases, salary gains and the unemployment rate, I would say that, overall, the consumer is in as good a shape as he has been in two decades.

Admittedly, third quarter economic indicators were quite a bit slower than during the first and second quarters, but consumer spending was still quite healthy. In my opinion, the softer-than-expected third quarter mostly resulted from a major slowdown in government spending. So this observer believes that spending going forward will likely accelerate, not decelerate. I suspect the economy is softening, but not a great deal, and certainly not into a recession.

Studying the economic picture always brings up issues that can confuse the overall situation. The most important issues that are currently causing some confusion appear to be technology and capital spending. Spending on capital goods has been a very strong part of our economy in recent years. Even though it is a relatively small portion of the total economy, capital spending has been growing very rapidly and it has been an important driver of overall growth. As some might guess by looking at the performance of technology stock lately, there is the notion that technology spending specifically is slowing rather rapidly. If this slowing becomes more pronounced over the next few months, we could face more than a mere economic slowdown - it could approach what the pragmatists are currently calling a hard landing, which essentially means no growth.

At present, my feeling is that things won't reach that point. My reasoning is that inflation is currently remaining tame. The Federal Reserve has a lot of room to lower rates if necessary. In my opinion, the outlook for 2001 is for real growth in GDP to reach 2.5 to 3 percent. This is approximately half the growth rate of 2000, but is about average for the last decade.

Another wild card that deserves mentioning is the strength of the U.S. dollar. The dollar has been extremely strong during the last year, but if that strength should falter, then the Fed might find itself with less flexibility regarding rates. Currently, however, I don't see any particular reason for concern on that issue.

From a historical perspective, we are definitely in an interesting time. For a decade or so, we had underutilized resources in the United States, particularly labor. The unemployment rate was relatively high. As a result of that, the Federal Reserve could inject some stimulus into the economy and not be worried about inflation coming back. Now, however, we've nearly reached full employment. This reduces the flexibility that the Federal Reserve has - and when they have it - to recharge the economy. Going forward, if the economy continues to slow, it seems that it will be more difficult for the Fed to aggressively inject stimulus because we are so close to full employment. That, of course, is contingent on a dramatically slowing economy.

Currently, I would summarize my outlook as very sanguine. I'm comfortable right now with the idea of a soft landing. In fact, at least for now, I believe that the strength of consumer spending and the strong job market provide reason to believe the Fed may possibly have to lower rates again over the next year.

Horticulture class upcoming

An evening "Introduction to Horticulture class" is planned for the Spring 2001 Semester at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The class, with Course No. HORT 1010-01/015, will meet Thursdays, Jan. 11 through May 9 from 6-9:30 p.m. in the Ag Allied Health Building, Room 103, on the NECC campus in Norfolk. Dr. Melinda McCluskey will teach the four-credit-hour course.

This course is for the indoor and outdoor gardener who wants to learn more about how light, temperature, soil, and water affect plants. Students will learn to identify trees, shrubs, houseplants, vegetables, and fruits. Class time will include study in the NECC greenhouse and the area identifying plants of all types.

"A love of gardening is the only prerequisite for this course," Dr. McCluskey said.

For more information, contact Dr. McCluskey at (402)-644-0574. To register, call (402)-644-0644.

Allen Band will travel to Liberty Bowl

While most students are looking forward to Christmas vacation, students in the band at Allen Consolidated Schools are looking forward to more than just time off from school.

The band has been selected to perform in the upcoming Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn. Members of the band will leave Nebraska on Tuesday, Dec. 26 and return late on Saturday, Dec. 30.

The band was one of 23 chosen from dozens of applicants. The bands represent 15 states. Bands were selected based on the following criteria: outstanding musical performance and visual impact, geography and strength of community support.

Each band was asked to submit a resume of the band's recent accomplishments and significant performances and written evidence of strong administration, parental and civic support.

The band will participate in competition during the parade and then all the bands will perform together during half-time. The guest artist for the show will be Lone Star.

In addition to their participation in the Liberty Bowl parade and performance during the football game, members of the band have scheduled a number of other activities during their trip.

They plan to visit Beale Street, birth place of many American music forms including jazz, blue grass, etc.; Hard Rock Cafe, with the world's largest collection of rock memorabilia and Graceland, the Elvis Presley estate.

Also on the list of places to visit will be a tour of the Mississippi River on a riverboat and Pink Palace Museum, nationally renowned Civil War archives.

The group will tour the National Civil Rights Museum which was built around the motel where Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated.

The Allen Band has 64 members in grades 7 through 12. Approximately 80 percent of the students at the school are enrolled in band.

"We have received 1 (Superior) ratings at the State Contest in 11 of the last 12 years. We have won the D division of the Wayne State College Band Day for seven straight years," said Band Director Richard Lacy.

In addition, the band has received Best of Class awards at competitions in Des Moines (four times), St. Louis and Kansas City.

Since the band was notified of its selection for the Liberty Bowl activities, a number of fund-raising projects have been undertaken to help offset the cost of the trip.

Wrapping it up

Santa will make his final visit to the Main Street Office tonight at 6 p.m. and will remain to 8 p.m. or until the last child has had an opportunity to tell Santa his or her needs.

Next Thursday, Dec. 21, Main Street Wayne retailers will conduct a special promotion for "last minute shoppers." The promotion is known as "Scrooge Night." Any shopper at a Main Street retailer can enter a drawing for approximately 15 gift certificates to Wayne restaurants. The drawings will be made shortly after 8 p.m. at the Main Street Office and winners will be announced Friday on KTCH.

Main Street retailers promise loving, tender care with your shopping problems in addition to free gift wrapping and special last minute shopping values.

Dear Santa

Students in kindergarten through fourth grade expressed their wishes to Santa during the annual Carroll Christmas program. A number of songs were sung in honor of the 'dear old man.' Following the program, Santa made his appearance to speak directly with the children. Cheryl Kopperud directed the program.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson said that a number of grants are available although several may not be awarded in the immediate future.

Council members also discussed the extension of Eastview Drive to 10th Street.

Following the discussion of possible alternatives, members agreed that a plan for water drainage would be presented to the council before any work would be done.

Following a presentation by Julia Shear of the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation, the council voted to approve the corporation's request for first quarter funding.

Ms. Shear explained the programs available to those looking to purchase a home and those in need of home rehabilitation. She also presented income guidelines necessary to qualify for assistance.

Snow removal along sidewalks on Seventh Street was again discussed by the council. City Administrator Johnson has come up with plans for the removal and will draw up a resolution before the council's next meeting which will be Tuesday, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Martin Luther King Jr. Day to be observed by Northeast College

Writer, actor, and vocalist Samuel G. Irving will present "A Day with Martin Luther King, Jr." for the annual Martin Luther King Day celebration by Northeast Community College on Monday, Jan. 15.

This drama will be presented by Irving at 10 a.m. at the Johnny Carson Theatre at Norfolk Senior High School and again at 1 p.m. at the Lifelong Learning Center on the Northeast campus in Norfolk. Irving's appearance is sponsored by the Multicultural Initiatives Committee at Northeast. Admission to both performances is free and on a first-come basis.

The drama, "A Day With Martin Luther King, Jr." provides historical and biological information on the late civil right leaders.

Irving, a native of Wilmington, N.C., studied at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he studied speech communications with a special focus on performance art. The author of the book of poetry, "Move Out of the Way," he was recently described as "one of the most aspiring and inspiring poets in our nation today," by the "National Library of Poetry."

He is also the founder and artistic director of God's Theatre, a professional touring drama company and co-founder of "Seeds of Sheba," a Black cultural arts center in Chapel Hill. In addition, he has hosted a television talk show, "The Art of Self-Discovery," written several plays, and been a featured artist and performer in an off-Broadway musical.

For more information on Irving's appearance in Norfolk for Martin Luther King Day, please call Joan Zanders (402) 644-0426 or Pat Keating, (402) 644-0508.

Kallie Krugman jump stops before laying a shot off the glass for two of her team-high 17 points during the Blue Devils win over Class B Schuyler last Friday.

April Thede gets hammered while attempting a short jumper with Schuyler last Friday.

Wayne girls top Schuyler to improve to 3-0 on the year

Wayne girls basketball coach John McLarnen may have bagged his biggest win in his tenure as the Blue Devils mentor last Friday night with a 45-42 win over Class B ranked Schuyler.

Wayne led 15-14 at halftime and the host team took a 25-21 lead to the fourth quarter before both teams heated up from the floor.

Wayne senior Kallie Krugman put forth a heroic effort for the winners, scoring a career-best 17 points including a 7-9 effort from the field while hauling down a game-high 16 rebounds (career high) and posting her first ever, double-double.

"It was a double dose of defense and Kallie Krugman that got this win for us," McLarnen said. "We dominated the boards and held Schuyler to just 30 percent shooting for the game."

The 3-0 Blue Devils also got eight points from sophomore Amy Harder and seven from April Thede while Amanda Maryott chipped in five and Monica Novak scored four. Leah Dunklau tallied three points and Katie Walton netted one while dishing out a team high five assists.

Wayne out-rebounded the Warriors, 37-24.

The Blue Devils will play at West Point on Thursday before visiting Wisner-Pilger on Friday.

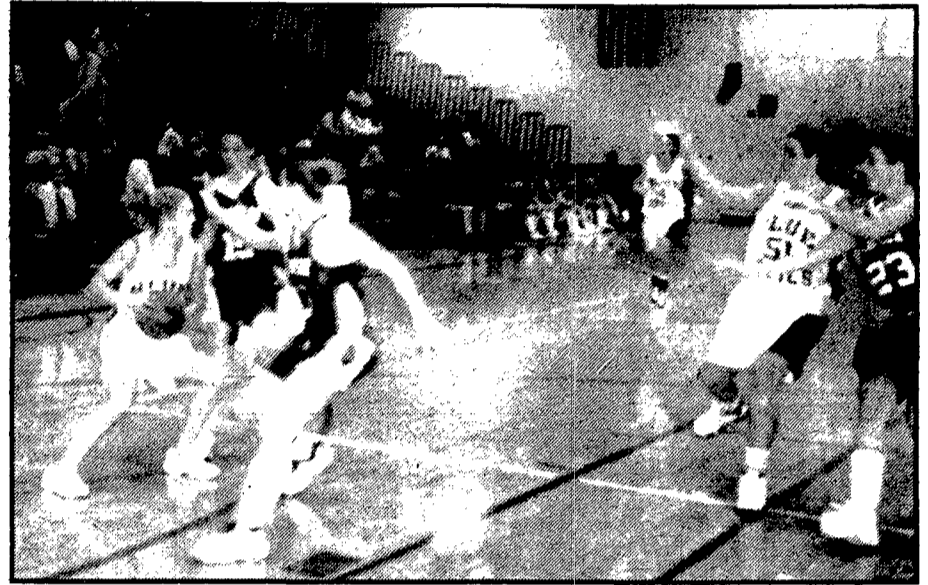

Wayne's JV team fell to Schuyler, 40-33. The Blue Devils struggled at the foul line, hitting just 3-13 after banging in 63 percent on the season prior to that game.

Erin Jarvi led the Blue Devils with seven points while Mary Boehle and Lindsey Stoltenberg scored six each. Allison Hansen and Megan Summerfield added four each and Alissa Dunklau, Amanda Munter and Ashley Loberg tallied two each.

Boehle hauled down 11 rebounds for Wayne with Hansen netting eight caroms.

Katie Walton gets double-teamed by a pair of Schuyler defenders but the senior guard calmly dished it off to Kallie Krugman who was heading toward the basket.

Wayne boys upset Class B Schuyler

The Wayne Blue Devils used a tenacious full court defense to upset Class B ranked Schuyler on Tuesday night in Schuyler, 55-46.

