School board accepts resignations

By Lynn Slevers
Of the Herald

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education met on Monday night. The first order of business were three teacher resignations: Byron Heier, JoAnn Benschhof, and Roger Reifkoski. Heier has been teaching at Wayne High for 27 years, Benschhof at Wayne Elementary for 27 years, and Reifkoski at Wayne Elementary for 13 years. The Board approved the resignations with regrets.

Discussion on high heating costs were next with a gas bill of nearly $15,000 for heating the high school, the elementary, and the middle school moduls. Plus, it took an extra $8,900 to heat the middle school for the renovation that is ongoing. The gas price for the school building in Carroll is locked in but they are up a tank over use last year. Wayne Community Schools Supt. Sue Reinert noted that if high heating costs continue much longer, a moratorium on purchase orders may be necessary. Dr. Reinert said all schools in the area are facing this problem. State legislature is allowing schools to go over lid for energy costs but at this rate, the Dist. 17 budget may have to be amended.

As part of pre-scheduled communication from the public, several members of the Community Activity Center (CAC) were present. Doug Carroll, Ray Nelson and Doug Sturm were on hand to answer questions and to update the Board on the latest design/layout of the recreation center that is to be built on school property.

Some of the features of the layout include the current site for the building to be located at the bottom of the hill directly to the southwest of the high school parking lot. The elevation needs to be raised 4 feet at that point with an entrance coming off the highway on the west side of trees planted by the school. It will take around 70,000 yards of dirt to bring the elevation up 4 feet. The county would contribute between $30,000-$50,000 for the site work.

The plan calls for 60 parking spaces around the facility. A multi-purpose field, a football field and a 60 yard field would be placed on the southwest corner of the open field.

Budget for the community activity center is running 3.7 (original budget) to 4.2 million (current budget). Goal for completion stands at September 2002 but the group notes finalization on plans needs to happen soon if that goal is to be met. Carroll noted they are two months behind schedule. Reinert noted cost is around $200,000 more to put building on school property

Council debates activity center

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

More than an hour's worth of discussion took place Tuesday regarding the building of the Community Activity Center in Wayne.

Members of the Wayne City Council each voiced their opinions regarding the site and appearance of the facility.

Original estimates for the cost of the facility were $3.7 million. However, due to the fact that the location of the facility has been changed and the exterior of the building may be changed, current estimates for the facility are $4.2 million. Sales tax in the amount of $3 million will be collected for the project. Additional funding will have to come in the form of grants, donations and other fund-raising.

Council members commended the work of those on the Community Activity Committee during the past two years since the beginning of the project.

The general consensus of the council was that decisions need to be made, a deed for property should be obtained and the project should move forward before a construction season is lost.

Also voiced during the meeting was the fact that the exterior of the building is less of a concern than what goes in the interior of the facility. Several members felt that the exterior could be changed if and when funding became available.

Members of the Community Activity Center were on hand at the meeting and indicated they would like a joint meeting of the City Council, Board of Education and their group to arrive at decisions as soon as possible.

In other action, council members listened to a presentation from Karl Kasbaum of Countryman Associates, P.C. regarding the 1999-2000 audit report.

Kasbaum told the council that while several numbers in the city's report have changed slightly, overall, the city is still healthy.

Resolutions were passed authorizing applications for Transportation Act Funds to continue operating assistance for the handi-van service and for Nutrition Program Funds to continue to provide congregate and home-delivered meals.

Also passed was a resolution increasing the mileage reimbursement from 31¢ to 34.5¢ when personal vehicles are used for city business.

The council voted to provide the requested second quarter funding of $5,000 to the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation. However, the council felt that members of the council should be allowed to attend future meetings in a non-voting capacity.

Lauran Lofgren was appointed to the Information Technology Committee.

A request from the Wayne-Carroll School District to make Fifth Street two-way traffic between Sherman Street and Schoolview Drive was tabled until July.

A public hearing date of Tuesday, Feb. 27 was set for the purpose of discussing a request for re-zoning property near the intersection of Country Club Road and Centennial Road.

Local school district recognized for support of WSC Distance Learning

The Wayne Community School District was one of 13 area school districts recently recognized for their support of distance education programs offered by Wayne State College.

Sue Gilmore, president of the Wayne Community Schools board of education, was presented an award for the district by WSC president, Dr. Sheila Stearns, and Dr. David Fuller, WSC vice president of academic affairs, at an Appreciation Night dinner held on the WSC campus.

"The purpose of the evening was to recognize regional schools for their contribution to strengthening rural communities through student learning, service and leadership, as well as effective use of technology," said Dr. Barb Black, director of regional education at Wayne State. "Our partnership with area schools is vital to the success of the regional education classes and workshops we provide to schools and communities in the region."

During the evening, Dennis Linstler, WSC director of network services and chief information officer at Wayne State College, gave a demonstration of new technology now available at WSC that provides video conferencing over the Internet. "We are the first college in Nebraska to have this new technology available," said Linstler. "We're pleased to be able to offer this and other new advances in technology to the communities in our service region."

Sue Gilmore, center, president of the Wayne Community Schools board of education, receives an appreciation award for the district from Dr. David Fuller, WSC vice president of academic affairs and Dr. Sheila M. Stearns, WSC president.

This spring, Wayne State College is offering approximately 15 distance education classes with each class connected to two, three, or four remote sites throughout northeast Nebraska. "The future of education," said Black, "will include not only face-to-face classes, but also synchronous classes which are offered at the same time but at different locations via TV distance studios. We will also see asynchronous classes, which are anywhere, anytime classes

Huntel to offer high speed internet

HunTel CableVision, in partnership with HunTel.net, will offer high-speed Internet access via the cable television system in Wayne, Nebraska, beginning Feb. 19, 2001.

The new service, called Extreme Internet Access, allows customers to surf the web at speeds up to 50 times faster than a traditional 28kbps dial-up connection.

"Wayne has shown a high level of demand for high-speed Internet access," said HunTel CableVision General Manager Joe Jetyensky. "The HunTel CableVision team has completed installation of the required equipment and it is being tested so we can provide our customers with this exciting new service."

HunTel CableVision Extreme Internet Access is a broadband, online high-speed cable service. It uses the existing broadband cable television network and high-speed cable modems at the customer location to access the Internet.

In Wayne, HunTel CableVision will provide the cable network and HunTel.net, an affiliate of HunTel CableVision, will provide access to the Internet. Extreme Internet Access will be available in the areas where HunTel CableVision currently provides cable television service in the community of Wayne.

Besides high-speed Internet connections, Extreme Internet Access provides several advantages over other Internet connections:

* The service is always on so there is no lengthy connection process;

* Because there is no dialing-up, customers never receive a busy signal;

* No telephone line is needed so customers eliminate the need for a second line dedicated to the Internet; and * Extreme Internet Access provides high-speed connections more affordably than DSL.

In addition to Internet access, each Extreme Internet Access package includes access to a worldwide dial-up network, 5 MB of disk space for hosting a web site, an e-mail address, optional adult content filtering, web e-mail access, access to online training, and toll-free technical support.

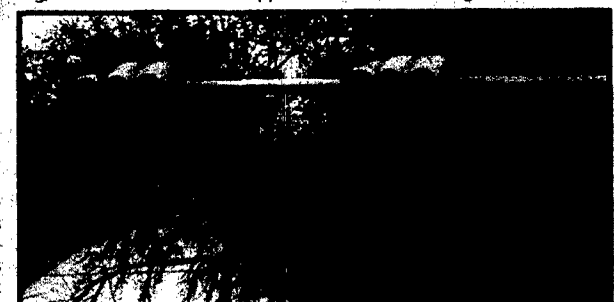

Customers will be required to rent or purchase a cable modem and the computer accessing the service must meet minimum hardware requirements. Also, a cable outlet must be available near the computer.

"Offering this type of affordable, broadband service in Wayne shows HunTel's commitment to providing the latest technologies to our customers," said Dan Hunt, President and General Manager of HunTel.net. "This is an exciting product that we believe our customers will enjoy."

Pricing for Extreme Internet Access is affordable for as low as $30.00 per month for a 256k connection for subscribers who own their own equipment and $40.00 per month for those using HunTel owned equipment. Higher speed connections and other packages are available to customers.

Existing cable television subscribers will receive a $5 discount by purchasing Extreme Internet Access. A $10 activation fee will be waived for all subscribers through May 31, 2001. Customers should be able to install the modem and any hardware themselves, but on-site installation is available.

In addition to launching Extreme Internet Access on Feb. 19, HunTel CableVision will soon offer Digital Cable services. Digital cable offers over 50 additional channels to the current service. Additionally, customers will receive pay-per-view options, multiple premium channels at one low rate and an interactive TV guide. Customers subscribing to all three services will get a $7 discount.

Will it never end?

Even this stop light appears to be crying for spring. The Wayne area has been hit by several snow storms in recent days and cold weather continues to be forecast.

Unclaimed money available

There is unclaimed money available for more than just one lucky "survivor" and you won't have to go to the Australian Outback and compete to collect this money, according to Nebraska State Treasurer Dave Heineman. "Wayne County residents, unlike the participants on the CBS show "Survivor" won't be asked to eat bugs, walk on hot coals or join an alliance to receive their money. All they have to do is contact my office and my staff will assist them in claiming their money," said Heineman.

