Food Check-Out Day celebrated

Food in America is affordable. In fact, between Jan. 1 and Feb. 7 the average American earned enough income to pay for his or her family's entire 2001 food supply, according to the Wayne County Farm Bureau.

As a result, the Wayne County Farm Bureau and the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce Ag Council celebrated Feb. 7 as Food Check-Out Day. Pac 'N' Save and Quality Food Center had information available throughout the day regarding "Food Check-Out Day."

The Ag Council and Wayne County Farm Bureau also sponsored a raffle for $10 food certificates (four at each store).

Last year Food Check-Out Day fell on Feb. 9. However, according to the latest statistics compiled by the Agriculture Department's (USDA's) Economic Research Service, American families and individuals currently spend, on average, just 10.4 percent of their disposable personal income for food. That percentage is down from last year's figure of 10.9 percent.

Applying the current 10.4 percent statistic to the calendar year means the average household will have earned enough disposable income — the portion of income available for spending or saving — to pay for its annual food supply in just 38 days.

"Not only is America's food supply the world's safest, but it's also the most affordable," said William J. Claybaugh, spokesperson for the Wayne County Farm Bureau and the Ag Council. "It speaks well of our nation's increasing standard of living, which would certainly be reduced without the affordable, domestic food supply produced by America's farmers and ranchers."

In comparison to Food Check-Out Day, Tax Freedom Day, the day the average American has earned enough money to pay federal, state and local taxes, was May 3 last year, according to Tax Foundation.

I find it amazing that people can pay for their yearly food supply three months earlier than it would take them to satisfy their tax burden," Claybaugh said. "Rather than being an economic burden, food remains quite a bargain for shoppers. That's the way it should be."

Claybaugh hopes Americans will come to understand that the high-quality, affordable food they enjoy is a product of our successful food production and distribution system, as well as America's farmers retaining access to effective and affordable crop protection tools."

"This day should hold meaning for most Americans," Claybaugh said

"As food producers, we are concerned that some Americans cannot afford to buy the food they need, but we are proud of the part Nebraska farmers play in making our food supply more affordable for all."

Juvenile escapes

On Monday, Feb. 5 a juvenile who had just completed his court appearance in the Wayne County courthouse, ran away from the deputy guarding him there.

No physical force was used during the escape.

The juvenile had appeared for an arraignment on charges of theft of money from a Wayne business during open hours and minor in possession of alcohol. The charges are both misdemeanor charges.

Jasper Faulkner, Jr., 16, was originally being held by the Youth Detention Center in Kearney. He was transported to Wayne for court by the Wayne County Sheriff's Office and was to return to Kearney when completed with proceedings in Wayne.

Faulkner is described as a black male who is about 6 foot, 1 inch, has black hair and brown eyes and weighs about 185 pounds. He was last seen wearing white tennis shoes, blue jeans, a white t-shirt and a black and red Nebraska pullover coat with long sleeves and a zipper front.

He has a home address of Lincoln.

Faulkner is not believed to be a dangerous individual. If this person is seen, contact local law enforcement authorities.

Veteran receives medals after 50 years

Nearly 50 years after his return from Korea, Merlin Reinhardt recently received a certificate and medal from the Korean government.

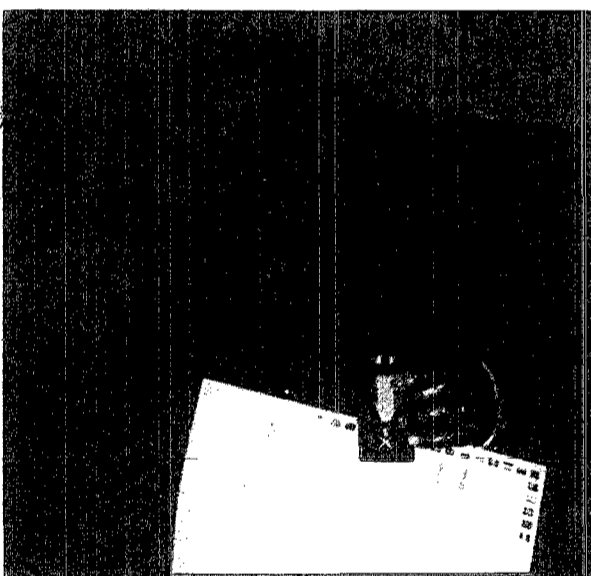

Reinhardt, who recently began receiving dialysis treatments and currently resides at the Wayne Care Centre, lived on a farm south of Wayne when he was drafted into the service. He spent 16 months in Korea before returning home in August of 1954.

He said that he was the only person from the area that was drafted at the time, although he did meet people from Nebraska when serving in the military.

He was a member of Fox Company, the 35th Regiment, 25th division. He was part of a line company and later a defense platoon.

His last assignment while in Korea was as a member of the motor pool where he drove a duce and a half truck.

"It was interesting that while in Korea, we received eggs that came from Wakefield, Nebraska. I once looked at the date on the cartons and it took only a week for the eggs to make it to Korea," Merlin said

Merlin Reinhardt

Following his discharge from the military, Reinhardt returned to Wayne and farmed. Through the years he has developed a number of health problems, some of which were war-related. He has had surgery on his leg, his knee and was flown to Texas for heart surgery.

Last summer it was discovered that his kidneys were not functioning and he now makes three trips to Norfolk each week for dialysis.

In August of last year, Reinhardt read that he was eligible to receive recognition for his service to Korea. His son Bryan then helped him apply through the Veteran's Service Office for the medal and certificate. After waiting several months, Merlin recently received mail from the Korean government.

The certificate, which is written in both Korean and English, is signed by Kim Dae-jung, President of the Republic of Korea.

It states, in part, "on the 50th anniversary of the outbreak of the Korean War, we recognize with deep gratitude, your service."

Reinhardt encourages all other veterans who served in Korea to contact the local Veterans Service Office to begin the process to obtaining similar recognition for their efforts.

Career Day held at Wayne Elementary School

Fourth grade students at Wayne Community Schools learned about some interesting careers on Feb. 5 when five presenters shared information about their work.

Kevin Harm, Connie Hassler, Todd Barry, Jolene Loetscher and Dr. Ken Liska spoke to groups of students on their respective careers.

Harm, a Family Nurse Practitioner at Midwest Health Partners, P.C. in Norfolk, discussed nursing and showed students how to use a stethoscope. One enthusiastic student declared, as she emerged from his session, "Now I know what I want to be! A nurse!"

Connie Hassler is a Licensed

Massage Therapist from Back in Touch in Wayne. She brought a folding massage table and demonstrated some of her massage techniques for students. She told the students that touch is the only sense that is absolutely necessary for survival and talked about how massage plays a role in stress management, muscle health and athletic training.

Todd Barry, director of Athletics at Wayne State College, captured the students' attention by an amazing escape after having them tie him up with rope. The students listened to his message that athletics are impor-

Greg Vander Weil, Wayne State College assistant professor of applied science, and Bill Wilson, junior high instructor at Wayne Middle School, watch over eighth graders Jared Jehle and Molly Hill as they work on a desktop publishing project, Feb. 2. Wilson said his students will benefit from experiencing something different in the lab on campus and interacting with Vander Weil and his students.

Industrial technology experience benefits middle school students

More than 75 Wayne Middle School (WMS) eighth grade students will gain hands-on experience with technology under the supervision of 15 Wayne State industrial technology education majors.

"The nature of the project will provide a lab school experience for young students and allow additional preparation for WSC students before they continue in their teaching experience," said Greg Vander Weil, assistant professor of applied science. "Our partnership link to our local school continues to be a strong one. This is an extension of that partnership and a real 'win-win' opportunity for everyone involved. The eighth grade students will spend half of their nine weeks here."

Funded by a WSC instructional improvement grant, this special project will provide two 22-day rotations for two groups of WMS eighth graders and WSC students. The first rotation began on Feb. 1. Three classes of eighth graders were transported to WSC to take part in six stations of activities.