Rocky Ruhl's troops improved to 2-2 on the season. Wayne led 17-14 after one quarter of play but struggled in the second quarter, scoring just two points through the first five minutes.

The Blue Devils trailed 27-19 late in the second period before a 7-2 run left the score at 29-26 at the break.

Schuyler maintained a 36-33 lead midway through the third quarter when Wayne senior Eric McLagan was injured on a hard foul from a Schuyler player.

Eric sat out the rest of the 4:41 remaining in the third stanza but the rest of the Wayne team stepped it up in his absence and out-scored the host team 7-1 in the stretch to lead 40-37. Brad Hochstein and Jon Meyer hit three-pointers during that run.

Wayne connected on 11 free throws in the fourth stanza and McLagan returned to the lineup and hit a pair of shots from the field as the Blue Devils used a 15-9 scoring advantage in the quarter for the nine point win.

"We really increased our defensive pressure in the second half," Ruhl said. "We held them to just 17 points in the second half."

Tuesday High School sports Winside cagers split with Bancroft

The Winside boys basketball team earned a 58-50 win over Bancroft-Rosalie on Tuesday in Bancroft as Tom Meier's team improved to 3-1 on the season. The Wildcats led 34-24 at the half. Scott Marotz led the winners with 18 points while Ben Lienemann poured in 16. Michael Deck and Adam Hoffman were also in double figures with 11 each and Denton Cushing added two.

"We really didn't do a good job of attacking the defense," Meier said. "We didn't take advantage of what they were giving us. We also didn't shoot free throws very well. Any time you shoot 16-35 and win the game you should feel lucky."

Marotz led the Wildcats on the boards as well with nine rebounds while Lienemann had eight. Both Michael Hawkins and Deck dished out five assists.

The Winside girls didn't enjoy the same fortune as the boys as Marlon Erbst's team fell to 3-2 on the season with a 60-36 setback against the Panthers.

Makayla Marotz led Winside with 11 points with Julie Jacobsen and Kim Nathan adding six each. Amy Rademacher and Jessica Wade netted four each and Jennie Cleveland scored three while Heather Rabe added two.

"We played a good first half but then we didn't carry that same intensity over to the second half," Erbst said. "We have to be able to put four quarters together to play with the good teams and we've yet to play a complete game."

Winside will host Coleridge on Friday and W. Hill on Tuesday.

Allen girls and boys fall to Hartington

The Allen girls and boys basketball teams fell to Hartington, Tuesday with Lori Koester's gals falling by a 40-37 margin while Dave Uldrich's boys dropped a 58-50 decision. The girls fell to 2-4 on the year despite a solid performance. "We did everything we had to do to win the game except make free throws," Koester said. "We were just 4-16 and we can't afford that in close games."

Elizabeth Bock posted a double-double with 12 points and 10 rebounds and she had six steals as well. Michelle Marks had eight points and six rebounds and Alicia Liebsch netted six points. Angela Prochaska scored four points and had eight rebounds and Danielle Bertrand scored four points and hauled down six rebounds. Melissa Wilmes finished with three points.

"We out-rebounded them by a 38-19 margin," Koester said. "Our guard trio of Bock, Marks and Wilmes are playing with a lot of poise and confidence but we need our four and five players to step it up a little more so we can win the close games."

The boys slipped to 0-5 on the year with a 58-50 loss. Bart Sachau scored nine points in the first quarter on three-pointers to give Allen a 15-13 lead but Hartington regained the lead in the second quarter and led 30-22 at the half.

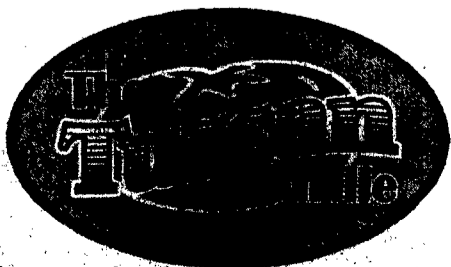

Allen cut the lead to five at 55-50 with 1:01 remaining but couldn't draw any closer. Micky Oldenkamp led the Eagles with 17 points and Sachau netted 11 while Brett Keitges scored eight and Corey Uldrich, seven. Bryan Gotch netted four points and Justin Warner, three.

Uldrich and Keitges had eight rebounds each to lead the Eagles while Oldenkamp had seven caroms. Uldrich also dished out a team-high four assists.

Blue Devils fall to top ranked Lakeview with no time on the clock Wayne boys drop games to Logan View, Lakeview

By Kevin Peterson

The Blue Devils led Logan View by a 29-22 margin at halftime in Hooper last Friday before falling, 53-41 after scoring just 12, second half points.

"To say we went cold from the field in the second half would be an under-statement," Ruhl said. "We were just 3-34 from the floor in the second half which results in about nine percent shooting."

Eric McLagan led Wayne with 18 points—14 of which came in the first half while Brad Hansen scored eight and Brad Hochstein, seven. Jon Meyer tallied five points with Ben Meyer adding two and Trevor Wright, one.

Wayne went 0-13 from behind the arc in the second half and was just 2-23 for the game from bonus range while Logan View hit seven, three-pointers.

Wayne did dominate the boards, 37-24 with McLagan notching 16 caroms to lead the way.

On Saturday night, the Blue Devils hosted Class C-1's top ranked Columbus Lakeview and Wayne put up a valiant effort, only to fall by a 62-61 margin after time had expired. Lakeview's Calvin Kapels hit two free throws with no time on the clock to give his team the one point win.

Eric McLagan put Wayne up 61-60 with just 3.1 seconds remaining but Kapels running off-balanced shot at the buzzer drew the attention of one official even though the other official signaled the game over.

"It was an awful tough call to make with the game on the line," Ruhl said. "After the game Kapels told me directly there was no foul."

Ruhl however, refused to blame anyone for the call. "It was a good game and I'm proud of the way our kids played, especially after Friday's disappointing setback," Ruhl added. "We need to do some things better and we know it."

Wayne led 34-33 at the intermission and Lakeview led 47-45 after three quarters of play.

The lead changed hands four times in the final 30 seconds—and beyond.

Brad Hochstein was unstoppable in the first half for Wayne, scoring 24 of his team-high 26 points.

Kapels led all scorers with 29 in the 32-plus minutes he was on the floor.

Eric McLagan scored 16 points and Brad Hansen was in double figures with 12 while Jon Meyer tallied four and Shane Baack, three.

Wayne won the battle of the boards, 25-17 with McLagan netting eight caroms with Hansen hauling down seven and Hochstein, six.

Wayne will play at Wisner-Pilger on Friday.

Wayne

McLagan led the winners with 19 points including back-to-back three-pointers in the first quarter.

Brad Hochstein scored 10 points and Brad Hansen added nine while Trevor Wright tallied six and Craig Olson, five.

Jon Meyer scored four points and Shane Baack finished with two.

Wayne out-rebounded Schuyler, 36-28 with McLagan netting nine caroms while Olson hauled down eight rebounds. Olson also rejected a shot attempt from Schuyler's leading scorer and 6-7 junior Turner Troefholz.

McLagan recorded six steals and Wayne forced Schuyler into 18 turnovers. The Blue Devils only nemesis was free throw shooting where they were just 18-33 for 55 percent.

Eagles beaten twice at Ponca tipoff tourney

The Allen basketball teams competed at the Ponca Tip Off Tournament last weekend with Lori Koester's girls and Dave Uldrich's boys falling twice.

Allen's girls fell to Emerson-Hubbard in the first round, 47-32 as the Eagles were forced to play with out starting center Angela Prochaska who was out with a sprained ankle.

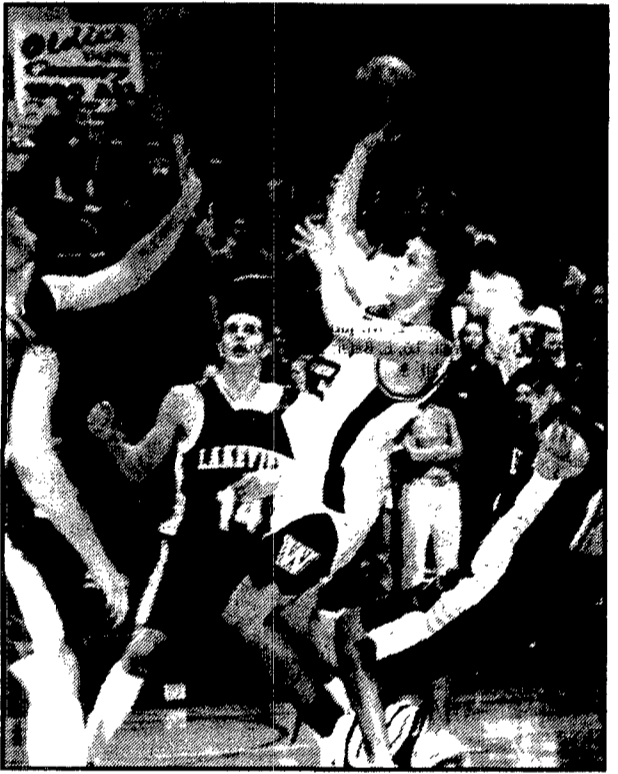

Alicia Liebsch and Elizabeth Bock each scored nine points for Allen with Melissa Wilmes adding eight Danielle Bertrand, Michelle Marks and Angie Sullivan each netted two.

"We didn't play with much intensity," Koester said. "We did play a solid fourth quarter and we need that kind of effort for a full game."

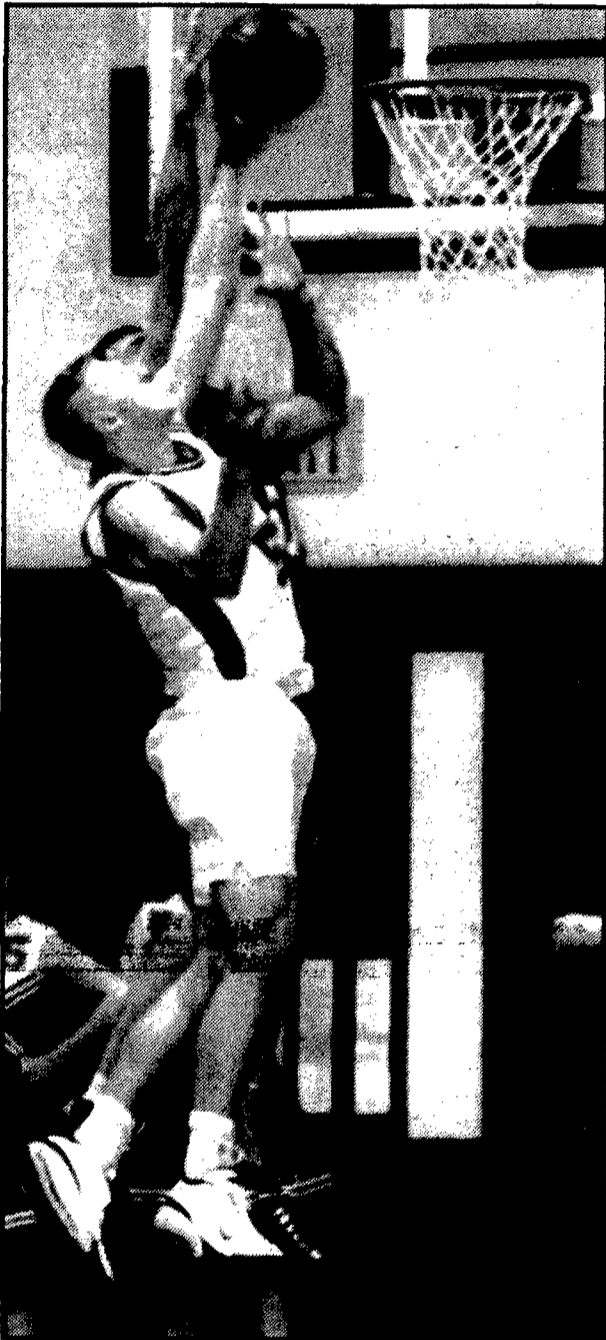

The Eagles lost a 57-53 decision to Homer in the consolation tilt. The game was tied at 32 at the break

Jon Meyer stops and pops for two over the out-stretched hands of a Lakeview defender.

