Council approves loan request

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

A resolution was passed at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council meeting approving an application for a Wayne Revolving Fund loan.

Jessica Olson was present at the meeting, requesting a loan in the amount of $21,000 for the purchase of the Renaissance Coffee House.

Several council persons voiced their opinions on the application.

Councilman Verdel Lutt said he had concerns about the business and loaning money to a business that was struggling.

Councilman Dennis Linster said that he felt the city should take the risk rather than let the building sit empty.

There are several stipulations that come with the granting of the loan, including the requirement that the owners have life insurance.

Phil Lorenzen of Kirkpatrick Pettis was present at the meeting to discuss the issuance of bonds for the construction of the firehall. He explained the process the city needs to go through and stated that the city was limited to borrowing $700,000 of the project's estimated cost of $1.2 million.

Following Lorenzen's presentation, the council voted 7-0 to move forward with the issuance of the bonds.

George Holm spoke to the council about the location of the city's skate park. There has been discussion of locating the park with the Community Activity Center near the schools. Space is available to the south of the Activity Center and to the west of the Elementary School.

However, Holm said that those using the current skate park near the swimming pool are happy to have it where it is currently located and said there were some concerns with locating near the school.

Council members asked Holm to conduct a survey of those using the park on location preferences and bring information back to the council at its next meeting.

Resolution 2001-13 was passed on a 6-1 vote. It will eliminate the water/ sewer / electric charges to the fair board pertaining to the Wayne County Fair.

Councilman Verdel Lutt voted against the resolution, stating that other counties he surveyed do not have such a policy and that he felt it was unfair to other organizations, such as the Softball Association, who pay for utilities.

The council voted to go with a geo-thermal heating/ cooling system for the Community Activity Center. Representatives of Nebraska Public Power District were on hand to explain how the system works and a lease program available to the city.

Also approved at Tuesday's meeting were the final design for the fire-hall and for the 10th Street Paving District.

The total project cost for the fire-hall, including land acquisition and architect and engineering fees, is

Volunteer recognized

Lori Carollo, Chapter Manager of the Wayne Red Cross, presented Rick Endicott of Arnie's Ford Mercury with an "Award of Appreciation" and a pin that reads "American Red Cross Clara Barton Volunteer Award for Meritorious Volunteer Leadership." Carollo stated, "Rick has been very instrumental in raising awareness of the Wayne Red Cross and our need for financial support. I am enthusiastically calling him 'Mr. Red Cross' for the month of March. On behalf of our Board of Directors, we are all very grateful for all the work Rick, and Arnie's has done on our behalf."

Wayne school board re-elects faculty members

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Members of the Wayne and Carroll School faculty were approved for re-hire during Monday's meeting of the Wayne Board of Education.

Dr. Joe Reinert, Superintendent of Schools, presented the list of teachers recommended for re-hire from each of the four buildings.

During the meeting the board also accepted the resignation, with regrets, of Kate Hansen as a paraprofessional. She has been employed with the district for 10 years.

The board then approved the hiring of Kathy Luhr to replace Hansen.

Approval was given to a proposal from Western Office Plus in Norfolk for the rental of a postage meter. The proposal would result in a savings of approximately $600 over the current meter which is provided by Pitney Bowes.

The four kindergarten teachers in the district were present at the meeting to discuss all-day kindergarten.

Mrs. Jennifer Thomas, who teaches kindergarten at Carroll Elementary, spoke of the successes in the classroom and listed a number of benefits to the program. She also stated that she felt the students will be better prepared for first grade due to having extra time in the classroom.

Mrs. Nicki Tiedtke, kindergarten teacher at West Elementary, shared her daily class schedule structure.

Mrs. Pat Jenkins, also a kindergarten teacher at West Elementary, shared information on what she is seeing with her students and compared it to what researchers have found. She stated that with the all-day kindergarten, teachers and students have more time to spend together and focus on what they are doing as individuals.

Mrs. Tanya Heikes, the third kindergarten teacher at West Elementary, focused on the positive support from parents for the all-day kindergarten and listed the number of parents who have been involved in various classroom activities.

In a report from the Special Education department, Mr. Kraig Lofquist provided board members with an update from special education. He spoke on several meetings he had recently attended and preparations that are being made to handle the caseload for the upcoming year.

Dr. Reinert updated the board on progress being made on the Middle School project. Contractors are hoping to pour cement in several areas and gutters around the gymnasium have been addressed with some changes to be made. In the new locker room, water leakage has been a problem and contractors are trying to figure out how to address the problem.

The work on the inside of the building is currently ahead of schedule.

Dr. Reinert also provided the board with a budget overview for the upcoming year and gave explanations of several areas including negotiations, technology, remodeling of the high school kitchen, boilers, joint athletic facility with Wayne State College and furnishings for the Middle School. He stated that these

Smoking linked to colorectal cancer

In the largest prospective study of cigarette smoking and colorectal cancer mortality, American Cancer Society staff researchers report finding strong evidence for classifying cancers of the colon and rectum as, in part, smoking-related.

An analysis of the American Cancer Society's Cancer prevention Study II, detailed in an article in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, concludes that not only is long-term cigarette smoking associated with an elevated risk for dying of this cancer, it estimates that about 12 percent of the 1997 deaths from colorectal cancer may be attributable to cigarette smoking.

Ann Chao, Ph.D., Michael J. Thun, MD, and colleagues at the American Cancer Society report that colorectal death rates were highest among current smokers and lowest among those who never smoked.

"Clear benefits were also observed among those people who had quit smoking; the longer ago the higher the benefit," said Dr. Chao.

Male current smokers had a 32 percent higher death rate than non-smokers in the study, and current female smokers had a higher death rate of 41 percent. The higher death rates increased with duration of their habit and with the number of cigarettes smoked daily.

The rates were higher for current smokers who began smoking cigarettes at younger ages, than those who smoked longer and more cigarettes per day.

The American Cancer Society's Cancer Prevention Study II began enrolling around one million Americans in 1982. Dr. Chao and her co-authors analyzed data on 312,332 men and 469,019 women from CPS II, among which 4,432 died from either colon or rectal cancer.

Data from these participants were controlled for a number of potentially confounding variables including alcohol use, physical activity, family history of colorectal cancer, vitamin use, and dietary factors.

"The size of the study allowed us to examine, in detail, gradients in smoking behavior separately in former and current smokers," said Dr. Chao.

"It also permitted us to estimate the percentage of smoking related colorectal cancer deaths in the general population, which would have been about 12 percent in 1997, or more than 6,800 people for that year," she emphasized.

"The smoking epidemic in women began decades later than in men," said Michael J. Thun, MD, Vice President Epidemiology and Surveillance Research for the American Cancer Society.

"This may explain in part why the trends in colorectal cancer incidence and death rates differed between genders during the '50s, '60s, and '70s with male rates being higher than female rates. As the smoking rates increased for women, the colorectal rates became very similar for both genders," explained Dr. Thun.

How long am I required to keep old tax records?

Receipts, cancelled checks, interest statements and any other record that document income or a deduction shown on your tax return should be kept until the period of limitations for what return expires. This is usually three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the time the tax was paid whichever is later. However, there is not period of limitations when no return is filed or fraud is involved. If you are an employer, you must retain employment tax records for at least four years.

Condition of local Red Cross chapter explained

Your local Red Cross chapter has a budget of $32,000 for fiscal year 2000-2001. The United Way contributes $2,500 to that budget. The remaining amount must be raised by the chapter's board through class fees, book and first aid kit sales, and personal donations from the community.