Although the lab has always been open for field trip experiences for young students to explore technology, Vander Weil's project allows for specific learning experiences. Vander Weil, who applied for the grant and directs the project, began this format of lab experience for eighth graders to take advantage of WSC resources and use the lab last year, because of the remodeling of the Wayne Middle School. The instructional improvement grant allows three hours of release time for Vander Weil and $2,000 for

Scouts celebrating anniversary

In February, during National Boy Scouts Month, members of Wayne Troop #174 are celebrating the group's 78th anniversary of service to the community.

The troop's most visible community service project is its monthly paper drive. Up to 22 tons of newsprint are collected each month, filling a semi-trailer storage truck which is then driven to Norfolk for recycling. In addition to Scouts canvassing the city once a month, the paper trailer is open Saturdays at the local recycling area for residents who wish to drop off newspapers, computer paper and aluminum cans.

Other Scouting contributions to the community include work at the County Fair, Kiwanis Pancake Feed and various service projects performed by older Scouts working on their Eagle rank. To date, 114 members of Wayne Scouting have achieved this highest honor and several local Scouts are scheduled to earn their Eagle in 2001.

Since 1923, three different troops have existed in Wayne. The city's current single troop is the result of consolidation of those three groups over the past 78 years. This near-eight decades of continuous operation provides Wayne with the designation as oldest Scout troop in Nebraska.

Jim Modrell is current Scoutmaster of the troop which is chartered by Our Savior Lutheran church and open to all boys, ages 11-18.

Other officers of the troop committee are Charles Shapiro, chairman; Ron Gentrup, treasurer and Gary Wright, secretary. Mike and

Jan Brumm are Paper Drive Chairpersons; Nancy Judson is Rank Advancement Chairperson and Frank Teach, Bill Jammer, Paul Judson and Greg Vander Weil are Assistant Scoutmasters.

Other active committee members are Mick Kemp, Mark Klassen and Joe Reinert. Former Scoutmaster Chuck Rutenbeck serves as Eagle Scout Advancement Advisor and Rod Hefti is the troop's liaison with Our Savior Lutheran Church.

During weekly meetings, Wayne Boy Scouts learn about citizenship, safety, first aid and camping. In addition to weekend campouts in the immediate area, the local Scouts enjoy extended camping trips to Camp Cedars near Fremont as well as sites in Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and northern Minnesota-southern Ontario, Canada. Some Wayne Boy Scouts also attend the national jamboree held every four years.

The troop meets Mondays (excluding the second Monday of each month) at 7 p.m. at the Our Savior Center on Main Street. New members are always welcome.

Wayne State College musicians to perform in Wayne

Wayne State College faculty members David Bohnert on trumpet and Dr. Ann Marie Rigler on organ will perform "Music for a Sunday Afternoon" on Sunday, Feb. 11, at 3 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church, 421 Pearl Street. There is no admission charge. The public is welcome to attend.

The duo will be performing works from the 20th century including pieces by Verhaalen, Koetsier, Matter, Damase, Adler, and Defaye.

Two selections are based on popular, standard chorales (hymns) found in the Lutheran Book of Worship. One is "Lobe den Herren," also known as "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty" and the other is "Von Gott will ich nicht lassen," also known as "From God Can Nothing Move Me."

Four selections are arrangements of jazz tunes for trumpet and organ. Two are published arrangements. Two selections are credited to Bohnert & Rigler.

Bohnert teaches trumpet, horn, and music appreciation, and serves as assistant band director at Wayne State. He holds a bachelor's degree in music education and trumpet performance from Southeast Missouri State University and a master's degree in performance from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, where he was also a graduate teaching assistant.

His primary teacher include Marc Fulgham, Alan Siebert and Marie Speziale. Bohnert has performed with the Western Nebraska Chamber Players, the Southeast Brass Quintet, the Wayne Faculty Brass Quintet, Paducah and Jackson Symphony Orchestras, Opera Theater Orchestra and the Brass Quintet of Lucca, Italy.

Rigler teaches organ, applied and class piano and academic music courses at Wayne State. She has also served on the faculties of the University of Northern Iowa, the University of Wisconsin-Madison and Simpson College. Rigler has earned a degree in organ performance from Southern Methodist University, an M.S. in library and information science and an M.M. in musicology from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and a D.M.A. in organ performance and pedagogy from the University of Iowa.

The Wayne recital is one of several that Bohnert and Rigler are

The two will complete their tour of performances as featured recitalists (recital and workshop) at the American Guild of Organists Region VI convention in Fargo, N.D. in June. Region VI includes members from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, eastern Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and North Dakota.

EXPERT ANSWERS TO TAXING QUESTIONS

How long am I required to keep old tax records?

Receipts, cancelled checks, interest statements and any other record that document income of a deduction shown on your tax return should be kept until the period of limitations for what return expires. This is usually three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later. However, there is no period of limitations when no return is filed or fraud is involved. If you are an employer, you must retain employment tax records for at least four years.

Hattig gets Horizon Scholarship

Nebraska Methodist College has awarded a Horizon Scholarship for the 2001 spring semester and a Merit Scholarship for the 2001-2002 school year to Wakefield High School graduate Amy Hattig. Horizon Scholarships have a value of $1,250. The total value of the Merit Scholarships is $2,500 for one school year.

Hattig is currently a freshman at Nebraska Methodist College.

*Note: there is a correction due to incorrect information submitted to the Wayne Herald on the high school Hattig graduated from: She graduated from Wakefield High School instead of Wayne High School as was printed in the last issue.

Public invited to reception and viewing at WSC in art gallery

The work of Theresa Rae Otten will be featured in Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery at Wayne State College, Feb. 12 until March 2. An opening and reception will be hosted on Monday, Feb. 12 from 4:30 to 6 p.m. in Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery.

She co-organized a traveling exhibition of works on paper for artists and has assisted in the printing of editions with a dozen artists using a variety of printmaking techniques.

Otten has a master of fine art degree in printmaking from the University of South Dakota and a bachelor's degree in psychology, sociology and fine art with honors from North Dakota State University. She has also studied at Palackeho Univerzita in Olomouc, Czech Republic.

She has traveled extensively in western and central Europe while studying drawing, printmaking and art history in the Czech Republic. She visited Austria, Germany, Slovakia, Hungary, Switzerland, England, France, Italy and Poland.

The public is welcome to attend the opening and reception on Feb. 12 or view the show until March 2 during gallery hours.

The Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. when classes are in session. There is no admission charge to view the show. For more information, please call the WSC fine arts division at (402) 375-7359.

tant, but the odds of becoming a professional athlete are very small.

He explained how important academics are to his career and all other sports-oriented careers. Zach Long commented afterwards, "There are a lot more different kinds of careers than I thought!" The students also appreciated the free tickets to the Wayne State College basketball game.

Jolene Loetscher, a recent graduate of Northwestern University and former student at Wayne Elementary School, now a TV reporter with KELO in Sioux Falls, S.D. returned to her alma mater to discuss careers in journalism.

She showed video clips of herself in action, interviewing people and reporting in several different news stories. The students were thrilled to get her autograph and her former teachers were thrilled to see her in her new role as a journalist.

Dr. Ken Liska, a veterinarian at Wayne Veterinary Clinic, talked with the students about animal health.

Fourth grader Aleta Anderson was very impressed with the information about animal infections. She said she asked Dr. Liska about some eye problems her fish are having and he made some suggestions.

A sixth session, conducted by Elementary Librarian Claudia Koeber introduced students to a computer program, "Paws in Jobland," in which the students were able to explore different careers according to their interests. Jason Olnes said, "The computer session was my favorite."

Counselor Joan Sudmann organized the Career Day as part of the fourth grade guidance curriculum, "Exploring Our Futures."

Student Lindsey Costa commented, "I really liked it because we got to meet people we didn't know and got to ask them questions about their jobs."

McKenzie Sommerfeld thought Career Day was "really exciting. It gives you a chance to learn about people and think about what you want to do when you grow up!"

expenses.

"Past WSC students who were involved with the project related how much they enjoyed setting up the lab and the experience of being involved in a classroom setting before graduating from college," Vander Weil said.

