Cookie sales begin

Girl Scouts across northeast Nebraska will be participating in the great American tradition, the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale, Jan. 5 - 22, 2001. This is the only time of year these special cookies are available.

Prairie Hills Girl Scouts have been selling cookies for over 50 years and the sale is an important part of the Girl Scout program in many ways.

First, it provides a valuable program experience for the girls. Girls learn sales, marketing and entrepreneurial skills as well as some important communication skills.

Proceeds from the cookie sale help sponsor troop programs and activities, council facilities, training and council sponsored programs throughout the council's 19-county jurisdiction in northeast Nebraska. It also helps purchase needed troop supplies, camping equipment, maintain and develop the council's 150 acre campsite, Camp Crossed Arrows, near Fremont.

The new cookie this year is the Aloha Chip cookie. This cookie supplies the distinctive taste of crunchy macadamia nuts and creamy white fudge chips.

The other returning cookie favorites include the all-time favorite Thin Mint, an extra thin and crispy chocolate covered wafer made with natural peppermint, Samoas, a tender vanilla cookie covered with caramel, rolled in toasted coconut and topped with chocolate stripes; Do-si-dos, an oatmeal cookie with peanut butter filling; Trefoils, a melt-in-your mouth shortbread cookie; Tagalongs, a cookie topped with peanut butter and covered with rich chocolate; Apple Cinnamon is a reduced fat cookie, shaped like an apple, sprinkled with cinnamon sugar, and Lemon Drops is a luscious lemon cookie, tender and crisp, with creamy lemon chips.

To order Girl Scout cookies, contact Terri Headley at 375-3160.

The Wayne County Courthouse has been featured in a story in the "Country Discoveries" magazine.

A photograph of the courthouse and outline accompanied the story, "3,091 Down, 6 to Go!" which ran in the latest issue of the "Country Discoveries" magazine.

The story stems from Walter and Emma Coopers' trips across North America for the past 45 years or more. In their trek they visited 3,091 of 3,097 counties in the U.S. (this includes 64 parishes in Louisiana and 27 boroughs and census areas in Alaska as neither state has counties). The Coopers are from Morganton, N.C.

Kalawao County on the Hawaiian Island of Molokai and two boroughs and three census areas in Alaska are the only places left on the couple's journey.

Along the way, Walter visited post offices, probably over 10,000 of

Feverfew for Migraine Headache

Feverfew (Tanacetum parthenium) was used as a fever reliever as far back as 78 AD. Now, this herb is used to prevent migraines by reducing the severity and frequency of the headaches. Other uses include relief of menstrual pain, asthma, dermatitis, and arthritis. The active ingredient is parthenolide which inhibits the release of serotonin from the blood platelets. Parthenolide relieves inflammation by inhibiting prostaglandin synthesis and the release of arachidonic acid.

Few studies have been conducted on the use of feverfew for migraine headache prevention. A randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, crossover study of 76 patients showed a 24% reduction in the number of attacks, but no change in the duration of attacks. There was a significant reduction of nausea and vomiting.

In another study, migraine sufferers received either a freeze-dried powdered feverfew extract or a placebo. Fewer headaches were reported each month by the individuals who received feverfew. However, headache frequency increased significantly in the group receiving the placebo.

Level of care appreciated

Dear Editor,
Having spent four days recently in Providence Medical Center, I want to express my thanks for the care and concern given by the nurses and staff of the hospital.

We are indeed fortunate in this small community to have this exceptional level of good service right here at home. This is a great benefit not only to the patients but to their families that would otherwise be required to travel to distant communities to see friends and relatives requiring hospital care. Increasing hostile government regulations relating to hospitals make maintaining a hospital in small rural communities very difficult. So far Providence Medical Center has been able to deal with those regulations but this is not any kind of given that survival is guaranteed.

Thanks again for my excellent care and the concern given to me.

Nebraska receives money for energy assistance

Nebraska has received $1.5 million in additional funding from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services for the state's Low-Income Energy Assistance Program.

The money will help the state respond to requests from low-income households whose heat bills are high due to cold weather and rising heating oil prices. The Federal Energy Information Administration estimates this winter's bill for heating with natural gas will be almost 50 percent higher than last year's.

Nebraska's Low-Income Energy Assistance Program is available to help applicants who qualify for the program, according to Mike Kelly, a program specialist for the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services.

"Older adults and low-income families shouldn't have to cut back on groceries and medications in order to pay their heating bills," Kelly said. "The Energy Assistance Program can provide financial assistance."

The program helps those with limited incomes offset the cost of heating (and cooling) their homes. The Nebraska Low-Income Energy Assistance Program will partially pay the cost of electricity, fuel oil, gas, coal, wood, kerosene, propane, or other fuel sources. It can also provide assistance to resolve crises such as shut-off notices or equipment failures.