Every year Treasurer Heineman returns millions of dollars to the citizens of Nebraska and 2000 was no exception. Last year the State Treasurer's Unclaimed Property Division returned just over $3 million to individuals, businesses and local governments throughout the state. In 2000, Treasurer Heineman paid $2,789.76 to Wayne County residents. Heineman said, "If you don't find your name on the county list, you may want to visit our web site www.treasurer.org to see if you have unclaimed property. The web site has a statewide list and it also contains names that were provided to us without an address."

Some of the Nebraska businesses, organizations and individuals that received Unclaimed Property last year included; former Third District Congresswoman Virginia Smith, The Buffet Foundation, American Diabetes Association, The Kearney Clinic, St. Francis Medical Center in Grand Island, Regional West Medical Center in Scottsbluff, Wisner-Pilger Public School, Wauweta-Palisades Public School, Alltel Corporation, U.S. Bank, Grandmother's Restaurants and St. John's Church in Petersburg.

Those citizens who want to speed up the claim process can do so by printing a claim form from the Treasurer's web site, and mailing it in to State Treasurer Dave Heineman, Room 2003 State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509. Those who don't have access to a computer can contact the State Treasurer's office at (402) 471-2455 and his staff will assist you in claiming your money.

There are two major reporting periods for Unclaimed Property each year and in the last 3 months the State Treasurer office has received over $4.5 million from businesses and organizations all over the country. Currently the Unclaimed Property Fund totals approximately $20 million and the interest from the fund is used for

WEEKLY TIP Inhaled Steroids Safe For Children With Asthma

Inhaled corticosteroids are safe and effective for long-term treatment of children with mild to moderate asthma, according to an extensive study in the New England Journal of Medicine. The only side effect was a slight but temporary reduction in growth rate. However, after the first year, children resumed normal growth. Children on inhaled steroids spent less time in the hospital, had less need for other asthma medicines, and had more days without asthma attacks than those on non-steroid, anti-inflammatory inhalers.

because of the dirt work, etc. that needs to be done. City Council must decide the final location.

Dr. Reinert voiced concern the board has on the finished look of the proposed community activity center quonset-style building; which is to have a metal appearance. They wonder how it would fit into the overall appearance near the schools. Carroll noted to stay within budget, the group stated the money should go to the inside more than the outside and that all parties agreed. It was noted many different types of finish can be added to improve appearance. Members of the CAC noted they would like all three groups (city council, school board, and CAC) to meet and discuss the matter.

Next on the agenda was Todd Barry, Wayne State athletic director, speaking on the upcoming stadium/track improvement project at WSC. He noted this project has been in the works since 1993, though, he said it wasn't until 1999 when President Sheila Stearns added the project to the "All About Students" campaign was much done. Barry noted it is an important project as it is the 'window to the college and to the school district.' The college stadium was originally built in 1944 and renovated 20 years ago.

Barry noted there are four parts to the renovation: 1. Making sure the track is packed and finished correctly. Sub soil tests show the present track to not be solid. Barry said if done correctly the track could last 30-40 years compared with 5-6 years if not done correctly. The plans also includes handicap accessibility making it ADA compliant (Americans with Disabilities Act).

2. He noted the east bleachers have outlived their usefulness. Galvanized steel bleachers which would be ADA compliant and a sidewalk on the north side are in the plans.

3. Upgrading the rest rooms and concessions, making them handicap accessible, and renovating the west side steps are in the plans. A two-story ticket booth on the south side would be in this plan.

4. Press box is to be enlarged from 800 square feet to 8000 square feet which would also make it accessible for meetings, receptions, retreats, etc.

Barry said construction is slated for this spring with a finish time of just before Christmas this year. After football season is over, the concession and rest rooms would be done then. Barry asked the board to consider being part of this plan, giving several reasons why it would be good for Dist. 17. 1- The state would have maintenance over it and Dist. 17 wouldn't have to worry about that. 2- It would be good for WSC and WHS to work together. 3- It is a plan that could be paid for over a 10-year period. Barry noted that if WHS joined efforts, then other supporters would follow.

Dr. Jean Blomenkamp, Wayne Community Schools board vice president, voiced concern on scheduling so the high school students wouldn't have to practice at such difficult times (early or late) to work around the college schedule.

Barry said that it is a NCAA rule that college and high school students cannot be practicing on the track at the same time but he proposed a schedule of 2-4 p.m. to be college hours and after 4 p.m., high school students could use the track.

On special education, Kraig Lofquist gave an update. In December, there were 99 students and there are now 109, a 10 percent increase.

As for middle school renovation updates, Nov. 1, 2001, is the goal for the project to be complete so everything can be moved in within the first two weekends of November. Dr. Reinert noted the steel studs are in place on the third floor, concrete is poured, plumbing, electrical, heat and air conditioning rough-ins are done. Dry wall is next. The contractors are ready to start the second floor (it should take two months to finish each floor).

The hold up now is the Library/Commons area in the new addition. The builders need to move a great deal of plastic in order to heat the area to pour concrete. Two days of above freezing weather are needed for this job.

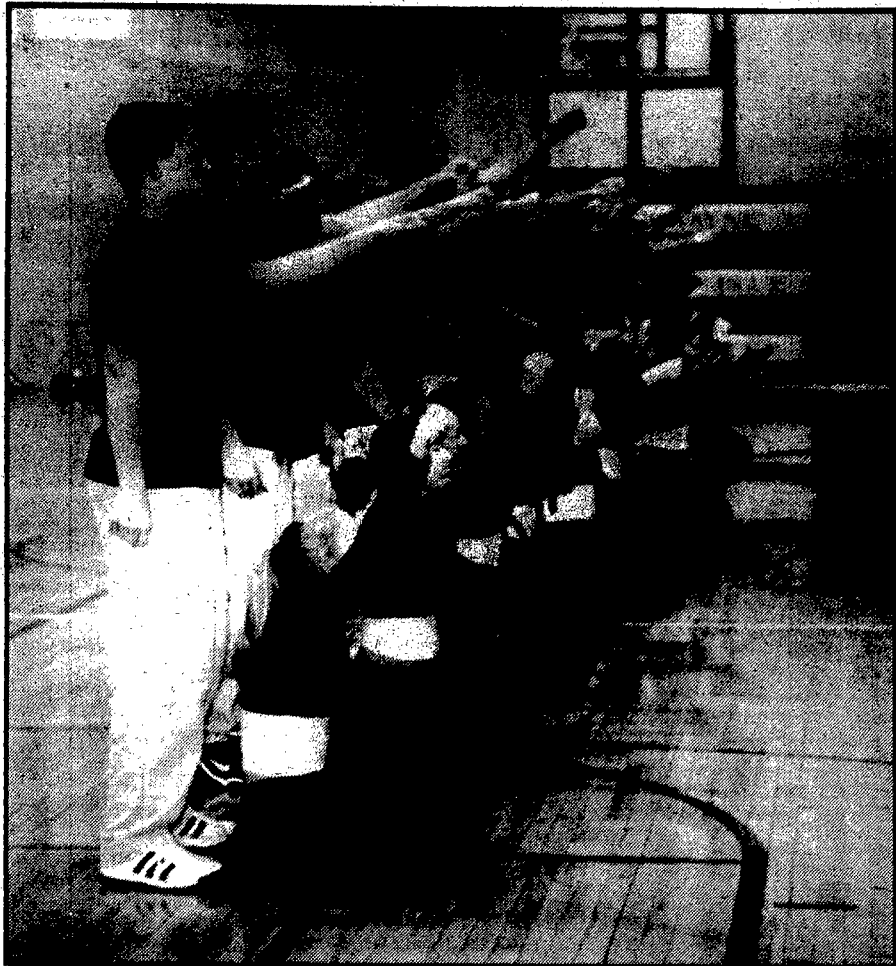

Discussion was held on committee meetings and past meetings. Dr. Jean Blomenkamp and John Dunning, both board members, and Dr. Reinert recently attended a labor relations meeting in Kearney, Feb. 6-7. They noted teacher wages was a topic. Because of low teacher pay in Nebraska, 63 percent of Nebraska education graduates get jobs in other states. Of the 37 percent staying in Nebraska, 25 percent go into other industries.

During boardmanship discussion, it was noted that Dr. Zeiss was selected as recipient of the Nebraska State Bandmasters Association Outstanding Administrator Award. He will be recognized at the NSBA Awards Banquet in March.

Future agenda items include: Policy 1108-duties of secretary/treasurer, administrative regulation/school nutrition programs, and contracts after the negotiations committee has met.

Executive session was held to discuss possible litigation and personnel.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 27 at 7 p.m. in the high school in Wayne.

Main Street Focus

By Leo Ahmann

A very important week is taking place for Main Street Wayne. Our Annual Meeting took place on Tuesday.

One of the important items on the agenda was the election of three new officers to our Board of Directors. Congratulations to Kevin Hoffart of the Bank of Norfolk, Randy Pedersen of The Diamond Center and Nana Peterson of Antiques on Main.

Two new chairpersons were also announced. Amy Schweers of Stoltenberg Partners was named the years before Main Street officially opened its doors in April 1999.

Last week, I indicated that I would visit with you about each of our committees, which make up the foundation of our Program.

The first committee I'll tell you about is our Organization Committee. Its title is somewhat self-explanatory.