Brad Hochstein puts up the one handed jumper during second half action of the Blue Devils game with Lakeview.

Wayne's Eric McLagan lays a shot over the rim during Wayne's game with top ranked Columbus Lakeview.

Brad Joens breaks career three-point record WSC men net NSIC wins

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Wayne State men's basketball coach Rico Burkett said they spent the last week conveying to the Wildcat players that the beginning of the conference schedule would be like starting a new season.

With that being said the 'Cats are off to a 2-0 start after downing Northern State, 80-74 and Minnesota-Morris, 88-57 last weekend in South Dakota and Minnesota.

The 'Cats opened up a 12 point lead at the half at 40-28 and led by double digits most of the second half before a late rally by Northern State when the game was pretty much decided.

Brad Joens led the winners with 23 points and in doing so he snapped the career three-point record mark held by Mike Fitzner from 1994-97.

Joens drained his record-breaking shot less than three minutes into the game to give him 260.

His 23 points was a season-high and he was joined in double figures in scoring by Jason Herlitzke with 17 and Nathan Mulder with 14 while freshman Todd Klostermann came off the bench to add 10.

"We raised our level of intensity in practice last week and that was reflected on the floor at Northern State," Burkett said. "Brad Joens hit his first couple shots and the rest of the team fed off his confidence."

WSC was edged on the boards, 36-30 with Mulder leading the 'Cats with nine caroms.

WSC WON BY 31 over Morris on Saturday night but it was just a four point game at the half, 36-32.

"We were a little nervous," Burkett said. "It was kind of difficult to address the team in not over looking Morris after we had seen them play at the Quad States Classic, and coming off a big win at Northern State the night before."

Burkett said his team used the same level of intensity in the second half that they had at Northern State to pull away for the 30-plus point victory in improving the season record to 3-6.

Kevin Lingenfelter and Todd Klostermann tossed in 14 points each to share team honors with Jason Herlitzke adding 13 and Brad Joens, 11.

The 'Cats got seven assists from Brad Manley and they won the battle of the boards, 39-31 as Herlitzke led the way with seven caroms.

WSC will host Lake Superior State on Friday and Grand View on Saturday.

Lake Superior State will enter Rice Auditorium with a couple familiar faces as Marty McDermott leads the Lakers (brother of former Wildcat head coach Greg McDermott).

Also on the Lakers sideline is assistant coach and former WSC stand-out Mike Fitzner.

Lake Superior State is 7-1 on the season.

WSC women split with NSIC foes

The Wayne State women's basketball team earned a split of the season's first weekend of NSIC action after falling to Northern State in the final minutes last Friday night before rebounding to bounce Minnesota-Morris on Saturday.

Ryun Williams' 'Cats played a solid game in Aberdeen, S.D. but just didn't get the job done.

"We didn't do a very good job of blocking out on the boards as Northern State got numerous second chance points," Williams said. "Northern State finished with 19 offensive boards.

"We also didn't do a good job at the foul line, hitting less than 50 percent in the second half while they (Northern) connected on 93 percent of their free throw attempts in the second half. When you get out-rebounded and don't hit your foul shots, odds are you're not going to come out on top."

WSC had possession of the ball with 17 seconds left in the game and trailing by three but they suffered a turnover.

"We had a seven point lead in the second half but couldn't maintain it," Williams added.

Despite the loss Williams was pleased with the play of his freshman post player Rochelle Sohl who netted 13 points.

Sara Miller and Krista Bernadt each scored 11 and Tracy Williamson tossed in eight.

The 'Cats were out-rebounded by a 43-35 margin with Bernadt hauling down a game-high nine caroms. Miller dished out a game-high eight assists.

WSC CAME BACK Saturday night and whipped Minnesota-Morris, 86-64 as they improved to 5-3 on the season and 1-1 in NSIC play.

"We didn't come out as intense as I hoped we would," Williams said. "We were up three at half and then opened things up in the second half."

Morris connected on eight, three-pointers in the opening half before going 0-10 from bonus range in the second half.

"We developed a nice rhythm in the second half," Williams said. "I thought Tracy Williamson did a good job for us from long range, hitting four, three-pointers."

Williamson paced the winners with 18 points with Krista Bernadt adding 15 and Maranda Radke, 14 while Christi Williams poured in 13.

Sara Miller was close to the double digit mark with nine. WSC edged the Cougars on the boards, 35-31 with Radke and Bernadt hauling down six caroms each.

The 'Cats will play host to Dana College on Friday night before a two-week layoff.

Wayne freshman boys win two of three

WAYNE—Rob Sweetland's Wayne freshman boys basketball team went 2-1 in action during the past week and are currently 3-1 on the season.

Wayne defeated Laurel-Concord, 37-34 after out-scoring the Bears, 16-0 in the third quarter. "We trailed by nine at half but our kids played real hard in the second half," Sweetland said.

Heath Dicks led Wayne with 14 points while Chris Nissen and Josh Sharer added eight each. Aaron Jorgensen netted three points with Trevor Krugman and Ryan Hix scoring two each.

Wayne fell to Columbus Lakeview, 50-46 after the game was tied at 29 after three quarters of play. "We just had too many turnovers and fouls at crucial times," Sweetland said.

Kayle Anderson poured in 17 points to lead Wayne with Adam Jorgensen netting 13 and Chris Nissen, 10. Heath Dicks scored four and Trevor Krugman, two.

Tuesday night in Schuyler the freshman blasted the host Warriors, 67-39 after taking a 28-4 lead in the first quarter. Chris Nissen led the charge with 19 points and Heath Dicks scored 12 while Josh Sharer added eight and Kayle Anderson, seven. Ryan Hix and Aaron Jorgensen each tossed in six with Austin Leighty scoring five. Brian Wetmore and Trevor Krugman scored two each.

Wayne seventh grade girls place third

WAYNE—Diana Hefner's seventh grade girls basketball team placed third at the Wayne Tournament last Saturday. The locals fell to Pierce, 29-22 before downing West Point Central Catholic, 18-13.

In the Pierce contest Renee Theobald led Wayne with seven points while Carly Wacker and Jessica Dickey added six each. Kayla Hochstein netted two and Emlyn Mann, one.

Wayne's win over WPC was aided by Wacker's eight points while Keely Niemann added four. Hochstein, Theobald and Jessica Volk scored two apiece.

ITS SIMPLE TO UNLOCK THE INTERNET.

CALL NORTHEAST NEBRASKA COMNET NOW AND HAVE ACCESS TO ALL THE EXCITEMENT, INFORMATION AND KNOWLEDGE THAT SURFING THE INTERNET OFFERS!

What is DSL?

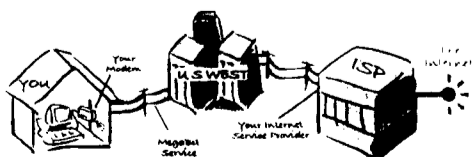

DSL stands for digital subscriber line. The technology uses regular copper telephone lines to connect homes and small businesses to the Internet at high speeds. Those speeds typically range from 256K to 1.544 mbps (nearly 30 times faster than a 56K modem) for downstream transfers, which are downloads or file transfers to your PC.

What do these numbers mean? Simply put you can have an internet connection at speeds approaching those of a T1 line for a fraction of the price.

How does it Work?

DSL uses digital technology to send oodles of compressed data over traditional telephone lines. The trick involves using special modems at both ends that encode the data and then transmit it over an unused frequency on the line.

Qwest will provide you a line back to the Central Office and then you choose Northeast Nebraska ComNet as your Internet Service Provider. It's easy and fast. You won't have to change your email address or the great service you currently receive.

How much does it Cost?

There are two options available from Qwest for the Line. Northeast Nebraska ComNet's charges will not change. Currently Qwest has a promotion that was extended for a free modem and activation.

Northeast Nebraska ComNet has no control over busy signals with DSL as Qwest Communications acts as all this. If you have troubles with connecting and with busy signals please contact Qwest Communications. Please contact Qwest on the current promotion for more information.

With DSL Services

from Northeast Nebraska ComNet you will continue to have access to quality Internet Services. Outstanding Technical Support and the knowledge of many years experience in the Internet Industry. October of 1999 ComNet had a solution for DSL services that we wanted to bring to Wayne. US West would not let ComNet provide those DSL services to You. We will continue to fight to bring quality services and advanced technologies to Wayne and all of our other communities.

Wayne wrestlers take third at West Point invitational

The Wayne wrestling team placed third at the West Point Invitational last Saturday, scoring 154 points.

Gretna captured top honors with 212 points and David City Aquinas netted 191. West Point CC was fourth with 79 and Blair scored 72 while Oakland-Craig netted 71 and West Point, 43. Fort Calhoun netted 33 points for eighth place and Pierce tallied 13 points while Fremont Bergan scored 12.

The Blue Devils had 10 medal winners led by freshman Matt Nelson and senior Lynn Junck as the duo claimed first place honors.

Nelson won by pin in the finals over a returning state placer at 125 pounds and Junck just simply mauled his championship match opponent, winning by pin in just 35 seconds. In fact, Junck pinned all three of his opponents in the 189 pound weight class.

Wayne had four grapplers place runner-up including Adam Jorgensen who suffered his first loss of the season after opening with seven consecutive wins. Jorgensen was pinned in the finals by Scott Fiala of David City Aquinas at 171 pounds.

Chris Woehler placed second at 160 pounds and Danny Roeber was second at 145 pounds, losing 9-8 in the finals to Zach Frey of Gretna.

Lucas Munter also placed runner-up at 135 pounds. Matt Roeber (119), Casey Campbell (130) and Keith Shear (215) each placed third with Josh Pieper (152) adding a fourth.

"It was a solid performance," coach John Murtaugh said. "The kids battled all day and I'm proud of them. Lynn Junck and Matt Nelson had super tournaments."

The Blue Devils will host the annual Wayne Invite on Saturday at the high school.

and Allen led 46-43 after three quarters of play.

"We controlled the boards and did a good job of taking care of the ball but we still need to do a better job of being patient on offense and taking better shots," Koester added.

Michelle Marks led Allen with a personal best 16 points and eight rebounds while Elizabeth Bock tossed in 13 points and pulled down seven caroms.

Alicia Liebsch posted a double, double with 10 points and 11 rebounds with Melissa Wilmes scoring nine points. Alycia Stewart netted three points and Angie Sullivan, two.

Allen will host Newcastle on Friday and play at Homer on Tuesday.

The Allen boys dropped a 69-48 decision to Emerson-Hubbard in first round action after trailing by just eight at the half, 28-20.

Allen fell victim to some red hot shooting by the Pirates as they connected on 13-of-20 shots from bonus range.

"I thought we played a solid game despite how the score might look," Uldrich said. "We trailed by 26 points after the third quarter at 57-31 but we battled back and cut the lead to 12 before they (E-H) hit three additional three-pointers."

Micky Oldenkamp led Allen with 14 points with Justin Warner adding 13 and Bart Sachau, seven. Corey Uldrich added six and Lyle Rahn, four while Duane Rahn and Brett Keitges scored two apiece.

Uldrich led the Eagles with seven caroms while Sachau had four steals. Oldenkamp had a team-high six assists.

Allen fell just shy of winning the consolation game with Homer, falling by a 49-47 margin.

The Eagles led 24-19 at the half and 37-31 after three quarters of play before being out-scored, 18-10 in the final stanza.

"We felt we played a good game and it was a big confidence booster to our team to force Homer into some mistakes. We never quit and that is a sign of a team that wants to get better," Uldrich added.