Eligibility is determined by checking the applicant's resources and income. Some resources aren't counted. Among those excluded are a home, one car, and personal belongings, such as furniture and clothing. The income level for a single person family is $9,688 and $13,057 for a two-person family. Grant amounts are based on income, type of residence, and the type of fuel used. The maximum grant currently available is $566. If an individual or family has been threatened with a utility shutoff, up to $500 in additional assistance is available.

For more information, contact the local Health and Human Services office or (402) 471-9262.

Where will money come from?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

State Sen. George Coordsen of Hebron has long acknowledged his reputation for talking very slowly. "Coordsen has explained, whenever asked, that he talks slowly because he long ago learned, as he puts it, 'that most people are slow listeners.'"

Indeed, Coordsen tends toward a wry, dry, rural sort of humor. He's the sort who would likely remain calm if he came across someone walking nude through the Statehouse. Coordsen's style would be something akin to: "Pardon me. Did you want the thermostat turned down, or were you just anxious to meet a state trooper and tour the nearest regional center?"

His sense of humor aside, however, Coordsen has spoken slowly but consistently in regards to the popular talk about the state intervening to provide funds, or otherwise do something, to raise the pay of teachers employed by local school boards.

In a recent interview, Coordsen came across in the style of a good 'ol boy from the country, just looking for directions.

"Where's the money going to come from?" Coordsen said. "I keep asking, I keep asking and I keep asking. I either get ignored or someone says, 'Raise the sales tax.' Those seem to be the two solutions: Don't think about it or raise the sales tax."

"I have no problem with raising teacher salaries. You just show me where to get the money," he said.

You can assume he said it slowly. Nebraskans should be listening, slowly. And carefully.

The issue of teacher pay is a reality. It is also a pocketbook issue and something of a social issue. Put the social issue and a pocketbook issue together and what do you get? You get a big argument, is what you get. The Legislature convenes in January. Somewhere among those 49 lawmakers is one whose job it is to represent the district in which you live. Your best bet for having a voice in the upcoming argument is to get in touch with that lawmaker. Given that teachers aren't going to give up on the issue of their pay (come on, they put up with your kids, you know they've got staying power) and given that their pay has to do with your taxes (local or state or both) this would be a good time for you to make a little resolution for the New Year.

Resolve to keep track of how the legislative debate shapes up on this issue. And then, if you give two hoots or a shucky darn about how it is handled, write to the appropriate state senator and let him or her know what you think.

There will be arguments about polls and surveys and what "the public" supports and doesn't support. A lot will be said in your name. Do yourself a favor. Speak for yourself a few times this year.

Blue Devils win Shootout for second straight year Wayne girls crowned champs

By Kevin Peterson
For the Herald

The annual Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout required an extra day to complete due to inclement weather but when the wind and snow subsided, the Wayne girls had earned their second consecutive championship of this tournament.

The Blue Devils entered tourney play with a 5-1 record and unranked, and left with an 8-1 record and a number three ranking in the Omaha World-Herald.

Wayne garnered wins over Wakefield, Madison and Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Laurel-Concord placed third and Madison fourth while Norfolk Catholic netted fifth and Omaha Mercy, sixth. Emerson-Hubbard was seventh in girls action and Wakefield, eighth.

The Blue Devils defeated Wakefield, 50-35 as Leah Dunklau, Katie Walton and April Thede tallied 10 points each while Amy Harder scored eight. Monica Novak scored four points with Kallie Krugman adding three. Amanda Maryott and Kari Harder tallied two each and Lindsey Stoltenberg, one.

Cedar Catholic wins title despite not having a championship tilt Wayne boys defeat Laurel-Concord in overtime behind McLagan's 33

By Kevin Peterson
For the Herald

For the first time since its inception the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout had two unbeaten boys teams.

The annual three-day affair had to be stretched to four this year with the poor weather and Elkhorn Mt. Michael could not make it back for day four action.

That left the semifinal winner of the Cedar Catholic and Laurel-Concord game as the champion while the loser played Wayne for third place.

Wayne opened tournament play with an 82-52 win over Wakefield as Eric McLagan led the way with 22 points while Jon Meyer scored 11 and Ben Meyer along with Brad Hansen added 10 apiece.

Brad Hochstein finished with nine points with Ethan Mann and Jon Ehrhardt scoring six each. Craig Olson scored four with Jeff Pippitt and Caleb Garvin adding two apiece.

The Blue Devils were defeated by Elkhorn Mt. Michael in semifinal action, 58-41. Eric McLagan led the Blue Devils with 18 points with Brad Hochstein adding 10 and Jon Meyer, eight. Craig Olson notched four points and Brad Hansen, one.

Mt. Michael built a 38-23 half-time lead and led 46-34 after three quarters of play. Wayne cut the lead to eight points and had two possessions following but failed to score.