"We are at a very critical time not only for our local chapter, but for chapters nationwide," says local manager, Lori Carollo. "There have been over 100 chapters close in Nebraska and South Dakota during the last few years. Only 30 chapters remain open and we want to remain one of those chapters," says Carollo.

In January, the state director attended a two-hour strategic planning session with the Wayne Red Cross Board of Directors. With the states direction and lead, the local board decided to take up the challenge of securing a strong financial future for the local chapter. Many new ideas were discussed to try and raise awareness, as well as funding, for the local Red Cross chapter. The Wayne chapter is the only chapter still active in northeast Nebraska and they service six surrounding counties as well.

"We receive no federal, state or city funding of any kind. We do receive $2,500 from the United Way, but that represents only about 8 percent of our total budget! We need to find ways to raise the other 92 percent to meet the needs of the community and the requirements to maintain an active status as a chapter."

The bottom line to all the recent attention to the Red Cross in Wayne is due to the fact that they have been operating at about a $10,000 loss for the past couple of years and operating on reserve funds. At that continued rate, reserve funding would run out in approximately two years, maybe even less if higher than usual disasters occur.

"I was really encouraged after our January meeting and the Board decided to undertake this awesome task of rebuilding and finding new creative and innovative ways to raise awareness, which we believe will lead to increased funding. Each board member is personally committed to raising the financial funds needed to secure the future of the Red Cross chapter in Wayne. I was overwhelmed at their support and enthusiasm. It was amazing to see how the creative juices started flowing as different ideas were being discussed," said Mrs. Carollo. "Now I just hope that the community will respond positively to all the hard work and dedication of all of these board members. I know each one of them will be working very hard during the next 12 months and we think we have some fresh ideas that will make giving to the Red Cross something that everyone will want to be a part of!"

Just like this city needs doctors, hospitals, firefighters, and other emergency responders, Wayne NEEDS the Red Cross. They work hard to help the community prepare for, prevent and cope with emergencies. They respond to disasters and people in need (including assistance to firefighters), train people in lifesaving skills, and provide direct communication to members of the Armed Forces and their families in times of emergency.

Please consider responding to the financial needs of YOUR Red Cross, particularly during March - Red Cross Month. It will help them continue their services and programs.

The local chapter would like to recognize and thank the Wayne United Way for supporting the work that the Wayne Red Cross does in our community. The United Way has been a supporter of the Wayne chapter for a number of years.

Main Street Focus

By Leo Ahmann

The past three columns have been written to hopefully answer questions you may have about Main Street Wayne and what the program is all about.

The first column (Feb. 1) was a brief history, our questionnaire and survey. The second column (Feb.

15) explained our Organization Committee. Our March 1 column told about our very active Promotions Committee. This week we spotlight our Design Committee.

The Design Committee, along with a number of other volunteers, put the final touches of the facade of the Main Street Office (where People's Natural Gas Offices used to be located), as one of their first major projects.

In February of 1999, two evening meetings were held, open to the public. The purpose of the meetings was to get input from the community regarding their vision of a downtown streetscape (banners, light poles, trees, benches, sidewalks, etc.). Planning stages have also included meeting with the various highway department entities, regarding the improvement work on Highway 15, through downtown Wayne, scheduled to begin in 2004.

The streetscape finalization has been an arduous task. The enhancing light poles and fixtures have been chosen. The selection of the banners is in its final stages and the downtown sidewalk replacement design has been chosen. It is necessary to have all our enhancement projects in place so when the Highway Department says "we're starting," we are ready to go with our streetscape design plans.

Building facade improvements is another large element of a Main Street Design Committee. Our committee has spoken with various building and business owners regarding possible facade improvements. The Lied Nebraska Main Street Office in Lincoln has an agreement with the University of Nebraska School of Architecture, to provide advisory technical support for Wayne businesses that desire to do a facade improvement.

There are numerous business people considering such an improvement. These improvements are not cost prohibitive. The Bank of Norfolk has in place a loan program that would fit nicely with such a project. Kevin Hoffart of the Bank of Norfolk would be happy to visit with you about it.

The Design Committee has also been in charge of the large Christmas tree at the corner of Seventh and Main the past two years. Another project nearing fruition is the placement of the banner poles (and banner) across Highway 15, here in the downtown area. This banner will be available to all groups, clubs, churches and organizations, to use for the promotion of community events. Downtown upper floor utilization is still another project of the Design Committee.

Main Street Wayne is doing it right. Come on board... we'd love to have your talents and expertise as part of our effective program. Call 375-5062... write Box 43... e-mail us at mainstreetwayne@midlands.net with comments, concerns or compliments.

It's difficult to answer your questions, if you don't ask us. Did you know you're part of the program already?? It's your program. Give or give back to Wayne by joining the Main Street Program. Until next time...

Capitol news

Legislative clock is ticking

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Take a stroll around and about the Capitol these days and you might get the feeling you're in a college dormitory just before mid-term exams.

This is the time of year when denizens of the Tower on the Plains begin to look a tad haggard.

Of course, in a couple of months a good many of them will look much, much worse.

The clock is ticking, you know. The legislative session is limited to 90 working days. If a bill isn't designated as a "priority" measure, either by a lawmaker, a committee or the Speaker of the Legislature, its future becomes exceedingly dim.

For lobbyists who represent interests that regard their favorite bill as special, the halfway mark in the legislative session often means it's time to sweat. Soon, it will be time to panic. After all, the last half of the session goes faster than the first half, so speak, because the Legislature has to work on budget plans and the "big" issues. Eventually it will be time to think up some good excuses.

We have long thought that there is a sure-fire way to explain to a client (or to constituents, if you're a lawmaker) why the bill didn't pass or the amendment was adopted, or whatever.

The formula for an easy out: Put something in the proposal that is guaranteed to annoy, or perhaps even insult, the intelligence and, preferably, the sensibilities of Sen.

Ernie Chambers of Omaha. Voila! At this time of year, if Chambers decides to target a bill for some straightening out, or for destruction, it will at the least cost so much time that it might be forced off the legislative agenda - or defeated. The proponents who knew they couldn't get the bill enacted anyway can then proceed to blame the whole thing on Ernie.

Of course, if Chambers figures out the plot, the plotter(s) could be in trouble. Chambers has been known to use a gift that was possessed by the late and legendary Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Both men could punch with either hand, legislatively speaking. That is, they could speak for or against a bill, depending on which approach might do the most good.

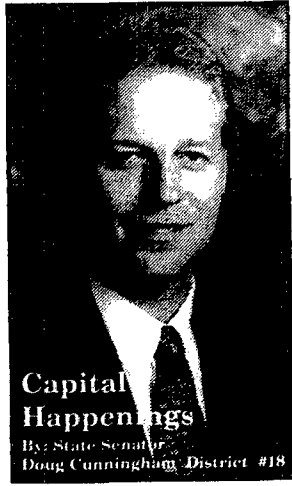

Chambers has also been known to achieve the stalling of legislation by endorsing it, and demanding in virulent terms that it be immediately advanced. And the fact is that he has sometimes added votes to a bill's support by denouncing supporters and demanding that it be shelved.

If you're among those who regularly take pleasure by denouncing the pain that Chambers can cause, stay tuned. The chances always are good that, as the session winds down, Nebraska will be treated to another example of the importance of being Ernest.

Session nearing halfway point

Capital Happenings
By State Senator
Doug Cunningham, District #18

Next week the Legislature will pass the midway point of this ninety-day legislative session. This past week marked the deadline for the designation of priority bills.

