potassium permanganate to the waste water flowing into the waste water treatment plant to reduce odors from the system. This has proven to be helpful. Once in a while we will accept a truckload of liquid from a company that pumps septic systems and sometimes the treatment plant will receive a heavier flow from some part of the sewer system and these will cause an odor for a day or more.

Arsenic in the water

There has been a lot of press coverage of federal regulation of arsenic levels in drinking water. Arsenic occurs naturally at low levels in ground water.

The safe limit for many years has been set at 50 parts per billion (ppb) of arsenic. Wayne's drinking water has consistently tested three parts per billion or less. In January, the EPA changed the limit for arsenic in drinking water to 10 parts per billion.

There is no record in the U.S. of sickness or health problems caused by arsenic levels in the water at 50 ppb or less. The new lower level put Wayne at risk for substantial treatment costs if our levels should rise slightly, so Harold has worked hard with other cities in Nebraska that use ground water to request that EPA not lower the allowable levels of arsenic until testing shows it is necessary for human health.

Norfolk's levels are in the area of 30 ppb and their projected cost to reduce arsenic to 10 ppb exceeds $9 million plus operating costs.

Bottled Water Is A Cause Of Fluoride Deficiency

If you are one of the many who drink only bottled water, well water, or tap water treated with reverse osmosis, you may not be getting enough fluoride. Bottled waters contain little or no fluoride. Water fluoridation helps protect against tooth decay, so it is important for children who are most prone to cavities to get proper dental care. Your dentist can provide any extra fluoride you might need or you should check with your pharmacist.

Giving thanks to helpers of Rugby event

Dear Editor:
I would like to thank a handful of people who helped out with the kickoff of the 2001 Rugby Challenge in Wayne last week. TV coverage KMEG-14-CBS and KTIV-4-NBC; Ticket takers standing in the rain all day were Joel Ankeny, Mike Murphy, Larry Sunderman, Kim Baker, Matt Burcham and Ric Barner; Field preparation and cleanup by Diers Farm Supply, Dennis Mitchell, Rocky Ruhl, Jeremy Sievers, Ron Fink, Peg Barner, Chris Kennedy and Brenda Sunderman; Bleacher set up and take down by Northeast Nebraska John Deere, Dave Olsen, Garry Roeber, Louis Lutt, Wayne County Fair Board, Kevin Maly, Derek Anderson, Robbie Gamble, Randy Gamble, Brian Gamble, Big Ned, Troy Brunis, Paul Otte, and Jeff Ziess; Financial donations by Runza Restaurants in Wayne and Norfolk, Bloomnet Internet Services by Northeast Nebraska Com.Net, Zach Oil, Great Dane, The Saloon Too in Laurel and both IBP Divisions from Norfolk and Dakota City; Food and drink services by Dr. Pepper, IBP, Terra Test, Rocky Ruhl and Duane Blumenkamp. Product donations for the half-time drawing by Southwest Airlines (2 round trip airline tickets), Kaup's TV (1 VCR), Northeast Nebraska Com.Net (year supply of Internet Service), Arnie's Ford Automotive Service (car maintenance), KTCH Radio (rock concert tickets to Sweet-Stock), Cross Country Cellular (car phone), Sioux City Explorer's Baseball (game tickets); Pre-Game social and post-game party donated by Kim Baker and Melodee Laney. Bowling Alley and Godfathers Pizza. Motel room donations by K-D Inn and Sportsman's Motel; Sports Management and support to Dan Morgan Rugby Promotions from Salt Lake City, Utah, Christine Getzelman Sports Programs from Dallas, Texas, Gregg Austin, Frank Teach, Todd Berry and Mike Berry from Wayne State College; Play by play radio by Keith Dalton of Fort Worth, TX who paid $700 to come up to Wayne for 24 hours to help out and not asking for one cent back as a service to promote the game of rugby to Northeast Nebraska; Game field and locker rooms by Wayne High School; Bus service provided by the Laurel High School. Of the 15 goals that were set, 14 were accomplished. The only goal not met was the estimated crowd of 1,500-2,000 people. If it were not for the extreme sudden change in weather eight hours before kickoff, this goal easily would have been met. I would like everyone to know that out of the 400 sports fans that braved the cold rain that day, curious rugby fans from Chadron, Valentine, Seward and Storm Lake, IA still drove up to watch this event, support the Nebraska Rugby Team and go to the post game party. This was a marquee game between these two schools who are building on their rugby programs. The quarterback for Northern Iowa is from New Zealand, and even had his father fly into the USA the day before the game to watch this event unfold in Wayne. This can easily be a yearly event in the Northeast Nebraska area. Business owners from Norfolk, South Sioux City, Laurel and Kearney have already contacted by I can get two more top level teams to play next Spring. I can only hop that we can keep this game in Wayne to help promote the game to the town who hosted it for the first year. The response was far beyond what I expected. The response was also due to the promotional services done by the Wayne Herald and KTCH Radio. Alyce Henschke, Kevin Peterson and Jim Shanks of the Wayne Herald, thank you for your work that was done to promote this game to all of your newspaper subscribers. Mike Grosz of KTCH, thank you for having me on your sports segments and for being your guest on the Coaches Corner Show. Julie Hanson, General Manager of KTCH, I am ever in debt for all of the time, work and personal contacts you made to make this one of the largest known sporting events that has ever come to Wayne. I know that KTCH plays Country and Oldies music, Julie you ROCK. Julie Hanson truly deserves the MVP award for all of the time she has spent to promote this sporting event to Northeast Nebraska. Thank you also to Dr. Ben J. Martin for medical support during the event. Air Force, Texas A&M, University of Texas and Baylor are willing to travel to Wayne next year to show off their talents against Nebraska if an open weekend cooperates in scheduling. Thanks to everyone who assisted me during this event. I hope to have better weather next year for even a bigger event in 2002. Cheers, Darrin Barner Fort Worth, Texas