In the third place contest Wayne defeated Laurel-Concord in overtime, 65-61.

Eric McLagan sent the game to overtime with a three pointer with less than five seconds on the clock to tie the game at 55.

McLagan then scored six of the Blue Devils 10 points in overtime and finished with a game-high and career-high 33 points.

Craig Olson poured in a career-high 15 points with Brad Hochstein adding seven and Jon Meyer, five. Ben Meyer tallied three points and Luke Christensen, two.

The win left Rocky Ruhl's team with a 6-3 record.

LAUREL-CONCORD went 1-2 in the tournament which left Clayton Steele's team at 5-2 on the season.

The Bears defeated Norfolk

Catholic in the first round, 70-68 despite leading by 19 points in the third quarter.

Blake Erwin led the Bears with 15 points with Adam Hartung and Nathan Beckman netting 13 each. Jon Erwin scored a dozen and Matt Schroeder was in double figures with 10 while Bennie Surber netted five and Tyler Stingley, two.

In semifinal action the Bears fell to Hartington Cedar Catholic, C-2's top ranked team, 65-57.

Matt Schroeder led Laurel-Concord with 19 points including a 14 point third quarter. Blake Erwin scored 14 and Nathan Beckman along with Adam Hartung scored eight each. Jon Erwin finished with seven points and Greg Kvols, one.

Laurel-Concord fell to Wayne in the third place game, 65-61 in overtime.

Matt Schroeder led the Bears with 17 points with Blake Erwin adding 15 and Jon Erwin, 11. Adam Hartung and Nathan Beckman added seven apiece with Bennie Surber and Brent Haisch netting two each.

WAKEFIELD WENT 1-2 in the tournament as Mike Clay's Trojans tell to Wayne in the first round, 82-52.

Ty Nixon led the Trojans with 24 points with Joel McAfee adding seven and Wyatt Brown, six. Ryan Carson netted five points and Ross Hansen along with Aaron Lueth scored four each while Luke Hoffman netted two.

Todd McQuistan finished with five points and Ryan Carson along with Joel McAfee netted four each. Wyatt Brown scored three to close out the scoring.

Wakefield slowed the tempo down in the game for seventh place and defeated Emerson-Hubbard, 42-40.

Ty Nixon led the winners with 14 points with Wyatt Brown adding eight and Joel McAfee, six. Ryan Carson and Luke Hoffman each garnered five points and Zach Dolen added four.

Wakefield's record after the win moved to 3-6 on the season.

Wayne State men snap skid at three with 21-point win

Wayne State's Brad Joens glides in for two of his 17 points against Winona State in action last Friday night in Rice Auditorium. Joens is playing point guard for the next several weeks because of Brad Manley's broken hand. The Wildcats split their weekend games with NSIC opponents and will take a 3-1 conference mark to league-leading Southwest State on Saturday.

The Wayne State men's basketball team suffered their third consecutive loss in Rice Auditorium last Friday night against NSIC foe, Winona State, 80-54.

The good news for the 'Cats was they snapped the skid on Saturday night with a 76-55 win over Concordia-St. Paul.

The 4-8 'Cats are currently 3-1 in NSIC play.

WSC got down 14-4 early in the first half and the visitors used another 14-4 run to build a 39-25 half-time cushion.

Any thoughts of a second-half comeback by WSC was shot down early as Winona State went on a 23-5 scoring run to take its biggest lead of 32 at the midway point of the second half.

Brad Joens led WSC with 17 points from his point guard position. Joens has moved to point guard since Brad Manley broke his hand and will be out a minimum of three weeks.

Joens was the only Wildcat in double figures as Kevin Kobs chipped in eight points.

WSC was pummeled on the boards to the tune of 42-22 with Jason Herlitzke leading the 'Cats with six caroms.

Saturday WSC found itself tied with Concordia-St. Paul at 25 at the intermission but the 'Cats put 51 points on the board in the second stanza to win by 21 at 76-55.

The winners were paced by a double-double duo of Jason Herlitzke and Brad Joens.

Herlitzke notched his fourth career double-double with 18 points and 10 rebounds while Joens recorded his first double-double with 15 points and 11 rebounds.

Kevin Lingenfelter tossed in 18 points and Nathan Mulder added 11. Mulder nearly posted a double-double as he hauled down nine rebounds.

WSC dominated the boards, 49-37 and Justin Sanny dished out five assists while Joens had four assists.

Herbs for Health

Older Antidepressants Often as Effective as Newer, Costlier Ones

According to new guidelines from the American College of Physicians - American Society of Internal Medicine, both newer and traditional antidepressant medicines are equally effective for many persons with depression. Older medicines typically are in the class termed tricyclics (e.g. Imipramine). The newer agents include selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors (SSRIs) such as Prozac and Zoloft.