Every legislator is allowed to choose one senator priority bill. These bills are given top priority during the remainder of the legislative session. Every committee of the Legislature may designate two bills as committee priority bills and the Speaker of the Legislature can designate up to 25 additional bills as speaker priority bills.

After this point in session, bills that haven't been debated yet by the entire Legislature and have not been given priority status do not stand a good chance for passage this year. All bills pending at the end of this legislative session are automatically carried over to next year's session.

I designated LB 536 as my priority bill. LB 536 would renew the state's commitment toward the growth of its ethanol industry, by providing renewed production incentives for new ethanol plants modeled after previous production incentives that have expired. Due to the proposal for a new ethanol plant located between Plainview and Osmond, I felt that this legislation would significantly benefit District #18.

Introduced by Senator Cap Dierks of Ewing, LB 536 is still being held by the Revenue Committee. Senator Dierks, a member of the Revenue Committee, is working diligently to get it advanced to the floor of the Legislature. Although I am not a member of the Revenue Committee, I have also been contacting committee members, explaining the need for this bill.

Other bills that have been designated as senator priority bills include: LB 496 - Adopt the Concealed Handgun Permit Act; LB 600 - Change agricultural and horticultural land valuation provisions; LB 462 - Regulate and prohibit the use of human fetal tissue; LB 114 - Change provisions relating to minors' violations and license suspensions for illegal sales of alcoholic liquor; LB 692 - Allocate funds from Nebraska's portion of the nationwide tobacco settlement; LB 277 - Eliminate the marriage penalty in Nebraska's income tax law; and LB 305 - change teacher salary, the mentor teacher program and the Master Teacher program provisions.

Three bills dealing with the death penalty were heard by the Judiciary Committee this past week. LB 18, introduced annually by Omaha Senator Ernie Chambers, would eliminate the death penalty and provide for life imprisonment without the possibility of parole. LB 62 and LB 356, introduced by Senators Jon Bruning and Kermit Brashear, both of Omaha, would change Nebraska's method of execution from electrocution to lethal injection.

Former Governor Frank Morrison was among the 18 persons at the public hearing testifying in support of Senator Chamber's bill to eliminate the death penalty. No one spoke against his proposal.

If LB 62 were to become law, Nebraska would avoid any problems that could surface if electrocution was ruled an unconstitutionally cruel and unusual punishment. Of the states that have a death penalty, only Nebraska and Georgia still use the method of electrocution. The State of Florida recently added a lethal-injection option, due to a U.S. Supreme Court challenge.

Senator Bruning has designated LB 62 as his senator priority bill for this session. However, LB 62 faces a certain filibuster by Senator Chambers if it should advance to the floor.

I encourage you to contact my office regarding your opinion on the legislation that has been given priority status or other issues that are before the Legislature. My e-mail address is dcunningham@unicam.state.ne.us, my telephone number is (402) 471-2801 and my mailing address is Senator Doug Cunningham, District #18, P.O. Box 94604, State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509.

Youth Arts Month celebrated

By Amy Jackson
Wayne Community Schools
Art Educator

A world where your child is using his/her ideas to communicate, is setting goals and building self-esteem. All these important aspects of a healthy and well-adjusted child can be attained through experiences in the Visual Arts. The benefits are limitless.

March is Youth Arts Month. I would like to take this opportunity to share a variety of ways we as guardians or parents can help our children "experience" creating and appreciating art.

• When your child brings home a piece of artwork, focus less on content and more on your child's experience creating it. Make comments on the use of Color, Shape, Textures, Contrast and Feeling. Avoid asking, "What is it supposed to be?" This implies that the child failed to reach some visual requirement while he/she was enjoying an art experience.

• Displaying your child's work in a place where everyone sees it often make them feel confident in expressing their thoughts and feelings. A "Refrigerator Gallery," Laminated Art Placemats or a simple hanging frame designated as the "Art of the Month." Comment on the artwork as often as possible remarks such as, "those colors are really pretty. The blue reminds me of..." This approach will help your child focus on the success of his creative communication.

• Plan a trip to a nearby museum or gallery. Visit a website displaying artwork. Allow your child to see a variety of artist's works. Ask such questions as "What do you like about this painting? Would you like to hang this work of art in your room? How does this painting make you feel?"

• Provide your child with a "creative center." A simple box or designated desk with a variety of art supplies will help encourage your child to set goals and work more independently. You may request him/her to draw for you whenever possible. Some ideas: family holiday card, design thank you notes, birthday invitations, personal feelings or experiences you've shared.

• Saving "favorite" pieces in a folder, box throughout your child's younger years will help them feel loved now and years from now, when they realize you loved them and the artwork enough to save it.

I hope these tips help you provide many hours of expression, imagination and fulfillment for your "young artist." Congratulations on your efforts if you have already taken these steps.

items would need to be put into priority as to which needed the most attention. More information will be available at future meetings as budget numbers become more definite.

In regard to the Community Activity Center, Dr. Reinert stated that he has attended several meetings and that the Wayne City Council has given the committee a budget of $3.7 million for the facility. Dirt work for the project could begin as early as June of this year.

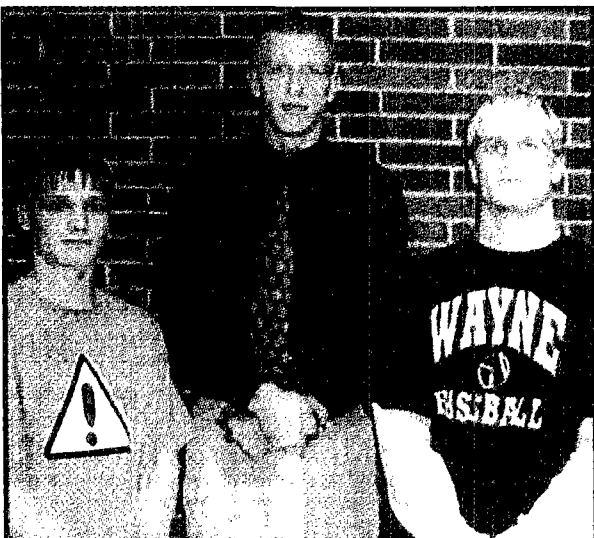

In other action, the board gave its approval to the Petition for Dissolution for District 51, effective at the end of the 2000-2001 school year. The petition is identical to the petition used by District #57 with the difference in the length of the moratorium for District #51 being five years on the bond issue. The future of the building has not been decided.

Following the board's executive session, it was voted to increase Dr. Reinert's salary for the upcoming school year.

The next meeting for the board will be Monday, April 9 at 7 p.m.

$1,357,000. Several options, including a canopy and brick were included in the council's approval vote.

Councilman Dennis Linster voiced his concern that the two major projects currently being undertaken by the city have come in over budget. The Community Activity Center and firehall will cost approximately $500,000 more than originally anticipated.

The 10th Street Paving District will provide for a 32 feet wide street, 140 feet east of the intersection of 10th Street and Providence Road. It is anticipated that bids for the project, estimated to cost $170,000, will be opened April 10.

In other action, set a public hearing date of Tuesday, March 27 at or about 7:35 p.m. to discuss a rezoning request of Brian Bowers to rezone approximately 80 acres of land from A-1 and B-1 to A-2.

Wayne Red Cross Day is a big success

The Wayne Red Cross started their month-long celebration of Red Cross Month on March 9.