The Organization Committee helps build consensus and cooperation between many groups playing roles in downtown and within the Program itself. Sandra Bartling is the out-going chairperson. Working with her this past year on the Committee were Amy Schweers and Vicki Pick.

In the year 2000 their work included organizing, managing and conducting the yearly fundraising campaign, assisting the Office Manager in the managing of the volunteers, working with the Promotions Committee in their endeavors and assisting when needed with the managing of the Program's finances.

Much of their tireless efforts included the preparation of Main Street's adopted by-laws and assisting in honoring all of the volunteers during National Volunteer Week.

Many individuals and organizations have a state in Wayne and the Organization Committee makes every effort to see that they are addressed within the Main Street Program framework.

I had hoped to talk about the other committees this week as well, but like a microphone in front of an Ahmann is dangerous, so is a word processor.

Next week, read here about our Promotions Committee and the numerous successful events they sponsored in 2000. The Promotions Committee is also excited that they will be hosting Henoween this year.

It's always good to hear from you, because Main Street Wayne is your program. Call us at 375-5062, write us at P.O. Box 43 or e-mail us at mainstreetwayne@midlands.net

Until next week...

The evolution of cultural relationships can be a fascinating element of history.

Few are more fascinating, in several contexts, than that of Native Americans and the majority society.

Indians are in the news around and about Nebraska these days; more so than they have been since the "Indian bones bill" was enacted years ago.

The current issues don't involve white folks digging up or hoarding the remains of Native Americans or the property of the latter's ancestors.

It has to do with Native Americans getting a dose of that good 'ol Yankee entrepreneurial spirit; just a teeny, tiny bit of the type exhibited by such American heroes as John D. Rockefeller, and folks who run casinos in Las Vegas.

Nebraska has battled successfully in court against tribes that want to run casino-style gambling operations on tribal reservation property. Now, this correspondent is in no way a fan of organized gambling. It's just dumb. Even Meyer Lansky would tell people that the best odds you could get in gaming were about 17-to-1 against you, at a blackjack table.

The bothersome thing is that there are elements of this continuing story that tend to remind a person of those old Hollywood flicks wherein the Indians get the dirty end of the stick. Kick 'em out of the Black Hills because we'll be damned if they should have the gold. Kick 'em off their farms in the south and move them to Oklahoma, and worse, because we (Andrew Jackson in particular) will be damned if they should have that good farmland.

We watched those movies as kids and thought: "Geef! How could we do that? I'm glad things aren't like that now boy!"

And now comes the issue of the Winnebago tribe selling gasoline. Gasoline that doesn't include Nebraska's considerable tax on motor vehicle fuels. We're talking bargain prices here folks. We're talking motorists who are red, white and otherwise, lining up as if there were a land grab on the horizon.

Understandably, those hurt by competition from the Indian gasoline sales are angry. They think it's unfair that "Indian gasoline" can be sold at less cost because of a tax break. We have admiration for those who make a living running small businesses - but this is not the issue. At least, not the one being discussed in this column.

The issue, or question, is quite different. The issue is, why shouldn't a tribe or tribes be able to use every tax advantage they can get? Nebraska gives tax advantages to various private enterprises, especially those big ones, like ConAgra and IBP. A whole passel of states use "tax incentives" to encourage business to do business. The merit in such programs is a matter of continuing debate, but the incentives or giveaways or whatever you want to call them, are up and running at full steam.

There is a possibility that the Indian enterprise involving gasoline could eventually run afoul of an interpretation of rules regarding whether their gasoline is eligible for the break on state taxes.

It is unfortunate that, if the deal works out against the Indians, the decision will always have a stigma attached to it. The one represented in those old movies. The one that left kids asking: "Do the Indians ever win when a treaty is interpreted?"

It is also understandable that some people, particularly Indian people, would wonder if rules and regs would be interpreted the same way if their tribal name included "Exxon" or "Mobile" or "Shell," or something.

new Organization Committee chairperson and Julie Hansen of KTCH radio is the new Promotions Committee chairperson.

All of the positions are effective immediately.

Three Board members are stepping down. They include Sandra Bartling, Tony Kochenash and Gary Van Meter. Each of these individuals was instrumental in the initiation and implementation of the Main Street Wayne Program.

Thank you to each of these dedicated individuals who worked very hard to establish Main Street's community success. Sandra was co-chairperson of the Program, as well as the chair of the Organization Committee. Tony was the chairperson of a very active Promotion Committee while Gary remains the co-chair of the Design Committee.

It would have been interesting to have kept the total of the number of volunteer hours they dedicated to the Program and the number of hours that they contributed many

Urge council members to act

Dear Editor,

Having served on the City Council for 12 years, and fully intending to run for that office again sometime in the future, I can't help but be interested in what happens at meetings. There is a "little" issue going on now that needs to be resolved quickly before it gets in the way of the major decisions. It seems that certain council representative(s) are concerned with the image that council "always votes 'yes,'" something I myself heard many times in the past.

These concerned council representatives should demonstrate their expertise by explaining that in parliamentary matters, it is only possible to vote 'yes' or 'no' and that an efficient system frames all questions for vote in one way or another. Our council, like most organizations, has framed all proposals so that 'yes' implies action to be taken or changed, 'no' implies disagreement.

Some council members, knowing that the majority of matters are simple issues (which have almost always been previously reviewed) simply leave their switch in one position and move it when needed. As individual council members, they could simply place their voting switch in the neutral position, and then move the switch for each action. Some do that already. Of course, this would be of no value to their public image because no one would know that they were adjusting the switch to 'yes' or 'no' for each action.

Instead of offering this simple explanation to their constituents, the solution of one of the council representatives is to order new switches that would make the physical motions of voting more visible to the public.

Two weeks ago, the council tried a different approach to the voting question and it resulted in minor chaos. When the council decided to resolve the immediate problem for that evening by continuing as before, one of the senior council representatives was offended and refused to vote the remainder of the evening to show his protest. (As a member of that representative's ward, I am disappointed in my lack of representation because of sheer stubbornness).

I urge the responsible council representatives to not waste the time nor money on a matter that was brought up merely to enhance the public image of one or two council representatives. There are more important things to do, and one of them is actually voting on more pertinent matters.

Named to UN-K dean's list

Julie Becker, Ross Gardner, and Katie Hoffman, all of Wakefield; Ezechiel Brummels, Aaron Hoffman, and Aaron Lessmann, all of Winside; Elizabeth Sohler of Laurel; and Wendi Schroeder of Allen, were named to the dean's list at the University of Nebraska at Kearney for the fall 2000 semester. To earn a place on the dean's list, university students must complete 12 hours or more (for which quality points are rewarded) with a grade point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale. Students earn a 4.0 for an "A," a 3.0 for a "B," and a 2.0 for a "C." Courses taken on a credit/no credit basis cannot be included among the necessary 12 credit hours, because quality points—A,B,C,—are not awarded.

Students who earned a 4.0 (straight A's) average are noted by an asterisk after their names. In recognition of their academic achievements, students will receive a dean's list certificate with their respective deans.

Land valuation and other bills explained

for Cedar County dryland cropland. He cautioned that a market derived capitalization rate would change from year to year and that even modest changes could significantly impact the computations of assessed values.

Additionally, he warned that geographic areas would be treated differently, which could create border differences.

Other bills heard before the Revenue Committee would reduce the value of agricultural land for state aid purposes only; cap agricultural land valuation at 50% of market value instead of the current 80%; lower the value of farm sites to 80% of market value; ignore sales at more than 150% of value from the market-based system when comparing sales in a county for assessment purposes; and create a formula for determining an economic value for agricultural land.

Since the agricultural valuation system assigns an assessed value to $30 billion of agricultural land, from which over $300 million of taxes are collected annually, this issue must be thoroughly discussed and the ramifications understood before a course of action is taken.

A constitutional amendment was introduced again this year that would allow the voters of Nebraska to determine whether there should be casino gambling on Indian reservation lands. Years ago, treaties were signed by the Indian tribes and the United States government, guaranteeing the Indian's right to govern themselves.

Under state statutes and pursuant to the federal Indian Gaming Regulatory Act, if a request is made for gaming on reservation land, the governor is to negotiate with the Indian tribe in good faith for the purposes of entering into a tribal-state compact governing the conduct of Class III gaming.

Nebraska officials argue casino gambling is not allowed in the state, but Indian tribes feel that state officials have not negotiated a contract in good faith. This explains why the constitutional amendment was introduced. I support giving Nebraskans the chance to vote on this issue.

This past week I met with Judy Mischke, the Green Thumb representative for Northeast Nebraska. Green Thumb helps individuals 55 years of age and older find employment. Through the Senior Community Service Employment Program, Green Thumb participants can help nonprofit corporations and government-funded businesses and agencies with such things as office, janitorial and kitchen duties.

Green Thumb pays the wages and workers compensation insurance for these individuals. If a business wants to hire one of the participants, Green Thumb may be able to reimburse the business for part of the training expense. If you are interested in receiving more information on this program, please contact Ms. Mischke at (402) 371-5438.

I encourage you to contact my office with your opinion on the agricultural land valuation bills or on any other legislative bill that has been introduced.

My telephone number is (402) 471-2801, my e-mail address is dcunningham@unicam.state.ne.us and my mailing address is Senator Doug Cunningham, District #18, P.O. Box 94604, State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509.