The major difference cited between tricyclics and SSRIs are side effects. SSRIs are more likely to cause diarrhea, nausea, headache, and sleeping difficulties. Tricyclics are more likely to cause blurred vision, constipation, dizziness, dry mouth, and tremors. Interestingly, according to the new guidelines it is noted that St. John's wort may be effective against mild depression, at least on a short-term basis.

Guidelines are announced

New dietary guidelines from the American Heart Association published in "Circulation: Journal of the American Heart Association" recommend two to four servings of lowfat milk products daily—more than most Americans currently consume.

The guidelines provide the latest advice of medical and nutrition experts with specific recommendations for eating a balanced diet from all the basic food groups and staying fit through regular exercise.

One of the major goals of the AHA guidelines is to provide an easy-to-follow guide for Americans to achieve a healthy eating pattern that leads to healthy body weight, cholesterol level and normal blood pressure.

"It's important for Americans to know that following these guidelines by eating a balanced diet of nutrient-dense foods, including lowfat dairy, is not only easy, but it may improve their health or even save lives," said Gregory Miller, Ph.D., F.A.C.N., vice-president of nutrition research for the National Dairy Council.

The AHA guidelines are based on an analysis of hundreds of studies, including those that have linked an increased consumption of lowfat dairy foods to reductions in high blood pressure, obesity, osteoporosis, cancer and many other health problems.

One major study,* Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension (DASH), which includes a diet of two to four servings of lowfat dairy foods and eight to 10 servings of fruits and vegetables daily, supports the AHA recommendations to maintain an adequate intake of potassium, magnesium and calcium to help reduce blood pressure. Another recent study# published in "Circulation" also showed the DASH diet may help protect against heart disease—America's leading cause of death.

"With nine essential nutrients, lowfat dairy foods are a powerful nutrient package. And with options ranging from flavored milks to portable cheese and yogurt snacks, whether you're six or sixty, it's easy to enjoy at least three servings of dairy foods as a part of your daily routine," said Ann Marie Krauthelm, R.D., for the National Dairy Council.

Dairy's role in preventing osteoporosis, in strengthening bones and in providing protein, calcium, and seven other essential nutrients has long been lauded by the nutrition and science community, including The American Dietetic Association, the National Institutes of Health, the American Academy of Pediatrics, National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, and many other national and international health organizations.

Youth attend LYON

Three senior high youth and their youth pastor from Our Savior Lutheran Church attended the region "LYON Gathering in 2000" in Grand Island on Nov. 24-26. LYON stands for Lutheran Youth Organization of Nebraska.

Nearly 300 youth from Evangelical Lutheran Church of America churches across Nebraska gathered to focus on seeing the "fingerprints of God" in their past, present and future.

Music, worship, devotions, presentations and activities were designed to help young people sharpen their ability to identify how God has been, is and will be a part of their lives as they live out their faith.

Ken Medema was the assembly musician and keynote presenter. Ken, a blind musician is powerful in energizing and releasing our faith through music.

Also addressing the youth at the assembly were Bishop David deFreese and Dr. Jennifer Bratten, President of Midland Lutheran College who both spoke on Sunday morning. Bishop deFreese and Dr.

Bratten are dynamic speakers with a strong commitment to youth and faith.

Youth attending had the opportunity to meet and make friends at the Friday night festivities which included a mardi-gras to explore God's presence in their past, present and future and again at the dance on Saturday night.

A monetary offering was taken to help a Nebraska ELCA Church start a new preschool or child care ministry. Election of board officials also took place during the assembly.

Understanding Alzheimer's

Alzheimer's disease is a brain disease that usually appears as forgetfulness of recent events or daily tasks, and over time gradually affects an individual's personality, behavior, judgement, and ability to communicate.

It is believed Alzheimer's is caused by a variety of factors, including age and heredity. Currently, there is no treatment to cure or stop Alzheimer's, but there are drugs that have been developed to relieve certain symptoms of the disease.

The Nebraska Medical Association reminds you to see your physician if you suspect a family member may be suffering from Alzheimer's. If the diagnosis is Alzheimer's, day-to-day activities may become increasingly difficult as the disease progresses, so it is important to make preparations to respond to the changes that may occur.

Take time to make sure the person suffering from Alzheimer's as well as those responsible for giving care are involved in the planning and preparation.

As with many diseases, Alzheimer's affects each person differently. The more information you have, the better able you may be to cope with the changes brought on by Alzheimer's. Talk with your physician about Alzheimer's, and about information resources and support groups you can turn to for help.

Humanities Council speaker to be featured at Allen school

Speaker Richard Kimbrough will present a program on "A Visitor from Russia" on Friday, Jan. 26, 2001 beginning at 11 a.m. at the Allen School gym. The program is open to the public and is free of charge.

This presentation is made possible by the Nebraska Humanities Council and Allen consolidated School, as part of the NHC's Speakers Bureau.