WSC student lab coordinators will supervise eighth graders in using a plastics injection molder to make screw drivers, become involved with computer desktop publishing, use a digital camera, design and screen print their own artwork on a t-shirt, use precision measurement to make a key ring on the wood lathe, program a computer to carve their initials out of wax and experience structural engineering by building a truss to be stress tested.

"I'm looking forward to learning about different kinds of technology," said Jared Jehle, a Wayne eighth grade student. "I think this experience will help me to get started on a career path and to gain basic knowledge of growing technology." Jehle is the son of Tina Jehle of Wayne.

His lab partner and eighth grade student Molly Hill, daughter of Kevin and Melody Hill of Wayne, said she's looking forward to learning about computers.

"I've thought about engineering for a future career, so I'm excited about structural design. I'll learn more about things I'm unfamiliar with such as electricity and computers. I don't know a lot about computers and such so I'm interested about learning how they work, how to do more with them and use them most effectively," Hill said.

Divided into groups of 13, students have four days with a total of two hours of time for each module. This gives them enough of a block of time to allow them to learn and use a certain technology.

"The WSC industrial technology majors who are involved in the Modular Technology Lab Management course will go through the WSC teacher education program with more insight," Vander Weil said. "They see how valuable their organizational skills are because they come in every four days and pick up paperwork as well as plan and direct students in lab activities."

Our students graduate from WSC with teaching resources. They also learn how to develop a mutual respect and rapport with students."

Vander Weil said he stays in touch with recent WSC graduates and tries to find added ways to prepare students for a career in teaching. He's discovered that experiences like this one help prepare students for the realities of the crucial time management aspect of teaching.

Ahmann joins Care Centre staff

Mark Ahmann has joined the Wayne Care Centre as Director of Marketing.

Ahmann is well known to the Wayne Community as the sports voice of Wayne State College and Wayne High School. He has had an extensive career in broadcast communication and marketing.

Extra bonus extended

The Air Force is offering an additional bonus for people enlisting into select career fields, and reporting for active duty between Feb. 1 and March 30.

This bonus is in addition to any standard enlistment bonus currently offered for those career fields. For instance, a six-year enlistment bonus for the cryptological linguist career field, currently at $9,000, will also offer a $5,000 "kicker" in February for a total of $14,000. Other additional bonuses range from $1,000 to $5,000 depending on career field chosen and term of enlistment.

"We offered a kicker for the month of January, and it gave us just the boost we needed," said Colonel James Holaday, Air Force Recruiting Service director of operations. "This is another useful tool for our recruiters out in the field, because it not only offers an additional monetary incentive for young people seeking an Air Force opportunity, but it also helps to balance our training class seats throughout the year."

The Air Force has opportunities in nearly 200 career fields, with special emphasis this year in mechanical and technical career fields, as well as officer opportunities.

March 4 is Daffodil Sunday

Dear Editor,
As Chair of this year's American

DAFFODIL
D·A·Y·S

Cancer Society Daffodil Days. I would like to thank people for their generosity and support in past campaigns.

Around $2,000 was raised during last year's event, providing needed funds for American Cancer Society's research, education, and patient service programs. The outstanding support received proves that the people in this area are truly committed to the fight against cancer.

This year, Daffodil Days will be Sunday, March 4. A bundle of 10 daffodils is $5. Anyone interested in purchasing flowers can call me at 402-375-3406.

Again, thank you for supporting the American Cancer Society, and remember, it is not too early to place your daffodil orders.

Sincerely,

Vicky Skokan
Chair
2001 Daffodil Days

Watch for mail fraud schemes

Dear Editor:

National consumer Protection Week is Feb. 5-11, 2001. The Postal Service and the Postal Inspection Service are partnering to educate consumers about mail fraud schemes as well as provide them with tools to recognize and combat fraud — no matter what the scheme.

The focus of this year's campaign is "if it sounds too good to be true."

The most effect consumer protection is education and this year Postmasters and Customer Service Managers will join with hundreds of other businesses in educating the consumer about fraud. Traditional means of combating consumer fraud, such as strengthening government regulations and law enforcement crack downs, have not stemmed the successes of fraudulent solicitors.

Unlike other crimes against citizens, consumer fraud victims must make a conscious decision to participate. There is only a brief window of opportunity to resist a fraudulent pitch.

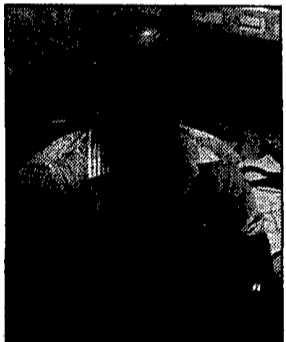

Always check with the Postal Service or Better Business before sending money in answer to an advertisement. Save yourself time and money before rather than after the fact. "IF IT SOUNDS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE..."

Thank you.

J. Dave Kirkpatrick,
Postmaster, Wayne

Discussion is continuing on community activity center

Planning for the new Community Activity Center (CAC) has created a dilemma. The City Council and the CAC committee as well as the project manager are trying to get the most building for the money that will meet the needs of the users.

Originally, a square foot estimate of the building that would meet a needs assessment was to cost about $3,700,000. This was assuming that a site would be found that would not cost the project anything and that whatever money could be raised through a sales tax asking could be spent entirely on a building facility.

Later, a debate originated about selecting a site for the building and a site near the high school was selected. However, due to the sloping nature of the site and drainage and access problems, we are now told that would add $267,000 to the cost of the project.

Other factors, including a desire for brick or block exterior and more durable interior finishes have given the project estimates as high as $4,200,000.

This is also complicated by such realities as the longer it takes to start the project, the more it will cost anyway, due to inflation and actual costs are nearly always more than estimated costs anyway.

Much thought and discussion is going on to try to solve these problems in a timely and responsible manner.

The facility will be a great asset to the community when it is finally completed but most likely additional funding sources will have to be utilized to see it become a reality.

Gov. Johanns is trying to keep Nebraska taxes down

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Gov. Mike Johanns seems to be holding firm on his notion that, whatever it takes to deal with Nebraska's problems, it shouldn't take higher state tax rates.

Johanns, like virtually everyone in their first campaign for governor, talked about cutting government spending during his fight for the governor's chair. The fact is there isn't a great deal of real cutting to be done; it's either politically impossible because of constituent demands, or virtually impossible because of federal mandates.

Remember how Johanns talked during debates with Democrat Bill Hoppner? Johanns cited budget reductions that were accomplished when he was mayor of Lincoln, and urged voters to "just imagine" what he could cut from a state budget. Most first-time candidates for governor say a variation of the same thing.

By the time they run for a second term they are partnered with this reality: Dynamic budget cuts, such as those witnessed in the administrations of former Govs. Kerrey and Nelson, are not the products of executive and legislative will. They have their origins in an economy that is in the dumpster. The slashing of services for taxpayers is usually the end result not of will, but of being the only alternative to higher state tax rates.

To be sure, Johanns and any other governor could propose all kinds of wild-eyed budget reductions. In this case, "wild-eyed" refers to those who would cut state services without a sense of responsibility for consequences. It's like wild-eyed spending, only in reverse. Johanns has shunned devolving to that level of political gamesmanship. (His reward for this is the potential for some opponent, probably in a primary election, to criticize him for not butchering state services.)

Johanns and lawmakers are faced with continuing pressure from the state's teachers, and some local officials, to come up with state tax dollars to subsidize teacher pay. The situation also represents a choice in terms of which criticism they want thrown at them: Criticism for enhancing the tax burden, or criticism over problems (real or imagined) stemming from low teacher pay.

We previously noted that real budget cuts usually come when the economy is down, or headed that way. It's also true that real spending increases, and tax increases, are most easily beaten back in that same situation. The ongoing worry about a downturn in the economy is as legitimate as such concerns get. It's also as legitimate a reason to put off new commitments for state dollars as policy makers are likely to find.

Relay For Life kick-off to be Feb. 27

The Relay For Life kick-off celebration "Millennium Magic" will be held Tuesday, Feb. 27 at 5:30 p.m. at Riley's in Wayne.