"I was overwhelmed at how many people I saw wearing red around town that day," said Lon Carollo, manager of the Red Cross office in Wayne. "The Chamber coffee was extremely well-attended as we had people overflowing out into the hallway."

Loreh Park was named Volunteer of the Year and Rick Endicott from Arnie's was recognized for all the volunteering support he has given through his radio ads on KTCH. Carollo also recognized Endicott for the number of people he has informed about the Red Cross's situation and work done by the chapter.

Winners of the door prizes at the Chamber Coffee were Pat Gross, First Aid kit (compliments of Arnie's Ford Mercury); Lauren Lofgren, mug; Bill Dickey and Sarah Miller, koozies; Jennifer Phelps, sweatshirt; Susan Gotshall, t-shirt and Kathy Luhr, flip First Aid Book.

Following the Chamber Coffee, the local chapter hosted a soup luncheon in the Mineshaft Mall.

"This, too, was a big success," Carollo said. "We served around 130 people and raised just a little over $600! We really thank the community for coming out (in red) and supporting us."

Winners of door prizes at the soup lunch were Paul Dangberg and Helen Hansen, First Aid kits (compliments of Arnie's Ford Mercury); Jennifer Holm, sweatshirt; Lowell Johnson, t-shirt and Anne Nolte, flip First Aid kit.

Many people helped put this luncheon on and Mrs. Carollo offered her thanks to each of the following individuals and businesses: Rowan Wiltse for the idea and for all logistics of getting everything ready for the day; Mary Nichols and Babs Middleton for making and serving the soup; Sandy Hall for helping serve at the Chamber coffee; Twila Wiltse for making and replenishing the coffee.

Also, all the individuals who made and donated bars; LeRoy Janssen (chapter chair) and Bill Claybaugh (co-chair) for their support and various assistance throughout the day and to John, Tony and Jason Carollo for the many things they also did to prepare for and help with the luncheon.

Businesses who contributed were: Quality Foods donated all the plates, bowls, spoons, napkins, coffee, juice and crackers; Popo's, Dairy Queen and Tacos & More also donated bowls with lids for those who wished to take their soup home and also donated more spoons.

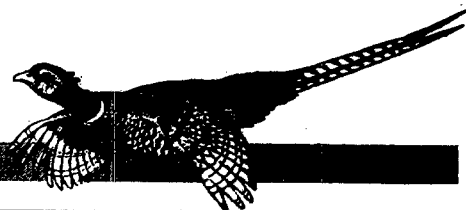

"On behalf of the Board of the Wayne Red Cross, a sincere thanks to the community of Wayne for supporting our activities on March 9," Mrs. Carollo said.

Basketball team wins all three games by double digits Laurel-Concord boys take STATE

By Kevin Peterson
For the Herald

The Laurel-Concord boys basketball team pushed their way past the C-2 bracket of the State Basketball Tournament last weekend, claiming championship honors with a 43-27 win over Elmwood-Murdock in the finals at the Bob Devaney Sports Center in Lincoln.

The Bears won all three games at State by double digits and they pulled off a rare feat by claiming championship honors in both football and basketball in the same school year.

In fact, in Class C-2 the last team to duplicate championships in football and basketball was Grant in the mid-80's—a team Laurel-Concord defeated in the semifinals of this year's State Tournament.

The Bears opened State play with a 70-44 win over East Butler—a team they had beaten in the semifinals of the State football playoffs.

The Bears led 14-10 after the first quarter and opened up a 27-16 halftime advantage in the contest played at Lincoln East High School.

Starting guard Nathan Beckman suffered an ankle injury late in the second quarter and would not return to the lineup.

Midway through the third quarter play was stopped for nearly a half-hour after Beckman went into a "shock-like" state.

Paramedics took him to a local hospital where he was treated and released that evening.

The Bears were leading by 13 points when Beckman was transported out of the gym and immediately, East Butler made a quick run to cut the gap to eight points but Laurel-Concord responded and built the lead back to 11 by third quarter's end at 47-36.

It was all Bears in the final stanza as they out-scored the Tigers by a 23-8 margin for the lop-sided win.

Matt Schroeder led the team with 23 points with Adam Hartung pouring in 15 points while notching a game-high 13 rebounds.

Blake Erwin added 14 points and four assists and Jon Erwin netted seven points.

Beckman scored four points before being injured and Tyler Stingley, Greg Kvols and Brent Heikes added two apiece while Marc Manganaro tallied one.

The Bears dominated the boards, 44-19 led by Hartung's 13 caroms while Schroeder had seven and Greg Kvols along with Blake Erwin had six each. Kvols also dished out four assists.

"We were able to stop East Butler's outside shooting early and control their inside game," coach Clayton Steele said. "Our bench was key in this game since we did get in to foul trouble."

Steele credited the play of Tyler Stingley, Marc Manganaro and Greg Kvols for stepping up in crunch time.

THE SEMIFINAL ROUND was played in Pershing Auditorium less than 16 hours after playing the first round game.

Laurel-Concord was with out the services of Beckman who was on crutches.

Senior Greg Kvols made his second career start and his quick, aggressive defense set the tone in the Bears win over Grant, 59-49.

Laurel-Concord led 27-20 at the half but Grant managed to tie the game midway through the third quarter before the Bears took a 39-35 lead to the fourth quarter.

Steele's troops out-scored Grant, 20-14 in the final stanza. Grant never had the lead in the second half.

"We played a tough defense and got enough offense to win the game," Steele said. "It wasn't the prettiest of games but it was a win."

Kvols hauled down an offensive rebound late in the fourth quarter and put it back for two points which was monumental for the Bears as it kept the lead at a three-possession game. He later sank a pair of free throws to keep the Plainsmen out of striking distance.

Matt Schroeder led the winners with 21 points with Blake Erwin pouring in 19. Jon Erwin finished with 12 points but his third quarter heroics kept the Bears ahead of their western Nebraska counterparts.

Jon nailed a three-pointer and hit a pair of 15-footers in the third period alone.

Kvols finished with four points and Adam Hartung, two while Marc Manganaro had one free throw.

"Once again Manganaro and Tyler Stingley gave us a lift when we needed them," Steele said. "It was a total team effort."

Hartung led Laurel-Concord with eight rebounds with Blake Erwin hauling down seven while leading the team with six assists. Kvols had four assists and Hartung notched two blocked shots.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP GAME pitted coach versus pupil as Clayton Steele was once the head coach of Elmwood-Murdock head coach and former Winside head coach Terry Warner when the two were at Ord.

Elmwood-Murdock jumped out to a quick 8-2 lead on the Bears but Laurel-Concord managed to tie the game eight after one quarter of play.

The Bears took an 18-15 lead to the lockerroom at half and for Elmwood-Murdock it was lights out after that.

Laurel-Concord stepped up its defensive intensity and held the Pirates to just four points in the third quarter with the first points coming with less than a minute left in the period.

The Bears took a 31-19 lead to the final stanza.

Just minutes in to the third quarter the Bears got an emotional lift as Nathan Beckman entered the lineup.

The original plan was to have him play to the next television timeout which was just two minutes but Beckman quickly changed the game plan with his surprising performance that included three steals, six points and general floor leadership.

Beckman would play nearly the entire second half.

Once again Matt Schroeder led the team in scoring with 17 points. He posted a double-double in his final high school game with 11 rebounds as well.

Schroeder was named the captain of the All-Tournament Team. Blake Erwin finished with 10 points and also was named to the C-2 All-Tournament Team.

Beckman scored six points and Jon Erwin tossed in four while Greg Kvols, Bob Haisch and Adam Hartung had two each.