Kimbrough, a Crete, Neb. resident, spent 10 years teaching and traveling in the former Soviet Union, including several Central Asian republics. His presentation begins with some Russian stories (about honesty, integrity, trust and other moral virtues) followed by a discussion of cultural differences and similarities, what is eaten, worn, what sports are played, what music is liked, marriage and dating customs, the language, etc.

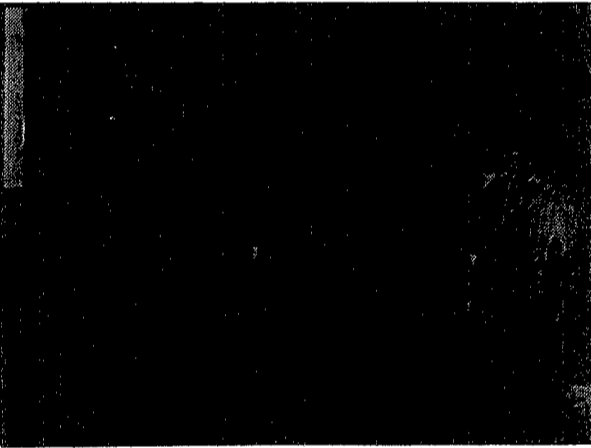

"A Visitor from Russia" is one of more than 300 programs offered through the Nebraska Humanities Council Speakers Bureau. The more than 180 available speakers include acclaimed scholars, writers, musicians, storytellers and folklorists on multicultural issues, making it the largest humanities speakers bureau in the nation.

Speakers are available to any non-profit organization in Nebraska at the cost of $35 for the first speaker in a calendar year and $100 for the second speaker. Each program lasts 30 minutes to an hour, plus a question-and-answer period. For-profit organizations also may use the Speakers Bureau by contacting the NHC.

The most frequent users of the NHC Speakers Bureau are primary and secondary schools, colleges and universities, libraries, museums and historical societies, agencies for the elderly, rural organizations, churches, arts organization and ethnic organizations.

For a catalog detailing the available speakers and guidelines for booking them, contact the Nebraska Humanities Council at 215 Centennial Mall South, Suite 225, Lincoln, Neb. 68508, phone (402) 474-2131, fax (402) 474-4852 or e-mail at nehumanities@juno.com. Involved with the Optimist Essay Contest were, left to right, Bob Wriedt, Beth Loberg, Dwaine Speiker and Shane Baak.

Optimist essay contest winners announced

The Wayne Optimist Club recently sponsored the Optimist International Essay Contest.

Bob Wriedt of the Wayne Optimist Club presented medallions to Beth Loberg (second place) and Shane Baak (first place), the club level winners of the contest on Dec. 22.

The annual contest provides young people in 10th through 12th grades with the opportunity to express their own opinions about freedom in the 400- to 500-word.

This year's theme was "Are We Losing Our Freedom?" Participants were to write about their own personal freedoms, or historical freedoms.

Judges for the contest cannot be affiliated with Optimist International or a local Optimist Club. DeAnn Behlers, Brad Hruska and Marie Mohr served as judges for the Wayne Optimist Club contest.

Shane's essay will be entered in the Nebraska District Optimist Essay Contest where he will have a chance to win an expense-paid trip to the Freedoms Foundation Leadership Workshop in Valley Forge, Penn.

These participants will have an opportunity to win a college scholarship of up to $5,000. Each year more than 1,000 Optimist Clubs participate in the essay contest.

"The Wayne Optimist Club wishes to thank Dwaine Speiker for his help in promoting the Optimist International Essay Contest among the senior English students," Wriedt said.

BAND RETURNS

The Allen High School Band returned from Memphis, Tenn. on Saturday. The buses pulled into town about 2 am. They had left for the Liberty Bowl on Tuesday, Dec. 26 at 6 am and spent the week in Tennessee.

The band marched in the Liberty Bowl Parade on Thursday, and performed in the mass band show at half time. There were mixed reviews on how the trip went, but everyone agreed that the trip was COLD. It was a wet 30 degrees so many fingers and toes spent most of the day being cold.

Also a few of the people ended up with the flu. What a bad time to have it, so many miles from home and some even on the bus. Look for more information next week.

Class will focus on early reading development

Eleven communities in northeast Nebraska will be taking advantage of "state of the art" learning technology by participating in a new distance learning class called Heads Up! Reading.

The winter term will begin in January and is following up the fall term in which 500+ participants in Nebraska took part. The course is an initial effort to raise awareness and education in the area of early literacy and how adults can nurture and stimulate literacy development.

Caregivers, educators and even parents can participate in the classes that focus on how to create and support literacy rich experiences - from birth to age eight.