Decision favors law enforcement

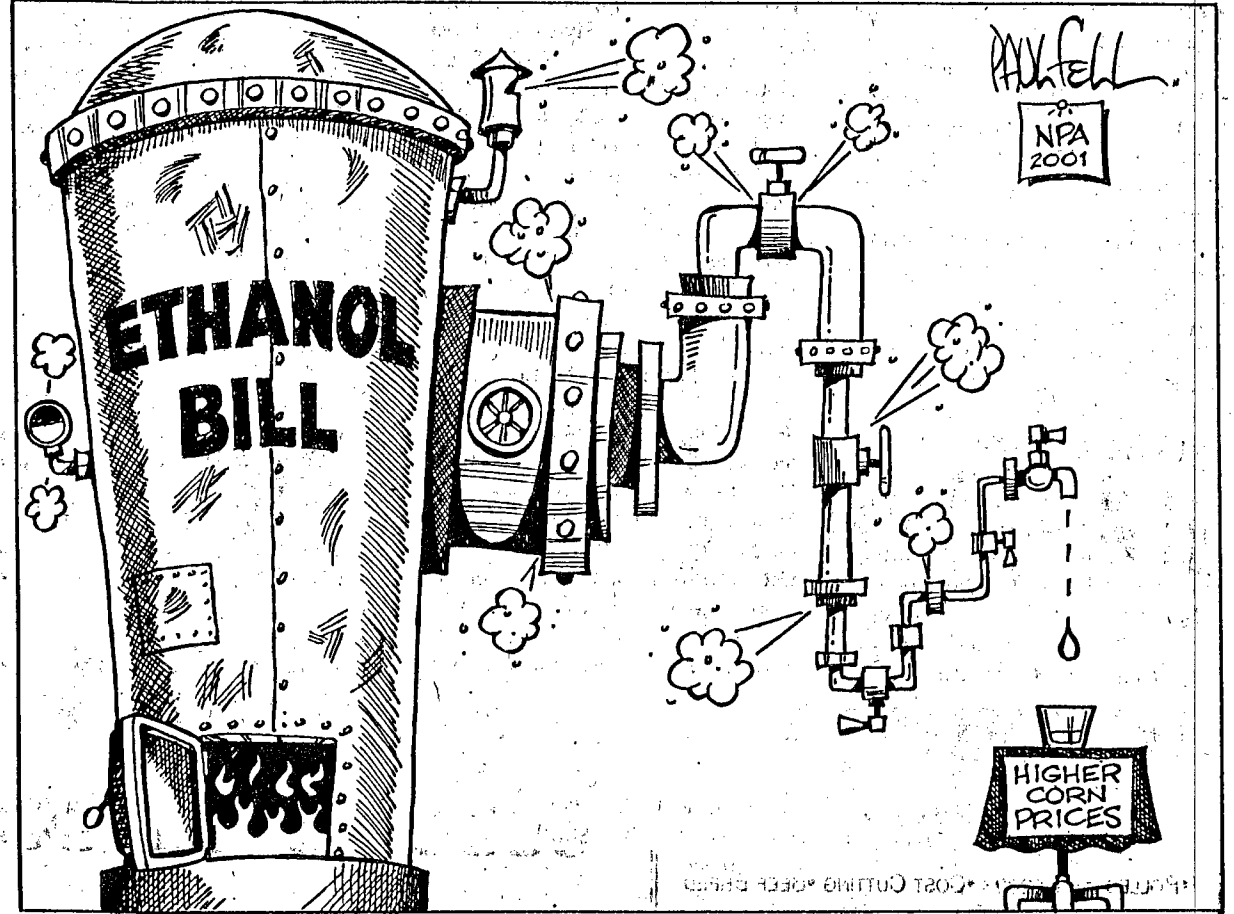

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Did you read about that decision from the U.S. Supreme Court, saying that cops can slap handcuffs on you and take you to jail for just about any lit-tle thing? Will the decision lead to controversy around and about the country, including Nebraska? Is the Notre Dame-Nebraska game going to sell tickets? At first view the decision might appear to be a law-and-order conservative's dream come true. In fact, it depends on your view of "conservative."

A bare majority of the Supreme Court said the Fourth Amendment does not bar police from taking you in for, say, littering. Or not having your kids buckled up (the basis for the recent case, which came up from Texas.) The Fourth Amendment is among my favorites, along with the First Amendment. Without those two (it says here) the rest of the Bill of Rights can be neutered by any government with a yen to do it. The Fourth Amendment is the one prohibiting "unreasonable search and seizure" of you and your stuff. It says people have a right to be safe "in their persons, houses, papers and effects" from such unreasonable goings on. The Supreme Court's latest gift to law enforcement means that it is not unreasonable, per se, for a cop to haul you in (seizure) for something punishable by nothing more than a modest fine. Imagine how it could be represented in a movie. Well, two movies. In the first movie, a serial killer who also lies, cheats, steals and doesn't wash his feet is slyly motoring away from a crime. But a good cop notices that the guy fails to properly signal a turn (like the dope haulers on I-80), or he throws a hamburger wrapper out the window. BINGO! Lights, sirens, bells and whistles. The guy is hauled in, a computer check shows that, in addition to murder, he's wanted for library fines going back to 1970. He's busted, and all because the Supreme Court said it's okay to rough 'em and cuff 'em for a broken tail light. Or whatever.