The purpose of the kick-off is to let businesses and individuals know more about the Relay For Life event planned for Friday, June 8 and Saturday, June 9 from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. on the Wayne State College campus.

On these dates, teams of walkers and runners from northeast Nebraska will take part in an around the clock event in the battle against cancer. Sponsors and teams are encouraged to register to participate in the 12-hour relay against cancer event.

The kick-off will last around an hour. Snacks will be served and door prizes will be awarded. An American Cancer Society representative will present a short program. The local planning committee and some of last year's participants will be on hand to answer questions.

If you would like to get a team together, become a corporate sponsor, have any questions or can volunteer in any way, come to the Wayne Relay For Life kick-off. Those interested in walking and being part of a team can call Coleen Jeffries at 375-3729 or 375-4476.

The Wayne area Relay For Life is just around the corner. This "celebration of life" brings the community together in unified effort to fight cancer and symbolizes the fight cancer patients must face after they are diagnosed with cancer.

Relay For Life is an overnight, team effort to raise funds for the American Cancer Society's research, advocacy, education, and patient service programs. "Cancer does not stop for nighttime," said Vicky Skokan, Relay For Life chair. "So we're not going to stop for nighttime either. We hope the community will join in this fight."

Relay For Life starts at dusk and ends at the next day's morning. The light and darkness of the day and night parallel the physical effects, emotions, and mental state of a cancer patient while undergoing treatment. The Relay begins when the sun is setting. This symbolizes the time that the person has been diagnosed with cancer. The day is getting darker, and this represents the cancer patient's state of mind as they feel that life is coming to an end.

As the evening goes on it gets colder and darker, just as the emotions of the cancer patient do. Around 1 a.m. to 2 a.m. represents the time when the cancer patient starts treatments. They become exhausted, some sick, not wanting to go on possibly wanting to give up. Participants in Relay feel much the same way while walking during these hours. They cannot stop or give up, just as the cancer patient cannot stop or give up.

Around 4 a.m. to 5 a.m. symbolizes the end of treatment for the cancer patient. Once again they are tired, but they know they will make it.

The sun rising represents the end of treatment for the cancer patient. They see the light at the end of the tunnel and know that life will go on. The morning light brings on a new day full of life and excitement for new beginnings for the cancer patient. Participants feel the brightness of the morning and know the end of the Relay is close at hand.

If you or anyone you know is a cancer survivor and would like to take part in Relay For Life, please call Vicky Skokan of Wayne at 402-375-3406. All survivors receive a free Relay For Life T-shirt.

For more information on cancer, give Vicky a call or call the American Cancer Society's 24-hour help line at 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit the web site www.cancer.org

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives, and diminishing suffering from cancer through research, education, advocacy, and service.

WSC alum begins term as ASHA president

John Bernthal, Ph.D., a Wayne State College alum and Professor and Chair of the Department of Special Education and Communication Disorders at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, recently began a one-year term as president of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA). Bernthal holds a B.F.A. degree from Wayne State College, an M.A. from Kansas University, and a Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

three areas in which Bernthal will begin leading efforts during his tenure.

Additional critical needs identified by Bernthal include increasing the number of students pursuing research careers, maintaining professional autonomy for both audiology and speech-language pathology, and increasing compensation for services.

Bernthal, whose current research, publication, and teachings focus on preschool and school-age children with phonological disorders, became a fellow in 1979, one of the highest awards given by the Association.

He has also served ASHA in a variety of capacities including ASHA's vice president for Quality of Service, chair of the Council on Professional Standards (currently the Council on Academic Accreditation), member of the Committee on Governance Restructuring, and administrative consultant to the National Student Speech Language Hearing Association. Bernthal has also served as a member of Sertoma International's Advisory Council since 1993.

ASHA is a national professional, scientific, and credentialing association for more than 99,000 audiologists, speech-language pathologists, and speech, language, and hearing scientists. Audiologists specialize in preventing and assessing hearing disorders as well as providing audiologic treatment including swallowing disorders.

Local residents attend State Habitat meeting

Several members of the Logan Creek Pheasants Forever (PF) chapter attended the State Habitat meeting this past weekend in Grand Island. This meeting was instructional and informative on current and new programs from the NRCS office and PF programs.

The following four individuals from the Wayne area received awards at this meeting: Garry Poutre, Dean Carroll, Dennis Carroll, and Randy Gamble. The awards were presented for being a Master Mentor this past upland game season.

The Master Mentor program is connected with the Youth/Mentor hunt events held by PF chapters throughout the state.

The Youth Mentor Hunt program was developed by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission and Pheasants Forever. The objective of the Youth Mentor Hunt is to provide youth who have a limited opportunity or access to hunting, the ability to participate in an upland hunting training session. Logan Creek held such an event in October of this past year. The Master Mentor program is a continuation of the Youth Mentor Hunt program and encourages and recognizes those mentors that went one step further.

The four from Wayne were recognized for serving as Master Mentors for the year 2000 for volunteering additional time from their busy schedule to mentor youth.

Their volunteer efforts to teach safety, promote fun, extend the philosophy of Pheasants Forever habitat preservation and guide youth in the sport of hunting are values meriting our thanks and recognition.

Herbs for Health

Older Antidepressants Often as Effective as Newer, Costlier Ones

According to new guidelines from the American College of Physicians - American Society of Internal Medicine, both newer and traditional antidepressant medicines are equally effective for many persons with depression. Older medicines typically are in the class termed tricyclics (e.g., Tofranil, Elavil). The newer agents include selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors, or SSRIs (e.g., Paxil, Zoloft, Prozac).

The major difference cited between tricyclics and SSRIs are side effects. SSRIs are more likely to cause diarrhea, nausea, headache, and sleeping difficulties. Tricyclics are more likely to cause blurred vision, constipation, dizziness, dry mouth, and tremors. Interestingly, according to the new guidelines it is noted that St. John's wort may be effective against mild depression, at least on a short-term basis.

The Golden Years

Former President Jimmy Carter has been waking up at 5 am. It has nothing to do with a sleep disorder of any kind, rather, the former President uses the early morning hours to study and write poetry. Two of his professors from the University of Arkansas were critical of Carter's early efforts, but they later encouraged him to publish his poems in a collection entitled, "Always a Reckoning."

Blue Devils drill O'Neill; Fall to Elkhorn Valley; Now 10-6 Wayne posts 70-point victory

The Wayne boys basketball team posted their most lopsided victory in modern history with a 70-point win over visiting O'Neill last Friday night, 92-22.

Wayne built a double-digit lead before O'Neill evened scored and the game was out of reach after one quarter of play at 23-2.

The Blue Devils rolled to a 54-7 halftime lead and took a 70-14 advantage to the fourth quarter.

All 12 varsity players scored led by Eric McLagan with 22 points. Ben Meyer scored 11 and Luke (Skywalker) Christensen tallied 10 as did Trevor Wright.

Christensen brought the crowd to their feet with a pair of slam dunks in the fourth quarter, one on a break away fast break and the other on just a routine offensive set.

Shane Baack tossed in nine points and Caleb Garvin tallied eight while Brad Hochstein scored seven. Ethan Mann and Jeff Pippitt scored four each and Craig Olson netted three while Jon Meyer and Jon Ehrhardt chipped in two each.

Wayne knocked down 56 percent of its shots from the floor while the visitors could manage just 15.8 percent shooting success.

Luke Christensen led the team in rebounding with seven caroms and he was the team leader on defense with seven steals while dishing out four assists and not suffering a single turnover.

"This was a good game to play considering the break we had with the bad weather," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We accomplished our goals and then some."

Unfortunately, Wayne did not enjoy the same success on Saturday night in Tilden, as Elkhorn Valley handed the Blue Devils a 55-50 setback.

The 10-6 Blue Devils trailed 25-23 at the half but fell behind by nine points at 42-33 after three quarters of play.

"We were down 49-40 with just a couple minutes left and we cut it to one at 51-50," Ruhl said. "I was proud of the kids for that but overall we just didn't shoot the ball well."