These classes will cover such topics as: talking, listening, reading, writing, learning the code, as well as appropriate curriculum and evaluation for this age of children. The series begins with an orientation session that describes the format for the class and what participants can expect as they attend and participate as an active learner.

The classes will be offered for in-service hours, CEU's through the Early Childhood Training Center, an/or college credits through several colleges in Nebraska.

Heads Up! Reading will be offered at various sites and times in northeast Nebraska beginning Jan. 10 and 15.

Call a local contact person for more information on the nearest site. A Nebraska website provides information on the course at www.nde.state.ne.us/ECH/ECH.html

EQIP Funds available to farmers

Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) farmers and ranchers can now apply for USDA funds through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

These funds will be used to install soil and water conservation practices, including livestock waste facilities under 1,000 animal units in size being eligible, according to the Natural Resources Conservation Service. EQIP was established in the 1996 Farm Bill to assist farmers and ranchers with protection of their natural resources. Half of the EQIP dollars are targeted to livestock related concerns, with the remainder to other priorities like terraces, waterways, dams, installing wells and fences for livestock (planned grazing systems) and other practices.

The EQIP funds will be used for conservation practices strictly in the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District. Producers will still be evaluated and ranked, but will only be competing against others in this NRD region. The cost share rate is 90 percent on most practices, which includes engineering and planning assistance, nutrient management and more. The funds will be distributed by the local work group, which consists of the NRCS, NRD, FSA and other groups or individuals with an interest in conservation.

Applications submitted to the local FSA or NRCS office by Feb. 19, 2001 will be evaluated and ranked according to those achieving the most environmental benefits. Applications will continue to be taken after Feb. 19 and they will be funded as dollars are available.

The local NRCS offices are encouraging people to come in early and meet with them. The landowner will need to decide on the conservation practices that they want to complete. The NRCS official will then estimate the cost of the practices and include this in the application. This process does take some time to figure, depending on the practices, so in order to work effectively and accurately, officials would appreciate timeliness.

The NRCS offices are willing to help think of ways to utilize this money for the benefit of the property and our natural resources.

For more information, stop by or call the local NRCS office.

LIVESTOCK MARKET

The Norfolk Livestock Market fat cattle sale was held on Friday with a run of 515 head sold. Prices were $1 higher on steers and heifers and steady on cows and bulls.

Strictly choice fed steers were $78 to $79.10. Good and choice steers were $77 to $78. Medium and good steers were $76 to $77. Standard steers were $56 to $62. Strictly choice fed heifers were $78 to $79. Good and choice heifers $77 to $78. Medium and good heifers were $76 to $77. Beef cows were $40 to $44 and utility cows were $38 to $44. Cannors and cutters were $32 to $37 and bologna bulls were $45 to $52.

Stocker and Feeder sale was held Thursday.

Good and choice steer calves were $100 to $115. Choice and prime lightweight calves were $115 to $125. Good and choice yearling steers were $80 to $97. Choice and prime lightweight yearling steers were $95 to $105. Good and choice heifer calves were $90 to $100. Choice and prime lightweight heifer calves were $100 to $110. Good and choice yearling heifers were $80 to $90.

Dairy products important in diet

A strict vegetarian diet may negatively impact a child's learning ability. A new study suggests that children who are raised on a diet devoid of meat and dairy foods are more likely to be B-12 deficient and may suffer in the classroom as a result. The researchers found that a deficiency in vitamin B-12, even when not severe enough to cause anemia, was significantly associated with lower scores on intelligence tests.

This is important because it may influence a child's ability to reason, solve complex problems, to think abstractly and to learn. (Milk is a good source of vitamin B-12: each eight ounce serving of milk provides 13 percent of the daily value for vitamin B-12). *Louwman, M., et al: "Signs of impaired cognitive function in adolescents with marginal cobalamin status." American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, 2000, 72: 762-769.

Teens Need to eat to compete. Pediatricians are being called on to encourage kids and teens to exercise, yet stay on the look out for the development of certain medical conditions associated with athletics including disordered eating, menstrual dysfunction and decreased bone mineral density.

Among other recommendations, a new statement from the American Academy of Pediatrics calls for pediatricians to counsel kids and teen athletes about eating enough (calories and nutrients) for optimal growth and development. It also suggests that teen athletes consume between 1,200 mg to 1,500 mg of calcium daily (or three to four glasses of milk). *Anderson, S.J., et al. "Medical concerns in the female athlete." Pediatrics 2000; 106 (3): 610-613.

Tips for Teens for Crammin' in the Calcium

The following tips can help any teen crank up the calcium:

*Morning Glory: To get you fueled up for the day, make a potent power shake with milk. Just blend milk with chunks of fresh fruit, dry cereal and a few ice cubes.

*Refresher Course: When studying at night, ice cold milk is a great way to refresh yourself.

*Cafe' Clue: In the cafeteria line during lunch, choose milk instead of other beverages.