Extravaganza slated

The Wayne State College Aristocat Dance Squad has invited the public to attend an Extravaganza which is being held Sunday, Feb. 18 from 1 to 3 p.m. in Rice Auditorium. The dancers plan to raise money this year for a disease called Primary Sclerosing Cholangitis, which is a non-specific inflammation of the biliary (liver secretion) ducts. This disease affects one out of every 10,000 people and is very uncommon in children. The Dance Squad will be accepting free-will donations for Jeanette Paulson, a student at WSC who is currently fighting this disease. She is one of the 154 Nebraskans waiting for a liver transplant.

Herbs for Health

Older Antidepressants Often as Effective as Newer, Costlier Ones

According to new guidelines from the American College of Physicians - American Society of Internal Medicine, both newer and traditional antidepressant medicines are equally effective for many persons with depression. Older medicines typically are in the class termed tricyclics (e.g., Tofranil, Elavil). The newer agents include selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors, or SSRIs (e.g., Paxil, Zoloft, Prozac).

The major difference cited between tricyclics and SSRIs are side effects. SSRIs are more likely to cause diarrhea, nausea, headache, and sleeping difficulties. Tricyclics are more likely to cause blurred vision, constipation, dizziness, dry mouth, and tremors. Interestingly, according to the new guidelines it is noted that St. John's wort may be effective against mild depression, at least on a short-term basis.

'Cats end nation's longest win streak held by Southwest State WSC men topple NSIC leaders

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Wayne State point guard Brad Manley has made his trademark with tenacious, in your face defense.

Last Saturday night in Rice Auditorium Manley scored a career high 19 points in helping Wayne State upend Southwest State, 86-78.

The Mustangs had the nation's longest win streak in Division II snapped at 17 and it was their first loss in NSIC play this season.

Still, despite Manley's 19 points it was his defense that may have sealed the deal for the win.

WSC led 80-78 with 51 seconds left after a free throw by Nathan Mulder.

On the ensuing in-bounds pass from Southwest State Manley stepped up and stole the ball and took some valuable time off the clock before being fouled and converting free throws.

WSC used an 11-0 run midway through the first half to build a 38-24 lead only to have Southwest State cut it to seven at 38-31.

The first half ended in a frenzy as WSC used a 10-2 advantage to lead 48-33.

Manley used his defensive prowess to force a turnover with just a few seconds left in the half and Brad Joens took advantage with a 30-footer at the buzzer to give the 'Cats a 15-point cushion.

Joens had a four-minute stretch in the first half where he scored 11 straight points.

In the second half Southwest State managed to trim the lead and eventually tied the score at 76 with 1:38 remaining.

Nine of WSC's final 11 points came from the charity stripe including seven straight made free throws to close out the game.

Manley's old-fashioned three-pointer put WSC ahead, 79-76 at the 1:08 mark.

"I honestly feel that you will play as you practice and we had a great week of practice," coach Rico Burkett said. "We were embarrassed with our showing at Southwest State and our four seniors played with a lot of fire, desire and heart." Burkett said his team did a good job of paying attention to detail.

WSC had five players in double figures with Brad Joens, Jason Herlitzke and Brad Manley knocking down 19 points each while Nathan Mulder poured in 15 and Kevin Lingenfelter, 12.

WSC was out-rebounded, 39-31 with Lingenfelter and Todd Klostermann notching six caroms each.

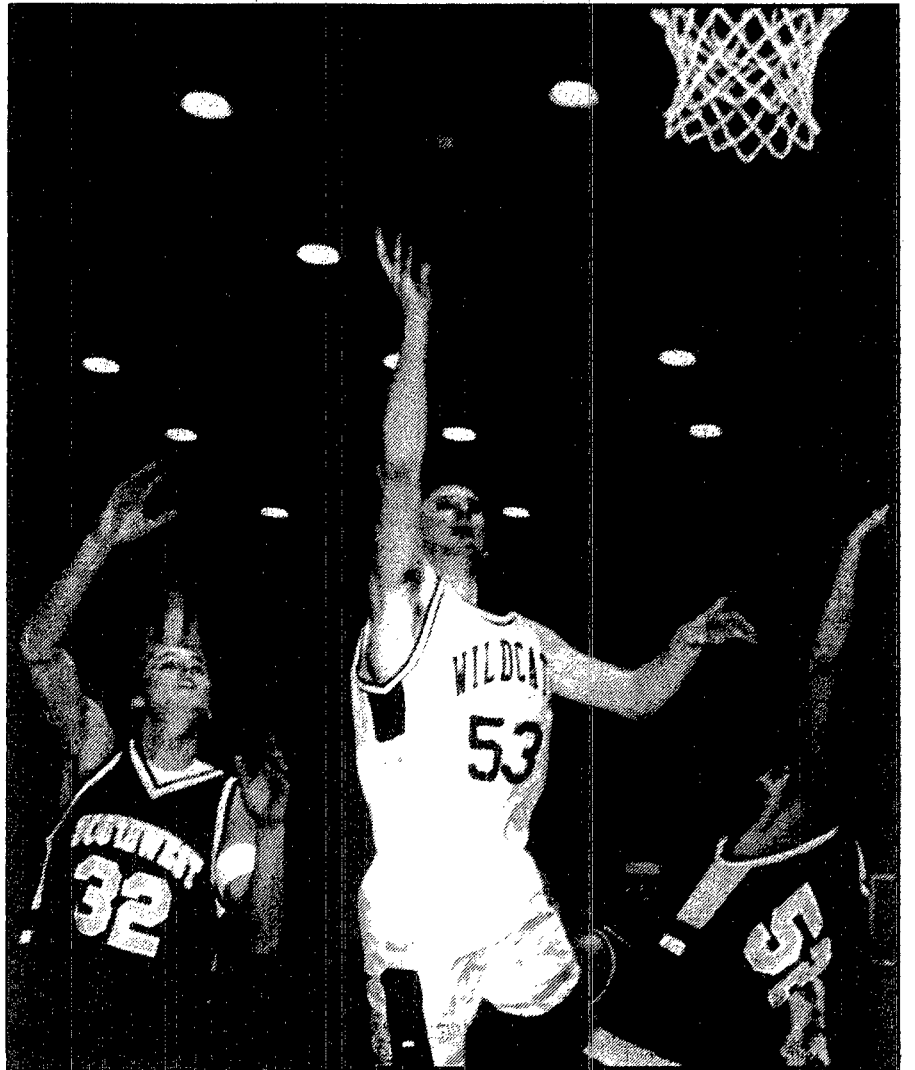

Manley dished out a team-high five assists and notched three steals.

The 'Cats improved to 11-13 overall and 9-5 in NSIC play where they are in fourth place with four games remaining.

WSC will host Minnesota-Crookston on Friday and Minnesota State Moorhead on Saturday in the final regular season games at home.

Lynn's comments, "I have been very happy with my season so far. I am looking forward to being able to compete at State Tournament."

Eight grapplers state bound; Sok earns coach of the year honors Winside wrestlers win D-2 Districts

Paul Sok's Winside wrestling team rose to the top of the field in last weekend's D-2 District Wrestling Tournament in Elgin.

The Wildcats were crowned district champs in the 16-team field and Sok copped District Coach of the Year honors as well.

Winside racked up 155.5 points with Newman Grove netting runner-up honors with 138 points.

Howells was third with 129 and Pope John finished fourth with 112.5. Greeley rounded out the top five teams with 96 points while Humphrey St. Francis scored 88 and Sargent, 78.

Osmond was eighth at 60 points and Randolph finished ninth with 55.5 followed by Clearwater, Burwell, Rock County, Ponca, Scribner/Snyder, Elgin/Petersburg and Cedar Rapids.

Eight Winside wrestlers earned a trip to this week's Nebraska State Wrestling Tournament.

The Wildcats had three district champs as junior Jared Jaeger at 112, senior Eric Vanosdall at 160 and senior Nathan Suehl at 171 captured top honors.

Jaeger won a 4-2 decision from Matt Kester of Clearwater in the finals and will take a 27-7 record to Lincoln.

Vanosdall improved to 33-2 and defeated Alag Anderson of St. Francis, 10-5 in the finals.

Suehl improved his season record to 30-4 with a 15-10 decision of Brandon Bostwick of Ponca in the finals.

Brandon Suehl placed runner-up at 103 pounds as the sophomore fell to Chris Dostal of Howells in the finals. Suehl is 19-8 on the year.

The Cinderella story came from heavyweight Mike Tomasek who placed second at 275.

Tomasek, just a sophomore will take a 11-12 record to State after falling to Kellen Habben of Newman Grove in the finals.

Travis Koll placed third at 125, winning a 6-2 decision from Dan Pelster of Pope John in the consolation finals. Koll, a sophomore will take a 24-5 record to Lincoln.

Justin Koch finished third at districts at 140 pounds as the senior defeated pinned Tyler Bouy of Rock County in the third place match.

Koch is 24-8 on the season.

Tom Schwedhelm placed fourth at 189 pounds. The sophomore yields a 28-9 record and lost a 3-1 overtime decision to Jared Thompson of Newman Grove in the third place match.

"I thought we had a pretty good district, showing," Sok said. "I thought Josh Sok and Eric Morris caught a little bit of the freshman jitters." (Both wrestlers were seeded in the top four but were upset).

Sok said Jared Jaeger was very focused and actually dominated his weight class.

"Travis Koll had a super meet with his only loss coming against the third ranked Zurek from Sargent," Sok said. "That match ended at 4-3."