Hartung and Jon Erwin also had seven rebounds each with Blake Erwin and Matt Schroeder each dishing out three assists.

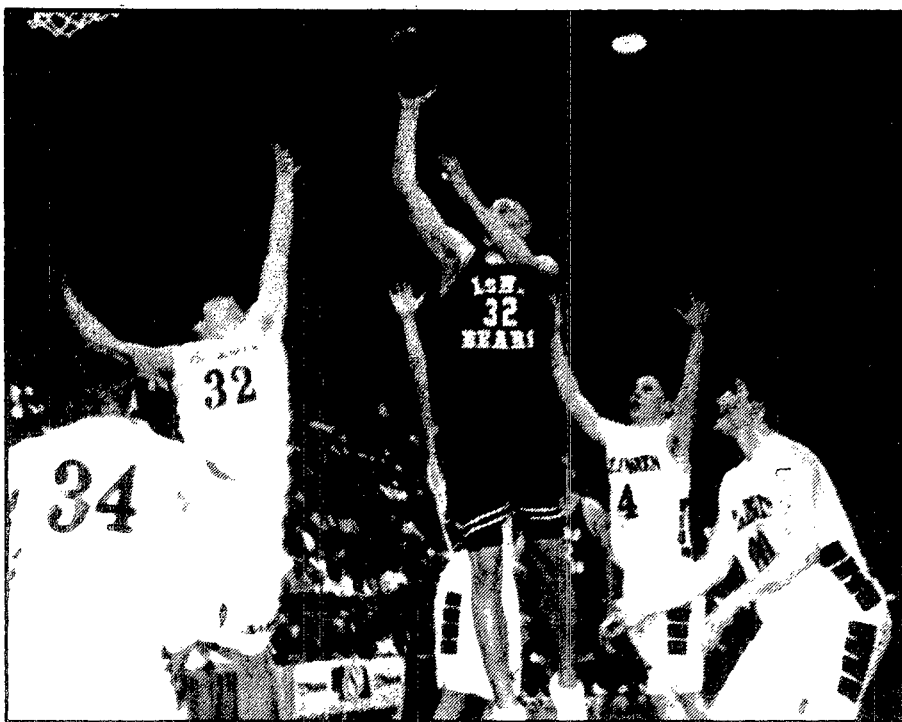

"After we switched from a man defense to a zone out kids really stepped up," Steele said. "We held them to their lowest point total in 48 years."

The Bears finished the year at 22-4 and a number one ranking.

WSC wins six games in Georgia

The Wayne State baseball team returned from their Spring trip to Savannah, Georgia with a 6-2 record.

John Manganaro's team was edged by Grand Valley State, 11-10 before downing South Dakota State, 10-3 and 21-6 to round out a very successful week.

The Cats gave up two runs to Grand Valley State in the bottom of the ninth inning with the winning run coming with two outs.

Andre Duval was the losing pitcher in relief of Pat Coghlan and Chad Walker.

Both teams finished with 17 hits. David Muryn led WSC's bats with a homerun, double and two singles while Andy Schultz had three base hits. Joey Baldwin, Brian Zimmerman and Rob Watt each singled twice and Eric Fitch blasted a homerun.

Joel Tremblay, Brian Disch and Joe Hartman each had base hits.

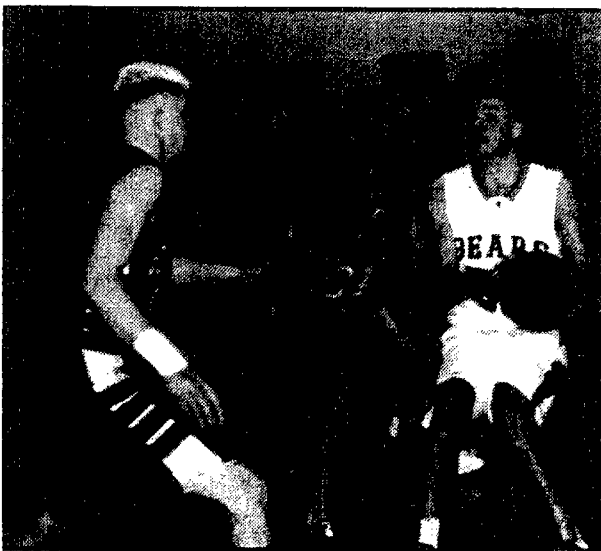

In the 10-3 win over SDSU, Brady Borner went all nine innings in earning the win, striking out 12 and walking none.

WSC had 10 runs on 10 hits while Borner scattered five hits. Tim Richt and Eric Fitch each doubled and singled for WSC while Brian Zimmerman singled twice.

Gary Redden belted a double with Joel Tremblay, David Muryn and Andy Schultz each lacing a base hit.

In the 'Cats' 21-6 drubbing of the Jackrabbits of SDSU, WSC pounded out 22 hits while SDSU had nine hits.

Joel Tremblay led the winners with five hits and four RBI with Brian Zimmerman and Joey Baldwin belting three hits each.

Nathan Beckman looks to shoot between a pair of East Butler defenders during first round action last Thursday in Lincoln. Beckman suffered a game-ending ankle injury that kept him out of half of the first round and all of the second round as well as the first half of the finals game with Elmwood-Murdock before he returned.

An unprecedented season for Laurel-Concord will last forever

By Kevin Peterson
For the Herald

It will take some time for the Laurel-Concord boys basketball team to really realize what they've accomplished this school year.

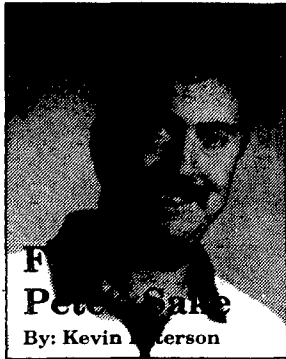

Winning a state title in anything takes talent, desire, heart, timing and a little bit of luck.

Winning two state championships in sports in the same year is nearly impossible and as the years go by that feat may stand atop all other sporting accomplishments in Laurel-Concord history—forever.

For this group of 16-18 year-olds history dates back only to the Elkhorn Valley game in the NENAC semifinals.

A game in which Laurel-Concord let slip away in the waning moments.

"That was our wake-up call," senior Matt Schroeder said. "After

Kevin Peterson
By: Kevin Peterson

that game while we were in the locker room we had an informal meeting to talk about how we all need to pick up the pace a little more if we were going to accomplish our season goals."

And pick up the pace they did. The Bears would not lose another game as they rattled off four straight wins to end the regular season before notching the three district wins and three state wins.

"We went to a full court press after the Elkhorn Valley game so we could dictate our tempo better," senior Nathan Beckman said. "It really seemed to work and we used it every game after."

"That game with Elkhorn Valley was the turning point in our season," junior Blake Erwin said. "We began to focus on one game at a time for the big picture instead of just looking at the overall big picture first."

Still, when it came to playing Hartington Cedar Catholic in the district finals the Bears knew they were the underdogs.

"Hey, they were the ones coming in unbeaten at 22-0 and favored to win state," Beckman said. "We were confident in our ability to play well and win that game but the pressure was definitely on them."

Despite the fact the Bears trailed Cedar by nine points at the half they weren't in a panic mode.

"In basketball nine points is just three possessions," Schroeder said. "We knew we had to step up our intensity on defense and get a hand in their face when they shot the ball."

The Bears cut the nine point deficit down to just two by the third quarter's end.