Micky Oldenkamp poured in 24 points to lead all scorers with Corey Uldrich adding nine and Justin Warner, eight. Bryan Gotch, Brett Keitges and Lyle Rahn added two each.

Oldenkamp led the team with eight rebounds with Uldrich notching five steals and dishing out five assists.

"Despite our record I'm pleased with our progress," Uldrich said. "We need to learn how to finish a game once we get on top."

Allen will host Newcastle on Friday and play at Homer on Tuesday.

Wakefield boys gain first win; Ladies 2-2

The Wakefield Trojans basketball teams earned a sweep at Wausa last Friday night with Iris Mestl's girls posting a 41-34 victory while Mike Clay's boys won their first game of the season with a 58-50 win over the Vikings.

In the girls contest Megan Brown led the way with 17 points as Wakefield built an 18-11 halftime lead and never looked back.

Timarie Bebee added eight with Kayla Erwin and Nicole Jensen scoring five apiece. Jessica Dutcher tossed in four points and Kim Hattig tallied two for the 2-2 Trojans.

In the boys contest the Trojans broke open a tie game at the half at 26 all with a 19-8 scoring run in the third quarter.

Ty Nixon paced the winners with 16 points while Todd McQuistan poured in 15 and Ross Hansen, 10. Ryan Carson scored seven and Wyatt Brown, five while Joel McAtee tallied three and Joe Brown, two.

The Wakefield girls will play host to Hartington on Thursday before playing at Osmond on Tuesday.

The Wakefield boys will host Hartington on Thursday and Stanton on Friday before playing at Osmond on Tuesday.

Wildcat wrestlers win North Bend Invite Winside still perfect

The Winside wrestling team remained unbeaten in action this season after winning the North Bend Invite last Saturday with 161.5 points.

David City was second with 103.5 and Wisner-Pilger was third at 102 while Columbus Lakeview finished fifth with 98 and Wahoo, sixth with 84.

North Bend garnered 81.5 points and Tecumseh netted 76 while Milford tallied 63 and Central Christian, 52. Arlington rounded out the field of 10 teams with 45 points.

Winside had nine medal winners including four champions as Travis Koll and Eric Vanosdall remained unbeaten on the year individually.

Nathan Suehl and Tom Schwedhelm also claimed championship honors at North Bend.

Koll won by pin in his finals match of 125 pounds as he defeated John Terminus of Lakeview. Koll has seven pins of his nine wins on the season against no losses.

Vanosdall won by pin over Justin Oswald of Wisner-Pilger at 160 pounds as he improved to 8-0 on the year with eight pins.

Suehl moved his season mark to 7-1 with a pin of Justin Rehmer of David City at 171 pounds in the finals and Tom Schwedhelm won by pin at 189 as he improved to 8-0 with seven pins.

Runner-up places were won by Brandon Suehl at 102 and Jared Jaeger at 112. Suehl is 4-1 on the season and Jaeger fell to 6-2.

Nathan Stevens placed third at 120 and Justin Koch suffered his first loss of the year at 140 pounds as he settled for third at North Bend while sporting a season mark of 8-1.

Josh Sok finished fourth at North Bend and suffered his first losses of the year. He's currently 7-2 before coming to compete in the Wayne invite this Saturday.

"We really had a great tournament," Sok said. "The kids are really wrestling well. Our highlight despite all the champions was Nathan Stevens. He hadn't won a match this season and came away with a third place finish. Nathan Suehl really dominated his weight class with a pin in the finals."

LAST THURSDAY in Pender the Wildcats defeated the host Pendragons, 45-34 in dual action before downing West Point Central Catholic, 39-33.

Winners in the Pender dual included Travis Koll by pin at 125 and Sam Strohmman by pin at 145. Nathan Suehl won by pin at 171 and Tom Schwedhelm won an 8-3 decision at 189.

Winside forfeited three weight classes and received forfeits in four weight classes.

In the WPCCC dual Winside received forfeits in four weight classes. Winners on the mat included Jared Jaeger at 112, Travis Koll at 125, Josh Sok at 135, Justin Koch at 140, Eric Vanosdall at 160, Nathan Suehl at 171, Tom Schwedhelm at 189 and Dustin Nelson at 275.

Winside won eight of the 10 matches on the mat but the score was tied at 33 with one match remaining.

Dustin Nelson pinned his opponent in 49 seconds to seal the deal for the Wildcats.

Winside will visit Wayne this Saturday for the annual Wayne Invite and Sok expects this tournament to be among the elite during the season.

"I think there will be five state runner-ups at this tournament along with a state champ and numerous other returning state placers," Sok said. "It has the makings to be a great tournament."

Laurel-Concord basketball teams thump NENAC foe Randolph in double-header

The Laurel-Concord girls and boys basketball teams made quick work of their NENAC foes Randolph in action last Saturday night in Laurel.

Susie Koranda's Bears cruised past the Cardinals by a 64-32 margin to improve to 4-0 on the year.

Laurel-Concord led 32-15 at the half and opened it up to a 55-25 advantage after three quarters of play.

Brittany Burns paced the winners with 15 points with Lani Recob adding 13 and Katie Peters, eight. Kari Stewart, Melanie Thompson and Jenny Demuth netted seven each and Emily Schroeder tossed in five with Tori Cunningham adding two.

"We really stressed execution and intensity in practice all week," Koranda said. "We played a complete game on both sides of the ball."

Burns also led the winners on the boards with seven rebounds and Katie Peters dished out a team-high five assists while Emily Schroeder recorded eight steals.

The Bears will play at Plainview on Friday before playing at the Holiday Tournament in Wayne, Dec. 27-29.

Clayton Steele's boys squad pretty much had the same success against Randolph with a 61-31 margin of victory as the Bears improved to 3-0.

The host team opened up a 34-19 halftime lead before a 15-4 third quarter run put the game on ice at 49-23.

Jon Erwin led the winners with 21 points with Matt Schroeder pouring in 17. Adam Hartung scored six and Brent Heikes along with Nathan Beckman added five each while Blake Erwin tallied four and Tyler Slingley, three.

Hartung and Blake Erwin had 11 rebounds each as the Bears owned the Boards, 40-23. Beckman handed out a game-high nine assists.

Laurel-Concord will play at Plainview on Friday.

Pinning combination

Lucas Munter appears to be looking at the official to see if he's about to slap the mat for the pin during Wayne's dual win over Schuyler earlier this season. Wayne will host the Blue Devil Invite on Saturday beginning at 10 a.m.

Santa rock

Students at Carroll Elementary School demonstrated their Christmas spirit during the annual Christmas program entitled "Dear Santa" held last week at the Carroll Auditorium. The students performed a number of songs including "Deck the Halls," "Jolly Old St. Nickolas," "S-A-N-T-A," "Sticky Situation," "Santa Claus is Comin' to Town," "Santa Claus Rock," and "Christmas Kazoo A-Long." The students are under the direction of Cheryl Kopperud. Following the program Santa made his appearance with treats provided by the Carroll Fire Department.

Wayne State College Winter Commencement set for Dec. 15

Wayne State College winter commencement ceremonies will be held on Friday, Dec. 15, at 2 p.m. in Rice Auditorium. Dr. Sheila Stearns, WSC president, will present 196 bachelor's degrees and 42 master's and education specialist degrees.

Honor graduates Marsha Krienke, Pierce, graduating Summa cum Laude with a bachelor of science degree in elementary education, and Stacy Finck, Wausa, graduating Summa cum Laude with a bachelor of science degree in business administration, will speak.

Rebecca D. "Becky" Keidel of Wayne will receive the Alumni Service Award. A member of the Wayne State Foundation since 1983, Keidel has served as foundation president, and is currently a member of the foundation executive board. She has been instrumental in projects and programs for the college, including the current "All About Students" campaign. During her presidency, Keidel helped launch "Building Bright Futures," WSC's first national fund-raising campaign.

The public is invited to attend the ceremonies. Wayne State College, a regional, public four-year college located in northeast Nebraska, is a member of the Nebraska State College System.

An alphabetical hometown list of graduates appears below. JOHN G. NEIHARDT SCHOLARS PROGRAM: The John G. Neihardt Scholars Program provides special academic and scholarship opportunities for outstanding students enrolling at Wayne State College.

Each year the Scholarship Council selects a limited number from the qualified applicants to participate in the program, which offers special classes, colloquia, and advisement.

Students accepted into the program, who maintain their eligibility, are awarded a four-year scholarship for tuition up to 128 total credit hours, as well as an annual stipend of $500.

Standing the test of time

Muzzleloaders are a blast from the past!

Outdoorsmen and women have another opportunity to enjoy the outdoors during Muzzle loading season which opened in Nebraska last week and opens in South Dakota this week.

Called muzzle loaders because the powder and shot/bullet needed to be loaded down the barrel, these primitive weapons were fairly accurate to 75 yards.

There are several caliber of muzzle loaders for different types of hunting. Muzzle loaders are available in shotguns and rifles in several calibers including: .36, .45, .50, .54, or .58.

For small game such as coyotes, try a .45 caliber.

For rabbit or squirrel, try a .36 caliber or a 12 gauge muzzle loader with #6 or 7 shot.

Game birds can be taken with 12 gauge muzzle loaders using #6 or 7 1/2 shot.

Turkeys can be bagged with a 10 or 12 gauge muzzle loader using #4 or 5 shot.

Deer hunters use a .45 caliber or larger muzzle loader, while elk and moose hunters use a .50 caliber or larger.

If you're really daring, hunters have hunter bear and water buffalo with heavy charges using .54 or .58 caliber muzzle loader.

When I first started to look at muzzle loaders, it seemed way too complicated for me and the horror stories I'd heard about guns not going off and misfires made me a bit apprehensive about taking up this new sport.

Like anything else, the guns and equipment has improved and the sport of muzzle loading became less complicated and is quickly becoming a very popular sport.

The traditional muzzle loaders were flintlocks, percussion or cap lock, wheel lock or the match like our fore fathers used to fight the red coats during the Revolutionary War.

A primitive muzzle loader had to carry a variety of equipment including: powder horn, patches, ball ammunition, bullet lube, bullet starter, capper and cleaning solvents. You had to be very careful in wet conditions because wet powder doesn't work and once the traditional muzzle loader was fired needed to be swabbed out before reloading.

Several companies make these traditional rifles including C.V.A., Thompson Center Arms, and Traditions to name a few.

There are groups of primitive hunters that really get into the old way of hunting. They dress in buckskin, sleep in Tee Peees and hunt with only traditional equipment. These groups have annual rendezvous just like the old trappers of years gone by.

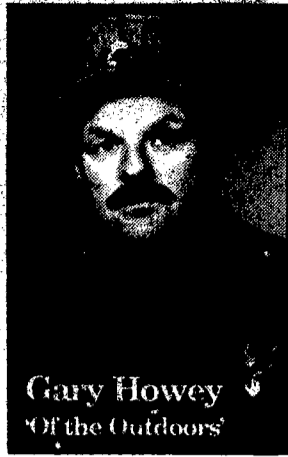

Like anything else, improvements were made and designs were changed and the new in-line muzzle loaders came on the market.

Knight (Modern Muzzle Loaders), Austin & Halleck, C.V.A., Thompson Center Arms and Tradition all manufacture the in-line rifle and Markesbery Muzzle Loaders manufactures the only Outer-Line ignition muzzle loader.

Looking much like a high powered rifle, the modern type muzzle loaders were more accurate because of the rifling in the barrel. They load easier and faster because of the Pyrodex pellets used in place of black powder and because of the sabot bullets that replaced the old, patch and ball.

They are also less likely to misfire because they use primers to ignite the powder. Since the primers are sealed, moisture becomes less of a problem.