Sok said Vanosdall and Suehl dominated their weight classes and Tom Schwedhelm had to overcome an extremely tough weight class to qualify for State in fourth place.

Winside's first round matches at state will be as follows:

Brandon Suehl vs. Matt White of Elwood.

Jared Jaeger vs. Austin Garbers of Palmer.

Travis Koll vs. Wyatt Westberg of Shelton.

The Allen girls and boys basketball teams swept Beemer last Saturday with Lori Koester's girls winning by a 53-38 margin while Dave Uldrich's boys captured a 54-39 win.

In the girls contest Allen led 22-21 at the half and took a 38-30 lead to the fourth quarter.

The Allen boys sprinted to a 10-0 lead in the first quarter and then kept the Bobcats at bay as they posted a 15 point win, 54-39.

Allen is just one win from posting the school's best record in 16 years and they will look to do just that on Friday when they visit Winnebago.

Micky Oldenkamp led the winners with 16 points with Brett Keitges adding 12. Corey Uldrich and Bart Sachau scored eight each and Bryan Gotch along with Lyle Rahn added four apiece while Justin Warner netted two.

Women drop 88-65 tilt to Southwest State WSC loses to NSIC leaders

The Wayne State women's team was upended by NSIC league leading Southwest State last Saturday night in Rice Auditorium, 88-65.

The visitors converted 63 percent of their shots from the floor and 67 percent from three-point range, hitting six-of-nine attempts from bonus range. The Mustangs led 49-33 at the intermission.

"You have to give Southwest State credit because they played a great game," Williams said. "They made some great plays and we might have got a little bit rattled when they took a good sized lead."

Krista Bernadt led the 'Cats with 15 points with Karen Hochstein adding 14 and Christi Williams, 12.

Southwest State also won the boards battle, 36-28 with Bernadt, Hochstein and Maranda Radke each netting six caroms.

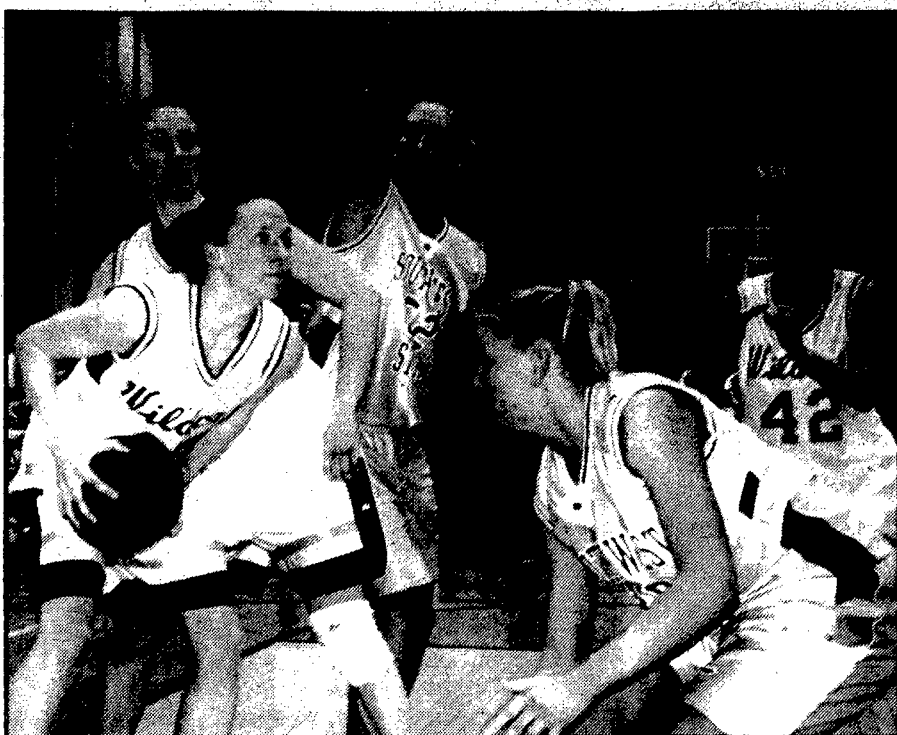

WSC slipped to 15-6 overall and the 'Cats maintain a 10-4 mark in NSIC play with four games remaining.

Sub-districts begin with victories for four area squads

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Sub-district basketball action got underway early this week as all five Wayne Herald teams completed first round action.

In Class C-1, top-seeded Wayne got past a stubborn Crofton team, 36-31 in Randolph.

The game was tied at 18 at the half and the teams were knotted at 27 heading to the fourth quarter.

Wayne junior April Thede hit a jumper at the 2:05 mark of the final period to put the Blue Devils ahead for the first time at 30-29.

Senior Amanda Maryott sank a 15-footer to give Wayne a three point lead with under two minutes to go to secure the win.

"Offensively we couldn't put the ball in the basket, shooting just 27 percent," coach John McClarnen said. "We moved the ball around well and got a lot of open looks but struggled to convert."

Leah Dunklau scored 12 points to lead Wayne with Amanda Maryott and April Thede adding eight each. Katie Walton, Amy Harder and Lindsay Stoltenberg scored two apiece.

Wayne will face Pierce in the Sub-district finals on Thursday at 7 p.m. in Randolph.

WINSIDE'S GIRLS downed Wakefield in C-2 Sub-district action at Northeast Community College, 39-32.

Marlon Erbst's team improved to 14-7 and finished the season with a 2-1 record over the Trojans.

Winside held a 20-14 halftime lead. The game was 32-30 in Winside's favor with under two minutes to go.

"Our defense set the tone and was the difference in the outcome," Erbst said. "We shut down their leading scorer Timarie Bebee and offensively, Julie Jacobsen had an outstanding game."

The Winside junior poured in 25 points for the winners with Jessica Wade adding five and Heather Rabe, four. Kim Nathan and Jennie Cleveland scored two points each.

Megan Brown paced Wakefield with 12 points with Bebee adding eight and Traci Lueth, six. Elisabeth Zulkosky, Nicole Jensen and Kayla Erwin added two each.

'Cats ink grid recruits

A total of 12 players signed national letters of intent to attend Wayne State College and play football for the Wildcats, WSC head football coach Scott Hoffman announced.

The 2001 recruiting class consists of 10 high school players and two Morningside college transfers.

"Our No. 1 goal this recruiting season was to increase our depth," Hoffman said. "We feel we accomplished that. This is a very athletic class, which is exciting. We got some good local talent and also tapped into other resources that had good talent as well."

Coach Hoffman says, "We recruited a lot of lineman, on both sides of the ball, we got some kids that can fill some gaps in those areas."

"Joe Litel and Clyde Soapmann possess the physical skills to be an impact lineman," says coach Hoffman. "Joe Ortiz comes from a state championship team from Lincoln Southeast."

"There is a lot of local talent around Wayne, we got some good kids that will either help us immediately or in the near future," says coach Hoffman. "Jeremy Kuiper, has a lot of ability, Dustin Wade, Brian Messenger and Jon Erwin are three local kids that will give us some good looks at different positions."

"The two Morningside transfers will fill some immediate needs for us," says Head Coach Scott Hoffman.

Hoffman said he hopes to sign three or four more players in the near future to help fill some more gaps lost by graduation.

Last season, the Wildcats went 2-8 in Hoffman's first season as the head coach at Wayne State College.

Following is a list of players who signed letters of intent with Wayne State on Wednesday.

The Wildcats will face Laurel-Concord in the Sub-district final on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

That's because Susie Koranda's Bears defeated Wisner-Pilger, 52-34 in the other Sub-district game in Norfolk.

Laurel-Concord sprinted to a 36-16 halftime lead and maintained a comfortable lead throughout the second half.

"We came out and executed well in the first half," Koranda said. "We forced Wisner into 30 turnovers for the game and we overcame adjustments to our lineup because of illness.

Stewart finished with 10 steals and six rebounds while Schroeder had seven rebounds. Peters dished out four assists.

in D-2 Sub-district action in Wakefield on Monday.

Lori Koester's team got 19 points and 13 rebounds from Angela Prochaska including 17 points in the second half after Allen was trailing, 25-20.

"This was just a tremendous win for us," Koester said. "Our girls stepped up and met the challenge with a lot of heart."

Koester said the goal was to play aggressive on defense with out getting in to foul trouble.

It worked as Allen allowed Newcastle just five free throws on the night.

"Melissa Wilmes did a terrific job of running our offense and controlling the tempo of the game," Koester said.

Wilmes finished with 14 points and seven rebounds along with six steals and four assists.

Michelle Marks had 12 points and seven caroms and Elizabeth Bock scored three points with Alicia Liebsch adding two.

Allen will play Wynot in the Sub-district finals on Thursday in Wakefield.

WSC tracksters place at Dordt

The Wayne State College track teams competed at the Dordt Defender Gold Invitational held at Dordt College in Sioux Center, Iowa. A total of 10 teams competed in the meet.

Sophomore Traci Bernecker had one of her best days of the indoor season. She started the day by placing third in the 55-meter dash in a time of 7.50 seconds. She followed that with another third place finish in the 200-meter dash in a time of 26.58 seconds. Her time shattered the precious Wayne State College record set last year by Aisha Todd at 26.97.

"Traci had a terrific day. She is performing very consistently right now and is ranked second in both the 55-meter and 200-meter dashes in the NSIC. I think she will really have a big day in a couple weeks at the conference meet," stated head coach Marlon Brink.