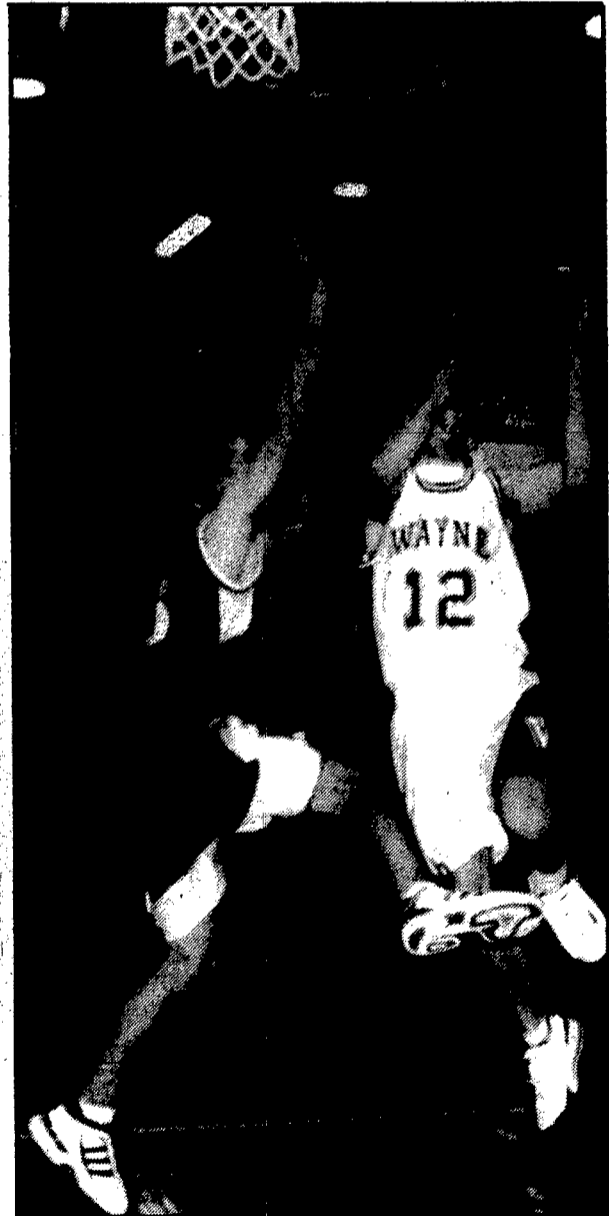

Wayne connected on just 30 percent of its shot attempts.

Despite the loss Wayne's Eric McLagan was dominant, scoring 32 points, hauling down 13 rebounds and recording five steals.

Wayne junior Luke Christensen puts on his aerial display during the second half of the Blue Devils thumping of O'Neill. Christensen had two dunks in the contest with one being waived off as an offensive foul. Trailing the play for Wayne is Ethan Mann, Trevor Wright, Jeff Pippitt and Jon Meyer.

Ben Meyer goes in for a left-handed lay-up during second half action of Wayne's 70-point win over O'Neill.

Wayne State men down Winona St. in overtime; Beat Briar Cliff by five

Todd Klostermann leans in to a Briar Cliff defender before laying a shot off the glass in Tuesday's contest.

WSC coach Rico Burkett discusses a non-call during a timeout with official Dick Morrissy.

The Wayne State men's basketball team suffered a disappointing loss at Concordia-St. Paul last Friday but Rico Burkett's squad found a way to shake it off before posting an overtime win over Winona State on Saturday night.

The 'Cats followed that up with a non-conference win over Briar Cliff on Tuesday night in Wayne.

WSC took a 2-0 lead over St. Paul but it would be the 'Cats only lead of the game as Concordia grabbed a 41-31 halftime lead and held on in the second half for a 66-60 victory.

"We couldn't get the shots to fall," Burkett said. "We just came out flat on offense and defense in that game and we didn't pay the kind of attention to detail that we need too."

Nathan Mulder led WSC with 16 points with Jason Herlitzke adding 15.

WSC did win the boards battle, 44-31 with Mulder hauling down nine caroms and Todd Klostermann grabbing eight rebounds.

Saturday in Winona the 'Cats erased Friday's disappointment with an overtime win over a Warriors team that had blasted the 'Cats by 40-plus points in Wayne earlier this season.

"We had a long discussion after the Concordia game," Burkett said. "I thought the guys responded very well and played with a lot of heart and pride."

WSC led by as many as 14 points in the first half and settled for a 37-28 lead at the break.

The lead would change hands often in the second half with Winona grabbing a 76-73 lead with nine seconds remaining in regulation.

Kevin Lingenfelter buried a three-pointer with two seconds left, forcing the overtime.

Brad Joens hit a three-pointer with 43 seconds left in overtime to put WSC ahead for good and Brad Manley sealed the deal with two free throws with six seconds left.

Lingenfelter led five WSC players in double figures with 20 points while Jason Herlitzke poured in 18 and Brad Joens, 17. Todd Klostermann tallied 15 and Brad Manley had 10.

Klostermann posted a double-double with 15 points and 11 rebounds. Joens dished out six assists to lead the 'Cats.

Tuesday in Wayne the 'Cats held off a stubborn Briar Cliff team (ranked 13th in the nation in NAIA) for a 92-87 win.

"We knew coming in to the game that Briar Cliff was a scrappy team and if you let those kinds of teams hang around, it's going to be difficult," Burkett said.

"I thought we played well offensively with our perimeter players hitting some big shots and when the ball went inside to Herlitzke he had his way."

WSC led 41-32 at the half and had gotten the lead to 15 in the second half only to have the Chargers bounce back.

Briar Cliff cut the lead to two points with under a minute to go and they had possession of the ball and trailing 89-87 but could not draw any closer. WSC hit three-of-four free throws down the stretch to seal the deal.

The 10-13 'Cats were led by five players in double figures as Brad Joens and Jason Herlitzke had 21 each while Kevin Lingenfelter poured in 19 and Nathan Mulder, 12. Brad Manley was also in double figures with 11 points to go along with eight assists.

WSC dominated the boards, 33-18 with Herlitzke leading the way with eight caroms.

The 'Cats will host league leading and unbeaten Southwest State on Saturday night.

The Mustangs will come in to Wayne with the longest active win streak in NCAA Division II at 17 games.

Incidentally, freshman Kevin Kobs has been sidelined with a stress fracture in his foot. Burkett said they will know next week if there is a slight fracture in his foot.

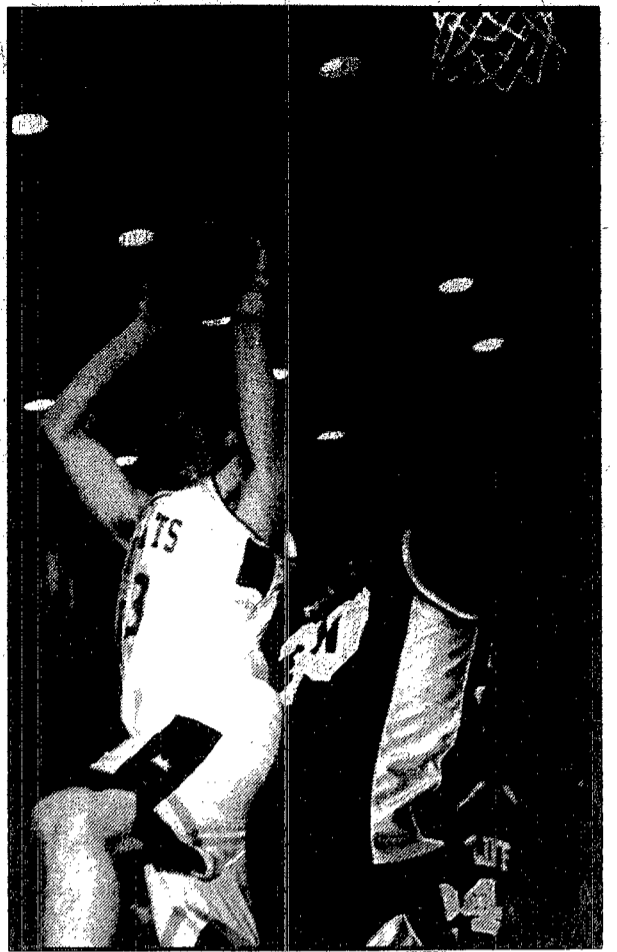

Justin Sanny is also out with an ailing back.