*The Buff Stuff: If you work out, milk is a great way to replenish lost fluids and provide essential nutrients like protein and potassium.

*Go Cocoa Crazy: To warm yourself up on chilly nights, whip up a mug of hot chocolate milk.

FAST FACT

Adults prefer foods that contain dairy: * Half say they would buy more food products if they knew dairy ingredients were included.

*74 percent look for foods with added health benefits.

*90 percent agree products with dairy ingredients are good for you. (Tucker Knapp Integrated Marketing Communications, Schaumburg, Ill. May 2000)

CLARifying the Health Benefits of CLA

Preliminary research has suggested that conjugated linoleic acid (CLA), a component found in milk, cheese and yogurt, has many health benefits, including slowing the growth of certain cancers and reducing the risk of heart disease.

A recent supplement to the "Journal of the American College of Nutrition" revealed that CLA may have even more benefits, including the inhibition of mammary cancer, preventing atherosclerosis and reducing body fat (Scimecca, J., et al: "Potential health benefits of conjugated linoleic acid," Journal of the American College of Nutrition,

Snow keeps us busy

Happy New Year! It's Jan. 1, and I'm procrastinating about taking the tree down. I see the Big Farmer has finally OD'd on football and put his recliner in "nap" position. Since I have to be in Nehawka for a flu vaccine clinic at 9 tomorrow morning, and need to fax this before then; I'd better get at it.

We scooped and scooped last week and on Thursday evening the wind came up, and it was worse than before! We had been to Mahoney for the play, and almost didn't make it home through the drifts.

Since we had guests Friday night, Mike stomped a "path of least resistance." But 10 people were here for brunch today, and I thought we had to get the back steps dug out. The top part of the snow was so hard, I had to use a spade to loosen it. Finally, our neighbor, Wayne, appeared.

Wayne, is my new hero. Not only does he have a big tractor and cab with a loader in front, but he has a whirling device on the back that chews up snow and spits it out a funnel. It's wonderful, and he made short work of everything. We finished a narrow path up the steps, and called it good. I could even park by the house to unload groceries. The last time we used the front door was on Dec. 15, when we also had 10 for breakfast. We scooped then, too, but the snow was lighter and there was less of it.

I know the local hardware store is out of sleds. I was there buying another heater. We use them in all three bathrooms. The forecast is for warmer temperatures. I hope they're right.

Besides the annual holiday play at Mahoney, we took in Mannheim

Steamroller's concert. Sue and Monte gave us their tickets. As always, it was an amazing show.

And, on Saturday morning, I finally got inside St. John's church at Creighton University. One of the Krajicek grandsons, a med student, married a fellow doctor to be in a lovely, impressive ceremony. I'm like my former pastor's wife: When I go to church, I like stained glass windows and pipe organs. This organ was a humdinger, and the guy playing it knew how, shall we say.

Besides, we got to see all the Krajiceks, if only briefly. The agenda called for a Bluejay basketball game, and a reception and dance at 5 p.m. We opted for naps, and the Nebraska game. Are we getting old, or what? Yep, we were in bed by 10 last night. All that scooping wears us out.

Well, I'd best get to that tree. I don't think the Christmas fairies are going to do it. Have a good new year and come and see us

Whether you're 1 or 100, Milk Matters

Getting older is no reason to skip your milk. Researchers found that older adults who drank more milk substantially improved their nutrient intake. The study examined a group of 200 men and women (ages 55-85) in good health who were assigned to two groups: a milk-supplemented group and a control group.

Those individuals who were in the milk group added three 8-ounce servings of lowfat milk to their usual diet (fewer than 1.5 servings per day) for a 12-week period. People in the milk group got significantly more nutrients such as protein, vitamin A and D, vitamin B-12, calcium, phosphorous, magnesium, zinc, pantothenic acid, potassium and calcium when compared to the control group. (Barr, S. et al: "Effects of increased consumption of fluid milk on energy and nutrient intake, body weight and cardiovascular risk factors in healthy older adults," Journal of The American Dietetic Association, 2000; 100 (7): 810-817.

Milk and Eggs-May Boost Brain Power

A newly published study suggests moms who consume enough choline—a nutrient found in eggs and milk—may have newborns with improved memory that lasts a lifetime. Researchers say a mother's choline intake may influence the development of the memory center in the fetal brains. This study is further evidence of the importance for pregnant women to pay special attention to their diets. (Zeisel, er. Al: "Choline: Needed for normal development of memory," Journal of the American College of Nutrition 2000; 19 (5): 528.

CHRISTMAS DRAWING WINNERS
Doug Phipps and Weldon Schwarten were winners of Wakefield Dollars on Dec. 22. The Lions Club received over $1,200 in donations at their supper and ran out of soup. The monies were used to buy Christmas gifts for less fortunate families in the Wakefield community.