In the second movie, the story is equally black and white. A black guy is driving through a white neighborhood en route to his kid's big Little League game. The old broken tail light, or improper turn, is seen by a representative of the constabulary. Same lights, same sirens, same handcuffs. He's busted, and all because the Supreme Court said it's okay to rough 'em and cuff 'em for a broken tail light. Or whatever. The difference in this movie: The guy was just a guy going to his kid's ball game. It is a matter of fact, and not opinion, that the Supreme Court's decision throws the door wide open to the potential for abuse. The thing is, Americans are inclined to think that hard-nosed police policies are nothing to fear, unless you're a bad guy. Such a view might easily be thought of as conservative. The other thing is that when Americans are subjected to hard-nosed law enforcement policies that inconvenience them - let alone lead to them being handcuffed, hauled in and photographed - they are inclined to think that the government is improperly infringing upon their rights. Such a view might easily be thought of as conservative. There is, however, nothing to fear. Each state can pass laws regulating police authority. That means the Legislature can pass a law saying Nebraska cops can't haul you in for a minor infraction. Is such a proposal likely in Nebraska and some other states? Probably. Here's the question: Does restricting the authority of police to haul you in at every whipstitch represent a conservative position, or a soft on crime position? Here's the answer: It depends on whether you are the incumbent or the challenger.