The 'Cats are currently fourth in the NSIC standings with an 8-5 mark.

Wildcat senior Jason Herlitzke pulls down an offensive rebound before putting it back for two of his 21 points.

Wildcats win streak stretches to eight with NSIC victories

Ryan Williams Wayne State women's basketball team ran their win streak to eight after a weekend sweep of Northern Sun foes at Concordia-St. Paul and Winona State.

The Wildcats are currently third in the NSIC standings at 10-3. Southwest State has just one conference loss and Minnesota-Duluth has two losses.

At St. Paul the 'Cats found themselves tied at 28 at the half before a 19-2 scoring run to open the second half put the game away. The final score saw WSC with a 24-point advantage at 74-50.

"We just didn't have any rhythm in that first half," Williams said. "We really picked up the intensity early in the second half."

Williams said Krista Bernadt and Karen Hochstein's spark on the offensive ignited the 'Cats to a 46-point second half.

Karen Hochstein posted her ninth, 20-point outing the season as she led a group of four Wildcats in double figures.

Krista Bernadt scored 16 points and Tracy Williamson tallied 11 while Christi Williams scored 10.

Maranda Radke had a team-high eight rebounds as the two teams tied in total rebounding at 37 each.

Saturday in Winona the 'Cats pulled off a rarity in downing the Warriors in Minnesota for the first time since the early 90's.

"In my time we haven't even been closer than 28 points in Winona," Williams said. "We played a great game and came away with the 80-68 win."

The eight-game win streak is WSC's longest since a 14-game streak during the 1992-93 season.

WSC used a 13-4 scoring run late in the first half to take a 38-35 lead after trailing much of the first half.

The 'Cats never trailed in the second half. "We got stronger as the game went on," Williams said. "We got a great performance from Maranda Radke with her first double-double of the season with 14 points and 11 boards. Krista Bernadt knocked down some big shots for us with 22 points and nine rebounds and Christi Williams came off the bench and scored 17 points for us. She's a tough match for team's with her ability to go outside and play on the block." Tracy Williamson and Karen Hochstein were close to double digits with nine points with Hochstein netting 12 rebounds.

"Defensively, we did a great job on their post players," Williams said. "Offensively, we were solid all night."

WSC out-rebounded the host team, 45-36. "We played with good focus," Williams said.

The 'Cats will need to play with focus on Saturday when they play host to league leading Southwest State.

"It'll be a great game," Williams said. "We expect to win not only because we're at home but because our girls expect to win every game."

WSC fell to the Mustangs, 79-67 earlier this season but that game was a six point differential with 90 seconds left.

WSC, 74—Conc. St. Paul, 50

Will Davis Sav-Mor Pharmacy

Feverfew for Migraine Headache

Feverfew (Tanacetum parthenium), was used as a fever reliever as far back as 78 AD. Now, this herb is used to prevent migraines by reducing the severity and frequency of the headaches. Other uses include relief of menstrual pain, asthma, dermatitis, and arthritis. The active ingredient is parthenolide which inhibits the release of serotonin from the blood platelets. Parthenolide relieves inflammation by inhibiting prostaglandin synthesis and the release of arachidonic acid.

Few studies have been conducted on the use of feverfew for migraine headache prevention. A randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, crossover study of 76 patients showed a 24% reduction in the number of attacks, but no change in the duration of attacks. There was a significant reduction of nausea and vomiting.

In another study, migraine sufferers received either a freeze-dried, powdered feverfew extract or a placebo. Fewer headaches were reported each month by the individuals who received feverfew. However, headache frequency increased significantly in the group receiving the placebo.

Putting Knowledge to work

Reduce your electric and heating bills

With increases in utility rates recently, we will have to find ways to reduce our energy consumption to save money. Here are six tips that I have compiled from different sources to help you cut down your utility bills.

more often More than 80% of the energy of stove burners is lost to heating the surrounding air. On the other hand, microwave oven directly heats up food; using it often can save you up to 90% of the electric use. Find recipes that allow you to use your microwave oven.

Tip 1: Adjust your thermostat to different temperatures during the day and at night. The heating system uses the most energy of the house; therefore, you need to find ways to limit its operations.

Consider adjusting your thermostat to 68F (20C) during the day and 61F (16C) at night. Don't forget to change the furnace filter frequently so that air can efficiently flow through the system.

One article mentions you should change it every month, while another suggests every six months.

Regardless of how often you change the filter, you should always do it regularly. These filters cost around $2, so stock up to save your shopping time.

Tip 2: Convert your furnace room into a dryer. You can tie ropes from one end to another end of your furnace room, and hang your laundry on them for drying. By doing this, you will save the electricity required to run the dryer. T-shirts take about one night to dry, and jeans take about two nights. Avoid hanging the clothes too close to the furnace unit so that air can circulate properly.

Tip 3: Seal all windows and fireplaces. Use anti-draft plastic sheets, available at home renovation centers, to seal windows. You can also place rolled-up towels around window ledges to prevent air from escaping. When you are not using your fireplaces, remember to close the vents or seal the front of the fireplaces with plastic sheets.

Tip 4: Use your microwave oven

Tip 5: Leave breathing room for your refrigerator. Your refrigerator works constantly to keep your food cold, so it is a heavy user of electricity. To help your fridge run more efficiently, leave room in the back and on the top for air to circulate. An efficient fridge uses less electricity to keep a constant cold temperature.

Tip 6: Change all of your light bulbs to fluorescent (or halogen) bulbs. Although fluorescent bulbs cost at least five times more than regular bulbs ($5 for fluorescent vs. $1 regular), they are three times more energy efficient, four times brighter, and 10 times longer lasting. An 11W fluorescent bulb gives off as much light as 60W incandescent bulb.

The Library Card

This column is written occasionally to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

"Liberty, when it begins to take root, is a plant of rapid growth." — George Washington

Do you love to read paperbacks but hate to pay retail? All paperback lovers are invited to donate their gently used recent paperbacks to the Wayne Public Library's new Paperback Exchange program that will kick off in early spring. Details of the program will be published soon, but the idea is that you bring paperbacks in that you've read and exchange them for others. Since these books are not checked out, there are no due dates to worry about and you may even keep the books if you wish. Feel free to donate, donate, donate!

Join in the Saturday fun! WPL's Winter Story Time is in full swing. Preschool and early elementary aged children are invited to the Library on Saturday mornings through April 7 at 10:30 a.m. for stories, finger plays and other fun activities. There is no better way to brighten frosty winter weekends than to start them with wondrous stories read by our lively volunteer storytellers. Special themes include snowmen, teddy bears, birds, Valentine's Day, farm animals, bubbles, frogs, the Zoo and more. Mark Saturdays on your calendars this season.

We would like to thank Dr. Charles Maier for regaling his audience with an intriguing look at the island nation of New Zealand at his Library presentation on Jan. 25. Dr. Maier provided informative and humorous narration of his travels accompanied by a slideshow featuring New Zealand's breathtaking natural features and cultural icons (and, may we add, Dr. Maier is a terrific photographer).

ALERT. WPL now has Digital Subscriber Line. DSL, as it is commonly known, is high speed internet access which cuts down on the waiting time that usually bogs internet travel. You will be amazed at how fast you'll be clicking to and from your desired destinations. And for those of you who have expressed interest in attending our beginning computer and internet classes, now is the time to give us a call & sign up for upcoming classes. WPL offers classes every other month is currently planning its April schedule.

The display case at the entrance to the Library/ Senior Center is available for community use throughout the year. In the past, service organizations, artists, clubs and special school classes have used this space to feature their wares and provide information about how their group works in Wayne. The February display, "We Love Our Town — Wayne," highlights old photographs of Wayne (provided by the Wayne Historical Society) and vintage Valentines (donated by Margaret Korn). The display is changed at the beginning of each month and WPL invites community members to take advantage of this free and highly trafficked site.