Winners of the sleds were Kelsie Lundahl, Garek Bebee, Matt Henderson, Mark Schroeder, Whitney Rouse, Alex Foot, Hanna Borg, and Kyra Obermeyer.

Winners for 50 Wakefield Dollars were Megan Barge and Clint Roberts.

SUFFERS INJURIES

Luke Tappe, formerly of Wakefield, now living in Lincoln, was injured in a two vehicle accident near North Bend on Dec. 18. Tappe, who works as an electrician, was driving a work van when the accident occurred.

Weather conditions and poor visibility most likely contributed to the cause of the near head-on collision.

Luke graduated from Wakefield High School in 1995. He is the son of Duane Tappe of McCook and Olga Sanchez Tappe, who is living in Connecticut. Luke's address is 5800 Vine Street in Lincoln, NE, 68505.

He was taken to a Fremont hospital where he was treated for severe facial injuries including broken bones. He was released from the hospital later last week and is recuperating at his Lincoln home. It is expected that he will be off work for about two months due to his injuries.

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETING

The Wakefield Community Club held its regular monthly coffee meeting on Dec. 14 at the Evangelical Covenant Church. Thirty-four members and guests registered.

An announcement was made that the playground committee had received a $3,000 grant which means enough money has been raised to receive the Kewiet matching funds. All installation must be completed by June 1, 2001.

Samples of web page was passed around. The board selected number three from the samples. President Bard said more information and pictures are needed.

The Christmas promotion was discussed. One member said he had heard complaints about only two drawings and being present to win. If anyone hears other comments about the promotion, they are asked to pass them along to Wakefield Advance which organized the Christmas Activities this year.

Written report from the City of Wakefield said Channel 23 in full operation, suggested church Christmas programs be taped and given to Mr. Harrison for broadcast; Christmas wreaths and banners not put up correct order, City given diagram of placement intended, snow removal follows a plan in order of street; cars will be towed if not moved for snow removal.

City has been generating power for Nebraska Public Power District; Highway 35 Corridor mentioned. Funds for new park restroom available. Work will start in spring. Brian Schwarten will coordinate as his Eagle Scout project. A median will be placed between first street and first avenue as part of street improvement planned in this area.

Mike Moody reported for school. There was some progress on the rec center; there are some walls up. The Wakefield Institute date has been set for March 19-23. The Lions will hold the annual Pancake Supper at school on Feb. 9.

The Wakefield Family Resource Center has 17 families participating in the Even Start Program. English as a Second Language and General Education classes underway. Shot clinic well received. Plans are to begin the Head Start Program in August.

Rich Danforth and Scott Salmon, members of the Wakefield Fire and Rescue Squad, demonstrated the new cot recently purchased. Cost $3,500. The pair recommended not putting off calling 911 if there is a medical emergency.

Terry Hoffman reported that the remodeling is nearly complete at the Wakefield Health Care Center. Open House planned for the first part of the new year. Christmas events were well attended at the center. The census was good. The soft serve ice cream machine was donated to the center by Betty Lunz and family.

Community Club members Leslie Bebee, Michelle Tullberg, Val Bard, Janice Roberts and Judy Loofoe hung wreaths at the Health Care Center.

Lions Club said there are 21 families on the Christmas list which includes 63 children. All will receive gifts along with hats and mittens. Families will receive groceries.

Nancy Fredrickson reported traffic had been slow at the Library because of cold weather. Some plaster has fallen in the basement and in the outside stairway. There is no one using this area.

The Little Red Hen Theatre is planning a production in February and is taking part in the Nebraska Association of Community Theatres one act competition.

The Senior Center had pipes break on Dec. 21. They are asking the state for help with repairs for the van. Three computers were donated to the center. Avanelle Brudigam Olson was hired as a new cook to begin in January.

The nominating committee for new officers and board of directors for the Community Club includes Val Bard, Barb Stout and Mark Dempke. Sharon Salmon and Judy Loofoe have agreed to run for another two year term on the board of directors. The annual meeting and banquet will be in March. Michelle Tullberg is looking for a caterer; Mark is lining up entertainment and Leslie Bebee in charge of Citizen of the Year.

Norman Minola made a proposal to have a street named in honor of Dan and Jeanne Gardner and families for their many years of dedication to Wakefield. A proposal was presented to the city council asking the Community Club for help. Gardner Way was suggested.

Allergy Drugs May Impair Driving

According to a study in the Annals of Internal Medicine, a drug common to over-the-counter allergy medicines might affect drivers more than liquor. The antihistamine diphenhydramine had a greater effect than a few drinks on the ability to match the speed of the vehicle ahead, steering stability, and the likelihood of crossing into the oncoming lane. These medicines often come with warnings that they can cause drowsiness. Until further research is completed talk to your doctor or pharmacist if you use over-the-counter allergy medicines.