The majority of the new style muzzle loaders use the No. 11 primer but with a slight nipple modification can be fired with either musket cap, small caliber rifle primer or the 209 shotgun primers.

Muzzle loaders now have a choice of powders as they use either Black powder or Pyrodex. Pyrodex, which takes a little more spark to ignite, comes in both the powder form and in the pellets. The pellets are available in 30 or 50 grams of powder. These pre-measured pellets make loading faster and easier. Since Pyrodex burns cleaner than black powder, cleaning the in-line muzzle loaders doesn't need to be done as often, making it quicker to reload.

Bullets for the new muzzle loaders can be one of several styles; cap and ball, maxi-ball or sabot. I use the Hornady Sabot or the Markesbery Beast Buster Bullets and am very impressed with their accuracy.

With these bullets, the new muzzle loaders are accurate out to 150 yards or more.

There are a couple of muzzle loading seasons available to the hunter. The regular season and the special season that are used to help control over population of deer in certain areas.

Muzzle loading deer permits in many states are 100 percent either sex permits, which allows the hunter to tag either a buck or a doe.

With the doe numbers on the increase, hunters need to take some of these excess does out of the population.

Muzzle loaders have an excellent opportunity to help to assure a good buck to doe ratio by taking does.

Harvesting these excess animals will let the smaller bucks make it into their second year and have the opportunity to breed.

Who knows perhaps that small buck you let go this season will grow into a trophy buck in a couple of years.

Give muzzle loading a try, it's another chance for outdoorsmen and women to get out and enjoy the outdoors and to become an important part of wildlife management.

When it comes to winter fishing, Bluegills are an ice fisherman's best friend!

Getting started in ice fishing can be as easy or as hard as you want to make it.

There are some species of fish that are easier to catch through the ice than others. One of these is the Bluegill. This member of the panfish family is usually a pretty pager biter.

In the Midwest, we have several species of panfish that are called Bluegill. The Green Sunfish is the Bluegill's smaller cousin and every once in awhile, you might pick up a Pumpkinseed. They may differ in size and color, but they all seem to like to nibble on a waxworm that is suspended below a bobber.

In the winter, Bluegills are generally found in shallower water. There are several reasons for this. The first is that they feed on small insects and larvae that live in areas with heavier weed growth.

Since sunlight can penetrate to the bottom in the shallower water, weed growth is good. The weeds make ideal areas for the Bluegill's food source, small aquatic life to live. Last but not least in the fact that since Bluegills are a smaller fish and quite tasty, they like to hang out in the shallow water because the larger predator fish have a difficult time locating them and maneuvering in the shallow water.

To catch Bluegills through the ice, you need the basic tackle. The old hook, line and sinker, a bobber with a wax worm works well. I like to use a small H & J Hooker or a Skeeter ice fishing lure. These lures come in numerous sizes and are made by ice fishermen from Royal who have ice fished throughout Nebraska and the Dakota's.

Use light line when ice fishing, because it has less memory and allows your light lure to flutter and rise naturally. The lighter equipment works best for Bluegills. If you use too heavy line, split or jig, the Bluegill will either back off and look at the heavy kinky line or spend his time pecking at the split shot and not your wax worm. Use small hooks or jigs and experiment with the number of wax worms you attach to the hook. There are times when Bluegill will want just a tiny little wax worm and at other times, they will take an ice jig with two or more before they look at the smaller offering.

The bobber or float helps you to detect the bite. Since Bluegills are in their slow mode, you don't want to over do it. These cold blooded creatures don't move around much in cold water and don't require a whole lot of food when the water turns hard above them.

Try to use a small bobber if possible. The key to bobber fishing is to have just the very top of the bobber sticking out of the water, the less bobber floating out of the water, the less resistance the Bluegill will feel when he takes the bait.

They will move vertically as much as they do horizontally, so if you were catching Bluegills at three feet, and the bite quits, don't move to a next spot too soon. Try going a bit deeper if the sun is out or a bit shallower if it's a cloudy day.

Bluegill fishing is great fun as these eager biters can be found roaming under the ice on most lakes, ponds or stock dams.

On some sunny warm day, when you're looking for something to do, grab your auger, a rod, a few lures and the wax worms and give Bluegill fishing a try, you'll be glad you did.

Area schools form partnership

Two Omaha-area secondary schools, Ralston and Papillion-LaVista, have entered into a partnership with Metropolitan Community College and Wayne State College that will provide metro-area students the opportunity to begin work on a bachelor's degree program in education.

The Associate to Bachelor Completion program has been developed specifically for metro-area residents, according to Bonnie Scranton, Wayne State College associate vice president, enrollment management. "If a student is interested in teaching at the high school level but wishes to start his or her education close to home, this is a great opportunity to do so," she said.

"This Associate to Bachelor's Degree agreement lets any student interested in teaching secondary education earn the first two years of his or her teacher education coursework at Metro, leading to an Associate of Applied Science (AAS) degree in Professional Studies. All credits will then transfer to Wayne State College, just 100 miles from Omaha, where they will complete the upper division requirements. As part of this agreement, those students will then be able to return to the metro area to student teach in one of our partner school districts."

The first course offering, Introduction to Education 101, combines the study of schools and society with a minimum of 25-clock-hour field experience at participating schools. This 4.5-credit hour course was developed by Metro Community College in conjunction with Wayne State College. It will be offered in January at Metro's Sarpy Center. Students may take additional coursework to complete the AAS in Professional Studies at Metro under the advisement of Metro Student Services offices.

"We are very excited about this new opportunity for Metropolitan Community College to fulfill its mission to meet the needs of the community," said Jane Franklin, MCC associate dean. "Through our partnerships with Wayne State and area schools, we will now be able to help attract students to the field of education. In turn, this will assist the community in meeting the growing demands for teachers across the state. We are proud to announce that students can begin their teaching journey right here at Metro!"

The program is a good example of the importance of partnerships, said Dr. Sheila M. Stearns, WSC president. "We're pleased to be a partner in this program which, we are confident, will be beneficial not only to the students participating in it, but also to schools across the state and region. It is an innovative approach to helping meet real needs in education."

For more information, call Nancy Judson at Wayne State College at 402-375-7239, or Denise Ellis, articulation coordinator, Metro Community College, at 402-457-2678.

WEEKLY Health TIP

A Daily Aspirin - The Under Used Therapy

Regular aspirin use in people with heart disease has been shown to reduce the risk of blood clots which can block blood vessels and trigger a heart attack. A recent study found only 26% of the people who had coronary heart disease and could have benefitted from aspirin were using it. Always check with your doctor before starting any over-the-counter medication.

Local students inducted into honor society at Wayne State

Christine Brugger-Isom, Elizabeth S. Jacobs, and Marie Janke, all of Wayne; Lynnette Larson of Wakefield; and Holly Hank of Norfolk (formerly of Wayne) were among 13 students recently inducted into Wayne State's Theta Sigma Lambda, the national honor society for non-traditional students continuing their higher education.

Brugger-Isom is a senior majoring in elementary education. She and her husband, John, have two children.

Jacobs is a senior majoring in business administration with an emphasis in management.

Janke is a senior majoring in human resource management. She is a member of the Phi Beta Lambda, a professional business organization. Her husband is Robert Janke.

Larson is a senior majoring in human services counseling. She is a member of American Association of University Women (AAUW) and listed in the Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. Her husband is Ray Larson.

Hank is a senior majoring in elementary education. She is a member of Wayne Student Education Association of Nebraska (WSEAN). She is the daughter of Ron and Rhonda Sebade of Wayne. Her husband is Chad Hank.

The students initiated were recognized for superior academic performance, and had obtained grade point averages of 3.2 or higher on a 4.0 scale to qualify for membership.

The purpose of Alpha Sigma Lambda is to provide an association for and recognition of academically outstanding non-traditional students who are continuing their goals of higher education. The Theta Sigma Chapter was organized on campus in May 1998.

Induction ceremony

Globetrotters to appear at Northeast Community College

Tickets went on sale Dec. 11 for the Harlem Globetrotters' first appearance at Northeast Community College in Norfolk since 1989.

The Globetrotters, also known as Ambassadors of Goodwill, take on the Washington Generals on Friday, Jan. 26, 2001, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cox Activities Center on the Northeast campus in Norfolk. The NECC Hawks Booster Club will sponsor their appearance. Their 1989 appearance at Northeast was sold-out.

The Harlem Globetrotters are now on their 75th anniversary tour. They have entertained more than 120 million people in 115 countries since their very first game in January, 1927, in Hinkley, Ill. Founded by Abe Saperstein, a 24-year-old white immigrant from London, the team is now owned by former player Mannie Jackson. The Harlem Globetrotters are Q-rated as the most liked and recognized sports team in the world. Tickets for the authentic Harlem

Globetrotters' appearance at Northeast Community college may be purchased beginning Dec. 11 at both HyVee East and West, U.S. Bank, Elkhorn Valley Bank and Trust, or the NECC Student Activities or Student Services Office, all in Norfolk. Or you may e-mail your ticket requests to tickets_necc@hotmail.com Discount coupons are available. For information on how to get a discount coupon, please call 402-644-0413.

Herbs for Health
 Older Antidepressants Often as Effective as Newer, Costlier Ones
 According to new guidelines from the American College of Physicians - American Society of Internal Medicine, both newer and traditional antidepressant medicines are equally effective for many persons with depression. Older medicines typically are in the class termed tricyclics (e.g., Tofranil, Elavil). The newer agents include selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors, or SSRIs (e.g., Paxil, Zoloft, Prozac).
 The major difference cited between tricyclics and SSRIs are side effects. SSRIs are more likely to cause diarrhea, nausea, headache, and sleeping difficulties. Tricyclics are more likely to cause blurred vision, constipation, dizziness, dry mouth, and tremors. Interestingly, according to the new guidelines it is noted that St. John's wort may be effective against mild depression, at least on a short-term basis.

Johnson and Ensz serve as WSC tutors

Wayne State College students Matthew Johnson and Dave Ensz have served as peer tutors this semester with the Wayne State Learning Center.

Johnson is a junior and the son of Ed and Crystal Johnson of Wayne.

Matthew Johnson

An art major, Johnson is studying and serving as a tutor in graphic design.

Ensz is a senior chemistry major and a math-science tutor. He has been involved in intramurals, health-science club and Blue Key honor fraternity. He is the son of Bob and Debbie Ensz of Wayne.

Dave Ensz

Tutors are selected from among numerous qualified applicants and must be upper-class men and women with high overall grade-point averages. They also receive endorsements and recommendations from Wayne State faculty.

Tutors may conduct large group review sessions before major tests and quizzes, work closely with students on an individual basis to answer specific questions and help with difficulties in their subject matter.

Tutors consult regularly with faculty and administration members

Tech reduces tuition for Iowa and Nebraska residents

Iowa and Nebraska residents can pursue top-notch engineering, science and computer science degrees for reduced rates at the South Dakota School of Mines and Technology in Rapid City, S.D.

The university, listed as one of America's 100 Best College Buys, has lowered tuition by 25 percent to $4,619 per academic year. The new rate saves Nebraska and Iowa students more than $1,500 per year. Per-credit cost has decreased from $192 to $144.

Tech has prepared. The university offers 10 engineering programs—chemical, civil, computer, electrical, environmental, geological, industrial, mechanical, metallurgical and mining. Majors in chemistry, computer science, geology, mathematics, physics, and interdisciplinary science complete the undergraduate program.

Tech's graduate school offers 10 Master's of Science degree programs—atmospheric sciences, chemical engineering, civil engineering, computer science, electrical engineering, geology and geological engineering, materials engineering and science, mechanical engineering, paleontology and technology management.

Doctoral degrees are offered in atmospheric, environmental and water resources, geology, and geological engineering and materials engineering and science.