"We really felt the momentum had shifted to our side," Blake Erwin said. "We could just feel it and we couldn't wait to start that fourth quarter."

Senior Jon Erwin said he felt the tide turning as well and that Cedar appeared to be tired—maybe from the pressure.

When Blake Erwin hit the three-pointer early in that fourth period to put Laurel-Concord ahead, he felt the game was theirs to lose.

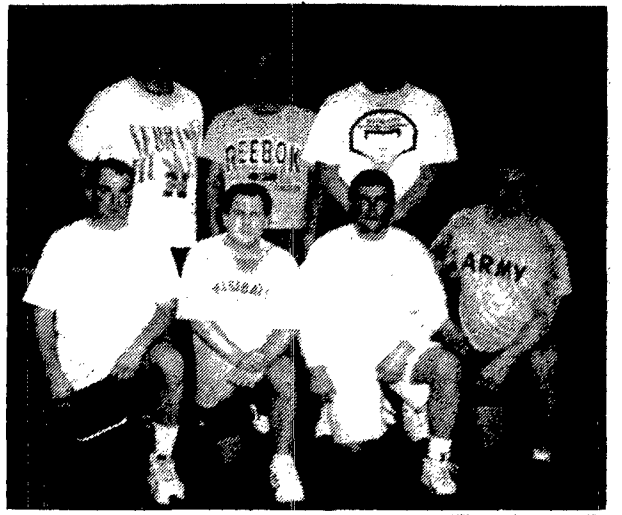

"I know there was over seven minutes to play after we went ahead but I thought it was over," Blake said. "We just had that, 'no way we can lose,' attitude."

"Coming into the game we felt if we just played our game which had a defensive focus first then offense, we would be fine," senior Adam Hartung said.

After the seven point win over the Trojans the shift of focus turned to State but for many of the players two of the team goals had been reached—beating Cedar Catholic and qualifying for State.

Upon winning the State Tournament by double digits (all three wins at State were by double digits) the players reflected on how they felt in their hearts the win over Cedar Catholic was when the State title was earned.

"I think a lot of us were more drained after beating Cedar than we were after winning State," Blake Erwin said. "That's how much respect we have for Cedar Catholic."

At State there was a number of heroic performances, some that grabbed headlines and some that didn't.

Focusing on the one's that didn't Adam Hartung and Greg Kvols come to mind.

Hartung was phenomenal in the opening win in Lincoln over East Butler. His timing on the boards was astounding and tossing in 15 points in posting a double double was simply awesome.

"I don't think I earned any respect with my offense throughout the season because I was either hot or cold," Hartung said. "Things fell in to place quite nicely against East Butler."

Greg Kvols had only started one high school game in his career prior to last weekend.

When Nathan Beckman left the game with an ankle injury on Thursday, Kvols was left to pick up the slack, thus starting his second high school game in the state semifinals and his third high school start in the state finals.

Kvols stepped up to the challenge with his tenacious defense and it didn't go unnoticed—especially from his teammates.

"Greg guarded Grant's top scorer in the fourth quarter after he had scored a bunch of points in the third quarter," Jon Erwin said. "I don't think Greg allowed the guy to score a point in the fourth quarter."

"My job's to play good defense and that's what I pride myself on," Greg said.

Kvols played very well in all three games despite not having the offensive stats.

Jon Erwin decided to carry the team on his back during the semifinal round in the third quarter.

Grant had battled back to tie the Bears before Erwin took matters into his own hands—literally.

The Wayne State football recruit sank a long three-pointer and followed up with a pair of 15-footers to keep the Plainsmen at bay.

When it comes to immediate recognizable impact players Matt Schroeder and Blake Erwin were forces.

Schroeder made the most of his 6 4 frame, playing much taller at all times. The Nebraska football walk on used his James Worthy-like quickness to often get around the opposition before they could even react.

Erwin will no longer be able to be the team's best kept secret after his performance at State.

Do you know how many teams would love to have a 6 3 6 4 point guard?

Blake's ball handling and lane penetrating skills were immeasurable.

Senior Nathan Beckman has been one of the floor leaders for the Bears for several years and despite his injury at State, he still managed to come in and help lead his team to victory much like he did when quarterbacking the Bears to the C-2 State Title last November.

Congrats to all 14 of the Bears varsity players including the one's not mentioned earlier in this column including Brent Heikes, Bob Haisch, Dustin Rewinkel, Brett Gould, Tyler Stingley, Marc Manganaro, Bennie Surber and Eric Nelson.

Clayton Steele racked up another State Championship. Clayton works hard in trying to find the right combinations of players to fit the mold of the team he wants.

All in all his philosophy is quite simple—just win!

And how about Mike Halley, Steele's assistant coach. In his first year at the school his football team wins State and the basketball team duplicates the feat.

Halley even said it's been a hair-raising experience (the players took turns in shaving his head at a reception following the State Basketball Tournament on Sunday in Laurel).

Senior returns from injury to assist in championship
Beckman goes out a winner

By Kevin Peterson
 Of the Herald

When Laurel Concord senior guard Nathan Beckman went down with a severe ankle sprain in the second quarter of the Bears first round game at State with East Butler, not many thought he'd be able to return to action throughout the weekend.

In the third quarter when Beckman went into shock and had to be treated by paramedics before being taken by ambulance to a local hospital, the numbers of those who thought he might be able to return dwindled to near zero.

Fortunately, no one told Nathan Beckman of their reservations because Beckman said he was coming back to play even when they were putting him in the ambulance.

"There's no way I was going to sit out," Beckman said. "I told my teammates if I was able to walk, I'd play."

Still, saying it and doing it are two different things.

Sometimes things can get lost in translation. It's like going to a movie that everyone has bragged about and then you go, and you're kind of let down.

The translation of what happened to Nathan Beckman from the time he got injured to the time he entered the championship game with six minutes left in the third quarter can never be described with the same emotion as living it minute by minute.

Beckman had just scored on a short jumper in the second quarter against East Butler and when he landed, he came down on teammate Adam Hartung's foot.

"I felt my ankle turn when I landed but I had no idea the extent of the injury until I got up and couldn't walk," Beckman said. "I fell right back down until they carried me off."

Upon returning to the bench in the third quarter Beckman said he felt faint and he told his sister he was going to pass out.

Moments later he began shaking violently. The game was stopped for nearly a half hour and Beckman's teammates watched in anguish as paramedics worked on their fallen teammate—and friend.

"It was tough to watch," Matt Schroeder said. "Our athletic director Mr. (Scott) Petersen kept telling us that he's fine and that we shouldn't worry about it just for the sake of the game."

Easier said than done.

Schroeder said the mentality the team used was to assume that Nathan had fouled out and the rest of the team had to step up and take his place.

"I thought we did a good job of that," Schroeder said. "When the game ended, we went to find out what had happened and went to see him. We wanted to wish off our opponent for Nathan, then go be with him."

Greg Kvols, who took Beckman's place said it was scary to see a guy go down like that but knowing Nathan, the last thing he would have wanted was for the team to let the game get away after he helped get the team in position to win.

"We were worried about Nathan there's no doubt about it," Adam Hartung said. "But Mr. Petersen assured us that it wasn't something to dwell on since Nathan was alert before he even got in to the ambulance."

Hartung roomed with Beckman and said Nathan was adamant about returning to play.

"Even on Saturday when the lady came in to wrap his ankle and then double wrap the ankle she was shaking her head like there was no way he'd play," Hartung said.

Never underestimate the heart of a lion.