Redistricting process brings loss of office

Capital Happenings
By: State Senator Doug Cunningham, District #18

This past week has been filled with triumph and disappointment. A highlight was the advancement of LB 536, which provides for production credits for new ethanol plants. I designated LB 536 as my priority bill this year. Senator Cap Dierks of Ewing, the primary sponsor of LB 536, and supporters of the bill overcame 8 hours of debate and numerous amendments to change the bill. In the end, LB 536 advanced to the second round of debate on a 39-7 vote. There were several attempts to remove the excise tax on distillers' grain or gluten feed and to lower the amount of credits given to the Sutherland plant. Although there is opposition to the gluten tax, there are also key senators whose support for the bill depends on the inclusion of the gluten tax. Additionally, the Corn Growers support the 1/2 cent checkoff on corn and sorghum if there is matching general fund support. Therefore, the checkoff cannot be raised to make up for the loss of revenue if the gluten tax is eliminated. Nebraska ethanol production helps to increase the market price of Nebraska corn from 5 to 15 cents per bushel. In areas near ethanol plants, the demand increases local prices by an additional 4 to 7 cents per bushel. It would be beneficial if the agricultural organizations could present a united voice in their support for LB 536, as I feel that it is very important, if not the most important, agricultural legislation that is being discussed by the Legislature this year. The disappointment came with the release of the Redistricting Committee's recommendation for redistricting of the legislative districts. District #18 is moved to cover the southern half of Washington County and a middle northern section of Douglas County, due to the population shift in Nebraska from rural areas to the metropolitan areas. The territory of the current District #18 would be split between three districts. Pierce, Cedar and the portion of Knox County would be in District #40, represented by Senator Cap Dierks; Stanton County would be placed in District #16, represented by Senator Matt Connealy; and the portions of Wayne and Dixon County would be in District #17, represented by Senator Pat Engel. The committee's plan would place Senator Dierks and myself in the same district, meaning that we would have to run against each other in the 2002 election. This is not an ideal situation as I feel that we both represent the same interests and are two voices for agriculture and rural Nebraska. I plan to work on alternatives to the committee's recommendation, as I do not think it is fair to target the same area that lost a senator 10 years ago during the redistricting process. The redistricting process does not allow a senator who has just begun a 4-year term to be eliminated. Unfortunately, I was the only freshman senator that has a two-year term. As I stated in last week's newsletter, a public hearing will be held on the redistricting proposals submitted by the Redistricting Committee on Saturday, May 5, beginning at 9:00 a.m. In addition to the site in Wayne (WSC - Gardner Hall, Room 105), another location has been added to the remote site locations. A two-way video communication will also be set up at Northeast Community College-Life Long Learning Center, Suite A. The Legislature will debate the committee's proposals after the hearing process is completed. A good portion of this past week was also spent discussing the budget bills, as presented by the Appropriations Committee. Due to the Economic Forecasting Advisory Board's decision to reduce their tax-revenue estimate by a total of $90 million, the Appropriations Committee recommended eliminating the Governor's property tax relief plan from the state budget, which appropriated $60 million to community colleges over the next two years to reduce their property tax request. This plan was implemented two years ago, with the intent to send excess state revenue back to the taxpayers. This year there is little excess revenue. Additionally, the Committee recommended spending $22 million of the state's cash reserve fund to make up for the loss of expected tax revenue. There is only $21 million available for spending projects in the biennial budget. There are approximately $125 million of appropriations attached to pending legislation. The Legislature will have the difficult task of deciding which projects will be approved for funding this year. I encourage you to contact my office regarding legislation that the Unicameral is discussing. My telephone number is (402) 471-2801, my e-mail address is dcunningham@unicam.state.ne.us and my mailing address is Senator Doug Cunningham, District #18, P.O. Box 94604, State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509.

Celebrating trees

Arbor Day celebrations were held last week in Wayne. Members of the fourth grade class at Wayne Elementary listened to Steve Rasmussen, District Forester, speak on the importance of trees before watching the planting of a tree at Wayne High School. Following that, members of the Wayne High German Club planted a Linden tree in honor of students from Germany who spent time in Wayne and the senior members of the club.

"Rick" Davis Scholarships, and 55 Pepsi Scholarships for Outstanding Service. The number of Canfield Scholarships represents an increase of 890 over those awarded in 2000.