Do you need a space for a meeting in a hurry? Would your book club like to meet regularly at a neutral spot where no housecleaning is required? Think of the Conference Room located at the Library/ Senior Center. The policies for using this room have recently been re-vamped. Reservations should now be made through the Library (375-3135). Two day's notice would be nice but next day notice is accepted. The hours available are 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. or the open hours of the Library/ Senior Center. Non-profit groups will be required to make a $25 deposit for room use. This fee is completely refundable once the room has been inspected for damage. There is a non-refundable rental fee of $25 for for-profit groups. So whether you'd like to meet regularly or at the last minute, keep the Library/ Senior Center Conference Room in mind.

Regular WPL Year Round Hours: Noon to 8:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday; 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday; noon to 6 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. From Labor Day to Memorial Day, the Library will offer Sunday hours from 2 to 5 p.m. No Sunday hours in the summer. Our phone number is (402) 375-3135; fax number is (402) 375-5772 (sending or receiving fax charge is $1 per page).

Seasonal affective disorder can be cause depression

During the depths of winter, when the days are shorter and darker, depression begins to affect many people. This is called Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD) and is believed to be caused by a sleep-related hormone called melatonin, which is produced by the body and released in the dark-especially during the darker winter months.

The Nebraska Medical Association reminds you that SAD is a true form of depression and should be taken seriously. As with other forms of depression, it is important to recognize SAD and seek the help of a health care professional for treatment.

Symptoms of SAD are similar to other depressive disorders: regularly occurring bouts of depressive moods, excessive eating and sleeping, and loss of interest and concentration. What makes SAD different from other forms of depression is that it occurs during the winter months and is brought on by no other apparent reason or event.

The most promising treatment for SAD has been photo therapy-or light therapy- which is leading researchers to believe that light may have an antidepressant effect in most people.

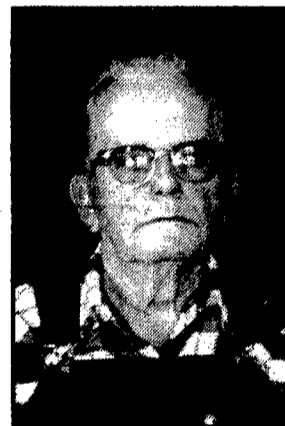

Contact your physician if you suspect you or a family member may be experiencing Seasonal Affective Disorder, or for more information on SAD or other forms of depression.

Discussing what's new for hunters in 2001

Have you ever wished that you could go to a place that has all of the latest and greatest hunting and shooting products? A place that allowed you to talk with the manufacturers and get your hands on the products to learn how they work?

Well, dealers, manufacturers had that opportunity the first part of this month. The 2001 Shooting, Hunting and Outdoor Technology Show (SHOT) show which highlights all the new products was held in New Orleans.

Over 1800 exhibitors from the U.S., Canada, Europe, and Asia came together under one roof to display and sell their products at this year's shot show.

Prior to entering the show, I'd heard that there were over seven miles of carpet on the floor and believe me after walking the show for three days, I can attest that there was at least that many miles as I felt like I had made a 20 mile force march with a 50 pound field pack.

I was excited about some of the items that I saw and hope to have the opportunity to use some of these items on hunts in the future.

Listed are a couple of the items that really caught my eye:

True Huntin' Decoy Walker: This compact collapsible unit allows your (waterfowl, dove, turkey, crow, or predator) decoys, to move back and forth on a 36 inch track. A retractable reel at one end provides tension. A pulley is attached to the decoy rod which keeps the decoy facing the direction it is moving. The unit folds down to 18 inches, weighs two pounds and comes with enough line so that it can be set out 25 yards. Available through True Huntin' Products, 993 Elkhorn Tavern Road, Eddyville, KY 42038.

Ashford Springs Hunting Products: Manufacturers of a new line of Camo clothing. Unlike most camo, the Ashford Spring line allows you to mix and match camo patterns to blend in with the terrain. On their shirts, the sleeves zip off allowing the hunter to change the pattern of the sleeve to either Mossy Oak Break Up, Forest Floor, Shadow leaf, Shadow grass, Hunters Orange, 3-D Camo in cotton or netting for warmer weather. The pants legs are also interchangeable or the shirt can be used as a vest and the pants can be used as shorts. The shirts have a pocket for carrying your favorite call and a utility pocket in the back to carry your head net or other equipment. The pants have an elastic accessory pocket that works great for box calls or other smaller equipment. Available from Ashford Springs, 110 Excel Drive,

Jackson, MS 39208.

American Outdoorsman Products: Manufactures of hunting accessories including packs, gun cases, luggage/gear and numerous other products. Their Buck Man Hip Hunter is a pack that fits on the hip for easy right or left hand accessibility. Its holster style organizer carries all of your hunting equipment. It has Velcro closure, quiet zipper and leather straps pockets for your important items (permit, billfold, car keys), mag flashlight, water bottle, binocular, range finder and anything else you'll need once you get into the field or woods.

The moveable pouch allows you to move the pouch to the top of your leg, which is very handy when turkey hunting or other stand hunting. I used this product on a recent muzzleloader hunt in Mississippi and carried everything I needed on my hip. Compact, well built and developed by outdoorsmen for outdoorsmen. Available from: American Outdoorsmen, 9197 Davenport St., Minneapolis, MN 55449.

Koyker Manufacturing's Raptor: If you're looking for a terrain vehicle, then I'd take a good look at the Raptor. The Raptor was one of the five ATVs on display at the show and looks to be made for the rugged outdoor use that hunters and fishermen demand of their equipment. No fiberglass or flimsy metal on this baby, it's constructed of 12 gauge steel and weighs 1,000 to 1,200 pounds.

Gary Howey

Available in three different models with either a mechanical Spicer rear axle or Full Hydrostatic. The 480 CC to 725 CC engines allow the Raptor to run up to 22 M.P.H. Made to haul two people and all their gear, the Raptor can be purchased with brush guards, light bars, gun racks, dog box, power lift box, hunting soft cab, windshield, and numerous other useful accessories. It's capable of towing from 1,500 to 2,500 pounds. Manufactured by Koyker Mfg., P.O. Box 409, Lennox, S.D.

Gunslinger Corral: This hands free compact rifle holster is a web belt that securely holds your rifle or shotgun on your hip, no matter what type of terrain your traveling through. The Gunslinger consists of a web belt with a quick release compact holster than can be used by both right or left handed shooters.

The Gunslinger Corral allows you mobility, its custom fit stabilizes your weapon, leaving your hands completely free. It helps to prevent shoulder fatigue and allows quick and easy access. I used the Gunslinger Corral on a recent hunt and was really pleased with the way it held my rifle and allowed me to keep my hands free. Manufactured by Gunslinger Corral, P.O. Box 70087, Eugene, Or. 97402.

These are just a few of the many items that caught my eye at the show. It looks as if the shooting and hunting industry are gearing up for a big year as the number of new and improved products displayed this year were really up from last year's show.

The outdoors is a great place to spend some quality time and hunting or sport shooting are gaining popularity, especially in the Midwest.

Give the outdoors a try, you'd be surprised how relaxing spending a day in the woods, field or at the range can be.

WSC Theatre students to perform of Andre Sedriks, humanities professor. The cast includes Patrick Reichert of Lincoln, Joel Hurtado of South Sioux City, Ryan Tweedy of Lincoln and stage manager Becky Ziemba of Silver Creek.

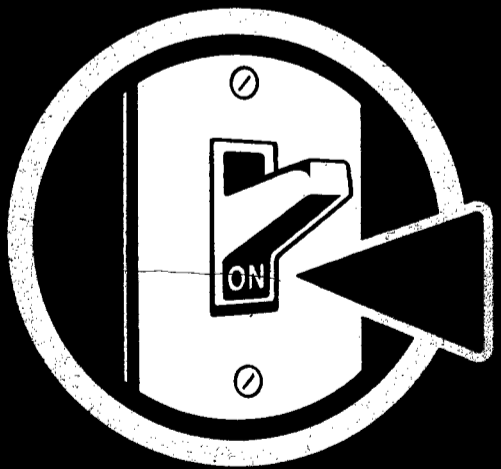

The dramatic production is an account of one man's terrifying experience of being caught in the wrong place at the wrong time because of his skin color and language. Sedriks said he wants the audience to get a feeling of a solid theatrical and to become involved, then possibly to help with a positive change of some of society's viewpoints on multiculturalism.