When Nathan Beckman entered the championship game in the Bob Devaney Sports Center in the third quarter, the immediate plan was to let him play until the next television timeout (approximately 90 seconds to two minutes).

Not even Clayton Steele had anything to say that Nathan would have a major impact in the 16 point championship victory.

With 10 seconds after his entrance, Beckman stole the ball and began a fast break.

Moments later he dove out-of-bounds after a loose ball and then seconds later, he had another steal. He would go on to score six points, notch three steals and provide an emotional lift for his teammates, the fans and his family.

Inspiration can be found in many forms including a high school senior who refused to let pain stand in the way of his goal.

Herbs for Health

Older Antidepressants Often as Effective as Newer, Costlier Ones

According to new guidelines from the American College of Physicians - American Society of Internal Medicine, both newer and traditional antidepressant medicines are equally effective for many persons with depression. Older medicines typically are in the class termed tricyclics (e.g. Tofranil, Elavil). The newer agents include selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors or SSRIs (e.g. Prozac, Zoloft, Pristiq).

The major difference cited between tricyclics and SSRIs are side effects. SSRIs are more likely to cause dizziness, nausea, headache, and sleeping difficulties. Tricyclics are more likely to cause blurred vision, constipation, dizziness, dry mouth, and tremors. Interestingly, according to the new guidelines it is noted that St. John's wort may be effective against mild depression, at least on a short-term basis.

Heather Headley earns Gold Award

Heather Lynn Headley, daughter of Dave and Terri Headley of Wayne, has earned the highest award in Girl Scouting. It expresses a girl's strong commitment to herself, her community and the future. This award has five requirements: Earning four interest project patches, earning the career exploration pin, earning the Senior Girl Scout leadership award, earning the Senior Girl Scout challenge pin and completing a Girl Scout gold award project.

Heather Headley

Heather is a member of Senior Girl Scout Troop #243 in Wayne of Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council.

Juliette Low instituted the Golden Eaglet award soon after she found Girl Scouting in the United States. The requirements were changed several times over the years, requiring the recipient to have earned 17 to 21 badges. For a short period of time, the recipients also needed to have received the Medal of Merit to prove their attitude and character.

Juliette Low wrote of this award in 1923, saying "The five requirements of winning a Golden Eaglet are character, health, handicraft, happiness and service. And that others will find in our Golden Eaglets a perfect specimen of girlhood: mentally, morally and physically."

For the Girl Scout Challenge award, Heather looked at her goals and put together a 20 hour community service project. Her community service project was to organize and hold a "Cabana Experience" for Junior Scouts in northeast Nebraska teaching the girls about the Girl Scout International Center in Cuernavaca, Mexico which she visited in 1998.

For her Gold Award Project, Heather worked on city park beautification. She chose the park where the Girl Scout Cabin is located on East Fourth Street in Wayne. She put in over 50 hours cleaning the area, trimming trees, pruning new sidewalk, building two planters, choosing perennials and planting them around the cabin.

There will be a ceremony honoring Heather's achievement at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne on Sunday, March 25 at 2 p.m.

Heather earned the patches of Home Improvement, Plant Life, Folk Arts and Heritage Hunt.

For the Career Exploration pin, Heather had to write a resume and then did an internship at the Wayne Public Library.

For the Leadership pin, Heather put in 30 hours in a leader capacity helping with other scout troop meetings and in the area Summer Day Camps.

For the Gold Award Project, Heather worked on city park beautification. She chose the park where the Girl Scout Cabin is located on East Fourth Street in Wayne. She put in over 50 hours cleaning the area, trimming trees, pruning new sidewalk, building two planters, choosing perennials and planting them around the cabin.

Lifestyle

The Wayne Herald

Promoting healthy lifestyles

Nutrition Month observed

March is National Nutrition Month. The slogan for 2001 is "Food & Fitness: Building a Healthy Lifestyle."

It communicates the flexibility of nutrition recommendations, dietary guidelines and the Food Guide Pyramid as the framework for daily food choices that can be personalized to each individual's food preferences, nutritional needs, health status and lifestyle. It reinforces the importance of nutrition and physical activity as key components of a healthy lifestyle. It is a call to action that challenges American to take responsibility for their food, nutrition and physical activity habits. It's as easy as ABC.

A — Aim High! Aim for Fitness! What is fit? To many people "fitness" relates to physical activity —

Sally Ebmeier
Cedar County

perhaps a rigorous daily exercise regimen. To some, the term may mean a trim or muscular body or the ability to finish a 10K run. Others may think of fitness simply as being free of disease and other health problems.

According to the American Dietetic Association, the true definition of fitness is far broader and more personal. It refers to optimal health and overall well-being. Fitness is your good health — at its very best.

Being fit translates to every aspect of your health — not only physical health, but emotional and mental well-being as well. In fact all three are interconnected. And nutrition and physical activity are fundamental to each one.

Remember, before starting any exercise program, begin with a physical exam. Then find a variety of activities you enjoy doing each day. Start slowly. Don't expect it to happen overnight. Build up over a month or two to more intense activity. If you need motivation, find a friend to join you, and always take the time to see how far you've come.

B — Build a Nutrition Coalition. Structures need a strong foundation to support the ravages of daily life. It's no different for our bodies. Think of your body as a structure with foundations and support beams. By supplying our body foundation with a healthy base of foods each day, we can be certain that they are getting the vitamins, minerals, energy and other healthful substances from foods your body needs each day.

Building a healthy base means eating from the Food Guide Pyramid. By eating a variety of different foods you are more likely to benefit from an array of good nutrients and other healthful substances.

C — Choose a Healthy Eating Plan. Every day Americans make thousands of choices, many related to food. Some seem trivial. Others are important. A few may even set the course of your life. But as insignificant as a single choice may seem, made over and over, it can have a major impact on health and life.

Reduce your intake of saturated fat and cholesterol, limit your intake of sugars and salt and improve your overall eating plan. Eating should be a pleasurable experience. By choosing a variety of foods you enjoy, and watching your portions, you will never feel deprived, no matter what foods you choose.

Long term health begins today. The ABC's of good nutrition are simple, if you put them all together in your life plan. Set goals, create a foundation and select foods you like in moderation and enjoy! The American Dietetic Association hopes all Americans will work the Aim, Build and Choose building blocks for good nutrition and fitness into each and every day — "Food & Fitness: Building a Healthy Lifestyle."

Red Cross month being celebrated in Wayne

ters across the nation a tradition of service in times of disaster and need.

The Wayne chapter offers free classes in disaster preparedness drills and family safety events. They also host courses in First Aid, CPR, life guarding and water safety at a fee to cover books, paperwork, card certification, and the cost of instructors. They also help connect military families with their loved ones serving far away by relaying emergency communications. The American Red Cross is partially supported by the local United Way.

There are two very powerful words that people in Wayne and around the world can always count on: the "RED CROSS," said Lori Carollo, chapter manager. "The Red Cross works diligently every day to make families and communities safer. During Red Cross month, we invite you to learn more about the services offered by our organization and join us as volunteers and financial donors. People are welcome to stop by our office in the Mineshaft Mall or call us at 375-5209."

The local chapter is hosting the Chamber Coffee at their office on Friday, March 9th and they have unofficially designated that as "Wear Red Day" in Wayne. "We would like to see the entire town of Wayne dressed in RED to show their support of the Red Cross. We are also hosting a soup lunch in the Mineshaft Mall that day. We will have two kinds of soups, bars and a drink. A free will donation will be taken and soup can be served "to go" as well," says Carollo.