David and Distinguished Scholar Awards offer full-time students $1,000 annually for up to four years if they maintain a grade-point average of 3.5 or above on a 4-point scale. David Scholarships are funded from a trust established in 1973 by the late Adrian H. David, a former Minneapolis attorney, in honor of his parents. Canfield Scholarships, named for the chancellor who led the University of Nebraska to a position of national prominence in the 1890s, offer full-time students a one-year award of $1,000. Davis Scholarships recognize the most academically talented racial minority students in Nebraska. The scholarship was created in 1990 with a gift of $50,000 from the estate of Rick Davis, who died of cancer in 1988 at the age of 43. Combined with an expected parental contribution, the scholarships are equivalent to the cost of full-time tuition, mandatory student fees and $5,395 for room, board, books and personal expenses.

Pepsi Scholarships are one-year, $1,000 grants to full-time students who participate in scheduled weekly leadership development seminars that focus on volunteer service. The award recognizes students who understand the importance of volunteerism in America and have demonstrated leadership and dedication in working to improve their communities.

Pepsi and Davis Scholarships may be combined with a Regents, David, Distinguished Scholar or Canfield award. The potential value of scholarships awarded to Nebraska high school seniors by UNL this year is more than $7.6 million.

WSC receives grant for laptop project

A total of $691,000 released by the U.S. Department of Education this week for the Wayne State College Laptop Computer Initiative will be used for two interrelated projects.

First, it will help provide the infrastructure necessary to connect residence halls and academic buildings to the campus computer network.

Currently, 470 dormitory rooms are connected to the campus network; the funding will help to connect the remaining 720 rooms. In addition, several academic buildings need to be rewired and two additional distance learning classrooms are needed.

The grant also includes funding for a pilot wireless laptop computer project which will provide a wireless laptop network in some classrooms so faculty and students can explore the use of this technology and its impact on teaching and learning. It will also provide wireless networking to study and open areas in academic buildings and to outside commons areas.

As part of the pilot project, students will be able to check out laptop computers for classes or for their own use.

With the funding now released, work is scheduled to begin on the campus infrastructure portion of the grant in June. The installation and deployment of the laptop pilot project will begin in January 2002.

"Both aspects of this grant project will extend Internet and campus network access to more students, residence hall rooms and classrooms," said Dr. Sheila M. Stearns, WSC president. "We are very appreciative of Representative Doug Bereuter's assistance in making this a reality." The funds were initially requested by Bereuter.

Grant donation

Angela Adkins-Miller, Head teacher at St. Mary's School in Wayne, accepts a check for $1,000 from Brian Becker, Co-Manager of the Norfolk Wal-Mart store. The grant money will be added to the more than $4,000 already raised to furnish the pre-school classroom at St. Mary's School which will offer two classes for next year.

Inhaled Steroids Are Life-Saving in Asthma

Our bodies produce a type of steroid known as corticosteroid. This is NOT the steroid used by body builders with the intention of boosting muscle mass. Rather, corticosteroids - such as cortisone - help us handle many types of stress.

Cortisone-like steroids have been used for decades to treat lung diseases, including asthma. They have been taken my mouth and, more recently, by inhalation. A Canadian study recently published in The New England Journal of Medicine concludes that asthma sufferers who regularly use steroid inhalers also lower their risk of death due to asthma. Persons with asthma who dies were compared to those who lived. It was found that the survivors averaged using about one-third more inhaled steroids than those who died. Over 17 million persons in the US have asthma, resulting in over five thousand deaths each year.

their votes at the Iowa associations banquet recently for their favorite pull from about 24 circuit pulls. Clay County Fair in Spencer, Iowa took second place and the 2000 Iowa State Fair in Des Moines took third place.

Dennis Rohde, coordinator of the pull and of the Carroll association works in auto body and radiator repair by trade and is a longtime enthusiast of tractor and truck pulling. His wife, Alice, and a number of Carroll area volunteers help Rohde with the truck and tractor pull.

There are only three sanctioned "outlaw" pulls in Nebraska and the Carroll pull is one of those. The other ones are the truck and tractor pull at the Nebraska State Fair and the pull at Ravenna.

This year's pull is the 15th Carroll Truck and Tractor Pull and is scheduled for Saturday, July 21 at the track site in southwest Carroll. A garden tractor pull demonstration will be part of the pull this year.