Sophomore April Sachau also had a very good day. She placed third in the 3000-meter run in a career best time of 11:19.67. She completed her day by running a seasons-best time in the mile of 5:47.81, which was good for seventh place. "April is continuing to make big improvements. She dropped almost 12 seconds off of her career best in the 300-meter run," stated Brink.

Other Wildcat women who placed were: Tracie Fehringer-fourth in the shot put with a toss of 38' 10", and Jamie Seier-sixth in the triple jump.

The Wildcat men had a very good day with over a dozen top six finishes in various events. Leading the way for the men was Joe De Mill who placed second in the pole vault with a mark of 13'6". Teammate Johnnie Ostermeyer also vaulted 13'6", but was third place based on the number of misses.

Senior Matt Kneiff placed second in the 55-meter hurdles in a time of 7.75 seconds. Kneiff is currently ranked seventh in NCAA Division II in the 55-meter hurdles.

Andy Tucknott, a junior, placed third in the 3000-meter run in a career best time of 9:07.36. James Bruhn, also a junior, placed fifth in the 800-meter run in a season best time of 1:59.58. "Andy and James both turned in solid performances. They will both be strong contenders at the NSIC meet," noted Brink.

The Wildcats made a strong showing in the high jump with three athletes placing in the top eight. Jason Kneiff, a junior, placed fourth with a jump of 6'4". Sophomore Shannon Schumacher also jumped the same height, but had more misses for fifth place. Justin Burhoop, a quarterback on the WSC football team, placed eighth with a jump of 6'2".

in the relays, the Wildcat four-some of Matt Rosauer, Dana Rider, Dustin Lippman, and Nick Hansen placed fourth in the 4x800 meter relay with a time of 8:28.36. The 4x400 meter relay of Matt Kneiff, Andy Schmoldt, Jesse Slaymaker, and Lee Roden placed sixth in a time of 3:33.08.

Freshman Eric Havranek picked up places in the long and triple jumps. He placed fifth in the triple jump with a mark of 43'4", which just edged out WSC sophomore Dave Dooley who was sixth at 43'2". In the long jump, Havranek took sixth with a mark of 20'6".

"This was a good meet to build our teams confidence. We are nearing the end of the indoor season, so we are looking for athletes to be reaching their peak performances. I think in most cases we are seeing the marks indicate that we are making positive progress in that goal," stated Brink.

Laurel-Concord Bears beat Neligh-Oakdale

ITEMS TO RECYCLE

The fifth grade is busy organizing eight new businesses to go into production for the annual business fair held during Institute week.

In order to be environmentally friendly, and recycle products, the students are seeking donations of various items to make into useful gift items or for people's own use and enjoyment.

These donated items may be left at the elementary office or call 287-9892 and arrangements will be made to pick up items.

In order to organize their businesses, the fifth graders have already created prototypes, conducted an interest survey, completed analysis and applied for a bank loan. The eight unique businesses have been named.

Sandy Dandy Candles (lovely, layered sand candles); Colorful Cards (marbled greeting cards); Switch It (hand printed light switch covers); Jazzy Jars (sponge painted storage jars); Pencil Pizzazz (colorful pencils and outrageous bookmarks); SP-OTS (unique sponge painted flower pots); Box-O-Rama (cleverly crafted gift boxes); Soaptacular (silky scented soaps and soap dishes).

The Wakefield Institute has been scheduled for March 19-23.

Desiree is currently a landscape architect at RTKL Associates in Washington, DC. Her mother said she developed the plan for a contest while a student at K-State with the assistance of two other students and her faculty advisor. Her design won the contest and now has been published.

The design printed from different perspectives appears to reflect the fact that Desiree also studied landscape design in Italy. If interested in seeing the digital computer generated design, the magazine has a website: land-forum.com, the issue of the magazine is 06.

The following is what Desiree wrote about her landscape explorations design:

Within this increasingly complex and diverse world of digital fantasy and technological intrusion, the need of humans to connect with other personalities through designed environments is ever more important.

This project is a personal exploration into ways of incorporating meaning into unrealized and realized designs. It seeks ways to manifest meaning into the designed landscapes of tomorrow based on the connections we hold to the landscapes of yesterday. It is a metaphysical oasis, using objects to uncover the most memorable landscape connections within my life.

In abstract terms, it explores the changing relationships inherent between object-within-space consuming an object-connected-to-place. Computer-generated graphics have been employed as a vital component of the design process, opening up a dialog between tool and designer.

While this project remains an un-built entity, it defies the normal supposition. It does exist within two areas, my mind and the digital world. The abstract scenario of object within space-connected-to-place becomes reversed; Object-within-space consumes object-connected-to-place.

Elements of the design, the designed landscape reflects a theatrical formation of an ancient amphitheater built not of stone but of earthen embankments protecting a metaphysical oasis. Within this oasis lies an ancient Roman ball court containing interactive Roman playing balls (connective spheres) that are wrapped with images taken of the landscapes of my life.

Interaction with the landscapes of my life is demanded through usage of these connective spheres, resulting in personal connection made to the important landscapes of my life. Spatial and temporal orientation is experienced through solar positioning at the exact location of my birth, while entrances to the landscape entire lie within narrow slices of the embankments indicative of the four cardinal points.

Four sections of the atrial landscape symbolize the past, present and future periods of my life. The northeast section portrays birth and early childhood; the southeast, teenage years; the southwest, collegiate years; and finally, the northwest expresses a future professional period of my life. Within each of these four sections exist vegetative abstractions of similar purpose to the connective spheres of Roman playing balls.

These abstractions contain images of other landscapes-connections to other landscape places experienced during the section's time period. The classical columns found within the central theater and along the highest embankment areas represent a powerful minimalist response to post modern design tendencies stemming from my reaction to traditional architectural education. They reveal a sense of time and eliminate the interpretation of this project as only an experiment in virtual abstraction.

The Principal's Office

by Dr. Don Zeiss, Wayne High Principal Nebraska Humanities Council Speaker to present program

Richard Kimbrough will present a program titled "From Every Land" on Wednesday, Feb. 28 to juniors at Wayne High School.

This presentation is made possible by the Nebraska Humanities Council and Wayne High School as part of the NHC's Speakers Bureau.

Mr. Kimbrough has considerable experience working with people from many cultures. In addition to presently teaching part-time at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where there are many international students, and Doane College, home of the Midwest Language Institute, which attracts students from all over the world. He has taught in inner-city schools in California, in the former Soviet Union and in small Nebraska rural schools.

The program "From Every Land" is presented through The Nebraska Humanities Council. It is based on his book, "The Outsiders," co-authored by Mourtazo Chadyev from the former Soviet Union and examines the challenges and opportunities found by people of "other cultures" who have come to Nebraska. While the program is amusing in parts — such as when discussing the language errors made by anyone speaking a non-native language — it is essentially a program designed to attune students to cultures not their own and to assist them in learning to understand, respect and deal with non-native cultures.

Many cultural similarities and differences are examined: food preferences, what sports are played, what music is enjoyed, marriage and dating customs, learning a new language, etc.

A number of "immigrants" are featured in the presentation including: Arturo Coto who went from being Minister of Health in El Salvador to hoeing beans in Dix, Nebraska; Tuan, one of the last South Vietnamese to escape Saigon when the Americans left; Leona Bullock who went from being a back room laundress to becoming one of the nation's leading civil rights advocates; and Leon Yellow Cloud whose life was saved by a little girl who cared about him.

"From Every Land" is one of more than 300 programs offered through the Nebraska Humanities Council Speakers' Bureau. The more than 180 available speakers include acclaimed scholars, writers, musicians, storytellers and folklorists on topics ranging from pioneer heritage to ethics and law to international and multicultural issues, making it the largest humanities speakers bureau in the nation.

Take emergency training

Brent Doring, Shawn Percy, and Ron Wriedt, all of Wayne, recently completed an Emergency Vehicle Operator Training (EVOT) course through the Nebraska Safety Center at the University of Nebraska at Kearney.

Jeanne Allemann, Erin Arneson, Jeff Ensz, Gregory Schardt, and Eric Shapiro, all of Wayne, are among 403 high school seniors who have been admitted into the first round of the admissions process for the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Honors Program.

Admission to the University Honors Program is by application only and admitted students represent roughly the top 10 percent of the freshman class at Nebraska. Membership in the honors program includes a textbook scholarship that covers the full cost of all required textbooks for up to four years.

To graduate from the program, students must earn a total of 24 credit hours in honors courses with a grade of B or better, including an honors research or creative project such as a thesis; and maintain a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.5 (on a 4-point scale).

Honors classes are the heart of the Honors Program, stressing critical thinking and encouraging students to challenge interpretations and explore issues from a variety of perspectives. The classes are small, averaging 18 students, and are taught by senior faculty and noted researchers.

The 403 students newly-admitted for the 2001-02 academic year include those who applied before the early notification deadline of Nov. 15. Of the 403, 276 are from Nebraska high schools with the remainder attending high schools in 12 other states. An additional, smaller group of students will be admitted to the expanded program following the March 1 final application deadline.

Vaccine available for pneumococcal disease at nearby immunization clinics

Pneumococcal disease is a serious disease that causes sickness and death. It is responsible for approximately 200 deaths each year among children under five years old.