A number of Wayne businesses have joined in efforts to raise money for the local chapter. Arnie's, Pac 'N Save, and Legends were the first to join efforts with special promotions in their stores and more business promotions are being considered.

Watch the paper for further Red Cross promotions throughout the month. Also watch for various Red Cross board members throughout the community trying "unique" ways to raise awareness and financial support.

Have the time of your life with your grandkids!

New Test Helps Identify Lung Cancer

According to the American Cancer Society 171,000 persons will be diagnosed with lung cancer this year. Now patients with suspicious chest x rays or CT scans have a new test to determine if they need a biopsy for lung cancer. The FDA approved NeoTect™ is injected into the arm and travels to the lungs and lights up the cancer under a common nuclear-medicine camera. It will not replace biopsies but is a valuable tool to help decide which patient needs a biopsy.

You Can Stay in the Area for Cataract Surgery... So You Can Focus on the Little Things.

John R. Willcockson, M.D. Ophthalmologist, Cataract & Laser Surgery

Donald E. Koeber, O.D. Optometrist, Primary Eye Care
Larry M. Magnuson, O.D. Optometrist, Primary Eye Care

Cataracts affect over 80% of our senior citizens. In fact over one million cataract surgeries are performed annually in the U.S. alone.

New technological developments in implants, ultrasonic equipment, lasers, diagnostic testing and surgical techniques have made cataract surgery one of the most effective procedures today. Currently, over 98% of cataract patients experience significant improvements in vision, without major complications.

Until now, the high cost of this new technology for cataract surgery was only available in the larger surgical facilities. This meant that you would have to travel for a complete eye examination and surgery. Not any longer.

Complete eye care and cataract surgery is now available at Providence Medical Center in Wayne. You don't have to travel outside of your community to have your vision tested for cataracts. With Dr. Willcockson, Dr. Koeber and Dr. Magnuson offering comprehensive diagnostic and surgical services, you now have the most advanced eye care available right here in town.

Call Dr. Koeber or Dr. Magnuson for a complete eye examination and cataract vision screening today. If you would like more information on cataracts for yourself or someone you know who may be experiencing loss of vision, call today for a free informational brochure.

KTIV NO STARS

The KTIV No Stars Basketball team will be in Wakefield Sunday, March 18 for some fun and clowning around and also to raise funds to complete the playgrounds projects which began over a year ago.

The game is set to begin at 1:30 p.m. at the school.

Prior to the game the elementary Physical Education students who met the goals running will be demonstrating their skills in fitness. The P.E. students will also be giving demonstrations at half time and during the quarter breaks of the game which will include jump roping.

The No Stars will be facing a variety of local basketball talent. Since it is believed that the big city team may be better than their name suggests, a couple of different local teams are being organized.

Superintendent Moody is captaining a squad of school staff and Mark Demke is putting together a team for the Community Club. The No Stars are also going to be challenged by the sixth grade basketball players, both boys and girls.

Advance tickets for the No Stars will be sold by elementary students and tickets will also be available at the door. The ticket sales give the youth of the community an opportunity to become involved in the fundraising process for the equipment, according to the organizers.

The goal of the playground committee is to have all work completed by June 1.

Boehle is named a National Award winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Mary Elizabeth Boehle has been named a United States National Award Winner in Science.

Mary Elizabeth, who attends Wayne-Carroll High School, was nominated for this national award by Ms. Judith Zobel, a teacher at the school.

The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Mary Elizabeth's name will now appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement, said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The crite-

Mary Elizabeth is the daughter of Gary and Pam Boehle of Wayne. She is the granddaughter of Alda Boehle of St. Libory.

March Madness and books are discussed

First, an additional note regarding bridge playing. My new issue of health magazine says that a recent study suggests it give the immune system a lift. Researchers at Berkeley found significant increase in the number of immune-boosting cells in the blood of elderly women after playing for an hour and a half!

Next, my annual paragraphs on March Madness. Our local Elmwood-Murdock Knights made it to the finals at the state tournament this morning. There, they ran into a zone defense from Laurel that was very effective. Those Bears now own state championship trophies in football and basketball this year. I was impressed to hear that our new community won the sportsmanship trophy along with the runner-up hardware.

With all that I read and hear about, sportsmanship is almost a lost art. And that's very unfortunate. Parents are being ejected and barred from games.

Creighton lost its first conference game against a team they had beaten twice during the regular season, as did Nebraska. Strange things happen in tournaments. It must have something to do with adrenaline.

I have great respect for Dana Altman and Mr. Collier. Both behave like gentlemen, no matter how close the game is. They remind me of a new congressman from Nebraska. I'm assuming they run or lift weights to get rid of all that internalized tension. It has to go somewhere and it's best if it isn't to the heart.

I'm a sucker for the human interest part of sports. A lone African American senior for Falls City Scared Heart was high scorer for his team. Turns out he's a transfer from Chicago staying with his uncle. His mother felt their home neighborhood was getting too tough. The parents of the other players raised the money for her plane ticket for the tournament.

The team leader for Columbus Lakeview has a mom with cancer and an uncertain prognosis. That would be motivational and he played that way.

Last weekend we went to birthday parties for two octogenarians. I decided to get them each a Chicken Soup for the Soul book, so I drove over to the Hastings book store.

I'd been pretty good this winter. Business has been slow, so I haven't had any spare money to buy books. I told myself I needed to read the ones already on my shelves that hadn't been read. And I was doing that.

But there were half a dozen bargain tables last Saturday. I couldn't pass them up. I actually had to restrain myself.

One really good buy was "Seven From Heaven, The Miracle of the McCoughey Septuplets." It is an amazing story. I remember when the story first broke, saying to the Big Farmer, "that sounds like a disaster," and then being thoroughly delighted at how healthy they all seemed to be.

As an old obstetrical nurse, I was fascinated by the technology involved. As I read the chapter on the delivery, entitled "Today's the Day," I found myself in tears, just as if I was witnessing it all. Those doctors and that hospital staff are to be commended. They were so organized.

And, of course, their church is the other part of the story. Those people put their faith into action, from prayers to meals to child care in shifts that covered 22 of every 24 hours.

If you young families think you have a lot to do, get hold of this book and just look at the photos. It's an incredible story.

Next, I'm starting on another sale item, "Love, Sex and Tractors," by you know who, Roger Welsch.

Print to be auctioned during Pheasants Forever banquet

Latham Seeds and its dealers are donating signed and numbered Maynard Reece prints to Pheasants Forever to help chapters across the country raise funds for local habitat enhancement projects and conservation education programs.

The donation from Dennis Elberg, Pam Nissen and Fritz Oltjenbruns will benefit the Logan Creek Chapter, which will auction the print at its annual banquet on Friday, March 23.

Latham Seeds commissions an original painting from Reece every year. The artist signs and numbers the limited edition prints before they are donated to Pheasants Forever. The paintings illustrate the integration of wildlife and agriculture. This year's painting is entitled "Harvest in Harmony."

This is the sixth consecutive year Latham Seeds has donated Maynard Reece prints to Pheasants Forever.

Over the past six years, Latham has provided nearly $1 million of support to Pheasants Forever through various forms of assistance, including the donation of Maynard Reece prints.

Latham Seeds is a family owned business located in Alexander, Iowa. The company produces and markets soybean seed through a network of more than 450 dealers throughout six states.

The work of Maynard Reece is legendary and has been widely honored by the scientific community, as well as the artistic community, for its attention to detail and ability to portray the essence of wildlife settings.