More than 100 companies visit Tech's campus each year to interview and hire its graduates, and to offer cooperatives and internships to juniors and seniors. Around 76 percent of each year's senior class participates in one of those programs. Last fall, the annual career fair attracted 1,000 students who visited with representatives from 60 companies.

More than 90 percent of Tech students receive job offers within three months of graduation. Starting annual salaries average more than $43,000. Tech's graduates work at companies such as Dow Chemical, Phillips Petroleum, Caterpillar, IBM, Hughes Aircraft, Microsoft, Intel and many other well-respected firms.

Tech is located in Rapid City, a growing city that serves as the gateway to the beautiful Black Hills, Mount Rushmore and Crazy Horse Monument are close by.

With 56,000 residents, Rapid City offers diverse and interesting attractions for college students. The city lies in the "Banana Belt" that produces unexpectedly mild winters and rapidly changing weather. A 60-degree day may immediately follow a five-inch January snowfall. The Black Hills offer Tech students hiking, biking, skiing, snowboarding, camping, hunting, fishing, snowmobiling, and mountain climbing.

To learn more about reduced tuition rates at the South Dakota of Mines and Technology, or for other information about the university, contact the Office of Academic and Enrollment Services at (605) 394-2414 or (800) 544-8162, ext. 2414. Visit Tech on the Internet at <http://www.sdsmt.edu>.

Engagements

Johnson — Leonard

Craig and Erma Johnson of Bridgeport have announced the engagement of their daughter, Erma Ruth, to Matthew Mark Leonard of Bayard.

The bride is a May 2000 graduate of Bridgeport High School. She is the granddaughter of Art and Erma Barker of Wayne and Dean and Jeanne Johnson of Alma.

Her fiancé is the son of Mark and Sherree Leonard of Bayard. He is a 1999 graduate of Bayard High School and is currently serving aboard the USS George Washington Naval Aircraft Carrier in the United States Navy, stationed in Norfolk, Va. His grandparents are Jerry and Norma Hendon of Brule and Dick and Jo Leonard of Elsie. Great-grandparents are Charles and Anna Mae Marvel of Houston, Del. and Floy Hendon of Wichita Falls, Texas.

The couple is planning a Dec. 30, 2000 wedding at All Souls Catholic Church in Bridgeport.

Ewing — Osborn

Mary Christine Ewing and Brent Throckmorton Osborn are planning a Jan. 20, 2001 wedding at St. Francis-Xavier Church in St. Louis, Mo.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of David and Donna Ewing of Wayne. She received her Mechanical Engineering degree from the University of Missouri-Rolla and is currently employed at Proctor and Gamble in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Her fiancé is the son of Throck and Claudine Osborn of St. Louis, Mo. He received his Engineering Management degree from the University of Missouri-Rolla and is currently employed for Innovative Ideas Integration in Jackson, Mo.

Eagles Auxiliary meets

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary #3757 met Dec. 4 with nine members present and Madam President Jessica Olson presiding.

The Art Ehrmann Cancer Fund report noted that the Wayne chapter had gotten $2,000 in grants for Providence Medical Center during the past year.

Members are also asked to save can tabs for cancer.

Soup suppers will be held Thursday, Dec. 14 and Dec. 21 with serving from 5:30 to 9 p.m. Members and guests are welcome.

The Christmas party will be held Saturday, Dec. 16 at 6:30 p.m. with a potluck supper and a $3 gift exchange.

Serving at the meeting was Jennifer Nelson. Babs Middleton will serve at the Dec. 18 meeting.

Dranselkas will celebrate

Marvin and Virginia Dranselka of Wayne will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Dec. 17, 2000.

An open house will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Wayne.

Hosting the celebration will be the couple's children, Teresa and Joe Dworak of Beaver Lake and Kathy and Terry Pfeiffer of Omaha. They also have five grandchildren.

The couple was married Dec. 17, 1950 at the Methodist Church in Wayne.

Card shower being requested

A card shower is being requested to honor Murray and Donna Leicy on their 40th wedding anniversary.

Murray Leicy and Donna Wittler were married Dec. 27, 1960 in Carroll.

They are the parents of two children, Duane and Ann Leicy of Plainview and Will Leicy of Lincoln. They also have three grandchildren.

Cards may be sent to the couple at Route 1 Box 34 A, Randolph, Neb. 68771.

Mr. and Mrs. Saul

Sauls plan to observe 50th anniversary

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin D. Saul of Wayne has requested a card shower in honor of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary, Dec. 22, 2000.

Merlin Saul and Kathryn Retzlaff were married Dec. 22, 1950 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. They farmed south of Wayne until 1994 and continue to reside on the home place.

The couple had one daughter and son-in-law, the late Debora Madden and Roger Madden of Lincoln. They also have one son and daughter-in-law, Roger and Elaine Saul of Wayne. They also have five grandchildren.

Cards may be sent to them at Rural Route 1 Box 71, Wayne, Neb. 68787. The couple would like to request no gifts, please.

Strong families help create strong teens

When you ask people around the globe, "What makes your family strong?" the answers are remarkably similar from culture to culture.

Strong families have six general qualities.

- Appreciation and affection. People in strong families deeply care for one another and they let each other know this on a regular basis. They are not afraid to express love.

- Commitment. Members of strong families show a strong commitment to one another, investing time and energy in family activities and not letting their work or other priorities take too much time away from family interaction.

- Positive communication. Successful families are often task-oriented in their communication, identifying problems and discussing how to solve them together. Perhaps even more important than this, however, strong families also spend time talking with and listening to one another.

- Enjoyable time together. One study of 1,500 school children asked, "what do you think makes a happy family?" Few replied money, cars, fancy homes, television sets, or Disney World make a happy family. The kids were most likely to say that a happy family is one that does things together, a family that genuinely enjoys the times they share with each other.

- Spiritual well-being. Spiritual well-being can be seen as the caring center within each individual that promotes sharing, love and compassion. It is a feeling or force that helps people transcend themselves and their petty day-to-day hassles,

Amy Topp
Extension Educator
4-H & Youth

and focus on that which is sacred to them in life.

- Successful management of stress and crisis. Strong families are not immune to stress and crises, but they are not crisis-prone as troubled families tend to be. Rather they possess the ability to manage both daily stressors and difficult life crises creatively and effectively. They know how to prevent trouble before it happens, and how to work together to meet challenges when they inevitably occur in life.

The meaning of Christmas

Students at St. Mary's Elementary School portrayed characters from the Christmas Story during the school's annual Christmas program on Sunday. A number of pre-school and kindergarten children were dressed as angels, shepherds, wise men and Mary and Joseph during the program which was under the direction of Carla Kemp and Mindy Rethwisch with the assistance of Kathryn Ley.

NEW TANKER

The Wakefield Rural Fire District, with the aid of the Gardner Foundation, has purchased a 2,000 gallon tanker truck. The new 2000 Chevrolet Chassis and tank replaces a 1955 GMC Army surplus 6x6 truck with a 1,200 gallon tank, which was put in service in Wakefield in 1971.

The new truck cost $92,352 and was paid for with a $46,250 grant from the Gardner Foundation and rural district funds.

The truck has a pump for pumping water from two and one half inch outlets. It is also equipped with a foamer so that foam may be added to the water. There are front mount sprayers on the truck for grass fires and it carries a portable tank to hold extra water at rural fire sites.

The department accepted delivery on the chassis in late April and it was taken to Danko Emergency Equipment of Snyder to have a new water tank and equipment mounted. The tank is constructed of half-inch thick PT2 polypropylene.

Members of the Rural Fire District Board are Rick Driskell, Bill Hansen, Bob Jones, Galen Samuelson, and Lyle Ekberg.

APPOINTED TO RC&D BOARD

Lisa Lunz of rural Wakefield was recently appointed by the Dixon County Board of Supervisors to serve a three-year term on the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Board. She is one of three representing Dixon County. She replaced Linda Kastning of Ponca.

Lisa and her husband Jim farm north of Wakefield and raise corn, soybeans, and alfalfa. They have three children Kristina, Keri and Jacob. Lisa is known for her leadership abilities. She is a past LEAD (Leadership, Education, Action Development) XVII Fellow and is currently a member of the Northeast Corn Growers Association. The family belongs to Salem Lutheran Church.

The RC&D program brings local people together to help each other so that projects that are important get done. Some of the projects that RC&D has been involved with recently are the Corps of Discovery Welcome Center, a roving computer lab used by local citizens for training, two Lewis and Clark one-day motorcoach tours, an AmeriCorps project that helps communities with water quality issues in wellhead areas and knapwek and purple loose-strife information and education efforts. The Dixon County Ag Society received RC&D assistance with grant writing that helped them in securing funds for the grandstand renovation.

Currently, the council is concentrating on the following priorities. Agriculture- LEAD agriculturally based economic development. Job Opportunities - Create local jobs that provide a living wage. Environmental protection-promote conservation and improvements of environmental resources.

Community Development-Turn local ideas into reality. Tourism promotion- offer the opportunity to experience Northeast Nebraska.

All RC&D meetings are open to the public and everyone is welcome to attend. If a community or group has a project idea they can submit them to any council member or by calling the office in Plainview at 402-582-4866.

MAIL SORTED IN NORFOLK

Diane Larson, officer in charge of the Wakefield Post Office, announced that beginning Dec. 4, all mail for Wakefield will be sorted and traced at Norfolk ready for employees to distribute on the rural routes and places in city boxes.

Because the sorting process will be occurring outside the local office, Mrs. Larson stated it is vitally important that people use their current mailing address and inform regular correspondents of their correct address.

For example, be sure Social Security has your correct address to avoid delays in delivering your monthly check.

Persons living in rural Wayne County just recently were assigned new 911 addresses several months ago. Larson urges people to include this new address for business mail, subscriptions, etc. to again avoid delays in receiving mail.

The post office has postcards which may be used to notify businesses and others of your correct mailing address. There is no charge for these cards.

Also, Mrs. Larson noted that many billing statements have a place on them for people to note a change of address or new address.

THREE SUPERIOR RATINGS

The Wakefield One-act play cast received three superior ratings at the District play contest held in Lyons recently and were third in the rankings among eight schools.

Holiday Cash Back winners are selected at Chamber Coffee

The winners of the second week of the Holiday Cash Back promotion were drawn during the Chamber Coffee at R-Way last week.

A total of $326 in Chamber Bucks was awarded to nine participants.

Roxy Matthes of Wisner won $40; JoAnne Benshoof of Carroll won $9; Barb Black of Yankton won $18; LaVera Roemhildt of Wayne won $9 and Vonda Dempster of Dixon, Carmie Marotz of Winside, Chuck Parker of Wayne, Jennifer Eickhoff of Fordyce and Larry Sievers of Wayne were awarded $50 each.

The businesses these participants patronized included Dr. Wessel & Burrows, Antiques on Main, Quality Food Center, Doescher Appliance, Mines Jewelers, Jammer Photography, The Wayne Greenhouse, Fredrickson Oil Company and Swan's Apparel.

Two more drawings will be held Dec. 15 and Dec. 22 so residents are encouraged to shop in Wayne.

Warm donation

Employees at Providence Medical Center donated a number of pairs of mittens and hats to the Wayne Food Pantry. While the Food Pantry generally hands out food items, often times the children being served are in need of hats and gloves to keep warm. Last year the Wayne Food Pantry served 98 adults and more than 140 children. Those involved in the presentation were, left to right, Laura Gamble, Director of Nursing, Peg Grosz, LPN and Dan Sukup, co-manager of the Food Pantry.

Locals attend Farm Bureau holds convention

Bill Claybaugh of Carroll was Wayne County Farm Bureau's voting delegate to the 2000 Nebraska Farm Bureau Convention held Dec. 3-6 in Kearney.

Other county Farm Bureau members attending were District 3 Farm Bureau State Board member Donald Liedman and his wife Dorrine of Carroll.