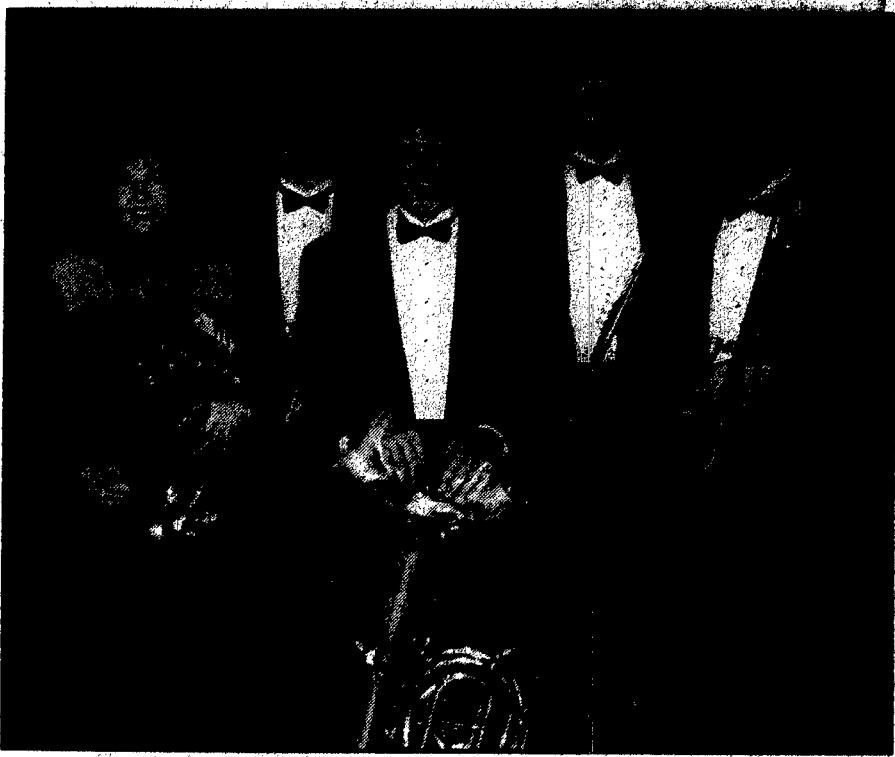

The disease is the leading cause of bacterial meningitis in the United States and may also be the cause of blood and ear infections.

Immunization clinics sponsored by Goldenrod Hills Community Services are now offering pneumococcal conjugate vaccine (Prevnar) which can prevent pneumococcal disease. According to information from the Nebraska Health and Human Services System, children under two years of age should receive four doses of the vaccine. It is recommended for children between two and five years of age who have sickle cell disease, have a damaged spleen, have HIV/AIDS, have diseases that affect the immune system such as diabetes or cancer or take medications that affect the immune system such as chemotherapy or steroids.

Children who are eligible to receive the vaccine are those whose medical insurance does not cover vaccinations, children with no insurance, Native American children and children served by Medicaid or Kids Connection. Goldenrod Hills Immunization clinics also provide other vaccinations for which there are no income guidelines. These include measles, mumps, rubella, polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (Whooping cough), varicella (chickenpox), hepatitis b and Haemophilus Influenza Type b (Hib). A $10 administration fee is requested per child; however, no one is denied immunization for inability to pay.

Goldenrod Hills Immunization clinics are held on a rotating monthly schedule, at specific locations on during the month.

- They include:
- Dixon County — Ponca Fire Hall, the second Tuesday of the month and Wakefield Family Resource Center in Wakefield, the fourth Tuesday of the month and
  - Wayne County — First United Methodist Church in Wayne, the third Thursday of the month.
- To make an appointment for vaccinations or for more information, contact Anita Ludwig at (402) 529-3513 or 1-800-445-2505, extension 30.

Winter driving tips given

Snow, sleet, ice and extremely cold weather can lead to slower traffic, hazardous road conditions and other unforeseen dangers. The Nebraska Safety Council offers these suggestions to ensure that motorists and their vehicles are prepared to handle these dangerous, frigid winter road conditions.

- *Always listen to the radio or TV weather forecasts for weather, road and traffic conditions.
- *Prepare your car for winter.
- *Always keep a properly inflated spare tire, wheel wrench and tripod-type jack, a shovel, jumper cables, tow and tire chains, a bag of salt or cat litter, and a tool kit in your truck.
- *Each year you should prepare for winter weather conditions by keeping a winter survival kit in your vehicle. This kit should include emergency supplies should you get stranded or stuck.
- *If your plan to drive long distances under cold, snowy, and icy conditions, you should carry heavy woolen mittens, socks, a cap or blanket. Newspapers can be wrapped around your torso and feet to keep you warm. Large plastic leaf bags with holes in for your head and arms can keep you dry.
- *If you become stranded, don't leave your car unless you know exactly where you are, how far it is to get help, and are certain you will improve your situation. To attract attention, light two flares and place one at each end of your car a safe distance away. Hang a brightly colored cloth from your antenna. If you are sure the car's exhaust pipe is not blocked, run the engine and heater for about 10 minutes every hour or so depending upon the amount of gas in the tank. To protect yourself from frostbite and hypothermia, use the woolen items, blanket, newspapers, and large bags to keep warm.

*Keep at least one window open slightly. Heat, snow and ice can seal a car shut.

*If your car gets stuck in a snow bank, or on ice or in a snow-melted mud hole, don't spin your wheels as you will only dig in deeper.

*On ice and snow, use easy gradual foot pressure to accelerate. Gently rock the car forward and backward while keeping the front wheels pointed straight ahead.

*In snow and mud, it is best to use a shovel to clear a path, but you can also turn the steering wheel from side to side to clear a space ahead of the front wheels. Then, shift into second gear and gently ease out without spinning the wheels.

*The Nebraska Safety Council has a winter survival kit available for purchase. Some of the items included in the Council's famous "Blizzard Bucket" are a plastic bag, candle, blanket, energy bars, first aid supplies, a "Call Police Sign," etc.

To order your bucket or for more information call (402) 483-2581.

Erma Johnson becomes bride of Matthew Leonard

Erma Ruth Johnson of Bridgeport and Matthew Mark Leonard of Bayard were married Dec. 30, 2000 at All Souls Catholic Church in Bridgeport.

Fr. Christopher Keith and Rev. James Leslie Kidd officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Craig and Erma Johnson of Bridgeport and Mark and Sherree Leonard of Bayard.

Special guests were the couple's grandparents, Art and Erma Baker of Wayne, Dean and Jeanne Johnson of Alma and Jerry and Norma Hendon of Brule.

Musical selections included "I Will Be Here" played during the lighting of the unity candle.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white, floor-length satin gown. It had lace, pearls and sequins and featured an off-the-shoulder bodice with lace pearl and sequin appliques on the skirt.

After serving 11 years in Waterloo, Wis., Pastor Todd Thelen has assumed a new position as pastor of the Evangelical Free Church in Concord.

Thelen, 36, along with his wife Tammy, and three daughters, Tressa, 16, Terra, 14, and Tia, 13 arrived at their new home on Jan. 21, eager to meet their new congregation.

"I want to take a couple of months to get acquainted with my new flock and hopefully see those that have stopped coming (to church) and reach out to the whole community," said the pastor.

Pastor Thelen attended school at Maranatha Baptist Bible College, where he met his wife. The church in Concord is much as he expected it to be and is actually larger in attendance each Sunday than the one in Wisconsin.

"I want to keep the programs active that are already in place here at the church. My family and I want to also say thank-you to the many people who helped move us to Nebraska," he stated.

There were eight men from Concord who helped move the Thelens to their new home.

Being from the Cornhusker state is not a new experience to this Lincoln, Neb. native. His love for Nebraska football is evident as he proudly unzipped his coat to show his red sweater with a big "N" on the front.

"I have been driving from Wisconsin once a month to see a Nebraska game during football season," he stated. "I even have Nebraska license plates."

It was on a visit to the state that the pastor visited the District Representative and added his resume to the list of candidates who wanted to be called to the state.

Thelen's wife says this Nebraska thing has been a bit of a problem since coming to Concord as she could pick her husband out of a crowd in Wisconsin — not so her in Nebraska.

"When the men were helping us move, I kept seeing Nebraska gear and thinking it was Todd. I had to catch myself and think, no, that's someone else."

This pastor's wife is not a native herself, but says she has come to understand the "Nebraska" love for football.

The Thelens are in the process of unpacking and settling into their new home and have enrolled their daughters in the school in Laurel, where they are a junior, freshman and seventh grader.

Tressa has been active in volleyball, music and cheerleading; Terra in basketball, music and volleyball and Tia in volleyball, cheerleading and music. They hope to be able to pursue some of those interests as they begin their studies here.

Pastor Thelen assumed his new position on Jan. 28 when he was officially installed as pastor of the church.

Strength of America lies in helping rural communities

The face of rural America is changing, and the strength of communities is the key to helping rural areas thrive.

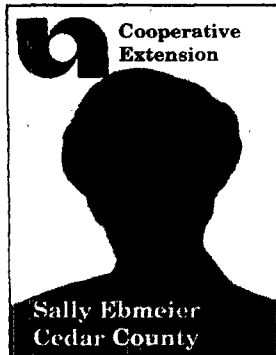

Although agriculture is a major industry in rural communities, most aren't entirely dependent on agriculture for economic support since 50 percent of farmers also earn income from off-farm jobs. Few producers farm full time.