Singing praises for hospice care

When we go last month's propane bill, we went into shock. And, I went back to work. Bed and Breakfast is slow in Nebraska in winter; even more so, this year, because of the weather.

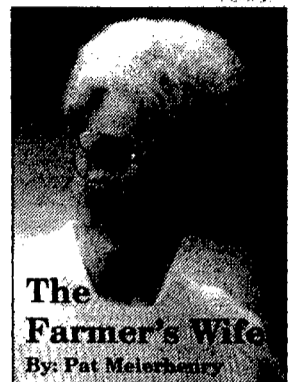

We did have all rooms full two weeks ago, thanks to the Internet. Parents came from South Dakota, children from Missouri; meeting here halfway. Since one of the sons is into antiques, the Big Farmer "picked his brains." The guy specializes in View Master, can you imagine?

Last night, we did have three guests, here for a funeral. And, I know you get tired of me singing the praises of hospice, but I can't resist doing it again. These guests live in New York, and they were here for Christmas, also; a last one with their grandmother. They made it a Christmas to remember, because their grandmother had end stage kidney failure; and, at age 87, had refused dialysis and chosen hospice.

Maxine was a retired school teacher, who began in a rural school at age 17, and ended in the Lincoln Public Schools. Her daughter is a nurse/friend/neighbor here at Murdock. Another daughter teaches in Indiana. In my few, short encounters with her, I always found her to be gracious, good natured, and interested in people. She also did not seem to forget much about the individuals she met.

She had enjoyed quilting, so when she knew she would be a great-grandmother last year, she had the prospective parents pick a pattern. Her daughter cut out the pieces, and Maxine stitched them all by hand. I mean, it's a crib quilt, but the pieces are small, and there are lots of them.

When she received the diagnosis, she relieved her daughters of the burden of decision making and chose a private room at our local nursing home. Here, she finished putting the quilt together; and here, friends, neighbors, former pupils, a former principal, her pastor, a retired priest, her hair dresser, and her retired teacher friends all came to express their love and appreciation.

She held and admired the new great-granddaughter, whose middle name is Elizabeth, like hers; and she enjoyed one last Christmas. She had her daughters write down who should receive which heirlooms. She even did her income tax.

And, then, there was one long weekend; with her daughter at the bedside. The nursing home staff, which includes my sis, gave their last loving cares. On Monday evening, she died.

Her minister described her as a "Proverbs woman," "her children...call her blessed," and quoted "charm is deceptive, and beauty is fleeting; but a woman who fears the Lord is to be praised."

My mother, another Proverbs woman, has the crib quilt is a frame; and is almost finished quilting it. And it all fits together in the expression, "Life is a patch work quilt."

Certificate of appreciation

Ethanol use is supported

Members of the Northeast Nebraska Corn Growers Association were in Wayne on Feb. 6 to promote the use of E-10 Unleaded with Ethanol, the clean-burning alternative to ordinary unleaded gasoline.

E-10 Unleaded is a blend of ordinary unleaded gasoline with 10 percent ethanol — a high octane, renewable additive made from Nebraska corn.

The corn growers' activity is part of a statewide campaign entitled "E-10 Unleaded with Ethanol: Let's Get With It, Nebraska!" The campaign is a cooperative effort between the Nebraska Corn Growers Association, Nebraska Corn Board, Nebraska Ethanol Board and Nebraska ethanol producers.

Local corn growers and other E-10 Unleaded supporters are distributing educational information on E-10 Unleaded throughout Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne counties, ensuring that area gasoline pumps display current approved labeling for E-10 Unleaded and asking area businesses to display posters showing their support for E-10 Unleaded.

According to Kirk Metzger, the president of the Northeast Nebraska Corn Growers, only about one out of five Nebraskans choose E-10 Unleaded with Ethanol when they fill up. "That simply isn't good enough when you consider the direct benefits that E-10 Unleaded brings to all of us who live in Nebraska."

Metzger said that it's not just about gasoline, it's about who Nebraskans choose to help out when they put gas in their cars, trucks and vans. "Nebraskans have a choice when they pull up to the pump. They can choose ordinary unleaded gasoline and support the OPEC nations and further our reliance on foreign oil — or they can choose E-10 Unleaded and help themselves and their home state," Metzger added.

There are seven ethanol production facilities in Nebraska with a combined annual capacity of 350 million gallons of ethanol. Nebraska ethanol production helps to increase the market price of Nebraska corn by five to 10 cents per bushel. Ethanol production is the third largest user of corn — behind only livestock feeding and export markets.

According to Metzger, myths regarding the performance of E-10 Unleaded continue to persist, in spite of the fact that the fuel has been proven over two decades and billions of trouble-free miles. "The fact is that every automaker in the world approves the use of E-10 Unleaded — and many go so far as to encourage its use due to its clean air benefits," Metzger added.

Wayne County Extension Board meeting planned

The Wayne County Extension Board will meet on Tuesday, Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse meeting room.

The meeting is open to the public. An agenda is available at the Extension Office at 510 Pearl Street in Wayne.

Farm Bureau calls for more 'mad cow disease' research

The U.S. Department of Agriculture needs to immediately step up its research efforts devoted to prevention, diagnosis, treatment and eradication of BSE — "Mad Cow Disease," the Nebraska Farm Bureau said Feb. 2.

"While there is not a single case of BSE in the U.S., government agencies and animal industry interests have to do everything possible to absolutely insure that BSE does not appear in animals in the U.S.," Farm Bureau President Bryce Neidig said in a letter to the state's Congressional delegation.

The animal industry and the U.S.

government have implemented an aggressive program to prevent BSE from entering the country, Neidig said, but it must also prepare for the worst-case scenario of the disease occurring here.

Neidig recommended three specific actions:

1. Increase and accelerate the funding of animal disease research and lab facilities. In particular, more money needs to be allocated to the new National Facility for USDA Animal Health project which is in its planning stages at Ames, Iowa.

2. Additional research funds should be appropriated for efforts to develop more accurate and verifiable live diagnostic equipment to test cattle for BSE prior to showing symptoms.

3. More funds need to be invested in coordinated research efforts between the U.S. and Europe. "The BSE organism should not enter the U.S. for research, but we should be willing to jointly coordinate research in European countries," Neidig said.

Prevent of BSE in the U.S. is absolutely imperative for the future of the cattle industry, Neidig said. "If BSE is found in the U.S. it is essential that we have the research base, facilities and technology to immediately respond to a potential catastrophe. Consumer confidence in the safety of red meat is a necessity to Nebraska cattle producers and Nebraska grain producers," he said.

"Research investments that are made now may be the most important insurance policy that a cattle producer may have if there is ever a detection of BSE in the U.S. The future of the cattle industry in Nebraska may depend on efforts made at the present time to prevent a catastrophe that we hope will never happen," Neidig said.

THANK YOU
THANKS TO our relatives and friends for the cards, flowers and gifts and for attending our Golden Anniversary party. Thanks to our children and grandchildren for the pretty decorations, flowers, cake, etc. Special thanks to Bob Wostoupal for decorating the dessert table with his beautiful silver. Also thanks to Cynnne, Darrell and staff and Artie and Gwen for making it such a special night for both of us. Peggy and Dale Krusemark.

He Gathers Every Teardrop
Regardless of the circumstance,
Regardless of the fear,
Regardless of the pain we bear,
Regardless of the tear,
Our God is ever in control,
Performing as He should,
And He has promised in His word
To work things for our good.
But as a loving Father would,
He sometimes lets us cry,
To cleanse the hurt out of our heart,
To wash it from our eye,
Yet gently gathers He the tears
Within His hands to stay
Until He turns them into pearls
And gives them back someday.
Glenda Fulton Davis