The Farm Bureau House of Delegates confirmed its support for Freedom to Farm, the 1996 Farm Bill. Delegates opposed any mandatory set-asides, but said they would be willing to consider voluntary set-asides for acreage reduction.

In addressing the problem of high property taxes on agricultural land in Nebraska, the delegates recommended that the state change the current 80 percent of market value used in valuing ag land to a lower percentage. They also supported a new checkoff on all grains to support ethanol production in the state.

Convention speakers included Nebraska Director of Agriculture Merlyn Carlson, recently returned from a trade mission to Southeast Asia with Nebraska Gov. Mike Johanns. Korea, Malaysia, Singapore and Taiwan are rebounding from their recent economic problems and are prime markets for Nebraska ag products, he said.

Malaysia and Singapore are currently negotiating international trade agreements with other countries and the U.S. should be involved, Carlson said; the liberalizing and privatizing of the Korean economy offers another opportunity. Those countries are especially interested in identity-preserved, traced-back and source-verified foods. In addition, Taiwan is looking at ethanol to address its air quality problems, he said.

Don Parrish, senior environmental policy specialist for the American Farm Bureau, discussed the emerging issue of Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs) and nonpoint source pollution. Proposed federal TMDLs give the Environmental Protection Agency a heavy hand in determining land use in states, he warned. At the same time, Animal Feeding Operation and Concentrated Animal Feeding regulations have the potential to greatly increase federal permitting activity in the states.

The combined regulations could force "little guys" out of business while other environmental regs are preventing larger animal feeding operations from being established.

That situation begs the question, "Where are farmers going to sell their crops?" If livestock production is forced out of the U.S., those producers will not be buying U.S. crops, he emphasized.

In his 19th annual address, the Nebraska Farm Bureau President Bryce Neidig also expressed concern that animal feeding is being forced out of the state and nation by environmental regulations and public opposition.

Consolidation in the meat processing industry and the recent proposed purchase of IBP by Smithfield Foods exacerbate the issue, he said, and make it more difficult for small- and medium-sized livestock operations to stay in business. Livestock production is crucial to the state's economy and Nebraska must not legislate and regulate itself out of the livestock business, he said.

The U.S. has made progress in international trade, Neidig said, with the passage of Permanent Normal Trade Relations status for China, but the U.S. desperately needs to give the next president fast track trade negotiating authority so that individual can negotiate on a par with leaders of competing nations.

Visitors spark memories of German trip

Only one guest for breakfast this morning, but a lively conversation because she's from our past. When Jean Siecke called from Castle Rock, Colorado, on Friday, she had the Christian Bed & Breakfast book in her hand. She was picking up her husband at Eppley and they would travel together to Pilger to see his mother and sister.

I told her we were from northeast Nebraska, and we visited briefly about possible connections. Then I heard her gasp, "I just saw your name in the book. There were Meierhenrys on our German trip." "In 1990?" I asked. When she responded in the affirmative, I yelped, "That was us!"

What are the chances? These kinds of things always give me goose bumps. So, I got out my photo album and we had a good time exchanging memories.

I've been reading Kurt Warner's book, "All Things Possible" this week. Jon's partner Brett played football with Kurt at the University of Northern Iowa. He was the quarterback when the St. Louis Rams won the Super Bowl this year. We watched it in a motel dining room on Kauai.

It's a great story of the importance of believing in oneself. Kurt is also not shy about talking about this Christianity. I recommend it for the sports lovers on your Christmas list.

There are so many seasonal plays and concerts, I think we could be gone every night. One of the mega churches in Omaha, Christ Community, does an annual Christmas musical. There was a choir of 125, a live orchestra, professional lighting and sound, and a beautiful nativity scene. I got goose

Guidelines approved for animal composting

Livestock producers now have some new guidelines for disposing animal carcasses following new regulation approval granted recently by Nebraska Governor Mike Johanns.

New animal composting regulations were signed into law Nov. 28, allowing livestock producers the option to compost livestock carcasses weighing up to 300 lbs. on the same premises where the animal died.

Prior to the new regulations, Nebraska Livestock producers had three options for animal carcass disposal including burying the carcass at least four feet below the surface of the ground where it died; incinerating the carcass where it died or removing the animal from the premises by a licensed rendering establishment.

Composting — an aerobic and anaerobic process — simulates above-ground burial. Carcasses are placed on a bed of carbon material and are covered with the same carbon material. A variety of carbon materials are available to livestock producers including sawdust, ground or chopped wheat straw and corn stalks.

During the composting process, temperatures in the pile reach between 110 and 160 degrees Fahrenheit. After the temperature decreases from the first heat cycle, the compost pile is stirred or turned. A second heat cycle then begins. In most cases, once the second heat cycle peaks and begins to decrease, the product in the compost pile is safe for spreading on land. It is important to maintain the proper carbon to nitrogen ratio to ensure a successful completion of the composting process.

Livestock producers who still use the incineration method are advised to contact the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality for the requirements.

For more information on composting and facility designs, contact the local University of Nebraska Extension Service or the Nebraska Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Industry at (402) 471-2351.

Importation regulations updated

In an effort to improve disease prevention throughout the state, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture has announced changes to the state's animal importation regulations.

"These revisions will ultimately benefit the producer by improving disease prevention and control," State Veterinarian Dr. Larry Williams said of the changes, which became effective Nov. 7.

The new changes are:

- A registered brand is allowed as a form of identification on cattle imported from Brucellosis Class Free States.

- Additional testing is required for tuberculosis and an entry permit needed for cattle and bison originating from non-modified, accredited states, areas or herds.

- Testing and vaccination requirements are increased for swine entering from Pseudorabies Stage II areas or states and herds located within two miles of a pseudorabies quarantined herd in Stage III areas or states.

- Equine going directly to slaughter establishments are exempt from equine infectious anemia testing

- Elk and mule deer entering Nebraska are required to originate from herds that are monitoring for chronic wasting disease

For more information on these animal importation changes, contact the Nebraska Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Industry at (402) 471-2351.

Dairy producers gather

The dairy farmer members of Associated Milk Producers, in District 87, which represents members in the counties of Cedar, Cuming, Dixon, Dodge, Thurston, Washington, Wayne, Antelope, Boyd, Greeley, Holt, Howard, Keya Paha, Knox, Pierce, Valley and Wheeler held their annual meeting in Norfolk recently.

The meeting was presided over by district officers: Dwight Anderson of Wayne, President and Dallas Graham of Belden, secretary. Officers elected included District President Dwight Anderson of Wayne, District Vice-President Duane Junck of Carroll and District

MADRIGAL MENU GIVEN

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! The castle cook, Diane Bertrand has announced the menu for the Dec. 14 Madrigal. It will be a tossed salad, vegetable tray, chicken cordon bleu, baked potato, corn, cheesecake with topping, beverage, and wassail. She, along with selected assistant cooks, will prepare the meal Thursday and junior high girls will help get it ready to serve.

Serving will be done by the ladies-in-waiting (girls in choir). The royal court and the lords and ladies-in-waiting (high school choir members) have been rehearsing their parts in the performance and received their costumes last Thursday. The jester, mimes, and play characters have their parts memorized and are now working on gesturing.

The castle (Fire and Rescue Building) will be decorated on Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 12 and 13, evenings. Parents of music students are encouraged to come to the Fire and Rescue Building to help. If you have not yet been approached by a choir member, and wish to attend, contact the school for tickets. The tickets are $16 for the full course meal and evening of entertainment by the choir. This performance will be sure to get you in the holiday mood.

K-12 CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The K-12 Christmas Concert will be held Monday, Dec. 18 at the Allen gym. The elementary program will begin at 7:30 followed by a short intermission and the 7-12 section of the concert. Other events on the evening will be the Band members selling pizzas, pies, and related products along with Mary Taylor Kumm, 1 1/2, and mother, Sara, visit Santa during the recent Christmas Carnival held at the Fire and Rescue Building. The Christmas Carnival was one of the activities planned to raise money for the upcoming band trip to the Liberty Bowl.

Kay hand cream as a fundraiser.

Also, the Music Boosters will be sponsoring a huge bake and rummage sale. These events are in conjunction with the continuing efforts to raise money for the Liberty Bowl trip. Everyone is welcome to come and enjoy the concert. Admission is free.

TOWN CHRISTMAS DRAWING

The Town Christmas Drawing is Saturday, Dec. 16 at 2 pm. Names will be called out on Main Street. Unless the prize is pre-drawn, you must be present to win. Many area business's have donated prizes to be given away.

Also on Saturday, the Senior Center will be having coffee and cookies and members of the St. Paul Lutheran Church will be having their annual craft and bake sale from 8:30 am - 1 pm at the Village Inn. Be sure to be in town for this fun event!

SANTA IS COMING TO TOWN

On Saturday, in conjunction with the Christmas drawing, Santa will be making a stop in Allen. He will arrive at 1 pm on Dec. 16 at the mini-mall. Stop in and give Santa your Christmas list!

BRUNCH AT SENIOR CENTER

The Senior Citizen Center will not be serving noon meals on Friday, Dec. 22 and Friday, Dec. 29. They instead will be having 9:30 am brunches on these days. Please call and let them know if you are attending.

MUSICAL CARNIVAL SUCCESSFUL

The Allen Music Department and Allen Community Club combined efforts on Nov. 26 to hold a Christmas Carnival at the Fire and Rescue Building. Music students/parents and Community Club members helped with a wide range of activities to prove and evening of entertainment for families and help raise money for the band trip to the Liberty Bowl.

The most popular event was the ducking tank where twenty adults and students had the "opportunity" of being dunked. There was a long line of throwers all evening waiting for a chance to possibly dunk someone. Thanks goes to Jim Kelly of Adcraft, Inc., South Sioux City, for paying the rental fee.

Next in popularity was the sponge throw under the supervision of the trumpet and French horn players. Art instructor, Denise Hingst, painted the Grinch backdrop so students could stick their heads through the opening and get hit with a wet sponge.

Other games which were in progress all three hours were the cupcake walk, operated by the flute section; Christmas Twister by the clarinet section; balloon/dart throw and wreath throw by the saxophone section; Jingo and a visit from Santa by the trombones and lower brass. Thanks to Marlene Levine for taking the pictures of children talking to Santa and furnishing Christmas folders for the developed pictures. The Wheel of Fortune and lollipop tree was supervised by the non-ban choir members.

The percussion members had planned on having a Name That Tune booth, but had to give up their efforts because there was too much noise to hear the music. Mary and Amber Rastede had a table where Christmas crafts could be made.

During the entire Christmas Carnival from 4 pm - 7 pm, pizza donated by Deli International, ice cream cones, and pop donated by Quality Food Center and Pac 'N' Save of Wayne, Nebraska, were served. At 7 pm the Carnival ended, but the Christmas spirit continued with caroling by the choir, presentation by Legion Commander, Willie Hagstrom of a $2,778.86 donation from the Legion's potato bake and AAL branches 2796 and 9784, and recognition of a $1000 donation by Arthur McClain, class of 1940.

Raffle winners were then announced as follows: Scooby Doo stuffed animal - Marlene Levine; 5 lb Hershey candy bar - Henry Arp; Hard Rock Café towel - Mindy Smith; Allen Centennial Books - Chad Oswald, Maxine Smith, Kyle Oswald, Dwaine Oswald, and Laura Sullivan; U.S. Quarter Map - Jerry Schroeder; electric griddle - Marlene Levine.

Following the drawing, everyone moved outside for more caroling and turning on the Christmas lights in Heritage Park. Old and young enjoyed the event as the students continued raising funds, and at the same time, proved that Allen is a Family-Friendly Community. (Thanks to Marcia Rastede for the information!)

The Carnival raised $1,100 which put the band $5,000 from their goal. Thanks to the community for your support!!!! They are still accepting donations, so please don't put it off, now is the time to put in your donation and help them reach their goal!!!