Most rural Nebraska communities are maintaining or losing population, but other rural areas are experiencing major population and demographic shifts. Over 500,000 people moved to rural areas in the United States between 1995 and 1997. Most growth came from young families emigrating from urban to rural areas.

Nationally, rural America is becoming younger and more diverse as the population increases, even though generally this isn't the trend in Nebraska.

Long-standing issues continue to challenge rural areas. The rural work force has increased by more than 2 million and rural unemployment is the lowest since 1990. However, the economy is still dominated by low-wage industries that provided few benefits.

Poverty also is a problem in some rural areas. Rural areas have a poverty rate of 15.9 percent, compared to 12.6 percent in urban areas. Twenty-two percent of those receiving government assistance live in rural areas. As rural poverty rates increased, urban poverty rates didn't change.

Quality health care, especially for the elderly, is another challenge. Those who live in rural areas have less access to health care facilities and specialty clinics. The elderly tend to have less health insurance coverage and have more difficulty paying for prescription drugs. They also have limited access to managed care.

Rural youth face other problems. Of those living in poverty, over half are children. Drug use also has increased: rural eighth graders are 32 percent more likely to have used marijuana than their urban counterparts.

Some problems can be alleviated by strengthening rural communities. Community leaders are encouraged to use programs that improve the lives of those living in the community. The most successful rural communities are those where schools and faith are important, youth are valued and culture is celebrated.

United Methodist Women gather

The February general meeting of the United Methodist Women was held Feb. 10 in the fellowship hall with 19 members present.

A video of Chonda Pierce, a speaker, comedian, author, preacher's daughter, wife, mother and singer provided the program. Julie Claybaugh, Lynn Sievers and Monica Carroll served on the refreshment committee.

The business meeting followed, presided by President Helen Rose. Pearl Benjamin read the correspondence and Doris Stipp, treasurer, gave the treasurer's report.

Norma Ehlers, Social Action coordinator, reported on the forthcoming execution of Timothy McVey, which will be the first federal execution in 38 years.

Purchasing more forks and spoons was discussed and was tabled until an exact account of the number presently available is determined.

Hallie Sherry requested the newly named interest group, Alpha and Omega, submit their World Thank Offering to her, along with a Bible verse that has sustained them through difficult times.

New business consisted to a discussion on the UMW carpeting the parlor. A recommendation of the Executive committee was read, recommending that the UMW proceed with the carpeting, with the approval of the trustees. A committee will be formed in March for the purpose of proceeding with the project.

Donna Liska was presented a Corsage of Missions on the event of her birthday, along with the group singing the birthday song.

Program books for 2001 were given to those attending.

Dues will be paid on a per member basis for Church Women United. Prayers were given for those on the prayer list, followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Church Women United will be meet on Friday, March 2 at 1:30 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church. It will be "World Day of Prayer."

The next UMW general meeting will be Wednesday, March 14 at 1 p.m. Marj Porter will have the program on "Call to Prayer and Self Denial" with Norma Ehlers and Rose Sedivy on the refreshment committee. On Saturday, April 7, the group will have an all-day Bible study on "Paul's Letters to an Urban Congregation," led by Pastor Mary Tyler Browne. It will begin at 9 a.m.

Feverfew for Migraine Headache

Feverfew (Tanacetum parthenium), was used as a fever reliever as far back as 78 AD. Now, this herb is used to prevent migraines by reducing the severity and frequency of the headaches. Other uses include relief of menstrual pain, asthma, dermatitis, and arthritis. The active ingredient is parthenolide which inhibits the release of serotonin from the blood platelets. Parthenolide relieves inflammation by inhibiting prostaglandin synthesis and the release of arachidonic acid.

Few studies have been conducted on the use of feverfew for migraine headache prevention. A randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, crossover study of 76 patients showed a 24% reduction in the number of attacks, but no change in the duration of attacks. There was a significant reduction of nausea and vomiting.

In another study, migraine sufferers received either a freeze-dried, powdered feverfew extract or a placebo. Fewer headaches were reported each month by the individuals who received feverfew. However, headache frequency increased significantly in the group receiving the placebo.

Experiencing mixing with elite to 'regular life'

It's Groundhog Day, and he definitely didn't see his shadow here. We're having what Jim Flowers calls the "Polaris Plunge." There is about four inches of snow on the ground; probably half of what you in Northeast Nebraska have. It blew here, too. I'm getting tired of shoveling.

Some time ago, we got an elegant printed invitation to the Nebraska Republican Party's "salute to Nebraska's Republican state senators" at the Embassy Suites in Lincoln. This is the premier new hotel in our capitol city. I was a speaker at a pro-life conference there last fall. It was plush. Coffee is $1.50 a cup, so that tells you a lot.

The price for dinner was $60 per person; or you could pay for a whole table for $600. Needless to say, we didn't sponsor a table. In fact, the Big Farmer decided he wasn't even going to put out the 60 bucks.

I splurged and sent a reservation. Because I had an earlier appointment, I arrived at the social hour a bit early. I didn't see a soul I knew. So, I started a conversation with a lady who turned out to be a PR person at Creighton University. She was from Syracuse originally, so we found lots to talk about. (I know, I usually don't have a problem finding something to talk about).

Eventually, though, I saw familiar faces. The crowd was so thick that at one point I tapped a gentleman on the shoulder and said "Excuse me," to get through. Gov. Johanns turned and said hello with a smile! So, I shook his hand like we were old friends.

At 7 p.m., we were ushered into the ballroom and seated at numbered tables. I could hear piano music in the background, and it turned out it was Sen. Cudaback playing.

The dinner was wonderful: filet mignon, whipped potatoes, crisp veggies, cheesecake! How do they do that for 350 people in a very short time?

The governor was the keynote speaker. He did a takeoff on Green

By: Pat Meierhenry

Eggs & Ham, saying "I won't raise taxes, Unicorn!" It was cute. I hope he can do it.

Meanwhile, the lobbyists were out in force. Lots of teachers with apple buttons. I wish them luck. In fact, I think the nurses had better start showing up with "Every patient deserves a nurse" pins.

Because people, there is a crucial nurse shortage.

Sen. Brushing was MC, and introduced all the senators there. He told us he does his own laundry "because his wife works outside the home." How refreshing. He got a round of applause for that.

When he introduced Sen. Schrock, he commented that he had introduced the current industrial hemp bill, and "all the Democrats want him!" More applause.

I met a pleasant Lincoln school nurse, got reacquainted with the mother of one of Jon's teammates on the Wesleyan track team, and sat by a lovely couple at dinner. She was from Stanton, originally, and he from Stromsburg. In this state, we can always find people in common. Then, it was back to the Farm House and coffee with just regular folks!

Relief offered through disaster program

Farm Services Agency (FSA) offices throughout the state are accepting applications from Nebraska producers who suffered crop losses due to natural disasters, according to State Executive Director John Berge.

The fiscal year 2001 agriculture appropriations act provided funding nationwide for a Crop Disaster Program (CDP).

"Producers who suffered losses of at least 35 percent on their 2000 crops have an opportunity to apply for aid to help cover the cost of their lost crops," Berge said.

"Many Nebraska farmers are feeling the pressure of low prices, and, in some cases, the effects of natural disasters. This assistance is designed to help farmers until conditions improve."

Farmers will be eligible for payments if their losses exceed 35 percent of historic yields and if they meet all other eligibility requirements of the program. This includes insured and uninsured farmers. As a condition of receiving disaster benefits, producers who elected to not purchase crop insurance on a crop in 2000 for which disaster benefits are requested must purchase crop insurance on that crop for the 2001 and 2002 crop years.

"Since funding is not limited for the 2000 CDP, a national payment factor will not apply and payments can be issued as soon as the regulations have been published and all payment criteria has been met," Berge said. No date has been set for when the regulations will be published in the Federal Register.

Signup began Jan. 18, 2001 at FSA offices throughout the state. An ending date has not yet been established but will be announced as soon as possible.

For additional information, farmers can contact their local FSA office or on the internet at www.fsa.usda.gov

THANK YOU

Thank you seems so inadequate at a time like this. To each of you who cared and shared your time and your talents in any way to help at the time of Dan's passing we say thank you. To the administration and staff at the Wakefield Health Care Center for all their loving care. To the school for allowing us to use their facilities, the housekeeping crew at the school for their extra hours and to ESU #1 and Covenant Church for lending chairs. To Dutchers for hauling the chairs, to Paul Eaton and the Jr. High Basketball boys for setting up the chairs. To the Eaton family for moving all the flowers and plants. The Boeckenhauers for use of their sound system, their time spent to set it up and operating it at the service. To Curt Jeffries for getting the equipment necessary for the video, setting it up and running it at the service. To Coleen Jeffries for the funeral music and to Brenda Nissen for music at the wake. To all who worked and/or donated food for the fellowship after the wake and after the funeral — you are very special. To Munderloh's for their caring attendance to every detail. To Pastor Rick for his guidance and comforting words. To the color guard and the taps players who endured the cold. To everyone who sent cards, food, floral offerings or memorials, spoke comforting words or offered prayers. You have all made this a celebration of Dan's life. It is with much humility and gratefulness that we thank you from the bottom of our hearts. Our prayers go with you and yours as you journey along life's way and may each day be a celebration of life.