SERVE ALL CLUB MEETS

The Serve All Club met on Dec. 6 at the Wakefield Senior Center in Wakefield. Seven members were present for the noon luncheon at the Center.

Glee Gustafson and Berniece Kaufmann were on the entertainment committee. Prizes in games and contests were won by Virginia Leonard, Ruth Boeckenhauer, Ardath Utecht and Berniece Kaufmann. A grab bag gift exchange was held.

A donation was made to the Lions Club Christmas fund by the club. The next meeting will be Feb. 21, 2001 with Virginia Leonard as hostess.

AAL BRANCH 1542 HOLDS MEETING

The Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 1542 met on Dec. 10 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Wakefield. A progressive supper was held with Evelyn Linemann, Denise Thomsen, and Mary Lou Krusemark on the committee. Twenty-five members were present.

A business meeting followed with Kenneth Thomsen, chairman, presiding. He opened the meeting with a reading entitled "What is Christmas?" Evelyn Linemann read the minutes of the last meeting and Mary Baker gave the treasurer's report. The programs and committees for 2001 were read by the secretary.

Walden Kraemer and Gene Helgren were winners of the door prizes. The next meeting will be Jan. 21, 2001.

Producers warned of pesticide solicitors

Nebraska Director of Agriculture Merlyn Carlson is urging Nebraska farmers to be wary of high-pressure pesticide salespersons who are calling producers across the state.

The Department has recently fielded a number of complaints about over-priced pesticides being sold over the telephone by out-of-state companies.

"I would advise producers to question any type of farm product sold over the telephone," Carlson said. "In cases we have been alerted to, the product use is misleading and the price out of line. You are more assured of getting a credible product at a fair price if you do business with your local dealer."

Simply selling products at a high price is not illegal. However, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) has received reports that these salespeople have made unsubstantiated claims about the effectiveness of their products.

Farmers who have been contracted and pressured by these companies can file complaints with the Nebraska Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division. The address is 2115 State Capitol, Lincoln, Neb. 68509. The phone number is (402) 471-2682.

In order to be legally sold in Nebraska, pesticide products must be registered with NDA. To determine whether the products sold over the telephone are registered, producers can contact the Department at (402) 471-2394 bumps here, too; usually reserved for the Messiah.

I heard some of it on radio today, accompanist by an organ. I cannot imagine how an organist can master all those notes, and add pedals, too. The radio station is 590 AM. They're playing Christmas music all month.

I think you have to have fudge for Christmas. I found a recipe that made a 9x13 pan in our church cookbook, so tried it out. It tasted great, but was so sticky and never did get firm. I have to get a jar of marshmallow creme and go back to that "never fail" recipe. It's the only one that works for me.

When I stopped at my Mom's yesterday, she was making really thin sugar cookies. She already had the pfeffernusse and cherry walnut balls finished.

When I got to the local nursing home, the residents were decorating a tree. Everywhere, the sights and sounds - and smells! of Christmas. It's truly "the most wonderful time of the year."

Business course to be offered

In order to prepare students for an ever-increasing international business climate, Northeast Community College will offer an international business class next semester.

BSAD 2250-01 International Business will be team-taught in the Spring 2001 Semester by Gary Blinn, a former international businessman and current world traveler from Norfolk, and Lin Behmer, business instructor at NECC. The three-credit-hour class is scheduled for Tuesday evenings from 6-9 p.m. beginning Jan. 9. The course is suitable as an elective course for any program at NECC.

Upon completion of the course, the student will understand his or her roles as a consumer, worker, and citizen, and discuss how each can make consumer choices, select a career, and make decision that affect the people of the world. The class will student the importance of history, geography, language, cultural studies, research skills and continuing education in a global economy. Global financial activities and risk management for international businesses will also be reviewed.

Research statistics indicate that international trade has generated more than 30,000 jobs in Nebraska. Over $5 billion in new money comes to Nebraska every year with international trade.

For more information on the course, BSAD 2250-01 International Business, please call Lin Behmer at (402)-644-0433. To register, call (402)-644-0644.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Six Winside High School students were inducted into the National Honor Society during a candle lighting ceremony in the high school gym on Nov. 29.

Inducted were senior Aimee Buresh; juniors: Amy Rademacher and Samantha Deck; and sophomores: Kyle Cherry, Lacey Jaeger, and Emma Burris.

Students in the sophomore through senior classes who have a grade point average of 86 percent or higher are given an application package to complete with questions set up by the National Honor Society Organization. From those packets, a local committee of teachers (the committee changes every year) reviews each student's packet and gives points to each of the questions answered.

A student's involvement outside of school regarding community service, church activities, etc. is also taken into consideration. Selections are also based on character, leadership, services and scholarship. The student must receive a certain number of points to be selected as a National Honor Society member.

Conducting the ceremony were the other NHS members: Kayla Bowers, Jenny Fleer, Angie Gnirk, Katie Barg, Tristia Jaeger and Susan Wittler. Not present but also a member is Jessica Wade.

NO NAME

Ten members of the No Name Kard Klub met on Dec. 2 at Geno's Steakhouse in Wayne for a Christmas supper. Afterwards, cards were played at Kurt and Toni Schrant's home. Pitch was played with prizes going to Ernie and Dianne Jaeger, Dale Jaeger, and Connie Oberle.

The next meeting will be Jan. 20 at the Dwight and Connie Oberle home.

SENIORS

zens met on Dec. 4 for a noon potluck dinner and afternoon of cards. Ray Jacobsen attended for the American Legion and told seniors they would furnish rides to those who would like to attend the Sunday Omelet and pancake feed.

The next meeting will be Monday, Dec. 18 at 2 p.m. for a Christmas Party. (the Christmas party will be held on the 18th as there is no meeting on Dec. 25th).

AMERICAN LEGION

Commander George Jaeger conducted the Dec. 5 Roy Reed American Legion Post 252 meeting with eight members and one guest, Scott Hillen, Chaplain of the Carroll Post.

Members discussed the Korean Service medals recently presented and the Dec. 10 Omelet feed that was held. George Jaeger, Ray Jacobsen and Stanley Stenwall formed a committee to visit local businesses.

There will be a soup supper held on Jan. 19 at the elementary school. The next meeting will be held Jan. 2 at 8 p.m.

WALKERS CELEBRATE 50TH

Raymond (Bud) and Frances Walker celebrated their 50th anniversary with an open house on Dec. 3 at the Hoskins Community Center.

The event was hosted by their children and spouses: Mark and Vicki Walker of Norfolk, Linda and Brad Bartlett of Omaha, and Neal and Deb Walker of Hoskins.

Among the guests were Wes and Joan Walker of Prescott Valley, Ariz., Lillian Hickman of Hadar who was an attendant at the Walker's wedding, and Frances' aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schellpepper of Stanton. The many friends and relatives in attendance came from Orchard, Stanton, Winside, Norfolk, Hadar, Wayne, Pierce, Omaha, Bellevue, Battle Creek, Creighton, Madison, and Hoskins.

ZION LUTHERAN LADIES MEET

Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML met for their annual Christmas potluck dinner and meeting on Dec. 7 with 10 members, 26 guests and Pastor Riege present.

President Joyce Saegebarth extended the welcome and Pastor Riege led in prayer. Following the noon meal, a bake sale and quilt auction was held. Pastor Riege was the auctioneer for the full-size quilt that was made by Elaine Ehlers and was purchased by Hilda Hamm. LaVerda Kruger and Donna reported on the bake sale. The money will go into the Zion Centennial Fund.

A short business meeting was held. Members answered roll call by contributing 10 cents to the Penny Pot for the Christmas season. The card committee reported sending one cheer card and three visitor's cards. Thank yous were received from the places that received Christmas donations.

Altar Guild for December includes Cheryl Riege, Susan Waterman, Judy Kruger, and Bonnie Weich. Flower Committee consists of Cheryl and Joyce. The hostess for January will be LaVerda Kruger. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

The Christmas skit "The Symbols of Christmas through Christmas Eyes" was presented by the officers with Christmas carols sung by all. A gift exchange was held with secret friends being revealed. A grab bag gift exchange by the guests was also held, after which coffee and bars were served by the hostesses Elaine and Joyce.

Door prizes were won by Sharon Lieder and Delma Vyhidal. The birthday song was sung for LaVerda Kruger. The next meeting will be on Jan. 4 at 1 p.m.

DORCAS SOCIETY MEETS

The Dorcas Society of Peace United Church of Christ met on Dec. 7 for a no-host dinner. Eleven members, 11 guests and Pastor Olin Belt were present.

Following the dinner, President Frances Walker opened the meeting with the reading "The Message of Christmas." Pastor Belt led in prayer. Evelyn Langenberg read the minutes of the November meeting and Adeline Anderson gave the treasurer's report.

Shirley Mann reported on the Thanksgiving dinner. Several Christmas cards were sent. Two sympathy cards and a baby card had been sent. The birthday song was sung for Adeline Anderson.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 4 with Lorelei Belt as hostess.

Mary Jochens had charge of the program. She told the story about "The Gift of the Magi," following with the story "The Cobbler and His Gifts." Several members assisted Mary with the readings which accompanied the lighting of the Advent candles. They were: Lottie Klein, Adeline Anderson, Lorelei and Pastor Belt, and Shirley Mann. Hymns were sung by the group between the readings were: "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," "Come, Thou Long-Expected Jesus," "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," "Go, Tell it on the Mountain."

A gift exchange was held, after which the group shared Christmas cookies and candy.

COMMUNITY CALENDAR

Sunday, Dec. 17: Hoskins Community Improvement Group will hold a soup dinner from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. At 1 p.m. the Community Choir will sing. Santa will be present at 2 p.m.

Registration continues for spring semester at NECC

Registration for the Spring 2001 Semester is now in progress for current NECC students and remains open through the first day of classes on Monday, Jan. 8. Students may register weekdays from 8 a.m. til 5 p.m.

New freshmen students at NECC who plan to take six or more credit hours during the spring semester are encouraged to participate in Orientation/Registration before the first day of classes. Students will learn more about college life and meet with advisors to plan class schedules at Orientation/Registration. Parents and family members are welcome to attend.

Orientation/Registration started Nov. 28 and Nov. 30 with another session planned for Thursday, Jan. 4 from 4-8:30 p.m. Registration deadline for the Jan. 4 orientation is Tuesday, Jan. 2. All Orientation/Registration sessions will be held in Room 100A and 100B of the MacLay Building on the Northeast campus in Norfolk.

Anyone planning to attend an Orientation/Registration Session must pre-register by calling Amy at Northeast Community College at 402-644-0414. New incoming students are reminded that their ACT or ASSET scores must be on file at NECC before registration. If the student has not taken the ASSET test, it will be administered the day of Orientation/Registration. A $50 deposit is required at the time of registration.

For more information, call 402-644-0414.

Feverfew for Migraine Headache

Feverfew (Tanacetum parthenium) was used as a fever reliever as far back as 78 AD. Now this herb is used to prevent migraines by reducing the severity and frequency of the headaches. Other uses include relief of menstrual pain, asthma, dermatitis, and arthritis. The active ingredient is parthenolide which inhibits the release of serotonin from the blood platelets. Parthenolide relieves inflammation by inhibiting prostaglandin synthesis and the release of arachidonic acid.

Few studies have been conducted on the use of feverfew for migraine headache prevention. A randomized, double-blind, placebo controlled, crossover study of 76 patients showed a 24% reduction in the number of attacks, but no change in the duration of attacks. There was a significant reduction of nausea and vomiting.

In another study, migraine sufferers received either a freeze-dried, powdered feverfew extract of a placebo. Fewer headaches were reported each month by the individuals who received feverfew. However, headache frequency increased significantly in the group receiving the placebo.
